– Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha hot.

-They weren't one of the top three entertainment agencies for nothing.

-Well there's no way an idol agency that appears on the American Billboard would be a waste of SBC's music show. Ah they targeted the wrong Gapjil target.

In an internet ecosystem where people are advised to break up with friends if they fight this kind of cider meta is bound to work.

And here comes the build-up once again.

-VTIC's donation concert is here! (Link) Infinite audience participation platform that can be viewed without signing up… (See more)

The broadcast of the donation concert was not canceled at all but continued only on internet platforms. That too with flashy advertisements through WeTube and various social media.

At first glance it seems like a loss because the target audience has decreased but by making such a big splash it actually attracted viewer aggro.

It is WeTube Rekka.

[True education from a KPOP top idol agency's broadcasting station!]

[Leti Klass Certification~ 1-minute information from the stage collapse to the present]

[So where can I see the V-Tik Donation Concert? Right here! | Issue talk]

It is said that as soon as this became a popular video fundraising boxes and pre-released videos appeared on the platform.

The aggro caused by the stage collapse led to Donation Con itself emerging as a hot keyword and the amount raised was steadily increasing.

‘And I’ll use the amount raised to unplay again.’

It was a virtuous cycle. I looked at some of the latest press play articles and nodded.

It’s a skill I’ve tried many times.

[Wow I had no idea that the concert was carried out safely in this way. You’re amazing!]

I was amazed by the pop-up of the large moon that had been following my navigation route and commentary. But still.

“It’s not that bad.”

[yes?]

Is it correct to make a profit? Did you survive safely? This wasn’t at that level.

I smiled bitterly and tapped the smartphone screen.

‘These guys have made huge profits.’

[????]

Do you know what this platform is?

‘This is our platform.’

It’s theirs.

[!]

This means that it is a live platform in which Leti owns half of the shares.

Through this aggro these guys have attracted a huge number of new users to this platform. And that's even the type of people who wouldn't have been attracted by just promoting it.

In addition it has the effect of naturally increasing platform awareness.

'Leti has benefited enormously.'

As a platform operator.

[But just because the agency benefits doesn't mean the group benefits…? Right? The same goes for my brother's agency…]

oh. Have you already guessed that far?

'that's right.'

I readily agreed.

This was probably said when TI Stars posted an incident where they were doing something useless while trying to diversify their sales.

But unfortunately this time the case is different.

[Uh what's the point…?]

'Leti is not T1 Stars.'

The situation is completely different from Testa. Annual leave and attributes. I muttered with an expressionless expression.

"VTIC almost ate Leti."

[Ugh?]

VTIC are the ones who are holding a significant amount of Leti's stock while renewing the contract.

Let's compare it to medieval fantasy. If Testa is a hastily adopted son it means that they are the legitimate children of that agency.

It was fake but I know for sure based on my experience debuting on Leti. The president sees the group as more than just a money-making operation.

'I was overly immersed like a gamer empathizing with a game avatar.'

VTIC started in an environment where it would not be strange to care more about VTIC's brand value than company profits.

Thanks to this no male idol directly under my generation has debuted. It was an unbelievable amount of influence.

Just look at how T1 Stars induced a transfer with Testa and Spacer. There must have been a swarm of people up there who wanted to do that so they got rid of it?

This implicitly means that one person holds the decision-making power.

…Cheongnyeo.

'As long as he's blocking it I won't see a male idol with a similar line to VTIC coming out of LeTi.'

What if that bastard becomes a manager and makes it himself?

In any case it was a number that could never be solved unless someone could use the agency as if it were their own limbs. It was beneficial. This platform will be used well by Cheongryeo in the future. for a long time.

[…Can't Testa just become independent and set up his own agency?]

Don't talk nonsense.

[yes.]

You wouldn't know it if it could be controlled like that from behind the scenes. The moment an idol establishes a company under the name of a group it is a path of hardship and adversity.

Testa needs more time and experience.

Not yet.

I once again pulled down the screen and shrugged my shoulders.

Anyway public opinion about the donation concert was like this. The next thing to look at is public opinion about me.

[Ah there was an article saying that you were taking a short break!]

After looking into it most people inferred that he was not posting on social media due to atmosphere issues thanks to the article saying that although there were some concerns he was hardly injured.

-Typical gomme

-I like that they don't upload everything together. Don't think about fighting with the broadcasting station.

-I believe our filial son will soon appear with a selfie bomb.

"…"

Okay… I'll try my best to take pictures.

Now let's move on to the next step: contacting the main function of the smartphone.

-Missed calls (64)

Mirinae Park Min-ha junior

Golden Age Ha Iljun

Spacer Kwon Hee-seung

…

‘Quite a lot.’

In the beginning when the smartphone is turned off missed calls from various people pile up but after a few days they are few and far between. I guess there was a secret rumor that I was taking a break.

However there were consistent calls.

-(picture)

These are the letters piled up.

‘It’s not surprising anymore.’

Is this… something like survival certification?

I looked at several days worth of dog walking photos and called the guy who sent them.

– —-.

After a short phone call I suddenly hear words.

-The phone is on.

“okay.”

I spoke appropriately while fixing my smartphone.

“The doctor told me not to use my smartphone so I stayed away from it for a few days.”

-hmm.

“How about there?”

First check.

“Do you remember the building incident?”

In fact I had speculated that the collapse might have happened as if it had never happened and I might lose all other memories of that time.

But everyone remembered Testa.

It was a somewhat unique situation to think of because he escaped with me so I wondered what the other groups were like… Well of course this guy got an immediate answer.

-yes.

“Chou Dando?”

-Well I hope you don’t remember?

I understand that means remembering.

“I was just asking to guess how you remember.”

-well.

Cheongryeo answered in a voice that sounded quite interesting.

-What did you infer?

“I think it’s because everyone in the fake world has been infected with errors before.”

The power that ignores the laws of the system created by Sun Ah-hyun's characteristics.

If it is still there it is understandable that an exception was handled.

-Like I still have GM rights.

"okay."

-Maybe so.

The guy readily agreed.

The conversation flowed well without much tension. There's some reason why this guy doesn't piss people off. hmm.

'…Could it be that this is also the effect of internet detox?'

It's contributing to my mental sanity… No that can't be possible. I guess it's just because I owe him my life.

As I thought about it I opened my mouth.

"and."

In fact this is something I should have said on the same day.

"thanks."

-…

"Thank you for finding the key back then. "Thanks to you I survived."

But there is still no answer from the person on the other end of the phone. It's like being speechless.

It's been a long time since this guy was this agitated.

-is it so…

And the answer that came back one step late was short. It sounds like you don't really know how to answer.

hmm.

'Is it because he looks scared?'

If this guy had died several times while trying to get out of that mess he would have felt something new about the situation being resolved.

This must have been the first time that a status abnormality failure was resolved through his own actions.

If there was long-standing resignation it could have been resolved to some extent.

'hmm.'

I nodded.

"So what do you mean?"

In any case it cannot be denied that even Judan including this bastard helped escape.

Originally I would have taken advantage of poetry and drawn a line but these are people who are taking a gap year after going to the military anyway so I guess I can do this to them.

'I don't want to go into debt.'

And I have no intention of letting them eat it all among themselves.

As much as we have prepared shouldn't we also choose what we need to choose?

"The donation concert has yet to be broadcast."

I continued with a grin.

“I have a suggestion.”

I thought about what I could do while staying at this pension which was full of people who were frantically watching to see if I was ‘resting’ properly.

And a few days later.

A notice appeared on the VTIC official account.

Chapter 437

‘There is no rice cake… ’

Kim Rae-bin’s fan who was muttering darkly and meaninglessly scrolling through social media saw a post shared from beyond the timeline.

It was a post from VTIC’s official account.

[〈Save the world〉 Unconventional news commemorating D-7 Sharing Concert!

The indomitable guests return.

(picture)]

And the account that shared it left a short ominous comment.

-Surely our kids?

“…”

Kim Rae-bin’s fans also fought. It was mainly a hunch that was right on cue.

‘Oh please.’

Even though he went through that uproar Testa is still appearing at the VTIC donation concert?

I liked it and I didn’t like it.

Since the donation concert was such a hot topic it was good that they cleverly announced their participation without losing sight of the trend. More content is better.

The problem is… VTIC seemed like they were only doing good things so it felt like crap.

‘No those bastards are responsible too. It’s not like they almost got into an accident so shamelessly we’re victims too…!’

It was an obvious trick but it was Cheonchu’s fault that the broadcasting station got even more upset and passed over it.

Now that Testa is out the Sharing Concert will be even more successful! Kim Rae-bin’s fans fumed but eventually accepted the reality.

This is because after graduating from high school and preparing for employment her fighting skills on the Internet gradually eased.

‘What… are you going to perform on stage?’

I’m not sure because the incident happened before we even performed on stage that day but we’ll probably do a few titles.

So naturally a thought occurred to me.

‘…Park Moon-dae is okay right?’

No matter how strong he is almost getting crushed by the stage equipment seems like it would be a trauma.

However just yesterday Testa resumed using SNS again.

-Exciting board game (dog emoticon)

The attached short video affectionately showed Lee Se-jin rolling over and Testa bursting into laughter at the sight of the wrong dice number.

Looking at the scenery it was indoors but seeing everyone hanging out together the atmosphere didn't seem bad.

'Of course I only posted those things.'

As she captured the image of Kim Rae-bin in neat pajamas passing by she decided to focus on the rice cake instead of wasting unnecessary emotions.

However 'the' planned meal was not what she expected.

That afternoon a post appeared on Testa's official account as well as VTIC's official account.

[Testa's Counseling Center

Preparing to open (biceps emoticon)

Branch: 〈Save the world〉 Sharing Center]

"…?!"

She was confused and clicked on the description.

– Help the teenage head of a household and consult with Testa about the concerns and difficulties of your teenage years (photo)

That's right. Testa did not perform on stage.

If they perform the stage they prepared at the donation concert the stage collapse is bound to come up again.

It is ambiguous to make it a narrative that they overcame it because there were no injured members. There was a possibility that viewers would only think about accidents instead of enjoying the stage.

So I chose this method instead.

Additional content for VCR!

-Talk to Testa!

They say it's a counseling session or something but in fact… it was a video call-type fan signing event!!

'Aaaah!'

Raebin Kim's fan quickly found a post on her timeline that summarized the explanation.

-You can apply by donating to the fundraising box selecting a member of your choice and writing a story. The face of the person giving the consultation is hidden but the story can be broadcast anonymously…

-And the members choose the story!

The period is only one day.

"…"

She looked back at the presentation PPT she had been making and pulled out her hair.

"Ahh really!"

I don't know all night long!

She who had never won a prize before because of her crazy fansign cut without conscience decided to give it a vain challenge this time.

Of course there is a high probability that you will not be accepted as there must have been a huge number of people applying but…

'Raebin Kim!'

She turned on Ward.

And two days later he roared when he saw the news of his winnings.

Of course I had no idea what process Park Moon-dae went through to plan this.

* * *

I won't deny it. Surprisingly unlike being hospitalized living at the pension was quite good. Bae Se-jin seriously persuaded me saying 'Why don't you return your smartphone?' but it was bearable.

It's a bit funny but it was a few days of relaxation rather than boredom.

'I wonder if there is such a difference because I have a smartphone… '

No I'm not some kind of addict.

That can't be possible.

Hmm… I guess it wasn't boring because there were a lot of minor and non-threatening variables.

"The cat has arrived…!"

"Wow what pattern is this? "The baby has yellow stripes~"

"It's like water! "It's strange!"

I nodded as I watched Cha Yu-jin panic as she tried to pet the stray cat that came in like a dog.

Something like that.

Aside from that although it was a bit hectic it wasn't a bad life. Exercising cooking and practicing drawing.

I also thought that one day when I retire I could live like this.

'Is this the first time I've experienced something like this since I entered this body?'

To put it in a vulgar way it is a daily life where you kill time by doing whatever you want like an unemployed person on a day when you have a lot of money.

Of course we couldn't stay like this forever so after observing the atmosphere for a few days I called them over in the evening.

And I just said it out loud.

"I feel comfortable working."

"…"

"It's good to rest but I can only rest when I want to."

Let's move on to the next one that doesn't look at it with the same attitude of 'what should I do?'

"therefore…"

"know."

"…!"

Big Sejin answered without expression.

"But even if you don't feel well you should rest when you need to… It was really a doctor's recommendation. "Your lactic acid level is too high."

"…!"

"I didn't lie. "I think you felt that way."

"…"

I looked around at the other guys. Even the one whose expression was easiest to read did not waver.

It means truth.

“They said that if you tend to use your smartphone too often it would be better to stop using it for a while.”

“I?”

Immediate answers pour in as if they had been waiting.

“uh. “You are completely addicted.”

“Park Moon-dae looks at his smartphone like he’s drinking.”

“…”

No the only utility of alcohol is to relieve stress and there are so many things you can do with smartphones so what kind of bullshit is this?

But no one refutes it. Cha Yu-jin also just shrugged her shoulders.

Fortunately Kim Rae-bin secretly made this statement.

“However it is said that most modern people have symptoms of dopamine addiction so I don’t think you need to worry too much!”

“You’re saying that because you’re also addicted to electronic devices.”

“…??”

And it sank.

Liu Chengwu took advantage of that opportunity and started speaking. Soft as if it had been prepared for a long time.

“But the university may have been embarrassed. yes?”

“…”

“I guess we were too embarrassed. Even though you’ve been through a lot before your debut… you never thought that someone’s life would be in danger. “And in such a supernatural way.”

okay.

So I tried to cooperate with their attitude as much as possible but…

“Still I should have said this first but I guess it’s a little late.”

Liu Chengwu smiled and stretched out his hand to pat my back.

“Thank you for being safe.”

I felt sick somewhere.

“…Okay thank you.”

“thank you.”

I hear similar stories here and there as if they had been told beforehand. It makes me more upset every time.

‘Damn it.’

I took a deep breath and answered calmly.

“me too. Thank you… I was glad that everyone came out safely.”

“okay.”

The atmosphere in the living room calmed down. The strange tension that came from avoiding topics during the few days of hospitalization disappeared.

Bae Se-jin cleared his throat with his face slightly open.

“I think I was sensitive too. “Because something unimaginable is happening…”

“But wouldn’t it be helpful when acting in a similar work later?”

“no! “This should not happen again in the future.”

Bae Se-jin glared at me. And I asked seriously.

“Can something like this happen in the future?”

“I don’t know either.”

“hey!”

“They say it doesn’t seem likely but honestly I’m not sure. “I think I need to find out more.”

Honestly I thought I was going to scream again.

However Bae Se-jin just nodded and said this.

“…Okay thank you for being honest.”

“…!”

“No interrogating you will not give you an answer… Anyway I will also look into this and that.”

Are you thinking of reading a science fiction novel?

“great! We were all grateful to each other. You can just keep going like this. “Tell me what you want to say Mundae-hyung.”

After Cha Yu-jin finished speaking Lee Se-jin opened her mouth with a bitter smile.

“So you want to work at Moon University? “What exactly do you want to do?”

It was quite friendly.

‘I guess I can say it right here.’

I don’t even think I had to leave the pension to choose something to do but… well.

“It’s like this.”

I explained my plan to the members. The listening atmosphere wasn’t bad…

“Sounds like fun?”

In the end it passed successfully and our new participation method was announced through our VTIC account.

- 〈Testa’s Counseling Center〉

* * *

[hello! Thank you for answering the call.]

“Yes uh hello!”

Kim Rae-bin’s fan swallowed his saliva. On the screen Raebin Kim’s face was seen looking at his own screen. It didn’t really feel like it. But it’s reality.

It’s reality!

He said that his story of selling out his younger brother won so he is on a video call with Kim Rae-bin for the first time in a while!

‘Aaaah!’

She tried not to make a strange expression.

‘You look so handsome!’

Raebin Kim was tying her hair in a small ponytail.

However this does not mean that it was loosely tied at home. It was seen that he was dressed well with careful attention to the piercings and thick gray knit.

And it was paradise to be able to see the secret two-tone inner color light purple beige and ash purple underneath the hair.

Fan sighed.

‘This is my country… ’

It’s not a joke Raebin Kim is really capable of running the country well… no she could be scammed.

Momentarily regaining her objectivity she told the story she had prepared as calmly as possible.

“I fight a lot with my younger brother…”

Roughly speaking this means that families are falling apart and society is falling apart due to frequent fights with younger siblings.

Kim Rae-bin who had been listening intently nodded seriously.

[I also experienced a lot of various conflicts growing up with my older sister so I asked to speak with Jiwon because I thought I could help her with this problem.]

He asked to talk to me!

‘The choice of words kills… ’

It’s not a choice it’s a request… Ah anyway.

Actually I didn’t need that help but I was very curious about what kind of help they had in mind.

On the screen Kim Rae-bin opened her handsome mouth with a serious face.

[I think it would be a good idea to tell your younger brother exactly what upset you without adding or subtracting anything.]

[I have disappointed my sister quite a few times but I think I can fix that if I get accurate feedback. Of course it may be inconvenient but… please consider it.]

"…"

So you're saying that he has been faithfully listening to his sister's admonitions?

'i envy you.'

Kim Rae-bin's fan clenched his teeth. What on earth did you have to do to be born as Kim Rae-bin's older sister?

-Did you really win this year? Isn't it a scam?

-But it's not like you're actually seeing it so no matter how much you make it up it's no good. Just roughly… ugh! evil!

-Is it my fault you're ugly?

The years I lived with that as my younger brother passed like a panorama.

I pretended not to be interested and just chased away the guy who was wandering around and trying to check.

In short useless advice that makes people angry!

However Kim Rae-bin's fan smiled brightly and nodded.

“I’ll give it a try!”

[…! Thank you for saying so!]

You can’t miss Raebin Kim’s sincere gratitude for her! And really… it was totally worth it.

‘Let’s ask you to tell us your own anecdote!’

In the end you will also come up with a cute message of encouragement for yourself.

Kim Rae-bin’s fans gave themselves strong motivation.

And at the same time.

A room on the third floor of a pension.

[hello.]

“…Hello sister.”

Park Moon-dae also started his first video call feeling like he was breaking into a cold sweat. What you see on the screen is…

[My concern during my teenage years was being compared to my older sister.]

Seojin Ryu.

He is the younger brother of Ryu Seo-rin the writer of Idol Inc. and a senior in the Department of Journalism and Broadcasting who was a frequent drinker in the same photography club as me during Ryu Geon-woo’s days.

[Oh I’m Puppy… No you can call me Ryu Seo-jin.]

…And it was the twin home horse of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin.

He knew now too.

‘Is this true?’

Chapter 438

A situation where a senior from a club I was drinking with suddenly appeared as my fan on a video call.

And this moment when my job is an idol.

It's very embarrassing.

However a mouth trained over many years of professional experience speaks the truth.

"…yes. Sister Seojin."

[yes.]

I'm going crazy.

When I saw Ryu Seo-jin's face on the screen which seemed satisfied I became more disturbed.

Although I was able to successfully participate in the karaoke casting for "Azusa" because I remembered what that senior said while drinking.

'Did that senior… like idols?'

I was busy making a living so I didn't know what the club members liked but I think they mostly just took pictures for their portfolios.

I've definitely never had someone take pictures for me.

however…

'It's just… you kept it a secret for the sake of your social life.'

It was even a home horse.

“Puppy Bear” which posts photos of Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae is an account that has taken so many worthy shots that even I can remember their names.

‘Looking at the photo upload interval and operating guidelines it seemed like Testa was definitely not the first idol.’

I don’t know if I didn’t know because I wasn’t interested or if the senior hid it well.

Anyway.

‘…Somehow the composition seemed particularly natural.’

Was it because you learned something similar at the club? No let’s stop.

‘Work work.’

You should think of them as grateful fans who participated in the event.

You can’t let anything strange come in during a live video call being recorded.

‘If you think only as a fan… ’

But even here I have a question: Why did you include me in the story?

It’s not a big strike.

‘I like Keunsejin but wasn’t it so that they took pictures of me who was number one in order to increase sales volume?’

Then I realized what had happened.

‘…Because we were in a hurry we couldn’t limit applications to one member per person.'

If you are a meticulous person you could probably create a customized story for each member.

In this case the Department of Journalism and Broadcasting is unconditionally advantageous.

…And the story that that senior or rather the fan told me is…

– Will I who followed a similar career path as my older sister in high school be able to accept and love myself now?

I wrote down a very believable story comparing competition with my sister and my own low self-esteem with my own experience of debuting in first place through survival.

Of course the identity of the older sister is Ryu Seo-rin the author of Azusa.

[First of all my sister is a person with a very strong sense of purpose and good drive.]

Oh I agree.

I almost twitched my eyes as I remembered the aggro master writer who was at his peak.

However he nodded his head quite discreetly without showing any signs of it.

"You are a wonderful person."

Surprise yourself.

[yes. So I think it was a little difficult for me to work in the same field. [I ended up comparing them.]

Ryu Seo-jin continued to tell the reconstructed story as expected from a new student without even putting a lick of saliva in his mouth. This means that the story is like a fabricated autobiography.

Still I saw a big trend so I felt comfortable answering.

“I think I thought that too when I first went on Idol Survival while watching the other contestants.”

As I calmly went with the flow things gradually got better as if I was broadcasting a script.

And by the time the end came I had completely regained my pace.

“…Seeing us talking about our concerns like this I think Seojin is a person with just as much drive as him.”

It’s obvious but it ends with a beautiful conclusion that it’s okay to believe in yourself more and not compare yourself to those around you.

And the fan on the screen listens seriously even though it is clearly an idol’s obvious broadcast-style feedback on a story that is comparable to an autobiography.

“…”

okay.

Whether it’s a senior or something I don’t forget that that person is a hardcore fan who is willing to spend money and time on me…

[Then can I get Mundae’s dog version of Fighting?]

My mouth is trembling.

“…sure.”

‘Fuck really.’

I don’t know what to call this. Shame?

“go for it!”

But I happily cheered by squeezing one cheek and flapping my hands above my head.

I was out of my mind but anyway after doing a few more fan-signing event-specific motions the first call ended successfully.

-Tirik!

“…”

I feel like I’ve been reduced to ashes.

I was so drained of energy that I lay down on the floor for a while. The staff didn’t stop me. However the door suddenly opened.

“Is this fun at Mundaemun University? “It’s also somewhat meaningful~”

The guy in the next room probably waiting outside the door shouts out quite excitedly.

“I did it with your fan.”

“…??”

If that guy had come in a little hastily he would have benefited from the time he spent submitting the story so it’s a shame.

* * *

I was a little freaked out the first time but the task itself wasn’t too difficult.

Sitting at the pension with the staff and chatting with fans for a few minutes? I’ll do it even if I don’t get paid.

In fact each member only has 7 fans. This is because it was agreed that in order to select a video that would appear on the concert VCR it would take a certain amount of talent to select one or two people.

‘I think I could have pulled out a little more.’

The schedule is to talk on the phone for about 5 to 10 minutes per person with a 10-minute break in between so it ends in 2 hours. For all the work I did I felt like I didn’t hire much.

I looked at the screen smiled and nodded.

[Have you ever had a hard time staying at our dorm?]

No matter what answer I give it’s a minefield but I know there’s no malicious intent.

“Hmm… When bugs came out the members didn’t let us go into the room so we stayed in the living room.”

The answer is the same book answer that seems to be related.

[omg! who?]

Okay you caught me.

So we ended another video call by telling an anecdote.

I mainly selected a number of stories that people could relate to that had a clear cause and effect structure and selected them at random.

So like before half of the people who had never even thought about talking on the phone with an idol reached out which was quite refreshing.

Of course there were some faces I saw often.

Surprisingly the first home horse came out on the fourth or fifth time.

[Hello Mundae!]

“Is this a story about an idol other than me becoming more liked?”

[…?! Oh no…??]

Just kidding. It was a story about how I was contemplating dropping out of high school due to issues with my friends and career path.

However less than 3 minutes after it started it turned into a typical fan signing conversation rather than counseling for concerns but I accepted it without stopping the conversation.

[Thank you so much Moon Dae-ya. We’ll see you again!]

I just wanted to do that.

And I felt it again.

‘…It’s been a while.’

It’s been a while since I did something like this with Testa. In my experience it’s been well over a year.

Even after I returned from breaking the system I only toured without releasing an album.

It was a new feeling to feel so directly that I was a tester.

“…”

I told myself to keep working hard and not lose anything so I calmly got my hair style adjusted and then stared at my smartphone again.

It was already the last consultation for concerns.

And this person…

[Oh hello! Wow what should I do!]

“…!”

What appeared on the screen was the face I saw a few days ago.

The person I saw with the light of a light stick between the dark concrete walls.

“…hello.”.

I am a fan who is a graduate student.

[This is my first time winning something like this!]

It is a bright face that has never experienced a collapsed building. I squeezed my hand under the table and it was done.

The excited fan shared his personal stories before sharing his concerns.

It was a story I already knew. Because those were the words I heard through the collapsing supply room at that time.

I guess I always have this bright and optimistic personality.

I said without thinking.

“…You’re a graduate student.”

[yes!]

Because I was worried about my studies I chose it because I thought speaking from the perspective of Park Moon Dae who had taken the qualification exam would provide a new perspective.

[But I don’t recommend it…]

It was a story about graduate school.

I smiled faintly.

“I think it’s great to have research or study that you want to do. So my sister is a great person.”

[Ugh hyung.]

It’s a bit of a strange sound but I hear it every time I attend a fan signing event so I wonder if it’s okay.

I listened and responded as sincerely as I could to the people before me.

When the end was announced the graduate student said this with his eyes shining with less tension on his face.

[thank you. really…! Actually I’m still worrying about it but I think I’m getting the strength to overcome these worries from Moon Dae and Testa.]

The fan on the screen smiles brightly.

“No thank you.”

It really wasn’t bad.

And only after I hung up the phone did I realize that this fan had not asked me for any lines or poses.

‘this’

You didn’t pick the mulberry.

Maybe I’ll see you at the next fan signing event.

Anyway the video call that started at 7pm did not end until almost the end of the night.

After going out of the room and taking the final ending cut… that was the end of today's filming.

"Thank you for your hard work~"

"It was fun!"

Because the work wasn't hard the staff's expressions were bright. The same goes for the members.

"I think it would be good to hold fan meetings in this format sometimes. "Because standing in line on site doesn't feel like having a one-on-one conversation."

"The way we meet our fans is to diversify by using modern culture."

"I like it…!"

It must have been quite fun.

I chuckled and flipped through the screen to find today's review.

– Bae Se was asked to recommend major books but he did not answer the question.

-I requested a heart challenge from Cheongwoo. I was embarrassed to say something like this that had nothing to do with my troubles but it was a really worthwhile embarrassment (video)

-Raebin Kim crazy guy how dare you wear your hair in a ponytail? Do you call me sister? Collarbone knit Son Minsu I am

It seems like everyone here had an impressive experience.

I flipped through my smartphone while reading Keun Se-jin's review of 'KakaoTalk Boyfriend Profile Picture Generator' and Cha Yu-jin's review of 'First-Time Spanish Instructor for Travelers'.

The last guy asked quietly.

“Are you happy now Moon Dae?”

“okay.”

It’s all thanks to me for stealing the smartphone so please remember it and do something delicious.

And not only for Cha Yu-jin but the atmosphere was already on the verge of a company dinner.

“Can it be delivered here? If it doesn’t work out it’s okay if I go out and buy it.”

“Oh we’ll go and come back. “I was just about to go to the supermarket.”

Donation concert staff members who joined in the conversation shouted loudly saying they would gladly bring pizza.

I’m grateful but I think I’m running away because I don’t like going out to dinner with unfamiliar celebrities. As an office worker it’s natural.

Anyway it was after seeing off the staff members who went out like that.

“Then let’s set the table before you come…”

“Ohhhh the cat is here again! “We take responsibility for this cat!”

“Eujin Bae Se-jin is allergic to cat fur…”

“Ouch.”

When we had passed the cat-and-matter situation for a while and had progressed to some extent in preparing for the company dinner.

Ding-dong

The doorbell rang. Those who were putting down their glasses suddenly raise their heads.

“hmm?”

“Are you here already?”

Is that possible? The staff left 10 minutes ago. The pizza wouldn’t have even gone into the oven.

‘I guess I left something behind.’

“I’ll go.”

I stepped forward for the crime of being closest to the front door.

Ding-dong.

I knew it.

I quickly changed my pace and immediately grabbed the front door handle.

Sweet.

And light and sound poured out from the open door.

“hi!”

This voice…

“Surprise~”

“Wow applause”

“…!!”

I froze.

VTIC guys in plain clothes were standing outside the main gate of Dajjagojja Pension.

what.

“Hello Mr. Moon!”

What kind of situation is this?

Cheongryeo smiled brightly and waved her hand.

Even though I think this is some kind of bullshit description it is reality.

And the cause appears backwards.

The shining lights above the camera twinkle. And the ones holding that light… are the staff members who left earlier.

‘oh.’

At the same time I grasped the situation and slowly lowered my hand that almost clenched into a fist.

Actually as a surprise we agreed to do a temporary stage at the end of the donation concert VCR…

‘…Did you intend to do it like this?’

I had no idea we would be in for a surprise like this.

“I came for a special performance with Testa!”

In front of the lights Jin Chae-yul smiled and waved her hand.

‘Is there anything you can see after going to the military?’

It was a strange somewhat upsetting reunion. but…

“…Welcome.”

“…!”

There’s nothing that can’t be done.

I chuckled and stepped aside slightly.

Let’s do it.

Chapter 439

Even the synergy effect of controversy and publicity.

VTIC's donation concert was carried out meticulously and with precise timing by a former Reset Syndrome who had been an idol all his life.

Of course it was he who planned the concert.

'hmm.'

Zhou Dan nodded seeing everything going smoothly.

The enormous downward-type incident that caused the building to collapse was restored to its original state as if it had never happened.

If the finale ends in such a perfectly happy way then of course there is a suspense-free success story right after.

'Everything will go well… '

"Cast and Dan"

"yes."

As soon as Judan heard the voice he quickly put away his smartphone.

It was not because he felt habitual pressure from his leader but because it was a reasonable request.

And in fact when you think about it at the level of the species isn't it natural even if he felt a certain amount of intimidation and fear?

Although she has such a pale and young face Cheongryeo is actually a being who has built up her ego over an enormous amount of years.

There is probably a reason why humans have respected their elders who have survived for a long time since ancient times.

‘Let’s stay calm.’

Zhou Dan muttered in his mouth invisibly.

And Cheongryeo the person involved… glanced at Judan’s behavior and said.

“I would have said it was okay without you checking.”

“It’s a hobby.”

“hmm.”

Instead of saying things like ‘If you don’t want to do it don’t do it’ Cheongryeo stared at him briefly and then left.

It was tacit permission.

It’s quite generous… No it’s not generous. Permission! No matter how much of a leader he was it was an excessive abuse of power.

‘But he was that kind of character even before his debut.’

It feels like you are pressing down from a high place rather than shooting the person directly.

‘As a leader of a group he is the type that is efficient.’

Is that why VTIC has been going strong for so long?

‘I thought I would have been ruined by the time my contract was renewed.’

Another member did fail.

Ju Dan decided to put that thought aside. And instead I remembered the reactions to the VTIC concert on the Internet that I had seen earlier.

First of all the negative ones.

– Didn't you follow the Testa donation icon?

Did you rent out Donation Cone?

A minority opinion is that it reminds them of Testa's donation concert right after his car accident that was held on the same platform. Although it almost disappeared thanks to Testa's guest news.

Of course I admit that they used a fairly novel method called 'audience participation'.

'But it's a minor policy that only works for Internet users.'

What VTIC planned was a donation concert with a more classic and extravagant flavor.

And it worked.

-It really tastes good.

-It's been a while since I performed a concert that only features songs I know and I'm excited to hear the live performance so well haha.

However he did not deny that Testa was helpful to some extent. Testa's (already announced) surprise VCR appearance in Part 2 was quite an interesting element.

[Park Moon-dae: This is Mundaeng a daily counselor]

[Maltese: (silent scream)

The Maltese dog character held up his paw and covered his mouth. This is the fan who requested counseling from Park Moon-dae.

It was quite cute and heart-warming to see applicants share their concerns with VR-like animal characters of members providing counseling for the sake of anonymity.

It was funny too.

‘It’s a humorous device that adjusts the tempo in the middle of an intense stage.’

[Seon Ah-hyeon: First drink a glass of warm water.]

[Rudolph: (hiccup)]

[Seon Ah-hyun: It will also help with those hiccups…]

“Oh you’re cute!”

“Ahyun it’s really nice to see you working so hard.”

While filming ‘Donation Concert VTIC Reaction’ with other members Joo Dan nodded his head several times.

Of course this reaction itself was content that would soon be released.

That’s right after they enlisted.

“…”

oh my god.

‘Enlisting?’

I thought I would quit this job before that big hiatus but strangely enough I keep doing it.

Zhou Dan nodded.

‘…But since there is nothing to consume in the meantime it is unlikely that fans will return to being outsiders.'

3 types of proprietary content 2 free sound sources and 2 music videos. When I thought of the cinematic trailer to connect the world view I felt confident.

Of course it was made by Cheongryeo.

'When on earth did I start preparing?'

I can't believe I left out so much content during my gap year even though I'll only be gone for 6 months next year.

This may be why it is difficult for him to rebel against a superhuman leader.

Anyway the screen moved on to the next step.

After the VCR ends the stage comes out when it is supposed to…

[Visit Testa's consultation site!]

This is VTIC suddenly making a surprise visit to Testa's pension.

-omg

This was a real surprise.

If Judan had checked the Internet on his smartphone which he had turned off he would have seen countless exclamation marks and excited reactions.

[Huh!?]

[Huh? Seniors?]

Even Testa who was in the picture on screen looked like his eyes were going to pop out. Because this is something we haven't agreed on.

‘Hmm.’

Zhou Dan secretly felt proud. It was all for a great reaction.

-The kids are going to faint haha.

-Look at how you act like you’re not surprised My Precious Sorry Dog ㅠㅠ

– Bae Se-jin ran out with socks on. Hahaha.

-Is that Testa’s dormitory?

The accommodation is revealed so it looks like you rented it somewhere.

Anyway after greeting each other warmly they shared pizza and briefly talked about the donation concert and its meaning.

And then… it’s a scenario where we come together. First of all Testa’s Park Moon-dae opened his luck like this.

[We are very sorry and disappointed that we will not be able to participate on stage.]

[Sorry! I even consulted to get him to participate in some way!]

[That’s right you’ve done enough.]

Among the testers who looked at each other shyly Ryu Cheong-wu smiled and opened his mouth.

[thank you. Then I’ll just say what I regret.]

[then…]

Chaeyul answered with a bright face. He was the perfect member to do that.

[How about making it short here? The stage!]

[!]

[There are lights here… and they are all prepared performance craftsmen!]

[Wahhaha!]

In this way the seemingly impromptu stage was confirmed.

[Let's go out!]

Outside the sun had already set. Although it was a pension located in nature far from the night view it had one advantage.

As expected from a pension it had a large front yard and lamps lined up all around it.

[Oh!]

[You consulted in a wonderful place.]

Naturally VTIC and Testa ran out to the front yard excitedly stopping for a moment but laughing.

[What are we dancing to?]

[I never thought about that!]

And Testa's Lee Se-jin smiles while shaking his head with the members.

[Since this is a seniors' concert wouldn't it be expected that the seniors' songs would be heard?]

[Hey~]

Of course this is a fully prepared lineup.

And yet he was such a sociable person that it made him feel uncomfortable to say that line so naturally. Zhou Dan nodded.

Anyway the idols stood around the front yard applauding the chosen song.

[Music please!]

The grass at night glowed under the twinkling lights of the lamps and the stage lights turned on by the staff.

When a familiar intro is played on a dark background

[iced coffee!]

[Oh I love this so much!]

The idols who came out showed off their exciting and cheerful steps.

And the intro sounds like a sing-along song.

[Hey partner!

I wonder if you are thinking of me]

Night Sign.

VTIC's immortal song which was released around the same time as Testa's debut song was played in the front yard.

This song was excluded from the set list of the donation concert because it had a dark languid and sexy concept but it was different here.

[I remember again

[Night after night]

As the atmosphere at the concert becomes more excited like people running at a party even this song shows off the strengths of a hit song.

A song we all know.

The excitement that comes from empathy.

Even though it was a song that didn't have that kind of choreography originally.

The two groups laughed and mingled with several people taking turns coming forward and dancing along with the choreography.

It was a picture of VTIC who stepped back a little at times and deliberately gave the junior a place to step forward and Testa who did his best to enjoy the senior's song without crossing the line.

The balance seemed easier and more natural thanks to the mix of members who had already been with each other before.

And let it be a refrain.

[Until the end of this night

[Remember my eyes]

They immediately formed a formation and performed a representative choreography.

Because it came from the atmosphere of an impromptu party just before the perfect movement seemed even more impressive.

[Um Um]

The camera work captured the faces of each member smiling or having fun.

It was an exciting movement that didn't suit the song but oddly enough it did.

[Like a night sign]

Gestures and great improvised choreography skills filled the song with a fast tempo.

But when I solved it I definitely solved it.

[right!]

As a group the idols imitated that exclamation-like note performed the choreography and smiled brightly.

"ah…"

"It was so much fun that time!"

The VTIC members who were watching the screen and filming their reactions also made a fuss while thinking about that time.

And Ju Dan turned his head and looked.

Cheongnyeo was also smiling faintly.

"okay."

[Night sign!]

After the last phrase that was shouted in unison. The members checked each other's movements and posed for the ending which was several times larger.

Hwiik – Pang!

And the impromptu dance ended with fireworks exploding in the sky above.

With laughter.

[and!]

[thank you!]

The color of the firecrackers behind the waving hand was captured emotionally.

It was a fitting mid-finale to a donation concert that left an overwhelming impression.

The audience reaction was also appropriate.

-ㅜㅜㅜ

-It was nice to see it really touched me.

-I didn't know I would participate like this. I think it was a good idea.

-Korean idols are really amazing. How do they do it right like that?

ㄴㄴ ㄴVtick testa is great

However one unresolved question remains in the minds of the two fandoms.

-Why are you close to me?

* * *

"Ah it was fun!"

"Have fun!"

After the VTIC guys raided and filmed the performance in the pension yard.

As it was the end of the concert VTIC who were busy immediately started preparing to leave. And Testa is sending him off in a sincere manner as befits a junior.

I was just restoring the stage.

'It was okay.'

It's been a long time since I've heard a song like that on the spot and pretended like I heard it for the first time but since we're all experienced workers it came out quite naturally.

If I had to choose among VTIC songs it would have been safer to choose a hit song before Testa's debut but really… there wouldn't be any problem.

'They're going to the military.'

In idol group relationships all problems other than love arise from competition.

Since there is a hiatus and we are no longer competitors I think fans will react more leniently.

It was then.

"Mr. Mundae!"

"yes."

"Hey we're back to using respectful terms again!"

Jin Chae-yul who changed her clothes smiled.

"Can I contact you when I'm on vacation? We still see each other often. In that case just leave it alone like before!"

"It's always good for me."

Of course if a problem arises I will be busy.

Anyway Chae-yul nodded eagerly then lowered her head slightly and spoke softly as if in a whisper.

“And after we all enlist Jaehyun is alone. “Emotionally.”

I don’t think it was much different before I enlisted.

“Are you and Kong going to keep in touch? “I said it before but since I’m like the mountain spirit of Winak I don’t think I’ll even eat food like that!”

No green rye probably eats well focusing on protein and fiber.

But I nodded.

“I will try.”

“is it so!”

Jaeyul left after hugging me with a bright face.

And Judan who was listening quietly approached and opened his mouth with a mysterious look on his face.

“Chaeyul is somewhat emotional and irrational. “It’s because we attach too much meaning to interpersonal relationships.”

“…”

“But socially people tend to accept my brother’s words more easily. “It’s amazing.”

no

Anyway I decided not to forget Chae-yul’s words. That much.

And a few days later.

VTIC's donation concert ended successfully.

And as a surprise event they even released a colorful fan song MV and the rest of the members except Cheongryeo actually enlisted that month.

When I saw the photo in the article I felt a little strange. Is it because I was in a group with young guys under the age of 20 not long ago?

["Loyalty! "I'll be back." VTIC Sinnoh's Salute 〈Hansung Star Photo〉]

"By the time we go popular culture will also have passed a bill to replace military service…"

"If your expectations are high you will be disappointed."

"…"

Our turn will come soon but it's still a few years away. Before that you can receive a national medal that allows you to postpone your enlistment.

'I guess that should be my next goal.'

I nodded.

"Why are you nodding?"

"I thought a good song would come out."

I put down my smartphone in the middle of my studio.

Sun Ah-hyun was seen recording in the booth with a nervous face.

And the next batter Lee Se-jin glances at the VTIC news on my smartphone and says as soon as our eyes meet.

“Hmm~ Comeback in January?”

“January comeback.”

What are the conditions for receiving a national medal?

When it comes to KPOP there are clear precedents from the past.

Global recognition and evaluation.

It’s not enough to just be popular. You have to be the best in this genre.

This is the top tier that VTIC has completely dominated so far.

‘I’ll eat everything during my military service.’

We will start off with a special performance at this year’s awards ceremony where VTIC has disappeared.

“Not much time left.”

We started preparing to rob an empty house.

So the end of the year has arrived.

Chapter 440

It's already been over 5 years since we debuted at the end of the year. At this point everyone has a pattern of preparing for award ceremonies and year-end music programs.

1. The type of person who prepares leisurely

With many years of experience I am the type of person who works hard on my body while keeping my mind at ease.

Or because you push your body hard you gain some leeway.

"Whew I think it will be okay if I take some more time to learn the next movement."

"Okay~ Then I'll skip it and fix it starting with part B today. Cheongwoo-hyung are you okay?"

"huh. "Then should we increase the practice time?"

"Of course."

The majority belong to the following.

2. The type who prepares nervously

I am the type of person who has a lot of worry and anxiety about mistakes so I am immersed in agony every time I feel comfortable because I am thinking about various scenarios.

"Is it me who takes the time to learn it? No don't answer. Either way just work hard. Yes because I gave him a lot of time…"

"Brother I think that if you allocate so much time to the bridge movement it means that the choreography point will shift to that! In that case my dictionary arrangement will sound unnatural…”

“stop.”

…If you cut it off in moderation you will be influenced by number 1 and calm down.

“When you rest don’t think about anything.”

“but…”

“Don’t do it.”

I made their break time feel like break time.

And the next type that belongs to the minority is…

3. The type that plays leisurely

[You know too right? Cramming is like a kind of cheating.]

“Do you understand?”

“Hee hee!”

He practices because his colleagues tell him to do it but in reality in addition to matching the group dance angles his movements and gestures are at a level that would be awesome even on stage.

“In the first place your own skills are important!”

“…Does this mean that there is no point in practicing for someone who can’t do that?”

“Nope! “Effort will become your original skill.”

“Hmm.”

You open your mouth easily.

Anyway these guys have come together and the year-end preparations are going well even though they are creaky as always.

“stop!”

“Eat Raebin Kim!”

I watched the practice video I had just taken while dodging the dried sweet potato that Cha Yu-jin threw at Kim Rae-bin. It’s okay.

“…hmm.”

And in fact if we classify it this way there was a final number as well.

Number 4.

This is the type of person who is nervous but still has fun.

However there is no such person in this group.

This is a situation that everyone has experienced at least once while preparing for an exam but it is a serious injury that is naturally cured when you receive money.

In other words this does not apply to those of us who receive money.

However this applies to me in other fields where I don’t get paid. This is because there are situations where you can’t use your hands even though you’re nervous.

“Surely receiving a national medal is the next status quo?”

-yes?

Weekend night after practice. I was relaxing in the bathtub drinking a cold non-alcoholic beer.

Of course I'm not doing this alone like a crazy person I'm holding a waterproof smartphone.

"Isn't it strange that I care so much about a medal that doesn't exempt me from military service but just allows me to postpone my service for a few years?"

-No. Bro really not!

The big moon on the other side of the phone almost screamed. It's been a while since I've been communicating through voice chat and it definitely makes me feel different from chat pop-ups.

Anyway this guy's opinion is the same. No matter how much I searched I couldn't find anything strange.

And the reason why I am obsessed with national decorations is…

-… No one wants to go to the military.

"…"

-As the time approaches.

That's… right.

Since I've been there twice I become more obsessed with it as the time approaches like an inevitable physiological phenomenon.

Those who have tried it before know that it is more like shit.

But that's it.

"You know so well that you're not going anymore."

-sorry.

I'm sorry but my body has changed with my age so I need to get exemption from military service to make ends meet.

And I also know that what this guy knows well is not the military.

“No I guess you just have to take a good look at my opponent to be sure.”

-yes! That’s it!

Geoldal explained without even taking a breath.

-I was so immersed that it almost seemed like it was going to be a status window again so I looked through it thoroughly but there was no trace of 1/4 of the system! really!

“Okay I got it.”

The wall will collapse. I admitted lowering my phone volume.

“Then what about mission failure?”

-… No.

I knew it.

I decided not to bring up this topic anymore after Geoldal rapped that he would regularly check my status book.

‘If I feel bad like last time I’ll have to run to a direction where there are no people.’

And after all this process the exciting year-end tax settlement period has finally arrived.

“Mundaemun University~ December 20th is the third quarter settlement date right?”

“uh.”

No not this settlement.

It is a time when what we have done over the past year is evaluated based on quantitative figures such as grades and qualitative figures such as recognition.

okay. It's finally the awards ceremony.

"The Artist of the Year Award is… Testa!"

"Congratulations!"

"This is a test for the album's grand prize."

"Congratulations to the final grand prize singer of the year… Testa."

Puff poop!

Numerous fireworks drum rolls cheers and even Testa's representative song of the year played in the background.

"thank you! "I will work harder!"

"We'll be back soon!"

Screams applause and cheers.

At every awards ceremony I attended I neatly won one grand prize. This is because this company does not send out awards ceremonies that do not award grand prizes.

Well it's efficient.

And at the company I returned to I was greeted by people from the same company one after another as I moved to take promotional photos displaying the trophy.

"brother! Hey~"

Spacer's newly debuted female idol AR team staff and management team leader…

Even Mirinae.

“Congratulations!”

“Congratulations…”

It’s an amazing industry where your mouth congratulates you even if your competitor looks at you like they want to break your head off and take the grand prize trophy for yourself.

“…That junior member Seong Ha-rin? “Do you hate us?”

“I guess so.”

Anyway the end of the year was quite fun without any special surprises.

Yes is there anyone who doesn’t like receiving an award for doing well? They received favorable reviews as they prepared a special stage.

-The Testa Saber stage was crazy.

-What is that called? Sword dance? I almost drooled while watching it.

-Testa T1A stage currently equipped with real-time popular videos

It was a taste of the heyday like the end of hardship and adversity.

…Of course unfortunately this does not mean that we won the grand prize in all target categories.

The sound source is Youngrin and the album is VTIC.

Even after VTIC went to the military this structure remained strong.

Because the leader stayed and attended the awards ceremony.

“thank you.”

Cheongryeo came to the most prestigious awards ceremony at the end of this year wearing a navy blue semi-suit for the awards ceremony red carpet rather than a stage costume.

“I would like to dedicate all the congratulations and joy of receiving awards to our grateful members who are faithfully carrying out their assigned duties.”

He didn’t seem the least bit embarrassed or in a hurry to attend alone.

Instead as always it was appropriate without the slightest tension and there seemed to be no loopholes whatsoever.

And he also gave this hint.

“We will show you what you expect next year as well.”

Wow!

“thank you.”

Applause rang out toward Cheongryeo who slightly bowed her head. Big Sejin who was smiling respectfully trusted the magnificent BGM and whispered.

“Are you saying you want to release a solo album?”

“huh.”

There’s going to be a dog fight again.

Moreover if he is that guy he hints at the complete VTIC or even sneakily inserts a song that will later be arranged as a group song into the build-up… I’ll give him the ‘Colorful K-Pop Star Award’.

I looked at the shabby-looking plaque on the table.

This is an item that suddenly appeared this year to appease sponsoring companies. We received it without any reason or grade.

'When it's time to make something like this let's break down the Rookie Award.'

Still it will probably disappear next year so isn't it rare?

"It's a prize. congratulation."

"yes."

Cheongryeo whom I met backstage also praised this award.

I quietly handed the award over to the staff member who was taking care of the award. Then Cheongryeo who had been watching without much agitation opened her mouth.

A random remark.

"Didn't you hear the good news?"

what?

"Is it possible that your pet dog is giving birth?"

"Hmm junior did you fall asleep during science class?"

I mean what kind of bullshit is this? I feel the same way here.

I looked at him to tell him to speak properly. Cheongryeo stared at me as if thinking for a moment then smiled slightly.

"Well it doesn't matter."

"yes?"

"No it means that if there is good news I want you to let me know."

why.

“Because I’m curious.”

With those words he got into his car and left the awards ceremony. Then I sent a short video via text. With a message.

-happy birthday. (video)

“…”

The video was about a dog receiving a new cushion as a gift instead of a broken one.

‘What do you mean?’

Of course I thought it would be fun to ask so I left it alone.

By this point you must have learned that if anything makes me X you will also become X.

Anyway the last Music Awards of the year came to an end leaving behind numerous temporary awards for distribution.

What’s left…

“We are making a comeback!!”

That’s right.

It’s a new year and a new activity period.

We will make a comeback in January when all results can be fully reflected.

And we plan to use a method that will attract much more attention and use up more time than regular music broadcasts.

as soon as.

“We will make a comeback at the awards ceremony in January.”

“Yesss!”

Even though we already knew this the response was strong. It was clear that everyone was excited because it was their first comeback in a long time.

In fact there was almost pressure from the head office to make a comeback at ToneA in December. Because that’s their awards ceremony.

But we discouraged that opinion.

“It’s a good thing you protested that the stage quality wasn’t up until then!”

“I made the right decision!”

“Happy New Year Comeback? “It’s the best!”

…It may seem like they were a little overly excited but it was amazing to see these guys who were already intoxicated with the taste of victory humming and practicing all night long.

“…good. Yes I think it will definitely work out!”

“brother! “There’s a jinx in that!”

“…?!”

“I’m kidding.”

“hey!”

So on Monday January 9th we will be on a New Year’s late-night radio schedule just before our comeback.

Of course this is all a calculated action.

“It’s not really publicity it’s kind of viral.”

“I like that it has a bit of gimmickiness without being too bold!”

Since talk is the main content we can only say as much as we want to say. Isn’t this the age where you can be scared on the radio anymore?

And I want to give fans the pleasure of guessing and guessing what kind of album will be released.

Because it is a limited medium there is no need to worry about the promotional effect being used up there.

‘A kind of eve ceremony.’

I smiled and said hello to the media room in front of the radio booth.

“i look forward to.”

“Wow! yes!”

The writers and staff welcomed the group warmer than expected and everything went smoothly.

“The testers are scheduled to be deployed in 16 minutes!”

“yes!”

We sat on the sofa outside and began waiting to enter. Since it was a surprise appearance it was planned to make it feel like an intrusion.

“Mundae this is…”

“ah. thanks.”

I massaged the stress ball held out by Sun Ah-hyun.

And he blinked slowly.

‘There’s nothing to do while waiting like this.’

This is the time to stay conscious and do nothing at the same time because you might miss the timing while thinking about something else.

All that’s worth doing is reorganizing in your head what you’re going to say on the radio.

Blink.

‘First say hello and make sure the audio doesn’t get cut off… ’

Blink.

‘Kim Rae-bin is excited so I made sure not to spoil too much about the song.’

Blink-blink

‘The last time I said goodbye was Bae Se-jin… ’

Blink.

I see a dark ceiling. I closed and opened my eyes again.

Blink.

It’s the same.

“…”

It’s dark for a moment?

“…!!”

I got up. And then I realized I was lying down.

‘what?’

It was a bed. No bed?

‘what’s this.’

I fumbled my way down the bed.

‘fire.’

Beep.

When I press the button on the wall the light comes on.

And the comfortable bedroom scene was revealed.

“…!”

A room with a poster of Testa.

I feel like I’ve seen this structure somewhere but no I’ll think about it first…

I suddenly woke up in a different place.

“Whoa.”

I took a deep breath.

Honestly now that I’ve been through so much I don’t think I’d be surprised if something crazy happens…

‘No matter what how can something happen without any sign?’

There were no pop-ups no status windows or even any psychological signs!

‘First of all from the status window… ’

It was then.

[brother!]

“Ugh.”

A sound rang in my head. A sound like vibration carries meaning

‘vibration?’

And I realized that the vibration that conveyed meaning was something I had already experienced.

When Geondal who was studying for the civil service examination in Ryu Geon-woo’s body sometimes lost control and used my body.

“…no way.”

Hey this can’t be right.

I suppressed my silence and thought that I wanted to reply to this voice in my head.

Then.

Hwiik.

Strange calculations and processes pass by in my mind in an instant and then a pop-up appears in front of my eyes.

[___]

what’s this.

[what’s this_]

I get it.

‘This is a chat pop-up.’

This is what Big Moon used to send me.

And that means one thing.

“Damn it.”

I realized that my voice was familiar in another way so I picked up my smartphone and checked my face with the front camera.

“…”

That’s right Ryu Geon-woo fuck…

“Damn it.”

[brother? Is it really possible that you are in my body now?]

“okay!”

Hey I have no system left!

I think that thought just went to the pop-up chat but I’ll pass it over for now… and think about it. What can I do?

‘connection’

Big Moon can also access Park Moon-dae’s status window! By sharing the view.

I don’t know if I can do it though. Let’s give it a try.

‘Is that… is it okay if that’s how I call the status window?’

I focused my thoughts.

Park Moon-dae status window system connection connection…

connection.

[-CONNECT-]

and.

Visions and sensations come to mind. It was the feeling of Park Moon-dae who was on radio standby.

It was correct that we could use the sense sharing that Geoldal mentioned.

‘after.’

Fortunately it only took a moment to feel relieved that it had worked.

…A hologram appeared in the shared view of Park Moon-dae.

That familiar status window pop-up.

[outbreak!]

Status abnormality mission failure: return to original state

-Everything back to its original state as if it never happened.

: Until end 23:59:59 (1 day)

“…”

[I’m really sorry I don’t know what’s going on! All it says here is that the mission failed…]

And I instinctively realized what this was.

Oh fuck.

“You had it.”

[yes??]

“It was with you.”

This damn system 1/4 status abnormality was caused by that guy not me…

And that’s because his body changes 10 minutes before the radio goes on standby!

[Aaaah!]

That was the beginning.

〈Continued in Part 2〉

Chapter 441

“Sigh.”

I took a deep breath and exhaled. The face of Ryu Geon-woo reflected on the smartphone screen moved along.

…This is an impossible situation but let’s try to sort it out as calmly as possible.

1. Park Moon-dae (me) and Ryu Geon-woo (geundal) changed bodies.

2. Park Moon-dae is the main vocalist of a first-generation idol group and is on the verge of a comeback.

but.

3. Ryu Geon-woo (Keundal) who entered Park Moon-dae’s body is a comebacker a naggi and has no idol experience.

And this is where Hwaryong’s point comes into play.

4. Park Moon-dae’s live radio broadcast is in 10 minutes.

“…”

It turned. It’s not like I’ve been through a crazy situation once or twice but this is a really crazy situation.

‘Is this true 10 minutes before the live broadcast standby?’

The only hope I have is that I can share Park Moon-dae’s vision just like Keundal did.

First of all it’s an abnormal condition and it’s stupid so I have to do something about it from the live broadcast… Wait a minute.

'…Park Moon-dae's vision is getting blurry?'

The radio waiting room is hazy.

I feel bad. What if the problem occurred because I an outsider connected it instead of Keundall which was the original status window?

'Fuck you.'

I can hear the sound of the live broadcast going downhill. I hastily started chatting.

"Are you okay? Connection problem with view…"

[I'm crying…]

"…"

[sorry.]

I understand.

However as his tears welled up a few people appeared pacing from in front of the radio booth breaking through the blurry vision.

…It's the writers!

[brother!! brother! People want me to come in!]

"for a moment."

This is not the time to get lost in sentimentality.

"Call your smartphone lock pattern!"

[Oh my debut day! Testa debut date!]

Pattern based on male idol debut date? You even made it so unintuitive!

Anyway I quickly think about it.

‘Excluded because there is no ‘0’ notation on the keypad. However since the pattern has only three digits there are too few so if you add the year… ’

Five digits!

After connecting the positions of the five numbers I lifted my finger and a screen opened.

‘That’s right!’

I immediately started downloading the broadcaster’s radio app. I was thinking of replacing Park Moon-dae’s hearing with this.

‘I’d rather end up with this than try to share Park Moon-dae’s body and hearing and make a mistake during a live broadcast.’

To be honest I was at a point where I had no idea how I was even sharing my perspective.

Let’s get to work right away.

I opened the downloaded radio app. In those few seconds plans were made discarded and reviewed simultaneously.

And then I got up from the bed.

“Listen carefully.”

[yes!]

“This is a surprise radio appearance right before the comeback. The script has at most five or six lines and can be checked in real time. Since there are a lot of people I only have to answer questions that come directly from Park Moon-dae.”

Other than that they only open their mouths when everyone answers together and speak slowly whenever I give them a signal through chat.

At that time while I send the answer I fill in the gaps by adding exclamations and taking a little time.

But one thing is important.

“Before answering exclamations should not contain any nuance whether positive or negative. “You have to pay attention to that and control it.”

The moment you make a mistake by being sarcastic or inappropriate you become X.

The broadcast ends the moment it is broadcast. Tension is essential.

[Ugh…]

Geoldal displayed something like a terminal message in the chat pop-up. I held back a sigh.

‘It won’t work if it’s too tight.’

If you put too much pressure on it it will fail.

“You don’t have to worry too much about your reflex reaction it’ll be fine. “Because you don’t have an aggressive personality.”

But Chat cried out.

[please! Just control me! I’ll just react and do whatever you tell me to do! Just do what you write! yes!?]

I couldn’t be that desperate.

But I can't hire that person who has a good sister and good brother-in-law.

"You can't do that."

[yes…?]

I sat down on the sofa and lowered my head.

"That's a visible radio."

[…]

This means that you also need to control your facial muscles. Including all reactions.

[Please save me.]

Isn't he doing this to save his life?

I sighed.

"If you can't decide there is a way to avoid the broadcast itself."

[What is it!?]

"Just fall on the floor now."

This is the surest way to have your schedule canceled.

Take him to the ambulance.

"…"

After a moment of silence.

[I'm sorry I can't…]

Yeah I thought so.

Testa is already listening to the final briefing in front of the booth door. If you were so shameless that I would have collapsed in the middle of this you wouldn't have come here to save me.

"There's nothing to be sorry about. Anyway it must be hard for you to handle it alone right now."

[…yes.]

"good."

I already thought about it.

An amateur who has never broadcast before is put into a live broadcast? The tempo will jump and stand out unnaturally.

'It's even more problematic because it will be compared to the broadcast version of Park Moon-dae that I originally showed.'

I needed someone who could assist that guy and fight back on the spot.

However if you share it with all 7 people right away a big disaster will occur. So… there is only one answer in the end.

I pressed my cheek and opened my mouth.

"I'm only talking to one guy."

* * *

The area in front of the booth was tense with just the right amount of tension but not too much. It was only natural that it had already been more than five years since Testa began his broadcasting activities.

However just because he is a member who frequently appears on entertainment shows does not make him feel any better.

For example… like Lee Se-jin.

He had already read the script repeatedly in his head and checked his parts.

And the following order is also important.

‘Well this place will be fine too.’

He memorized the parts he was not explicitly assigned to but could ‘get’.

It is a habit that has not disappeared since debut survival.

Do your part.

Testa was already big enough as a group to be indisputable. However the trend of comparing and lining up individuals in the group as is typical of survivalists has not disappeared.

furthermore…

‘There’s no need to do it right?’

Stage pictorial producing interview… There was a member who stood out everywhere. To put it bluntly there is a member in this team who ‘scores points’ no matter what they do.

But walking while others are running? It was no different from resting.

Lee Se-jin wasn’t going to do the pathetic thing of missing a point where he could have taken the point. Forever until retirement.

“Is there anything else you need?”

“It’s okay～”

Still other members besides Lee Se-jin are now quite familiar with this type of talk-type broadcast. I had to do better.

'Well it's good that the members are reliable.'

Sejin Lee recalled the waiting room just before. Everyone is managing their own tension and waiting skillfully…

At that time a small whisper was heard in Lee Se-jin's ear.

"Over there."

A desperate sound with a hint of crying.

For your information this was a person who would never fit these two modifiers.

Thanks to this Sejin Lee turned his head almost as a spinal reflex.

"…?"

And then I ran into someone who was almost in tears.

It was Park Moon-dae.

Sejin Lee was so scared that she almost jumped up from her seat but held back. And the next words were really almost like that.

"I'm not Moon Dae-hyung…"

"…!?"

"Suddenly my body changed. "I am that big moon."

"…"

yes?

"You know what. "In Geonwoo's body…"

As soon as he briefly began to think about the possibility of Park Moon-dae pulling a prank like this 4 minutes and 50 seconds before the live broadcast he immediately threw it in the trash can.

In the meantime Park Moon-dae – a person claiming to be in the body of someone else but in fact a different person – was eagerly talking about the situation.

It ended with an explanation that he was currently communicating with 'Moon Dae-hyung' in some magical way.

"Well I heard that Moon Dae tells me how to speak on the radio…"

'Telepathy… '

A few childish movies or dramas quickly passed through my brain.

Still there was something that came to mind before the question of whether the past few unrealistic experiences had helped absorb the shock.

I was worried.

The last 'nonsense incident' was a building collapse.

Lee Se-jin who felt a chill down his spine opened his mouth.

"Is he okay?"

"Yes it will! "I was in bed trying to sleep…"

A brief moment of relief passed by.

"And… you want me to tell you this…"

"…?"

Sentences that felt like reading a Korean language book followed.

“First of all don’t tell anyone just keep it to yourself. “Do you know what it will be like if your live broadcast is ruined?”

“…”

You’re fine.

‘That’s Park Mun-dae.’

My eyesight became dizzy.

And Keudal’s earnest mosquito-sounding speech ended like this.

“Please save me. “Moon Dae said on the radio that all you have to do is trust Sejin…”

…Park Moon-dae!!

Sejin Lee internally shouted without changing her expression.

At that time Liu Chengwu turned his head at the front door.

“What’s going on?”

Sejin Lee was briefly conflicted. however…

“…Ah~ No! I have to go in! “Come on let’s get to the radio properly~”

Park Moon-dae was right. This is… the moment the conversation tempo is disrupted by sharing it’s hell.

He gritted his teeth and laughed. Then he grabbed the back of Park Moon-dae’s body and cheerfully entered the booth.

However there was something that both Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae missed.

It is said that Sun Ah-hyeon was waiting next to them… quite close enough that I could vaguely hear the conversation.

It was a gap created by the combination of a live broadcast and a strange phenomenon.

"…"

"Ahyun hyung? "It's time to enter the booth."

"Ugh!"

Sun Ah-hyun swallowed her saliva.

And with a pale complexion he followed me into the booth with a determined step.

…So at 23:47 on Monday January 9th.

That night when people are busy living reality frantically planning the new year and the beginning of the week.

"Song DJ's midnight radio. It's a Monday specialty. "We are back in the <Weekly Lucky> corner."

has just entered the final Monday corner.

"We have invited some very special guests today."

The elderly radio host smiled as he saw seven tall idols rushing in.

It's been a long time since there was this much noise on the radio as she is well-received for comforting the day step by step with her soft voice.

'You are young.'

Testa was on his way in actively responding warmly to the greetings of the directors outside the booth.

Still like top stars who have been doing well for several years they are all skillful and naturally find a seat sit down and smile happily.

“I think listeners will probably be very surprised.”

She looked at the table carefully and checked his face.

Of course I knew the names of all the guests. Surprisingly all seven of them had enough reputation that she did not need to learn them separately.

‘The blond young man over there is Cha Yu-jin the scraggly young man with ponytails is Kim Rae-bin and the pretty young man with a hood is Bae Se-jin… ’

And this cute friend sitting right next to me is Park Moon-dae who is famous for his composure.

For some reason my hands are shaking like a motorboat.

‘…??’

The host almost rubbed his eyes for a moment. However the skilled mouth made the intended introduction.

“Testa the undisputed king of K-pop who won Singer of the Year at the Gold Disk Awards a few days ago!”

And when I saw the hand again it had already disappeared under the table.

‘Did I see it wrong?’

Of course Sejin Lee pushed him away with his elbow.

And so the thrilling live radio broadcast began.

Chapter 442

I tapped the arm of the sofa.

At the same time a cheerful greeting came from the smartphone radio app in my hand.

[hello! Take your star this is Testa~]

And a few seconds later.

-Just tested

-??

-Turn on SBC radio right now

-radio?

-Why is Testa a radio?

The Internet page was constantly updated.

I touched my forehead.

If the radio appearance had been announced in advance there would have been less interest. I usually watch WeTube and don't bother looking for the radio to listen to it.

'At best I'll probably just look around for some clips later.'

However since it had the attribute of 'surprise appearance without warning' the amount of mentions actually increased.

This is a similar phenomenon to the way that a movie that comes on while changing channels is found to be more interesting than a movie that you find and watch directly on an OTT service.

‘That’s exactly what I was aiming for but fuck… ’

It’s back to karma.

And whether my head hurts or not the radio program goes on to talk about the latest news after greetings. And the internet page is constantly being updated.

[Testa~ I think we have great plans this year too. I am very nervous because I am in the same place as the music group.]

[Haha we are even more thankful and nervous for inviting us. And… yes. We are doing our best to prepare to see you more often this year.]

[that’s right! We will come to see our fans in good shape. And that’s why I came today too. Good job DJ!]

[Oh my~]

Liu Chengwu this type of conversation must have been frustrating. Cha Yu-jin also speaks well when she needs to.

The atmosphere is cheerful with laughter.

The problem is as follows.

‘…my turn in the script.’

[Oh thank you. So shall we begin our corner? Oh have you ever listened to our midnight radio…?]

I decided to open a chat as well just in case. You can say it directly.

“We…”

And Ryu Geon-woo’s voice that I make overlaps with Keundal’s sound in the app.

[…I heard it naturally because we often take the car. Later I changed the frequency and searched for it. I like it.]

Calm voice.

[really?]

[Really~ We are all big listeners so we requested it ourselves DJ Song!]

[that's right!]

"…after."

I leaned back on the sofa.

good. Passing score.

Surprisingly Geoldal was able to imitate my speaking style quite convincingly.

'That means how often does he watch Testa content…?'

[brother! How was I??]

"good job. It was the same. "It goes on like this."

[yes!]

…for a moment. However you should not suddenly raise your head conspicuously!

"you…"

Fortunately the moment Park Moon-dae was about to stand up in the app someone put his arm around his shoulder.

It's a big hit. That guy is pressing on Park Moon-dae's head.

"…"

thanks.

'shit.'

I pressed my eyes.

"You don't have to stay frozen in your seat but it's weird if you move in response to my pop-ups."

[That's right. yes!]

I understand. Suddenly seeing the host's words the script and even my pop-up on camera would make my head explode.

It's like my eyes are spinning as I try to share the view and see the viewer status on the app.

'But I have to do it because I have no other choice.'

And if you're going to do it do it right.

-Is this a comeback signal?

-It doesn't seem like it just came out does it?

-Full radio? Hahaha

-Testa speaks well again.

After quickly checking the friendly audience reaction I listened to the radio and looked at the surrounding atmosphere through Park Moon-dae's view.

Sometimes it seems like Keun Se-jin looks at Park Moon-dae with a smiling expression that makes his eyes twitch but it's okay. I will understand.

And finally we come to the main point.

[Return Monday. <Weekly… Lucky>!]

[Wow!]

[This is a corner where you can hear stories about this week's unusual Mondays that are different from everyday life.]

There are two things that are often done on the radio.

Read the story. Comte.

What are you doing here? The explanation is simple.

Do both.

[Today friends from a music club in high school are going to read a story. Shall we say hello to our friends?]

[Yep~]

[Mom I'm on the radio!]

…Testa reads the story while pretending to be a high school student from the same club.

For reference the ambassador just spoke is Bae Se-jin. The color of my face didn't change either.

Are your hands and feet shrinking? Originally this was the moment Comte was conscious of it. Be patient.

[If you haven't slept for three days since the weekend and are still working on a project you may feel really tired and exhausted… We also sympathize with the story you sent us from our jobs.]

[You are a high school student. Do you have empathy in your profession?]

[oh.]

[Ah~?]

[…Of course~ Sejin is a high school student! Because they are young people with many dreams they have good imagination and empathy.]

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Possessed defense

-Should we view this as the idol ego winning or the high school ego winning?

Comte Ego wins

Nothing much happened until the story came full circle. Sometimes it was okay to show off my idol self in a funny way.

The most important part of Park Moon-dae's body was also safely handed over the story assigned to him.

'Now let's take the time with an exclamation.'

[Um… 9503 says that a friend with whom he has a bad relationship transferred to a new school today but there are no transfer students among us…]

Geoldal safely read the pop-up I sent and got through the longest situation without a script.

He didn't even stutter.

'after.'

"Well done."

[yes!!]

I pressed my eyebrows.

Geoldal also seemed to have lowered his level of nervousness and tension a little and his vision became more stable than before.

‘good.’

Now this life-threatening event is almost over.

Soon the promised time was given on the radio. This is the amount of guest appeal.

[The last story of the day… This is a story brought to us by our friends in high school.]

[Wow!]

[yes! It is a great honor to be able to tell our listeners about the unique events we have experienced until today…]

Kim Rae-bin’s speaking style is too angular to be considered a high school student but he must have been like that when he was in high school so it is not a historical error.

Testa then started talking about a strange incident that occurred in the school dormitory.

Sun Ah-hyun spoke calmly.

[I decided to throw away one of the things I left on my desk last week and organized it…]

[I see. But what?]

[I keep coming back.]

[…yes?]

[Come back to the desk.]

[…]

[Continues until Monday today.]

There is silence.

-????

-Gapbun ghost story

-Ahyeon?

To roughly summarize this is the ghost story of Sun Ah-hyun's aroma plaster doll that comes back even if you throw it away.

[…is that real?]

"uh."

It was reconstructed as a high school version. This actually happened at my dorm not long ago.

[This is a true story everyone.]

[Yes. Ahyeon and I as roommates witnessed it firsthand.]

-No please say skit.

-Don't try to save reality in a place like this.

– Hahahaha what a reaction.

The reaction to this quite powerful story is agitated.

Of course if I were to report the true story of the Testa shock that happened today I would definitely take first place.

‘Who wins when it comes to body changes?’

But if I tell you no one will believe me or they’ll faint so let’s move on.

Anyway like seasoned broadcasters they manage to set the mood quite convincingly. And the host gently created a radio-like atmosphere.

[Listeners are sending us a lot of feedback right now. ‘Could it be a ghost?’ ‘What shape is this doll?’ ‘Do you have a source?’]

[Oh it looks like a deer.]

However Kim Rae-bin made an unexpected remark here.

[I witnessed Moon Dae making choices together during a school trip rather than a tour!]

[Is that so? Moon Dae-ya do you remember when?]

Suddenly something came to Park Moon-dae. shit!

‘Don’t panic.’

I quickly tried to make a pop-up appear.

But surprisingly Park Moon-dae’s calm voice came out of the app first.

[that’s right. Last year Ahyeon bought it herself in Japan. At a used prop store without a sign…]

“…!”

The members and the host make a fuss saying that it has become more scary and reactions pour in on the Internet.

I opened my mouth.

“How did you know?”

…Surprisingly it was the truth without any error.

A pop-up appeared proudly.

[Hehehehe… It was in the behind-the-scenes video of last year's tour! My brother chose the straight antlers between straight and split antlers!]

I don't remember these details either. How far and what have you seen?

"…okay. Well done for staying calm. "It exceeded my expectations."

[Really?! Hehe yes…]

Anyway Keoldal seems to have gained confidence and now his vision is unwavering. It was an unexpected score.

'quite.'

I laughed and focused on monitoring again.

[…so! When was the first time Ahyeon saw that deer doll again~?]

[Ugh it was midnight that day.]

Anyway the story that really enlivened the eerie night atmosphere went well. And it ends in a reasonably comical way preserving the essence of the skit.

[Yeah actually everyone is guilty!]

[…?!]

The circumstances of the case are as follows.

Not knowing that Sun Ah-hyun was throwing it away whenever non-roommates found the plaster doll in front of the front door they took turns kindly bringing it back to her desk.

It is even said that Seon Ah-hyeon the person involved was so fearless that she wanted to do it even though she was skeptical.

It is a heartwarming story that only roommate Kim Rae-bin suffered because of this.

[Accommodation… No I even checked the year the construction of the dormitory began.]

The host burst out laughing.

[Why do you think there was a story before it was built? Oh my god!]

[So how was it Ravin?]

[A cow lived in a peaceful rice field…]

– Hahahahahahahahahahahaha

-What's wrong with our rabbit?

-It's a surprise.

The guys who were excitedly taking charge of the story eventually slowly dragged the story to the really important part.

[Why~ There's a saying that if a ghost appears in a recording studio things will go well!]

[Ugh it wasn't really a ghost but it was something similar…!]

[yes. Even though we are still a school club I think this is a sign that we can do good music activities!]

Bae Se-jin responded to those words with a lively voice (I don't know why he chose this character for the skit).

This is the main point.

[that's right! Oh you know what? Testa is also making a comeback early this year.]

-???

-Huh?

Internet page updates surge again due to the sudden declaration.

'okay. Testa's comeback is coming soon.'

Actually it's an obvious story. It's been a while since you released an album and you've been secretly talking about it on social media so it's a plan fans were all anticipating.

Still wouldn't it be more fun to make a surprise announcement through an unannounced radio appearance rather than hearing it through an article?

I chuckled and fixed my smartphone.

And for the first time Park Moon-dae's vision shook in a different way. Rather than being nervous… it was as if he was out of breath.

'Are you surprised?'

Well now that I think about it this must be the first time I've heard this news.

Anyway Park Moon-dae doesn't have any lines here so it's okay to just listen to Testa news. I spread my legs.

[From what I heard they are stealing something.]

[Wow~ Is this a phantom thief concept?]

And it was supposed to end here with Ryu Cheong-woo answering something like 'The hearts of the fans~'.

Suddenly the words came out.

[Te testa is the concept of a phantom thief this time!?]

It was Park Moon-dae.

…The big moon suddenly took off.

Without agreement.

[…]

[…]

There was a moment of breathtaking silence.

Big Moon covered his mouth.

‘don’t do it.’

That’s even weirder.

Kim Rae-bin opened his mouth looking at Park Moon-dae with an expression as if he had seen a ghost.

[yes?]

I pressed my eyebrows.

‘It’s ruined.’

That moment.

[Ugh. Moon Dae is very interested in Testa.]

“…!!”

[Are you a fan…?]

Sun Ah-hyun… received it?

‘how?’

However without having time to think about the question for a long time I immediately scan the audience’s reaction with my eyes.

that…

-Is it that kind of situational drama? Haha.

-What’s going on in Mundae’s acting? Why are you so good at it?

-For a moment I thought I really didn’t know.

-Did you get special training with Bae Haha?

Surprisingly good.

Because they performed a skit with a ridiculous high school setting in front of them they were accepted as part of it.

So… wait a minute.

“…!”

I touched my chin.

Is this… actually beneficial?

[…So~ I like Mondae Testa! Hey I know all the songs too~]

On the radio Se-jin who is very popular is trying to control the situation. As long as you agree well the flow can naturally go as it should.

‘but… ’

hmm.

[Sorry bro what should I do with this…]

“no.”

[yes?]

I sat back down on the sofa.

“It goes on like this. “You react comfortably.”

[…?!]

And after a while.

In the visible radio app Park Moon-dae opened his mouth with a serious face.

[that’s right. Actually I’m a huge fan of Testa.]

[…??]

[I heard you’re a real fan of Testa.]

I’ll leave it to you Keun Sejin.

Chapter 443

Idols' daily lives as varied as W App Radio had something in common.

Light fans say that if they miss the real time they don't watch it often. Unless it becomes a legend and becomes known by word of mouth.

At most you wouldn't know it by looking at the hilariously edited highlights.

In that sense what Testa is doing now is…

-What are you all looking at?

-Ugh Testa

-Quickly go to SBC Radio

This was an exception.

From sudden surprise appearances to comeback notices.

I thought I had already done something since the ghost story skit which was quite a challenge just by listening to it but by this time fans' SNS was excited in a good way.

And in the middle of it all.

Suddenly Moon Dae Park began to strongly claim that he was a hardcore fan of Testa.

[I know… I'm such a fan that I even know the songs on Testa.]

-???

-Park Moon-dae suddenly declares himself a high school boy lover

-What is the concept of this skit?

While everyone was confused by the concept of the skit and the comeback that went astray without knowing where it was going a clear sound of laughter came from the radio.

They are good members.

[That's right Testa is fine. Mundae.]

[I am KPOP No. 1 Fan!]

[Ah I listen to Testa's song too! The stage is also respected!]

-Is this your last bath?

-Bae Se-jin's school lunch character still can't get used to it. How many years has it been an in-house cafeteria meal?

With the addition of one person with fantastic acting skills the skit seemed to be on the rails again.

[No bro. What I mean is that I watch every single step of the stage.]

[…??]

[And I also watched all of the Testa entertainment videos. I'm a huge fan. It is the vitality of my life.]

Park Mun-dae started to lead in a crazy direction again. break away from the flow

'hey!'

Then Keun Se-jin also took hold of the steering wheel again.

In his mind he put aside countless speculations and curses about Park Moon-dae's big picture and the current situation.

And in an instant he came up with the most unique way to deal with it.

That's right

[ah! I also saw the Testa Awards performance! That sword dance~ You saw that too right?]

[Uh… I guess so.]

[Oh and that Tibetan literary school? That member appeared on a variety show and sang… 'Flower Year'? Is that also a included song?]

[Yes that's right.]

[Oh I know that! Song DJ do you know?]

[Oh of course I know~ Don't you know everything?]

It's a water ride.

Testa had an unusually large number of popular hits.

This was because he thought hard about each part and always threw in at least one hot topic. That means…

[And as for entertainment… Wow Testa honestly I think everything you did with that PD was funny~ Do you guys know that carrot coin?]

[Of course~!]

[Ugh! I remember!]

[haha. That's right selling hotteok was also fun.]

When comparing famous songs and entertainment shows it is generally not possible to certify a person as a fan just through words.

Because everyone knows!

-A strange situation where otakus try to promote social distancing but it doesn't work.

-What is this hahahahahahahahaha

-Oh haha it was a trip down memory lane.

There are positive responses coming from all over.

The host also chimed in and brought the story along in an amicable way so that it did not bring up too much of other broadcasting stations and ended on an appropriate note.

Still we take listeners' reactions seriously.

[Ah '5226' sent it like this. 'I remember too~ The whole family watched with laughter when Testa was shipwrecked.']

[uh…]

Suddenly we took advantage of valuable promotional time to look back on Testa's past activities.

'As planned.'

It was Park Moon-dae's first win in Ryu Geon-woo's body.

Geodal unable to understand the situation was dumbfounded and finally opened his mouth again.

[No I'm really a fan]

[Tester you also won the grand prize this time. This year my goal is to make all people in the country into fans!]

[With the album coming out this year? oh my god!]

[Ahahaha!]

[…]

It was sunk.

Keudal who had responded to Park Moon-dae's encouragement with trepidation at first began to get upset at this point.

'…yes!'

So I immediately came up with the most reliable authentication method.

He shouted angrily forgetting that he had forgotten to speak informally.

[I went to that concert too!]

The calculation is that no matter how popular a male idol is it is impossible to hold a concert unless you are a fan!

However the opponent was Testa.

[really? We went too~]

[…]

yes.

Since I was a party… I went.

Even now he himself was a performer.

Keidal who had left the skit and was completely defeated by the facts staggered and tilted his head with a mesmerized look on his face.

He had no choice but to adapt to the reality of failing to be a fan.

It was somewhat lonely and yet so funny.

-Why is he like this lol?

-Park Moon-dae's radio is in the process of self-destructing haha. He must be crazy.

-Great batting average ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

The feeling was similar to Park Moon-dae's <Azusa> days when he was used as an ordinary My Face idiot character to evoke nostalgia.

But even though this was the same series… it felt a little different.

I would say it looks a little… comfortable.

It had a more natural and human taste. It was a lifestyle comedy that didn't exist even during the <Azusa> era.

The host held back laughter and allocated time professionally.

[So did you hear a rumor that Testa's album will be coming out soon this year?]

[Oh that's right. Still since the College of Arts seems to be the most interested I think there's something I'd like to say first.]

And Ryu Cheong-woo willingly gave up the first speech with the good-natured thought that 'It seems like the College of Arts has really prepared a lot for radio.'

[…Me?]

[huh.]

Keudal was embarrassed but soon came to his senses after seeing Park Moon-dae's 'It's okay' pop-up.

Only half.

[Next album… I'm really really looking forward to it. Oh I'm not saying this to put pressure on you but I'm just saying that I'm really rooting for Testa's sophisticated time science fiction worldview and unique connected large-scale performance…]

[What are you saying?]

[…I really want to tell testers through this radio!]

It seemed really earnest and sincere.

In fact it was because the truth was true. Because what was inside was a large moon.

-Gommer…?

-This is the first time I've seen a male idol show off his overindulgence in a group like this.

-Dude Gommer is taking responsibility for renewing the contract of the entire team unconditionally.

-Park Gomer's group ego why are you so bloated? Are you serious? Where has the business gone?

At this point there was a similar reaction even underwater.

[…Thank you so much.]

[Wait a minute why is Ahyeon saying thank you…?]

[…! Because we… told you about the rumors of Testa's comeback…?]

[That's right~ We were talking about that!]

And in the end the story about the comeback was able to proceed 'less promotionally' in a much more humorous atmosphere.

[Hey by any chance… Will Testa make a comeback as a magic-using phantom thief in connection with the Magical Boy Trilogy?]

[…! I've never thought about it but I think it's a really good idea. After returning home no back to the dormitory we had a meeting not for the next album… but for the next club activity…?]

[Raebin Kim is broken!]

Because of this atmosphere the members were able to talk excitedly about their comeback without any pressure mixing truth and lies and wearing the guise of high school students.

Just like that Testa's comeback concept… ended with laughter leaving behind numerous possibilities and plausible delusions.

-Honestly wasn't Cyborg a bit convincing?

-First of all I knew you were definitely not a magic thief.

– Hahahahahahahaha

And at the same time.

"Great."

In Ryu Geon-woo's body Park Mun-dae was monitoring all the reactions and nodding his head in satisfaction.

I thought it was the right time to refresh but it was actually good.

'Park Moon-dae's image has become a bit… heavy recently.'

There is a recent issue of stage accidents and the accumulating 'professional idols who are too good at understanding public opinion and dealing with it well' are also negative points.

Because everything is about balance.

‘I feel a little lighter with this.’

So he lowered his head thinking that this was not a mental victory but a real gain.

‘Now I just have to find a way to get back.’

Of course I didn’t forget what I needed to take care of before that.

“Are you okay?”

[yes!]

“You had a hard time.”

Geoldal certainly seemed to enjoy the situation quite a bit in the second half so his response was courageous. Moreover the atmosphere of Park Moon-dae’s vision that he was sharing was good.

Testa ended his greeting with a smile with the host. And he seemed to leave the booth without much fuss as if passing by a large moon with a little ad-lib.

‘I need to explain it well so that they are less shocked.’

Compared to a live radio broadcast this next step was better because there was time to plan.

He nodded.

“Now I will find a time to explain to the members so don’t worry…”

[I… about that.]

why.

[I think Ahyeon already… knows?]

“…??”

what?

at that time. Through the shared view of the big moon he met Sun Ah-hyun’s gaze which was looking in this direction.

There was no expression.

“…”

[…]

“I’ll go right away.”

[yes.]

Ryu Geon-woo immediately called a taxi.

And 30 minutes later. Testa’s dorm becomes filled with screams and monologues.

* * *

“also??”

“OK [Seriously we need to find something like our secret agency or something? This is like some kind of Net Plus Season 4 drama.]”

-Oh my the member’s body has changed!

As soon as they realized the situation they went through the five stages of shock anger confusion compromise and resignation in an instant and started yelling.

I nodded with an expressionless expression.

“I have some good news too.”

“What is it?”

“First of all it is clear that no one will die. “Even if it’s the worst changing your body is the end.”

“hey! “Then you’re retired!”

“So only in the worst case scenario.”

Last time I died in a building collapse but this is good news.

I raised both hands to Bae Se-jin who seemed to have blood on her neck.

“And the most critical situation has been overcome.”

“what!”

“Live radio.”

“…”

I’m serious.

‘I thought it was falling.’

And everyone became silent for a moment as if they were reliving what had just happened on the radio.

“Then it can’t be possible that Sejin and you are like that…”

“yes.”

Naturally my gaze returned to Geun Se-jin.

I paid taxes voluntarily.

“sorry.”

“Oh that’s right.”

Big Sejin seemed to be in quite a mess. However like a guy who is good at reading the mood it didn’t seem like he was planning on grabbing me by the collar and demanding compensation for psychological damage.

‘Starting with carrots.’

I immediately gave a thumbs up.

“It was great.”

“…”

“I guess you tried it because you all trusted your quick wits.”

“You’re good at speaking. I mean…”

However I have no intention of denying that I was today’s MVP. I know everything.

‘To be honest that guy also benefited from the results.’

And then… I turned to the second super save.

“…”

“…Did you hear it then?”

“Ugh.”

Fortunately Sun Ah-hyun just had a worried look on her face.

“It’s okay. Even if I didn’t tell you. “I’m not really a member who’s good at entertainment…”

“No I passed it thanks to your help.”

“thank you…”

Big Moon also approached hesitantly and lowered his head.

However Sun Ah-hyeon looked at me and Geoldal alternately with an expression of happiness but not knowing what to do.

And I say hello to you.

“Oh no…”

Now that I think about it all the members are looking at the big moon with mysterious expressions in the first place.

So it’s Park Mun-dae with big moon in it. I guess the atmosphere is a little different than usual.

Cha Yu-jin was a master.

‘That’s strange with my brother’s face.’

‘Be quiet.’

It was originally that guy.

Bae Se-jin also muttered with a strange look on his face. But it’s a different topic.

“…It would have been okay if the radio had told me. “No that doesn’t mean I would have done better.”

“I guess so. Because my brother is good at acting.”

In fact not only Bae Se-jin but also Ryu Cheong-woo are good candidates. Because he has good situational judgment is calm and is a leader.

“But the radio is on now so if I share it more and Ravin listens to it…”

“Uhm…”

“Quite so.”

-1. I’m not good at lying.

-2 Inability to control overflowing inquisitiveness and questions in situations that cannot be understood.

When the name of the member who seemed like the symbol of that human being was mentioned all members nodded.

And Kim Rae-bin was greatly shocked.

“Am I the type of person you can’t trust?”

“Um no. “Only when you lie on a live talk show.”

“are you okay. Ravin. “Because it means your personality is good.”

“…??”

Anyway after the shock passed a bit brainstorming began.

“Well shouldn’t you two try something first?”

“What did Eugene say earlier? ah! Net Plus. In dramas like that what they usually do when they return to their bodies.”

“…kiss? murder?”

“Both of you are so terrible brother.”

“no! “I’m not telling you to do it but I’m just saying what comes to mind…”

I found out what genre of drama Bae Se-jin watches. It was TMI.

‘Anyway the initial recommendation is worth using.’

First I grabbed Park Moon-dae… that is Keundal’s arm.

“Then let’s have a quick talk to sort out the situation.”

“okay. If there is a problem share it right away.”

I immediately moved to my room under Liu Chengwu’s confirmation.

Suddenly.

“You had a hard time.”

“no…”

And as soon as I sat down I started looking at the status window.

[outbreak!]

Status abnormality mission failure: return to original state

-Everything back to its original state as if it never happened.

: Until end 21:26:43

“hmm…”

I have a lot to think about.

‘As if everything never happened… ’

I looked at ‘Park Moon-dae.’

okay. I thought about it before but in fact that body originally belonged to Big Moon.

“As you know this situation of me being an idol and you being a public servant happened when I switched with you."

"Is that so?"

This guy had no intention of becoming an idol and I failed the civil service examination. In short it means that each person is living his or her own life well.

But 'Return to original state?'

I muttered with an expressionless expression.

"What is the probability that this means that after 24 hours they will both 'revert' to their previous lives?"

"That much?!"

You're freaking out.

Big Moon pointed at the hologram.

"Look! Mission failed! It's not a status abnormality! "I don't think the penalty will be that strong?!"

"hmm."

'Let's not make such extreme assumptions' I rubbed my chin as I looked at the guy.

"And… I was thinking about it earlier but the wording seems a bit different from what I saw before."

hmm?

'Now that I think about it… '

I remembered the phrase that appeared to me during the last building collapse.

: Until the final disaster 00:29:59

“At that time the name was ‘disaster.’ “It’s over now.”

“yes. And the situation was a bit special back then. “It was a situation where I was just avoiding the failure penalty…”

yes.

At that time I had somehow narrowly avoided sudden death which is a penalty for failing a status condition.

And then it turned out to be a mission failure… Hmm.

“Then the mission failure effect has already been activated?”

The fact that my body was swapped with that guy was itself a ‘mission failure effect.’

“yes. I think so. So um… there are now 21 hours left until the failure effect ends.”

indeed.

Then it was worth it since I only had to survive for one day. That’s a persuasive yet advantageous interpretation.

But still questions remain.

“Then what mission did you fail?”

“that…”

Big Moon’s face became blurred.

“I don’t know either. “It’s not like I had a status window…”

“…”

I came up with a few hypotheses but stopped talking about them for now.

Confusing priorities was perfect for getting things wrong. Take care of urgent matters first.

“good. “Anyway it’s the most convincing so let’s act based on this hypothesis.”

I launched a pop-up.

[After 24 hours your body changes completely again.]

“yes!”

If I were to think about my experience while building of course it would be when I got through the day well.

I thought about it carefully and then nodded.

“first of all.”

“…?”

“Are you in a good mood for your annual leave that day?”

“Well… um.”

Looks like it’s not working.

“What about sick leave?”

“That’s possible but you have to submit the data.”

I laughed.

“doesn’t care. “If it’s okay to use up one year’s leave.”

“…?? That’s okay but…”

That’s it then.

“Is this the immediate team leader?”

I checked his contact information on his smartphone.

And the next morning.

“Hey team leader. I try to avoid using sick leave as much as possible. There’s also the personnel evaluation issue… right. “I thought it would be right to manage attendance as the team leader said even if it meant using my annual leave.”

The big moon is opening its mouth. Park Moon-dae has a strong chin so there won’t be any problems.

“I am truly sorry. “I wonder if I’m causing trouble… No it’s the restaurant’s fault but I’m still suffering from food poisoning this morning.”

“…”

“yes! Then I’ll see you at work! Thank you so much. “Yes I will greet you separately.”

Beep.

I hung up the phone.

And then I turned my head.

“Are you okay?”

“…yes.”

“Don’t be surprised I’ll be sending this person a drink this afternoon.”

“It’s okay… thank you.”

“okay.”

No matter how much of a civil servant you are it is natural that if a salaried person uses sick leave frequently he or she will be disadvantaged in performance evaluations.

So wouldn’t it be okay to turn that idea around and make people think that they use annual leave instead of sick leave because they care about performance reviews?

‘Well since you said you work at the district office you won’t be crazy divided like other 7th graders.’

Anyway I guess this guy’s work has also been taken care of.

“As you now know Testa is making a comeback soon so we have a lot of work to do.”

“Yes yes.”

“So… can you accompany me to Parkmundae on today’s testa schedule so that nothing unusual appears?”

“…??”

“don’t worry. “There is no filming schedule.”

There is nothing to do that makes you anxious like on the radio.

“And I will follow.”

“yes?! “Really?”

“uh.”

“How?”

Ryu Geon-woo did not take annual leave for nothing.

“As a daily road manager.”

“Huh?”

I got up from my seat. You have to deal with it right away to keep up with the schedule.

Chapter 444

This morning a manager at Testa unexpectedly welcomed a military member.

-The door is in a bit of a bad condition. I guess Cheong-woo called a relative. My relationship with Moon Dae is almost like family.

'Scheduling with members' families… '

It was a bit of a daunting task for him who was known for working diligently as FM but he had no choice.

Testa has rarely made unreasonable demands for a celebrity whose name is worth tens of billions of dollars. Well then shouldn't we listen to this very rare argument?

At least that was the company's idea and as a subordinate he had to be criticized.

"phew…"

He went out to meet the members in a resigned state.

The name is 'Daily Manager' but I am prepared for a complicated day because I have a stranger to take care of who I cannot deal with easily.

And I finally met the military family member in question…

"hello. "This is Ryu Geon-woo."

"Oh yeah."

It was a handsome man who seemed to have been a relative of Liu

Chengwu as he had kept him in the library for about five years and fed him only vegetarian food.

Up to this point I was a bit surprised but not strange.

“The personnel check has been completed and there are no members with any special needs. “Ah I have told the company about the problem separately.”

“Oh yeah.”

It got weird from here.

The person… was too quick.

“Wow~ Please take care of me bro~”

“uh.”

“This! “How about we drink and go…”

“thanks.”

Moreover the members have no hesitation. Anyone who looks at me would think that I am a person who has been through hardships and hardships together for about seven years.

Question marks began to appear in the manager’s mind but his body began to steadily move toward the schedule.

However when we arrived at the car Ryu Geon-woo raised his hand and made a suggestion.

“Shall I drive?”

The steering wheel?

Of course it is true that the person with the least time has to do the hard work but isn’t the case a little different now?

The manager thought for a moment but then nodded obediently.

“Ah hmm… yes. thank you.”

“It’s natural. “I am truly grateful.”

I thought it would be better in terms of time to let it go rather than insisting that I would do it myself and possibly causing an unnecessary fight.

Anyway the company is nearby so you can just use the navigation. After that all I had to do was sit behind the wheel first making excuses about my busy schedule.

‘After a few trials and errors he will take over the driver’s seat on his own… ’

However once Ryu Geon-woo got into the driver’s seat he skillfully used the navigation without even asking.

“…??”

“Then let’s go to the office first.”

“Oh yes.”

And naturally I started running on the road while checking my schedule.

“My morning schedule will be after the meeting I will stop by a shop and get a consultation and it will end around 1pm. “For lunch… let me know if there’s a place you want to eat.”

“That chicken!”

“Let’s raise a hand. Anyone okay?… good. Instead since it is just before the active stage it is boiled.”

The manager sitting in the passenger seat was given a break without any reason.

“…?”

Meanwhile Ryu Geon-woo is checking the backseat using the rear-view mirror and even giving advice.

“Ravin your head.”

“Thank you!”

Looking somewhere between a kindergarten teacher and a multi-year manager I could feel the vibe coming from somewhere out of the blue.

The manager opened his mouth without realizing it.

“What do I usually do?”

“Oh I’m an administrative civil servant.”

“…?!”

An unexpected identity emerged.

Meanwhile the car arrived at the company.

Ryu Geon-woo easily entered the park using the ID card in the in-pocket without even asking and confirmed the members’ positions as soon as he finished parking.

That means I didn’t follow him in.

“Are you… not going in?”

“…? I have to buy coffee. “Because I’m new.”

How on earth do you know that?

“Oh I’ll buy it from a place that offers an affiliate discount. “Four glasses of iced Americano decaf two glasses of Chemomile and one glass of hot chocolate.”

“…”

“I put it in when I got out of the car earlier. “What would you like to eat Director?”

The manager gave up on the idea.

For reference a few hours later Geodal similarly gave up on the idea.

* * *

“I feel like I’m going to die.”

“Hey I’m not dying I’m not dying~”

Sejin Lee smiled and passed the water. Big Moon barely took it and swallowed it with a shaky gulp.

‘Ugh!’

It was a crazy forced march.

Park Moon-dae did not lie. There really was no public schedule as exciting as live radio.

Testa had already finished recording the album and filming pre-content for the comeback so there was no other burden.

But the training schedule… the management schedule!

‘I don’t even know where this is… ’

Meeting room shop vocal training room osteopath… It was so busy that my eyes were spinning and even during the travel time they handed out pre-interview questionnaires.

[You don't have to read it. Because that's not what I'm going to do today.]

Ryu Geon-woo who was holding the steering wheel was a pop-up sent by Park Moon-dae.

However not having to read the questionnaire did not give me time to rest.

This is because 5 minutes later the car stopped at the company again.

The destination is the choreography practice room on the first basement floor.

"The bridge section you mentioned last time has been modified. It's a little tricky isn't it? Are you okay?"

"Yes~"

"Oh you're always reliable."

The choreographer who signed a contract with the label was scheduled to create the final fix choreography which was created by combining six or seven different drafts for 40 minutes.

Before starting Liu Chengwu gently conveyed special information.

"Ah Mundae is excluded from dance practice today only due to an injury."

This was agreed upon. No matter what Keoldal can't dance to choreography he hasn't even learned.

"Oh really? "Then I'll leave and start."

And as if there was no time to worry or ask how they were doing 'Park Moon-dae' was immediately excluded and the revised choreography was demonstrated.

‘and… ’

Geoldal collapsed in his chair confused as to whether he should be happy about this because he got the chance or because it gave him time to catch his breath.

And I soon forgot all about it.

‘wow.’

-again!

Even though only the bridge part was practiced repeatedly the power was unusual to witness from close range. When I added the fact that I was ‘watching an unreleased new song’ my hands were shaking.

Moreover the moment you turn your head.

“…!”

Ryu Geon-woo leaning against the wall right next to the door was seen quickly scanning the choreography with his eyes.

To be exact Testa’s Park Moon-dae has the body of Ryu Geon-woo.

‘You remember it in your head.’

I realized once again that even though we share the same body our impressions change depending on who is in it.

And… actually right now is the time that he should be practicing with this body.

“…”

‘I can’t do this.’

In his own way Geudal had a strange sense of pride in his accomplishments(?) as Sangtaechang.

Still I've only given great help to Moon Dae on his path to becoming an idol… but now I'm the one causing a setback!

'This is not it.'

So this is what I thought when the next schedule came.

"Now PT is in the training room until 9:10."

-This is it!

"That brother!"

"hmm?"

Ryu Geon-woo who had been leaning against the wall and watching the overall situation turned his head at the call.

"Wouldn't it be okay to just exercise? "Your body is still the same!"

"hmm…"

"Oh would you like to try it? "It's pretty fun though."

Beside him Liu Chengwu responded willingly.

Geoldal was encouraged by the response and decided once again to willingly participate in the PT!

"yes!"

I shouldn't have done that.

I had to check Ryu Geon-woo's expression at that time…

However due to not having the 340-degree viewing angle of an eagle the big moon is now stretched out on the floor of the training room hazy.

…The course for advanced players was a magic cave that beginners should not attempt with determination alone.

‘This is how you lived… ’

It felt like a break after a long period of torture. At least my body was used to it so I just endured it.

‘Hehehe… ’

He drank the water that Lee Se-jin gave him like water of life.

But that break ended right away.

“It’s our travel time!”

‘Ahh!’

That’s right. This is because in the schedule right before the idol activity period rest was measured in minutes…

At that time someone reached out and supported the big moon so that it could rise.

“…!”

It was Bae Se-jin!

“Uh thank you.”

“…It’s nothing special.”

Bae Se-jin muttered. And after a little hesitation he added.

“It’s normal for it to be difficult the first time so you don’t have to think about it.”

“…! “Yes thank you!”

Bae Se-jin only nodded once and went back but Geudal realized again that he had a very kind personality.

No actually most of the testers were like that.

Even in the midst of his busy schedule he was kind to strangers without any particular territoriality. There was no one who was wary or mocking.

In particular the extroverted members even went so far as to talk to us and take care of any inconveniences.

“Hey.”

“Huh yes.”

For example in a situation like now.

Almost all schedules were completed and the car arrived at the accommodation when the sun was setting.

And then Cha Yu-jin spoke.

“Speak informally! I’m young. are you okay!”

“Uh um okay.”

Geoldal whose body was exhausted and gave in to comfort spoke obediently.

And Ryu Geon-woo got out of the driver’s seat and checked what these two were talking about.

* * *

‘Well I passed it okay.’

I nodded.

Big Moon had a bit of a hard time but I was glad that it was being completed without any problems.

“Hmm thank you for your hard work today.”

“no. “I am truly grateful.”

I also gave a stereotypical greeting to my manager.

For reference as soon as Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin were attached as guarantors Ryu Geon-woo’s daily road manager interview passed quickly.

‘Blood relations are the best.’

Park Moon-dae’s condition is a bit bad but he has no immediate family to take care of him.

So Ryu Cheong-woo’s excuse that he called his relative who was close to Park Moon-dae worked.

Unlike usual Park Moon-dae the dim-witted and bright version of Big Moon seemed to be in a bit of a bad state to the company employees.

Thanks to this Ryu Geon-woo was able to smoothly claim mental care.

As for driving… I got the hang of it after riding it a few times last night.

‘I got some help from Ryu Cheong-woo who has his own car.’

He seemed to be watching me quite well from the passenger seat.

-Hyung why don’t you take the driver’s license test even if you come back to Mundae? This is a bit of a waste…

That recommendation was also worth remembering.

‘Anyway it’s been a while.’

Luckily my body didn't forget and I drove through downtown Seoul without any problems today.

Perhaps because they are disposable workers who are related by blood and do unpaid labor by taking turns at the steering wheel there is no needless discipline by existing managers.

I nodded after reviewing my day.

'It looks like I didn't do anything to get caught.'

I'm thinking of going straight to my accommodations and ending the day like I'm dead…

"Hyung Moon Dae!"

"…"

hey.

Fortunately Cha Yu-jin changed her name right away.

"Oh! Geonwoo hyung! Let's go buy ice cream! Me Raebin Kim and BM!"

"BM?"

[He said "big moon" is a special nickname? [I changed it to be hip.]

'Could it be Big Moon?'

It was an incomprehensible emotion.

In any case Keudaldo seems to have a bright expression on his face as if the offer itself was quite tempting.

However Raebin Kim whispered seriously.

“As your situation is special I think it would be safer for you to return home like this…”

“Nooo! Kim Rae-bin betrayed me! “Raebin Kim who said he wanted to eat ice cream is gone!”

“…! What a betrayal! Saying you want to eat it doesn’t mean you want to buy it yourself! “Now Cha Yu-jin is making a leap in logic!”

“I get it. okay.”

okay. As Kim Rae-bin said it’s actually best to go back to the dorm like this but…

‘You should give me carrots.’

Let’s be honest. That guy must have felt like he was being tortured throughout today’s schedule.

I said hello to the manager changed cars and got back behind the wheel.

The manager will take care of the guys who are returning to the dorm so I can stick with them for a while.

“let’s go. “If the convenience store right in front is okay.”

“Yeah!”

“Oh yes!”

“Wear a mask.”

The car started just like that.

The drive was over in an instant. I parked in front of the convenience store and got out.

And instead of going into the convenience store with them I stood in front and waited.

“brother! “Aren’t you going in?”

“Because I’m tired. Choose among yourselves.”

“OK~”

I saw that the convenience store door was closed and turned my gaze to the street.

That taxi.

“…”

Actually I just saw that tail following the car.

‘Why did I get caught now?’

Well in industry jargon it’s life and death.

Stalkers.

Chapter 445

People who follow every move of a celebrity's private life.

Isn't this the Stalker line that boasts history and tradition?

I've been living in a studio apartment since <Azusa> even stealing copies of the transcript so it's not a new thing anymore.

It's okay because security is good within the complex where this accommodation is located but outside of it this still happens sometimes.

The problem is that the person in Park Moon University right now is not me.

'The timing is perfect… '

Damn it.

I held back a sigh.

And then I raised my head. A group of people are getting out of a taxi and trying to enter a convenience store.

I stood in front of him with my back to the door.

"…"

Some of the faces are recognizable so I can't possibly mistake them for regular customers.

"hey?"

"What are you doing? "Get out of the way."

At first he spoke to me as if he didn't realize I was involved but he soon seemed to understand the situation.

"Oh what the fuck."

After that he didn't even talk to me and started asking questions inside the convenience store while holding his smartphone camera.

Is he that type?

"What are you doing? Why did you come out? Where are you going? Is it a door? "Is it Mundae?"

"Kim Raebin~ What is Raevin? What did you buy? Are you going to give me a member? Are you going to give me a girlfriend?"

'oh.'

I never thought I would see this again with third-person eyes.

As expected I can feel that if an outsider is involved for the first time he or she will be quite scared.

I was reminded of the studio apartment break-in incident during <Azusa> and immediately sent a pop-up to the guy in the convenience store.

[People outside are not regular fans.]

[Just bow your head and pass by. If you can't do it it's okay to pretend you didn't see it.]

Big Moon flinched for a moment but then he picked up a bag of ice cream from the checkout counter and walked towards the door. Then the other two guys casually joined in and walked out together.

I placed my arms around the three of them and spread them apart to create space between them then immediately guided them to the car.

“hey!”

“Why is Eugene so mean? “Lovuer is calling but you don’t even answer?”

As expected as time goes by the attitude becomes more and more extreme.

‘It would be troublesome if this turned into a physical fight.’

This means that since Ryu Geon-woo’s body changes again Keundall will have to continue to use it. We need to resolve this as quickly as possible.

see…

‘No one was stuck in the car.’

Perhaps because not many people showed up they all stuck to the members. I don’t see the cautious type who deliberately comes to the car and waits.

‘then.’

I measured the distance to the car and whispered to Cha Yu-jin.

‘When the signal is given run and get in the car.’

step.

‘To the other side.’

‘Got it.’

And a few seconds later.

Cha Yu-jin suddenly jumped out and started running.

Turn the car around.

“uh.”

And the moment when people reflexively turned their gaze or body towards Cha Yu-jin.

I took the other two and quickly opened the back door of the car.

Sweet.

And if you push it… it’s done.

“ah!!”

‘Cha Yu-jin also rode.’

Because I jumped out first the distance widened and it was wide open.

All members have boarded the car.

The car has tint so you can’t see inside no matter what you do. Even if you knock on the window and ask questions it ends there.

Situation over.

“evil!”

For a moment the people looked like they were in a dog-chasing-a-chicken situation but they immediately turned their sights on the target and started focusing on the car.

If I had put all that energy into something else I think I would have already made one meal. I don’t know why people bother to use it for illegal activities that don’t make money.

“Mundae~ Mundae what are you doing today?”

I'm a manager.

I headed to the driver's seat deliberately pushing away the person who was trying to hit the car.

Anyway the situation ended without it turning into a bigger situation.

"hmm."

If I had to guess it would be the victory of the experience accumulated over many years as an observer and participant from data arm to idol.

'It was my first time taking on the role of manager.'

widely.

After I got into the driver's seat the car door closed.

It was quite quiet inside the car which was well-insulated.

"…"

"We're leaving."

I immediately started the car and pulled out onto the road.

Only after entering the apartment complex did Geudal open his mouth.

"This is so bloody…"

Raebin Kim immediately hit the head.

"It's not always like this but it happens rarely and sometimes. "I'm truly sorry for putting you in an uncomfortable situation…"

"Oh no! "I'm sorry for coming out to buy ice cream…"

“Umm? I said I would buy ice cream! But no one was hurt and there is no problem. Mission complete!”

Cha Yu-jin shouted brightly and opened a package of ice cream. He just seems happy with melon-flavored ice cream.

This is truly a distribution worthy of someone from the land of the paparazzi.

Geoldal quickly accepted the ice cream that Cha Yu-jin gave him. Then after swallowing he asked softly.

“Uh um. “Don’t you hate it?”

“Well”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“Every job has both good and bad sides. “I just need to do a fun job where I can drive well!”

“…”

“And I’m the kind of person who can drive this.”

Wow.

“I also agree with the previous statement.”

Now Kim Rae-bin who used to put his head down is nodding his head quite seriously.

“I felt this even more after talking with my sister who recently changed jobs but every job has its own difficulties.”

Big Moon nodded slightly.

“So rather than denying my shortcomings I would like to appreciate my strengths and aim to improve them!”

“…! yes!”

The guy who looked like Park Mun-dae nodded his eyes sparkling.

The tension was soon relieved.

‘…It’s okay.’

After confirming that the two guys had finally put ice cream in their mouths I took my gaze off the rear-view mirror.

And after a while when the car arrived at the underground parking lot Big Moon sent a pop-up message.

[brother.]

why.

Since he didn’t say anything in words I expected that his intention was to have a serious and personal conversation.

however…

[Testa… Testa must be really crazy. I’m so happy because he seems to be doing well for a thousand years and ten thousand years. really!]

“…”

…No I wasn’t expecting such an emotional message.

‘Is this how you feel after going through that?’

I felt it since I was on the radio but this guy was no ordinary guy. but…

In the end I just chuckled.

It was okay if it didn’t leave a bad memory for that guy.

‘okay. ‘That would be nice.’

[yes!!]

Well aren’t those two guys really capable of doing this for a long time?

“Cha Yu-jin wait that’s the flavor Moondae prefers so leave it!”

“Umm… OK!”

It’s surprising but I don’t think I paid attention to steers in my previous life for no reason.

I finished parking safely.

“Let’s get off.”

“yes!”

Just like that the ice cream and the three guys arrived safely at the dorm.

It was officially the end of all schedules.

“It was hard. “This is the end.”

“…”

“Now all we have to do is wait for it to return.”

“…yes.”

I got off the steering wheel finished my final inspection and looked back at the big moon. The guy looked like he was thinking about many things.

I also happened to think of something.

“Now that I think about it I have something to tell you after work.”

“…! yes. “What is it like?”

I opened my mouth seriously. The big moon was seen swallowing saliva.

I don’t know what you expected but it’s an important statement.

that…

“As you know civil servants cannot hold concurrent positions due to service regulations.”

“…”

“Don’t report the manager’s profits.”

If a public official receives money through his or her own valuable second job without permission he or she will be subject to disciplinary action.

‘I’ve already written down my annual leave but there’s a chance I’ll get X.’

Please handle the unpaid service and receive payment separately from me later.

“…”

Why isn’t he answering?

At that time Cha Yu-jin raised her hand from the back seat.

[Brother until five minutes ago you seemed like the main character in an action movie but now you have become a supporting actor in a sitcom.]

If you’re a real office worker it’s better to have a supporting role in a sitcom who is good at managing time and attendance than the main character in an action movie who gets disciplined.

I patted Big Moon on the back.

“You were sick today due to food poisoning. Okay.”

“yes…”

yes.

The eventful 24 hours of Big Moon mission failure ended without incident.

…meaning it was like that until it ended.

* * *

I opened my eyes.

A pair of eyeballs were looking down at the surrounding area. They looked familiar.

And a slightly tense question.

“Is it Mundaemundae?”

I opened my mouth.

“uh.”

“Whew!”

“Oh~~ Welcome home bro~!”

Only then did the tension seem to ease and everyone around him started making a fuss.

I raised my head and raised my hands. I saw a familiar white hand. It was Park Moon-dae's hand.

A brief feeling of relief passes by.

'after.'

I clenched my fist.

And next to him Geodal who had returned to Ryu Geon-woo's body seemed to be breathing a deep sigh of relief.

But still.

"…"

I looked into space without calming my expression.

"…?"

"Mundae?"

The people around me noticing my signs stop making noise and slowly become quiet.

Sun Ah-hyeon asked her pupils trembling.

"No way…"

"hmm."

I looked up at the status window.

[outbreak!]

Mission failure due to status abnormality: Return to original state (2)

-Everything back to its original state as if it never happened.

: Until next start D-??

okay. It popped up again.

‘It was somehow easy. Fuck… ’

It’s as if they’ve grouped the two together as a set because they’ve changed and now that big moon guy even kindly displays a mission failure in my status window.

‘Did you really think I would say thank you?’

However there was a hint this time.

There was content that continued at the bottom.

[Target target ‘Park Moon-dae (1 / 2)’ lost]

[Unlock in progress]

[Remaining goals: Ryu Geon-woo (2 / 2)]

That’s… our name.

‘They just changed bodies.’

This… is definitely information that can be squeezed out. You should find a hint here. It’s definitely related to Big Moon’s mission.

“…”

‘Once we find out the identity of the mission we can find a solution.’

So I had to work hard to come up with a hypothesis and verify it. But the problem is that I can’t just use my brain here and now.

I suppressed a sigh and pressed my eyebrows together.

‘There are two weeks left.’

A comeback was just around the corner. I had to prepare intensely.

Of course we must prevent the hell where a catastrophe occurs where one’s body is changed on stage during the active period.

But do you give up preparing for a comeback and focus all your brain activity on preparing for and clearing this mission if it fails?

‘Is there anything I can do to stop my promotion period?’

It won’t work. If my head doesn’t have enough capacity I have to use someone else’s head.

The problem is that the brain power available is limited.

Aren’t all the other guys who know what’s going on coming back with me?

Testa who immediately shared the situation and went into an emergency meeting was in a hurry and didn’t have time to think like me.

“Can I change my body again…?”

“You mean it will overlap with your active period? okay. Then you just need to come up with a plan. Or we could consider adjusting our comeback schedule a little…”

“Sejin wait a minute. I think it would be okay to talk about that last. First let’s check the condition of the gate. “How about Mundae?”

“I’m fine. The problem is that the body changes during the active period.”

“I’m glad you’re still healthy…”

It’s like this. And the big moon…

[Brother I really can't perform on stage. I really can't.]

What is this state?

"know."

I have no intention of doing it. Calm down.

I calmed down Pop-up who seemed to be in a state of panic and finished the conversation with the people gathered around.

Although it was a vague stopgap measure that said 'If circumstances allow I may miss at least a day of activity for reasons such as the flu.'

'There's no choice.'

This is not the time to discuss everything and try out every possible hypothesis.

Then I sat alone and started thinking about nonsense.

'There is no one who is not making a comeback and coming up with unique ideas… '

"…"

There is… I see.

The next day.

After thinking about it I chose an appropriate time and contacted one person.

– Hello.

This is VTIC's casting and hemp.

To that strange guy who is already in the military now.

Chapter 446

[Hey brother why are you Joo Dan?]

VTIC Casting and Forging.

Why did this guy suddenly pop out of the list of brains to use?

‘To be honest… there aren’t many candidates.’

[…oh.]

Isn’t that why I was talking about the situation in the first place?

My body changes I return to the past what happens to the system… I’m not stupid enough to go around saying these crazy things.

There are only a few people who got caught up in the incident and had no choice but to share a bit of the situation.

‘And out of all the dogs he was the one who seemed the most resistant to this.’

He’s a bit… unusual but I think it might actually be helpful.

I contacted Joo Dan with the thought that I had to get my money’s worth.

First out of courtesy I asked about his current situation.

“How is your military life senior?”

-There is quite a bit to say about the efficiency of the conscription system but I will skip it.

"…Um yeah."

I'm starting to wonder how that guy is treated in the unit.

But I decided to worry about my own problems.

Let's see…

'It's probably a dormitory so there's probably people nearby eavesdropping.'

Even if you pretend like you don't call celebrities wouldn't you be interested if someone stopped by?

The topic must be misunderstood.

"Actually while I was playing the 'game' I wanted to ask a little question about this 'system' so I contacted you."

It was only after laying the groundwork several more times that 'we're casually contacting each other because of our hobbies it's like a psychological test' before we brought up the problem with the system.

To roughly summarize the mission fails the body changes and such-and-such status message appears…

After exchanging several questions and answers the guy eventually responded like this.

-Body switching… It's a romantic comedy cliché. I'm not that versed in it.

"…"

Should I hang up?

'I endure it.'

I have to use my brain so I'll endure it for once.

“It’s actually good because I wanted to hear a third party’s unique perspective. “What do you think?”

There was silence for a moment.

And after a while Ju Dan suddenly spoke.

An idea I never imagined.

-Have you ever considered the possibility that there was no mission in the first place?

what?

* * *

A few days after that.

The final preparations for Testa’s comeback went smoothly without any major disturbances.

Originally since it was my first album in a while I tried to go hard and put in a lot of effort but considering that the last album was also quite strong ‘Savior’ I lowered the level of mania.

‘It was Haitai’s concept.’

If you want to do something like that again you need to adjust the tempo.

A stylish song that is popular in the mini album volume.

So the concept is…

“American public high school style teen!”

This is the standard for idols.

…Okay I won't lie.

I decided to do it while I was still at an age where I could do it shamelessly.

"Ah aren't we old enough to naturally digest things like this? It's so sad. "I need to manage it better~"

"Actors in their 30s are also good at playing high school students. "Don't be too extreme."

"Ah… um yes. "That's right."

For reference this situation where Tiki Taka did not work was resolved by Sun Ah-hyun.

"Everyone's outfits matched well and they all looked like high school students…! The stage will be great too."

"Ah that's right I can guarantee that!"

okay. I made it right.

[Oh… there's no need to be this childish.]

We invited teacher Cha Yu-jin to participate in the music video and stage research. He was so excited that he decided on the role.

Everything went according to schedule and continues to do so.

"The changing problem of Mundaemun University is…"

"You don't have to worry about it now. "Just wait a moment."

"…okay."

So the comeback preparations went smoothly.

There were no problems.

But I didn't forget the status window.

And a few days later I saw this.

[outbreak!]

Mission failure due to status abnormality: Return to original state (2)

-Everything back to its original state as if it never happened.

: D- until next start?

I realized the information.

'Big moon.'

[yes??]

I took a deep breath.

"I found out the date was changing."

[…!!]

"Look at the status window. You can see that 'D-??' has changed to 'D-?'."

I picked it up with my fingers.

It counts down one by one but it only means that two digits have changed to one digit.

Going from 10 to 9.

"There are 9 days left."

And if it's the same time as last time…

"Probably… most likely around 11pm that night."

The night of January 21st.

Fortunately it was before the comeback stage. I diligently reviewed the schedule for the day in my head.

[Then… Are you cutting the schedule accordingly?]

"…"

Here is the difficult part.

"No you can't do that."

[…!]

"I go to work as Ryu Geon-woo and you go to work as Park Mun-dae."

I spoke slowly.

"That's what we have to do on the day."

[Why why?]

"Because that seems like a way to end the mission failure effect."

I recalled a conversation I had with Judan a few days ago.

Those random words.

-… There is no mission?

-yes. It is an empty narrative that they tried to eliminate the culprit but in fact there was no culprit. It's so common now that it's become a cliché that breaks the cliche.

Honestly I didn't agree with that weird logic.

However the moment I heard the sentence itself a thought suddenly came to mind.

"You changed my condition failure into a mission failure. So the system never considered it a mission in the first place. "Originally it was more than just a condition."

and.

"Originally 'mission' means a goal that I arbitrarily set through the status window in order to receive rewards."

This is through the characteristic 'mission constitution' given by this guy.

"But you can't make it in the first place."

The pop-up stopped for a moment.

"Because you don't have a status window."

So for Keundal a mission is an impossible concept.

[So… there is no mission…]

okay.

'There is no mission itself but the moment a mission failure appears it becomes something forced.'

The algorithm was messed up because of the haphazard substitution.

therefore.

"Now mission failure is inevitable."

Instead of solving a mission that doesn't exist.

"When a failure effect occurs the approach must be to disarm the target."

-… According to your theory the strategy you used during the building escape game seems to be the right strategy.

Just like when I escaped from a collapsing building and the system's 'target' was lost.

Instead of guessing about a mission that didn't exist in the first place think about what happened after the mission failed.

'Then the circumstances are clearly revealed.'

I chuckled.

"Do you remember what we did when we switched bodies?"

[Well I stayed as a tester and my brother came with me as a road manager…]

"yes."

So let me explain this again.

"You lived the original daily life of 'Park Moon-dae' and I escaped from the original daily life of 'Ryu Geon-woo'."

[…!]

"So I think only Park Moon-dae has been removed from the target list."

Like this.

[Target target 'Park Moon-dae (1 / 2)' lost]

[Unlock in progress]

[Remaining goals: Ryu Geon-woo (2 / 2)]

So now the goal is clear.

“It makes us think we are living our lives properly without changing. So you just have to lose your target.”

Geoldal didn’t answer for a while.

And soon a pop-up appeared.

[Then I will once again be a tester Park Mun-dae and you will be a civil servant Ryu Geon-woo…!]

yes.

I nodded.

‘This is correct.’

I was relieved to see a perfect conclusion. The timing was just right.

‘Now if I just do it properly… ’

[Wow I think it was a really wise decision for you to contact Judan! I think Judan is a good person!]

“…”

hmm.

That’s… kinda.

After getting a good answer from him I asked him a fairly friendly question ‘What girl groups are popular in the military these days?’

And I got this answer:

-I don't know. After work we can access modern civilization on our own smartphones but there is no need to all immerse ourselves in mass media such as TV.

-…

-Of course the scope of use is controlled for security purposes.

-yes.

I can't believe there's someone who says that using smartphones is a waste of money and that girl groups that you watch on TV aren't as popular as they used to be.

-Oh please say hello to Jaehyun.

Besides I don't know why you told me this. Aren't you the leader of your group?

Anyway… Even if you don't contact Cheongya you'll probably see it somewhere. Because it's awards season.

I held back a sigh as I finished recalling what I had said with Judan.

"…It was helpful. okay. So if we change on the night of the 21st I think we should talk about what I will do when I come to work on the 22nd."

[Oh I'm not going to work that day!]

"…? Oh I guess so."

The 21st is Saturday… so the next day will be Sunday. I nodded.

It would make things a lot easier right?

"Then tell me what you were going to do because I will continue with what you originally planned to do that day.”

[Hmm… I was planning on resting on Sunday without doing anything else!]

For some reason it seemed like that.

But what he said next was unexpected.

[By the way Saturday night… I’ll probably be out at that time.]

This guy at 11pm?

“okay. “What’s going on?”

And a completely unexpected answer came back.

[Actually… I’m going to the fan signing event!]

“…”

Why did you come there…?

‘No wait.’

Yes I have a fan signing event scheduled on Saturday. To be exact Testa.

-Ohsung AI secretary ‘Curious Vega’ advertising model Testa fan signing event application!

It is a fan signing event for advertising models held by companies.

‘But why are the civil servants there… ’

[Because you won…?]

Oh to get an autograph…

“…”

after. I lowered my head.

[Sorry! I thought I should surprise you on the day but I guess I was short-thinking. Shall I cancel the wedding?]

“no.”

If possible… let’s not let it affect the future or the future. You have to live like that. There is no need to take risks.

‘It’s rather good.’

Then you can comfortably see the face right before it changes.

Since the fan signing event starts in the evening wouldn’t it be a good time to check for any unusual information?

“good. “Then I ask you to take a taxi on your way home.”

[yes!]

The conversation with Geoldal ended neatly like that.

However time passed and the day of the fan signing event arrived.

A not-so-neat incident occurs…

* * *

“You’re saying it’s going to turn into a big moon when we get back to the dorm? “Somewhere between 11 o’clock and midnight.”

“yes.”

“okay. “I checked one more time just in case.”

Liu Chengwu whispered patted his shoulder once and passed by. I drank water and changed my clothes in the waiting room.

‘There is nothing wrong.’

However right after that something ‘abnormal’ occurred.

“I think there will be a delay of about an hour and a half due to problems with the organizer…”

“…”

“We don’t have a schedule behind us. “How about taking a little rest and adjusting my condition…”

The manager blurted out his words. In fact it’s ‘conditioning control’ because I like to say it but it’s just a problem that can’t be helped even if I’m upset about being late from work.

‘I don’t think this side can make a strong move because the advertiser is Oseong.’

Because Ohsung is such a large company. anyway…

I pressed my temples.

‘Is it dangerous if I get rejected and leave work because I’m sick?’

Let’s see if I’m as usual…

‘Of course I waited and completed my schedule.’

shit. Since it is a fan signing event without any future schedule it is already confirmed. Because the impact of cancellation is enormous.

‘…Should we go ahead with it?’

Or should I take unexpected action?

I clasped both hands. It was then.

“Mumundaeya…!”

“…!”

Sun Ah-hyun sat next to me.

“are you okay. Usually if we think about the signing time it will be over before then. “I hope you don’t worry too much and just go in a direction that’s comfortable for you…”

“That’s right. Statistically speaking it’s probably in the car or in the waiting room after the event!”

“…”

I looked at the guys surrounding me and nodded.

Surprisingly I felt a little relieved.

“okay.”

However I also briefly regret this decision…

I didn’t know that the short talk corner in the middle of the signing event would be delayed again due to equipment problems.

Plus this piece of the damn system moved a little faster than I expected.

…So when I came to my senses it was like this.

Blink.

Before I knew it I was standing behind a high school student holding an autograph.

A hamster headband was hanging off the high school student's short hair.

"…"

Beyond the high school student I saw Ryu Cheng-wu who had finished signing with a smiling face.

Our eyes met. I avoided eye contact for now.

"…?"

Liu Chengwu seems puzzled. However his eyes gradually changed as if he was grasping the situation.

And there sitting right next to me is a familiar face with all kinds of strange fandom items plastered on his head.

…grow. Moon-Dae Park.

[brother…!]

'I'd rather collapse and be taken into an ambulance.'

Now that this has happened you may want to consider a way to somehow avoid the event and pass this turn.

But… I can't do that after seeing this.

[outbreak!]

Mission failure due to status abnormality: Return to original state (2)

-Everything back to its original state as if it never happened.

: Until end 47:59:59

48 hours until end.

Time doubled.

It was a bad sign.

‘If we leave it like this… it may change permanently next time or the next.’

I looked back at the back of the line. After all there is no one.

In other words it was just me and the two people in front of me who had to get Park Moon-dae’s autograph before leaving.

“…”

[I… I think I can fall down properly this time…]

‘…Listen carefully.’

I closed my eyes tightly.

‘You are Testa Park Mun-dae.’

[…]

And I…

‘…Light fan receiving autographs from members.’

I tried not to stumble and started to approach Liu Chengwu…

And so the worst role play on earth began.

Chapter 447

A completely normal fan signing event is taking place in front.

“Wow you’re so handsome…”

“Haha thank you.”

Liu Chengwu who is dealing with the person in front of me remains unwavering even though it is clear that he has figured out the whole mess.

That guy is definitely a professional.

And I…

[Tongue brother! Control me quickly!]

When the fan who came over from Ryu Cheng-wu sits in front of him Geodal is in a state of panic and is watching pop-ups that are pouring out like crazy.

You were so impatient that you started giving orders. I understand.

I sent the message as calmly as possible.

‘okay. All you have to do is say what I call you.’

Since this fan signing event is hosted by a company the staff is different so fans are not assigned to the front in a hurry.

So on the contrary it has the advantage of requiring less crazy quickness than a typical fan signing event with a fast tempo.

You can do it!

[yes!]

But right after the trembling pop-up appeared again.

It seemed like it was written like a stream of consciousness.

[…But this person came to see my brother and I really don't know if it's okay for me to do it…]

"…"

[Oops sorry! It's an unavoidable situation but you're crying… I won't think about it any more!]

no.

I think this is something that can be done… I did it too.

So we just have to do better.

'You almost played me like that on the radio.'

It is a clear fact that the body is Testa Park Mun-dae. And since I also share my perspective I can fully implement the experience this person expects.

Of course I know. That person could also be someone who just bought an AI assistant on a whim and won.

But isn't there a higher probability that they are real fans?

'If you convey what I am sending you in that way he will have truly met Testa Park Moon-dae.'

In fact I am right next to him listening to what he says.

'Can you help me have that experience?'

[…yes!!]

good.

I took a deep breath and prepared myself for a real-time reaction…

“Mundae~ You know that lovey-dovey act you showed on the radio. Can you do it just once? “I miss you so much!”

‘…’

[…]

‘Please take care of me.’

[yes.]

Just like that Big Moon passed the first turn safely.

‘I told him to wait a little while before the next person received the pen saying the pen wouldn’t come out.’

And finally it was my turn.

The person in front of Ryu Geon-woo… is all missing.

‘…after.’

I looked blankly ahead and eventually gave up everything and headed to the long table.

dump.

I sat down on the chair across from Liu Chengwu. This is my first time seeing this view.

‘Is this what it feels like from here?’

I was always looking at people from the other side. So this composition is also new.

And I realized that I couldn't waste any more time.

'shit.'

So we made eye contact.

Liu Chengwu… laughed.

'…are you laughing?'

"How did you get here?"

"…!"

"Just contact me. I'm surprised."

yes.

Liu Geon-wu is a relative of Liu Cheng-wu. So… is this natural?

It may be controversial but the water has already been spilled. It goes naturally.

I calmly opened my mouth.

"Seeing you as family and seeing you as an idol are a bit different. So I applied. "I'm your fan."

When I think about it I would rather be grateful. It becomes easier to be a little more shameless.

Liu Chengwu did not burst into laughter. I just asked gently.

"Are you that much of a fan?"

“uh. “What I do after work is watch Testa content.”

Whether the subject is I or Geondal it is a clean truth without a single lie.

And as if he realized it Liu Chengwu exploded here.

“ha ha ha!”

“haha.”

I tried to laugh along and held out the sign again. Liu Chengwu is smiling while reflexively signing autographs.

‘Stop it.’

Stop before your relative shows up on social media.

“Which content did you like best?”

However don’t react as if the know-it-all is a real fan.

“Everything is good. “It’s funny that it came out on the radio a few days ago.”

“Oh did you?”

Ryu Cheong-woo finished signing with a smile and lightly wrote on the sign as if he was adding a PS.

“here.”

-I’ll tell this to the other kids right away. don’t worry.

This is…

“thanks.”

“what.”

Indeed he was a man whose character and composure were beyond reproach.

‘You chose a good leader.’

I nod and get ready to move on…

[Ah that’s right bro! I brought that fan sign item! Everyone said they were doing it…]

“…”

Item?

Come to think of it… the situation was so crazy that I didn’t even notice but now I’m holding something in my hand.

‘…Shopping bag.’

I have a bad feeling.

But if you don’t give me this… I can’t follow this guy’s day exactly so the mission failure release may go wrong.

Because of that I put my hand in the bag without saying anything.

To make it easier to see we even put a tag saying ‘Ryu Cheong-woo’. Were you worried that you might not be able to find it because it was crowded during the fan signing event?

‘How about it anyway?’

I roughly took out the prop.

It was… a lampshade.

“…”

That Joseon Dynasty thing.

‘But why did you go to such lengths to research the details?’

Isn’t this the kind of hat that officials used? I won the lottery just to spend it on something like this… No. It’s okay if you’re happy.

The problem is that I have to give it to him.

“Oh can I use this?”

Yes.

Liu Qingyu took the hat himself and placed it on his head.

At that moment a high school student wearing a hamster headband who was in front of me gave a thumbs up.

“It’s perfect…!”

I didn’t choose it.

“Haha thank you brother.”

Anyway… I think getting the first member Ryu Cheong-woo’s autograph was completed successfully.

“Come again.”

I’m not coming.

However he could not immediately move on to the next batter Ryu Cheong-woo. Because that was Park Moon-dae.

Thanks to the fact that I made an excuse and told him to wait he was just about to start signing autographs for the person in front of me.

And the moment I heard that person's greeting to 'Park Moon-dae' I had a gut feeling.

"hello~"

My voice trembles less.

Moreover his attitude became much more natural than when dealing with Liu Chengwu.

'It means I'm not a fan of Park Moon-dae.'

It was fortunate.

I was a little relieved as I popped up a response message to Geoldal.

Park Moon-dae probably isn't that interested so if Geun-dal is kind enough we can get away with it…

"Oh that's right… Can you please give me that Tibetan fox expression just once?"

'…'

This is… something I can't instruct you on.

In the end I got to watch Geoldal trying his best to imitate something with an expressionless expression.

I guess that's how I usually look. I will reflect on this.

And soon the guy collapsed.

"I'm sorry… it was a bit awkward."

'oh.'

But it's also quite… well it's natural probably because he's the original owner of the body.

“…!! no! It was cute! “Oppa you’re so cute!”

“…?? thank you…”

[Sorry bro. I think I messed up a bitㅠㅠ]

‘I’m thinking of giving this job a try… ’

[yes?]

‘no.’

I almost got fooled by the lottery winner who got 7th grade.

I threw away useless thoughts and moved to my seat.

dump.

So now I’m sitting in front of Park Mun-dae wearing a speech bubble hat that says ‘The World’s Best Apple Puppy’ and dog ears.

Face to face.

It’s a very strange feeling.

However we are aware that our roles have changed so we will do our best.

‘Let me see.’

I clasped my hands together and opened my mouth in a cautious tone.

“That Mr. Moon Dae… I am always really rooting for him.”

“Pugh.”

“Hey you were my favorite even before your debut! Ah is it correct to write it like this…? My favorite!”

“Yes… that’s right. Thank you…”

It seemed like my pronunciation was just muffled but it was good. I think we can just keep going like this. I nodded.

Now that I think about it this guy signed my autograph…

“Sign… here it is.”

It’s written very convincingly. It’s not surprising anymore.

‘Did you practice separately?’

[No my body remembered. It was really amazing…]

Oh was it something like that?

Anyway I continued the friendly fan signing conversation.

“really! thank you I’ll definitely check out the next activity too…!”

Of course I didn’t forget the items.

“And maybe… could you write this? “Hey if you don’t like it you don’t have to use it!”

“…There’s no way you wouldn’t like it. “It’s cute.”

[…It’s okay if you don’t follow me like that… Hehehe…]

I tried my best.

I saw that Big Moon could barely raise the golden crown on his head.

‘good.’

Completed getting autograph from myself.

From next time… it's all about the members in earnest.

While I was getting Keoldal's autograph I saw Ryu Cheng-wu whispering to the other guys behind him.

And the seat next to Park Moon-dae is… Bae Se-jin.

'He's a calm guy so he's good as an early hitter.'

I moved my chair.

Then Bae Se-jin flinched.

"…"

"…"

"hello."

"…yes. hello."

It looks like you've already heard the news but why do you seem so helpless?

'Maybe it's because I didn't think of it as acting.'

Then it would be better to lighten the mood a bit.

After making a split-second decision I opened my mouth first.

"Do you remember me? "I once said hello to you in the bathroom…"

"…! Ah yes."

"You've become even more handsome than before."

“thank you…”

Sejin Bae looked at me as if she was a little surprised.

‘Are you relaxed?’

However the guy swallowed his saliva and lowered his head as if he had made up his mind. And spoke slowly.

“It was a big help to me at that time. Even if you say you’re not actually a fan of mine. Regardless of that… I really wanted to say thank you.”

“…”

“Thank you for coming to the fan signing event today.”

‘To. Bae Se-jin who completed the autograph with ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ held out the autograph paper.

‘I am indeed.’

“I really want to thank you for your continued activity.”

“…”

“And I’m a fan of Sejin. “I will continue to support you in the future.”

“…yes.”

I shook hands with Bae Se-jin.

It felt quite powerful.

‘It’s okay.’

I thought the conversation with him would end like that… but this time too there was one thing left.

‘Ah item.’

So when I searched through my shopping bag what I found was…

‘…It has a hamster head.’

I raised my head and saw Bae Se-jin.

“…?”

“no.”

There was already a hamster headband on Bae Se-jin’s head. That’s what was on the high school student’s head earlier.

‘They overlap.’

Big Moon’s items were put back in the shopping bag.

I’m sorry but this is a game that ends the moment you lose the battle of wits.

So I moved on to the next guy.

The guy sitting in the center of the fan signing event is…

“hello…!”

This is Sun Ah-hyun.

Sun Ah-hyun is sitting with a quite trusting face.

Looking back on my past radio experiences I didn’t think I would have any problems with this guy. I’m not the type of person who makes fun of people needlessly.

I relaxed a little and sat down.

“Yes hello… big.”

However perhaps because I was nervous and talking for a few minutes I cleared my throat. So I quickly clear my throat…

Sun Ah-hyun hurriedly grabbed a new drink next to her and handed it to her.

“…! “There’s water here… and green tea too…!”

Suddenly a counter-tribute?

‘for a moment.’

At that moment the Cyber Wrecka title hit my head.

-[Controversy over discrimination against Sun Ah-hyun fans] Sun Ah-hyun only giving special treatment to Muggle men at the fansign?

No.

“it’s okay. I’m fine. I’m a little nervous. “I’ve been a fan of Testa since before its debut but this is my first time coming to a fan signing event.”

“ah…”

Sun Ah-hyeon hurriedly cleaned up the water.

‘no.’

You don’t want the atmosphere to become awkward. There are already very few adult men in the venue so it couldn’t be more noticeable.

In the end… I chose ‘it’ to get over this situation naturally.

“Rather than that could you please write this?”

This is an item advance payment.

“…sure.”

Seon Ah-hyeon hesitated and took the wreath with deer antlers and put it on her head.

“Aaaah!”

“Ahyeon! here!”

All kinds of screams erupted from behind.

I was convinced. It was an amazing match.

‘Where on earth did you buy this?’

[Ah get custom orders from SNS!]

‘…?’

I didn’t really ask but I knew something.

Anyway I deliberately turned my body slightly so that Sun Ah-hyun’s home team members could make a cut and then I spoke a few more words with Sun Ah-hyun.

And the time ended as I read what he left on the sign.

-I’m always sorry and thank you. I will try my best to become a friend you can rely on in the future. go for it!

It means that break time is over.

Next time…

“hello~”

“yes.”

Because it’s a big hit.

The guy smiled brightly.

And he is showing off his skills by moving the pen without even looking at the writing paper and moving his mouth at the same time.

“Wow how did you get here?”

“Because I’m a Testa fan.”

“Oh thank you~ By the way whose fan are you?”

“It’s a door.”

“Big.”

Big Sejin hurriedly covered his face.

I feel like I can see countless ‘ㅋ’s going through my mind so I get even more upset… No let’s hold on.

“Wow you two look a bit alike!”

“Oh really? This is my first time hearing this in my life. thank you.”

“why! They say that people… they tend to like people who look like them~ Why is there such a saying?”

Big Sejin smiled shamelessly and said.

“I am my own fan~”

“Whoosh!”

Next to me Raebin Kim almost spewed water.

Fortunately it seems that he avoided spewing on the sign paper thanks to his superhuman patience.

“…”

I took a deep breath.

And then he shamelessly opened his mouth.

“Of course I am an All fan.”

“Sigh.”

Don’t laugh.

“I’m also a fan of Sejin. “I think it’s because Sejin looks a lot like Mundae.”

“…”

“I support you. “You’re so cool in so many ways.”

“…Oh yes. Um~”

Big Sejin eventually held out both hands with a somewhat embarrassed expression.

“thank you!”

Somehow I feel like I won.

I gave him a high five and moved on.

Raebin Kim.

The guy was… serious.

“Is there something you want from me?”

If anyone sees it they'll think you're being threatened.

Anyway I seriously started reciting my demands to the guy who said he was ready to listen to anything I said.

"I hope you continue to show great activities in the future."

"yep."

"Please get plenty of rest to manage your condition."

"Of course."

"It would be better if you could sleep before midnight at least two days a week."

"…??"

Then once you turn 30 you start to have a hard time.

"And this."

"Oh yeah."

I naturally took out an item labeled 'Kim Rae-bin' from the envelope. At this point I don't know if I was satisfied or resigned.

'Now if I hand you this… '

"…"

"…hmm."

But what is this?

It's like some kind of white lump of silicone…

[Oh it's for your ears!]

“Oh just listen to it.”

“okay! “I think it’s an ear cuff.”

It almost became a strange situation where the person giving it did not know the identity of the item.

I silently stood up while making sure Raebin Kim was putting fluffy angel wings on her ears.

Now only the last batter remains.

“Hi~”

Cha Yujin.

The guy who had already enjoyed an amazing fan signing event with my ex even intertwined his hands and was waving in this direction.

Chapter 448

Now if Cha Yu-jin gets past this tiring fan signing event it will be over.
I immediately sat down on the chair.

'Let's finish it quickly.'

Maybe it was because of my mood but my back felt itchy.

Maybe it wasn't my mood. As it happens Ryu Geon-woo is the last person in line so I'm the only one sitting among the 7 chairs.

Even if it did how did it take this order?

[Sorry ㅠㅠ]

If you didn't manipulate the order you don't have to apologize.

I suppressed a sigh and lowered my head.

"hello."

Cha Yu-jin grinned and flipped through the sign to find her photo.

"Welcome! "What's your name?"

"…Well I'll take it as Ryu Geon-woo."

Then Cha Yu-jin speaks.

"Aren't you using BM? "You don't like my nickname?"

'uh?'

Wait a minute it's BM.

Isn't that the nickname I gave Geoldal the last time I changed bodies?

'This guy… doesn't he know that things have changed?'

For a moment I looked back at Kim Rae-bin. Kim Rae-bin has an expression that says 'I don't know why Brother Moon Dae is looking at me.'

I guess there must have been a communication error during the delivery process.

'It worked out better.'

If you don't know it's me you can just pretend to be Geondal and get an autograph.

I started the engine.

[Ugh I can't see it…!]

Why are you looking here?

'Just blow your heart at the camera.'

[yes…]

I hastily waved my hand at Cha Yu-jin.

"Oh no! It was good. Uh somehow I feel like I have to use my real name in places like this… Oh of course I'm fine with it if you use my BM!"

"Got it."

Cha Yu-jin hummed and moved the pen on the signature paper. And then he asks endless questions.

“Have you eaten? “Did you come from far away?”

Why?

No regardless of whether or not someone you know comes to the fan signing event the attitude of conducting personal background checks fairly may be seen as a good thing.

Anyway I answered as I could.

“Yes I ate well. And um… it didn’t come from far. “Because it’s nearby my house!”

“Oh! I live nearby too! “We might have seen each other by chance.”

I guess so. Because we live together.

Cha Yu-jin grinned.

“But why are you being polite? “Is your brother younger than me?”

“ah.”

Now that I think about it the two of them had a conversation.

I threw up my hand.

“I guess because it’s a seat…! I don’t think that will work. “I’ll let go from now on!”

“OK~ I like that! Take it easy.”

Cha Yu-jin even held out one hand and gave a high five. It feels like I won some kind of basketball game.

Moreover he didn’t stop talking during that time.

“Is there anything else we can do? Let’s do everything. “It’s not good to have regrets!”

Thanks for the timing.

“Oh wait a minute…!”

I rummaged through my shopping bag and pulled out an item with the name ‘Cha Yu-jin’ on it.

But… um this string with shiny beads on it…

‘It’s a face chain.’

It’s an accessory worn on the face but to be honest it’s for the stage.

This means that if you wear it somewhere other than the stage it is flashy enough to attract aggro unless it is Halloween.

So… I mean.

‘I think it will be in the top 10 items that Cha Yu-jin will never wear unless it is on stage.’

In that sense it might be seen as a smart choice.

How about anything? Just give it to me and that’s it.

I quickly held out the face chain.

Cha Yu-jin accepted the envelope with curious eyes but then squinted and took out the chain.

“Do you want to see me do this?”

“yes.”

Not me but your fans.

“all right.”

Cha Yu-jin wore the item. I think I can hear the joyful screams of the home horses all the way up here.

“Wow!”

No I can actually hear it.

‘I’m glad someone is happy.’

The goal of the fan signing event has been achieved so that’s it… I turned my body slightly to expose Cha Yu-jin.

Cha Yu-jin shakes her head slightly.

“Does it look good on you?”

“Oh it really suits you!”

“Umm… I know.”

Then why did you ask?

Cha Yu-jin answers a little harshly then lowers her head and whispers as if she is telling a secret.

“I don’t normally do things like this. But I did it because Lover gave it to me. “You know right?”

“…”

“I only remember you!”

‘Hey.’

He really is a great guy. Once you visit a fan will never miss it.

“okay. “I’ll definitely remember it!”

“Yeah~!”

Cha Yu-jin smiled and took the pen off the autograph. And held it out to me.

This means that the fan signing event has finally ended.

‘That’s it.’

We’ve gotten over this damn situation…!

“thank you!”

“I am grateful!”

I smiled brightly and tried to get up.

It was then.

[It was fun! Can we try it again later at the hotel by ourselves?]

“…!”

“Welcome in! See you again.”

I reflexively looked down at the sign in my hand.

The autograph left by Cha Yu-jin.

On both sides of the guy’s face… there were two identical signs written side by side.

However the recipient was different.

-To. BM

-To. Ryu Geon-woo

I raised my head.

Cha Yu-jin purred and waved her hand.

‘Hyung Moon Dae!’

It was an exquisite timing that didn’t seem to be caught by the camera behind him.

I don’t know if he was aiming for that or if he didn’t care.

“…”

I staggered back to the auditorium and sat down.

The high school student who signed my autograph in front of me happened to be sitting next to me. ask me

“How was it there?”

“…it was amazing.”

“Right?!”

“yes.”

Should I make that guy… act?

Should we be surprised that Cha Yu-jin came out in the most natural way after fully understanding the situation?

Or maybe I should be embarrassed that I was fooled by that guy.

‘I’m going to turn… ’

Oh damn.

I resisted the urge to close my eyes and tried to adjust my posture.

At that time the vibration of something hitting the shopping bag was heard.

‘hmm?’

The only thing left is Bae Se-jin’s hamster headband which was omitted.

I looked inside again.

Surprisingly there were still items left in the shopping bag other than the hamster headband.

When I took it out… it was a bear paw with pink jelly on it.

“…”

There is a name tag on it but you can tell who it is without even looking at it.

[Lee Se-jin]

And then I realized.

Because I was arguing with Geun Se-jin I forgot to give him the item.

“…”

“Wow you didn’t give me this?”

“…yes.”

…Let’s think about it.

First fan signing event.

I was nervous so I skipped one gift… hmmm.

‘It could very well happen.’

It felt natural.

“I’m nervous.”

“Ah it must be such a waste.”

“It’s a bit like that.”

It wasn’t a big waste but I decided to deliver it later anyway. I packed my shopping bags again.

“Everyone it’s really late so be careful when you go in!”

“See you next time~ I love you!”

And as I watched the guys working hard on fan service until the end it seemed like the day’s crazy activities ended safely.

I naturally waved like everyone else.

Then I made eye contact with the Testa manager in the back seat.

“…”

“…”

It looks like he can’t believe his eyes.

I quietly averted my gaze.

‘Isn’t it possible that your family is a fan?’

The eventful fan signing event ended like that.

“Whoa.”

Immediately after joining the crowd and naturally leaving the fan signing event.

[brother?! Where are you going?]

A perplexing pop-up arrived.

‘Where are you going? ‘Go back to the officetel.’

Now that things have changed we have to live each other’s daily lives as they are.

[Ah… I see.]

After a short conversation asking him to tell the others I walked over and called a taxi.

And it was only after looking at the status window again that I realized it.

for a moment.

‘It’s now been two days not one day for my body to change.’

And 48 hours… means this continues until Monday. I once again realized the exact meaning of those words.

‘…Ryu Geon-woo has to go to work.’

Won the Idol Civil Servant Daily Experience.

* * *

Sunny Monday morning.

I browsed through social media.

-2X0121 Testa Ohseong Curious fan signing event Park Moon-dae (photo)

-Oseong is really bad at holding events. Is this a large company? I almost couldn't catch the last train because of the 2-hour delay at Fansign. I'm so mad.

-What's going on with this fansite? There's an uproar.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠFace Chain thank you so much for who you really are. I feel like bowing in that direction.

At first glance there seemed to be nothing unusual.

However if you go to a private account or anonymous site…

'also.'

-The last one is that Namdeok brought all the fansite items here? (picture)

-I heard you were an official or a sasaeng card.

□There are still some bastards who believe in sasaeng stories haha.

□I don't know I think it's cool but did anyone take a picture? ㅠㅠ I'm curious ㅅㅂ It's anonymous anyway so please solve it.

Some words came out.

'This much… I was prepared.'

It would have been the same even if the big moon had come anyway. I shrugged and passed it off.

Anyway it was mixed with rumors and it was a rumor that would come out when Testa made a full-fledged comeback.

Well… this guy is a bit…

-I was sitting next to this person and it seemed like he was a really big fan. I brought everything for the other kids but there was also a member who I couldn't give to because I was nervous haha. He was so cute.

You posted this publicly.

And it seemed to be slowly being shared on social media.

'…don't just steal your identity.'

It won't get to that point. Let us believe in the aggression of social media users towards such moral issues.

I shook my head and flipped through the screen.

Then several characters appear.

-Geonwoo Geonwoo are you doing well? I'll have to see you in the evening.

-I'm hungry □

-I received a call that you returned home safely. I hope you don't overdo it by contacting me occasionally like this until I can see you again… (See more)

This is a greeting message from the members that Ryu Geon-woo slightly changed to make it look like he would receive it. I don't know what has changed.

And even Ryu Cheng-wu's text message.

-Don't forget your plans for today.

okay.

-of course

After replying I put my smartphone in my coat pocket.

Oh the reason I'm wearing a coat is because I'm on the bus to work right now.

That's right. I finally go to work as Ryu Geon-woo.

[It's okay to take a taxi…]

No. Because I plan to recreate your day as exactly as possible.

In fact what is more serious than what you earn is… can I properly do the job of a 7th grade civil servant?

[Don't worry! I'll tell you well this time!]

okay. The situation was reversed.

This guy has to control me during the day.

'It was fortunate that Testa had no outside schedule during the day.'

Still after just trying it out for a day Keundal seems to have adapted quite well to Park Moon-dae's practice schedule.

of course…

[…I'm a little worried about what will happen in the evening. That… plan.]

"…"

Let's think about it later.

[yes…]

The urgent thing right now is your going to work.

I got off the bus and went to my destination. District office.

Ryu Geon-woo was in the transportation administration department.

“hello.”

“Chief Ryu is here~”

“Hello Chief!”

The atmosphere wasn’t bad.

‘I guess it’s not a busy time.’

I nodded here and there followed Geoldal’s advice and went to my seat and sat down.

‘Please take care of me.’

[yes!]

That’s how work began.

And soon I realized that Geondal was quite good at document work.

‘oh.’

First of all the classification is clean the content is not meaningless and there are no unnecessary expressions. The visibility of the images or data written is good.

‘It’s a civil servant society I don’t know anything about it.’

Although it was a study I did because I was afraid that I would fail if I didn’t pass the exam I was glad that it seemed like a good fit for my aptitude.

[Next first log in to your favorite site!]

Are you coming?

Although it was a bit awkward it was time to continue working and communicate with Geoldal without any problems.

“hey!”

A person who appears to be middle-aged comes and leans against the partition.

“Chief Ryu. “Have you finished drafting the signboard?”

Hmm that sounds awkward to hear right after going to work on Monday.

However perhaps because he was expecting an answer the person tapped Ryu Geon-woo on the back and left.

I leave these words.

“Properly this time! Please~”

“…”

hmm.

I think I just… scratched that.

I felt malice.

I called Keoldal described the person in question and asked.

‘Are you a boss?’

[Ah… it’s similar. Since the series is the same…]

The pop-up was a little hesitant but soon answered clearly.

[Anyway you do this often so you don't have to worry about it!]

"…?"

Often… like this?

'Isn't this something that needs to be said clearly?'

I thought about it for a while and then went into the document box. And I looked through the documents drafted by this guy.

Traces of rejection can be seen on each side of the two.

However no matter how many times I looked at the document I could see that Keudal's batting average on approval of draft documents was not like this.

"…"

Hmm.

[Ah after listening to your explanation I don't think anything major will happen today! I think it will be okay to just do a few urgent things!]

…okay.

I first wrote the draft as he said and began processing the complaints that came in over the weekend.

First I thought I would take a look at the situation.

And a few hours later.

"We'll go out to work and come back. It's a meeting. "Please increase your attendance~"

The guy who appeared earlier started talking in one corner of the office.

“By the way Chief Ryu was originally supposed to go…”

“Uh but… the police chief Mr. Choi is here. So I’m going to go here with this chief.”

oh.

I turned my head in my seat. When our eyes meet he waves his hand.

“Uh huh~ Chief Ryu is taking a break. You don’t know much about this anyway. “You can go with Chief Lee this time too.”

“Chief…”

The guy called ‘Chief Lee’ who was looking at Ryu Geon-woo and ‘Chief’ as if he was watching eventually closed his mouth.

It means I’m going to follow what the cold guy says.

“…”

“And then take a break and look at our plan over there. Don’t post payment. huh?”

Hoo.

I watched him leave without saying a word.

Then he called Geoldal explained the situation and asked him directly.

‘What is this guy?’

The pop-up appeared like a sigh.

[Ah… there you go again. But I’m young… and it’s true that I don’t know many people in this neighborhood.]

So instead of Ryu Geon-woo who was supposed to go to the meeting with the 7th grader he brought along the 9th grader who was related to a local official and knew him here and there.

And instead they are 'fairly' passing on other troublesome or time-consuming tasks.

'…'

I asked.

'Is this the guy who kept rejecting Gian?'

[Oh yes! I look at it first before I step up to the team leader's line.]

There was a mixture of anger.

Then it is true that you are not eating using Ryu Geon-woo at all.

'It's just fucking me.'

I crossed my arms while looking at the computer.

"…"

Now that I think about it Ryu Geon-woo seems to be the only young 7th grader in this district office.

'It's too sticky so it's a problem.'

I can clearly see the continued attempts to pursue that.

[But actually I like it because it's more comfortable. I don't meet many uncomfortable people. You can quit!]

That guy seems really sincere.

He was a guy who had such a hard time during his school years but he must have been doing well without blinking and doing his own thing.

I thought ‘I guess that’s what you want to do~’.

but.

“…”

[brother?]

‘It’s good to be comfortable.’

[Right??]

‘But wouldn’t it be more comfortable if there were no annoying bastards?’

[…?!]

I had a nice lunch with my team leader while waiting for the ‘chief’ to return.

[Hyung brother?!]

I’m really looking forward to the afternoon.

Chapter 449

Unfortunately the 7th grade was remembered by Park Moon-dae as ‘Chief’.

This person remembered when Ryu Geon-woo was first dispatched.

-hello!

Most people go towards the city hall and roll around but this guy didn’t know how lucky he was or how he had the courage to fall into the district office.

It quickly became clear that it wasn’t the latter as there wasn’t a single phone call asking for anything.

‘You have to control something like that from the beginning.’

First of all it was easy.

You need to know something to do your job but what does a beginner who just passed the exam know?

-Chief Ryu are your parents here? Where is your hometown?

-Uh… no. We recently moved!

Since he doesn’t have any special connections in this town he isn’t helpful in any business that a level 7 person could do at the district office.

‘Then you’ll have to go through some trouble.’

I was planning to show some of the bitter taste of social life.

It was even more infuriating to pretend that I had grown up without any hardships due to my shy face and that I was persevering.

The fact that I didn't have any blood on my head seemed like I was holding on with the pride of having done well on the exam so I didn't want to see it even more.

I thought he would run away crying and complaining that he would somehow go to city hall when the next announcement was made.

'Huh… Well whatever.'

The work is already finished.

He passed on all the cases that were cumbersome had a lot of responsibilities and were not properly handed over to Ryu Geon-woo and took care of all the cases that would be helpful for his connections and promotion.

And he thought of his actions as a kind of resourcefulness and quite generous treatment towards Ryu Geon-woo.

'If I had gone to another district office there would have been a fuss about my retirement already.'

At this level isn't it working more efficiently than City Hall?

In any case it would be impossible for that thing to live comfortably here now. If we press it now we won't see someone like that get promoted quickly.

He really believed so.

But Monday.

"hello."

When I saw Ryu Geon-woo coming to work I was momentarily embarrassed.

This was when Ryu Geon-woo scanned the office with his searching gaze.

“…”

Was it that cold of an impression?

Originally he had a soft expression that seemed a bit docile but somehow his expression seemed to have changed.

For an instant it seemed as if the person had changed.

“Hello Chief!”

However Ryu Geon-woo who was greeting others had already returned to his usual gentle expression.

It was the same even when he went to visit on purpose and made a secret comment.

“Properly this time! Please~”

“…yes.”

it serves him right. You can’t even respond.

He shrugged and moved on.

‘I guess it’s my mood.’

But here he should have noticed.

Ryu Geon-woo turns his gaze to the computer and smiles.

That afternoon.

When he finished eating for the meeting as usual the atmosphere in the office strangely changed.

“…?”

On the other side of the office I could see Inyoung beyond the half-open door.

The team leader was talking with Ryu Geon-woo at the table.

‘Why are they like that?’

It’s time to sit in front of the computer and type on the keyboard but what kind of wind is blowing like that?

It didn’t seem like he was being scolded for something happening. The atmosphere seemed good.

“haha!”

At that time Ryu Geon-woo who was talking neatly while smiling found this place.

“…!”

And when the team leader said something to Ryu Geon-woo he got up came to the door and called his group.

Only it wasn’t him.

“Chief Lee.”

“yes.”

The former chairman of the 9th grade Seoul City Council and the nephew of the current city council member of this district.

“Team leader call me.”

“ah…”

“Oh yeah. “Please come and sit here for a moment.”

“Ah yep!”

When the team leader gestured Chief Lee hurriedly walked out from behind him and entered the door.

‘…??’

Ryu Geon-woo who was smiling calmly turned his head to the ‘chief’ who could not react to the sudden situation.

Our eyes met.

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo seemed to be staring at himself for a moment but…

Sweet.

I closed the door.

‘…Fuck that.’

You’re acting mean and shit.

The ‘chief’ felt uncomfortable for no reason so he cursed a few times and headed to the bathroom.

This was the first abnormal phenomenon.

And the second abnormal phenomenon was witnessed two hours before leaving work.

On my way up to the rooftop to smoke.

I saw Ryu Geon-woo and Chief Lee next to the emergency stairs.

The two were talking with quite serious faces.

‘He says hello.’

Are they coming all the way out here during work hours to say they have something great to talk about?

This time he couldn’t hold back and after enjoying a cigarette he came down and openly asked Chief Lee about it.

“What makes this conversation so interesting Chief?”

Chief Lee flinched and blurted out his words.

“Ah… I just wanted to help you with a civil complaint.”

“Chief Iya Ryu is helping too right? “Isn’t it amazing?”

Of course the intention was not to praise but to ridicule. It’s like asking what help you can give.

However as always there was no passive response.

“yes. “Director Ryu is a kind and good person.”

“…”

uh?

‘This guy… is he showing signs of discomfort?’

The guy who usually smiles or obediently argues with me…

He almost got offended by the sarcasm for a moment but forced a bright smile.

“Well Director Ryu is a corpse except for his personality. “People are good.”

“yes…”

This time the reaction wasn’t so good but he decided to be satisfied that his opponent bowed anyway.

But by the time I got home from work.

The final surprise occurred.

“Chief Lee~ Shall we go and have a drink?”

This is a recommendation that he makes sure to make once a week to become a good boss who buys food and drinks well.

But Chief Lee shook his head.

“Um… I have an appointment today.”

“…!”

It’s a euphemism but rejection is rejection.

This was something that had never happened since the first dispatch.

“…okay?”

“yes. I’m really sorry but I’ll see you tomorrow. Thank you Chief.”

Then he leaves the office at a brisk pace.

In the meantime he glanced back at Ryu Geon-woo and even bowed his head!

“…”

He was dumbfounded but somehow felt cold.

‘That’s strange.’

He frantically left the office and got into the elevator.

However there were two female employees who had been in the office just a moment ago getting into the open elevator first.

Something I have learned.

“Wow I see.”

“Oh then it’s perfect…”

However the moment they made eye contact with him they flinched and looked back at each other. And he laughs as if he is embarrassed.

“…??”

Ding-.

At that moment the elevator arrived. The two quickly went out the door.

It’s as if he doesn’t even want to hear questions.

“Thank you for your hard work.”

“Let’s go in~”

In the end the ‘chief’ was left alone in the lobby.

Without knowing anything.

Feeling lost and left out.

“…”

what.

‘Why are they all like that?’

It was definitely a day no different from last week until the morning.

What kind of situation is this?!

* * *

An empty office because no one is working overtime.

“Then Mr. Geon-woo please come back in.”

“yes. thank you.”

I stayed in the office alone seeing the team leader off. I had something to take with me.

[Brother what on earth did you do?]

Well whatever.

‘You solved it like you did.’

[Where on earth are you going?!]

The pop-up screams. There seems to be a misunderstanding.

Well to explain this properly… let’s start with this.

I asked bluntly.

‘Why do you think this guy the chief followed us to external meetings?’

[uh…? You probably did it because it was work right?]

yes.

Is it because you like it? Absolutely not.

‘I did it because I was scared.’

[…!]

In my first social life I don’t want to be looked down on by my boss.

Everyone’s life is the same so how could it be good for a guy who seems to have joined the civil service because of work-life balance to be dragged around to entertain people at meetings?

There’s no way I wouldn’t be dissatisfied with hanging out with such an old guy.

‘He must have been annoyed that I said he would be nice to others.’

It’s like holding someone to dinner while offering to buy them food.

‘therefore.’

[…therefore?]

I just… created a stop loss angle.

‘All you have to do is make sure it doesn’t scare you.’

So we targeted the most powerful speakers first. Team leader.

-Ah team leader. That’s what Chief Lee did…!

During lunch time with the team leader I deliberately gave a good reason and praised ‘Chief Lee’.

And if you continue the conversation by gently asking about the team leader’s personal history and then bring in Chief Lee at the right time… the game is complete.

[What kind of game is this…]

A board that informs Chief Lee of his location.

All you have to do is borrow the words of the most authoritative person the 'team leader.'

'Gently lead the conversation in that direction… '

It makes you realize how advantageous it is for you to work there if you are related to a local government official.

Then this thought comes to mind.

-uh? Then is it okay to stretch out to that foreman?

Originally I thought about working for at least one more year in advance.

Of course if we end here it will take some time to really put this idea into practice. So the last thing to encourage you is…

'It's giving a cause.'

[…justice?]

uh.

'I'm just reminding you that that guy bothered you.'

-That's Chief Ryu. thank you Thank you for your kind words…

-Oh no. It's true! And… what is the extent of it when both parties are having a hard time?

-…

-Let's do our best. It will be okay once this period passes.

Confidence that one is doing good things.

People secretly say that's important. Now that the refreshing taste of justice has been added the harshness has disappeared.

I nodded.

Plus look at how people in the office react when something happens.

The fact that there are so many people who find this overturned situation amusing means that Ryu Geon-woo usually made a pretty good impression.

'This is possible because you live a good life.'

[…]

Well I was praising your personality but wouldn't it be nice to be a little more happy?

'Anyway from now on even if I go to a meeting with this guy called 'Director Lee' he won't be as cooperative as before.'

Because he knew how useful he was.

There's already some antipathy towards it and if you don't like it you'll show that you don't like it and then… it becomes creaky.

Until that 'chief' got mad.

'But now we've come too far to say we'll take Ryu Geon-woo away… '

Soon I have no choice but to accept the reality that he too manages his personal connections at the district office.

[then…]

I shrugged.

"Well… I guess I'll be looking for the next assignment."

‘Then he goes away and you can continue to come home from work here.’

It’s a happy ending.

[Uh huh huh…]

Well thinking about it again it was a very mild solution.

I never thought I could handle it so meekly just praising others. Anyone can see that it’s similar to Keundal’s usual behavior.

[yes?]

Despite this no one suffered a loss and everyone was happy. indeed.

I briefly admired it.

‘Living like you seems like a pretty good way to live.’

[…yes. thank you…]

Not much to say.

I exited the internal network system feeling refreshed.

I think this is enough experience to live as a civil servant.

‘Are your dinner schedule preparations going well?’

Because now it is my turn to control Park Moon-dae again.

[Ah… Yes! I’m ready.]

‘good.’

From now on I am also leaving.

[…yes!]

As soon as I got to work I took out my luggage from my personal cabinet.

The heavy weight of the bag pressed down on my hand.

‘It’s been a really long time.’

I left the office with it on my back. And then we started moving towards our destination.

Right away… to Jamsil Indoor Gymnasium.

* * *

“Waaaaaa!!”

“Ugh!!”

Screams and lights abound. It’s not a club or a battlefield.

Although the competition for positions was that fierce.

‘after.’

I sat down.

Among the most prestigious awards ceremonies held in late January the CyChart Music Awards is the last awards ceremony.

And at this very awards ceremony Testa is scheduled to make a comeback.

‘My body has changed now what about the stage?’

Fortunately the awards ceremony continues until past midnight. Testa only performs right before the end so his body will change before that time.

Until then it is a bit of a question of whether Keundall can survive while naturally receiving an award from the singer's box.

'In the meantime Ryu Geon-woo also has work to do.'

This guy's plans after work.

"…hmm."

I opened my bag and took out what I had prepared. A black square object.

It's the camera.

And… Baektong. After attaching the long cylindrical lens you are ready.

'The specs are good.'

I wondered how much I paid for it but I decided not to ask.

Anyway… that's right.

This was Ryu Geon-woo's plan after work today.

Take a picture of Testa with a camera at the music chart awards ceremony.

-I remembered my brother uploading the videos he took before… so I bought it to give it a try! But honestly I wasn't able to take pictures that well…

He himself said so.

Honestly it's not a hobby I would recommend but it's a good hobby to try once in the process of finding your own interests.

…taking pictures of people.

I focused and lifted the camera. Even though it's been a while the composition came out naturally.

[Then let's meet the singers of the year at the SciChart Music Awards!]

The MCs were introduced and the awards ceremony began. And while the opening VCR is playing cheers and light sticks erupt again from the audience.

Of course applause is coming from the singer's stand as well.

'It's national rule to take pictures of this place at this time.'

I checked and pulled out my sights and found a table. Testa… right.

"I found it."

Through the viewfinder I saw seven guys sitting side by side on chairs and smiling.

Especially Park Moon-dae.

'Hmm… it's in good condition.'

It was a good decision to hide the occasional shaking hands under a blanket. I nodded.

Click.

As I reflexively took a few pictures of the surrounding members I felt it stick to my hand. I think I got a good shot.

'hmm.'

This is somehow fun.

I turned the camera again. There was some time before the stage started.

‘Let’s take some pictures of the other guys too.’

Let’s take a look. First of all the person sitting right next to Testa is…

“…”

Cheongryeo.

Chapter 450

Seeing Cheongryeo at award ceremonies is not new.

This is because regardless of whether it is VTIC or Testa they have never performed well enough to not be praised at an awards ceremony since their debut.

However it had been a very long time since I had seen it from this location.

So in a composition where I'm holding a camera and taking pictures of the guy in the audience.

'…hmm.'

Cheongryeo was wearing a suit.

I still feel like the unit price is good. Since I've been in that position for decades it may be natural.

'It's not like I'm going to sell it anymore.'

I left a few pages out of habit.

It was then.

"…!"

Cheongryeo looked away. And then he slowly raised his hand.

"…"

A light hand greeting.

However the direction happened to be the audience seat near where I was.

It almost feels like our eyes are meeting through the viewfinder.

‘…no way.’

…Did you notice?

No. No matter how much that bastard does does it make sense using common sense in a situation where there are no hints?

‘Is there anything that can be seen with the GM functions that remain in that guy… ’

At that moment a pop-up appeared in front of my eyes.

[brother! Are you here?]

It’s a big month.

“…! okay.”

As I opened my mouth to answer I ignored the gaze I felt from the seat next to me and answered again in my mind.

‘Did the VTIC sitting next to you talk to you?’

[Uh… no? Because he didn’t talk to me or anything… Shall I talk to you?]

‘no.’

Just avoid it.

[phew.]

What did you ask when you were just breathing a sigh of relief?

I shook my head and answered.

‘There’s no need to worry about that. It’s okay as long as you just sit quietly.’

Unlike radio there are no comments so there is only one role. Sitting nicely.

[Right?]

then.

Oh right.

‘Make sure to concentrate when other singers perform on stage.’

This is because the moment you yawn or frown WiTube may be plastered with that.

‘Even if you can’t help but relax once or twice… ’

[…I will never relax!]

I’d like to say that’s not possible but it’s actually the best way. Let’s cheer for each other.

I lifted the camera away from my eyes and turned it back to the singer’s box.

Cheongryeo had already turned her gaze towards the road stage.

‘Was it a mistake?’

I clicked my tongue briefly and took a few more photos of the testana.

The same goes for Park Mun-dae which has big moons in it. The spirited guy looked quite… plausible.

That thing copied me.

'…Is this what it feels like?'

I continued to press the shutter without saying a word.

It felt a bit strange to film Testa Park Mun-dae myself.

"Hey I'm sorry but please give me your hand."

"yes."

In the meantime I bumped into the arm of the person sitting next to me a few times. He is a person who takes pictures quite recklessly.

I turned my shoulder and glanced at the person who spoke to me.

Seeing that the angle of the photo is similar this person is also taking a photo of Testa…

"…!!"

…That's right.

It's a familiar face.

The problem was that the face was also known as Ryu Geon-woo.

'…Ryu Seo-jin.'

The person sitting next to me was a senior who was in the same photography club in college. <Azusa> Writer Ryu Seo-rin's younger brother.

So… this is the home mama who is making a big splash with me.

* * *

‘The lighting is trash.’

Ryu Seo-jin grumbled and set up the camera. There were many people around with cameras similar to mine.

This may be because this location is perfect for taking pictures.

‘Plus it’s easy to take pictures of this awards ceremony without having to capture the audience with cameras.’

People flocking to take pictures.

The same thing happened to the seat next to me. A well-boned man wearing a black mask was holding a camera.

However it was a bit strange that he was dressed in a black suit. Anyone can see that he is in a healthy and neat ‘working’ outfit.

‘Is he related?’

That doesn’t mean he doesn’t have a pass hanging around his neck but he could have carried it in his pocket.

You can guess more clearly by looking at your age but…

‘What do you think?’

Since she was busy taking photos of idol faces it was none of her business what the face of the man sitting next to her looked like.

Ryu Seo-jin fixed his gaze on the camera again.

‘Did these kids fight?’

I thought it would be difficult to get a decent two-shot between Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae because they seemed oddly distant.

And soon the stage began.

[This year's Hot Performance Award spacer.]

Several groups of singers appear on stage.

Of the hundreds and thousands of teams that were active last year only about 20 teams came here and even within them the ranks and positions were divided.

'The exchange quantity must match.'

She decided to exchange data with other singers in other positions and put a lot of effort into selecting a few teams.

However I did not have the loyalty or stamina to vote for teams I was not interested in. Because I'm an office worker who just got off work.

'I guess I'll leave it at this.'

Moreover because Testa also left the singer's seat for a moment she massaged his shoulder and lowered the camera for a moment.

And then I saw it for a moment.

Click.

The flashy camera of the man in a suit sitting next to me.

'…that.'

Now… take good pictures.

You can tell just by looking at the camera movement.

Stable support fluid movement and skillful operation.

Moreover when seen from the camera angle…

'…You only shoot the ones that will sell the best right?'

It wasn't just a photo of a popular member.

In the line of demand and supply of data demand has soared and we are only looking for and filming those at the perfect time when supply is low.

For example a member like Park Min-ha of Mirinae.

In a recent entertainment show in which he appeared as an individual he appealed to the light fan base rather than the general public and his fandom's popularity rose instantly.

Or a member who is so good on stage that he is constantly in demand. Sun was only targeting idols like that.

'what.'

This was an impossible action unless one had complete knowledge of the situation.

'Is that an official or a data arm?'

He is a current first-tier idol and a former data arm.

Twin Homma who could not have guessed that fact just clicked his tongue and expressed regret.

'I wish I had sat across from you.'

The angle was almost the same as the one I took so there was no need to buy that data.

'Well if that was the method in the first place Cha Yu-jin would have been chosen among the testers.'

She thought about it absentmindedly and was about to check her data again when she suddenly realized something.

'…?'

The man in the suit sitting next to me… had a strange habit of taking pictures.

It resembles yourself.

‘Hmm.’

I looked at it carefully again.

To be precise it wasn’t just him. At first glance I could see things like tips shared among club members.

‘Now that I think about it the physique seems a bit familiar… ’

In the end it was the moment when she tried to check Ryu Geon-woo’s face closely.

“Hey Youngrin!”

A voice shouted from the back seat.

At the name of such a famous singer she reflexively turned her head to the stage.

Yeongrin was really coming up on stage.

‘already?’

Whether you look at it in terms of years of experience or grades it should come out a little later. According to the leaked cue sheet was it after the test?

However upon closer inspection it was during the performance of his juniors that Younglin appeared.

It was a kind of surprise featuring stage.

‘oh.’

Younglin fit neatly into the performance formation.

Although she was very successful as a solo artist it was a stage where it was felt once again that Youngrin was originally a member of the group.

‘The juniors are being pushed out.’

If the intention was to push a junior it was a failure for the agency. It was time for Ryu Seo-jin to make a cool-headed assessment.

Younglin looked this way and made a gesture.

“Aaaah!”

“Youngrin!!”

The surroundings became noisy as if my ears were going to burst from the surround sound. Each person seemed to think they had made eye contact.

Usually in cases like this ‘Youngrin saw me!’ It’s Ryu’s illusion but…

‘hmm?’

Ryu Seo-jin frowned slightly.

It wasn’t that he thought he saw himself.

‘Youngrin… didn’t you see the data seller sitting next to me?’

* * *

[thank you!]

I took a few more shots of Testa receiving the award on stage.

I’m doing it out of habit but I also intend to check Geoldal’s attitude one more time.

‘It’s okay.’

Even though I gave it a good rating I didn’t bother to take the camera away from my face.

Actually there is another reason to keep doing this.

‘…Hide your face.’

Just in case Ryu Seo-jin recognizes me. Well since I’m wearing a mask and it’s been a few years I actually think there’s little chance.

‘I should be more careful until my body changes.’

I carefully decided to take pictures of all kinds of idols with my camera.

Naturally as was my habit during my data sales days the unit price rankings were automatically updated in my head and one of the highest ranked female idols appeared a little early.

‘Younglin.’

He is the protagonist of my first hit fancam that earned me tuition for a semester. Did Youngrin who was unknown rise to prominence through that?

‘It was a fancam filmed on a rainy day.’

Without thinking much I continued to stare through the viewfinder.

It was then.

Younglin pointed at my camera with his hand.

“…!”

I froze while holding the camera for a moment.

Unless I'm mistaken…

'Do you really remember?'

That can't be possible.

That was already about 10 years ago. There's no way he still remembers it and even if he did how could he have recognized it right at this moment?

'but… '

Just before the final ending Youngrin looked away again when she was not caught by the broadcast camera.

-Remember me

Eye contact. And the shape of the hand.

It was a familiar hand gesture.

The signature gesture of the song captured in the rainwater fancam I filmed at the time.

This… couldn't have been an illusion.

"…"

-Wow!!

The stage ended with cheers. Younglin's gaze also disappeared along with the lighting.

But… it felt strange.

'How do you remember?'

At the time I wasn't even a fan. Afterwards there were a few times when I took photos of Younglin at events but they were never like that.

I thought it was a matter of location selection that made the fancams with amazing eye contact with the camera stand out so well.

perhaps…

'…Did it leave an impression?'

The audience holding the camera that recorded the fancam that made him popular.

Before I would have thought it was nonsense but now I know.

That there is a possibility.

'Because we're doing the same thing.'

That feeling when looking at the audience from the stage looking at your fancam and watching people's reactions.

And how would you feel if you saw the fancam that came back after a few years?

"…"

I lowered the camera.

And I looked at the time displayed at the top of the screen.

-PM 11:21

'ah.'

Now is the time.

I took slow breaths and counted down.

3

2

1

That moment.

I forgot.

“…after.”

I closed my eyes and opened them.

My vision has changed. Sound too.

-Wow!

Cheers ringing from a little further away rather than right next to you like before.

I was sitting in the singer’s seat next to the speaker.

and.

“It came just in time.”

There was a hand tapping my shoulder. This is Liu Chengwu.

When I looked up the other guys seemed to notice right away that they were also checking the time.

“…! “Mundae hyung”

“are you okay?”

of course.

I looked around and nodded in a way that didn't feel awkward.

The members greeted each other as discreetly as possible such as grinning or offering water.

If it wasn't for the singer's seat there would have been more noise.

'And you probably asked if this was the end of changing your body.'

Actually I'm curious too…

"…"

I didn't see the pop-up and turned it off first.

First block elements that may affect the stage.

'Same on that side.'

When I turned my head the VTIC seat where Cheongryeo was sitting earlier was right next to me.

But the place was already empty. That's because he also got up to prepare for the stage.

'okay.'

It worked out better. There is only one thing that is most urgent right now.

Because the time has come.

[Singer of the Year Award / Album – 2nd quarter]

[congratulations.]

[Testa / Savior]

A few minutes later.

I headed backstage to go up on stage.

The long-awaited comeback stage was right before our eyes.

* * *

“Hey just a moment.”

“Yes yes?”

“Oh that’s right. “Ryu Geon-woo.”

“…??”

“It’s been a while. “You’re still doing this.”

‘…brother!!’

…For your information I had no idea that Geundal was experiencing something like this in the audience.

Chapter 451

Big Moon was currently in an unexpected and extreme situation.

I thought I would be relieved if my body returned to its original state but an ambush appeared.

“It’s been a while.”

The person sitting next to me suddenly pretends to know me.

What kind of situation is this? It’s a situation that makes me want to send an SOS to anyone.

You can’t even run away from the audience in front of the stage with this camera.

“But it would be a bit difficult for a data seller to work two jobs after getting a job.”

“…”

“Well you know.”

‘I don’t know…!’

I don’t know the context of the conversation! I have no idea!

He was probably Ryu Geon-woo’s former acquaintance but I couldn’t be sure.

‘Are you the one selling data? Were you connected at that time?’

But I couldn’t call Moon-Dae Park. It was now Testa’s stage. We couldn’t disrupt the first comeback stage with something like this.

So I thought to myself.

'If I were… Geonwoo hyung!'

What would you have done in this situation!

He used his brain power to the extent that he had never used his split-second judgment like this since the test that put his life on the line.

'…Let's keep our words as sparing as possible!'

And answered calmly.

"…I'm not trying to sell it for money. Now it's just a hobby."

"okay?"

Seems appropriate!

Fortunately the other person probably thought the same thing so no more personal questions were asked.

'…passed it!'

Geoldal sighed in relief but Ryu Seo-jin who was sitting next to him actually thought to himself 'The kid has become a little more mellow.' I was thinking something like that.

She asked again thinking that she had enough money from her pocket balance.

"Oh are you taking a tester too?"

"…yes."

"Who usually takes pictures?"

"It's a door."

I was able to answer this without any shame.

And he… saw the person next to him nod.

“You still have a good eye for unit prices.”

“…”

It was an unusual choice of vocabulary. Geoldal was almost certain.

‘He’s selling data!’

And Ryu Seo-jin also came to a conclusion.

‘They still sell data.’

It was an exquisite illusion.

It was then.

[…Let’s meet now!]

The MC’s comment ended.

At that moment the two reacted as if they had made a promise.

‘Ah it’s starting.’

The two Testa fans who misunderstood each other as data arms turned their gazes towards the stage side by side.

Jeonju finally flows on the stage where the white lights for the awards ceremony are turned off.

‘It’s Savior!’

Keoldal was excited and grabbed the camera. I thought I would look at it with the naked eye and take a few pictures.

– Sweet.

Blue and red lights came on on the stage. And before I knew it it hit Testa in formation in the center.

The costume is a colorful coat inspired by Dopo.

‘Ugh.’

I couldn’t believe I saw that right in front of me.

-There’s a crying sound over there.

The sound of my footsteps jumping in

The intro is now so familiar that I almost memorize it.

Park Moon-dae hits the huge stage with long strides and begins the song with a sharp thrust.

-Appeared first

head!

The thrill of hearing high notes in the field.

‘and… ’

Geoldal looked at the stage with a feeling that his heart would tremble.

This time ‘Savior’ was arranged to be closer to retro rock giving it a strangely modern feel.

The point where the band sound and the orchestra sound intersect originally made people excited.

‘I guess Mr. Ravine is really a genius… ’

Geoldal who had met Raebin Kim and had a conversation about the ice cream incident swallowed his saliva.

-That's my savior!

Let go of the tension and enjoy

A night of victory!

Savior who ran wild and even showed off a new dance break ended with a spectacular remix worthy of an awards ceremony.

"Waaaaaaaa!!"

The cheers that felt like their ears were going to explode were overwhelming but I held back because I couldn't shake the camera.

'My brother didn't bring a light stick…!'

But there was also a moment of disappointment.

The lights on the stage change and music flows again.

Light consideration.

"Sigh."

…It's a new song.

Big Moon opened his eyes wide.

-Clap clap-clap!

On stage a spotlight suddenly fell on blonde Cha Yu-jin who had left the formation and was sitting in a corner.

With his hair half covered with pomade he looked quite impressed and was applauding as he looked at the rest of the members who had just finished performing ‘Savior’.

Then the members sighed and relaxed their formation.

“…?”

Among the members who were stretching or lightly stretching Bae Se-jin began walking around holding a clipboard and giving instructions.

Various reactions were caught on camera from Sun Ah-hyun nodding her head in a listening position to Kim Rae-bin frowning as if she was annoyed.

‘performance?’

It was a musical or theatrical composition.

And a cheerful whistle sound.

-Phrrreeeeee!

moment.

All members on stage stopped moving and looked back at the audience.

And strong capital letters similar to those seen in American comics appear on the electronic display board.

[PRACTICE IS OVER!!]

There was a sound effect that sounded like a school bell. In between exciting riff melodies and drum beats came in.

Testa rushed to the front of the stage throwing down his coat with a relieved expression.

As if going out to play.

‘Hmph.’

And what you see inside after taking off the coat is…

American teen-style outfits from the 80s.

The composition and accessories from knits to jeans were slightly different as if each person had a role to play.

And before we knew it Cha Yu-jin who had even picked up a star-patterned jumper joined in with a fidget and formed a formal formation at the center.

“…Whew.”

Lastly the subtitles that appear at the bottom of the electronic display board.

[Testa – POSE]

Midi sounds mixed with mechanical sounds bounce at various pitches between tempos like water droplets.

And Testa also changes formation as if he is bouncing his steps.

-Make a pose

whatever you want

Find your individuality

After Cha Yu-jin’s stylish low notes a similar verse melody is followed by Park Moon-dae’s scratchy high notes.

-(Make a pose!)

Sometimes even bold things

It might be okay

The tempo rises.

A mirror ball spinning on stage.

Light fast complex steps that fit into the colorful lights.

And unlike that there are even upper body movements that are easy to see that you can ‘imitate’ using your fingers and entire arm.

-Exploding like dancing fireworks

Melting hot summer night

As if this night would run through and end

Testa absolutely sparkled on stage as a symbol of color light and young Chigi.

The song ran cheerfully along the disco’s dazzling staff as if it would soar endlessly upwards.

And as soon as the pre-chorus passed the melody changed to a catchy minor tone and the bass dropped.

-Drrrrrrrr-!

Engine sound.

And the chorus which is close to hip-hop combines retro sounds with an exquisitely modern composition.

In the chorus Kim Rae-bin steps forward as if kicking up her feet and raps with a lively tone.

Black fashion such as emo or goth set the tone even more.

-slowly slowly

get closer

Grab this moment so I can't move

Off-beat electronic sounds flew over the heavy rock bass as if dancing.

Cha Yu-jin who took off her jacket changed the formation by doing a Latin dance-like step.

-In the pose!

Don't worry about too much

Just think about now come in now

The part with the catchiest melody was the chorus no matter who heard it.

-In the pose!

Don't cherish today too much

Right now is important

(yes) Right now!

And then again the section where the riff melody races without any song.

Lee Se-jin who flipped her hair came out with a grin. And then he seemed to be giving a high five to Ryu Cheng-wu and then did a solo dance in the center. that…

'oh.'

It was truly the movement from their debut song 'High Five'!

That's right. Testa set aside an interlude section in the performance where they could take turns adding ad-libs.

And the members followed Lee Se-jin's movements happily but skillfully as if laughing and naturally continued to the next movement.

-Yes I'll remember

Now is your moment

Slower faster more freely

Park Mun-dae wearing bright jeans and a short denim jacket comes to the center and sings the last verse with a choreography of sliding on his knees.

-So hold on- and pose!

pop!

Fireworks explode.

LED lights shine like fireworks on the electronic display board.

The choreography until the end was cheerful and clean. And the power overflowed.

Naturally as if it were a conditioned reflex a tearful roar erupted from the audience.

"Waaaaaa!!!"

"Ahh!"

It was a party-like song.

It has all the elements that people would expect from a popular male idol.

The flying pollen seemed to predict the future.

'…Really good!'

Geoldal was once again moved. So I realized it a beat late.

The person sitting next to me was frantically shooting with his camera and I was absentmindedly holding the camera in my hand.

'Ah that's right a photo!'

I have to take a picture right now!

That was when he hurriedly lifted the camera up to his eyes.

[Big moon.]

Huh?

Big Moon reflexively raised his head.

The pop-up was shining calmly.

[There is something I want to show you.]

It was Moon Dae.

…I'm on that stage right now!

* * *

'That's it.'

The comeback seems to have been successful.

I am sitting on the stage with my knees in the ending pose. The same goes for other guys.

“Whoop.”

I was out of breath but no one here would be out of breath.

No matter how time-sensitive the awards ceremony was there were still a few seconds left for the ending shot of the group that was the headliner of the day.

And a few seconds after the stage lights went out right after that ending shot.

It was perfect timing somewhere in between when I sent Keoldal a pop-up.

[Um is there something you want to show me?]

okay.

I took a deep breath and chanted.

‘I’d like to share my view.’

The pop-up shook as if puzzled but soon seemed to connect with its senses as I said.

and.

[…and!]

I felt like I had finally seen my vision.

‘This… ’

Should I call it majestic or overwhelming?

Nearly 20000 lights including standing lights were fluttering all over the place.

It is a scenery that is almost awe-inspiring to nature.

The view from the stage with the lights off was brighter. It would be similar to the feeling of being among the stars falling from the vast ocean in the middle of the night.

‘I never thought I would hear an analogy like this.’

I laughed and Big Moon seemed a little excited.

[It’s really cool! and! But it’s a bit scary to think that they’re all people… Anyway thank you! This is my first time doing something like this!]

okay.

And I said what I had to say.

‘thanks.’

[…!]

[Why why? Uh… Because I acted well today?]

Rather than that…

‘Because it’s a view I saw thanks to you.’

[…??]

I stood up when a hand lightly tapped my shoulder and looked at the stage again.

And I reviewed the facts that I had newly realized.

‘Why does Youngrin remember me?’

There may be many reasons. This may have been due to his professional nature or because he was unknown at the time and there were not many cameras around.

‘but… ’

If I had to be honest I think the fancam probably had a lot of meaning.

‘A chance to succeed as an idol.’

Impressions and feelings about the person who pushed for that opportunity.

In that sense this guy is actually the most direct sponsor who gave me the opportunity to see this scene as an idol.

From a time when I never imagined I would become like this.

I spoke slowly.

‘You said there was nothing I couldn’t achieve… but that’s not true.’

Because I was going to die.

It was a scene I wouldn’t have seen if that guy hadn’t wanted me to survive and if he hadn’t persistently remained as a status window to help me pass the idol mission.

‘So I wanted to show you this.’

[…]

‘It’s the scenery you gave me.’

I can’t have this guy perform on stage but I thought it would be okay to watch this together.

[…]

The pop-up displayed no text for several seconds.

But I somehow got the feeling that he must have been nodding slightly in the audience.

“Mundae I have to go down.”

“yes.”

I turned my head left the audience behind and started to walk off the stage.

The Big Moon pop-up only reappeared after that.

[I’m very happy.]

I chuckled.

I felt like everything was going to go right.

That must have been why. As soon as I got off the stage I checked this before even monitoring.

‘…Mission failure pop-up.’

And the result…

‘Park Moon-dae (1 / 2)’ ‘Ryu Geon-woo (2 / 2)’

[Target target ‘Park Moon-dae (1 / 2)’ lost]

[Target target ‘Ryu Geon-woo (2 / 2)’ lost]

[clear]

Success.

[Mission failure scenario completed]

Victory: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)

Reward: Fragment of ■■■ 2 (2/4)

I clenched my hands.

‘good.’

However a new pop-up appeared above the pop-up.

As if he was waiting for me to confirm.

[Fragment of ■■■ 2/4]

[Conditions met!]

[■■■ Forming]

“…!”

…forming?

I immediately thought of a very ominous prediction.

Everywhere you looked at ■■■ it seemed like what I would call a system… then.

‘It’s impossible for a system like this to be created again… ’

So it ends up being such a bullshit result that I sincerely helped this bastard get back to running wild?

‘Fuck you.’

no way.

I stopped.

“Park Moon-dae?”

“Hyung are you sick??”

for a moment.

I took a deep breath and stared at the pop-up. I had to properly check what was going on.

But it ended with a completely unexpected turn of phrase.

[■■■(ver. Beta) attribution complete!]

[Owner: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)]

“…”

‘possession?’

The system… is mine?

* * *

Same time.

A stock discussion room on the Internet.

————————————= =

[Last chance to escape]

T1 Enter

A major negative event will occur in February. Sell everything now.

————————————= =

-Isn’t Testa’s comeback going to be a big hit?

-Growing power

-Go out and search haha.

After receiving a few recommendations the article received more dislikes and was swept away without much controversy.

However no one expected that after some time the captured copy would be traveling around the site as a pilgrimage.

…It was a sign of a typhoon.

Chapter 452

“That doorway…! “We’re getting off now.”

“ah.”

I got out of the van and followed Sun Ah-hyun.

It’s been a few days since a pop-up with something absurd about the system started popping up.

Still no problems.

Testa is handling his busy comeback schedule well to the point where he sleeps with his head buried while eating and the response is good.

“Is Mundaemundae okay?”

“Oh no problem.”

Oh the mission failure was also shared with these guys on the same day. Suddenly one member changed his body while performing on stage and there was no need for him to faint so we started working with much more ease.

And… a pop-up message said that two system fragments had been collected in the process.

this.

[■■■(ver. Beta) attribution complete!]

[Owner: Player Park Moon-dae (Ryu Geon-woo)]

This incomprehensible bullshit has also been cleared up.

‘Status window.’

In my status window like this.

[Item: ■■■(ver. Beta)]

That’s right. A notation has now been added to the bottom as an item.

And in fact this wasn’t even there originally but Keudal just added an item by manipulating the status window.

I recalled the conversation I had with that guy at the time.

-Ugh?!

The guy who was freaked out by the news of ‘possible system comeback’ soon regained his composure when I explained in summary ‘But there is no reaction it looks like he is dead.’

And the search results in the status window.

-Uh… what kind of item does it look like?

-…??

Surprisingly this fragment was truly ‘belonged’ to me.

The system is not attached to me it is what I have. It means it is my property.

-Is the system correct?

-Hmm… it feels that way but I don’t think it feels that powerful and ominous! Oh I’ll mark it so you can see it!

And it was added as an item to the status window.

This thought naturally occurred to me.

‘…If it’s an item can I use it?’

I tried clicking on this idea once…

[Use ‘Item: ■■■(ver. Beta)’]

[Target : _____]

I turned it off the moment this pop-up appeared. Big Moon also screamed.

‘Are you crazy?’

When you see the target designation pop up doesn’t it seem like it’s a system that can’t be removed or added?

Who are you using it for? From now on this will be a permanent seal.

‘Let’s leave it there.’

I removed the item pop-up and started monitoring again among the guys checking the schedule.

“Manager didn’t our group appear on Tnet’s new entertainment show today?”

“Oh they said it was postponed due to a broadcasting issue so it turned into a corporate event.”

“All right!”

‘Anyway T1 pushed the new entertainment show so hard that I had no choice but to watch the deal.’

I was planning to check feedback and stage reactions about other entertainment appearances.

And then I saw this popular post.

[Picture taken from the current uproar between charts]

"…"

I reflexively clicked on the article.

And saw. Photos I took at the awards ceremony a few days ago.

————————— = =

An anonymous account suddenly appeared and posted a bunch of photos without saying anything.

But I took a really good picture… (photo)

There's a lot of confusion as to whether it's a major or an experienced worker but anyway it's a K-pop miscellaneous timeline festival atmosphere.

(link) (link) (link)

————————— = =

'Why did this become a hot topic?'

…I finished talking about the item a few days ago and tried to get Geoldal's permission.

-Is it okay if I share the photos you took with your fans? If you don't like it of course I won't do it!

It seemed like there was nothing to stop it.

To be honest looking at it objectively I didn't think it came out as good as before since it had been a long time since I filmed it.

'I'm not the only one holding a camera at Cychart.'

Besides isn't that the camera he bought anyway? It didn't matter if I did whatever I wanted.

-I think it would be okay if it were anonymous.

-yes!!

That was yesterday.

And now… it came back with this result.

-This crazy person has returned.

-Is this person the Youngrin fancam?

-Awesome hahaha

-Did you get a job?

-Crazy Park Moon-dae cut the bread room ㅠㅠ Thank you so much.

"…"

First of all… this is the way Geoldal posted it.

Usually even if the data is not sold it is exchanged with other singers or uploaded separately to the singer's fan community.

It is rare for a person to post all the photos of a singer they have taken on one account.

And that too without even saying a word or introduction just tagging us.

Of course Geoldal must have thought this way.

-Okay I'll dig up the anonymous accounts and upload them all at once!

…So this efficient common-sense behavior unintentionally turned off aggro in the idol version.

In the end after comparing Keudal's cut of Youngrin with Saichart's Youngrin's fancam this was what came out.

-Wow this person must be the person who filmed that fancam. Younglin Legend's fancam!

-Awesome… Did Youngrin recognize me? ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

And funny stories and interesting articles about Youngrin who remembers 'that fancam from the beginning of his debut' were dominating popular posts on the Internet.

As a result the account received more attention… and suddenly it became a hot topic.

-It looks like this person was caught as a tester. What's going on with the amount of photos? Hahaha.

Okay I think you took pictures of all the members wow.

"…"

Do you see that?

I looked at my photos again. No matter how you look at it you won't notice much of a difference.

'Did I take too many pictures?'

It seemed like the reason was that I took a lot of testers while checking the status of the big moon.

Of course Testa wasn't the only thing that came out.

-Cheongryeo was also well filmed but it's too bad why there wasn't a cut of Cheongryeo's stage ㅠㅠㅠ

-Of course I have it. There's no way I didn't take the picture. I hope it's being edited. Testa stage cut Cheongnyeo stage cut.

does not exist. Because I was backstage when he performed.

'…I did a good job.'

I was reminded of Cheongryeo's performance where they openly used a VTIC song as an intro before their solo performance.

VTIC You cut the song exquisitely and performed it to the fullest on your own.

In effect it is a declaration.

'It means I will make a solo comeback in a full weight class.'

It looks like this year will be tough again.

Still Testa has started this comeback well so there is no need to lose momentum.

'Let's go like this.'

Anyway after comprehensively checking the reactions to the photo we passed it on to the person concerned.

Big Moon was scared.

[Hey I'll delete my account right now…!]

…That much?

'No it's okay.'

That stands out more. Let's just move on to the happenings.

'It's okay as long as you don't raise it more.'

[yes…]

People's interests change quickly. This too will only be a moment.

I looked at the reactions one more time.

I was surprised by the fact that I was still a data arm and that there was no criticism coming out openly.

I think it was because I had previously opened a separate account on WeTube to upload unsold fancams so interest was drawn to that.

-Minha thank you… Ribbon Minha is the best in the world

-Heeseung you make art ㄱㅅㄱㅅ

Anyway it was a strange feeling.

Originally everyone who made money sold it.

The reason my photos are always revealed is because they have been selected and retouched by Sagan Homma.

This is my first time seeing such a direct response.

'…I don't feel bad.'

I looked at Keudal's account with the ID 'gun4321' and tried to end my search only after confirming that there were no other unusual occurrences.

It was then.

"It's radish. Could that be me…?"

"…!"

When I turn my head I see Sun Ah-hyun looking somewhat expectant.

What is it?

“Did you take pictures of that gate?”

How did you know?

“When my body changed.”

“I see…! “Oh I saw the door handle being corrected.”

“…”

Come to think of it I did it on my laptop in the living room. It was an environment where anyone could see.

And Sun Ah-hyun’s words also attracted aggro in the waiting room.

“Wow awesome~ Was this filmed by Mundaemun University? Did you post it on the internet?”

“I look great! This is me and Chungwoo!”

“…Park Moon-dae you are really good at taking pictures.”

Members join in here and there and hand over their smartphones saying they want to see it too.

‘No you don’t have a phone.’

Anyone who sees it will think that my smartphone is shared by the group.

Raebin Kim’s eyes lit up.

“You’re uploading separate work for hobby purposes… It’s the same situation as the ‘Byulbyulgok’ account where we previously uploaded our arrangement work!”

okay. The difference is that it will never be discovered that this is me. Because it's physically impossible for me to film myself.

'…? Come to think of it I wasn't the one who posted it.'

But without even saying that the guys who were playing around with the pictures started talking again.

"Should we film another travel reality show when this activity ends? It would be fun to take pictures of Mundae there. "We even change hobbies with each other."

"Oh great! "It would be nice to go out and have fun together and I think the concept of working part-time at a place like a theme park would be fun~"

"Great! "I want to try that!"

You made a comeback with the concept of a high school student but did you really end up making a fuss like you were a high school student?

Anyway it's good that the atmosphere is not full of fatigue despite this forced march without a break.

"What do you think Brother Moon Dae?"

"…a part-time job at a theme park is okay."

"Oh as expected the literary school is a professional~"

I chuckled shook my head and took the smartphone back.

'Well maybe I'll take pictures sometime in the future.'

Well it was a good event to refresh.

And the schedule for that day was completed without any problems.

It was the first time in a while that we were able to sleep for more than 6 hours so everyone left work in good spirits.

“You can leave tomorrow at 7:30.”

“Oh good.”

I agree.

I quickly washed up changed clothes and went to sleep.

And how much time has passed?

“…Mundae!”

hmm.

“Park Moon-dae…!”

The alarm didn’t go off.

“Wake up for a moment! This article…!!”

article.

At that moment my blood cooled and I fell asleep.

I opened my eyes right away.

In front of me Bae Se-jin with a white face was holding a smartphone in the dark.

Why is this guy in this room… no not this.

“What article?”

“this.”

Bae Se-jin immediately held out his smartphone. I reflexively noticed the current time.

'…6 o'clock in the morning.'

Still 20 minutes before my alarm goes off.

And it is also the perfect time to get on the main page after the events of last night have been resolved.

'what.'

I immediately read the article title.

[(Breaking News) Prosecutors apply for arrest warrant for T1 Ent representative]

"…!"

"It's not our driver but… I don't think this company is an ordinary company."

Bae Se-jin who had been struggling with her agency seemed to have a strange feeling as soon as she saw the article.

"I guess… you're the best at handling things like this."

"…"

"…Sorry for waking you up."

"no."

I woke up well.

I immediately got my smartphone and read the article.

'Please it has to be embezzlement.'

The best scenario is that the CEO is the only one who gives a shit for money and has nothing to do with us.

But unfortunately… it wasn't.

-Representative Lee (58) who was arrested for violating the Political Fund Act…

"…"

politics?

okay. It may be natural since Bae Se-jin saw the content and acted immediately.

'Fuck you.'

I read more closely. The representative of T1 Ent appears to have given money to some party in exchange for a promise to nominate a member of the National Assembly.

And not only the representative but several others were arrested on similar charges…

"…"

"What do you… think?"

for a moment.

"wait a minute."

I filtered out some keywords from the article and re-set the date.

'Last 3 months.'

And the standard… not T1 Ent but 'T1' as a whole.

I immediately started browsing through the articles sorting them by popularity.

[T1 Food Ministry of Food and Drug Safety's 'correction order' for violation of the Imported Food Safety Act]

[Tnet <Voice of You> Korea Communications Standards Commission warning]

[T1 Learning Courier and 3 other companies were fined 5 billion won for collusion in port distribution]

…

Articles about all kinds of indictments and fines poured in every few days. Even if several are listed they are attached to the title with particular emphasis on 'T1'.

Even for a large company this is a strange level of terminology.

"…"

I quickly flipped through the screen. Bae Se-jin gritted his teeth.

"Is there a problem with T1 itself?"

"…You could say that too."

Let's be honest.

It hasn't been a day or two since Tnet has made a mess while growing its business and like a large company it has covered everything with capital and personal connections and has done well.

But in the past few months the number of articles has suddenly exploded?

"T1 was like this originally and doesn't it seem like the 'catcher' has suddenly become stricter?"

“…!”

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva.

“then…”

“yes.”

I muttered darkly.

“Did you know that there is a presidential election this year?”

“…”

This… is tied to the political world.

Fuck you.

‘T1 was taken.’

I don’t know what it was stamped with but it looks like an X anyway.

And among them the one that was chosen as an example was… the entertainment industry.

‘The more recent it is the more stories there are about the entertainment business.’

After slowly going through the two months’ records I found the items that stood out most often.

[Tnet <B My Girls> unfair contract lawsuit]

[T1’s tenderness… Tears from <B My Girls> cast members]

[T-Ones Studio’s <A Sweet Ending> review was difficult: “The expression was vulgar”]

‘Tnet.’

So T1 Ent.

From broadcasting stations to production studios.

I felt like I was going in this direction because it was probably the most important part of the business and had the best impact.

So how will the company respond here?

If you’re in a situation where you need to give up some weight right away…

‘…I need to cut off my tail.’

Why not somehow cut off one of the most problematic parts and decide on a route whether you lie flat on your face or show off your strength?

But giving up broadcasting companies in the entertainment business is crazy. Somehow the broadcaster would take it and choose the tail to cut instead…

What would you throw away?

‘It’s obvious.’

I have confidence that I can replace as many people as I want as long as I own a broadcasting station.

Fortunately the contract renewal season is coming soon for those who are famous for their faces.

That’s right… an affiliated entertainment agency.

“…wake up all the kids.”

These are various agencies that T1 Entertainment has as subsidiaries.

And a few days later.

The board of directors of T1 Stars the agency Testa belongs to was arrested.

Chapter 453

Everything happened too suddenly for anyone who didn't notice.

I couldn't help it.

-T-One is like that haha.

Even though corrective action was taken against T1 and Tnet received a warning from the Korea Communications Commission everyone just clicked their tongues and passed by because it was not a company with a clean image to begin with.

It was a time when aggro that was necessarily related to Testa did not work well and the sentiment of 'T1 did T1 again' was more common.

[Three T1 Stars board members arrested on suspicion of stock price manipulation…"T1's true face"]

One day this article suddenly appeared in the news headlines.

The board of directors of Testa's agency was caught in the crosshairs.

-????

-T1 you crazy bastards.

-Is it related to Testa?

-Ah damn it again.

At first fans thought it was just ordinary bad news.

It's just a matter of having to deal with the criticism of the agency and the aggro that is attracted to the singers under that agency.

‘They will soon change the board of directors and pretend not to know and move on.’

But… the articles kept popping up.

[＜Stock Manipulation Controversy＞ Why did T1 create a large entertainment company?]

[T1’s suspicions… Prosecutors “caught circumstances of collusion with headquarters”]

The agency was silent.

T1 also does not properly publish corresponding articles.

At this point even non-Korean fans noticed.

…an ominous feeling.

-They turned off the fax machine and won’t answer the phone.

-How does this work?

-What exactly is going on with T-One right now?

A situation as calm and unstable as the eye of a typhoon.

Testa’s ambitious comeback schedule ended temporarily after barely completing two weeks of music broadcasts.

All previously scheduled or released schedules have been completed but there are almost no additional schedules.

There must have been some schedules that weren’t revealed to the public but they were all canceled.

By this point most die-hard fans had figured it out.

‘This is such an emergency that the company cannot afford to take care of its flagship product Testa.’

-By some reason neither Gonggye nor Dub App are coming.

-Oh I’m so mad. This time the concept is good and the song isn’t useless so the music charts are doing great but I can’t promote it.

-All board members are dead.

-Anyway Testa is not a direct descendant but belongs to the label so it’s not relevant right? I think it’s okay to just draw a line and go but it’s not the kids’ problem.

There were various stories but the longer the silence lasted the more likely it was that the situation would become more serious.

And one day.

This article appeared out of nowhere.

[Tnet <B My Girls> Is the testimony of an official suspected of fairness true? Prosecutor: “I have nothing to say yet.”]

It was an article containing strange nuances about Tnet’s latest box office survival.

-omg

-Is this crazy Bima girl main character?

-All cast members were recruited in advance and auditions for the general public were to match the assortment…

-All PD and writers’ social media accounts have been made private.

People turned their attention to this fresh new controversy.

Tnet took the brunt of the growing suspicions and articles without hesitation.

They canceled several new programs they were planning to launch and quietly scaled back their aggressively expanding ‘global K-pop’ business.

Meanwhile the story about Testa’s agency had become a thing of the past and fans were about to feel a little relieved.

Faced with bomb-like pressure and problems with the broadcasting station that were on the verge of exploding T1 Ent eventually made a decision.

[T1 Ent subsidiaries pursue independence agencies begin to stand on their own]

Another announcement was made without any warning.

The independence of entertainment agencies that are subsidiaries of T1 Ent!

T-One Stars to which Testa Mirinae Spacer and others belong was no exception.

-Crazy T1 Stars independence?

-Since T1 is so damn bad I guess we all just got together and decided to become independent.

-Wow are you asking the subsidiary to look at the stop loss first? It has reached the level of T1 haha.

The nuance of the article was strangely focused on ‘active promotion of subsidiaries’ and since T1 Ent had been having a bad day recently the public understood it that way.

Subsidiary’s escape from T1! Exodus!

Of course those who thought a little deeper also exchanged sharp impressions such as ‘Is T1 only pretending to cut corners to save its subsidiaries?’…but that was it.

What is important is that most people who heard this news thought that the subsidiary would be happy about it.

-Testa is a label anyway and it’s okay because they’re a first-team group. Since they produce their own the quality doesn’t drop haha.

-Rather good.

-It’s better. The board of directors has been completely divided right? ㅠㅠ I think the members will also be able to work more comfortably.

The overall fandom atmosphere also showed a strong tendency to view things positively. Especially Testa.

Hasn’t it already appeared as expected?

If it had been a poorly established group it would have been uneasy but Testa no longer needed the halo of T1.

No I was just sick of T-One trying to sell me everything.

Rather than becoming more involved and listening to the bullshit that <Azusa> is manipulating and all that I didn’t think now might be the time to break up.

Yes we have nothing to regret!

-Orbit Label Independent Gaza~

It’s something that can’t be undone anyway. It was something I couldn’t get involved with. If so let’s at least crack down on the atmosphere.

Fans quickly silenced doubtful opinions and deliberately pushed public opinion in a positive direction.

Dreaming of hopeful Testa activities!

* * *

‘X done.’

I gritted my teeth.

Next to me Keun Se-jin was flipping through an article with an unsmiling expression.

“You left it here?”

“I threw it away.”

T1 discontinued its entertainment subsidiary.

A sign sent to the political world saying ‘I have caused this much damage to you so please look at it.’

It is a signal of surrender and negotiation.

And what that means is… this subsidiary is now in trouble.

‘I lost my grip once but there’s no way I can push it back.’

This may be because they don’t want to see things get better after they cut their losses. Now this company’s benefit from the T1 platform is over.

Liu Chengyu frowned and rubbed his chin as if he was embarrassed.

“We’re starting contract renewal negotiations next week.”

“We had a positive conversation a few months ago…”

“no.”

“no!”

Two people with the same name who usually didn’t get along spoke at the same time and looked at each other.

For the record I completely agree.

‘It has to jump out.’

I knew what would happen if I got on this sinking ship.

It’s already been labeled as the T1 line so it’s difficult to get on to other lines so what about an agency that lost money to T1?

‘It’s the end.’

No matter how good our name is it won’t last long if we don’t carry out our activities properly.

“You should never renew your contract with this place.”

“…!”

If someone said they would renew my contract I had the will to persuade them without sleep for three days and nights. No there was enough time for that.

‘Anyway the schedule is all messed up right now.’

From the label staff to the manager everyone has trouble communicating with the company. Fuck it.

I held the smartphone in my hand so tightly that I felt like I was going to shatter it. One or two of the soft-hearted guys hesitated in embarrassment and then nodded.

“Uh huh…”

“But… then shouldn’t we all sign with another agency? So should I start looking for a suitable agency now?”

right. That’s the problem.

Not only is time running out but it is also questionable whether there will be an agency that can coordinate Testa’s activities as they have been doing before.

‘I have to find a place that won’t turn me into a cash cow while touring in circles.’

I picked the best people and managed to create a label but there is a lot to say about the fact that I left this entire workforce behind and started a business…

The biggest problem is this.

“And… there’s a high possibility that we won’t be able to use the group name Testa.”

“…!”

“Ah ah… I see.”

Testa is a group name created from <Idol Co. Ltd.> and this agency holds the related trademark rights tightly.

‘Even the people at the company know that this is their bread line.’

We will never let you go easily whether conventionally financially or emotionally.

“…”

Naturally the atmosphere darkened slightly in the silence.

It’s impossible not to feel attached to the group name that was written over the course of five years.

But even then Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“Even if you change the name Testa is still Testa. I like it. We can come up with a cool new name! A fresh new start!”

“Ohh.”

Several members nod their heads at the energetic words. Raebin Kim also agreed.

“I think that’s a definite advantage. There are times when Cha Yu-jin is right and I think that time is now!”

“I’m always right! Raebin Kim mistakenly thinks I am wrong. So Raebin Kim is wrong.”

“…??…! I will withdraw! Cha Yu-jin is right this time!”

“haha!”

Thanks to the two consistent guys the atmosphere lightened up a bit.

As befits a group of guys who have been through all sorts of things even before their debut they have started to manage their mentality amazingly this time as well.

I chuckled. Big Sejin clapped.

“That’s right~ Our Eugene can come up with a cool English abbreviation!”

“Yeap~ I have a lot of ideas!”

“Oh~”

Big Sejin smiled and responded.

But actually I saw that kid smiling wryly when talking about the group name earlier.

That too is unavoidable.

‘okay. If possible… ’

If possible I want to go with this group name.

This was already a symbol. Brand value is not something that can be easily rebuilt and it is not uncommon for the feeling to change the moment the name is changed.

‘It’s a pretty big risk in the image business.’

…I guess I’ll have to work harder with my head.

I massaged my hands counting the number of cases.

“First let’s avoid suspicion about the company.”

And each person began to be assigned tasks to do.

First of all Ryu Cheong-woo spoke at an appropriate level as the group representative at the contract renewal meeting that the company had barely scheduled.

“Um is it okay if we talk a little more and then rewrite the contract? “It’s so noisy right now.”

I bought some time by deliberately expressing my thoughts vaguely.

So that they would misunderstand that we were scared because their headquarters was going to be in trouble.

-I will renew my contract but give me some time.

Let’s go with this tone.

It worked well because Ryu Cheong-woo had a very trustworthy image.

Bae Se-jin did a good job of squeezing out the free time he had earned and hiring a lawyer for any unexpected situation.

Now I need to check in earnest for other companies that might contact me.

This is it.

'…The original picture is for the other person to come directly.'

When a hot FA property came on the market did you see him personally conducting business?

The moment we bow down and enter it is a shortcut to worsening contract conditions.

Moreover if you go around trying to find a company and get caught by your current agency you could end up in trouble.

However… Even though it is Testa's contract renewal season there are very few people who come to visit.

'I have no contact with other companies.'

The problem is that there is some rumor in the industry that Testa will renew his contract.

In fact since the label has been treated almost as a confirmed fact since its creation there are very few companies that want to contact Testa.

'Even if I do I'm still floating around.'

There are only people who think that once you get caught you'll hit the jackpot.

But no matter how urgent it is you can't go to the Dream K-level agency where Bae Se-jin was previously.

I remember Bae Se-jin deleting the KakaoTalk messages he was contacting as if he was about to burst into flames.

In the end the guys in the living room were going to end up saying something like this.

“Ah should we just start a company?”

“I think that would be better too…”

Sun Ah-hyeon sighed. It was a rare sight.

“I wonder if it would be possible to become independent with the people in the label… I would like to just change the name.”

“It seems impossible…”

“okay…”

Ryu Cheong-woo fell silent at Kim Rae-bin’s words. This too was a rare sight.

‘Everyone is exhausted.’

I also held back a sigh and picked up my smartphone.

Yes there is nothing much to do if there is no proper contact. Now that things have come to this get ready to nudge a good place and find out the reaction…

‘hmm.’

But there was a text message on my smartphone.

It wasn’t an advertisement a greeting card or a stalker.

It was… a congratulatory text.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Congratulations on your independence^^

It's absurd.

'You bastard… since when did you know?'

But the moment I read the next text I stopped thinking for a moment.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I think I need a new house.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: How do you feel?

"…"

…a new home?

'No way… is it Leti?'

It was my first scouting offer.

Chapter 454

Let's think about what would happen if Testa went to LeTi.

First of all the advantages.

'I've already done it.'

The point is that I already know everything about what kind of person the company's president is and how the planning team operates.

I even did a debut survival there.

Even though it was a few years ago and it was like a virtual simulation created by the system.

'You will adapt quickly.'

And since LeTi is a large company that has even gone public it is unlikely that there will be a problem with taking care of Testa's name value.

furthermore…

'There are no rookie male idols.'

At least while VTIC is in the military there is a high probability that Testa will receive a decent investment.

'It buys me a few years of time.'

With T1 Stars sinking this seemed like a very good option.

'If you adjust the contract terms well it is worth trying to maintain the testa color.'

However… there was a very critical problem. Absolutely non-negotiable.

So my answer is ultimately one.

After thinking all these thoughts within 30 seconds I responded immediately.

-it's okay. Thank you for your congratulations.

Yeah I'm not going.

A reply came back shortly afterwards.

-VTIC Senior Application: It's a shame.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: What about joining the label?

Wow.

-Are you available to talk?

I received a phone call after a short text.

"Senior."

-Junior.

There was no need for this guy to release the recording of the phone call but since I didn't know what would happen I started talking politely.

"What do you mean by label?"

-It means literally. Hmm is it difficult?

A soft voice continued.

-I was thinking of creating a label under LeTi.

"…!"

-Most famous agencies have their own colors clearly. It would be burdensome for Testa to belong directly to such a place.

-I think it wouldn't be a bad thing if the conditions were such that I could make albums as I wanted at an independent label like now.

Cheongryeo made a sound that seemed like it was scratching an itch.

And recommended again.

-I contacted Testa because they seemed like the perfect group for this label. Isn't it?

"…"

I opened my mouth.

"That label."

-yes.

"So the advantage is that Testa can do the planning the way they want?"

-That's right. And it will be easier to work. The company system is well established.

"yes."

There must be a system that that guy has set up.

I'm sure you're not saying that planning is autonomous.

but.

“But isn’t it the LeTi headquarters that coordinates promotions and schedules not the label?”

-…

“And LeTi is your affiliated company.”

That’s right. What does it mean to go to LeTi?

I pulled the smartphone away from my face and looked down at the name of the person I was talking to.

[VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo]

…This means that this guy can hold the testa schedule in his hands and run it.

Even if I were to try it now it would be difficult to beat someone who has been working for that agency for 10 years in just a few months.

This is especially true if the opponent has repeatedly targeted the same company dozens or hundreds of times.

‘I’m not even X.’

Giving the power of life and death to a group in the hands of a competitor is foolish.

‘But it’s extremely beneficial for competitors.’

That’s probably why this guy suggested it too.

I was reminded of Cheongryeo’s strange text message at last year’s year-end awards ceremony.

Video attached.

-The video was about an unknown dog receiving a new cushion as a gift instead of a broken one.

New cushion.

‘Did you mean a new company and a new home?’

Perhaps from then on I may have been measuring the angles with a vague understanding of how T1 was running.

I was pissed that I was being pushed out in terms of intelligence but anyway that guy’s behavior was obvious.

‘It was calculated.’

This means that this bastard is not even an adult and of course he suggested it to make a profit.

And after a short silence.

A soft voice was heard again.

-You’re still smart.

Isn’t it stupid to not know?

-Well you have nothing to worry about. I have no intention of doing anything that will harm me.

“What if the moment comes when you have to choose between VTIC and Testa?”

-It can’t be. I’ll choose a good schedule so we don’t disturb each other. Then all you have to do is have a good agency.

“…”

-Isn’t this a good thing for everyone?

I looked down at my smartphone. Then after shaking his head fiercely and briefly he opened his mouth again.

“…I’ll think about it.”

-ah.

In fact it probably sounded like a declaration of surrender.

His tone of voice became more friendly.

-Well thought out.

“But can’t you spread a rumor to raise the ransom?”

-hmm?

“There is a rumor coming from an official that Testa will not renew his contract.”

It’s just in the form of gossip so that the company doesn’t get suspicious. However it is best if outsiders can be skeptical.

I calmly gave the rationale.

“If there is some competition wouldn’t LeTi give us something more to do? “I think that would be the best way to get good contract terms.”

-hmm.

Cheongryeo briefly nodded as if she understood.

‘good.’

If word spreads like this…

-Junior. I have no intention of coming.

“…”

You ghost-like bastard.

‘Did you know right away?’

That’s right.

If possible I have no intention of going to LeTi. No matter how much you think about it it’s like sticking your head into that guy’s mouth.

I don’t think that guy will come and install Ohhamma now. However this is not an issue like that but an aspect of risk management.

Besides think about it. Testa going to LeTi the VTIC agency that he has been fighting like dogs with since his debut?

‘The fans will all feel rotten inside.’

I’m going to think the same way but isn’t it natural to want to choose a better option?

‘I guess I’ll have to bet something to get a deal by spreading the word about this.’

Let’s take a look first.

I shook my head and tried to open my mouth but the person on the other line spoke first.

-Well… I like it. It’s not difficult.

“…!”

Surprisingly he readily agreed.

Of course that wasn’t the main point.

-But I want you to remember that my offer is valid until the contract is renewed.

“yes. “I will.”

As expected I accepted it obediently to gain momentum to say that. But I'm willing to accept it.

I was so convinced but Cheongnyeo suddenly changed her words.

-hmm. I don't think there's any need to say this.

"what…"

Is it a sound?

Then a laughing voice was heard through the smartphone.

-The more contact I receive the more I will think of it. This suggestion.

"…"

-I will send you the contract terms by email. Congratulations again junior.

And a few days later subtle contacts began from large and small agencies.

* * *

"Just like Mundae said it's really coming quite a bit."

"…I know."

Each member is holding a smartphone and looking at proposals received through their network.

First of all those who came to Bae Se-jin are several agencies that manage a wide range of people from actors to idols.

Perhaps because Ryu Cheong-woo is the leader he had a lot of contacts and Keun Se-jin has many suitable agencies that idols usually choose when renewing their contracts.

‘I can see the personalities of my connections.’

And Kim Rae-bin…

“…? This is a hip hop label. Why are you making a proposal here…?”

“Hmm do you have any ambitions to join an idol group?”

I will bet my smartphone that he is connected to the AR team which treats Raebin Kim as the youngest member.

‘And I… ’

I’ve received some calls from my side as well but there are a lot of negative comments.

‘They sent these kids too.’

Golden Age Group to which Gold 1 and Choi Won-gil belong. That place was rife with industrial espionage.

I said ‘Hello. This is Traveler Entertainment team leader Park Min-jeong. I read the long KakaoTalk pop-up that started with ‘I apologize again for what happened in the past without clicking on it.’

It was a little annoying but it was an agency that did a good job so I decided to keep it in mind.

‘The minus factor is that if Testa goes it will be a mess because the position and seniority match the golden age perfectly… ’

While I was thinking about that I heard a question next to me.

“But how did you spread the word about Mundaemun University?”

“…”

“huh?”

Now… it's time to share.

I explained the invitation I had received a few days ago.

And there was an explosive response.

"Le LeTi??"

"…Senior Cheongryeo…"

"I hate that place. [Of all the people I've met in my life he likes the gloomiest things. "You're not seriously considering it are you bro?]"

I never thought Cha Yu-jin would talk so long and intelligently.

I summarized the situation briefly.

"I said I wasn't going. "Still they said they were considering it so I gave up on the rumor."

"after."

Big Sejin sighed deeply and sat down on the sofa. I also pressed my eyebrows.

"In the first place we were all going to move together but I guess I decided to go alone. Of course we have to discuss it…"

"Come on let's vote now! Who doesn't really want to go to LeTi?"

Five people raised their hands. I touched my forehead.

"Oh aren't you listening?"

Listen you bastard.

In the middle of the living room where the 'LeTi is not going' conclusion was reached Raebin Kim asked me a little question with a slightly embarrassed face.

"…I remember it as a good agency don't I?"

"…"

Indeed from head to toe he was a guy with LeTi's taste.

After that there were meaningful contacts in several places but the problem was that the time limit was slowly approaching.

'I have to choose quickly.'

Since each member had different thoughts on what they considered 'essential' there were only a few agencies that could meet all of them.

Moreover most of them have disadvantages or risky elements.

It may be too small and difficult to care for or it may be too large and already has a male idol in the same position or it may be too individualistic and cannot handle the testers.

Looking at it this way LeTi who came with an independent label from the first hit was definitely a fairy.

'Fuck you.'

I scratched my head. Cheongnyeo wasn't so confident for no reason.

'Okay let's just say I'm going to LeTi.'

Even so… the fundamental problem is impossible to solve no matter where you go.

'…Testa name.'

That name group concept. All of these trademarks and copyrights were already held by this agency called T1 Stars.

What should I do with that?

“Are you… are you still organizing it?”

“hmm.”

Sun Ah-hyun sat across from the table. I threw aside the paper on which I had randomly written keywords but it seemed like he had already seen it.

-Testa name continued

…this keyword.

“I’m thinking about it because I want to keep using my name.”

“…”

“Is it really okay if I talk carefully with that company…? “It would be nice if we could buy the rights.”

“…I guess that would be good.”

But most likely they won’t give it to you. Even if an astronomical amount is offered the chances are small.

This is because the decision maker is not a single person but multiple stakeholders are involved.

I explained that part to Sun Ah-hyun. Sun Ah-hyun listened calmly and nodded.

“Still even if it’s difficult let’s try… let’s try.”

“…okay.”

“Ugh. “Maybe the company will allow it because of other circumstances…!”

"…"

Other circumstances?

At that moment a thought struck my head like lightning.

'Aren't you selling the trademark rights?'

Then… wouldn't it be enough to create 'other circumstances' to sell it?

I nodded.

"yes. thanks."

"…"

"I knew what to do."

"…Huh?"

I spoke comfortably to Seon Ah-hyun who had a puzzled expression on her face.

"This company must go out of business."

"…!?"

I can't believe you were able to organize it so simply.

"Mumundaeya?"

thanks. Seon Ah-hyun.

And the next day I tried to contact both guys.

[Spacer Kwon Hee-seung]

[Miriena Park Min-ha]

They were members of the same agency group who were in the same situation.

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: ???

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: What is this group chat room?

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Perhaps entertainment?

-Miri Nae Park Min-ha: Hello senior!

I started typing bluntly.

-hello

-Do you like this company?

If I don't have anything to eat I'll even sell it.

'Let's cut off all the food lines.'

The answer is… the company is destroyed.

Chapter 455

The atmosphere at T1 Stars was chaotic.

Now that it has become independent from its parent company T1 Ent the company is no longer a subsidiary of Octopus Foot Enterprise.

It may sound good at first but it is actually fraught with enormous uncertainty.

The superiors who meddle and manipulate have disappeared but the subordinates who would take responsibility have also disappeared.

-What do you think?

– Assistant Manager… haha shall we find out together?

Among the working-level staff concerns about future treatment and jokes about job changes were exchanged.

And the same went for my boss.

In an unprecedented situation where the board of directors was arrested and evaporated due to a political offensive the only bosses left were the head of the division and various department heads who were invited from among professional CEOs.

Everyone paid close attention to their movements.

If those people see an escape angle you have to move quickly too!

-Director you must be going to another company right? LOL

-You might not go right?

However there was still a part of me that believed.

-We still have a good lineup of artists.

That's right.

The ones they trust are their artists.

These were a few groups that toured with a solid fan base and secured fame and steady income.

And among them there was a group with the most unique name value.

-Testa also said he would renew his contract.

Testa!

He is a top idol in name and reality winning the grand prize for three consecutive years.

Moreover since the production is done in-house there will be no major problems if the superiors are blown away.

The working-level staff who did not know exactly why T1 and its subsidiary had a falling out were confident that the company would be able to make a living just by capturing Testa.

-Ah I'm going to the Testa label somehow.

-Even if this place goes bankrupt won't the label survive?

People had happy imaginations thinking that the label might absorb more manpower or that the label might take over the company itself.

So this was the atmosphere externally.

Let's look at the anonymous office worker community.

————————————= =

[T1 Entertainment subsidiary brothers and sisters?]

I wonder what the atmosphere is like these days. Is everyone welcoming independence?

————————————= =

-lol

-It's mysterious.

-Well I'm just going to work no problems so far.

Instead of complaining over and over again break down your answers. It was a reaction that came about because there was a real problem.

But in that mysterious atmosphere where there is hope…

[Testar Park Moon-dae: Then I'll see you tomorrow.]

"…!"

The general manager received a text message from his office.

* * *

Testa Park Moon-dae was a crazy person.

At least that was certainly the case in the eyes of the general manager.

Before I thought he was a spoiled kid but after he signed a label contract under pressure that assessment was fixed.

The timing of his hand movements and speech could not have been so clever and exquisite.

‘I should have figured it out as soon as I found out about the family situation.’

How worn out would an orphan be to be ranked first in a survival program at that age?

He treated me too gently just because of his age and then he ended up screwing up!

‘Who knew that little boy would do that?’

The general manager tried to cover up the embarrassment he felt after signing the label contract under duress by simply clicking his tongue.

Of course it was impossible to guess that the person behind Park Moon-dae’s soft appearance was a much older adult.

Anyway time has passed since the label incident. Testa worked hard without any unusual actions and Park Moon-dae never contacted him.

however.

“I hope you read it.”

“…”

The head of the headquarters managed to pick up the sheaf of paper that Park Mun-dae had put down with his firm hands.

This time too the documents with the critical parts painted in black were the same as when the label was threatened.

Litigation materials.

The problem is that it’s not just Testa.

“Ah from Chapter 7 it’s a story about a different group.”

Mirinae spacer.

The data for the two groups next to Testa were neatly organized to show that this agency was making decent profits.

‘This… ’

This is also about unfair treatment by the agency. However it was slightly less fatal.

In the case of Mirinae the non-agreed spacer for tours and US activities was mainly about member neglect.

Even so there is one reason why I made this.

“Well next month. “We plan to file a class action lawsuit within the next month at the latest.”

“…!”

It was a sentence that seemed like a bolt from the blue.

Besides this was immoral! Especially Testa.

He managed to calm the boiling sense of crisis. And he shook his head skillfully.

“No… even if you show me something like this.”

The general manager slapped the paper once and forced a smile.

While intentionally showing signs of suppressing anger.

“Testa added a label contract with this last time and if this happens again the company will be in a lot of trouble. “Who would want to work with Testa if the promo is done without any special circumstances?”

It was true.

And it was also a subtle intention that if a lawsuit was filed they would somehow embroil the label story and blow it all up.

“And other groups honestly it doesn’t feel like a lawsuit does it? This is a mistake that anyone can make while working. “Judges are not stupid.”

This too was half true.

But… Park Moon-dae was calm.

“Winning is not important.”

uh?

“The important thing is what will happen to this company the moment all three of these groups stop working together.”

“…!!”

“The funds won’t come in.”

That was the key.

The moment a lawsuit is filed… activities are halted.

And sales of other products such as albums will also plummet. Because fans won’t buy it.

And reflexively the head of the headquarters thought of that.

‘If this small and medium-sized entertainment agency which is not a T1 subsidiary runs out of funds… ’

It’s over.

The longer the lawsuit goes on the less profit you will continue to make and the fixed costs such as building will continue to rise.

However T1 which provided the investment has already discontinued the company so it cannot raise more money.

Other investors will also not be willing to step in when the three most successful groups in the company join forces and file a lawsuit.

then…

“It’s short but it’s a long time ago.”

Moon-Dae Park sentenced.

“Then since the company went bankrupt we automatically become free.”

“…”

My backside was sore.

Truth: It was a strong premonition that came out only after hearing a guess about the future that had a very high hit rate.

It can be summarized as ‘X is done.’

They could destroy the company just by filing a lawsuit.

‘Damn this… ’

The head of the headquarters spoke as calmly as possible swallowing a mixture of English and Korean into a few words.

First of all you have to pretend it’s not the case.

“It’s such a radical idea. Haha wouldn’t Testa be able to leave as long as he doesn’t renew his contract? “I really don’t know why you’re trying to go to the difficult direction.”

Park Moon-dae who caught the meaning of asking for good contract renewal conditions instead of doing something like this shook his head.

“To help other groups. “As a senior.”

You crazy bastards!

They’ve made a lot of money so far so why are they doing something like this out of resentment?

‘I know that the moment you say you won’t renew your contract your reputation will end.’

The general manager who had now quite figured out the trend of the entertainment company decided that he would somehow mobilize public opinion to put an end to it.

And it was the moment when I was trying to pretend not to give a warning.

“That’s why I’m telling this to the general manager first.”

Park Moon-dae who had been pausing added softly.

“They were also good to us when we were on our label.”

It was a voice mixed with kindness.

“It means you should escape first.”

“…”

“Before we file a lawsuit.”

The head of the department was momentarily taken aback.

Park Moon-dae did not seem particularly disdainful or boastful.

I’m really debating whether to say it or not and although it may turn out to be negative I secretly feel like I said it out loud.

'…yes.'

If you had made such a plan it would have been risky to even tell a company official like yourself.

The fact that he risked that and said it… might actually have been a favor!

No matter how much money you have earned you are only just starting out in society. He drew a picture of whether he felt sorry for an adult who had already pressured him with an additional contract.

…Of course it's not the truth.

'This guy bit me.'

Park Moon-dae was thinking that when he saw the head of the headquarters.

Because I had no intention of filing a lawsuit in the first place!

In fact as Testa said before suing the company itself is a huge blow to the artist's image. In a slang term it means being 'stamped' in the industry.

However the general manager who was not originally in the entertainment business was unable to capture the details that required experience.

Instead Park Moon-dae caught the signal.

-I don't want to cause harm to other people especially people I know.

That kind of thing… a soft-hearted immature corner of society that hasn't yet grown old.

So the head of the headquarters roughly figured out the situation like

this.

Common sense tells us that if Testa has little benefit from filing a lawsuit…

‘Are you saying there’s nothing I can do now that I’ve been tricked by another group and put my gun on my back?’

Since you stepped up for others you also care about ‘other people’ who will be harmed because of it!

So reflexively I started speaking strongly.

Because I saw a place to lie down.

“No changing jobs is not a child’s joke… Moon Dae do you think changing companies will happen overnight?”

The plan was to push ahead like this and get Testa out of the lawsuit.

And Park Mun-dae blinked.

“Are you having a hard time?”

“It’s impossible based on common sense. “No please tell me first when you are going to file a lawsuit.”

“hmm.”

Park Moon-dae was silent for a long time and then spoke slowly.

The rope of salvation.

“Now that I think about it I wonder if it would be better to do this instead of filing a lawsuit.”

“…!”

“How about this?”

Park Moon-dae frowned as if he had just remembered it and said a few words as if reasoning.

At that moment the head of the headquarters came to his senses.

If you do that!

“…If you do this you will gain time and there will be no problems with your portfolio or anything like that when you change jobs.”

As Park Mun-dae finished speaking he glanced at the head of the headquarters.

“The manager knows this too. “This company has no vision anyway.”

Because T1 gave up.

Yes this is a fact that the general manager already knew.

However since I had a testa I was wondering if I could eat more but this is what happened.

‘…okay. ‘Every business is about timing.’

The person who plays first suffers the least and gains the most.

The head of the headquarters made his decision and opened his mouth.

Park Moon-dae smiled faintly.

* * *

The next evening.

“Hyung what are you saying?”

Liu Chengwu grinned as he hung up the direct call from the company's higher-ups.

It was a smile full of surprise and refreshing.

"The company… wants to talk about the group name but it looks like they want to sell the trademark rights."

"…!"

"Really…?"

"huh."

"WOW!!"

The living room was soon filled with exciting noise as the sign that the operation was a success. Bae Se-jin was excited and waved his arms.

"So that worked?"

"yes."

Didn't you say it would work?

I chuckled and remembered my conversation with the general manager.

'That selfish bastard.'

I thought I was going to eat it and jump out.

I didn't make a great suggestion. Something like this.

'I'm just saying let's have one last bite before the damn company goes bankrupt anyway.'

-The trademark rights will be auctioned off after bankruptcy anyway.

Rather than let that happen the trademark rights should be transferred to the groups for a fee.

If the company goes bankrupt anyway you can buy the trademark rights that will be auctioned. However the plan is to give the head of the division a chance to sell first and make a profit.

Let's suck it up with short-term profits and the image-making of a beautiful agency that gives names to singers.

And the head of the division completes the last page of the portfolio before the company goes bankrupt and runs away.

we? We made the excuse that we had this much benefit.

-Wouldn't other groups feel safe working for this company if that's the case? This means that even if the company goes bankrupt you can go somewhere else with this name.

-Rather than waiting for the company to go bankrupt it's better for us to just buy it now.

This means that it is beneficial to everyone.

"…then?"

"yes."

I grinned.

"It's okay if you don't file a lawsuit."

"…!"

"Oh!"

"Then I can leave amicably without renewing my contract!"

"Okay～ It's the best!"

Now everyone is starting to give high fives without context saying that all they need is company.

Sun Ah-hyun quietly raised her hand.

“But then… the other group members are still with this company…?
“What if I can’t file a lawsuit?”

“…!”

I chuckled.

And then I remembered. Gold 2 was so anxious that he was going to bite his fingernails throughout the whole process even though he was shouting that he wanted to go with a lot of energy.

-Brother will you save us?? How dare you just leave Testa like this…??ㅠㅠ

“no.”

They said they would let us escape but that was a fraud.

“It will progress gradually.”

The great escape story of the agency.

Now all that remains is to wait.

Chapter 456

“Minha!”

“…Uh uh Harin.”

Mirinae’s Park Min-ha has been living in a state where she feels like her soul is about to pass out.

Due to the chaos at work the group’s schedule was disrupted and everyone was spending more time at the dorm so each member was trying to shake off their anxiety by focusing on their hobbies or practicing.

But Park Min-ha is the only one who behaves like that.

‘Am I too stressed?’

Once again the weight of the leader… Mirinae Seong Ha-rin crossed her arms seriously.

At that time Park Min-ha suddenly spoke up.

“Harin if we could go to another company would we?”

“…?!”

“Oh no. “Pretend you didn’t hear it.”

If there’s anyone who can pretend they didn’t hear that they’re probably not an idol!

‘Another company? ‘Other companies?’

Did you get any signal?

Seong Harin also knew. That the company is in turmoil.

However it is nearly impossible to break away from an entertainment company that still has time left on the contract.

So if something realistic happens during that time… no way!

“Are we going to the Testa label??”

“Shh shh!”

Park Min-ha was shocked.

Then he quickly turns his head left and right as if someone is listening then hastily puts his hand to his mouth.

“Is it true?”

“No no that’s not it!”

But I hesitated and added it.

“…I think there is a possibility.”

what!

Park Min-ha was never a member who would talk nonsense and brag.

If that’s the case then this sound is coming out because I really heard something.

At that moment a forgotten doubt struck Seong Harin’s mind. The two were having a particularly meaningful conversation.

“…”

Perhaps Minha’s source of information…

“No way… senior Park Moon-dae told you?”

“…?!”

Park Min-ha stiffened.

At the reaction that seemed to have hit the nail on the head Seong Ha-rin’s buried doubts began to creep up again.

‘The two of you dating… ’

“Harin aren’t there secretly rumors that we are close? “It’s a scary situation where such stories are spread among company officials other idols and possibly even fans…”

I guess not.

“Oh no! “I guessed it!”

“after.”

Park Min-ha let out a long sigh.

And then he sat down on the chair with an expression as if he had been burned white.

“Your guess is correct…”

“…huh.”

It seems so.

But I decided not to think about that last doubt again.

‘That’s right there’s no way a kid like Minha who is serious about becoming an idol would already be showing off!’

In that case it means that you exchanged words with Park Moon-dae in a completely business-like manner.

“So what’s going on?”

“…Please wait a moment.”

Park Min-ha was looking at her smartphone with an expression full of admiration.

“…?”

Seong Ha-rin asked a question about a situation she could not understand but Park Min-ha did not give any further answers.

And a few days later I received a cautious call from the company.

The news is that the group will be able to own the group name not the company!

“Why are you doing this?”

“You’re probably trying to change the mood right? Something like image making?”

“aha.”

The members shared such words but anyway being able to buy the group name was a very attractive proposition!

Even if the company changes you can keep the group name!

‘oh my god.’

Harin covered her mouth and soon realized the reality.

‘…the settlement isn’t so big that we can easily buy this.’

wait for a sec.

Then under the pretext of passing this on aren't they going to rob us further by pretending to be generous and deducting it from the settlement by attaching it to us as debt?

If you're just running a one-pot business with no intention of keeping the group going for a long time anyway wouldn't it be a good idea to have the group's trademark rights?

'Aren't you doing this because you have no intention of raising Mirinae for a long time?'

However the company set a more conscientious price than expected.

"…?"

Of course the unit was over a billion but it wasn't a crazy unit like a few tens of billion.

"I really want to buy it! huh!"

"If Minha is like that then I'm good!"

And thanks to Park Min-ha's proactive initiative and Yul-gi's clear words the members readily pooled their money and bought the trademark rights under their joint name.

"What about other groups?"

"It felt like a living atmosphere."

Do it. There is no way to miss this opportunity except for the rookies from the survival show <Be My Girls> which was caught up in controversy and was on the verge of sinking.

…Although it was a shame for the company to sell it and then play the media as if it had just been handed over to them the atmosphere was good anyway.

People responded well saying 'We are going on a completely different trajectory from the T1 used as an artist consumable' so it was bittersweet but it was a good thing in the long run.

'There are a few years left until the contract is renewed.'

At the time of Testa the period was 5 years but after the <Azusa> season became a huge hit it was extended to 7 years.

'good. The next album will be a big hit! 'It's okay to go under the Testa label!'

Seong Ha-rin decided to think as positively as possible!

…until this article appeared.

[Will Testa's contract be renewed… Where will the KPOP star's next home be?]

"…"

Testa is not renewing his contract.

'Oh no.'

It looks like the Testa label will be disbanded?!

'Escape these people!'

They are running away among themselves!

So what exactly did Park Min-ha say? Seong Ha-rin turned her head from the WeTube screen and looked at Park Min-ha as if her head was going to break…

"Minhayam?"

"Heh heh… heh heh."

Park Min-ha was laughing helplessly while looking at the WeTube screen.

He didn't look surprised.

It just felt like an irreversible decision had been made. It's like buying an incredibly expensive item with a 24-month installment plan.

"…??"

Park Min-ha was looking back on her past choices while letting Jeong Yul-gi prod her.

'This… I guess this is correct right??'

Since I have never gone astray before I definitely had to go this time without being discouraged.

'Please!'

Park Min-ha held up her smartphone fluttering like a balloon doll for a private practice.

* * *

Jiyiing.

-Miri Nae Park Min-ha: I heard that your contract will not be renewed… Congratulations on moving to a new place.

okay. The time has come for the article to appear.

I replied to the message deleting all the contacts I received from here and there.

-thank you

Of course this guy probably wasn't really sent to congratulate him.

‘I’m just trying to figure it out.’

I added the following:

-You don’t have to worry it’s okay.

The reply came back a few tens of seconds later.

– Mirinae Park Min-ha: Yes…

– Mirinae Park Min-ha: Of course. You also invited me to the group chat room but I trust you.

Wow.

If you have any chance I can set up a group chat room too so don’t backstab me.

‘It’s gotten faster.’

I smiled and said ‘I understand’ and turned off my smartphone.

And I wasn’t the only one looking at the contact.

“Wow the contact is scary.”

“Uhm that’s right…”

Contacts about the article are pouring into our members from all over.

And I reflected on the news I heard yesterday.

‘The general manager quit.’

Without missing the timing he jumped out.

In addition it has been reported in the news that Testa has not renewed his contract.

Of course this is not an article published by the company.

‘We reported it.’

Of course I didn’t do it myself but it was passed on to the relevant person as if I had made a mistake but whatever.

1. Stop loss at T1.

2. The general manager’s loss.

3. Testa’s stop loss.

In the end this company saw these crazy stop losses one by one in an unexpected timing and within a short period of time.

This is the moment when the company is most shaken.

“Are we moving on to the next plan now?”

That’s right.

I turned my head and looked at the person in charge.

The guy with the most trustworthy and stable image in this group.

“Please take care of me brother.”

“I have to be nice to you brother.”

Liu Chengwu who had already finished preparing left the dormitory with a smile.

The destination was the company conference room.

However not to T1 Stars but to the conference room of its affiliated label Testa Label.

* * *

‘after… ’

Kwon Hee-seung an idol who is still nicknamed ‘Gold 2’ by Park Moon-dae was looking into the past history of the group chat room.

It was a group chat room created by Park Moon-dae for ‘escape from the company’.

‘I thought you would help me if I brought up the wish ticket.’

Isn’t this kind of company problem too difficult? So Kwon Hee-seung planned to use the wish ticket he received when he was dragged into that strange virtual world and suffered a lot.

However without even going that far Park Moon-dae reached out first.

However there was a condition.

-Stay still no matter what happens.

This is it.

That’s why Kwon Hee-seung also stayed calm even when the board of directors was arrested the trademark rights were sold the head of the company was put out and Testa was taken out.

‘You must be thinking about the big picture.’

Although Park Moon-dae’s attitude was a bit extreme he knew. Park Moon-dae was clearly the type of person with loyalty and affection!

…I felt a bit heartbroken that Testa actually left without renewing his contract.

‘are you okay. ‘It won’t be a loss!’

But the next news no matter how positive it was really made my heart drop.

“Hey all the people at that crazy label have quit.”

“…!? “Huh?”

“That Testa label Orbit? “People there are quitting their jobs!”

oh my god.

And through word of mouth Kwon Hee-seung soon found out that it was not an exaggerated rumor and that almost all of the employees had indeed resigned.

Naturally there was an uproar in the existing company as well.

-Isn’t this normal?

-Oh I wonder if something will happen again…?

Slowly people who were able to change jobs began to leave the company as if it were a relay race.

The company which had already lost almost all of its superiors and was unable to function properly due to a major incident in which almost half of the company’s employees deserted seemed completely paralyzed.

“…”

Kwon Hee-seung became even more anxious but decided to trust Park Moon-dae.

Since a celebrity who isn’t in the top tier isn’t going to do anything anyway it’s good for your mental health to think positively!

Of course I sent KakaoTalk.

-Hyung… the people at the company are disappearing.

-And where are you going Testa?

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠHyung?

The reply came almost immediately.

-No evaporation

-Wait a little longer.

"…?"

And that very evening a brilliant article appeared on the main entertainment news page.

[Testa's extraordinary loyalty… It wasn't a new nest the agency of the "label CEO"]

[Testa signed a contract with a new agency… It turns out that the "CEO" left the company]

"…!"

That's right.

Testa did not explicitly establish his own agency.

However I did not go to my existing agency.

Instead their label CEO left the company and they moved to a newly established agency.

At that moment Heeseung Kwon realized.

'…Could it be that all the label employees left the company?'

That's right.

While Park Moon-dae was in charge of the headquarters Ryu Cheong-woo was in charge of the label people and boiled them.

In the midst of the company's bleak outlook and the anxiety that I would have to 'let go'…it stimulated a kind of crowd psychology.

-We really… If we could work with the people here I think we would consider renewing our contract again.

The label representative was willing to take the lead.

And when they heard that Testa was following most of the label employees looked around and jumped out of the sinking ship.

So in the end this situation came to be.

You can't be independent with a label.

However it disappeared as if scattered and was reorganized to become a new agency!

'Awesome so you said it wasn't evaporation.'

Kwon Hee-seung was impressed but soon realized his situation.

'Wait a minute but what happens to us?'

spacer.

Are we… really going to be abandoned like this…?

-brother??

-Brotherㅠㅠ??

The reply came again quickly.

-Just a little more

‘How much more?!’

Kwon Hee-seung wanted to cry so he sent a KakaoTalk message.

After sending it I was a little worried that he might look angry but Park Moon-dae was not angry.

I just replied like this.

-Until people are more anxious than you

* * *

“…uh?”

And after some time.

I heard news I couldn’t have imagined.

“The company… was merged.”

“…??”

“Testa’s new agency bought T1 Stars…”

yes??

Kwon Hee-seung almost dropped his smartphone when he heard the manager’s words.

Then I had just arrived and found Park Moon-dae’s hot KakaoTalk message.

-I think it’s possible to cancel your contract.

-Shall we solve it now?

“…”

‘oh my god.’

After heightening the sentiment that this company would fail as much as possible.

By lowering the market value and future prospects as much as possible.

At the most friendly times and at the lowest prices.

Testa’s new agency swallowed up T1 Stars.

“…”

This is why… I told you to stay still.

Kwon Hee-seung realized this reflexively.

If you show that you have something you believe in or come out actively… this atmosphere may be disturbed so I ordered you to ‘stay still’.

‘and.’

Really… it was awesome.

It was an escape from the company I could never have imagined.

Chapter 457

Testa escapes from T1 Stars.

And signed a contract with a new company created by a retired label CEO!

The group name is preserved!

Of course fans loved it. This is because it was the ending of the contract renewal season which felt like the best scenario chosen after looking at about a thousand future possibilities.

Even though T1 Stars is no longer a subsidiary of T1 doesn't that mean the bullshit that has been going on so far will disappear?

It was a dream situation where I could part ways with the agency I was sick of while keeping the label's working staff intact.

-Mimi Crazy Testa's new agency

-It's like some kind of movie story. Does this work? ㅠㅠㅠ

Testa's new agency was registered under the name 'Stars Orbit' taking its name from the existing label.

But most people just called it Orbit.

-I feel bad because when I think of Stars I think of T1 Stars——

-Ah I'm so glad things are only changing for the better.

-I'm so relieved. If the original label staff sticks with most of the staff the album quality won't drop right?

The fandom seemed like it was going to be a festival but the problem was the media play that T1 Stars did just before.

[The sincerity of the independent T1 Stars is “giving the name back to the artist”]

Transfer of trademark rights from a conglomerate to an independent artist.

This is because it was as if Testa poured cold water on the agency just when it was making up its mind to launch a new company as a ‘good company.’

-Repaying grace with enemies haha Wow.

-They ate it up as soon as the group name was released. It was really too much opportunists.

-People at the existing agency must be really devastated.

-I heard from my manager that this was the final blow and that the company was on the verge of going out of business. He is leaving the company so if things continue like this other groups’ activities will be suspended indefinitely… ㅠㅠ

Aggroists worked hard to incite people who had only heard about the story through articles.

They worked hard to emphasize how decisive a blow Testa was to this company.

He even captured the despairing posts of T1 Stars employees posted on an anonymous office worker community.

And when Mirinae and Spacer’s fans started reacting to the aggro out of anxiety and nervousness it almost became a mess.

Until I heard this news a while later… that’s how it was.

-Testa Label purchased T1 Stars

-??????

It was a development no one expected.

-What are you talking about?

It's literally… Orbit Entertainment bought T1 Stars hahaha.

Crazy hahahahahahahahaha

What is happening?

["Testa agency" Stars Orbit Entertainment's first unconventional move is to pursue the merger and acquisition of T1 Stars]

As soon as the article was published communities and social media sites were turned upside down.

But no one knew how to react. It was surprising and funny but it was because I had no idea what was going on.

-Why do I live?

-Is this a good thing? Should we celebrate?

-Where are the people who said Testa ruined T1 Stars? They saved their lives haha.

-Loyalty is crazy? Hahahahaha

-I had no choice but to click because it was aggro. What's going on with Orbit's company theme? Haha.

Anyway Mirinae and Spacer's fans finally put their minds at ease.

Testa fans were a little confused as they didn't know what benefit this had but they were more relieved and relieved that the aggro was gone for now.

It seemed like a funny happy ending.

However there were also people who had this question.

‘wait for a sec. If all the employees at my previous agency were the same and the artists at my agency were the same… ’

-?? So what is the difference between this and the original T1 Stars?

Although I was swept away by the unprecedented situation it was a crucial question.

* * *

A new start. New company.

Testa is now sitting in a new conference room discussing things.

I decided not to use the T1 Stars building. I wanted to draw a line like that.

However since T1 absorbed the lost subsidiary intact from their perspective it would be no different from the same people just changing the name.

“We… he’s just standing there with T1 right? Like with T1 Stars?”

“okay.”

I nodded.

‘The situation that T1 lost is still the same.’

At first glance it might seem that only raw money was spent and that the situation had not changed.

But still.

“But now we can respond however we want.”

This is different.

Now we have the power to decide.

This is because this company is an unlisted company and we own a significant amount of its stock.

‘Now you don’t have to waste your energy trying to persuade your superiors.’

“Wooooow!!”

Cha Yu-jin whistled.

Say goodbye to your boss troll forever.

And because they knew that they had a cool expression on their faces. Bae Se-jin almost seemed to cry.

“…Everyone worked really hard. I… I didn’t know something like this was possible before. But I’m really glad that it worked out… It’s good.”

“Brother Sejin…”

Liu Chengwu also smiled and agreed.

“really. “It’s our company so it’s a bit awkward and strange but it’s good.”

“Is that really true? Okay let’s do our best for the next 5 or 10 years.”

“Yes I think I need to become more responsible! i look forward to!”

“Yeah!”

The atmosphere was passionate because everything went as planned. I nodded.

I have a good sense of ownership to do well in my activities and take care of the company well.

…Of course no matter how much the price of T1 Stars fell we did not have the financial power to acquire it in such a short period of time.

Anyway since the T1 strap ran out I had to take a different line.

I thought about the message he left on my smartphone.

To be exact the reply I received when I contacted him first.

-VTIC Senior Application: I contacted you.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: As expected.

What does ‘as expected’ mean?

Of course I had no intention of signing with LeTi until the end.

But there’s no reason why you can’t use LeTi if you can and are friendly with it.

So… everything else was left out and only money transactions were made.

-Senior do you have any plans to just get a return on investment from your agency without having to go through the trouble of creating a label?

In other words LeTi invested a considerable amount of money into the launch of this company.

Of course it didn’t exceed half. The exercise of majority voting rights must be prevented.

However it means that it has now become the same line as LeTi.

'It is easy to use the platform that is friendly to LeTi but it is a bit difficult to refuse LeTi requests.'

This line is good. Cheongryeo's side would also think that it would be advantageous for them to accurately monitor the movements of their competitors and if necessary to interfere a little.

Of course he was trying to accumulate debt.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I think the junior unilaterally received my help in this case.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: What do you think?

I thought so.

-yes. Then instead I will give you some good information about other VTIC seniors.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Hmm?

-Senior Joo Dan is doing well in the military. He asked me how my senior was doing.

After that there was no KakaoTalk history. Because he called me and I burst into laughter.

'What happened?'

Wouldn't it be better to make a joke through KakaoTalk records than to say that a person who stands to gain a lot by looking into this company's finances and schedule is unilaterally pretending to help?

I opened my smartphone and flipped through the records of my conversation with him. Then messages from other guys who arrived just before appear as well.

‘hmm.’

The other group members of T1 Stars who even dug into the group chat room to help him escape.

I told them I could cancel the contract now… and I got this reply.

– Haha brother what are you saying?

-Didn’t we escape together? Aing Spacer please take care of yourselves in the future!!

-(Tearling emoticon)

This is spacer Kwon Hee-seung so Gold 2.

-If it is okay with you we would like to do our best as is!

-And since Stars Orbit is a new agency I think we signed a new contract. (Salute emoticon)

This is Mirinae Park Min.

“…hmm.”

I crossed my arms.

‘Actually… I expected Mirinae’s side to stay.’

<Be My Girls> is not able to promote properly due to the controversy anyway so there are no female idols within this agency who can compete for the position.

And I thought I wouldn’t kick this situation where the staff I originally got along with were still there.

But the spacer… is it okay? I have no intention of giving in if my activity schedule overlaps with that of Testa.

I looked at my smartphone and briefly anticipated the public opinion loss I would see in that situation.

-When are you so greedy about Testa that you make a comeback? Did you eat T1 Stars to do this? Haha

-I'm tired of the favoritism of the company. Really Juju is eating it all up. I wonder if anyone is from Azusa haha. It's my bastard's fault for being dragged around because there is still time left on the contract. Of course~~

"…"

Should we coordinate well so that we don't lose out to each other?

'If it's already like this should we reorganize the spacer positioning… '

It is a route that does not overlap with Testa.

I pressed my eyebrows at the situation that suddenly made me think about other group positions.

"What's wrong with Mundaemundae? "What's going on?"

"no. It's not like that… Other groups say they want to stay."

"…!"

"Didn't they want to leave?"

I explained the situation appropriately.

Then most of them nodded their heads calmly. Even though it was a company that was sinking anyway they were reluctant to let it sink so they agreed to save it.

“okay. “It would be nice if we went together.”

“Since your employees are still there… I think I would have been the same.”

To sum it up it’s ‘Oh I see.’

However Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

He didn’t seem to like it very much but since he had already acquired the company he didn’t seem to want to create a variable that interfered with other groups’ contracts so he didn’t object.

However I did say this.

“I know. “You can just do what you normally do. Just like you do.”

This means that if you cross the line and covet our manpower we will kick you out.

‘Are you coming?’

It’s sorted.

I left a reply to Kwon Hee-seung and Park Min-ha saying ‘Then I guess I’ll stay.’

And just like that the complicated story of the company and others has come to an end.

“Thank you for your hard work!”

“Thank you for your hard work~”

The headache-inducing story passed and the members smiled in a comfortable atmosphere.

And the topic I originally wanted to talk about finally comes out.

“Then… let’s quickly prepare our new album!”

That’s right.

These people who are thirsty for activity are indifferent to the environment and only want to make an album.

“That’s a really good idea!”

“We only did a little bit of activity! Let’s make it quickly this time and do more quickly!”

“…We’re moving to our dorm for a moment… Uhm I don’t know. That’s right! Let’s work hard!”

“Oooh!”

Bae Se-jin who was about to hit the break joined in and the conference room was in chaos.

me?

“I think it would be better to pick a song right away.”

“Hey Mundae~”

“I’ll contact the AR team!”

I picked ‘Magical Boy’ in a month from scratch so what was it?

‘What can’t I do here?’

Just do it.

Not enough money? If anything goes wrong all I have to do is spend all of my remaining settlement money. I can handle one or two albums.

‘…Of course it’s not like there aren’t some things that bother me.’

We’ll check that out later so let’s leave it at that for now.

Instead of wasting my time I smiled and looked around the conference room.

It was then.

Jiying-

There was a reply to the KakaoTalk message I sent earlier.

‘Kwon Hee-seung.’

-Of course! Of course! Please treat us as a family brother!

I thought you would come like that.

However the next KakaoTalk message was a bit surprising.

-Ahh I’m going to use that wish ticket now! Hahaha

-Brother please help our company grow well! So please take us with you! Oh I believe it!

-(Heart emoticon)

‘I am indeed.’

Even if you don’t use the ticket I’ve already invested so much money that this company will most likely go out of business.

I grinned and typed a reply ‘That’s it.’

It was then.

[Check the owner of the ‘■■■ fragment’!]

[Register ＜Wish＞]

…a status window appears.

I stood up reflexively.

“Mundae?”

“…Catch him now!”

A pop-up follows.

[Use ‘Item: ■■■ (ver. Beta)’]

“…!”

no.

‘That’s a fucking system.’

It felt like my hair would turn completely white. Meanwhile I instinctively connected the pop-up with what Kwon Hee-seung had just said.

‘Right to wish.’

…The system tries to grant wishes. then.

‘Could it be to Kwon Hee-seung?’

no.

It’s an item that belongs to me so why is it being used arbitrarily?

“cancellation!”

However as soon as I shouted the pop-up had already changed the text.

as soon as…

[Searching for target…]

[Target: Stars Orbit Ent (Stars Orbit Entertainment)]

uh?

[Company Name: Stars Orbit]

Awareness: C+

Grade: (-)

Revenue: (-)

Owned artists: Testa (★★★★★) Mirinae (★★★★) Spacer (★★★)
…

Overall rating: D+

A pop-up appears as if loitering above it.

…Carefree.

[‘Item: ■■■ (ver. Beta)’

Do you want to cancel use?]

“…”

What is it?

Chapter 458

[…The system was introduced into your company!?]

[?? But you can cancel it??]

huh.

I looked at the company's status window again seeing the big moon pop up in shock as if vomiting blood.

It's sorted from recognition to the artists it owns and even gives an overall review of the company. It's just like a demo version of a game run by a company.

'What are you saying?'

I clicked it just in case.

[※This function is not yet available.]

Reason: Before starting the mission

"…"

What function does it provide?

But they say they can't show it yet because they haven't started that damn 'mission'.

'Maybe… it's because of this pop-up.'

['Item: ■■■ (ver. Beta)'

Do you want to cancel use?]

I guess I have to say that I won't cancel this for it to go ahead officially.

[Whew I guess it's an item so you can do whatever you want… Ugh I'm glad…]

okay. I can choose this.

[Uh… But why aren't you canceling it right away and are you thinking about it?]

that…

'Gold… No it seems like Kwon Hee-seung has a system fragment.'

[!!]

A pop-up that said something like 'Confirm owner of shard of ■■■' appeared. This happened the moment Kwon Hee-seung said his wish.

[Ahh the system moved in response to that! Because Heeseung has the fragment!]

So that is.

'I don't know if I have to do this to get that thing away from him.'

Reacting means showing movement so if you use it a method may come out.

No matter how much you think about it it is dangerous to deal with a mission failure penalty that suddenly pops up like a guy without a status window slams his head into the ground.

And regardless of whether Gold 2 becomes

'…and one more thing.'

If Kwon Hee-seung is one of the remaining fragments of the system

the pattern becomes virtually obvious.

There are a total of 4 fragments.

And if what has been revealed so far is that I am Kwon Hee-seung the next one has a high probability…

'…I guess I'll try it.'

This is the line of people with experience dealing with this damn system.

'If anything happens should I ask him to at least tell me his wish?'

I need to get my words right.

But for now I shook my head and returned to the immediate topic.

So what to do with this system?

If I were to just unilaterally cover the failure of Gold 2's mission I'm sorry but it was an excessive loss.

It's a wishful thinking and it seems like it would have been realistically cut off…

"To be honest."

[…as it were?]

I rubbed my chin.

"I think it will benefit me."

[?!]

Think about it.

Check the attribute draw level up status window. How well I used the system sucking it to its core.

The problem was that they suddenly told me to become an idol using someone else's body but if I failed I would break down.

'Actually this is a cheat key.'

[brother?]

But now look.

Growing a company? It is consistent with my purpose.

Failure penalty? Anyway if you don't grow your company properly it's likely to fail.

Moreover in my experience so far the penalty for missions rather than status ailments was weak. If I don't debut it won't be at the same level as it was.

and…

"No matter how much I think about it I don't think I'll fail."

It's just one mission.

[Huh?]

Well okay. decided.

I thought it would be a bit difficult to figure out when this new company could be raised to the level of Testa.

I nodded.

When considering everything there is no need to take shortcuts.

Still should I just check one last time?

I asked Big Moon.

‘Does this look dangerous to you?’

[…This item doesn’t feel threatening but this situation is just scary! It’s so scary!]

[I feel like my brother is sacrificing himself for Heeseung?!]

That’s enough. It’s because of my mood.

[!?]

‘The system is now my item?’

good. I’ll put it to good use since I collected the fragments while escaping from the collapsing building and going through all the hardships of changing bodies.

I immediately brought up the pop-up again.

[‘Item: ■■■ (ver. Beta)’

Do you want to cancel use?]

‘no.’

That moment.

Holographic fireworks exploded.

Light burst out beyond the pop-up where the large moon exclaimed.

[‘Item: ■■■ (ver. Beta)’ confirmed to be used!]

-‘■■■’ is now for company use!

A translucent hologram begins to take shape.

A border is created and color is added…

The finished product looks like a fairly decent mobile game window.

At the end of the scene that seems to be evolving a flashing pop-up appears at the top.

[Create mission (NEW!)]

Mission: ＜Stars Orbit Entertainment＞ Achieve B-grade

-Let's raise the target's level to retrieve 'Fragments of ■■■'.

hmm?

The moment I wondered what raising the company's rating had to do with absorbing debris a help message appeared at the bottom.

[Tips: As ＜Stars Orbit Entertainment＞'s level increases the owner's control becomes stronger.]

[Try to dominate the 'Fragments of □□□ with strong control!]

oh.

So… I used the system for the company so the more the company grows the more control I have over the system. Is it possible to bring other fragments like that?

Heeseung Kwon's 'wish' and my purpose were well mixed. It's okay.

but…

[Remaining period: D-100]

-In case of failure ■■■ loss of ownership

“…”

I have no conscience for once.

I don’t like the penalty for failure because the explanation is vague. I don’t know exactly what’s going on.

[then!! Try canceling it now bro!]

What should I try?

[※Cancellation is not possible during a mission!]

‘They say so.’

[Ughhhhh…]

I left the Big Moon pop-up alone and now brought up the status window.

[Company Name: Stars Orbit]

Awareness: C+

Grade: (-)

Revenue: (-)

Owned artists: Testa (★★★★★) Mirinae (★★★★) Spacer (★★★)
…

Overall rating: D+

Now it clicks.

The click was… <View Details>.

[Detailed overall review: A new agency with promising artists! But there is no result yet…

Let's make money through artist activities!]

['Function: Album' unlocked!]

['Function: Postponement' disabled!]

['Function: Entertainment' unlocked!]

The hologram exploded and new buttons flashed.

'It's a mess.'

There seems to be quite a lot that can be checked.

I chuckled and looked through the list.

'Acting and entertainment came first.'

Anyway there is one thing that is most urgent right now.

'Official album promotion.'

If it is a standard group activity period everyone should push for what comes to mind that is universally applicable.

'You have to hit the first stroke properly.'

You need to make a quick and accurate comeback and make a strong survival report.

And when it comes to priorities for growing a company… the most impactful group should be recognized first. Who could it be?

'Of course it's Testa.'

Starting from the 1st team.

I said shrugging my shoulders.

“With album function.”

The window changed immediately. It is a neat input window.

[album]

Manpower: (-)

Capital: (-) period : (-)

*Start production ← Click!

[Tips: The higher the star rating the higher the chance of good effects during production!]

What is this again?

‘Does it automatically create an album?’

I wouldn’t say that because it would really be a scam but it would be a huge benefit if they at least subsidized it.

I first clicked on the People tab. Then the company employees came out all the time.

In card form.

“…!”

[Kim Na-jin (★★★) – AR Team]

[Kim Seo-won (★★★★) – AR Team]

[Na Se-joong (★★★★) – AR Team]

[Jinwoong Park (★★)- AR Team]

…

It's spectacular.

It seems that if you click on the card you can check the genres with strong and weak speed characteristics but I skipped it for now and looked for the advanced level.

But there wasn't much. Of course there was a lot of people in the AR team but there weren't that many people in the AR team to begin with.

'Well if you're really talented there's a high chance that you'll be working in a separate team.'

Because that will make more money.

There was a 'Request External Workforce' button at the bottom so click that…

Oh that one.

[Kim Rae-bin (★★★★★) – Testa]

"…"

'I will take Kim Rae-bin with me forever.'

This guy was a guy I wouldn't have regretted feeding him for six meals.

In any case the human capital period was set appropriately.

Of course this is for demonstration purposes only.

'Anyway even if I make a trial album it's okay if I don't release it.'

In addition the overall UI of this system is so shaky that it's almost impossible to ask 'Are you sure you want to start?' I think the same confirmation button will pop up.

So that was the moment I clicked 'Start Production'.

Beep beep!

The button popped and a pop-up appeared.

"…?"

[※This function is not yet available.]

Reason: Insufficient company control level

-Current dominance: C

"…"

What else?

'And how do you increase it?'

A friendly pop-up appeared again.

[Investment remaining until dominance (B) is achieved: 10000000000]

I almost rubbed my eyes.

I read the units again.

But even after reading it again it didn't change.

'10 billion.'

"…"

This kid thinks 10 billion is his dog's name…

[Should I add Jejeje brother??]

Are you crazy?

I looked at the status window in vain.

It was then.

Ji-e-ing-

"…"

Kwon Hee-seung received a KakaoTalk message.

-older brother!

-Oh my that wish right… Should I cancel it? ㅠㅠ Did I go too far!?

"…"

It's late.

* * *

[Tip: 'Company control' refers to direct influence over the company. The higher your Dominance level the more features you unlock.

[You can increase your rank in many ways but the fastest way is through investment!]

And he is a crazy money-eating hippopotamus who demands 10 billion to raise from C to B.

'Fuck… '

I stumbled out of the bathroom.

That's right. I was doing all of this alone locked in the bathroom.

"Is it resolved?"

"Okay."

Just now in the conference room I looked into the air and called for cancellation.

But when the actual cancellation message came up I sat down on the road with a helpless look on my face.

-…?

Naturally the members seemed to have realized that it was not a disaster situation and left the place quite calmly.

I was standing guard in front of the bathroom.

"What happened?"

I thought I had received the company's rapid growth package but a more vicious inducement was waiting for me. I guess you can summarize it like that.

I held back a sigh and said this.

"Does this company need 10 billion more right now?"

"…??"

"No um… for now. "I got something that could be helpful to our activities."

I roughly explained the system applied to this company. The conversation flowed between those who were curious and those who were wary but in the end they agreed when I said 'You can probably use it.'

However after this conversation Sun Ah-hyun suddenly grabbed my arm with a determined look on her face.

“It’s radish. “I’m talking about that 100…”

uh.

“If you need money I can give it to you…!”

“Thank you but that wasn’t what I was talking about.”

Don’t forget that the amount you and I both receive is similar in the first place.

But as if it was just something out of the blue people started talking about it.

“So… does this company need that much more money?”

“That’s what I asked.”

“ah! “That’s right.”

Bae Se-jin’s face brightened. And the other guys tilted their heads and whispered.

“I don’t think it’s necessary.”

“Our company has a lot of money. “I saw that number.”

“Hmm~ Did you spend a lot when you bought T1 Stars? “No we bought it because our doors were almost knocked out.”

also. It seems like there’s really no need for it.

“But why are you curious about that?”

“…If you put in 10 billion won the company will run better.”

"…??"

A rare question mark appeared on Keun Se-jin's face meaning 'What nonsense?' I don't know how to explain this current situation. I refrained from falling asleep.

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

"That's a scammer!"

no. That's not it.

"I'm not saying I'm a fraud I'm saying I'm going to invest in the company."

…for a moment.

I realized as I spoke.

'yes.'

It's not about putting 10 billion won into the system it's about investing it in the company.

Then… 10 billion won't evaporate anyway.

'I guess I can make it spit out as much as I invested.'

If the album comes out well and the tour goes well.

It could be called something more than that.

My head became clear.

"…Anyway I was thinking about whether to invest in our company or not so it's okay not to worry."

I chuckled.

“I think if we do well we can increase in size several times.”

“OK!”

The conversation ended so refreshingly.

…But if I put in 10 billion won I’m scraping up almost all of my remaining money.

‘That’s a bit much.’

It was then.

Raebin Kim approached cautiously and whispered.

“brother. “If there’s an emergency I’ll be flexible…!”

“…Uh thank you.”

I guess I was so worried that I didn’t hear the investment story.

He’s probably the richest guy here but for some reason if I get paid by this guy I feel like I’m being betrayed.

‘Anyway… it’s reassuring.’

Even if something happens I will eat and survive.

I eventually made a choice.

‘let’s go.’

Let’s do it since we can get it back.

10 billion investment.

“hello. “Yes I have something to tell you so I’m calling…”

…

And right after the discussion with the company was over.

A pop-up really did appear.

[Investment remaining until dominance (B) is achieved:]

[Dominance promotion!]

‘after.’

10 billion was spent.

‘I feel like I’m going to break out in a cold sweat.’

I unconsciously pressed my eyebrows.

But… that wasn’t the end of the pop-up.

[Dominance (C) → Dominance (B)]

-Reward: Hint Ticket (x5)

hmm?

[Help: ‘Hints’ are various types of information that can help the company grow or help the company in times of crisis.

Get great hints with hint tickets and secure high-quality manpower and capital time!]

Chapter 459

When 10 billion won was given to the company the system spit out something.

‘5 hint tickets.’

And a ‘hint’ is information that is helpful to the company.

‘Then I guess I have no choice but to spit out information that will be helpful to Testa activities right now.’

Now the company’s rise and fall depends on Testa’s next successful comeback.

I was interested.

“hmm.”

I naturally sat down and clicked on the hint ticket.

Then the hologram changes and a picture of a gray machine appears. It was a familiar shape.

Roulette machine.

[※Do you want to use the hint ticket?]

‘okay.’

I remember the time when I drew a trait before.

I watched the roulette wheel with some nostalgia.

[You miss me…?]

uh. Since I didn't die it became a memory.

[…]

Why are you freaking out when you are the one who implemented roulette with the status window?

Anyway the roulette machine which has a mixture of iron and brass colored sections sporadically turns with silver sections showing…

[Used]

-Get hints!

"…!"

Exquisitely it stopped at a silver color.

It means that it is the best grade that can be taken right now.

'Class C.'

Let's see the 'I heard it and it's true' trait was at that level. I used it quite a bit until after my debut.

Then how much useful information do you have…

[Escape from subsidiary (C)]

-It is said that there has been a series of mass resignations of employees at T1 Ent's subsidiaries due to some kind of recent incident.

"…"

That's what I did.

'Where is this fraud going?'

Since when is something that reminds you of a story you already know called a hint?

Where did you find this information?

Is this really ‘I didn’t say I would only give you information you don’t know’?

‘This fraudster… ’

Eat 10 billion won and spit out something like this?

[Calm down! Brother’s blood pressure!]

“after.”

I took a deep breath.

‘Let’s stay calm.’

This hint ticket is a bonus anyway. I uploaded something called ‘company control’ to use the system function and they gave me a ticket as a reward.

‘Let’s just pretend it wasn’t there and use it.’

I kept playing roulette.

[Petty embezzlement (E)]

[The practice room is dangerous (D)]

[Shooting hobby (D)]

There are hints.

The level E embezzlement was 1 million units. It was really useful because I just had to stab it in the auditor’s office. The D-class practice room had a protruding piece of floor so it was okay in terms of preventing injuries.

It was at a level that could be found even through routine inspection so it was a little scary but it was bearable.

But the last one was truly unbearable.

[Shooting hobby (D)]

-The leader of Stars Orbit's representative group Testa's hobby is shooting. If we meet at a shooting range near the company maybe we can become friends?

That's a hobby I introduced to Ryu Cheng-wu bastard.

[Brother! Take a deep breath again!]

"after…"

I pressed my eyebrows.

And soon I realized the cause of this sense of disconnect.

'I'm so excited.'

The problem was that Testa was already a five-star group.

If he was really the CEO of a new company it might have been useful but from the perspective of a first-tier idol who has already tried everything he can D-grade information is meaningless.

'Is something like a roulette upgrade impossible?'

[Help: Roulette machines for hint tickets are upgraded according to company level.]

Only after the help popped up did I nod.

okay. It's in the early stages now. As your company level increases you will be able to get better hints.

'Let's just say it was a trial run.'

And without hesitation I took out every remaining hint ticket and put it into roulette.

[uh? Ticket…]

why.

[no! I thought I would save it and use it when the roulette machine is upgraded…]

What do you not know?

'If you upgrade the roulette machine they will ask you to buy a more expensive ticket just for that.'

[…]

That's what a real game is all about.

[I'm really sorry for picking on a mobile game…]

It's good to be intuitive so that's fine.

Anyway I was watching the roulette game without any expectations… Suddenly a golden four-leaf clover symbol appeared on the roulette machine.

[Lucky chance!]

"…?"

Then a colorful fanfare erupts and all the slots of the roulette turn into gold.

And then slowly the roulette stops.

[Wonder Hole's Rookie (B)]

"…!!"

It is grade B.

And… Wonderhole agency?

'It's a large agency.'

I opened the explanation right away.

[Wonder Hole's Rookie (B)]

-202X. A new male idol is finally scheduled to debut at Wonder Hall this summer.

As a large-scale project with an investment of 20 billion won over three years the new team's unconventional plan is raising expectations within the company.

Wonder Hall. It's a rookie male idol group from the agency of T Holic a national idol before VTIC.

I touched my chin.

'This… is useful.'

T-holic was a very popular male idol. Testan was almost the only one that continued that lineage of popularity.

Even now aren't they a senior idol group who are making a good living by doing their own entertainment programs?

So… a rookie with a similar line to T-Holic could be a competitor to Testa's popular position.

‘This rookie is worth checking out.’

I came to a conclusion. And I modified my impression of the hint ticket.

I think the high level would be quite useful.

What I lacked the most was the information provided by the officials but I think I can make up for it through ‘hint tickets’.

‘You can gradually expand your information by exchanging this for a base.’

Very willing.

[and! Still I’m glad…!]

okay.

I exchanged a few more words with Geoldal who seemed more at ease and then turned off the roulette window.

With this all the work I had to do on my own while chatting with Geoldal is over.

Next is album production with the function finally unlocked.

“Now let’s start.”

“Ugh okay!”

“It’s amazing and exciting!”

I gathered the members in the living room. The living room of the dorm was empty due to the move but the table was still intact.

I posted a note above it.

What are you going to do here?

‘I’m going to share the status window.’

Producing a testa album is something that must be done as a group. Since they know the situation I think they should share it to some extent with the parties involved.

But if you don’t see the status window

‘Isn’t it enough to just visualize it?’

I started copying the ‘album production’ hologram onto a piece of paper.

Crunchy.

“…”

Raebin Kim raised his hand.

“Brother is that barbed wire by any chance?”

“It’s a card.”

“…”

what.

“Hahahaha!! Haha… ugh! I won’t laugh! I won’t laugh Mr. Moon! Wow! Since the College of Liberal Arts is good at using PPT let’s put it on the TV screen! How do you feel?”

“Yes Mundae. “That would be nice.”

“…yes.”

So after the intermediate medium was replaced with a laptop work began to be carried out more easily.

“This is the list our company currently has and the details page looks like this.”

“Oooh.”

“Five stars for Rae Lavin!”

“Raebin Kim is a genius!”

“I don’t know how the stars are awarded but I think it is an undeserved honor and I will continue to work hard in the future… Wow am I bad at composing trot songs?”

“…Isn’t it obvious?”

“Rae Ravin likes trot…”

“ah.”

That’s right. Well I went through this process.

“Park Moon-dae… did you really invest 10 billion won?”

“yes.”

“…!”

“Whew! Let’s make a 10 billion won album!”

“Oh my gosh Yujin spends all the money on the door.”

“If it goes well Moon Dae-hyung you’ll make a lot of money!”

Cha Yu-jin learns the war-type meta where he wins and pays back… and the final page where he selects and fills out the cards is like this.

[album]

[Manpower: A]

-Kim Rae-bin (★★★★★) Kim Seo-won (★★★★) Park Jae-seok (★★★★) Park Won-ju (★★★)…

[Capital: S]

-5000000000

[Period: B]

-60 days

(Manpower bonus + 150%)

(Capital Bonus + 200%)

*Start production ← Click!

“Press.”

“Yes~”

And the moment I clicked the button various effects began to roll by listing like credits.

[Concept: TBC]

[External personnel: TBC]

[Manufacturer: TBD]

…

[Album prediction in progress!]

Hmm it's a prediction.

This time I wrote down the hologram on the notepad and the members nodded.

"Oh so… if this continues I'm predicting what kind of album will be released."

"And since we haven't finalized the concept yet I think there are a lot of things that are undecided."

"Okay but things like this usually cost a lot of money! "That's amazing."

And soon the hologram flashes again.

[Prediction result completed!]

Well it's finished like this…

"…??"

uh.

[Expected album grade: A~B]

B?

There is no possibility of S or EX grade and B grade may come out?

Our album?

'What kind of bullshit are you talking about?'

I don't know but I think the first album would have gotten an A- as well.

I immediately clicked and started skimming through the details.

“…”

Sure enough there was a debuff.

[※ Promotion ↓↓]

[※ Actual quality↓]

[Help: There are not enough external personnel to contact us! Let’s increase our network.]

Is it difficult to contact external personnel?

“…”

It’s strange.

This is an aspect that had no problems before.

‘And if I kept the working staff and something like this came up.’

It means that someone is interrupting the contact.

And that would be someone more powerful than an individual popular celebrity.

‘…enterprise.’

“Have the results come out?”

“How do you feel?”

“…”

I crossed my arms.

“Anyway… it looks like T1 didn’t just draw a line with us.”

"…what?"

"It seems like it was completely taken. "It seems like people don't want to work with us."

"…!"

The number of items you need to find out about right away has increased.

* * *

That evening.

Liu Chengwu said lowering his smartphone with a stern expression.

"It's true that you can't appear on Music Bomb."

I thought there wouldn't be a Tnet music show for half a year. This next thing is important.

"…There was no response at all from the T1 entertainment program."

"after."

also.

Instead of just a kite with a string falling off it became a kite that was being collected separately.

'How many affiliate entertainment shows are there and do you block them all?'

To be honest I thought I would be able to participate in entertainment shows on T1-affiliated broadcasting stations.

'It wasn't that bad.'

I slowly understood the principles of their behavior.

Now in order to attract demand for the survival program that will be newly launched on Tnet it is best to use the Spacer line of Testa Mirinae which is meeting all the demand for that system.

But they even published an article and excitedly launched a new company right? Are people responding well?

'I offended T1 by making a loud noise.'

It became a problem because public opinion was better than I expected.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to vent one's anger over the hardships one has endured due to being pressured by the political world?

T1 said 'Orbit? It is clear that he expressed his feelings to the officials by saying "I want to punish these people."

People in the business will also be cautious for a while.

'Director photographer entertainment reporter… Among famous people it is rare to find someone who has never worked with T1.'

And if you plan on taking the opportunity to work with T1 in the future you will want to be a little more careful during this period.

"Then… it must be difficult for everyone to work with us…"

"I can't help but notice. "For a while."

"…"

Oh damn.

I shook my head.

The meeting was paused for a moment and I went out to the veranda to look through the status window.

It's been a while since I quit but it reminds me of cigarettes.

Still the head rolled away.

'…I have no choice but to rely on LeTi's connections.'

Even if you fill the role of music video director and album art with that…

'No no.'

If we completely rely on that the company itself could be reduced to the level of a label under LeTi.

'I did this damn thing to avoid that.'

You shouldn't just take that line.

I suppressed a sigh and flipped through the hologram again as was my habit. I was wondering if I could extract any information.

'Information.'

It would be great if I could get some useful information for something like this with a hint ticket.

'Don't give me information you already know or give me a C grade.'

I sighed and scrolled through the status window.

[Escape from subsidiary (C)]

The article was skipped over.

"…"

But… wait a minute.

‘It’s strange when I think about it again.’

Why is this rated C?

Isn’t the grade too high to receive a vague hint that only tells you that employees have resigned from a subsidiary?

Except I know.

I re-read the article carefully once again.

-It is said that there has been a series of mass resignations of employees at T1 Ent’s subsidiaries due to some kind of recent incident.

“…!”

And then I realized. That there are expressions that I inadvertently overlooked in content I was familiar with.

‘The subsidiary we are talking about here… is not just one company.’

These are ‘subsidiaries’. It means multiple places.

And one more thing.

There is a crucial difference.

‘T1 Stars was no longer a subsidiary at that time.’

After our previous agency was cut off from T1 and became independent the label employees left the company as a group.

So… this is not our company’s story.

‘There is another company.’

T1's subsidiaries whose employees left the company as a group.

I started searching right away.

I searched for news on subsidiaries owned by T1 Ent focusing on articles and social media.

Even outside of broadcasting stations and entertainment agencies there are things like film music and home shopping studios.

and…

'game.'

I found it.

-T1 Place said that all the people at the ruined factory have quit… There will be no next work for Section 127.

└ㅠㅠㅠ

Is it okay? Looking at the interview it seemed like he was pretending to be with T-One.

A ruined factory.

The team that produced <127 Section> had left the company and started anew.

"…"

I had a hunch.

'This is it.'

I found it. External personnel to use No. 1.

Chapter 460

“omg! Hello testers!”

“hello!”

We entered through the open office door.

The ones who opened the door were the people who created <127 Section>.

It was a smaller office than when I was at T1 Place an affiliate of T1. But it was full of energy.

Enthusiastic welcomes poured in.

“I didn’t expect you to contact me like this. It’s really nice to meet you! “It seems like it’s been a long time since I last saw you…”

“Haha yes. This is my first time seeing you in person since the collaboration. Oh this is… it’s late but it’s an opening gift.”

“It’s okay… wow thank you.”

What Ryu Cheong-woo presented was a SF concept mood light brought according to the number of employees. As befits a company that is serious about this the faces of the CEOs became brighter.

‘I knew it would work.’

It was good to ignore Cha Yu-jin’s fierce opposition.

Naturally stories about past events come up.

“This reminds me of when we worked on tutorial characters together!

“It was really fun because he spoke really well and made it fun.”

“Really~? “We did that too!”

The atmosphere becomes more friendly. Well I certainly didn’t blush at the time and did my job well.

There may be a reason why the meeting took place so quickly… but there may actually be a more practical reason.

I scanned the faces of the representatives.

‘Contact management.’

Didn’t they kick T1 out with their own feet?

Even though these people have great guts it doesn’t mean that you don’t have to worry about them at all. Because we are in close contact with large corporations.

Even though T1 is not that big of a deal in the gaming world its impact on the overall cultural industry platform has been significant.

‘There must be some pressure to start over from scratch as a startup.’

However if a proven star marketer who has had great promotional results requests a meeting I will accept it.

‘I’m even curious if our situations are similar.’

It looks like our side has kicked T1 and even left the company once more. This means that there is nothing strange about being misunderstood as a ‘comrade’.

I came for that.

We chatted a few words and moved to what appeared to be a conference room and sat down. There were game posters and drawing figures everywhere.

‘There is also a <127 Section> character.’

Since there will be no copyright anymore… I guess this was done out of affection rather than boasting about the company.

I kept looking and finally saw a poster of an unfamiliar character on the wall. This is a character dressed in a train engineer’s uniform holding a bizarre flesh weapon in his hand.

‘This… ’

It was not in the portfolio of the representatives of this company. good.

“Is this a game character too?”

“Oh yes!”

“I think it looks really cool.”

“Really? “It’s Mr. Mundae’s taste!”

Raebin Kim looked at the poster with eyes full of curiosity.

“Is this a new game by any chance?”

“This is the representative image character for the new game we are currently developing. However the launch schedule is quite late…”

“When will you be there?”

“The plan is… well around the end of next year.”

It was so far away.

‘Besides you don’t talk about the exact quarters.’

This meant that development was not progressing very smoothly and tightly.

It's ambiguous.

There is talk that it may be pushed back to the next year.

'hmm.'

I smiled inwardly.

And I checked the poster carefully again.

It's a bit bizarre but has a modern feel. The quality was good so it felt like it still knew how to keep the line.

"So I think the official promotion will probably start around summer next year. "It's a story about the train to the underworld…"

The male representative seemed to think we were interested and started with the story with his eyes shining.

Wow.

'It probably means that it would be nice for Testa to promote or collaborate again at that time.'

They are definitely a bit clumsy when it comes to sales.

I looked away slightly while listening. Likewise Keun Se-jin is nodding to the CEO as if he is really interested.

But I remembered.

When the production team of <127 Section> announced to the members that they had found a newly established company called 'Ruins Industrial Complex'.

This guy's reaction.

-Wow… I found it because it was a gate really! But you don't want to do game collaboration again do you?

This means that you will be acknowledged for finding it but you should abandon any thoughts of collaboration.

Of course I also remembered my reaction to that.

-Of course not.

That's not what we need.

"Actually listening to what you said it's still a ruined factory… no the game made by the industrial complex people seems to be wonderfully unique and fun."

"…! Ah thank you."

"So I have something to tell you."

I moved on to the main topic.

The reason I came here.

"I would like to make a request. "Can you make a game for us?"

We will make a real game not a game collaboration.

"…!"

The representatives' eyes widened.

And I seemed to be checking other people's expressions to see if I was joking.

But unfortunately none of the other members were surprised.

Instead Liu Chengwu simply said this.

“Well the scenario is all ready.”

“…”

The representatives looked among themselves and then opened their mouths:

“It usually takes a very long time to develop one game. Even if there is a scenario writing the original graphic UI code and implementing it is a different story… it requires complicated steps.”

A plus is the attitude of kindly trying to explain things from a public perspective instead of an outsider yelling at you saying something crazy.

‘After all it would be nice to work together.’

I smiled on the inside and nodded seriously on the outside.

“Of course we are not shameless enough to take up a lot of time from the people in the abandoned industrial complex.”

“yes?”

“Actually I’m not talking about the type of game you were originally developing…”

I continued my explanation.

A type of game content that would not be awkward to include in the Venn diagram of the existing idol business.

That much… the volume is small and special.

‘This is definitely possible within time.’

All we have to do is roll around like dogs. All we have to do is squeeze out our workforce.

And the more they spoke the more the representatives' expressions changed.

That was definitely interesting.

"Ah~ That's…"

Well that's it.

* * *

"Thank you~"

After several explanations and meetings.

The contracts were completed smoothly.

Liu Chengwu said brightly as he sent the signed contract to the company.

"This is convenient because we have the authority."

"okay! "It's definitely true that you don't have to listen to nonsense!"

Bae Se-jin agreed and turned his head with a rare excited expression.

"This is it. Are you predicting that album again? Aren't you going to try that?"

"yes."

I guess so.

At that time a word suddenly intervened.

"Oh one before Mundaemundae! "I'm sure you've all heard this but just one more time."

Big Sejin smiled.

“We will not say things like we are directors of a company for no reason whether on broadcast or anywhere else!”

“hmm?”

“Don’t talk about why we have contract rights or anything like that just like before ‘We produce the album!’ “That’s enough!”

Um yeah.

This was important.

If you don’t want to be held accountable when the company does something stupid it’s a line that needs to be cut early.

It was even more important once we became independent. Because there is a greater risk of people equating us with this company.

How much criticism did T1 receive? There is no guarantee that Orbit will not follow in that footsteps.

…Sometimes we make choices that are criticized due to circumstances unknown to the outside world.

therefore.

‘It doesn’t matter if I don’t benefit from the image of the company director.’

The image you can have as an idol is enough.

“Ugh okay!”

“Um… okay.”

“Good~”

Some people seemed to agree with this while others didn't know if it was necessary to go that far but everyone agreed anyway.

And then after entering the company conference room.

"Hmm I'm sure you're tired too… Do you want to do your album predictions after you go to your dorm and rest…?"

"Well it's okay to do it now."

Because I'm not particularly using my stamina.

I just connected my laptop to the conference room screen and started typing the album creation hologram.

'Anyone from the company can come in here so let's cover the human resources part… '

Everything else was well filled.

[album]

[Manpower: A]

-Raebin Kim (★★★★★) Kim(★★★★) Park(★★★★) Park(★★★)…

[Capital: S]

-5000000000

[Period: B]

-60 days

(Manpower bonus + 150%)

(Capital Bonus + 200%)

*Start production ← Click!

Everything seemed almost the same.

Both manpower and period.

However there is something else after the ‘human resources part’ omitted by the ellipsis.

‘External personnel.’

I thought of the external personnel invited for the contract with this ‘Ruined Industrial Complex’.

And based on that the direction of the album project we created.

-T1 is blocking us… We won’t reveal that critical weakness at all.

…if it continues like that.

‘It will definitely make an impressive album.’

I pressed the ‘Start Production’ button.

The effects credits started rolling out.

[External personnel: Setting up]

[Plus effect occurs!]

Moreover surprisingly if you use this method companies that produce physical albums do not have to compete for first or second place in the industry like before.

‘It doesn’t matter if T1 interferes.’

[Manufacturer: Setting]

[Offset the negative effects!]

‘The concept… has also been decided.’

[Concept: Game]

[Plus effect occurs!]

It’s not just the game but it seems to be integrated into it. It doesn’t matter.

‘What’s important is that it worked.’

The letters splashed brightly.

[Plus effect]

External Workforce: A New Try

-Promotion ↑↑

Concept: Premonition of immersion

-Quality ↑

[Prediction result completed!]

I read every word without taking my eyes off it.

And finally the moment when the grade appears.

“…”

I clenched my fists.

[Expected album grade: S＋ ～ A＋]

yes.

"…Let's produce it."

* * *

A few weeks later.

It was a day when it started to get warm.

-Crazy Testa comeback!

-Huh?

-How can this happen so quickly?

The idol gossip bulletin board was agitated by the sudden news of Testa's 'album reservation notice'.

This is because less than a month had passed since Testa moved to another company.

How is this possible?

It was quickly revealed.

-Repackage.

-omg!

Repackage.

It refers to a new album that is released by adding only one or two songs from the previous album.

In fact Testa originally planned to make a new mini album or single album. This was in accordance with the argument of some members who said 'If possible let's not offend T1 any further.'

However the situation changed after T1's modification was revealed.

‘I got filmed anyway.’

Thanks to this they confidently decided to take the previous songs and concepts and write them!

But people got more excited.

I changed companies but I can bring my previous album and release it!

-That crazy company T-One Stars acquired all the copyrights right? LOL That’s awesome so it’s possible LOL.

-And Testa’s big picture…

-Orbit Loyalty Loyalty

-I’m about to cry ㅠㅠㅠ

An album with a former teen concept that was only active for two weeks and couldn’t even hold a proper concert is back!

Fans were planning to make reservations eagerly considering it was the comeback season and all.

-Please make money.

-When will it open?

And that was the same for Park Moon-dae’s first home game.

Homma grabbed the smartphone as if tearing it apart.

‘I was making money for this day… ’

She had big plans. Even if it is impossible to attend the fan signing event completely I have a desire to attend at least half of it…

However in order to become a force for the new start of the university pre-order sales for this album had to be good!

‘Ahh… I’m sure I won’t be able to attend Music Bomb.’

Light fans don’t know anything about the T1 escape or anything but she knew.

It was not a good sign for activities to be cut off from the broadcasting station or the broadcasting station from which one was born.

‘This activity is really really important!’

I’m sure a smart college student would know this but I was a little concerned that I had to show up in such a hurry… So the grades are better! It’s only about grades!

She nodded.

At that moment an SNS pop-up appeared on my smartphone.

“…!”

‘Testa company official account…!’

This is clearly an album sales announcement. She clicked hastily.

And I quickly recalled the information I knew beforehand.

This album has 3 types and…

-Is the company crazy to produce only 1000 units of the 3-piece set with special benefits?

The article said that there was a ‘limited set’ that sold only 1000 pieces.

Although it received favorable reviews with a friendly notice that ‘it will be produced as a regular MD in the future’…it did not tell us exactly what the components were so it was criticized for not looking at it.

'…It seemed like he had become very wealthy.'

And its identity is now known.

She read the SNS post in an instant and was so surprised that her eyes almost popped out.

"…board game?"

And at midnight on the same day.

In the teaser for Testa's new song released.

[Umm…]

Seven people in comfortable civilian clothes sitting together in a dark attic room covered in blankets and lit by fairy lights.

This is a teen concept tester that appeared in the previous album concept.

They were sitting around on the floor of the attic.

Put the board game in the center.

-Let's start

A melee begins

The dice rolled.

Chapter 461

-Crazy board game;;;;

Fans' SNS timelines began to explode with news of Testa's limited edition board game album.

The reaction became even stronger when people compared the images and said that the board game seemed to have the same appearance as the one that appeared in the teaser.

-I guess they really used it as a music video prop.

-Is it a game structure that uses a poker app? I don't know what it will feel like. Will there be a Testa world view?

-I know how to sell it really haha.

-Wow I really need to have this.

It was mainly excitement and anticipation but not necessarily in a good way.

This was because of the limited number.

Even if a regular edition is released in the future it will definitely be different in composition from the limited edition.

-Just 1000?

What group sells millions of albums?

-Don't you think about Play Me? Wow the salesman will be really popular.

-How can I buy this?

-The agency can't let go of T1's actions.

-I wonder if someone is from a label under that label.

Thanks to this Testa's new agency Orbit Entertainment finally began to receive criticism.

In fact it was impossible to meet the production schedule to make tens of thousands of units because they were rushed to produce according to the schedule.

However there was a feeling that this negative reaction was intentionally neglected to some extent.

This was to calm down the atmosphere of excessive deification of the label in advance.

This is because it is a burdensome task for both the new company and the group.

And anyway if the composition of the regular edition was almost the same as the limited edition it was a complaint that would soon subside.

Moreover because the comeback Testa itself came first fans couldn't just focus on criticizing the agency.

For example something like this.

-Oh the album is USB type.

Testa's album released this time was not a CD but a USB.

It is also a standalone composition.

It ended with a simple composition of only an album USB a recycled paper box and a photo card.

-I think we will continue to make USB products in the future due to environmental issues.

-Honestly as album sales are overheating a lot of trash is coming out ಠಠ

However not being able to receive the photos and lyric book in person made people feel strangely disappointed.

In an era where online streaming has become a trend the reason to buy an album is because the physical possession is more meaningful.

Moreover the small number of components felt somewhat shabby.

The USB may contain photos and lyrics as data but the fact that you can't hold it in your hand makes you feel somewhat cold.

-Well 3 types via USB…

-I wish you could show me what the USB looks like.

-I wish it was a doll or something.

-No they don't really tell you anything but they take reservations first. Maybe they should at least release some concept photos haha.

The quality of the teaser was good and the voice was relatively quiet thanks to the enthusiasm for the concept of continuing the teen concept of the previous album which ended unfortunately.

But it was definitely there. The strangely depressing atmosphere created by voices of dissatisfaction.

'under… '

In the end fans who cared about it deliberately tried to find something better.

Part of the effort was to find special content that is not usually included in CD albums on Testa's album reservation product page and to spread the word about it.

-I heard that this album includes an extended MV version. Since it is in USB format I think I tried it at a large volume. I'm already looking forward to it.

-There is a warning regarding the QR code reader! I think there's something to read through QR. I think I prepared a lot.

But that was the end.

No more specific information about the album has been released even as the comeback date approaches.

'What are you thinking??'

Thanks to this even the first home horse at the University of Munich had me tearing out my fingernails.

Although the concept photo was released once it was a comfortable teen concept similar to the previous teaser.

This means that it was decent and pretty but had nothing special.

It felt too similar to the last album.

Compared to 'Promise' which was like a 'Better me' movie with a 30-minute teaser and a cinematic trailer…

'It's only a one-time teaser and the composition of the USB album is simple… '

It was inevitable that the scary word 'cost-effectiveness' would pass through her mind.

-I could never have imagined being treated like this at a new company.

-The back of my head is tingling~~~What did you do with the dark dampness? After all it was a dark dampness that only works on Seombyul.

-Sambyeol is now active for a week and going on tour?

-Don't you think this title will be somewhat similar to the previous title Pose? But now it's worse

Amidst the whirlpool beneath the water.

As anxiety agony excitement and anticipation intertwined the fateful day finally arrived.

Midnight on the day of Testa's first comeback under the new company.

Finally the MV… came out.

"…under."

[TeSTAR 'Roll the Dice' Official MV]

Homma took a deep breath.

The title is Dice but the thumbnail also had Dice…

How far will you go?

'Is this really a board game concept? I'm worried that it's gotten to this point and I feel like I'm going crazy…… No!'

Homma shook off useless thoughts and clicked on the MV with trembling hands.

Then…

"uh?"

What appeared on the screen was… a wooden floor. It was the floor of the attic that appeared in the teaser just before.

But Testa who was sitting there at that time is not there. It wasn't them that was focused.

It's a board game board.

There are tokens and cards scattered on it.

However the impression was a bit different from when it first appeared in the teaser.

I thought it was the typical plot of dividing the space and moving forward by picking up the ground.

But looking at it this way… it's more elaborate than that and it feels like a realistic drawing of a building…

'…prison? maze?'

That moment.

The camera was sucked into it.

[You have my dice]

A low voice echoed through the black field of vision.

And the screen came back again.

-Doong…!

A long row of hallways.

The place built with gray stones with different contrast ratios seemed like part of a huge underground dungeon.

The huge rusty nameplate on the floor was briefly captured on camera.

-Keep It Safe

And the camera moves forward.

Tap tap tap.

You can hear the sound of footsteps and see iron doors lined up on both sides. It's like someone's vision.

'Are you a jailer?'

Then the camera leaves again.

Hwiik.

The camera penetrated into an iron door on the left and immediately approached Inyoung who was sitting on the floor.

The person was wearing a white costume with a harness a stage costume reminiscent of a straitjacket or prison uniform.

And the moment Homma saw the slightly lowered figure he recognized it immediately.

Closed eyes… Park Moon-dae with black hair.

'Hmph…!'

Because her bangs were a little long her eyes were slightly obscured.

The moment of close-up of that white face.

-Pipipipipipipipipi…

I started hearing small noises from somewhere.

A noise that appears when a machine detects something or operates.

Then Park Mun-dae raised his hand with his eyes closed.

And hit it somewhere.

puck.

With a screen showing a surveillance camera exploding in the air.

The music explodes.

[Touch your hand

My tape is cold again]

A refreshing mid-range sound that is refreshing.

And the screen also soared upwards and eventually it went up through the dark secret room and went to an upper level somewhere.

And there a ray of light shone from the iron cage with the ceiling grid.

The tempo rises.

[The moment my heart beats

All my senses are slow]

In that beam of light someone sneakily came down with a rope attached to the end of the torn-off iron cage.

This is Liu Chengwu wearing a tight leather suit.

widely.

A slightly mischievous smile appeared on his face as he landed.

The drum beat is mixed in and the bass rushes heavily along with a slightly more rocking sound.

[Exciting contact

In your silent eyes

[Finding a clear answer]

As Liu Chengwu puts his hand to his ear the cut changes to someone doing the same thing.

It was Kim Rae-bin wearing glasses.

[There is only one choice

Yes take it all (one more)

[Even if I lose this tightly held hand]

Raebin Kim who was sitting in front of a dark monitor room looked like a hacker or an employee.

However he soon turned his head with an expressionless expression as if he had no idea then took an awl out of his pocket and smashed the monitor.

Just before the monitor crackles and turns off.

Cha Yu-jin dressed in a straitjacket amid distorted viewing angles looked at the camera and smiled with her fangs showing.

And then the monitor turns off and there is silence.

[Let’s Start the melee]

The pre-chorus exploded with a low-pitched melody.

[Find it and look at its face

I don’t care what’s next]

The cuts of each tester running through a gray hallway a secret room a maze a monitoring room and other unknown conceptual locations are connected without a break.

[Chaser today too

[Don’t stop your hands]

It looks great but at the moment when the incredible cut transitions that make it impossible to tell how many cuts were taken are repeated someone’s hand blocks it.

It was a hand wearing cotton gloves.

[Find out everything

Don’t be scared what’s next]

The owner of the hand was Lee Se-jin.

Lee Se-jin wearing a navy blue uniform was drinking coffee and smiling.

Then he turned his head to look at the broken monitor took the key and left the monitor room humming.

[Chaser tomorrow too

[Don’t end the twist]

And the refrain.

[Just roll the dice]

Dance break.

The costumes and background changed naturally like a cross-edited video of stages.

From white prison uniforms to county office uniforms and then back to leather suits.

“and.”

I wonder how many shots I took of this… No it seemed like it must have been more exciting than running around but I’m sorry to say that it was more thrilling than that but it was enough to make my heart pound.

Homma swallowed his saliva and continued watching the video.

[Trust take my side]

In the second verse after the chorus the story and choreography were appropriately mixed and the video returned to its original KPOP feel.

A performance video full of symbols but powerful.

However I was able to understand the story in quite detail thanks to the beginning.

‘Let’s see… Moon Dae and Cha Yu-jin um prisoners? It’s the same thing. Ravin and Cheongwoo are phantom thieves. And is Keun Se-jin the jailer?’

However although Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun appeared in the performance in various outfits they were just about to tilt their heads and say that they were not sure about their specific roles.

[Okay this Final round]

It was when the bridge melody was flowing.

Suddenly the screen changes from a fast tempo to a long take.

…widely.

What is reflected is the back of someone standing in front of a huge iron door.

The camera soon rotated halfway to reveal its identity.

It was Bae Se-jin.

‘Ah it was a phantom thief!’

He was dressed similarly to Liu Chengwu. That was when Homma nodded.

-…

Bae Se-jin calmly looked at the iron door and reached for the lock pad next to it.

There was a strange mechanical device that looked like a key and I wondered if there was a close-up of its leather gloved hand.

Ugh.

Suddenly the hand changed several times trembling between a cotton gloved hand and a wounded hand.

“…!”

But soon he returned with gloved hands.

And the moment I connected the key to the lock pad a code entry field appeared on the machine.

[____]

‘oh!’

Bae Se-jin seemed to be smiling faintly but…

-puck!

The screen disappeared with a hitting sound.

“…??”

[Just roll the dice

[Trust take my side]

There was no next time.

In an instant another dazzling performance video followed.

Despite being captivated by it Homma still had question marks lingering in her mind… but eventually gave in to the performance.

‘I’m sure there will be a treat in the end…!’

That’s right. The hint was given right when the song ended. But not in the way she expected.

On the screen that turned black something else appeared instead of Bae Se-jin’s whereabouts.

It was a close-up shot of a beautiful face.

“…?”

That was… blonde-haired Sun Ah-hyun wearing a navy blue uniform.

He looked straight into the camera and pursed his lips.

-… Choose your side.

The soft sound of string instruments began to flow.

As the screen slowly closed from top to bottom to black Sun Ah-hyun slowly turned her head and began to walk down the hallway.

It was the gray hallway we first entered.

The black baton waved slightly from Sun Ah-hyeon's waist.

Looks good for subduing someone.

"…"

Black screen.

Until only the sound of military boots stands out clearly among the soft string instruments.

-Tuk knock knock…

And a letter comes to mind.

[Roll the Dice]

~Please enter the code

The last thing that appears is a blinking black box.

This is what appeared when Bae Se-jin accessed the lock pad in the music video.

and…

"…under!"

Homma let out the breath she had been holding.

crazy!

‘I was worried for no reason!’

The quality was like a movie! Although it is a bit different from existing music videos this will definitely get a response.

‘Foreigners’ reactions will explode… ’

It was already expected.

‘The world view was a bit… grandiose.’

It was like a new world view! There was a bit too much force so it felt like some kind of drama fan music video.

‘Is the board game that worldview? ‘Do you understand if I do that?’

It was when she was thinking hard.

Suddenly personal messages poured in on social media.

‘what?’

I thought it was just DuckTalk so I clicked on it.

-The album product page popped up and it was the key from the crazy ㅅㅂ music video.

“…??”

-The key in the kids’ music video is the album USB!!

“…Uh huh??”

She opened her mouth and screamed.

‘Aaaah!!’

And the next day.

‘hurry! hurry!’

She frantically opened the album she had received.

So while being as careful as possible I hurriedly disconnected the USB which was a music video prop and connected it to the computer and tried to access the folder.

because…

‘You made it so meaningful!’

There was definitely something in the MV expansion! I had to see it!

‘Just click on the video like this!’

I could see the MV extended version…

“…!!”

However it was not the video player that welcomed her.

[Do you want to allow the TeSTAR – Roll the Dice MV Expansion (Playable) app to change devices?]

App?

At that moment she realized.

“…”

‘Playable.’

game.

The MV expansion version was… a game!

Chapter 462

‘crazy.’

Homma couldn’t even breathe properly as she waited for the game to be installed.

Originally it was a national rule for modern people to briefly use KakaoTalk or surf the SNS web on their smartphones while installing apps but I just didn’t have the spirit to do that.

‘How and when did they make something like this?’ There was no time to ask questions or analyze things like that. My heart was pounding like tension just from excitement and overwhelming anticipation.

And after a while.

[Installation is complete.]

-Run immediately ( )

She checked the box without hesitation.

Then the screen turns black and the logo passes by.

[Ruin Factory Area]

-Stars Orbit

And the title appears as the modified Testa logo reminiscent of a corporate or industrial accident moves down from the top.

[Roll the Dice]

~please enter the code

Flowing softly is the main melody of this slightly eerie and modern remixed title song.

In the back a dark floor a board game board and dice are projected.

It was perfect quality.

“Wow.”

Is it this serious?

Homma felt joy that was almost embarrassing but at the same time she also felt secretly worried.

‘But I don’t know much about games… ’

I thought it was just fan service at best but it turned out like this so I was a little hesitant about whether I could really enjoy it.

She didn’t know much about the unwritten rules of the game and didn’t know much about the controls. <127 Section> was also a mobile game so I only roughly enjoyed it.

And since there are people who dislike games I thought there would be differences in likes and dislikes.

‘Hmm.’

Of course the built-up expectations trumped everything. There is no time to hesitate!

“let’s go!”

She bravely pressed ‘New game’!

Then the letters disappeared as if they were being sucked in and the dice rolled…

Short loading.

And… the screen became brighter.

[2025. 06. 01.]

[PM 07:03]

-Yoohoo!

A sports car speeding down a road at sunset filled the computer screen.

“…??”

What is this?

Even the people in the sports car are seeing it for the first time.

There was a man and a woman wearing sunglasses but the man didn’t look like Testa at all.

It’s a game character so how can you be sure…

‘It’s live action?’

Because it wasn’t graphics!

-♩♪♬♬～ ♪♪♬～

The sports car racing to exciting music was connected like a scene from a movie.

It was a moment when she could have misunderstood whether a defective product had been delivered by mistake but she already knew that it was not the case.

‘This… is a pose.’

The song playing in the sports car was Testa's new song 'Pose'. A cheerful dance song suitable for driving played as BGM.

'This is the Testa app.'

So she decided to wait a while.

The sports car on the screen continued to drive down a mountain road dyed red by the setting sun.

And soon something strange appeared.

The road is blocked.

"…?"

A huge yellow and black barricade and flashing emergency lights were located in the middle of the road.

-What?

The music decreases.

And then someone approached the stopped sports car.

He is a tall man.

-Wait a minute teacher.

"omg."

It was Lee Se-jin!

Lee Se-jin neatly dressed in a police uniform smiled and tilted his head toward the sports car.

The woman sitting in the driver's seat was waving her arms mischievously.

-Why are you doing that?

-Oh the road in front of here is closed to traffic right now. Sorry but please turn around and use the main road.

-Where is the main road right away? I have to go back for another 30 minutes so let's at least listen to my reasons.

-I'd like to but it's difficult to explain in detail because I'm carrying out official duties. Please.

Lee Se-jin smiled speaking softly and kindly.

'handsome… '

The hair that exposed the forehead looked amazing.

However the woman sitting in the driver's seat seemed to be the type of person who was truly faithful to her lover so she didn't seem to be tempted by Lee Se-jin.

Instead the camera meaningfully captures him continuing to look at Lee Se-jin with strange eyes.

-…

-Teacher can you give me my car back?

A strange tension rose.

The BGM has changed.

'What is it?'

-The police teacher is very young.

-Ah I've been assigned this time. haha.

-is it so?

-yes. I know it will be inconvenient but please ask.

However Lee Se-jin smiled until the end and slightly bowed her head.

However the tense BGM and strangely loud footsteps did not end.

Tap tap tap.

"…"

And after Lee Se-jin entered the guard post under the red sunset light.

Boom.

The sports car turned around and started to leave the scene.

'phew.'

Strangely it was when Homma breathed a sigh of relief.

The quiet man in the passenger seat broke the silence and opened his mouth.

-uh? Isn't this the main road?

'uh??'

-Uh when you get back from here you'll be reconnected to the temple right away honey.

-what?

-We're going to take the road that bastard blocked.

yes??

And as if representing Homma's feelings the man in the passenger seat was also astonished.

-Why are you going in there? He said his police stopped him.

-police?

The driver snorted.

-Have you ever seen a police officer saying something sarcastic when he sees a speeding sports car?

-what?

-And look. That's the thing that blocked the road.

As the man in the passenger seat turned his head the view on the screen also changed.

barricade.

It was once again slowly captured on the screen and Lee Se-jin's smiling subordinates intersected like a flashback.

The voice of the woman in the driver's seat rang out.

-Those barricades are from the police. It's cheap.

-…!!

-I don't think that bastard is a police officer.

-ah…

-Look at how young he is. Where is the youtuber? BJ? Isn't that kind of guy kidding? Hide the camera.

It was that moment.

The bottom of the sports car's field of view became slightly translucent and black and something appeared on the screen.

▶[It could be so. -tenderloin]

▶[How can you be sure of that? -boundary]

It was a choice!

'yes. Because it's a game there are choices.'

It's a bit unfamiliar but I thought I could just pick something that appeals to me.

however…

[00:10:00]

There is a time limit!

'10 seconds?!'

She was taken aback but soon decided to go down for some reason.

-How can you be sure of that?

It felt like something out of a movie cliché.

Isn't it common knowledge that if you dare to enter a blocked area bad events will inevitably begin?

'Sejin said don't come!'

Then don't go in! Why go! Does it matter if they are real police?

'Even if you're an idol listen to me!'

No I don't know why I'm choosing the positions of these people who aren't even testers in the first place… Let's make a choice in a hurry under the pressure of the time limit.

-Oh you don't believe me.

The person behind the wheel is angry!

[The other person is displeased.]

"Ugh."

For a moment was choosing the above answer and comforting you the right answer?

She was confused but progress did not stop.

-That's not it…

-Then just watch. I'll be right on time for our flight.

The person in the driver's seat said that and started to speed away turning the sports car roughly with one hand.

The camera pans away to show the sports car forcing its way onto a side road onto a side road blocked by a 'no passing' sign.

And I catch the gloom of the darkened mountains…

"…"

She swallowed her saliva and watched the scene like she was watching a thriller movie.

And after a while.

-That's random.

A sports car driving down a dark mountain road with its lights on ended up passing in front of an old building that suddenly appeared.

It was a gray building that looked like it was roughly made of concrete.

Although it was large there was no sign of anyone.

-factory? no?

-Oh I see.

-It's a bit unusual to be in the mountains.

And in slow motion I thought I was slowly scanning the exterior of the building through the perspective of a sports car passenger…

Grab one of the embossed patterns on the outside.

[KIS]

Homma also came to mind.

'I think it was in the music video?'

right. Those were the initials on the floor of that gray hallway.

Could it be that these people are entering that prison as a player?

'Yes it could be because the field of view is now in the first person view of these people.'

It was a time when she was making her own guess.

-Oh that's…

That moment.

thud.

The sports car overturned.

"…?!"

uh?

And then it exploded.

– Puff puff puff puff!!

The screen which rotated like crazy bounced and rolled on the floor.

'Ugh!!'

crazy!

Homma screamed without realizing it. The camera's view seemed to focus on a staggering half-wrecked sports car… and soon a hand was seen groping the floor.

And a choice appeared.

▶[Hold the smartphone.]

▶[Call a passenger.]

This… this!

'There's no point in calling a passenger! It's a smartphone!'

Calling out doesn't mean the injured person will get better so you need to take productive action first!

She quickly pressed her stomach.

Then happily the hand that was groping the floor found the smartphone!

‘yeah!’

The moment when she was inadvertently immersed and tried to cheer on the hand that pressed 911.

-Ahh!!

It turned out that the smartphone was broken.

“Ugh.”

There is no answer to this?

Homma was in a cold sweat thinking he had made a mistake and was contemplating restarting the game.

I heard a voice.

-Are you okay there?!

As the screen rotated as if I had turned my head I saw a tall figure in a police uniform approaching in a hurry.

It was Lee Se-jin who came running.

-wait a minute!

‘Uh huh? what?’

It was a moment of confusion as I didn’t know what was going on.

Lee Se-jin approached and immediately held out his hand.

-Give that to me.

He gently took the smartphone out of the way and shrugged his shoulders.

He then shot the tranquilizer gun while making eye contact with the player.

"…?!"

For a moment the screen became blurry due to lack of visibility.

Silence.

-…

The screen that reappeared after a short gap was behind Lee Se-jin's shoulder.

It seemed like he was picked up and carried by Lee Se-jin.

"…??"

While the situation is still not understood.

Sejin Lee's voice was heard.

-Ah~ It works every time. Every time.

And the screen moved again.

Red frame dented iron body and smoke.

The player… is pushed back into the wrecked sports car!

"Huh?!"

-How nice it is that you break the rules on your own. I have no regrets because I did everything I had to do.

"…!!"

Me crazy!

And Lee Se-jin's innocent face standing outside the sports car was seen again.

He took out a notebook and was holding it.

-Now again…

-'No curfew sign'…'direct notice' 'kindness' 'repetition emphasis'…

Lee Se-jin held his hat and frowned like a police officer.

-You asked for the car back right?

-Ugh…

-Yes yes. I thought you wouldn't listen~

bang.

The sports car door closed.

And the half-wrecked red sports car began to be towed by a black vehicle.

After that Lee Se-jin's humming in the black car rang out like background music.

-Umm~

It was a song famous among fans as a laid-back easy-listening song from Testa's previous album.

And the subtitles appear above that creepy feeling of discomfort.

[Prologue End]

-Welcome to the KIS

Homma screamed silently.

‘what’s this!?’

* * *

Homma who was mentally exhausted was only able to press the enter button after 30 seconds and enter Chapter 1.

It was entirely because I was persuaded by Lee Se-jin’s good looks.

‘I think Moon Dae will come out very handsome… ’

In fact although I didn’t realize it the fact that the story was shocking and thrilling also played a role.

‘good!’

The game entered the main part like that but this time it was played properly from the members’ perspective.

-Would you like a ride?

A rainy fall day. Bae Se-jin who lost her wallet gets help from Ryu Cheong-woo and gets into his car to go to work.

And then he suddenly receives a proposal from Ryu Cheong-woo.

-There is something I want to steal.

-… yes?

-We need a hacker.

That’s right! Bae Se-jin was a hacker.

But then…

‘…What about Raevin?’

Were you sitting in the monitor room in the music video?

Even now wearing glasses and looking at a laptop in the backseat of my car felt exactly like that.

So Homma willingly chose the option of asking that question.

-They’re hackers too… isn’t it?

-no. Just stay strong. It’s really… strong.

“Haha.”

Kim Rae-bin who had been tilting his head in the backseat lowered his head again.

For reference even after breaking into the facility Raebin Kim made Homma happy by generously showing the side of the strongest offensive player.

In any case what Ryu Cheong-woo showed Bae Se-jin was information about a gem called ‘tutáculum’.

-Tutakulum?

-It means protective shelter in Latin. It’s like a key to access the facility where this gem is located.

He handed over a ‘key’ shaped device saying he had previously received it from a colleague and asked for analysis.

And this was treated as a flashback leading directly to a cut to infiltrating the facility!

-But I had no idea that it was such a strange protective custody facility.

And from then on it was a thrilling game of hide and seek and a series of choices…

'Ugh.'

Homma who had already been tempted by Lee Se-jin's spicy taste in the prologue never wanted to be caught by Lee Se-jin no matter how handsome he was…

So no matter which character I used I tried my best to never encounter a guard and made as many choices as possible.

And from this point on one more system was added.

It is a 10-sided die.

Roll…

When you make a wrong choice you roll the dice and if the number is small you have a chance to make up for it!

The more critical the mistake the smaller the figure required.

'Whoa!'

-Oh~ Today's coffee.

She barely escaped Lee Se-jin's eyes and barely managed to hide in the cabinet and take a deep breath.

And not long after… I also see Choi Ae's face.

-hmm.

"Ugh!"

The door was in the lab!

The problem was that he was giving an injection or something… and he was sweating coldly and looked very distressed.

However I ask you not to remove the syringe yourself!

-… No please.

▶[Crush the syringe. -sympathy]

▶[Leave it alone. -Immovable mind]

Argh!!

Homma who was moving Raebin Kim was shocked but eventually turned upward with trembling hands.

'I'm sorry Mundae…!'

But if you don't destroy the syringe here…! In the movie cliché the door is dead!

And sure enough when I broke the syringe the door stabilized immediately.

She pressed capture while looking at the close-up shot of Mundae who had lost consciousness and collapsed with a relaxed face with tearful eyes.

Fortunately Raebin Kim lifted the door and carried him to a safe place.

'thank god… '

Homma who was overly immersed wiped away her cold sweat.

Anyway from then on a dizzying chase continued with Ryu Cheong-woo fighting with Cha Yu-jin inside the iron gate to find out information.

And soon the phantom thieves conclude that this is a strange place where test subjects are imprisoned and that the information about the 'gem' they obtained is part of the test subject fishing.

-We have to escape.

So they change their route and soon discover an official escape route thanks to Cha Yu-jin's aggro…

Here was the final difficulty.

-If you just go around the outskirts…

-fizzle.

'Wow Ahyeon!'

Tap tap tap.

Battalion armored boots chin. eye.

Walking from across the hallway was staged with a cinematic mise-en-scène.

Sun Ah-hyun only appeared with a cool and calm feeling throughout this movie or even the game.

It also matched amazingly well and had an unexpected charm.

'After all it's a face… '

Homma was depressed.

And anyway I had a hunch.

'In that music video… there was a hint that Ah-hyeon was the one who suppressed Bae Se-jin when he escaped!'

It was clear that this was the hint. Her heart pounding she repeatedly typed ‘hide’ from the options.

-…

Surprisingly even though it seemed like the right choice the dice rolled.

[Standard value: 6]

60% chance!

Homma gritted his teeth.

Roll roll…

‘Please please…!’

The eye pointed to by the slowly stopped dice is…

[2]

“It’s done!!”

Sun Ah-hyeon leisurely disappeared across the hallway.

So I passed that turn safely.

‘phew.’

-let’s go.

She sighed and watched Bae Se-jin approach the huge iron door.

It was the scene I saw in the music video.

Now put the key in the lock pad and enter the code…

‘uh?’

Now that I think about it…

[____]

What’s the code?

“…”

Game progress stopped.

So there was no time limit of 10 seconds like before. This means that you can conveniently enter information at any time.

But… what kind of code is this?

At that moment Bae Se-jin’s narration flowed on the screen.

-This is a code I already know.

-I heard this from a phantom thief when I received this key.

And this time he began to hear the voice of Liu Chengwu he was recalling.

-I would like you to analyze the key.

Bae Se-jin’s eyes were close-up.

-And I analyzed.

-The information the phantom thief wanted has been obtained. The location of this place is like a gem. However there was also a lot of dummy data that seemed to have been intentionally included.

-As if to increase capacity so that it is difficult to find.

-Among the dummy data that I almost overlooked at the time there was a photo of a man… and there was a code on the back of the photo.

The narration ended there.

‘What is it?’

Homma was embarrassed and read the subtitles again.

‘A picture… of a man.’

“…”

no way?

“omg!”

She stood up and lifted the album box that she had put aside after taking out the USB drive earlier.

And then he took out the only component left inside.

Photo card.

On the back of the photo card of Raebin Kim holding the end of an awl in her mouth there was a code written along with the logo.

[Roll the Dice]

~please enter the code

[AW23-5DQ2-B25E]

She typed it with trembling hands.

…the moment you hit enter.

Bae Se-jin on the screen also began moving his hand over the lock pad.

and.

-Success… done!

The door opened.

“That’s it!”

She reflexively clenched her hands and then realized.

‘and!’

This is a structure that makes buying the album very rewarding!

Anyway she reflexively got up from her seat sensing a happy ending.

It was the reaction of someone who didn’t know much about the game completely unaware that what he saw was a ‘normal ending -3’.

Anyway I’m finally starting to lower my evaluation a bit.

‘It was truly immersive!’

I don’t know how divided the kids were about how I filmed this but… I wanted to do it again right away and choose other options!

Most importantly I liked the costumes and the acting was good without being cringy perhaps because it was action-oriented.

To be honest Bae Se-jin acted so well that there was a synergy effect.

But what bothers me is…

‘Ah the phantom thieves appeared like the main characters didn’t they?’

There were some issues with the length but it strangely felt like an event was organized from the phantom thief's perspective.

'Ah Ah-hyun's actual portions are rather small.'

And I still had some unresolved questions about what the board game was…

'Really… the quality was unbelievable.'

I don't know what to say about this. It feels like I'm choosing what the characters will do while watching a movie!

Even fans who don't like games would like this.

This was her first time properly encountering the 'interactive movie' genre and she nodded eagerly.

'Even thinking about it again I really liked the outfit… haha it's really the best.'

As she waited for the epilogue to load she finally decided to go to the bathroom.

And that was when I naturally picked up my smartphone.

-Please try playing other versions of the album as soon as possible. I am saying this out of loyalty.

"…??"

-When playing crazy version 2 the prologue changes and a prisoner appears.

-Is it really Jinyoung's choice that there were 3 albums?? Phantom thief prison guard?

What?

-The main stream is almost the same but the individual events are different. What is it?

"…"

Homma was embarrassed and ran to the bathroom Nabal and the delivery box.

Then I opened the second USB box.

The second USB album that Cha Yu-jin hurriedly took out pushing the photo card with her tongue slightly exposed.

She swallowed.

'Should I do this first?'

Since Mundae is a prisoner should I do this to see a lot of Mundae? When Homma was confused.

Again the smartphone screen lit up.

-Uh since this one doesn't break the syringe it becomes the Mundae Phantom Thief episode.

-Crazy Park Moon-dae did he wear a phantom thief's uniform? Thighs! Thighs!

"…?!"

What… what is that…?

This was the beginning of Testa's album meltdown.

Chapter 463

-Please please tell me the route to putting Lee Se-jin in a straitjacket. It was in the music video or something. Please I don't know.

-The comedy ending where Eugene-cha escapes alone is so funny. I laughed out loud while filming Cha-go-young.

-Wow Bae Se he lost his wallet on the way to work it was actually Cheong-woo who stole it hahaha It appears in the jailer version!! (capture)

Rice cake rice cake rice cake rice cake.

Normally there is a gap of a few days between the release of the music video during the comeback period and the appearance on music broadcasts.

Usually this period was spent with anticipation watching social media news and small preview content. Or it's time to watch the music video over and over again and anxiously wait for it to air…

-Ahhhh Eugene finally put on the guard uniform ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ ㅅㅂ I'm so happy I can barely even put on the uniform my baby.

completely changed.

The fan community and SNS were filled with all kinds of spoilers strategy videos captures and collected photos and it was truly a festival.

Here Testa slapped a lenient rule that 'normal ending' and 'bad ending' could be streamed.

The reason why they made such an unconventional attempt in the first place was to spread word of mouth but also because they couldn't miss out on a promotional opportunity.

Besides if you wanted to experience it for yourself you had to buy the album anyway.

Because the ‘code’ on the enclosed photo card that opens the door at the ending belongs to one account pirates could not see the ending!

– Hahaha you’re a bitch.

-But I’m worried that it won’t break through soon because they make all the cracks.

-Still it seems like it will be okay until the initial arrest is made? Oh it’s great that USB is also captured by album sales.

-A real new world fun fun

In addition the lyric book and music concept photos that can be downloaded from the game title received favorable reviews for the special emotions they gave when looking back after playing the game.

-The game deepens the narrative of the album… I hated the world view so much but they made me say something like this.

Overall it was a very unique attempt.

And it was completely unexpected.

First of all it means that aggro was drawn properly.

[Tester put a real game in the album]

[<127 Section> Ruined Factory production team releases new work: Testa Album (no joke)]

[Testa’s crazy live-action gameplay status haha]

The astonishment of fans who had no idea that the MV expansion version was actually a game spread everywhere and naturally Internet users came across the news.

-The MV was an introduction to the game.

-No what happened hahahahaha

-Testa you really do everything. I really respect you. From a magical boy to an otaku you have a single path.

-I want to try this too. What's going on with the quality? If I want to do it can I just buy the album? What can I buy?

On WeTube several game streamers who couldn't miss this piece of cake were already playing it.

Because Lee Se-jin's prologue was shocking it was easy to get reactions and the WeTube angle came out well so it was a win-win.

Of course there were fights and noises as tastes and evaluations went back and forth but even that was a hot topic.

It was a promotion that I couldn't pay for.

-If I order now from the official website will it arrive tomorrow? I took the bus to the store and it was sold out.

-What version should I start with?

-Testa This title game OST?? hey?? Why is everyone so upset?

Thanks to this album sales were soaring tremendously.

The simple components including a USB recycled paper box and photo card lower the barrier to entry by allowing users to purchase them without burden.

And in the beginning of all this typhoon-like activity.

“Whoa.”

Homma was playing like crazy.

The balance of thrill with a movie-like live-action structure and a luck element that does not require interactive selection controls… appealed to this person wonderfully.

Thanks to this she was devoting all her free time to this.

“The cut of Mundae is really pretty…”

Currently I was replaying the VER 2 album which mainly features Prisoner Jinyoung.

When playing as a prisoner through the VER 2 album USB the chapter started from the past perspective of Park Moon-dae and Cha Yu-jin.

-Oh the two of them are having a heated conversation in the lab but I’m scared of them all.

□??Wasn’t it very sad and pitiful?

□??What choice do you have?

□You are

And in the latter part of the story there was an event where the thieves wore prison uniforms when they were caught and an event where they overpowered the guards and made them wear prison uniforms.

– Moon Dae throwing the prison uniform at the big guy seems to have personal feelings but it’s not acting it’s like Jjinchin’s Jjinten.

□Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

And I was able to find out a little bit about the experiments the prisoners were being subjected to.

[■■■■ 10ml administration: Detect objects 100m away

-Complaints of dizziness hallucinations headaches.]

‘Hmm superpower? Is this an experiment to create something similar?’

For some reason it seemed to have an American sensibility… It was definitely a bit bizarre and creepy.

Anyway Cha Yu-jin seemed to have an extraordinary mind and a very developed sixth sense and Mun-dae seemed to be able to use telekinesis!

‘…I did vomit blood.’

After recreating the scene in the music video where the surveillance camera explodes and seeing the bad ending where the gate collapses she sealed away her telekinesis…

Anyway VER 2’s prisoner camp play felt like that.

A story similar to the Phantom Thieves camp but more desolate and focused on facilities.

However the VER 3 album was a little different.

In the case of this guard camp we took a slightly special structure…

It was a play that started from Lee Se-jin’s perspective and cooperated with the phantom thieves.

-fizzle.

-…!

-Be quiet and follow me.

‘omg.’

It was as if he was a guard on our side who was sick of the facility and pretended not to notice.

Of course the truth is I was planning to catch them all like tying a oyster at the last minute so that they could not be pulled out or hit.

What Lee Se-jin said while humming to herself was excellent.

-It's comfortable and nice~ They come on their own feet and break the rules…

'evil!'

VER 1 First Experience The spicy flavor of the prologue was powerful!

Thanks to this VER 3 has a strange structure that makes players dizzy as they play while wondering when they will be stabbed in the back.

'This is all because I'm doing the Phantom Thief episode first… hmm?'

"Oh wait. Now that I think about it…"

Was this order really intentional?

Homma suddenly had an idea.

The key shape shown in the music video… was exactly the USB of the 'VER 1 album'.

The other two versions looked slightly different from the music video.

And when selling the product page was shown. Of course most people who would buy just one album would have bought VER 1…

Before that when I received an album reservation without any information I only received a set.

'And people who bought all three must have played from VER 1 because it appears to have appeared in the music video.'

Didn't you say the same thing to yourself?

So… This means that in most cases you only see the story from the phantom thief's side first before you see the story of the prisoner or guard camp.

So that you can enjoy the most basic flavors first and then continue to discover new elements while maintaining tension.

'and.'

Homma gaped.

She was unable to accurately express this detailed structure to prevent multiple playthroughs from becoming boring. Because I don't know the game very well. But it was very touching.

'oh my god.'

Anyway let's talk about it.

So in VER 3 the phantom thieves were able to accompany Lee Se-jin and wear navy blue uniforms!

There was no longer any option to hide.

Instead an event occurs where you can access the facility's documents or hear more information.

-Keep It Safe So 'KIS'…What does it mean to keep it safe?

-Um the people outside?

-… From what?

-From all danger? Hey I don't know either~ How does the employee know that?

Fortunately Lee Se-jin's values become slightly shaken when the phantom thieves cooperate with the prisoners and form some friendships with them.

This is because we learn that the two prisoners were imprisoned even though they had not broken any rules.

-I was kidnapped.

-me too.

-… hmm.

And through various events he comes to accept Ryu Cheong-woo's proposal to partner as a phantom thief.

– Is that so?

-…!

-It's almost time for me to change jobs as my annual leave is coming to an end.

"Oh!"

In this way he succeeded in seducing many testers even the guard Lee Se-jin…

She watched only the normal ending until the end.

'Why!?'

Even though the syringe option in Mundae was spoiled I made the right choice and watched Phantom Thief… but even then it was a normal ending.

'What?… '

To Ahyeon… Is it because you're so scared that you can't approach her or seduce her?

[We left this damn facility.]

It's like this every time and the ending credits roll and there's no endgame!

All that's left is Park Moon-dae's amazing thighs… Anyway that's it.

So she was really prepared this time.

'Do… '

After finding a strategy while avoiding spoilers as much as possible Homma sat down in front of the computer again clenching both hands.

Found it! True ending conditions!

'I told you to watch VER 1 first… '

She thought to herself as she clicked on the game icon to quickly advance.

Strategy.

-In any faction make everyone except Seon Ah-hyun your comrades and then meet her in front of the final gate!

'I guess the dice that came up when I was hiding was a hint!'

That wasn't entirely the 'right' option.

If you meet without recruiting all your friends it's game over but if you meet with all of your friends a true ending event will occur!

'good.'

And then the fateful moment.

-If you just turn there…

Homma closed her eyes tightly and ignored the ‘hide’ option.

And finally.

Tap tap tap.

Bae Sae-jin who had put the key in the lock pad flinched and looked back.

A blond guard in a navy blue uniform came out from around the corner starting with military boots.

The screen froze.

“…Huuuuu.”

Homma clenched her fists. and…

-…

Empty BGM flows.

Sun Ah-hyun stared at the key Bae Se-jin was holding.

Next I glanced at the six people dressed in the same style standing around me.

After alternating short and breathtaking close-up scenes…

The guard opened his mouth.

-there is.

-…!

-jewel.

Homma covered her mouth.

‘omg!’

That’s right.

A gem that the phantom thieves tried to find but ultimately concluded was false information spread by this facility to catch test subjects.

Seon Ah-hyeon told us that tutáculum really exists.

Then he turned around and started walking away again without shaking.

Tap tap tap…

On the screen Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva.

-… What should I do?

▶ [Follow. -faith]

▶ [Ignore. -distrust]

“…after”

This is unconditional.

If you follow along and fail here there’s no way you’d get the true ending!

Homma vigorously clicked ‘Follow’ and naturally the characters on the screen followed Seon Ah-hyun.

-…

Sun Ah-hyeon passed the outskirts of the complex facility several times and moved at a very inconsiderate speed.

Down down.

Overcome a couple of light dice decisions…

Jiiiing-

-… This place?

We arrived in front of a small iron gate.

Next to it is a locking pad like the entrance.

With modern organ BGM playing Sun Ah-hyun stood next to the iron gate.

The six members with the keys approached the lock pad.

Only then did the blonde guard open his mouth.

-obverse.

'…obverse?'

Homma was embarrassed.

I'm entering the code and suddenly what does the front page mean?

'Is there anything on the front of Pocamore?'

However no matter how much I looked there was no hint in the photo of Kim Rae-bin with the awl in his mouth.

'This is all there is on the back… '

[AW23-5DQ2-B25E]

This code.

Just as she was about to panic luckily Bae Se-jin's narration came out.

-The code… was written on the back of the man's photo among the dummy data in the key. It's not the front.

'My words!'

-But heads? Why are you saying the opposite?

-… Wait the opposite?

"…!!"

At that moment Homma also realized.

If you think of the letters on the back as being viewed from the front…

'…It looks like it's upside down and in the opposite direction!'

Then the code…

Crash.

She started tapping on the keyboard.

[AW23-5DQ2-B25E]

This.

[E52B-2QD5-32WA]

Just the opposite!

"…okay!"

And the moment you press enter.

Wooooow-!

The iron door began to open with a bright light.

My toes felt tingly.

‘wow… ’

And after the light subsides.

In the screen in the very center of a small room with iron walls on all sides.

Inside the hexagonal glass tube was a beautiful green-colored gem.

An ecstatic BGM was played.

‘The props are really cool… ’

The camera slowly approached the jewel…

A gloved hand reached out. and…

▶[Catch the jewel.]

▶[Ask a question.]

“…”

A choice appeared.

‘after.’

Homma crossed her arms.

This game had no save and load.

It is possible to skip an event that has already been seen but it is impossible to go back to the previous choice once made.

but.

'…The truth must be revealed.'

My friends on social media said that's the meaning of the true ending!

Homma swallowed and pressed down feeling like a detective.

[Ask a question.]

Then… Bae Se-jin on the screen withdrew his hand.

And then he turned his head to Sun Ah-hyeon.

-… Why did you bring us here?

-…

-What is your purpose? Why are you giving us the jewel? Why are you giving us the Tutaculum?

It was then.

-…! wait for a sec.

Someone intervened.

…Prisoner Park Moon-dae dressed in a phantom thief-style leather suit.

He asked quickly in a low voice.

-What do you mean Tutaculum?

Bae Se-jin responded.

-This gem is Tutaculum.

Park Moon-dae's face turned pale.

-No that's… a drug administered to the prisoners managed here.

-…!!

-It's not a gem. Tutáculum… here is a code word meaning drug.

Mi crazy.

'The drug that creates superpowers… '

No now that I think about it it seemed like it was green too. Homma covered her mouth again at this twist and looked at the screen.

"…"

The camera slowly turns.

Liu Chengwu looked at the blonde guard and asked.

-then

-What is this gem?

That moment.

The screen turned off.

"…?!"

And only then did Seon Ah-hyeon's voice rang softly from the black screen.

-The guard with the mysterious and scary black baton did not open his mouth.

-But at the end of that gaze… there was a prisoner.

The screen brightened again with calm BGM.

And what was revealed… was an attic.

Testa sat on the floor between the warm lamp light and a board game in the middle.

That scene from the teaser.

"…??"

Homma is in confusion!

However Sun Ah-hyeon's calm voice continued.

-It's the players' turn.

Cha Yu-jin and Park Moon-dae who were sitting comfortably twitched their eyebrows at the same time. They were two people who played the role of prisoners.

Liu Chengwu who was resting his chin spoke thoughtfully.

-You said you saw the prisoner. Did he want to give the jewels to the prisoner? Compensation?

-There are no such thing as psychopaths so it's probably like that.

After Cha Yu-jin grumbled Park Moon-dae opened his mouth rubbing his chin.

-… Well if a hacker is able to persuade several people to the same side in such a short period of time it seems like it will become a threat in the future. Wasn't he trying to give me real jewels and send them back? It's cheating.

-Ah~ Don't have any regrets.

Sejin Lee nodded. And laughed cheerfully.

-good! Then I will say this.

Then the screen was sucked in and the background returned to the secret facility.

There Lee Se-jin dressed as a phantom thief spoke.

-I also have a question~

-Keep It Safe. Speaking of that slogan… isn't it actually Safe and Sacrifice? Chief jailer. What are we keeping safe?

-I thought there were rules but now I see that they don't really follow them~

After that a truth battle continued using the secrets of the facility discovered while playing the game.

And the conclusion is…

-It wasn't a prison… it was a research institute.

This facility was an institution conducting research to completely control the drug tutaculum which gives strange abilities!

'oh.'

It was quite exciting to see the information collected so far put together one by one.

– Right?

I still don't know why the scenery returns to the attic as if I'm being sucked in again.

It was nice to hear Sun Ah-hyun's soft voice.

-But the blonde guard was neither agitated nor answered.

-Oooooh!

-Should we fight?

-Let's fight. I'll roll the dice.

Sun Ah-hyeon who was holding a book smiled and nodded in response to the combative members' reactions.

-Yeah then… who?

-Of course the strongest person should do it right?

-…

Raebin Kim clicked his tongue and held up the dice as if he didn't feel like it. And Seon Ah-hyeon also picked up the dice.

-I'm going to roll a cube. The maximum number is 6. The player's maximum number of dodecahedrons is 10. That's a big difference.

-Still if the player's dodecahedron number is smaller the player can defeat the warden.

Some might jeer at this as it is a ridiculous scam but everyone is just nodding their heads as if they are very absorbed in it.

Homma did the same but soon realized the reality.

'Oh can I really do it?'

And that premonition was correct.

'omg!'

Homma almost screamed internally as he calculated the odds at the dice that appeared on the screen… and eventually put his hand on the mouse again.

and pressed

“evil.”

Degurrrrr…

The ten-sided die rolls… rolls… and the numbers…

[5]

‘…Oh no.’

Too big!

Homma swallowed without realizing it and looked at the screen feeling her blood run cold.

The game was in progress.

Sun Ah-hyun was throwing the dice inside her book so the numbers were not visible.

And an expressionless guard in a navy blue uniform briefly overlaps Sun Ah-hyun’s face.

‘uh?’

But after a while.

Sun Ah-hyeon smiled brightly and put the book away.

The number shown by the black dice is…

[6]

-I subdued it.

-oh my god!

-Oh~

Cheers erupt.

-So you guys…

Sun Ah-hyeon smiled and closed the book.

-I obtained the jewel and successfully escaped from the ‘KIS’ foundation.

-I was your game master.

Applause erupted.

-Ah~ It was fun!

-Thank you for calling me. It was fun to try.

-Oh no…

Sun Ah-hyun smiled softly and put down the paper book she was holding.

As I said before he seems to have been in charge of hosting this board game.

‘Oh I think I saw something like this on TV?’

It came out like this because it was an American teen concept!

Homma nodded.

‘Ahyeon played a key role!’

Still Ahyeon's fans may be a bit disappointed that the amount of content is small. That thought passed by without me thinking but anyway I fell in love with the cute appearance of Testa on the screen and the story unfolding.

-You seem like a nerd. You made a fuss about not liking it but surprisingly you enjoyed it~?

-I know that if anyone talks about what happened today at school I won't leave them alone.

-Look at this guy!

While Cha Yu-jin and Lee Se-jin are grumbling Kim Rae-bin is rubbing her chin. A rather violent silver accessory was shaking.

-The setting was 2025. They say the world will fall in 1999 but in a later era I will have a stronger role…

-You're better than me the kidnapped test subject.

-The test subject is better.

Kim Rae-bin responded grimly but Park Moon-dae just chuckled. And Seon Ah-hyun also laughed when she saw that.

In that gentle scene Bae Se-jin smiled and put down his dice.

The narration continued.

-Secret prison facility experiment with superpowers hackers phantom thieves and even a thrilling escape. It was a great journey.

The jewel tokens in the board game were shown in close-up on the screen.

-The secret we discovered was surprising but there may be another story hidden there.

-No I think it would be fun to tell the same story again.

The camera focused on Testa in an attic bathed in soft lamp light.

-… I hope to come play again someday.

The camera moves up and captures a harmonious image of Testa sitting in a circle.

The subtitle came to mind along with the softly arranged sub-song of this album.

[True Ending]

~In the tutáculum. (In the hiding place)

It was the true ending.

“under…”

She leaned back in her chair.

So the concept of this game was like the American teen testers from the 80s playing a board game… like in the previous album.

‘So a repackage album… ’

It was all connected…

Homma watched the ending credits roll again feeling an indescribable overwhelming emotion.

The scenes I had seen so far passed through my mind and the scenes in the attic and character details flashed by.

“…”

The mulberry was constantly filling up.

I was very curious about the stage. But I still had to wait to see the stage.

That was why.

‘I’ll play again!’

* * *

After taking care of only urgent matters she clicked the icon again and reconnected to the game.

This time it was a different version.

‘bittern!’

The main subject of Mundae was postponed for the finale!

And I pressed skip hard to see the true ending one more time.

‘Oh this is really fun.’

My heart was pounding. What new thing will this version show?

When the testers wearing guard uniforms side by side finally reached the point where they pressed the code!

“good!”

She quickly grabbed the photo card and started typing backwards like before.

[E52B-2QD5-32WA]

‘Great!’

And that was the moment I pressed enter.

‘Now the door opens and the jewel… ’

It definitely had to be that way.

[%EA%B8%B0%EB%8B%A4%EB%A0%B8%EC%96%B4]

Instead.

The blonde guard looked back at the camera.

Seon Ah-hyun.

‘…uh?’

-I pressed the wrong button.

“…??”

-It’s a different version of the code.

And Sun Ah-hyun who was in uniform in the game smiled.

It was his first smile as a jailer.

-are you okay.

-But… I made a mistake with this.

Cotton gloves stole the camera.

-It means you played a lot.

“…?!”

You just… played?

-yes? So it means that I accidentally wrote the code written on the card not exactly as it was but in the opposite direction but I made a mistake… so many times.

The BGM has disappeared.

No before I knew it… the angle of the screen also changed.

In the game world where other members were visible together only Sun Ah-hyun was visible.

That moment.

-Let’s keep playing.

The hidden route has begun.

Chapter 464

Homma forgot to breathe and looked at the game screen.

“…”

The screen is still a dark secret facility in the game.

But there is no one outside the background.

There are no other characters BGM sound effects filters or dice.

All that is there is a close-up of Sun Ah-hyun’s smiling face.

A guard wearing a navy blue uniform and an officer’s hat is making eye contact with the other side of the screen.

As if he was looking at himself.

“…”

Homma swallowed.

The mouth on the screen moved.

-You’re not going out are you?

at that moment

A choice appeared. however…

▶[Remains.]

▶[Remains.]

“…?!”

What is this? Why… are they the same?

‘error…?’

Like a modern person she reflexively moved her hand to turn the game on and off.

So I clicked the settings icon in the right corner…

-no.

The settings button disappeared.

“…?!”

It’s an empty background with no response even when you click on it.

“Huh?”

-I don’t want to wait again.

The blonde guard is still smiling. Homma froze in his mouse position.

-You’re surprised.

-are you okay.

-I will do it.

That moment.

This time the choices… move randomly.

▶[Remains.]

▶[Remains.]

“…!!”

After the effect confirming the choice continued briefly the game continued smoothly.

-thank you. For staying.

-You know I can’t go out.

-In this game…

Sun Ah-hyeon’s smile slowly disappeared. Homma screamed.

‘Why does a character in a game say he is in a game!?’

But the guard did not stop talking.

-Because you can only clear this game by avoiding or suppressing me.

-Go outside the facility.

-Take that jewel.

The guard looked away.

The screen naturally rotated to show the glass tube in the center of the background.

A close-up of the brilliantly shining rust-colored gem inside the glass tube…

-stop.

The screen flickered and then disappeared.

The jewel is gone.

“…”

Now Homma had no time to be surprised.

The screen which was cut off for a moment as if edited returned to a close-up of Sun Ah-hyun.

-There are no gems anymore.

-There are no other characters.

-Let's play like this.

said the guard.

-You try to escape from here.

-I'll try to stop you.

-So… let's continue.

And then dice appeared on the screen.

With the standard that separates success and failure.

[Standard value: 7]

"Uh oh…"

Homma looked around without realizing it and reached for the mouse.

And the moment you click the dice out of habit.

[5]

A number smaller than the standard value of 7 appeared.

If this happens

'I won right away… '

It was that moment.

Sun Ah-hyun stretched out her hand to the dice on the screen.

“…!?”

And then he grabbed the dice… and changed the position of the top!

[8]

-I told you… I’m going to stop it.

The guard smiled.

[fail]

A red spool effect struck Homma’s face as he covered his mouth.

Then the guard held the dice back in front of the screen with his cotton-gloved hand.

To the player.

-Roll it.

-again.

“…!!”

That’s how the crazy story began.

* * *

-What are you doing standing up?

-Hidden route ㅅㅂㅅㅂㅅㅂㅂㅂㅅㅂ

Homma who was trying her best to avoid spoilers didn’t know it but in fact the first witness to Sun Ah-hyun's hidden route appeared around the time she was looking for a strategy for the true ending.

And after several attempts were made among people who doubted whether it was true the screams began to spread.

-Oh what on earth is that?

-For some reason the amount of God Bambi was small but there was a hidden route. Is it the prison warden's personal story?

At first people were upset because they thought people would scream at the very fact that there was a hidden route but after seeing the route for themselves they started screaming along with it.

-??????

-Please save me

-What should I do? What should I do about this?

So after half a day everyone figured out the situation.

What have the crazy people at Testa done?!

-Do I need a different version album code to see the hidden contents?

– Is there anyone who can lend me that code? I really want to see it.

And after many different attempts additional conditions were discovered.

– Conditions for entering the hidden ending: Album code for another version whose true ending was viewed on the account

I emphasize again that you must enter the code you saw for the true ending.

In other words it was only possible for someone who had actually purchased and played another version of the game and seen the true ending.

-I made it so that only true fans can see it.

-In the game only Ahyeon was cursing like a dog asking why she didn't have a different costume. Was it just that I didn't play the game enough?

-You can enter if you just choose the right option right? Because it's a game that doesn't require controls or anything like that.

There is some luck element in the true ending but the play time is not very long in the first place so you can easily skip it.

And a chain reaction occurred where everyone who tried screamed again.

-Wassi

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠAh it's so good it's so surprising and ahhhhh.

-They are really perverts. They played this role to Angel Sasumi.

-If you watch this without knowing the spoilers you'll really get goosebumps.

For reference the person involved Homma already had zero life.

For reference the outcry from people who accidentally watched it without being spoiled was already dominating social media through sharing.

This is because surprised reactions are traditionally fun.

There was even a streamer among them.

[Ah… this is really well made. It's not really a ruined factory it's like an industrial complex. Well I think the testers almost forgot that I was an idol from the beginning.]

This person was disappointed by the rule that he could not upload a video after watching the true ending so he immediately tried to watch another version one more time.

Of course there were also attempts to satisfy the new viewer base.

[Please take a look at the prisoner's version. I would like you to buy the prisoner's version and check it out. No this isn't a game it's an album… right haha.]

However while chatting with the viewers this person who did not know the idol well made the mistake of confusing the photo card version.

and.

-Let's keep playing.

[…?!]

The streamer's eye-popping expression and the question marks in the real-time chat window were truly amazing.

-BJ Dungdung I just suddenly stepped on the hidden route of Roll the Dice. It's chaos hahaha.

For your information Homma also heard this news and was watching the Internet broadcast which was not even in Palja with a look of great admiration.

Sun Ah-hyeon's hidden ending scenario… was truly hidden.

-huh.

-again.

While playing an epic dice roll with Sun Ah-hyun the protagonist who inevitably loses is constantly pushed into a corner.

And the location changes as if you are constantly being pushed and pushed and running away.

Places in the facility that appeared in the game. Laboratory monitor room hallways and even prisons.

Each time the guard appeared in a straitjacket saying 'I wanted to try it on at least once' and sometimes in a phantom thief's uniform and continued to play a one-sided dice game with the protagonist.

Then the player takes advantage of the gap.

He encourages the guard to manipulate the dice that he has not rolled yet…

After pretending not to know and taking it back they act one step late.

So I finally win.

-ah.

And at that moment of thrilling escape the game returns to normal!

[Aaaah it's done!!]

In the restored game the true ending runs normally again… but there is one thing that is different.

The very last attic scene.

-… It feels like someone is talking to me in my mind.

-A voice like a friend who has been with you for a long time.

Players had the option to talk to Bae Se-jin while playing a board game!

[omg! Everyone this can't be right…]

So last.

-… Hey I'll try to convince the warden.

-Huh?

-really?

The way you react to the prison guard Seon Ah-hyeon right before she escapes… can be changed!

It is not Kim Rae-bin who is subduing but Bae Se-jin who is trying to persuade.

However much harsher standards than the original are applied.

-Uhm… In this case the player must get the number '1' for the persuasion to succeed.

-…!

Only the die roll of '1' is successful.

Odds of 1/10.

-Just use him. It's better to be strong.

-… Speak like a civilized person.

-Sullen bastard.

-You stupid bastard.

Leaving behind Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin's argument Bae Se-jin picks up the dice of fate.

And the moment when board game host Sun Ah-hyun also hides the dice behind her book.

Above it as before the image of the prison warden Seon Ah-hyeon is superimposed.

and

-…!

This time the player can hand Bae Se-jin's dice which he must roll to the prison warden Seon Ah-hyun.

So that he can manipulate the dice eyes at will.

-… ah.

So the result is.

[1]

…the player's jackpot.

-… The warden was persuaded by the hacker's words.

After a moment of silence.

-Wow!!

-Nonsense! You are amazing!

-What have been the psychopath's actions up until now? What kind of counselor is a hacker?

Teen Testa who was playing the game also went crazy due to the crazy results.

In the end the ending ends with the prison guard Seon Ah-hyun escaping from the facility together.

-… You head to the exit… accompanied by a mysterious and scary guard with a baton.

The board game host's hand moved.

There was a close-up of the warden's card going out of the stone wall of the board game prison.

Leave this message.

-… thank you.

[Hidden Ending]

~%EA%B5%AC%EC%A1%B0

"under…"

Really… it was a beautiful ending even watching it again…

Immersed in the lingering feeling of watching the ending of a drama Homma watched the streamer watch the ending together for a moment.

[Wow… it's all going out like this. Everyone is escaping.]

The streamer was also absorbed in the lingering emotions and watched the ending credits together.

And he didn't forget to leave his thoughts about each member whenever their cut appeared in the credits.

[Ah~ I think Mr. Moon Dae's experimental subject character came out really cool. Oh Mr. Cheong-woo was also really good when he was fighting or doing something like this~]

'yes.'

It was when Homma nodded inwardly thinking that she would like to hear more comments about the university.

The attic version of Sun Ah-hyun passed by in the credits.

Then the streamer suddenly started saying something out of the blue.

[But I… I think this person is a bit suspicious.]

"…??"

[A game master playing board games in the attic? This person is playing two roles as the head of the prison guard.]

Right?

[But he was the only one who had a bad expression in this ending. Does his expression look bad only in the hidden ending where the prison guard escapes?]

Uh huh?

[Oh right. Seon Ah-hyun. I… is this person really a bit of a dark person? It's the same.]

[Oh is it too much? Anyway please let me know when the next work comes out. Let's play!]

After receiving the donation message 'Dungdung come to your senses this is an album there is no next work' the streamer burst into laughter.

But Homma couldn't laugh.

I felt it intuitively.

'It's a piece of cake.'

This… is the worldview of the next album!

But then.

‘In the ending credit scenario part… Testa was listed first.’

They planned this…?

Since when on earth have you been planning and making this?!

* * *

“The 60-day forced march… Thank you for your hard work.”

“…”

“…”

There is no answer. They all seem to be corpses.

No in fact it looked like a corpse.

I just lay there barely blinking at the manager. My body receiving manual therapy felt like a punching bag filled with water.

‘I need Bacchus.’

If I could get that trait again I thought it would be okay to take off 30% of the settlement fee. really.

I rolled my eyes and looked around.

Everyone was stretched out with faces as if they were going to faint.

Cha Yu-jin who is usually full of energy doesn’t look like she wants to open her mouth that much now.

It was worth it.

‘It was crazy.’

Instead of having programmers create game content we film it ourselves.

‘That also goes hand in hand with stage preparation… ’

It wouldn’t be surprising if Ryu Cheong-woo or Keun Se-jin who filmed a lot of action scenes planned to assassinate me for making the schedule.

What’s surprising is… those guys aren’t MVPs either.

It’s over there.

“wait a minute. “I’ll press it.”

“…100 million.”

Bae Se-jin.

That guy who looked like he was about to lose his breath actually played the main role in the album game from guiding members to recording narration.

I was literally divided.

Moreover even before they split they played a very crucial position.

I forced myself to open my mouth.

“brother.”

“…”

“They took the time…”

Although Bae Se-jin didn’t dare say ‘It was fortunate’ he opened his mouth to see if he understood.

“…uh.”

“…”

Ah who are ‘they’?

‘The most important manpower to succeed in this damn thing within time… ’

That’s right… the filming crew.

Actually that was the biggest problem.

Among the fields that idols can do such as entertainment dramas they cannot use T1’s capital or money…

‘Even though they are photography experts there were areas where they could cooperate with us… ’

Just the movie version.

Because there were so few cases where idols appeared it was a field where T1 did not immediately put us in check on the entire market like entertainment or music rooms.

‘And Bae Se-jin shot 10 million movies… ’

So surprisingly that very sociable guy gathered up his movie connections from his days as a child actor and airlifted them to me.

People who will film the game.

From there this crazy operation began.

Chapter 465

It's funny to say it now but actually when we were planning it our game wasn't at this volume.

-Well it's a supplement to the USB album.

-That's right. And I think fans will enjoy it after playing it for a day.

-Good~ Since it's so refreshing won't there be a lot of talk about it on social media? I agree!

Literally an extended version of the music video.

In other words it was like an option included in a one-hour movie that could be viewed as an appendix to the purchase of the album.

It was a brilliant effort to sublimate the shortcomings of the physical album's meagerness into an extreme over-immersion concept.

'…but.'

The fact that our first meeting was at an abandoned factory was the start of all problems…

-That… I think it's possible? Yes I think it would be fun!

It was good until the first time they brought out the interactive music video method.

-Really?

-yes! Actually there is a tool we were developing before right? If you don't mind if you apply this… this will work right?

-Oh that's okay. You said the play time was about an hour right? I think we can somehow fit it in schedule-wise!

At this time I even smiled inwardly.

Actually I came here knowing everything.

'I heard that originally what these people were planning for the next work of <127 Section> was an interactive music video-type horror adventure.'

After that <127 Section> became a huge hit under T1…

Well then isn't the result obvious?

'T1 must have been singing a song telling me to release the next <127 Section>.'

So unable to resist the crazy parachute leadership of T1 Plays who was trying to eat the very bones of <127 Section> he escaped.

That's the accepted opinion of academia… no it's the accepted opinion of game enthusiasts.

However if you happen to pick up a genre that was discontinued during early development it can be recycled so why not try it to earn money for your next project as well?

-However this is a slightly older version of the physics engine and other aspects… If you want to add action elements to the game more development time will be needed.

-Ah it's okay for us to just put in the options!

It didn't matter.

We're not trying to create an all-time masterpiece with amazing gameplay we just need to have amazing visuals and be able to choose the route.

All we had to do was make the fans feel like they were interacting with us.

-Oh if you say so just refine the UI…

So the story progressed quickly and quickly and we had a great time signing autographs to the employees in a friendly atmosphere.

And then this story comes out.

-oh! Then would you like to come see us filming our music video?

-Wow is that okay?

-Ah of course~ We will be working as a team now so we would be grateful if you could see it!

-It would be really helpful if game production experts could watch the content creation process and give their opinions!

This is why the two representatives and several key production personnel were invited to the filming site which was written as a music video and read as a game content and movie.

And… on the day of filming.

"…!!"

"Wow it's been a long time."

"There is no separate crank in."

Their mouths open and their eyes sparkle at the splendid equipment and settings created by Bae Se-jin's staff.

'Of course the money is all mine… '

No matter how good Bae Se-jin acted as a child and showed outstanding ability during cameos would a capitalist society function without money?

I think this is why capital is so important.

It felt like I could hear the sound of 10 billion dollars burning.

‘Still I guess it’s fortunate that the filming location was secured in advance… ’

I was fortunate to find a suitable building in the local area. Anything that doesn’t work out will have to be corrected with post-processed CG but I still wondered where this was going.

“Under the eyes of the door~”

“yes.”

I followed the makeup artist’s instructions and squinted to see the first hitter of the day standing in the middle of the set wearing a police uniform.

“Um can I go with this feeling?”

It’s a big push to film the prologue.

He played the character of an urban legend-like jailer who pretends to be a friendly police officer but then kidnaps people… but he wrote the lines himself.

So that you can digest it as naturally as possible.

‘Because we are not established actors to begin with.’

The characters were usually made to use a tone as similar to that of the usual members as possible or if that was not possible the amount of dialogue was drastically reduced.

In the case of Lee Se-jin… the acting class she took while working in the virtual world created by the system had some influence on her getting that role.

-Wow~ That shitty group life is so helpful! I guess hardships and adversity are all stepping stones to growth haha!

-He's clenching his fist. I was clearly traumatized.

Of course it wouldn't have been possible without Bae Se-jin's coaching.

Even now Bae Se-jin is looking at Keun Se-jin who has finished filming the first cut with eagle eyes and giving feedback.

"no. Talk more like you normally do now. "If you deliberately try to express that there is something you are hiding by being conscious of the story it will become more unnatural for beginners?"

"ah."

"If you include the BGM and the other actor's reaction it will look suspicious so don't take the lead and try to be meaningful."

"Yes yes. Ah brother. "Hang it back over your shoulder like the camera person here…"

Lee Se-jin seemed to be busy asking and picking questions cheerfully without any sign of being awkward about the situation being reversed.

'Well the schedule is 60 days. Is there any way we can afford that?'

And he completed filming the prologue more successfully than expected.

"Cut! Good~"

"…! thank you!"

I chuckled as I heard light exclamations and looks like 'It's pretty good' being exchanged among the people involved in the filming.

“…good job!”

“Thanks for teaching me well~”

The two guys with the same name exchanged congratulations quite awkwardly.

“Oh my gosh it would be nice to take one more picture if the car didn’t explode… Unfortunately I think that’s it!”

The fact that he didn’t miss the behind-the-scenes cam appeal at the end was truly a great achievement.

And then we moved to the location and started filming the main episode right away. This is because the time Bae Se-jin promised with this person was not long in the first place.

‘The schedule is killing me.’

For reference from the filming of the main episode the baton was taken from the completed actors.

And I started with the most important scenes.

[…]

In other words Bae Se-jin filmed the scene of the attempt to escape from the main gate and received the OK at once.

‘…It’s overwhelming though.’

His acting skills were at a level where you could almost feel some kind of energy. Should I say she looks like Cha Yujin on stage?

Bae Se-jin is now a person who can do enough for one person on stage but when you compare it with acting you can see the difference.

The director also seems to be the most excited of the day.

“Hey our Sejin is still the same~”

“Oh um… thank you.”

Bae Se-jin looked a little embarrassed but seemed quite proud.

After that the filming was prepared smoothly and proceeded tightly.

“Yes I’m going to secret room number 3 next!”

The good news is that the shooting order was fixed so that no one had to change costumes to save time.

Thanks to this I am still wearing a very uncomfortable straitjacket…

‘If it doesn’t look good on screen it goes looking for the baby that made it.’

I spent that day thinking like that.

“It’s radish. How about this…?”

“It’s very plausible.”

And he was about to nod to Sun Ah-hyeon who was walking down the hallway while wielding her baton with restraint.

“hey.”

“…? yes.”

People from the ruined factory or even the industrial complex followed us there too… The people who had been quietly enjoying themselves all of a sudden suddenly started talking actively.

“Have you ever thought about how to proceed?”

What is it?

“It’s the ending cut you shot earlier. You made an album in the shape of the key device shown there… That photo shoot? “You said you were going to put the code there right?”

“yes.”

By the way.

“It was so nice to see it in person. “The design of the gate the composition the costumes everything…”

The female representative clasped her hands tightly. The male representative continues speaking hastily.

“Hey how about a system where the character who presses the code changes depending on the photo card member?”

“…??”

“Or depending on your existing choices you have built up a level of favorability and use that as a base…”

for a moment.

Opinions were expressed among the members but all kinds of voices were cut out due to issues of time and environment…

The developers themselves started pouring out of their mouths.

“…”

Apparently… everything from the filming location costume concept and Bae Se-jin’s acting skills seemed to stimulate these people’s tastes.

No no matter what.

‘These people don’t know what realistic thinking means.’

I barely asked.

“It’s good but is it… possible to implement it?”

“…Can’t we?”

Do we understand…?

“But don’t you want to try? As we continued filming it seemed like it would be good to make new options for the things that were NGed because of those ad-libs…”

“…”

“Oh and I also noticed that Eugene escaped. A bit of a gag ending? “I think I can write with that feeling!”

“Did I take a good picture? “Did you like it earlier?”

“wait for a sec.”

Where did you come from?

The two representatives are nodding their heads at Cha Yu-jin who comes out in a straitjacket with flashing eyes.

“yes!”

“We want to use it?”

“Then use it! Umm please write!”

“and!”

I’m just glad that the guy who was absolutely against this concept praised it… no before that.

I barely opened my mouth.

“…is that time available?”

“Haha that’s because you’re just adding something that already exists as an option…”

then?

“If we who are free from labor laws work overtime!”

“yes!”

“…”

So… the ad-lib scenes and NG scenes that were originally supposed to be cut were saved with options and gag endings so the volume increased like crazy.

It didn’t end here.

“And you said there are three versions.”

“yes. However only the shape of the USB album and the prologue are different…”

“Wow wouldn’t it be more like that if we put in a private event?”

“…??”

“If we could revive the scenario that was discarded here…”

It was then.

“Uh is there a scenario that was discarded? is it so?”

“yes! “Look at this.”

With the director joining in a decision was made to extend filming on the spot.

“I’m sorry but I don’t have time to memorize the script…”

“Ah your personalities are similar anyway so don’t be too conscious of the script and just go with the feeling of adapting to the situation!”

“…”

“You wrote it anyway so why are you having such a hard time! “If you want to act you have to have that experience.”

We are idols who want to perform on stage.

…However due to the existence of numerous idols capable of acting led by Bae Se-jin that counterargument was impossible.

And even the leader…

“Oh we’re okay.”

“…!”

…So the conclusion is that a game was released that was ridiculously over 2 and a half hours long.

‘It’s 2.5 times more.’

In addition since there are three versions including a bad ending a gag ending a normal ending a true ending and a hidden ending the actual play time has increased tremendously.

Thanks to this the aggro seemed to have increased by about three times than planned.

If anything crazy things are said about the game and streaming continues so it remains a hot topic for several days.

-Testa game which is hot these days… I tried it too.

-You guys know that? If Ravin doesn’t check even once in the lab there is a route for accidents to happen. Bottles are in trouble and mental issues are in trouble haha (video)

-Seon Ah-hyun's hidden ending caused a stir among Testa fans (be careful of fear)

Of course not all of these people have actually played our game.

Most of the time I just end up laughing after watching the fans' reactions to short videos or edited videos that are passed around.

'It's not even a mobile game in the first place it's a package game but what popularity does it have?'

It's a completely fan-sniping music video universe expansion concept.

This may have contributed significantly to album sales but it was not a huge hit.

'Now that streaming has been released it has the adverse effect that people who are moderately interested are satisfied with that.'

However it was very good that a new potential fan base was introduced by creating an incentive through the game and that existing fans were satisfied…

I caught the most important thing.

-Wow I never thought Testa would make a comeback like this haha.

-I've already caught the title melody I've seen so many reactions haha.

First of all hasn't the fact that 'Testa is making a comeback' itself been imprinted on the Internet?

In addition the refrain melody of the title song is included in the middle of the game so anyone who has seen it once whether streaming or reacting will have become familiar with it.

'I'll be satisfied if I can get people to listen to it just once.'

And as expected Testa's music rankings are not lacking compared to the previous time when T1's crazy promotion was behind it.

'…! yes.'

Like this… Now that we have announced the news of our comeback all we have to do is deliver the final blow on stage.

'And just today.'

We will be performing our first comeback stage live. On public broadcasting.

"hmm."

I laughed. It's a pretty satisfying result.

but…

[Mr. Mundae! Are you testers interested in a more serious game? I was wondering if it would be good if the characters of the testers made a brief cameo appearance in the comedy ending in our next work…]

"it's okay. "It's really okay."

The people in the ruined industrial complex seem to have come to regard us as just another colleague… Let's think about it later.

* * *

"…yes. thank you."

Bae Se-jin thanked the person on the other end of the phone once again.

Even though it had been a long time since I last contacted you the director willingly accepted my call.

Last time he directed a drama in which he made a cameo appearance as a shaman.

The director who was also on the production team of the 10 Million Movie in which he appeared as a baby shaman when he was a child was of course someone who also wrote and directed movies.

She created the space.

So he was able to meet film crew members he knew from his days as a child actor and try to make difficult requests.

'…Good for you for showing courage.'

It was an incredibly forced march… but it still felt like the first time I had contributed so much to the team.

'Because the response was good… '

Now all I have to do is work hard on stage. It was time for him to once again make a decision about this activity.

– Do you remember? When you were this young you suddenly shed tears like chicken droppings on set so all the adults were very embarrassed.

-Yes yes?

-You said it so beautifully 'I was just holding on to your emotions why are you doing that?' A very bold baby.

"Ugh… Okay yes."

Bae Se-jin barely suppressed his cough.

The director who was happily talking about memories suddenly muttered in a low voice.

-Of course… it's a waste. It's a waste.

"…"

-I really enjoyed filming this time Sejin. Jeongjin also said it was nice to see you after a long time.

“ah.”

Bae Se-jin recalled the actor who played the role of the driver in the prologue scene.

He was his senior when he was a child actor.

‘…You did a good job.’

It was a moment when I was immersed in memories of that time.

-My sister got a really good script this time.

A straightforward proposal came from the other side of the phone.

-You’re old enough now don’t you want to try it?

“…!”

It was 30 minutes before Testa’s first comeback live performance.

Chapter 466

Seven people came up on stage.

This is Testa's first comeback stage on public television.

Internet users were already sitting down and talking.

-It's even weirder when I write it down like this that it's a tester that doesn't appear on T-Net's music room.

-Next week can you grit your teeth and watch a music night that doesn't rank first on the testers?

-Is today's testa ending?

It was inevitable that a story about Tnet that had not even been published would come out.

So far Testa has been nothing short of an icon of T1's KPOP business success.

That was an image that has not been removed even after breaking up with T1.

So as long as that image remains unless there is a huge upheaval that causes the origin to disappear… It also means that the public broadcasters do not need to be more friendly to Testa than necessary.

So Testa reasonably got the second place in the ending today.

-Testa is out already?

-If it were me I would have taken this opportunity and given the ending first but have some respect for the public broadcaster haha.

It was sorted by year which was somewhat ‘strict’ compared to popularity.

But regardless of that people thought that the highlight of this week’s KBC music broadcast was Testa’s comeback stage.

That was enough.

-Start

One stage.

With the popularity of the comeback it was worth all the effort put into getting people to see it.

Testa’s stage has begun.

[Doong…!]

A minor riff melody that seems to be a modulation of the sound of a stomach churn.

When the lights come on what you see is a gorgeous set with the ‘KIS’ logo floating on it. It looks like a study or laboratory.

And in the very center of the elegant and conceptual stage there are triangular figures standing symmetrically.

Just turn back.

The seven men slowly moved their necks in that state.

The leather texture sparkled with light.

A leather suit that hugs the body tightly.

-It is a group phantom thief uniform.

-crazy

And the minor midi note and electric guitar sound seemed to increase in height…

The drop accompanied by a crackling sound effect is the introduction to an intense major key.

[Touch your hand

My tape is cold again]

The formation spread as if broken and the group dance of the remaining members moved according to the solo dance movement of Park Moon-dae crossing his arms.

Then from the outer right corner the next member slid in front of the camera.

[The moment my heart beats

All my senses are slow]

Ryu Cheong-woo's part where he performs cool choreography that involves kneeling spinning and stretching out one arm.

There too the group dance and formation moved according to his arm gestures.

-Oh wow

– Look at Liu Chengwu's arms he's crazy.

That's right.

The choreography created under the theme of 'Butterfly Effect' consisted of a structure that changed the formation according to the solo dance gestures of the member singing the part.

-and

-Oh please give me a camera.

-I have to hold this well.

The stage races by in a scene that makes you desperately want a fixed full camera.

The drum beat rose as if my heart was pounding.

[Exciting contact

In your silent eyes

[Finding a clear answer]

Kim Rae-bin who took on the vocal part after a long time wore a unique turtleneck-style phantom attire that went up to her neck.

After finishing his part with narrowed eyes he gave a high five to the person who would sing the next part as if exchanging batons.

This is Cha Yu-jin.

[There is only one choice

Yes take it all (one more)

Even if I lose this tight grip]

The pair choreography with Kim Rae-bin unfolded nimbly like a battle.

And Park Moon-dae and Ryu Cheong-woo's doubling goes up as if to support the rap which has a lively feel.

-I want the live to start

-I can’t hear AR

-As expected Testa should sing a difficult song.

And this is where the rest that adjusts the tempo comes in.

A passage where only a low-pitched voice is heard.

[Let’s Start the melee]

There was a close-up of Kim Rae-bin grabbing his chin and neck in the center.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-evil

And the pre-chorus.

[Find it and look at its face

I don’t care what’s next

Chaser today too

[Don’t stop your hands]

A difficult section that goes back and forth between complex beat rhythms and vocal ranges. In line with this the difficulty level of the choreography also increased rapidly and became more flashy.

In this part where the center becomes more important first Sejin Lee with strong power and then Sun Ahhyun with exquisite control of strength and weakness led the mood.

[Find out everything

Don’t be scared what’s next

Chaser tomorrow too

[Don’t end the twist]

-Big phantom thief uniform… Who chose the thin black lining? Wow.

-Seon Ah-hyun how many times did you change the tempo? I didn’t even see what you were doing just now.

I thought it would bring the viewing experience to its peak and then finally the chorus.

Bits are dropped.

[Just roll the dice

[Trust take my side]

Contrast with the pre-chorus.

Simple rhythm and main melody that hits just right. And a catchy riff melody.

Made up of these three central elements the easy-to-remember chorus is filled with catchy dance breaks.

-If you hear footsteps it seems like even the footsteps will hit you hard.

-turned

-When on earth did you practice all this while filming the game? Are you a testa superhuman?

The signature arm movement which seemed to give an unexpected acceleration to the movement and grab it was a perfect match for the phantom thief’s uniform.

It is a subtle yet strangely sexy element.

In the end this exclamation comes out.

-It's the same as Testa.

-It was self-produced.

-Wow the real feeling is the same but it feels even more fluttery.

-Where are the bastards who said they were capital suckers for the Testa T1 project?

It was the exhilarating satisfaction that comes from meeting the expectations of Testa.

Why does this phenomenon happen?

Let's take an example. One group moved companies. Even if most of the members remain the same… can the color of the group change?

The correct answer is 'yes'.

This could have been possible if the working staff making the album changed and the planning team changed.

This was not only a question of quality but also a question of whether the 'feel' that made fans and the public like this group remain the same.

A color unique to that group.

What the public expects from the group.

Due to the absence of manpower and capital such things may no longer be made.

However Testa practically disproved it on this stage.

'Testa does what you expect!'

Thanks to this people watching the stage unconsciously realized it and enjoyed it.

-I'm just amazed throughout the first verse.

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ I really don't know anything else about these guys but their performance is fun.

Testa continued to fly high on the track where he first debuted.

[Okay this Final round]

The stage moved forward without hesitation and welcomed the bridge.

The harsh electronic sound disappeared and a somewhat overwhelming keyboard sound was piled up to match the drum sound.

In keeping with the atmosphere Bae Se-jin raised the melody from low to mid-range clearly and firmly without any unnecessary techniques.

[pull]

Cha Yu-jin who jumped out at the end landed on both feet like a wild cat and took slow steps with strength.

And again the final dance break.

[Just roll the dice

[Trust take my side]

-evil paradise

-It's really crazy.

As if he had made up his mind Testa filled the stage without losing his strength until the end and without dropping a single movement or note.

At the ending until Ryu Cheong-woo who was standing in the center looked back and playfully lifted the gloves he had taken off.

It was a phantom thief-like ending member selection.

Wow!

And like the cheers of fans filling the screen the Internet chat window flew by.

-lol

-Testa! Testa! Testa! Testa! Testa! Testa! Testa!

-torn

-oh

-Give me a replay.

And fans on social media were so excited that they poured out words onomatopoeia and emoticons like crazy.

I couldn't help it. Because it was so thrilling!

It was only when their rational thinking returned that they began speaking in complete sentences.

-I'm saving all the corrections as they come up. When I came to my senses I saved the same Cheongwoo 10 times.

-I'm really looking forward to this activity.

-There was a straitjacket in the Sanhok spoiler right? Please tell me it was there I beg you like this – Will there be a lot of public broadcast entertainment this time? I was actually craving some public broadcast entertainment haha.

The moment they saw the stage they immediately realized the success of this activity and their happiness expectations reached the maximum and expectations for their schedule began to pour in.

In the meantime answers and rumors were passing by.

-I wish I could film another variety show with that PD who has Carrot Coins haha We're so cute haha.

Wow that's right haha

I think it was already taken? Haha

Um… I'm sorry for passing by but I'm not sure if it'll be okay since the PD belongs to T1. Looking at the schedule it looks like Testa doesn't appear on T1's broadcasting station.

Oh please

Could T1 block it?;;

Rumor ㄴㄴ It may be that the schedule hasn't been released yet but why are you doing this already? Just wait.

However most of them were filled with anticipation and were busy waiting for the next stage or looking at the reactions to this comeback stage with pride.

For example this best comment.

-The testers know that they are good at it right? Hahaha.

How can you not know hahaha

And there was a fan who grinned and then suddenly had this thought.

How did Testa feel when that stage ended?

* * *

“Thank you for your hard work~”

“Wow!!”

Cheers louder than the last comeback filled the waiting room.

The sight of even the staff cheering was heartwarming and full of heat and passion.

The first album released in a new company new environment and facing unprecedented obstacles.

Everyone couldn’t help but feel new emotions.

The members even ran to Woo Soo-su and caught up with Park Moon-dae who was immediately monitoring today’s pre-recording reactions.

“Look at Moon Dae-moon University’s reaction?”

“uh.”

“How about…?”

Park Moon-dae said simply.

“good.”

“…!!”

It was rare for him to make such an assertion about public opinion without commenting on it.

And that means…

“really?”

This meant that the response was overwhelmingly positive even considering that they were really fans!

The members were dumbfounded but then burst out laughing.

“Wow… Testa is alive!”

“Haha I showed you something today!”

“Oh~ Chungwoo hyung!”

Even Ryu Cheong-woo used the pre-stage slogan ‘Ah testa I’m showing you something today’ and said something excited.

Bae Se-jin also took a deep breath with a flushed face then approached and looked at the screen that Park Moon-dae was watching.

Sun Ah-hyun smiled brightly and slightly moved away.

“Oh here…!”

“…”

Bae Se-jin read the contents of the smartphone that Park Moon-dae did not bother to cover.

‘It’s so good I can’t express it in words make sure to watch the show.’

‘I feel like I’m going to cry because I’m so happy’

‘I hope this activity lasts long’

‘I have a strong feeling that I won’t be in my seat at the concert’

The reactions overflowing with anticipation and happiness without any trace of pretense… definitely touched me.

“…Good.”

“It really is!”

I was happy too.

‘Good.’

I feel like I did a good job.

It seems like the choreography was followed well and the singing was not lacking.

The fact that the costume was made of leather that did not wick sweat was uncomfortable but now that I have several years of stage experience I hardly care.

“…”

So that is.

Bae Se-jin had no choice but to make a decision.

It was something that could not be helped.

“Congratulations to the testers~”

“yes!”

So he was the first to change his clothes among the members who were busy changing their clothes… and headed to the sofa in the corner.

And then I turned on the notepad I was writing on again.

I couldn’t calm down so I tried to write it down but I closed it after 30 seconds because I was wondering what I was going to do right before the performance.

[Thank you so much for the suggestion. I also really want to appear in the director’s work]

He gritted his teeth and started writing down the letters he had written up to that point.

[…I really want to appear in the director's work. But now I think I should focus more on group activities so I won't regret it.]

This is correct.

'If it overlaps with the activity period… it's not allowed.'

Even if we couldn't do it during all the other album promotions we can't do it now.

'With what mindset did everyone start again?'

And this time it seems like he really… not only barely followed the implementation but actually contributed to the completeness of the piece.

I didn't want to pour cold water on him for my personal actions. He also now had some understanding of the idol group ecosystem.

'Now is the time to focus on group activities.'

Bae Se-jin started writing again. To refine the language of how to answer when talking on the phone.

[I'm sorry for rejecting the offer you made with good intentions]

It was then.

"Hyung what are you doing?"

"…!!"

I thought my heart was dropping.

As soon as he turned his eyes he saw Park Moon-dae with a sullen face looking at him with an expression that showed him seeing something strange.

"…?!"

Bae Se-jin's expression seemed to be asking 'What were you looking at that made you so surprised?' and Bae Se-jin's feet went numb!

"no! "Just text me!"

"It's a notepad."

"…"

"I'm sorry but I looked at the words a little because of the location."

Park Moon-dae sat at a reasonable distance next to the sofa. Bae Se-jin stiffened.

"Did you get a role offer from the director?"

"Mo lower your voice."

"…?"

Park Moon-dae thought 'That's okay' but for now he just matched the rhythm.

Bae Se-jin continued speaking in a low serious voice.

"…okay. But since it is a period of activity I will reject it."

"I don't think you want to do it."

Bae Se-jin was moved to tears for a moment.

of course!

But I also knew that I shouldn't be angry. Park Moon-dae did nothing wrong.

So I took a deep breath and answered more calmly.

“…I’m saying it’s not that what I want to do is important but that now doesn’t seem like the right time!”

“hmm…”

Park Moon-dae sighed without an expression and nodded after a few seconds.

“Then let’s ask everyone if they think so.”

“…??”

Testa conference reopens.

Chapter 467

In fact it is natural for members of an idol group with a lot of seniority to pursue individual activities.

The group's profitability declined after its heyday. So shouldn't each of us explore in advance how to make a living?

Of course these days there are many exceptions and Testa was one of those exceptions.

"We've barely had any proper individual activities until now."

"Yes."

The group continued to do well…

'If I were to say personal activities they were limited to entertainment shows or pictorials.'

Since I already came from a survival world I refrained from personal activities for a few years for the sake of convergence in the fandom and ended up here.

I opened my mouth.

"But wouldn't it be okay to start slowly now?"

"hmm."

Bae Se-jin's shoulders trembled. The members' gaze reflexively turned towards Bae Se-jin.

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

“So are we having a meeting? Are you playing Sejin hyung?”

A quick-witted guy.

“…I did receive an offer.”

“…! “That’s what you said!”

“Congratulations Chu…!”

First of all Bae Se-jin’s face turned red among the good but tactless people who responded positively.

“Oh I said I wouldn’t…!”

“…!?”

“I told Park Moon-dae earlier but… we’ve just made a comeback so I can’t miss out just to act!”

“ah…!”

Exclamation marks appeared on the faces of Sun Ah-hyun and Kim Rae-bin.

But soon Raebin Kim asked cautiously.

“Is… is it impossible to run parallel schedules?”

That’s right! Then you can do both!

It’s a nerdy question with an insane efficiency characteristic that more than doubles composition speed.

However Bae Se-jin grabbed both hands.

“…And what if I make a mistake?”

“yes?”

“I… I’ll be honest. I’m the slowest at learning the stage here. “I started late and my talent… I’m sure there are problems.”

“…judgment is subjective depending on what reference point is used…”

“But do you think I can play roles in completely different types of productions at the same time and not make a single mistake on stage?”

“…!!”

Bae Se-jin raised his head.

His face was pale.

“What would people think if something like that happened?”

Bae Se-jin who has already quit his first solo activity will be receiving a barrage of criticism.

But surprisingly he wasn’t referring to that point.

“There was talk within the group that there was something wrong with Bae Se-jin and then he suddenly overexerted himself and started combining group activities and acting… That’s what they would think!”

“…”

“It’s not that I don’t know anything about idol activities like when I just debuted. In my own way… I know the situation now.”

okay. I know you watch Gukbbong on WeTube.

‘Then usually KPOP reactions public reactions on WeTube and even Rekkas appear in related videos.’

Just by reading the title you can roughly get to know this guy.

About secondary rumors created by rumors.

And which rumors become hot topics and create waves.

“In a situation where we just changed companies and made our first comeback… no.”

Bae Se-jin finished speaking with a fairly stern expression.

“That’s my decision.”

“…”

oh.

I put my chin on my chin.

First of all regardless of the validity of the conclusion he reached.

‘I drew the process to the conclusion quite logically and in depth.’

It was not an attempt to avoid it but rather a conclusion reached by putting one’s head in the situation and analyzing it closely.

‘It’s grown a lot.’

Since that was a respectful attitude I planned to start the conversation with a light partial agreement but…

“why?”

“…?!”

This guy puts a question mark first?

Ryu Cheong-woo continued speaking calmly while staring at Bae Sejin among the members with widened eyes.

“Sejin. “Why do you think that if you act it will inevitably interfere with your stage activities?”

“Who says it’s unconditional?”

Bae Se-jin seemed upset but soon calmed down.

“…That means there is a high possibility of that happening. I can imagine it right now. “That situation…!”

“Imagination does not always become reality.”

“…!”

“Sejin.”

Liu Chengwu spoke softly.

However it seemed a bit strict.

“I said it before… when you imagine the future you seem to think more about the possibility that it will be bad rather than the possibility that it will be good.”

“…”

“There’s no law that says that’s right.”

Bae Se-jin looked a little dazed.

“Even when we talked about this before in the end it didn’t go as you worried and it was resolved well. “You remember right?”

“…”

Silent affirmation.

And although Liu Qingwu deliberately referred to it vaguely I realized what ‘the situation in which this story was told before’ was.

Bae Se-jin saw Eun Se-jin at that moment.

‘I think you’re talking about when the two of you fought like dogs.’

At that time I was in charge of talking to Big Se-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo was in charge of Bae Se-jin.

It seems like the two had a conversation like that at the time.

‘Bae Se-jin probably said that Eun Se-jin hated her so much that she would never apologize first… I think she thought they wouldn’t be able to reconcile even if she apologized first.’

It seems that Liu Chengwu calmed this down.

And well the people with the same name have reconciled and are still getting along well despite the constant friction.

In short it is true that Bae Se-jin thought too negatively at the time.

However I understood why Bae Se-jin made that decision.

The reason may be that the two of them didn’t get along so much and they started to feel bad for each other and suddenly got into a big fight.

In fact I wonder if Bae Se-jin’s way of thinking itself has an empirical reason.

‘…I guess it’s because of my experience as a child actor.’

An agency like X went bankrupt once. Moreover we even saw it live when the biological father was like that and almost ruined it.

It seems like a natural instinct for that guy to consider the worst outcome when making a decisive choice.

The problem is…

‘And me too… ’

That’s something I can understand.

When it comes to my childhood experiences there are a few things that jump out to me right away.

This is a situation where the worst possible assumption becomes reality.

A person who has experienced something like that always assumes the ‘worst case’ and makes future plans.

‘It’s about preparing.’

Well I don’t think I suffered any losses so I’m not particularly dissatisfied with my thinking circuit… Ryu Cheong-woo seemed to feel very sorry for Bae Se-jin.

“During my career so far I’ve hardly ever made a mistake on stage. It was like that even when I couldn’t sleep properly. But will I suddenly make a mistake this time?”

“…”

“I think not. And even if it does there is a possibility that it will pass without any problems… Wouldn’t it be too unfortunate if I gave up for that reason?”

Bae Se-jin’s eyes turned hazy.

And I felt an emotion bordering on astonishment toward Liu Chengwu.

‘How could that bastard do that?’

How can a guy who retired from the national team before his prime due to the aftereffects of a childhood accident that he can't even remember live with that kind of mentality?

Even though we had lived together for several years and knew everything about the situation… no in fact that made it even more difficult to understand.

'Well how can all humans be the same?'

There needs to be this guy and that guy for the team to run.

As evidence Bae Se-jin seems to have been a little emotionally shaken by those firm words.

And as if to drive the momentum Ryu Cheong-wu spoke.

Not to Bae Se-jin but to me.

"what do you think about it?"

"…"

Why?

'I guess they thought they would provide backup since they called a meeting.'

I answered hesitantly.

"No well… what you said is correct. Actually I think what Sejin said is correct. "There is a possibility."

"…!"

"…okay?"

Ryu Cheong-wu why are you making a glum face?

Anyway I shrugged.

“And even if I persuade you like this I think Sejin will still feel anxious. “I don’t think there’s a need to do personal activities like that.”

“…”

“So I would like to refute Sejin’s reasoning.”

“…??”

“Bar rebuttal… are you talking about it?”

That’s right.

“I think there’s a fundamental reason why I’m worried that my brother will make a mistake in the first place.”

“…root cause?”

The expression on his face asks what the hell he’s talking about.

Listen.

“The schedule during the active period is tight.”

Because it’s so tight there’s no time to prepare your mind and body for the stage.

The worry is that in that environment one’s own skills will inevitably lead to mistakes.

“If my schedule had been a little more flexible in the first place I wouldn’t have said it was okay. “Even if we do it in parallel we still have time to practice.”

Bae Se-jin answered with a dumbfounded expression.

“Yeah… yeah but.”

I nodded.

“Then you don’t have to worry.”

“…?? why…?”

“We’ll have a better schedule than before.”

“why?!”

I clasped my hands together.

“All T1 series schedules are blocked…”

“…”

“…”

That’s right.

Bae Se-jin who inadvertently expected a schedule similar to that of previous albums missed this loophole.

‘We… don’t have many broadcasts to go on.’

All you have to do is watch one or two public TV entertainment shows and a few WeTube posts.

The rest unintentionally can’t go out because they don’t fit the group’s name.

‘But the game covered the topic… ’

In the end it was as if we also pulled in activities to promote the album during the crazy 60 days we spent preparing for the album.

And as if he realized it Bae Se-jin's eyes became dots.

He seems embarrassed.

"Well… think about it."

"yes. And while you're thinking about it I also have another agenda item to talk about."

"What what?"

why. We didn't hold a meeting to only talk about your acting activities.

"In the first place rather than just Sejin we thought it would be a good idea to split up and make a few individual appearances during this promotion period."

"yes??"

"Uh should we…?"

"Well the album came out but all the members are doing individual activities… Of course whoever wants to do it can do it but I don't mind doing it next time."

Ryu Cheong-woo's cautious response was glad but it was actually a deliberate move.

"No it's actually because of the album."

"hmm?"

"Because the group's ability to appear together on programs or events is limited I thought it would be better to split them up into individuals and show their faces a few more times."

"ah."

Then since it is a T1 series the truncated schedule will be able to be compensated to some extent.

Shouldn't we also let people who aren't familiar with the SNS community WeTube know that the Testa album has been released?

And… there is another advantage and it seems that Sun Ah-hyun has noticed it.

"ah…! Then Sejin's acting will be seen as part of that individual appearance… so it will be like we're all doing it together!"

That's right.

Bae Se-jin is particularly different and serious but if you let things go he won't get to the point where he gets caught in the crossfire alone.

"…! Indeed! "I couldn't reason that far!"

"Then I'm getting out of here!"

The conference room became bustling with Kim Rae-bin who was beginning to admire Sun Ah-hyun and Cha Yu-jin who was actively exploring the program.

Bae Se-jin bowed his head.

"…thank you. really."

"…!"

"no! I admire your willingness to even consider giving up for the album! "I will support your acting…!"

"okay. "I will support you."

"Fighting!"

Should I also add something?

“Also if it’s Sapae Station ask for a change.”

“…okay.”

Bae Se-jin’s voice was mixed with laughter.

And Bae Se-jin raised his head again and saw his fists clenched and his eyes shining.

“I’ll do well.”

Yes.

“As for the stage… I will practice consistently.”

Good.

“I… will work hard to promote the album during that shoot…!”

“it’s okay.”

That’s not it.

The game there is also brutal so it becomes X. Just work hard on your work and come back.

“It’s great but…”

Bae Se-jin seemed to want to say something more but suddenly made eye contact with someone and closed her mouth.

He was the one who had not said a single word throughout the meeting.

“…”

Big Sejin.

The guy was looking at Bae Se-jin with an expression that did not reveal any emotions.

Bae Se-jin seemed to reflexively avoid eye contact for a moment but that expression soon disappeared.

Instead I asked Keun Se-jin seriously.

“What do you… think?”

“…”

“Acting during my activities.”

Big Sejin looked at the table for a moment and then opened his mouth.

“Well wouldn’t it be okay in this situation?”

“…!”

It was a relaxed tone.

And it was a euphemistic affirmation.

Bae Se-jin was so surprised that he almost jumped out of his chair but soon cleared his throat.

“You didn’t say much… I thought you were holding back even though you didn’t like it!”

“Yes well… yes. “I feel like no matter what I react to like that they will interpret it in a negative way~”

“…”

‘It’s a perfect fit.’

Keun Se-jin deliberately spoke in a playful tone but it was clear that he was serious.

And Bae Se-jin also seemed to have been stabbed.

Even if he said that individual activities were a good idea he would have suspected that he was being sarcastic and if he had opposed it he would have nodded.

Big Sejin rubbed the back of his neck.

“We have annual leave… It’s almost time for everyone to pursue individual activities~ And I heard that you were planning on turning it down anyway.”

“…”

“It’s good if everything goes well together.”

Big Sejin ended his speech like that.

It really didn’t seem like empty words.

“…okay.”

And it seems that Bae Se-jin was able to take those words at face value this time.

“good. Then… I’ll organize it and contact the director!”

“Great!”

In this way Testa was ready to enter the album promotion period in earnest.

In a slightly unique way different from before.

* * *

“Um… But if we can’t cooperate with all affiliates related to T1 does that mean we won’t be able to produce group reality shows this time?!”

“Wait.”

Chapter 468

seoul. In a quiet office.

“I’ll tell you quickly!”

“yes. thank you.”

Bae Se-jin sat across the table as calmly as possible.

‘You really… came.’

It was truly the first work meeting I had had in a long time.

I remember working as an actor in a strange virtual world for several years but even though the experience was recent it was a bit vague like something from long ago or a vivid dream.

Bae Se-jin took a deep breath and said “Maybe that’s why I’m so nervous.”

Soon the person who had been waiting hurriedly appeared.

“Sejin is here!”

“…! hello.”

Director holding documents. It was he who offered him the role.

And he was accompanied by another person.

“Director director.”

“Yes~ Sejin has grown up a lot.”

The director with an arrogant appearance sat on the sofa with a grin.

‘It was this person…!’

When he was a child he was the director of a work in which he played a kidnapped child.

As for performance… A person who succeeds at the box office every other time.

‘…good.’

This was worth walking.

Bae Se-jin bowed his head in greeting and then sat down again.

“The kid is really the same. “It was all about being calm.”

“Is that so? “It still felt like I was living the right life.”

‘greatness.’

It’s not that bad.

Bae Se-jin who thought he had gone off the rails quite a bit (?) finally received a problematic proposal.

fluttering.

Documents are handed over to the table and the work is briefly explained.

‘Modern mystery horror… ’

Based on a webtoon a slightly bizarre and chilly 21st century modern world view of Korea was revealed.

A friendly explanation follows to Bae Se-jin who quickly reads the content.

“It’s a Net Plus original drama.”

“ah.”

If so it was definitely capital that was separate from T1 unless it was related to the production studio.

then…

‘I can do it right.’

If it were a drama rather than a movie it would take longer to film but wouldn’t it be okay to promote the next album?

It was a time when Bae Se-jin was working hard to come up with an idea.

“But actually… I’ve taken quite a few pictures right?”

“…!”

for a moment.

“…are you casting me now?”

Is it seasonal?

That might be why he appears in Season 2…

“Actually there was a rookie who could shoot it so I tried it… That crazy guy took a video and an article was published. “Is it a regional statement or something?”

“…greatness.”

“Our Sejin is clean even though it’s been almost 20 years since he debuted right? But some rookie has lost his mind!”

The director tried to make a fuss by saying that these days all he has done is WeTube In Heart Tic Tac Tok.

The director hurriedly offered a sugar bomb coffee and detoured from the story.

“Anyway because they cut out the amount of content… they were behind schedule and the schedule was completely empty right? “Sejin contacted me right then so we were able to work together for the first time in a long time?”

“Ah… thank you.”

“what. “I feel like we’ve connected like this again!”

“That’s really true~ Thank you our director~”

“Ah I’m doing this because Sejin gave me the okay~”

The director and director grinned. And Bae Se-jin became nervous.

“…Then is the role you are giving me the role played by that new person?”

“…! Oh by the way the proportion is clear!”

The explanation continued hastily.

“I’ve met this person and that and watched countless auditions but I just can’t come up with a picture that I think is right for me.”

So it is said that the person who managed to find it was that rookie and since there was no replacement he persuaded the investor to give it a try.

“Is Net Plus being a bit lenient when it comes to this? But it was such a good role that I thought why not use someone with more recognition!”

“And since I’m a rookie with no promotional effect anyway there wasn’t even an article about it! “What on earth is this?”

“Oh yes.”

Bae Se-jin nodded but the director and director looked to see if Bae Se-jin was upset because they misunderstood that she was being treated as a ‘fool’.

But that wasn’t what Bae Se-jin was worried about.

‘I think the release date will be sooner than I thought because the filming period will be shorter.’

Being able to see the results quickly wasn’t a bad thing.

But at the same time one went over the water.

‘The album promotion… is vague.’

This is because Net Plus is taking the method of releasing all the episodes of a drama season in two at most.

Due to the need to secure editing time the release was slightly delayed.

In other words this drama will be released only around the end of this album’s activities.

‘…Maybe a month or two.’

If so it wouldn’t really help promote the album.

“…”

Bae Se-jin managed her expression and asked herself.

Did he really not know this?

These are members who know much more about idol activities than themselves.

The reason we all buried the uncertainty of when a drama or movie would be released was as ‘part of album promotion’…

‘…I was just cheering you on.’

Whether it helps the group’s activities or not it’s just for the sake of member Bae Se-jin.

Bae Se-jin gathered her courage to cry again.

“…First let’s take a look at the role.”

“Yes yes!”

“Wow Sejin speaks the same way as when she was really small.”

Bae Se-jin put the documents aside and picked up what was underneath.

It was a new script that had already been neatly completed.

He handed it over combatively.

‘You’ll do well.’

No matter what role you play you can do it well.

That’s the reward for your support…

“…”

“How are you doing Sejin?”

Bo reciprocate.

“Idols often start off with decent sub roles… Sejin shouldn’t be treated in a similar way with his acting skills!”

“…”

“Don’t you think it would be really good to have a strong image as an actor with this kind of psychopath?”

“that”

Bae Se-jin started to sweat!

* * *

Meanwhile Testa was planning to promote the album for three weeks starting with its first public music broadcast.

And fans could feel the atmosphere slowly changing.

-The kids are not coming to the karaoke bar. Didn’t they put their thumbprints and say they would come to the next comeback?

-Wow the entertainment accounts that were pretending to be friends so that they could somehow get together suddenly disappeared without even mentioning it lol.

-Kids’ entertainment… SBC MBS… um…

And everyone came to similar conclusions.

-T-one is T-one

-Oh sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssss though

-Wow that’s really petty. Was it not enough just to stop Music Bomb?

-It seems like he really wants to kill Testa and steal his fans. Yeah I won't watch Serba anymore.

In response to T1's actions which were vicious by all accounts fans took to social media and filled them with curses which became a popular post.

[Testa suffering economic retaliation from its broadcasting station]

[Looks like you got cut off by Testa T1?]

In the end the news conveyed by the fans' reactions and the articles that arranged Testa's published schedule in a neatly organized or shocking way was ultimately one thing.

'Testa was taken by T1! It's not enough to draw a line! 'The two have completely split up!'

The situation that Park Moon-dae had predicted from the moment he saw the article about the arrest of the T1 board of directors was later shared with the public as information in the form of rumors.

-omg…

-Awesome lol

In fact if we were not careful the group's image could have been damaged.

A celebrity was 'cut off' from the platform. Don't you feel like it's going to become less topical have fewer appearances and fade away?

But it didn't go there.

-I feel like I'm grinding my teeth while looking at T1's album chart and music chart.

– Testa free life

-Oh you're not Tinet Novi anymore.

-Isn't this speculation? Maybe I'm sick of Testa and just won't go out.

This is because Testa's results were good.

That's right.

The entertainment industry was one where attacks on 'class' were defended by shame and topicality and Park Moon-dae trusted that logic.

So I found that in this situation no special defense was needed.

-The large company that was supporting them has gone out of business… They won't last long either.

Aggro you're such a bitch.

Hey the initial tester already exceeded 1.7 million views and hit a career high. What do you think?

ㄴㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

Wow your stop loss is a huge profit!

Perhaps this meant that T1 which was cut off by the large company Testa would not last long (contemplating emoticon)

This is because it is more fun for netizens to immerse themselves in Testa!

How refreshing! This feeling of quitting your job and becoming more successful!

However not all fans were very happy to see this reaction.

– Are they really doing this because they like our kids? They're just… sexual predators… ㅠㅠ

-The reality right now is that the space for kids to show their faces has been cut in half. How worried must they have been… Ah a secret.

Because dealing with a platform wasn't something that was taken lightly.

-I was wondering why the game was included in the album but I guess that's why… Since it doesn't seem like it will be on TV much I'm trying to fill it with content like this.

ㄴㅜㅜㅜㅜ

Oh I'm really crying. Oh I have to buy another one.

And in that situation when one or two of the members' individual appearance schedules were announced everyone felt like they understood…

-Okay guys try your best…

-This is my first time seeing so many individual testers… But other teams often do this as well.

-I'll take care of everything. Fighting!

Moreover the members even openly spoke about it on W App.

[This time we wanted to show ourselves in more different schedules… so we took some pictures of ourselves.]

[that's right.]

[This is how we do it! We are working hard~ Everyone!]

Although it was said in a very euphemistic and gentle way everyone could clearly see that it was definitely not 'we wanted to do individual activities this time'.

This means that we filled in the time we couldn't go out as a group.

-also

-Still let's enjoy what has become of this and how nice it would be to see the kids playing together again.

It was a time when group fans were heartbroken and individual fans were crying out for their own gain.

Bae Se-jin's article appeared.

[Testar Bae Se-jin's comeback film is the anticipated Netflix film <The Doll Hunter>]

-????

Bae Se-jin who had no personal schedule for entertainment or events has finally revealed her schedule.

-crazy

-It's finally time to start acting haha.

-I'm so excited what should I do bbb

-Well I've been waiting for this drama to be made into a drama for quite some time. How are Bae Se-jin's acting skills?

Gaejjeom

I was originally an actor.

Public reaction was favorable. Because he is a good-looking celebrity with no controversy over his acting skills.

And thanks to the groundwork so far Testa fans were somewhat moderate.

-Yes Bae Se… acting is better than entertainment.

-Oh my gosh I wanted to go out on Hamchi's variety show alone and watch him fuss lol.

-ㅠㅠㅠCheering to all testers!

Still acting was a very 'proper' personal activity.

If any loopholes are seen in Bae Se-jin's attitude towards group activities there will be malicious fans waiting with their eyes lit up to find fault.

"Sejin even if you're a little tired today be sure to come and see us here."

"okay."

So Testa was working hard and paying attention to each other during live performances and schedules.

However one of the members had something else on his mind.

'It's about time.'

It was Park Moon-dae.

A few days later would be Testa's debut anniversary so the end of June was already approaching.

At the same time the summer weather has quickly arrived.

And because he knew some unique information related to 'this summer'.

Sure enough.

One day I was repeating checks.

[T-holic junior group is coming… Wonder Hall "New boy group <ĭter> appears"]

An article appeared.

‘also.’

Park Moon-dae immediately brought up the status window and checked.

The ‘hint’ you chose.

[Wonder Hole’s Rookie (B)]

-202X. A new male idol is finally scheduled to debut at Wonder Hall this summer.

As a large-scale project with an investment of 20 billion won over three years the new team’s unconventional plan is raising expectations within the company.

The hint was correct.

‘It’s worth using as expected.’

And one more thing to note. This hint was rated high enough to be a golden ‘B’.

It is true that the more specific the grade the higher the grade but that is not the only answer.

That’s probably because it’s that useful.

So Park Moon-dae thought.

‘I think this rookie will be quite popular.’

The immediate response from community comments was also quite positive.

Of course the reason is the value of the names Wonder Hole and Tea Holic.

-Wow finally a T-holic junior.

-Wonder Hole is really good because it has everything from soft tofu to hot guys so please let's go like that this time too.

-I'm really curious will it become as popular as T-Holic?

Do you think it will be difficult because things have changed since then?

Still it's a wonder hole so I think it might work haha.

T-Holic's easy-going comfortable cool classmate or senior concept. The demand that was missing was still there.

No matter how much Testa is a popular idol who has made his name known he was created through entertainment and songs not through concepts.

Park Moon-dae made a cool decision.

'I need to constantly check trends.'

But next week.

When their debut teaser was released.

-???????

-crazy

-Is this a T-holic junior…?

– Hahahahahaha I couldn't even imagine.

Even Park Moon-dae could not have imagined that this reaction would occur.

“…!”

The junior of national idol T-Holic… chose a completely conceptual route.

Like Testa.

Chapter 469

“Is this them?”

“okay.”

Keun Se-jin who finished his personal schedule checked the link on his smartphone.

For reference the guy who was worried about various personal tasks ranging from performance competitions to exploration entertainment made a quite unexpected choice.

[Hope Game – Choices and Reversals]

It is a death game survival reality.

This program produced by WeTube a public broadcaster was not that popular but it had a solid fan base and was a hot topic on the Internet.

-And here too they subtly used dice as a symbol~ Since our album is ‘Roll the Dice’ I thought it would be a good way to promote it?

-I thought that if I performed well they would also include footage of our game in the edited video.

And as a guy who is very good at dealing with people and has a good mind he is likeable like a licorice and is taking care of his image by only showing off a few times at crucial moments.

Rather it seems that the character image becomes clearer through this than in normal popular entertainment shows.

They are filming two episodes at a time and it is said that they are even surviving until episode 6 which is currently being filmed.

‘To begin with I also have survival experience.’

You will never forget that the camera is rolling and you will have to deal with it.

In any case it also meant that the situation was sharp enough to be checked as soon as a person who was going to consume a lot of mental energy joined.

“T-holic seniors and juniors… um Wonder Hall agency.”

The group name is Eter.

That damn teaser video has been released.

I turned my attention back to the smartphone where the video was playing.

“…”

A background in faint colors.

A slight sepia tone filter and a film camera-like sensibility.

An emotional view unfolds with lawns and smiles with subtle saturation and highlights.

And boys.

They run and jump through countless spaces.

Bus stop on the roof of an old school a junkyard a playground with grass on a bridge with a sparkling night view…

It was dreamlike to see props appearing or arranged in the air as if they were following the scenery of the past.

And although it seemed deserted because there were no people we came to a faint intersection with a clean filter.

After a few sensuous dance cuts to dreamy and refreshing music.

Only the sound of a song resonates in silence.

[Jump over the timeline haven't seen yet

to you]

A boy standing at a traffic light took off as if flying toward the sky still glowing with dawn light.

A white hand covered the sky and the sunlight shone brightly.

[Show the way

– ĭter]

The end ends with white subtitles appearing silently on the screen.

"…"

Big Sejin confirmed it all without saying a word. And I checked the number of views.

In millions.

"hmm."

The guy frowned and laughed.

"Shall we listen to the expert's opinion first?"

"So how does our Ravin feel?"

"There are some interesting parts in the chords and instruments…"

Not long after one of the testers who all joined the ‘expert’ started making comments about the teaser.

Raebin Kim.

He is appearing alone on a program that gives songs to unknown singers who are being rediscovered.

Of course the identity of the composer is not revealed at first. Singers who come up through auditions listen to the given songs for just 30 seconds and then select and evaluate them by taking them back and forth.

And then… only after it becomes your own song can you see the identity of the composer and listen to the entire song.

-MC: The identity of the White Rabbit composer who created song number 5 ‘Melody’ was none other than Testa Kim Rae-bin!

-Kim Rae-bin: Please take care of me in the future…

-Participant: Ahhh!! ah!!

-Participant: Thank you!

-Kim Rae-bin:…??

Even though it was a place where I could truly enjoy Testa’s name I couldn’t enjoy it at all. Only the viewers were enjoying it.

Anyway he gave this evaluation after watching the teaser.

“It seems like you and I have similar criteria when it comes to choosing auxiliary instruments for developing a melody! “I’d like to ask you how you came to choose this method.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin who had been quietly holding back could no longer bear it and shouted.

“You just copied it!”

“yes?!”

That’s right.

I rubbed my chin.

“I analyzed your song and used it as a reference.”

“…!”

“From what I hear it seems to be a reference to the ‘Magical Boy’ or ‘Wheel’ lines.”

The person in question must have found many other songs in his head that are partially similar.

Sun Ah-hyun closed her eyes and opened them as if she was embarrassed.

“Ugh now that I think about it this teaser image…”

“okay. “It feels a bit similar to the teaser from our debut.”

However that’s not true if you’re just referring to the ‘Magical Boy’ teaser.

For example the length editing and composition of this teaser are rather similar to those of ‘Training’.

The color is ‘Airplane’ and the prop is ‘Picnic’.

In that way it felt like they took various elements from Testa’s past activities to suit their tastes and then mixed them with other things that seemed good and re-established them.

‘It’s like a puzzle.’

“…! “Have they even created a world view?”

“Of course it was wouldn’t it?”

These days it would be harder to find a group in the male idol world without a worldview.

I immediately did a search and found the summary.

-Boys with superpowers who go back and forth between the past and the future in virtual reality.

A guide to dreaming eternity.

Each person wanders in their youth and sets out to find light.

Show the way – ĭter

‘oh.’

Time trip magic dream.

Bae Se-jin’s hands were shaking.

“…This is so similar to our previous concept…!”

“To be precise only the keywords are similar.”

I scanned it coolly.

“The keywords do not completely overlap.”

The time trip is strangely twisted by turning it into virtual reality and magic into superpowers.

‘It’s a bit more modern and technological.’

It will be easy to use on today's platform.

"Plus they have clearly established their own identity."

"where!?"

"here."

I picked up the group name.

-ĭter

"They say it means road in Latin. "We took the group concept as 'guiding' and added a unique image to it."

"…"

Maybe I should have expected something conceptual like this from the moment the group name was 'Eter' in the first place.

Anyway Bae Se-jin muttered in a somewhat vain tone.

"So… you didn't follow us?"

"It's true that we followed suit but it's called benchmarking."

Strictly speaking this means that it is not plagiarism.

"Should I say that they researched the best selling products in the market and created their own version?"

"…"

Bae Se-jin sat down with an uncomfortable look on his face.

'I understand.'

Because I'm not in a very good mood either.

Looking at it it was definitely not plagiarism because it was pieced together from various references and also mixed in the agency's unique characteristics.

However… it is also true that this group would not have emerged without Testa.

'hmm.'

And it seemed like everyone felt it.

Bae Se-jin eventually muttered with a slightly bitter look on his face.

"It's not that we're the only ones who have to do this concept but… I think we're the only ones doing this so far."

"…"

Keun Se-jin hesitated a little but soon opened his mouth with a faint smile.

"Hmm actually there were a lot of groups like this before right?"

"Uh huh??"

Bae Se-jin was embarrassed.

But it was a clear fact.

'It's usually latecomers who come up with something that works well in the market right away.'

How many teams have attempted to benchmark Testa's conceptual feel over the past few years?

However there was a crucial difference.

"But everyone just didn't react that well~ That's why I passed by without knowing."

"…"

"This is actually a concept that is difficult to show off."

That's right.

Planning and capital power.

It was this conceptual image that was copied in a short period of time with a small budget and manpower and was not even worth the money.

"Then these guys…"

I answered.

"20 billion over 3 years."

"…!!"

"I heard that a new project planning team was also established… so a lot of manpower must have been invested."

This is information obtained from hints.

So… planning capital and manpower.

It is prepared with all three elements in place.

Three years that is.

"…"

There was silence for a moment.

Liu Chengwu who had been listening quietly opened his mouth.

"Then… I guess you came prepared properly."

And soon after their title song was released.

* * *

[Ready and shut up!]

Laser lights split the screen along with intense moombahton music.

CG screens with flashy effects coding screens that fly by and boss raids by super-powered boys wearing goggles!

And even the dance break part that resembles a huge beast that is about to eat you with intensity.

“wow.”

Cha Yu-jin chewed popcorn with a sad look on her face.

“how is it.”

“The typical nerdy things. [Seriously there hasn’t been an academy in K-pop right?]”

Cha Yu-jin calmly sat on the sofa saying that video game enthusiasts would go crazy. It was as if he had completely forgotten that he had made a game in his last album.

“You did it too.”

“I’m cool. I’m good at everything. But those kids didn’t do that. [Immersion]?”

hmm.

I played the music video again.

‘Your appearance stats look good.’

And the camera work was dazzling with close-up shots and dynamic compositions alternating appropriately making it look like a cut from an action game.

I'm not sure what Cha Yu-jin meant but at least it didn't look awkward.

Thanks to this die-hard KPOP fans have already joined the comments.

-The silver-haired boy has perfect skin.

-They are the perfect five stars! I look forward to their music broadcast stage

-I think Ether will become one of the biggest K-pop groups.

However after completing the monitoring on TV Testa made a cool-headed assessment.

"This one reminds me of 'Better me' or 'Drill'."

"Yes yes. "The dance break is the style we did during the parade."

Well if you just look at it the sections are similar.

The motorcycle prop composition and costumes remind me of Drill that battle scene… and even the atmosphere of the closed facility that was implemented reminds me of 'Better me'.

Of course since the basic concept is different it is unlikely that the general public will immediately think of it.

'Still if you get to this point you'll probably know the basics.'

Even though we felt it better because we were the ones who produced the album ourselves we couldn't have been the only ones who felt this.

"Is this… will the fans also talk about it?"

“…”

“Park Moon-dae just speak comfortably.”

I briefly looked at my smartphone.

“It does come out.”

“…!”

It also appears as the best comment in English right now.

-Am I the only one who looks like just another Testa copycat?

“…also!”

“But it’s hard to see that that’s necessarily a good thing.”

“Hmm.”

Bae Se-jin looked like she was going to scream ‘Why?’ at any moment but she seemed to hold back thanks to years of experience and trust.

And Sun Ah-hyun muttered a little cautiously.

“…Oh I can’t see that as plagiarism?”

“that’s right.”

On the contrary it could become a subject of ridicule.

like this.

-Testa paid the refreshing dream charter?

-I guess it’s just because the quality is good haha. Only our testers should do this!

-Ah Magical Boy was a few years ago. When are you talking about even Ether? These guys aren't even wearing school uniforms haha.

-Testa All kinds of music videos have been cut out and if you're comparing each scene like this all the idols are plagiarized.

Discourses collide.

It became a street worth fighting for.

'It's not good.'

Even if public opinion is once changed to 'I copied it it's a copycat' because it is difficult to prove it can be overturned at any time.

'If only the other person became popular!'

I immediately went to the entertainment gossip bulletin board and looked through the popular posts.

[The Eter visual member is this guy]

[Reminds me of Testa not Wonder Hole's new T-Holic]

[Have you heard Eter's debut song?]

[Wonderhole male idol rookie is so small and medium ㅠㅠ]

Posts that harshly criticize rookies posts that praise their looks and posts that criticize or criticize songs as good or bad are all posted as popular posts.

"…"

I got shot.

"Your expression doesn't look good."

“…”

Liu Chengwu spoke as if comforting him.

“What we used to call backlash. Is it because of that?”

“…There’s no need to go there.”

I massaged my shoulders.

“It’s becoming a hot topic. This group.”

“…!”

“This is the type of controversy that can be pushed aside over time if it gains fans. “If the song is good and the choreography is good it’s always beneficial to ask for another click.”

“So that’s how it is.”

right.

therefore. This is just… their buzz has increased significantly.

Viral marketing.

‘Fuck you.’

At the same time I had a hunch.

“He must have come out targeting this time as well.”

“Now?”

“…”

I raised my head. Big Sejin who made eye contact smiled bitterly and opened his mouth.

“When we were at our worst with T1… you mean?”

“…”

“There’s no way people in the industry didn’t know about that card when we were trying to become independent. “If I had heard it then… it’s almost unconditional right?”

That’s correct.

“…that’s right.”

“…!”

The members’ expressions changed as they understood those words.

“Then we… are going to debut when the relationship with T1 gets worse…”

“okay.”

This is the point when Testa is weakest.

When you were completely abandoned by a broadcasting station affiliate with which you were firmly connected it became easy to feel distant from the public and the frequency of exposure dropped.

When it is difficult to respond to a rising star.

“Right now we are unable to schedule anything related to T1. “Whether it’s broadcast or WeTube.”

but.

If you are a rookie from Wonder Hall a large entertainment agency that has already fostered T-Holics who are close to all broadcasters.

“But they can go anywhere.”

An unfair game had begun.

Chapter 470

After successfully increasing the buzz Eter a new company at a large agency that ‘benchmarked’ Testa began to gradually continue marketing.

From this point on predictions were easy.

‘If it were me… I’d straighten things out first.’

First of all since we have ignited the fire and attracted attention we need to provide a basis for capturing the image.

-There is a famous producer from MS Entertainment in the Eter planning team. They say that all lines have gone. Wow it looks like they gathered talent from all over.

Wow awesome

-ㅋ Somehow MS… The quality started to deteriorate after the second year of working and everyone changed jobs.

-As soon as they debut they grab their hair in all directions. These guys are really dirty on unplay…

Do you suck at Mangi?ㅠㅠ It’s pitifulㅠㅠ

– Hahaha Lover Viewer did something plagiaristic and did nothing so what should I do? I would have followed the MS idols but I don’t think it was Testa.

Looking at the new episode I feel a sense of crisis.

The story slowly unfolds about how great this group’s dedicated team is and what process Ether went through to become a group.

-It is said that in the 5 months before Crazy Eter there were 30 members in the debut group. It was a perfect combination of 5 people.

-The reason why Eter's face does not come together.jpg

-The lineup of new male idol group members that Wonder Hole has been in existence for 5 years.

If there is no human narrative of each member that can be broadcasted like a survival group it would be better to emphasize marketability.

'Is it a luxury image?'

It is just one group that was created by selecting a large company with a lot of capital and manpower.

The image of a high-end cutting-edge model definitely worked.

Although it attracted a lot of aggro from fans of other low-age idol groups that had suddenly become popular.

However even that intentionally highlighted the level of swearing and criticism that was so extreme that it was frowned upon which in turn earned sympathy.

-Is it okay to manipulate the number of recommendations and move it up?

-What's wrong with the kids who just debuted? Stop making personal attacks.

-LOL Why don't you know that the stone tablets are becoming more and more like X because you consume plagiarism groups?

□I think it happens because of bastards like you

There wasn't anything wrong with it but it wouldn't matter whether it antagonized some people or not. This is because the differentiation strategy was already working well.

-But the real Wonder Hole is Wonder Hole… Even though the route was changed from the entertainment idol T-holic it doesn't look awkward at all and it really smells like money.

-Of course I can't ignore the stone slab lol.

-I really like capital-style concepts like Testa so it would be nice to see more idols like that. There's a lot to enjoy but Testa's fans' reaction was scary.

'…It's possible because the album was chosen well in the first place.'

Didn't you absorb various 'references'?

The rookie group which matched the three beats of the song's choreography MV rose resiliently thanks to capital and the power of a large agency.

[Go go go go yes Go!]

The concept of the choreography challenge on Tic Tac Tok was also well captured.

A filter exclusive to Eter that changes the boss monster from the music video to look like it was drawn with crayon on purpose.

Performing choreographed gestures like shooting those monsters with exquisite timing has become quite popular among teenagers who play Tic Tac Tok.

-I never dreamed that the conceptual male idol lineage would be brought to Wonder Hall…

-Wow fun

-Is there finally a generational change?

-No group has really taken off since Namdol Testa.

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ I think it's going to fail because it's not popular. Is this all part-time work?

Expectation sarcasm antipathy liking…

In this way Eter has succeeded in becoming a hot potato in the idol world at this moment.

Of course the idol version especially the male idol version has become somewhat distant from the public as its target audience has moved overseas…

'It doesn't matter if it's a typhoon in a teacup.'

The setting is finished here.

Haven't you come up with a phrase to introduce to the public?

[Wonderhole's monster rookie. The shooting choreography challenge is hot. The number of views on WeTube explodes.]

Because a few keywords were captured.

When appearing on a variety show it becomes clear 'why' they appeared and what image this group should be consumed and illuminated so that's when it starts.

public exposure.

[Today's guest… Oh my god!]

[I thought I was catching the boss but I actually shot my heart? Our shining superpower idols Gildori have invited Wonderhole's new group 'Eter'!]

[Waaah!]

“Um… ding dong deang karaoke is coming.”

“Boo.”

“We even signed up to go out again a few months ago but it just ended up like this.”

Some of the most popular entertainment shows.

And he appeared on a variety show hosted by T Holic himself and showed off his fresh rookie side a few times.

It didn’t come out too much.

I pick and choose among the ones that can come out and only get about three or four of the highest levels.

Moreover as a rookie he was a bit awkward but his firm and polite attitude wasn’t that explosively funny but…

The image is also imprinted.

‘Successful debut at a major agency!’

-The T-holic bus is really hard to get on.

-I think the answer is to debut in a large group.

-Still the kids look nice and nice. The dance members are all good-looking.

As it slowly seeped into the public’s perception ‘Eter’ soon began to be accepted as just a ‘new concept idol’.

‘Ah T-holic junior? I’ve heard the name at least once.’

‘Don’t they also have strange concepts? All idols say that these days. But guess what they’re trending these days?’

Taking this position… it was a clever hit and run.

"…"

I came to a conclusion after reading through media articles related to the 'successful Ether debut'.

They say they succeeded in solidifying the board.

'Now we will promote this achievement overseas and attract the global KPOP fandom.'

If you follow the standard course it will definitely happen.

In this edition the meticulous planning befitting a large well-established entertainment agency was carried out neatly based on the foundation of Testa's marrow.

Oh he also got the timing right when Testa was at his weakest and hit him in the back.

And at this moment we the ones who suffered from it…

"It's time to wrap up our activities."

"yes."

Well I didn't really react.

We are just finishing our group activities to promote the album as scheduled at the end of our three-week domestic schedule.

Why?

Well first of all it was impossible to organize more group activities to keep that rookie group in check. I'm still squeezing it out as much as I can.

No not in the first place.

‘It’s stupid to react.’

We had to adopt a policy of ignoring it as much as possible.

‘No matter what reaction you give now it will only make the group a hot topic.’

As long as that side is the challenger the underdog and the rookie Rising… this is a natural structure.

Isn’t it too bad that no matter what gesture Testa shows the other side can frame public opinion and build an image?

‘Maybe that’s actually what I was hoping for.’

They must have thought that we might do something because artists would have a strong influence on our new agency.

Or perhaps Testa was so angry that he wanted to leave at least something meaningful.

Because we kept our mouths shut it ended up being like ‘Eter left a mark with a successful debut.’

That was right.

Of course fuck…

‘But that doesn’t mean I’m not angry.’

Even yesterday Keun Se-jin went boxing instead of Pilates.

I think he probably wanted to use something else instead of a punching bag.

‘anyway… ’

So for Testa who chose the meta of quietly waiting all that was left now was an extension of his original personal activities.

For example guys who appeared in entertainment series.

“Well Ahyeon is still fishing right?”

“yes…!”

Oh by the way Sun Ah-hyun surprisingly said she would do a program about fishing on a boat.

It’s even a fairly wild concept so it feels closer to ‘survival’ content with limited supplies…

“Isn’t it hard?”

“Everyone is so kind… I’m learning hard…!”

“Uhm. okay.”

Sun Ah-hyun has good physical strength and is not afraid of anything so it seems like she was surprisingly suited for it…

‘To begin with he was a guy who only had a glass mentality when it came to peer relationships.’

As a result he seems to have made a good impression on middle-aged people by doing unsavory tasks such as catching insects with his bare hands or diving bare-handed without blinking an eye.

-What’s going on with the deer?

-Oh it’s surprising isn’t Seon Ah-hyun so innocent?

Review of watching 3 episodes in a row: I would like to correct this. It’s not that I’m ignorant it’s that I have a crazy steel mentality.

-Is he there with the face of a prince? ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

It seems to have had the effect of attracting light fans by connecting with the unexpected character shown in the game’s hidden route.

Sun Ah-hyun who rides a boat all day without changing her complexion at all must have seemed like a role in some kind of drama.

‘I don’t get motion sickness either.’

It must be funny that someone who practiced spinning in the air every day in middle and high school would get seasick.

Anyway this means that apart from the rookie group Testa’s individual activities themselves are successful.

“Ah Sejin is filming a drama this afternoon too!”

“Oooh!”

“Fighting!”

“…Hmm thank you.”

Bae Se-jin has now officially started filming.

Cha Yu-jin who was the first to finish filming her personal schedule stood next to Bae Se-jin who was holding a script and asked.

“Hyung do you like filming?”

“That’s okay though.”

“Is The Part fun? “What kind of person are you?”

“Uh… the main character’s friend.”

Bae Se-jin pulled out the script and answered bluntly. Was he worried that Cha Yu-jin would tear up the script?

“I have many kinds of friends! But in my opinion if you are not the best friend your part is small. Or are you the worst friend?”

"…neither of them but they created a deep bond in that short period of time."

Bae Se-jin said turning around as hard as he could.

For your information the reason for doing so was explained to me the day after the first meeting.

-Hey… I signed a contract!

-Wow!

The guy who was raising his fist majestically stiffened at the next question.

-ah! What role did you take on?

-…

-brother?

-Is there a confidentiality agreement? It's hard to tell the exact role! It's not that I don't trust you but there might be someone eavesdropping so just in case…!

-Calm down Sejin I understand.

He said he was like that so he left it alone.

And Bae Se-jin continued to give a euphemistic explanation to Cha Yu-jin with a serious face again.

"And the supporting role is a supporting role but there are scenes that are impressive… in many ways. "It's pretty good."

"Umm."

"…Giving the protagonist an opportunity to awaken! "That's it!"

For reference as someone who has only briefly read the original webtoon a few candidates come to mind. Although they all die in the middle of the season.

'That's why you care so much about the confidentiality clause.'

"OK. "It's okay if you like me."

"okay!"

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders and Bae Se-jin hurriedly closed the script and turned her head.

"But more than that… Are you leaving them like that? The one who follows us…!"

"hmm…"

It's clear that he's trying to change the subject but should we let it go?

"For now we just leave it at that because we think our reaction is what they want."

"okay. "I understand that but… it can't continue to be like this."

"brother…"

"Well I agree with you too!"

"…!"

Bae Se-jin looked back with slightly surprised eyes.

Keun Se-jin came out after washing up and sat down at the table.

"Maybe during the next comeback if people think 'Oh it's less popular than I thought' they'll be asking for more testa~? "Even if we intentionally overlap our schedules."

Bae Se-jin had a straight face. But Big Sejin laughed heartily.

“Ah but we already know everything! “You can prepare from now on.”

And then he looked back at me.

“Really Mundaemun University?”

yes.

I looked down at my smartphone.

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Brother Moondae! Haha Congratulations to the Testa seniors on becoming legends again with this activity!!

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: We want to come back quickly so we are preparing hard!ㅠㅠ spacer.

Just like last time I paired Mirinae with a rookie from Youngrin’s company… I was planning on putting Spacer in a higher weight class as well and hooking her up with them.

‘I need to do some positioning.’

I finished my thoughts quickly by checking the spacer’s profile.

And actually even if that wasn’t the case I was planning to meet Kwon Hee-seung once.

In fact with Testa releasing this album… the company finally achieved results.

[‘Testa (★★★★★)’s album: ‘ released!]

Album rating: S

Music ranking: 3rd (daily highest)

Album sales: 1823281 copies

Total revenue: adding up

We've only finished promoting domestically and haven't started a tour yet so the notation is like this but the important things lie elsewhere.

As soon as grades and income were determined they were immediately reflected in the company's rating.

[Company grade (D+) → Company grade (B-)]

Promotion successful!

It was rapid.

A lot of additional things have changed and been given as compensation but the most important thing is this pop-up.

[Mission accomplished!]

Mission: <Stars Orbit Entertainment> Achieve B-grade

-'Fragments of ■■■' can be recovered

This has been achieved.

"…"

Fragments of the system.

It was the one that caused the 'mission failure' that caused the building to collapse and changed the bodies of me and Keundal.

I think I was able to retrieve it from that guy first.

Before ‘Mission Failed’ appears.

Chapter 471

The meeting with the spacer took place quickly the very next day.

To be exact I met Heeseung Kwon who was representing Spacer in the conference room.

“Oh Hee-seung~ It’s been so long!”

“Oh my brother!”

I sat down and glanced at Keun Se-jin and Kwon Hee-seung who were making a fuss.

Then as if imitating me a guy pushed the chair next to me and sat down.

This is Cha Yu-jin.

The guy crossed his arms and nodded.

“Are you going to have lunch afterward?”

No why did you follow me?

“If you’re hungry why don’t you just stay at the dorm?”

“I’m bored. “I don’t have a schedule.”

“hmm.”

I guess so.

This is because Cha Yu-jin’s personal schedule ended unusually quickly.

It's just… I filmed it for 4 days and 3 nights.

As for how that was possible the choice he made was…

[Camping Diary: Our story grows.]

…Because this is it.

It is a public broadcast entertainment show that gathers troubled children with their own stories and goes camping and a celebrity appears as a camp instructor listens to their situations and grows mentally together.

As you may have guessed this is the program that had this kind of response when it was first launched.

-I'm not curious about their circumstances.

-At that time give victims of school violence more chances. Damn is it true that you empathize with the perpetrator?

-Celebrities aren't experts they're healing instructors lol. I just… have nothing to say.

-I'm going to squeeze out the juice again. It's already disgusting.

-Isn't it okay for celebrities who have had accidents to come out as instructors and sell their stories? Wow double washing haha.

Who planned it?

Indeed they excitedly criticized it for being an old-fashioned idea for a public broadcaster.

Of course when I opened the lid it was just a lukewarm general entertainment show so I got tired and settled down.

-They say he's a problem child but it doesn't seem that bad? These are kids who just need counseling rather than things like this.

-If you look at it half of that situation is probably a coincidence but it has already been revealed that he is a shopping mall operator and an aspiring actor haha.

Ugh

It involves participants who appear to be ordinary people and tell exaggerated stories created for promotional purposes.

But I heard that Cha Yu-jin is appearing in a program like this?

-What are you going to do?

-Just bring out the water bomb.

– Cha Go-young is nice but he's a Cali guy so he's full of positivity. Don't you think he'll just go and criticize you?

Fans and the public alike were confused as to what he was going to say.

However on the day of the broadcast.

-Participant: Wow Cha Yu-jin!

-Participant: Is this Testa Cha Yu-jin? that's right? Hey can you see it here? Cha Yujin!

-Cha Yujin:…

-Cha Yu-jin: I don't call my instructor that.

-????

Cha Yu-jin who uses a military accent appeared.

No one expected it.

Of course you may think that if you use a clumsy tone like that it will be awkward and you will be looked down on even more…

-Participant: Hey we really need to do something like rock climbing…

-Cha Yu-jin: No questions until the end.

-Participant: (Inhale)

The guy who already had military entertainment experience in the system virtual world even used idioms skillfully…

-What the hell is this?

Viewers and participants who did not know this fact could not help but be embarrassed.

Taking advantage of that opportunity Cha Yu-jin began to control teenagers in their late teens like a ghost.

After the first impact when it was time to let go he listened to me like a ghost took care of me and made me attached to him.

-Why do you have the tone of an instructor but the attitude of an American camp instructor?

-Cha Yujin is so funny and heartwarming…

-Is this the taste of someone with American camp experience?

Anyway Cha Yu-jin who once set the stage with her unique speaking style went back and forth between strictness and kindness humor and seriousness and even dealt with any potential image controversy.

And they even created a meme with an old-fashioned broadcast style subtitle called ‘Instructor Tanaka’ and achieved tremendous cost-effectiveness…

‘I wonder if they calculated it.’

The fact that it didn't seem like that made him even more amazing. I remembered what that guy said when I chose this.

-I have experience now.

"…"

And now he is next to me nodding his head with a sullen face.

"And I have the right to hear this conversation myself. "I'm a team member."

Are you coming?

Since he is a guy with good sense he might come up with a good opinion based on his quick judgment. I decided to refer to Cha Yu-jin's remarks.

And only then did Keun Se-jin and Kwon Hee-seung who had just finished greeting each other sit down on the chairs in the conference room with joy.

Kwon Hee-seung's eyes lit up.

"Wow so Moon Dae is producing our spacer? Hey!"

okay. I called it that story.

"Check before that."

"…yes?"

I nodded.

"Can you believe it?"

"…!"

“Even though we are from the same agency you know that we are ultimately competitors. “But don’t you have any doubts about whether I will come up with a plan that will give Spacer unconditional success and only good results?”

“…”

Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung kept his mouth shut.

‘also.’

Unless you are an idiot you would have suspected it.

The three testers waited slowly for an answer without any prompting.

And after a short silence.

The guy… smiled shyly.

“Oh no?”

“…!”

“But isn’t there someone who doesn’t do that brother?”

Kwon Hee-seung laughed.

I felt like I was a bit liberated.

“Even when we were at T1 I don’t think the employees planned everything in a way that was beneficial to the company. So in the first place we never received a plan that was only good for us…”

The guy mumbled and then raised his thumb.

“Isn’t that what society is all about? “We do this in the hope of mutual benefit!”

“…I see.”

“Of course!”

indeed.

This is the perception of reality that befits a guy who made money in stocks as soon as he returned to the past.

“And seeing as you say this I actually like it right? Are you telling us what this plan is what is dangerous for us and what is good for you?”

“That’s right.”

Rather than keeping your mouth shut and causing problems it is cleaner to make it okay for yourself even after giving notice.

I told you everything but you chose? Can’t we say something else about this later?

‘It’s like an insurance policy though.’

It was a time when I was thinking a bit bitterly.

“and.”

“…?”

Why are you even sighing in admiration?

“Huh… bro that’s the conscience of the top 1% in the world? Be proud!”

“…”

“Wow what are you doing? Are you actually a saint pretending not to be?”

“That’s right the gate is a bit like that isn’t it?”

no.

“That’s right. “There’s actually no benefit to you but you care about that while helping our group…”

So this company is my system… no let’s stop.

I pressed my temples and opened my mouth.

“…Anyway then let the story begin.”

“Keuu yep!”

Kwon Hee-seung nodded. The anticipation and nervousness about what strategy will come out is evident on their faces.

Big Sejin opened his mouth with a friendly smile.

“Heeseung~ You know the Wonderhole rookie group that debuted this time right? Ether!”

“Yes yes.”

Kwon Hee-seung’s face seemed to briefly show several predictions as if he was aware of the related controversy…

The next horse was bleached.

“Those friends will be a great help to our spacer promotion!”

“…?!”

To be precise it means that we will make it available to you.

* * *

And after a few tens of minutes.

"…"

Kwon Hee-seung who was sitting in the conference room blankly as if he had just been hit by a storm had no focus in his eyes.

It seems like the shock was severe.

"It's okay if you think it through and answer."

"No… that"

Kwon Hee-seung swallowed his saliva.

"Is this going to happen?!"

"I told you because it worked."

"That's right… you can just say it."

That much?

Kwon Hee-seung began to look down at the conference room table with a serious face this time.

Just when I thought this guy was almost counting patterns.

Drurr.

"Oh please talk to me for a moment."

"okay."

Heeseung Kwon's smartphone rang and he got up closed the door and left the conference room.

Tuk.

“…”

After a short silence.

I opened my mouth.

“You made the call right?”

“no. “I think it’s true that he really came.”

“hmm.”

I thought you were trying to discuss it with the members right away.

Actually I was planning to invite a few more Spacer members to this event but it was surprising that Kwon Hee-seung said he would only appear alone for now.

“Is that person the leader?”

“Spacer? “There is no leader system there but Heeseung is number one and the center so he has a big role.”

“Ouch.”

Why are you looking at me? You are the center.

Anyway I banged on the table in the conference room for a while and got up on time.

At this point it would have been time for him to end the call.

“I need to go to the bathroom for a moment.”

“okay.”

I carefully left the conference room to have a private conversation with Kwon Hee-seung.

Tuk.

However the moment I closed the door I realized that Kwon Hee-seung's voice was echoing softly in the passage.

The guy was still on the phone.

"Uh oh ay! Ah I heard that this song is really good. I really believe it! "Brother you're really talented at composing music so why worry!"

"…"

"If I get good promotions I'll hit the charts? Now that the company is good we will do better… uhh. Good luck with your work."

The guy said that as if he was admonishing me and ended the call.

And after sighing briefly… our eyes met.

"Uh um. older brother"

He seemed embarrassed.

'…after.'

"sorry. "I didn't mean to listen."

"I thought so… hmm."

Kwon Hee-seung seemed a little embarrassed so he unusually dragged on.

'shit.'

I held back a sigh and opened my mouth again.

"…It seems like the team atmosphere is good."

“Yes of course.”

Heeseung Kwon leaned against the wall and sighed.

“But honestly… it’s not like there are only people who work hard like you guys right? “I think our season of <Azusa> was a truly unique season.”

“…”

As he was caught in a slightly embarrassing conversation he either decided to speak outright or was inadvertent as he continued his next sentence.

“Well there were times when I imagined what it would have been like if I had debuted back then… but I made it to the finals anyway.”

ah.

At that moment I realized what this guy was thinking of when he said this.

It’s not just the entire final episode.

‘The last member’s name is called.’

My number one perk.

-Participant Park Moon-dae with the authority of first place can nominate one of the 14 participants who made it to the final ranking announcement ceremony as a team member to debut with!

And I… passed that choice over to the viewer.

To eliminate as many aftereffects as possible.

-The participant I chose… is the 7th participant chosen by shareholders.

But in fact among the remaining participants who could not be called testa members this guy was the one who was closest to me as a team member.

Gold 2. Heeseung Kwon.

There's no way that guy didn't have expectations right then and there.

Even though it's already been more than 5 years I still remember it.

'Besides the test didn't usually go well.'

But his conversation did not flow into lamentation.

"But the more I thought about it the more I realized. Still I think my team is good right now. Ugh… I'm getting so attached."

"…"

"The guy I talked to earlier doesn't have much confidence but he's a really fun person right? "We make good songs… but our music records aren't that good these days."

Spacer is objectively a group that has settled in well.

Popularity naturally decreased immediately after survival and the music score also declined. However album sales gradually increased and overseas popularity was steadily secured.

However people compare everything comparatively and who would Spacer be most comfortable comparing to?

'Testaj.'

You probably haven't heard that kind of comparison from a company where they aren't very good at their work.

But the guy in front of me shrugged his shoulders and said this.

“So please take care of me brother! “I’ll have to listen to the other members’ opinions and say it again but for now I’ve decided that I absolutely want to take on the challenge!”

“…”

“We have to prove that we Spacer are still a great group with a bright future ahead of us!”

“…okay.”

“You only live once! No we don’t have that… hmmm one more chance anyway.”

“…”

I chuckled. And then he turned his gaze away from Kwon Hee-seung who was squinting his eyes.

The pop-up that had been there from the moment we met was still visible.

[Reconfirmation of owner of ‘Fragment of ■■■’]

Would you like to absorb ‘■■■ Fragment (1 / 4)’ into ‘Company Use’?

※It may take some time.

“…”

Well anyway they’re just using that guy to get rid of that new group.

I was planning to upgrade the company’s system functions but I don’t think there’s any need to incur debt by directly telling that guy that the mission was a failure and all.

So… there’s nothing bad about this either.

I quietly responded to the status window without saying a word.

‘okay.’

Then the pop-up started glowing.

“…!”

“Then shall we go into the conference room?”

The guy didn’t react much perhaps because he couldn’t see Kwon Hee-seung… but the light coming out of the pop-up wrapped around Kwon Hee-seung once.

And it was the moment when it gently returned to pop-up.

[‘■■■ Fragment (1 / 4)’ recovered!]

The contents of the pop-up seemed to change like that but soon all the pop-ups disappeared and a new pop-up made up of very simple lines appeared.

[Updating ‘For Company Use’]

‘Is this the end?’

I thought there would be some kind of reaction in my body but it didn’t seem to be the case.

Instead I was about to take a closer look at the pop-up.

bang!

“…!!”

“What is it?”

Suddenly the conference room door opened.

The person who opened the door was a big man with a pale face.

The guy shouted.

“Call someone!”

what?

“Eugene collapsed. “Call someone!”

“…!!”

I immediately looked into the conference room.

There Cha Yu-jin was seen falling under a chair.

“…”

why?

“Park Moon-dae!”

“uh.”

I moved my feet right away. The fastest way is to call someone from work and go to the emergency room.

But even as I ran I thought.

What the fuck is going on?

Next to it the system window did not disappear and continued to follow.

[Updating ‘For Company Use’]

Chapter 472

Cha Yu-jin who collapsed in the conference room was immediately taken to the emergency room.

“Cha Yujin? Eugene!”

“Can you hear me?”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin did not move the entire time she was being transported in the car.

My whole body which was normally filled with vitality and energy to the very end of my limbs showed no response.

It looked like an object.

It was strange.

“How did this happen?!”

“…I just suddenly collapsed… but there were no other symptoms. at all.”

Does everything like this happen suddenly in my life?

What kind of idiotic analysis and response are you talking about? No matter how hard you try to prepare when the situation finally comes it turns out to be useless…

‘no.’

I pressed my thighs.

I haven't even done a proper inspection yet but you're already doing a good job. Fuck you.

Let's do something productive.

'Starting with the symptoms.'

I stretched out my hand to Cha Yu-jin's face. Then I checked his breathing and heartbeat.

"…"

"Park Moon-dae?"

I exhaled.

"…Your breathing seems to be stable."

"ah…!"

I'm not an expert but at least I wasn't panting or my heartbeat was too loud or shallow.

At that moment Keun Se-jin started checking immediately massaging his arms and legs.

"I don't think my complexion is that bad. "You're a little pale but your temperature seems to be okay right?"

"uh."

The body temperature is not that noticeably low either. At least that's how I felt.

The manager who was driving must have heard us and muttered frantically.

"Then it could have been something like that. That Miju… whatever it was it was fainting."

ah.

“Vasovagal syncope.”

“ah! Yes that…”

“…”

It is most often caused by extreme stress or tension.

And the reason I know this… is the same reason this company employee knows this.

“There are quite a few among idols. Since this is an active period testers may also feel the same way. “I just moved to a new company and the environment has changed…”

“…”

okay. It is true that we are in a complicated situation in many ways.

but.

‘Cha Yujin?’

In the negative votes for ‘Azusa’ who was the one who laughed it off when everyone else was dead and managed his own mentality even when he was criticized for rumors of camera violence?

‘Cha Yu-jin barely felt this much ‘extreme stress and tension’ and lost her mind… ’

No is this the face of someone who fainted in the first place?

‘I think… I’m asleep.’

I looked again at Cha Yu-jin’s calm expressionless face who was breathing lightly.

No matter how much you think about it it's unnatural.

"…! "I arrived at the hospital right away…"

"yes!"

The car which was running like crazy secretly arrived at an emergency room near the company not long after and Cha Yu-jin was immediately taken to the hospital.

Keun Se-jin muttered lowly as he chased into the hospital with the employees who came out of the company vehicle that followed him.

"I'll contact the other kids later…"

"…"

This means that it should be done after the test results come out.

"It might not be a big deal. "No I think so."

"okay."

However I had no idea what the result would be.

Because Cha Yu-jin collapsed without any warning.

But I still don't know what's strange!

'…Fuck you.'

I stood against the wall and began to think about this incredibly unnatural situation.

But something even more unnatural was waiting next.

* * *

“The results came out and they said it was like a temporary loss of consciousness.”

“yes?”

“In cases like this they usually say it’s just stress but they say they can check the brain more to find out… but they said there were no other abnormalities in the tests they’ve done so far.”

“…”

Even though I said it in different ways in the end the meaning was the same.

The cause is currently unknown.

“Anyway he said he would come back to consciousness soon!”

“Phew.”

“Yes thank you.”

Still I was glad that it didn’t seem like the worst situation.

So far let’s say we’ll do some more testing.

The problem was next.

“Now I have to contact the members.”

“…okay.”

Keun Se-jin and I were planning to split up and talk to the other members about Cha Yu-jin’s current condition. I thought it would be better than hearing it from someone at work.

But I learned it in the process.

"…You said that too?"

Most of the other members I contacted had mild but similar symptoms.

-No I didn't completely collapse but I experienced something like dizziness… so filming stopped for a moment. More than that Cha Yu-jin!?

-… I thought I just fell asleep in the car but maybe that wasn't the case. Now that I look at it I'm sure I wasn't sleepy.

-I thought it was a side effect from my recent overdose of caffeinated beverages… but I have no idea. I… I'm going to the hospital right away!

'what's this.'

I wasn't able to confirm because I left a text message so as not to disturb Sun Ah-hyun who was still on a boat and filming fishing but there were already three people.

I faced Keun Sejin with a serious face.

"you"

"I was fine. "What about you?"

"me too."

But when it gets to this point it becomes a different problem.

"They say it could be food poisoning or infection-related so let's get it tested."

We underwent a comprehensive inspection first before other members arrived.

"Brothers!"

“Ravin.”

And even Kim Rae-bin who came running looking like she was about to cry was examined next.

But for all of us the results were clean.

“…There is no need to immediately call the members who are scheduled.”

“…”

There was nothing leaked to the media either.

That’s because Cha Yu-jin didn’t have an accident or get sick in the first place.

I literally just suddenly ‘lost my mind’.

“…”

“That brother. this.”

I raised my head at the sound of calling.

As if she had already arrived Raebin Kim had a black envelope in her hand. The guy took out a drink from there and held it out.

It was a gold-colored red ginseng drink commonly found in convenience store warmers.

“You might be wondering why it’s such a hot drink in the summer but since you’ve been sitting indoors with strong air conditioning for a long time I think this might be better…”

“…thanks.”

I quietly opened the red ginseng honey tea he offered and drank it.

Then a resolute voice was heard.

“Cha Yu-jin will be fine. Previously when I was a trainee I had a conversation about my family history and there was a time when I boasted about not having any illnesses…”

“…”

I think he’s trying to comfort me.

Me indeed.

I smiled faintly.

“okay. As I said before the doctor also said that Cha Yu-jin would wake up soon. Don’t worry too much either. “He’s such a healthy guy.”

“…! yes…”

Raebin Kim barely nodded and quietly sat down next to him and began sipping his drink. I caught a glimpse of Keun Se-jin patting me on the back.

“…”

I leaned back against the wall and thought.

okay. Cha Yu-jin is a healthy guy.

He was a guy who could be considered to be in the top 1% both physically and mentally but he suddenly collapsed without warning…

‘And it just so happens that the majority of our group nearly fainted at a similar time.’

But no one says there are any health problems. Even Cha Yu-jin is like that in the prosecutors so far.

So among the remaining possibilities… which one is the most suspicious?

‘It’s a supernatural intervention.’

I twisted my head into the air.

[Updating ‘For Company Use’]

“…”

If you think about it.

Didn’t this happen as soon as I absorbed the ‘fragment of ■■■’ in Kwon Hee-seung?

And losing my mind like this…

‘It seems similar to the symptoms that appear when I enter a virtual world created by the system.’

I still remember it well. That damn status window pop-up that appeared at that time.

-Enjoy your daydream □

-Enjoy your reality 😬

A daydream made with coins and a world of systems.

Of course the status window at the top was more of an opportunity created by the big moon to save me but…

‘for a moment.’

At that moment I realized that I had found someone worth asking about this situation.

‘Big moon.’

This is Sang Tae-chang the person who created the daydream.

And after a while.

[Your brother! What’s going on?]

Fortunately the response came quickly.

‘after.’

[Yeohyung are you really in the hospital right now? There’s some problem right?ㅠㅠ]

‘I don’t have it but other guys have it.’

[yes?!]

I briefly explained what had happened.

Let’s skip the pop-up reaction which was full of screams and worries and get to the point…

‘So is it possible that Cha Yu-jin’s consciousness is captured in the system?’

This is it.

I don’t know the principle but the timing is so perfect.

And a quick response came back from the pop-up which recognized the seriousness of the situation.

[Let’s check the status window right away!]

okay.

I nodded happily.

But after a while.

[That brother. Right now this status window and the system itself are not working…]

He brought unexpected news.

‘Not moving?’

[yes! It seems like the function has stopped altogether…]

[It says updated now right? At the same time I think it’s because it’s completely reorganizing itself. Why is this not working just as we can’t use it when we update the app?]

“…”

So does this mean that there is no possibility that Cha Yu-jin’s spirit is lost somewhere due to the machinations of the system?

Because the system stopped altogether?

[yes!]

And this guy also added a hypothesis of his own.

[If it is really related I think some kind of error occurred during the update process.]

But that means that Testa will be affected when updating this ‘corporate’ thing.

In other words it may sound like a very bad thing.

‘…Are you sure that Testa is being treated as part of this company’s system?’

[Rather than that… I think they may have unilaterally given too much meaning to it since the only thing this system has dealt with so far is the Testa album…]

"…"

Somehow… it feels a bit dull.

[Anyway I didn't find any particularly strange tricks bro!]

'okay.'

If that's the case… I'm glad it's really not a big deal.

'Anyway thank you. 'I'll contact you when you wake up.'

[yes! Don't worry too much ㅠㅠ]

After finishing my conversation with Big Moon I saw the update pop-up still floating around.

Then holding back a sigh I asked.

I was wondering if I would get an answer.

'How long will it take?'

Surprisingly something popped up.

[※Use is restricted during update.]

'Fuck you.'

It's a story I know.

'Are you telling me to just wait it out?'

If it was really related and Cha Yu-jin was stretched out throughout the update I was thinking about pulling out this damn system as soon as the update was finished.

“Guys. Chungwoo says he’s coming right after his schedule is over and…”

“…eww”

Big Sejin’s words stopped.

And the sound that made him stop talking did not come from me or Kim Rae-bin.

It came from the hospital bed.

“…!!”

“Cha Yu-jin…!”

We jumped up immediately.

“It’s not a company it’s a doctor…!”

“wait!”

Big Sejin who was standing close to the door quickly ran out to call someone. And Raebin Kim and I immediately headed to bed.

There…

Cha Yu-jin was frowning and twisting her body to the side.

He woke up.

“Cha Yujin!”

Cha Yu-jin who was squirming was muttering as she was rubbing her face with her hands.

[Damn headache…]

“…”

english?

“Are you in a lot of pain?”

At that moment Cha Yu-jin stopped moving.

And when he lowered his hand his raw eye without lenses was revealed.

Their eyes met piercingly.

[korean? I don’t remember calling 911 but who are you to bring me here…]

…what?

However Cha Yu-jin turned her gaze further and recognized someone else.

“Ravin?”

“Cha Yujin Cha! “Are you okay?”

However this time he looked embarrassed again.

“Raebin Kim why are you in America?”

“…”

“What are you talking about! “This is Korea!”

“korea? [You think I’ve been kidnapped by some kind of international kidnapping…]… Wait a minute Kim Rae-bin did someone give you brownies or something? “Chocolate chip cookies?”

“What are you talking about?!”

Raebin Kim is in confusion!

And at that moment Cha Yu-jin muttered a few crude English curses and sighed.

And then he mutters to himself again.

“Ah… that’s enough. [Just once. Just take the medicine off before you go back to Korea and you’ll be fine. Anyway we’re not a KPOP boy band anymore.]”

At this point Kim Rae-bin was scared.

He grabbed my arm and shouted.

“Brother Mumundae. Cha Yu-jin is strange!”

I know.

“The strange one is you Raebin Kim.”

However Cha Yu-jin responded sternly as if she were dealing with a person who was really sick.

Then he turned to me and shook the back of his head.

[Perhaps Mundae… ‘Mundae brother’? [Did you bring Kim Rae-bin and me to the hospital after consuming weed without knowing anything?]

And Cha Yu-jin laughed.

“thank you.”

“…”

“Well you’re not going to tell Korea are you? [Because steer is over anyway.]”

That moment. I recognized who ‘Cha Yu-jin’ sitting here was.

-Steer.

Steer not testa.

It was the name of the group that originally debuted in <Azusa> before I participated in <Azusa> as Park Moon-dae.

‘…Fuck you.’

And the pop-up was updated in the air next to the face of ‘Steer Cha Yu-jin’.

[Updating ‘For Company Use’]

-D-30 to completion

Chapter 473

The medical staff determined that Cha Yu-jin's condition was 'stress-related confusion.'

Celebrities are a profession in an industry that sees everything so there have been several similar cases in the past.

"You couldn't sleep so when you suddenly came to your senses you started throwing things…"

Since he has woken up and is in good health according to the examination it is an ambiguous decision that there is a high probability that he will be fine if he rests his mind and body.

"All right. thank you…!"

However Kim Rae-bin's expression improved a bit as if she felt relieved just because the expert had commented on 'previous cases'.

"I'm sorry but…"

And Keun Se-jin started another separate conversation with the medical staff.

It seemed like he was probably trying to ask 'What steps would you take if Cha Yu-jin didn't get better on her own in a few hours?'

Employees are working like crazy running around and making phone calls. Half of them are holding meetings and the other half are urgently adjusting their schedules.

'It's a mess.'

And by that time 'Steer' Cha Yu-jin also seemed to have realized the strangeness of the situation.

At least you would have noticed that this was not the United States the moment the medical staff and staff came in speaking Korean.

“Mundae do you want to stay here with Eugene? “I think it would be better to divide the burden that way.”

“…okay.”

And from my perspective strangers are acting like they know me well.

However this guy did not cause a scene during the inspection.

-Would you like to explain Testa? well.

-Oh… no. I was sleeping.

He simply did not have a very cooperative attitude and only gave appropriate answers to questions asked quietly.

‘Are you looking into the situation?’

It was then.

bang!

“Guys!”

“…!”

The person who hurriedly opened the door and appeared was another member who was on a schedule.

However it was not Ryu Cheong-wu who had been warned by Keun Se-jin that he would come soon.

“Sejin hyung!”

It was Bae Se-jin who was panting.

The guy who ran with all his might holding on to the doorknob to catch his breath had a red face.

“Well… filming ended early so I came here first… Cha Yu-jin did you wake up?!”

“yes!”

Apparently the moment I was worried and ended I contacted them and it seemed like they came right away. The guy greeted Raebin Kim and walked up to Cha Yujin.

‘I thought Liu Chengyu would come first.’

It seems that Bae Se-jin arrived first because the filming location was close…

wait for a sec.

‘…Bae Se-jin?’

I suddenly realized something.

I said <Relisting! The previous life that did not enter the body of Park Moon-dae who did not participate in Idol Co. Ltd.

At that time… Bae Se-jin also debuted and was active as a steer.

short.

-Lee Se-jin a former member of ‘Idol Co. Ltd.’ was arrested on charges of drug distribution.

“…”

Until it appeared on the 9 o’clock news as a drug supplier… that is.

Of course it is also true that Steer’s activities were not that smooth from the beginning due to problems with the agency and fandom.

However it was clear to anyone that the drug news was the starting point of a fatal turnaround in Steer's career.

"…"

And now sitting in the hospital room…

"Oh."

…If it's Cha Yu-jin from 'Steer'.

'Fuck you.'

I immediately moved closer to the bed. I heard Bae Se-jin ask a worried question from a distance away from me.

"Are you okay?"

Cha Yu-jin did not answer.

He just stared at Bae Se-jin as if he had seen something unexpected in an unexpected place.

And then he opened his mouth.

"Lee Se-jin?"

"…!? "Why are you doing this to me?"

[I think you guys picked the wrong person but really I'm such a wimp…]

"…!"

Holy shit.

[Shut your mouth.]

I hurriedly lowered my voice to a whisper to 'Cha Yu-jin' and then approached Bae Se-jin.

"He just woke up and his condition is a little strange. "He said he was in America."

"That's right!"

Raebin Kim strongly agreed.

"ah! We also talked about brownies and chocolate chip cookies! "Did refraining from snacking during my active period become a cause of my stress?"

That's not it.

But unfortunately Bae Se-jin's eyes became serious.

"Is that so?… ah! There's a bakery in front of here! "I'll get it so wait!"

"…! indeed! "I will go with you!"

And the two began to leave the hospital room.

It was like they were going to scoop up as many brownies and cookies as they could find.

thud!

"…"

Is it rather fortunate?

'after.'

I looked at the closed door suppressed a sigh and sat down in the caregiver's chair.

I can't handle the situation at all.

'Still… I guess we'll start with conversation.'

Since it was quiet I thought now would be a good time.

But… the problem is that I wasn't the only one who was looking at the timing that way.

Outside the hospital room where everyone is busy with their own work. And the hospital room became quiet as people left.

The guy studied the situation… and took action the moment attention was diverted.

"hey. Umm 'Mundae hyung'?"

"…"

I turned my head.

'Steer Cha Yu-jin' who remembered my title sung by Kim Rae-bin and put it to good use opened her mouth just as she was sitting on the hospital bed.

[You know what crazy thing is going on here right?]

"…"

[I might be seeing some kind of funny KPOP hallucination after eating the special brownie.]

The guy pointed to his hair with his finger.

Blonde.

[I don't dye my hair anymore.]

It was that moment.

The guy stretched out his hand.

Then he grabbed my shoulder and suddenly thrust his head in a very threatening manner.

“…!”

[And you recognized me. Every time I say ‘steer’ or ‘struggle’ you recognize me.]

“…”

Cha Yu-jin did not let go of her hand on my shoulder.

And while making eye contact he slowly tapped the forearm next to the shoulder with the other hand.

[I don’t know what the fucking “Testa” is but if this is some kind of Prank show you better get ready to get sued. Because I don’t remember signing.]

“…”

after.

I took a deep breath.

It was confusing.

‘I can’t just grind this and start.’

Because the situation is what it is I don’t get angry.

‘It just looks like X… ’

I held back my headache and opened my mouth.

“first.”

[hmm?]

“Is there anyone in America who would do something like that as a member of a disbanded KPOP group?”

“…!!”

“And you didn’t take the medicine. Kim Rae-bin didn’t eat either.”

I don’t know why people in the US put drugs into otherwise normal brownies.

Cha Yu-jin’s eyes widened slightly.

The moment the grip on my shoulder loosened slightly I roughly pulled his hand away.

“But there is one thing you said is true.”

“What?”

“Something crazy happened.”

“…huh?”

I threw the idiot’s hand back onto the bed. It was the greatest kindness I could show.

* * *

New member.

New activity.

A new development.

Before returning from the two guys' trip to the bakery I briefly summarized the activities of 'Testa' not Steer to Cha Yu-jin.

Of course this guy's reaction was as expected.

[I think there are three possibilities. Would you like to hear them?]

"what."

[Either you did the medicine or I did the medicine.]

"There are two things."

[Or did both.]

Damn it.

'Why did this bastard become a medicine bird?'

I could barely resist the urge to grab my head.

"Why is it all medicine? Because it's a hallucination? "Is that a symptom of the drug?"

[I heard so.]

"…"

I mean I've never tried it myself.

Fortunately it looks like it didn't go that far.

[Then am I crazy? Hey did you know how much the emergency room costs in the U.S. so you thoughtlessly brought a crazy person to the hospital?]

"I said no."

I pressed my temples and spoke silently.

“First look out the window.”

“What?”

“You just have to look away. “Look.”

I opened the blinds slightly.

And Cha Yu-jin literally turned her gaze slightly to check outside…

“…!”

“It’s Korea.”

Korean signboards and a familiar city view outside the window.

It was Seoul.

He said he is currently in the United States but he must have been based in Seoul for several years so it would be hard to not recognize him.

“Holy…”

Grumble.

Cha Yu-jin only changed her attitude a little after opening the window and clearly checking the space.

[Are you serious?]

“uh.”

It means you’re starting to seriously consider the possibility that this might be true.

“So we don’t have to worry about hospital bills. Because it’s a KPOP boy group. “The company should cover the cost.”

“…”

“You are now in a group called ‘Testa’. We are your members.”

[gibberish.]

[It’s not nonsense.]

I muttered calmly as I heard footsteps running into the hospital room wondering if I had succeeded in purchasing the brownie.

“If it only takes half a day you will have no choice but to admit it.”

* * *

“We’re leaving.”

“yes!”

Cha Yu-jin who was in good health and had no signs of violent behavior or seizures was discharged from the room.

Of course the entire schedule for about three days had been canceled.

“Eujin are you anywhere uncomfortable?”

“yes. “I’m fine.”

Cha Yu-jin answered very calmly when Ryu Cheong-woo asked her gently in the front seat.

However he soon turns his head with an uncomfortable expression and mutters.

[This fucking strange world…]

“word.”

Cha Yu-jin looked at me with an expression that seemed to say ‘What right do you have?’ but then answered obediently.

“Sorry. “It’s been a few months since I became free.”

“…”

I remember.

The three worked as a unit under the name of Steer until the end.

Ryu Cheong-woo Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin.

I remembered that even those who worked particularly hard in the group had not heard from them since the group disbanded.

And among them ‘Steer Cha Yu-jin’ seemed to have returned to her home country the United States as soon as her activities were over.

But… ‘freedom’.

‘Idol life wasn’t that great.’

In other words ‘I did my job properly until the end’ and ‘I liked my job’ cannot have the same meaning.

‘Well the situation was pretty shit.’

Even though I knew it it still had a bitter aftertaste.

“This is the accommodation we moved into. “If you haven’t been around for a long time and it doesn’t help your stability be sure to tell me!”

“OK.”

Cha Yu-jin who had been looking out the window in silence the entire time in the car did not talk much even after arriving at the accommodation.

It seemed like I was only able to roughly check the appearance of the accommodation.

The incident was as follows.

“It’s our music video playlist so I brought it because I thought it might help Cha Yu-jin come to her senses faster if she watched it!”

“It’s okay!”

“It’s been a while since we’ll see each other again.”

That’s why I started watching Testa’s debut music video ‘Magical Boy’ continuously.

“…”

Actually I thought a bit about whether it was the right way to show this…

‘I don’t think this guy will understand if I don’t show it.’

Cha Yu-jin may not seem like that but surprisingly he was an extremely realistic person.

In this situation where there is no close relationship they will at least pretend to cooperate if you provide evidence that is acceptable to you.

And sure enough

“…this.”

“Cha Yujin! Is there anything you want to say about this song?”

“How did you do it?”

“…?”

-Oh I’m dizzy~

What he filmed was… a music video that filled the screen with Testa smiling and dancing in a baseball uniform in a school playground with an impressive blue sky.

It’s ‘high five’.

A song originally prepared by the company as the first title song for the debut group <Azusa>.

It was a song that was planned to be released in a vague disco style that did not fit the concept.

but.

“Originally the company wanted to go with a disco style but I persuaded them by even using a PPT. “Let’s go to the rock to cool off.”

“…”

“And Ravine arranged it.”

Cha Yu-jin watched the entire High Five music video in silence.

And the next music video and the next.

The moment we finally arrived at ‘Better me’.

“OK I’ll admit it.”

“…?”

“Testa.”

Steer Cha Yu-jin raised his head.

The face of the guy who pronounced ‘testa’ in Korean had something profound that was neither enlightenment nor embarrassment.

shadowy.

“…”

…Somehow I didn’t feel very refreshed.

‘Still I stood at the starting line.’

From now on I’ll have to control this guy so he doesn’t do anything unexpected…

“…??”

“What is Cha Yu-jin saying now?”

…Of course after some explanation here.

* * *

A few minutes later.

“So… this Yujin is Eugene when he was Geonwoo hyung before he became a Mundae right? hmm? “Is this expression correct?”

“I think that’s right… oh right.”

Ryu Cheong-woo and Bae Se-jin had a confused conversation.

No matter how many different things they had experienced everyone seemed embarrassed because this was their first time experiencing this.

But at the same time I felt relieved.

“…Anyway Cha Yu-jin is not sick… Is that a good thing?”

“It is true that we have identified the cause.”

Kim Rae-bin muttered blankly.

“Still I can’t really imagine debuting in ＜Azusa＞ without Moon Dae hyung participating in it.”

“So～ I guess I couldn’t debut. Oh is it okay if I ask who debuted?”

Big Sejin asked a question.

There seemed to be some pure doubt and an attempt to understand Cha Yu-jin a little bit.

Then Cha Yu-jin smiled and rested her chin on the table.

“It’s not okay.”

“…!”

“Even if you hear it it doesn’t mean much. So I don’t say anything. Got it?”

The atmosphere instantly froze.

Chapter 474

Tididik Tididik Tididik!

Diriling!

There was a sound of a password being hurriedly pressed at the front door and In-young with messy hair came hurriedly inside the door.

It was Sun Ah-hyun who finally got home from work on the fishing boat.

The guy who had checked the messages one after another which could be summarized as 'Cha Yu-jin collapsed woke up discharged checking status oops Yu-jin's memory has changed' clearly looked like he was completely in a hurry.

"Hey guys I'm here…"

"…"

"…"

"Over there…?"

"Ahyeon is here."

"Welcome Ahyeon. "It was a lot of hard work…"

however.

The atmosphere of the accommodation is such a mess that it wouldn't be surprising to start drinking Kkangsoju right away.

There was no alcohol on the table but the atmosphere seemed like a mess as if no one would stop him if he ran out and bought some.

There was no separate mourning house.

“Yu Yujin…?”

“…hmm.”

Moreover Cha Yu-jin is not there.

This is because Steer Cha Yu-jin unilaterally finished speaking and went into what she was told was her room.

-I have nothing more to say.

‘Damn it.’

In short get out.

“First of all Ahyun please sit down and get some rest. “I must have been surprised.”

“yes yes…”

After making room for Sun Ah-hyeon I silently drank cold water again.

For reference Cha Yu-jin’s roommate… is still the same as her previous dorm.

It means Bae Se-jin.

“You said 30 days… right? “If we just do our best in the meantime… it will work out.”

The guy is nodding his head as if he recognizes the seriousness of the situation but he doesn’t know the real problem.

‘He thinks you’re a drug dealer… ’

Bae Se-jin who has no way of knowing about his roommate's enormous misunderstanding seems to have decided that as the eldest brother he will take good care of one of the youngest until his memories return.

"okay. Sejin is right."

It's not right. It's lucky if you don't get caught by the collar.

I pressed my temples.

'…I don't know why they said 'update' and suddenly remembered Cha Yu-jin when she was a steer or if Cha Yu-jin the steer went in there.'

First let's make a plan again.

'First let's clear up the misunderstandings about Bae Se-jin… '

…But will he really believe me?

No actually it was a problem to even believe it.

Doesn't that mean that his group suffered a fatal blow because of false accusations that were not true?

'Meanwhile here I am lucky enough to not become a drug dealer and things turn out well.'

If I compared them I might end up being more uncooperative for no reason.

'after… '

I heard Bae Se-jin muttering next to me.

"Maybe it's natural."

"…"

“From Cha Yu-jin’s perspective… suddenly waking up to find herself in an unfamiliar environment. ”

“yes…”

It was then.

Keun Se-jin who had been observing the situation relatively silently shrugged his shoulders and stepped forward.

“Well… I guess I don’t have to worry that much?”

“…??”

“Hyung Se Sejin?”

“Even if I had a slightly different experience… Anyway Eugene is Eugene right? So I would have grown up the same until I was 19.”

“so?”

“Then I guess personality and things like that can change over the years.”

Big Sejin looked sideways.

“Don’t you think our tastes will be similar?”

“…!”

It was towards the brownies and chocolate chips that Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin had swept up.

* * *

Knock knock.

“I’ll go in for a moment.”

Ryu Cheong-wu spoke softly but firmly and a few seconds later opened the door where Cha Yu-jin entered.

Squeak.

Inside the door I saw Cha Yu-jin lying carelessly on the bed among luggage that had not yet been completely unpacked.

The guy covered his face with one arm and then opened his mouth.

“…Now that’s going too far.”

“huh?”

“I said no answer. “Twice.”

Cha Yu-jin lowered her arms and revealed her eyes.

And now without even looking around I pointed it out right away.

me.

“I know that person too so listen to that person.”

For a moment attention was focused on me.

hmm.

I folded my arms and Keun Se-jin walked into the room with ease.

“Wait a minute Eugene. I didn’t come here to ask that again. “I just came here to talk.”

“Conversation?”

“Well~ Still we’re living in the same house now so wouldn’t it be easier for you to know each other openly? You should also know what the situation is!”

Big Sejin sat on the floor with a grin. Cha Yu-jin changed the angle of her body on the bed and nodded slightly.

“That’s okay.”

“yes? How long should I stay here? I thought I was curious about that again. “Just my thoughts!”

And without bothering to listen to the answer Big Sejin began to summarize and speak the answer in a relaxed tone.

It was easy to understand what Keun Se-jin said as he summarized the things he had told me and the strange situation we had experienced so far.

“…So we’re thinking maybe you’ll only be here for about 30 days.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin did not refute.

However after listening to the end he opened his mouth with a somewhat sullen expression.

“That’s really…”

“You were trying to be a nerd right? “It’s like Eugene~ It’s like Eugene.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin glanced at Keun Se-jin for a moment.

And then burst out laughing.

“Hey”

“huh?”

“The Cha Yu-jin you know is not me. “I don’t think it’s polite to talk that way.”

“…!”

Kim Rae-bin standing next to him flinched even more.

“Oh really?”

But Big Sejin spoke without being embarrassed.

“Then shall we just stick to the line?”

“Sure. [Nice expression. Don’t cross the line.]”

Cha Yu-jin tried to lie down on the bed again with a smile on her face.

However Big Sejin’s words were not over.

“But you know that the original line is maintained through mutual respect right? Please do me a favor. “You also have a connection to the extent that we participated in <Azusa> together.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin paused.

At that moment Liu Chengyu held out his hand and said.

“okay. “It means that we should observe and respect each other’s basic manners.”

“…”

“Eujin.”

Cha Yu-jin got up from the bed.

It seemed like he was scanning everyone who entered the room.

‘It’s fate.’

In fact from this guy’s perspective Bae Se-jin is the one who ruined the group with drugs and Eun Se-jin is the one who voluntarily left the program due to school violence.

‘I wasn’t even a participant at all.’

However there was no such comment at all.

Instead he just raised his hand.

“…”

And then he shook hands with Liu Chengwu.

“all right.”

“thank you.”

Liu Chengwu smiled.

It was a strategy where Cha Yu-jin pushed the most grumpy guy and the guy who responded the most calmly and brought them to the table.

‘For now complete the first round.’

Only then did the atmosphere in the room relax a little.

At that moment Bae Se-jin winked. Kim Rae-bin held out the envelope.

‘Second round entering.’

“…! Cha Yu-jin you are now empty-handed for the second time. “I’m eating this at least!”

“…”

These are brownies and cookies.

Cha Yu-jin looked inside the envelope held in front of her and asked as if it were absurd.

“Brownie? “Did you really buy Kim Rae-bin at the hospital?”

“…? okay!”

“Oh”

At that moment Cha Yu-jin seemed to lightly laugh. It’s like seeing a close friend.

I guess I realized that wasn’t the case but it passed quickly.

‘…I guess we were close during Steer.’

Of course we cannot miss this timing.

I immediately stretched out my hand.

And demanded it.

“Just one.”

“…yes?”

It’s an ambiguous response whether it’s an affirmation or a question.

Without even looking inside the bag I put my hand in took out a brownie as soon as I could and opened the package.

And shoved it into my mouth.

‘…sweet.’

It’s a kind of… ‘certification that it’s a normal brownie without any drugs’ performance.

This is kind of funny but…

‘When Kim Rae-bin went to buy it Bae Se-jin also went with her.’

This kid talked a lot about medicine and I was afraid he might not take it because he was reluctant.

I swallowed the brownie and nodded.

“It’s delicious.”

“…Mundae says that! “Then there is a greater chance that it will suit your tastes!”

“…OK.”

And in the end Cha Yu-jin did not refuse.

The guy stretched out his hand took the entire bag and checked the packaging with a somewhat sad expression.

And then he started peeling them off one by one and stuffing them into his mouth.

The speed was even exciting.

And Testa is watching the scene.

“…”

“…”

‘It’s kind of like feeding raw meat to wild animals.’

Anyway if feeding sweets makes it feel good is its biological mechanism then it will react in some way.

With that in mind I decided to hold on for a little while.

And after a few minutes.

“Do you want pizza for dinner? Bulgogi pizza?”

“I like that pizza.”

“Okay～”

Surprisingly this conversation just happened.

In other words the atmosphere has definitely calmed down.

‘I don’t know if this is because of the snacks.’

Anyway Cha Yu-jin ate all the brownies and cookies while sitting on the bed.

And once she confirmed that people were no longer asking questions about her ‘group’ she slowly returned to an attitude similar to the Cha Yu-jin she used to know.

‘Even though the level of conversation has become low level.’

Still I wonder where this is.

“cola.”

“Oh thanks.”

“Ah if you have any questions about the current situation or us please feel free to ask.”

“all right.”

In the end Steer Cha Yoo-jin reached a point where they all ate pizza together at the same table and had light small talk.

And in the meantime we also had a chance to talk about our current situation.

“Ah we are almost finishing our activity period now. “How many schedules are left?”

Of course this guy’s answer was obvious.

“But I’m not on this team. “I’m not active.”

“Hmm.”

“okay.”

It was impossible to scold someone who wouldn’t do it.

‘The amount of practice won’t be easy.’

Moreover fortunately Testa’s group activities were almost over.

‘Cha Yu-jin also finished her individual activities early.’

To sum it up in one word ‘If that’s the case.’

“Our tour starts next month right?”

“yes.”

Even though I thought I was taking a little break it wasn’t a minus.

If only Cha Yu-jin continues to have no personal activities there will be some stories but even that will be covered by health issues for about a month.

So… there is only one problem.

“…What should we do with our reality show…?”

“…”

This is the group reality test that Testa was ambitiously preparing.

It looked like it was falling over.

‘Fuck you.’

How can they film a group reality show if not one member is filming?

“The filming schedule… can’t be postponed.”

“yes.”

This too was barely accomplished.

It was even difficult for anyone to be excluded from this reality show due to health issues.

Even if it’s missing you have to insert the footage separately later.

Otherwise rumors of discord or transfer might arise… This is the type of program.

So that is.

I opened my mouth.

“…just take a picture.”

“Taking pictures?”

“When Cha Yu-jin comes back in a month let’s just prepare Yu-jin’s portion separately. “How do you feel?”

“…”

This is best.

However Raebin Kim muttered in a gloomy voice next to him.

“Cha Yu-jin who came back… I think she’ll be angry that everyone filmed something fun without her…”

“…”

“…Oh you’re persuasive Ravin.”

“thank you…”

I covered my face with one hand.

‘Damn it.’

Is it my fault for applying such a system to a fucking company and causing this shit to happen in the first place?

‘But if I hadn’t applied this the album might have been ambiguous… ’

This was crazy again.

No and what’s the use of whining and regretting right away? What we need now is a solution.

‘Roll it… ’

Let’s roll our heads.

I was silent racking my brain but after a while I opened my mouth.

“Probably.”

“…?”

“When Cha Yu-jin returns… there is a possibility that she will remember it now.”

“Uh yeah… right?”

Just as when these guys regained their memories in the virtual world of the system the memories they created there did not disappear either.

‘then.’

“It’s best for Cha Yu-jin to participate in reality right now.”

“…!”

“But… Cha Yu-jin said she would not participate in the activity.”

“I’m going to say something first.”

Since this is not a stage activity I thought that if ‘Steer Cha Yu-jin’ wanted something in return it could be handled as a transaction.

And there was something I originally wanted to say separately.

* * *

“Is there anything else you want to say?”

I went out onto the veranda.

Cha Yu-jin was looking outside alone with the window half-open. And he looked back at me with an expression that didn’t seem very welcoming.

I opened my mouth calmly.

“I have something to tell you about your roommate.”

“…”

And Cha Yu-jin… sighed?

[Hey I'm not stupid. Of course that person has nothing to do with drugs.]

"…!"

[I think you know Steer pretty well and it's obvious from the way you treat that "roommate" as a member. but.]

The guy said dryly.

"I'm not curious."

"…"

[Of course it's not the person I knew. I have no intention of treating him roughly.]

And then he tapped my shoulder.

[But don't cross the line. You know? You also need to keep the line.]

The guy left the veranda with those words.

"…"

I stood at the veranda window where he was standing. Even though it was summer a cold night wind blew.

And I had a hunch.

'I guess it didn't work.'

It's a deal-breaker and talking about Testa's activities or anything else wouldn't have gotten through to that guy.

"after."

It might be a good thing I didn't say anything.

But no one expected it.

I never thought something that would cross that damn 'line' would happen so quickly.

Chapter 475

For now things have definitely been sorted out between us.

I can't work with Cha Yu-jin now.

Whether it's a personal schedule a short event or a barely-scheduled group reality entertainment shoot.

"I can't help it."

"Hmm."

…But is it really okay if I only tried to persuade you once for 10 minutes on the veranda?

It's convenient for me because I talk quickly but anyway the schedule for the month was set based on this.

"What if it doesn't work?"

"okay."

"…"

If that's the case.

"Then let's talk about health issues around next week and take Eugene out of his schedule altogether."

"Yes yes. And if the reality programming is delayed a little only Eugene who returns later will be filmed separately and added to the story…"

"okay. Regarding this I will talk to the producer right away tomorrow morning.”

Now that we have a stake in the company it feels less unfair for us to take care of all the details.

Anyway after quickly resolving the situation.

I spoke briefly to Bae Se-jin who was carrying the script.

I thought I should do this.

“brother.”

“Why why?”

“Shall we change rooms?”

“…what?”

“I think my brother is uncomfortable around strangers. “You have a lot more schedule these days so it’s better to stay comfortably in your room.”

…is also half true but in fact I think steer Cha Yu-jin will be uncomfortable with you and the room will be in a very bad shape.

However Bae Se-jin who thought he would welcome it instead snorted.

“it’s okay. “I’m not that sensitive.”

“…”

Self-objectification… what happened?

‘I’m so busy filming that I barely sleep.’

There was an extremely high chance that both of them would just keep quiet and spend their time minding their own business.

It is better in terms of possibility than to continue recommending it for no reason and then variables such as conflict arise.

‘It doesn’t matter as long as it doesn’t cause stomach problems.’

“yes.”

I decided to wait and see. Just in case I decided to leave the door open.

However what I failed to consider is that Bae Se-jin was more confident and motivated about being the eldest brother than I thought.

So two days later in the middle of the night I heard a shout coming from that room.

“…!!”

‘Fuck you.’

“…Mundae just now”

“yes.”

I reflexively jumped out and guessed.

‘The odds are gone damn it.’

Steer Cha Yu-jin must have been angry or misunderstood in her sleep!

‘He said he knew he was someone else but instead of keeping the line he only talked about it… ’

But when the members came rushing out and looked into the room.

“Don’t talk like that!”

The yelling… Bae Se-jin was yelling at Cha Yu-jin.

‘…?’

“What’s going on?”

What is it really?

* * *

A few days ago.

‘after.’

Bae Se-jin took a deep breath and stood in front of his room.

Earlier I confidently told Park Moon-dae ‘I’m fine’…but actually I was a bit nervous.

Because it’s still hard to live in the same space with other people who aren’t close to you.

The same was true for Cha Yu-jin who changed like any other person. It’s unfamiliar.

‘But… I’ve grown too.’

I was no longer a child who jumped out of my seat or tried to avoid it because it was uncomfortable.

He was able to face the situation!

And it’s already been over a year since I was roommates with Cha Yu-jin. In any case since it was the same body the assumption that it would be able to endure through inertia also played a role.

‘…good.’

He opened the door vigorously.

thud.

“…”

But Cha Yu-jin did not look back.

No at least they don’t even look at me. All I did was lie down on the bed and throw and catch a football.

‘Ugh.’

Bae Se-jin unilaterally nodded her head at Cha Yu-jin (she immediately regretted why she did this) and then lay down on her bed.

‘after… ’

I opened the script and listened to it but I was confused.

I’m not sure if I’m offended by the sarcasm in this situation upset or feeling a sense of obligation.

However… apart from my feelings I couldn’t help but feel a little curious.

‘How was I… living?’

I am the one who went through <Azusa> without the ‘Park Moon-dae’ that Cha Yu-jin experienced.

Guessing was possible.

Considering that Cha Yu-jin’s attitude wasn’t that friendly she probably wouldn’t have debuted.

And because he appeared uncooperative throughout <Azusa> he may have only remembered himself based on his first impression at the time.

No that was highly likely.

‘Anyway I guess I’m acting because I’m sure I’ve gained recognition… ’

However I don’t think ‘Dream K’ would have been doing very well if the agency had stayed the same.

“…”

Actually I know it’s a useless idea. It’s not something you’re going through right now anyway.

‘It was just speculation in the first place… ’

It’s just a guess that consumes mental energy. However delving deeply into thoughts in this way was also Bae Se-jin’s characteristic.

‘…Let’s hang up!’

But now I’ve learned how to take on the challenge!

He took another deep breath and stopped thinking about nothing.

Instead I read the script once and then went to bed.

And after managing my nervousness well and sticking to my schedule I moved again the next day at the same time at night.

Because I prepared my secret weapon.

“…Do you want to eat?”

Bae Se-jin took out a recycled paper bag from the box placed by the bedside and handed it to Cha Yu-jin.

It was Bae Se-jin's snack that Cha Yu-jin always liked the most.

Homemade candy!

My mother always buys and sends handmade candy from an acquaintance's handmade candy store and I crave it so much saying it tastes like "home."

"Oh Nope."

"…"

I coveted it…

-Brother I buy a lot of this! I like it.

-… I'll tell my mom.

-Oh!!

'…You ate brownies!'

Bae Se-jin suddenly missed his loud and talkative roommate.

So I held back the feeling that I was about to burst into tears and continued my next words calmly.

"That's right. Well there are also snacks and hobbies you normally keep under your bed. "If I'm bored… I find it and write about it."

"all right."

The horse was positive.

However Cha Yu-jin who was currently on the bed did not move. This means that they didn't even pretend to look for it.

It's a euphemistic disregard.

“…”

In fact there were things that Bae Se-jin wasn’t sure about because the group interaction had been so hectic until now.

However when they had a one-on-one conversation like this the delicate Bae Se-jin noticed it right away.

‘…What is this?’

contempt.

An attitude that seems to be looking down on hostility.

Bae Se-jin who was accustomed to and reacted sensitively to such things immediately recognized steer Cha Yu-jin’s very subtle non-verbal expressions.

He was sensitive and could read things without even having to show it.

“…”

Bae Se-jin was not angry.

Instead I turned my head to the script but my heart was pounding.

‘what?’

Why are you acting like that towards me? Could it be that in the past because I couldn’t debut in <Azusa>… I became an absurdly pathetic person?

If you think about it it’s only for me…

‘Let’s stop that.’

It felt like a victim mentality. And I didn’t want to be a person who was swayed by just one person’s attitude anymore!

Bae Se-jin calmed down and tried to shift his gaze back to the script.

It was then.

“Are you friends with me here?”

“…!”

Cha Yu-jin… spoke.

Of course it wasn’t a very friendly fight. A thoughtless remark almost like talking to oneself. Even though it seemed close to an expression of absurdity.

Bae Se-jin answered sincerely.

“Because we’re in the same group… haha and we even share a room.”

“Umm isn’t this your new dorm?”

Since you’ve become roommates in a new place it means that you’ve only been together for a few days at most.

But Bae Se-jin shook his head.

“We just moved but we were roommates for over a year before as well. “First of all I’m sharing a roommate just like I did in my previous accommodation.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin kept her mouth shut but something flashed in Bae Se-jin’s mind for a moment.

‘uh?’

This was the content of the next conversation. It felt like it was being typed out in my head as if it was being put together like a script.

‘then… ’

Wait is this an opportunity?

“Well that’s about to change soon.”

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva and then actively opened his mouth once more.

“I think I’ll probably change my roommate as I start filming the reality show.”

There was a brief look that seemed to ask ‘So?’

Bae Se-jin spoke as softly as possible imitating Ryu Cheong-woo’s speaking skills as if acting.

“So if you have a room you want to use I was wondering if you could participate in the filming.”

“…”

“When filming so that you can use the room you want as much as possible…”

“I don’t care. “No matter which room you share or who you share.”

Why does this kid speak Korean so well…!

Bae Se-jin wanted to close her eyes but the story she wanted to talk about was in the next story.

“…okay. however! It’s also uncomfortable. Then you have to stay somewhere other than your accommodation while filming. Besides that you won’t be able to do well.”

Since Cha Yu-jin will be called sick to the outside world she will have to stay in a hospital or hotel.

‘It would be very frustrating but if that’s the case it’s better to say it’s just a leg injury and even if you miss the stage you should at least participate in a group reality show… ’

Bae Se-jin was trying to organize and explain what she wanted to say in her head as calmly as possible wondering if it would be better for Cha Yu-jin as well.

I heard laughter.

It was a laugh.

“Why me?”

…what?

“It’s okay to leave the dorm.”

Cha Yu-jin looked at Bae Se-jin without any expression as if asking when she had laughed.

“But where I live at that time is up to me. It’s my body and I do what I want with it. OK?”

“…”

Bae Se-jin could not answer for a moment.

It wasn’t that I had nothing to say.

‘This… ’

Until now Bae Se-jin has tried to understand Cha Yu-jin’s point of view as much as possible.

How confusing and difficult would it be to suddenly find yourself in an unfamiliar environment with different memories and live without anyone in the same situation?

Considering her appearance in <Azusa> Cha Yu-jin was a nobleman.

I really thought so.

'but'

However to casually declare that he will do whatever he wants which may be a huge inconvenience to 'Testar Cha Yu-jin' who originally used that body…

'That is violence.'

It wasn't natural for me to steal other people's clothes just because I was cold.

That wasn't individualism it was egoism.

He thought so. so

"no."

Bae Se-jin had a straight face.

"What are you talking about?"

* * *

dawn.

Bae Se-jin's voice echoed in the room.

"I understand that you are confused and struggling. But… that doesn't mean you can do whatever you want."

"…"

"I'm saying this because I have similarly expressed my stress to others and then apologized."

“That brother.”

Keun Se-jin intervened in a cautious voice.

“What did Eugene here say? hmm…”

“…He said he would be absent when filming the reality show. Then I have to leave the accommodation for a bit…”

Bae Se-jin clenched his fist.

“At that time he said he would roam around on his own terms.”

“…!”

“And he says he’ll do whatever he wants for the next month!”

Oh shit.

I looked back at steer Cha Yu-jin. The guy was still looking at Bae Se-jin. I feel like there have been a few arguments here as well.

First check it out… No it seems like they’re trying to decide between right and wrong so I guess they’ll just make matters worse.

Start with a good suture.

I deliberately did not sympathize with Bae Se-jin’s anger and spoke calmly to Cha Yu-jin.

“We used ‘health reasons’ as an excuse for Cha Yu-jin’s absence from activities. “That’s the best reason.”

“…”

Even Lee Cha Yu-jin who has worked as an idol would admit that.

“So if it’s okay I hope you can show something that fits that reason to some extent.”

[Say whatever you want.]

Cha Yu-jin answered in a low voice.

[Because I will too.]

Fuck you.

This guy was pissed too.

‘Have you crossed the line?’

Although I was certain there was a solution I began to struggle not to think of extreme measures.

It was then.

[We… didn’t drag you into this situation. We are just some people caught up in this situation like you.]

I heard calm English.

This is Sun Ah-hyeon.

He chose his vocabulary quite politely.

[I think we did our best to exercise the utmost care we could. If there were any shortcomings are you willing to make up for them through communication?]

“…”

Cha Yu-jin was silent.

Then he sighed softly.

“Your consideration has a purpose. That’s not consideration that’s control. Control.”

what?

[To put it simply ‘When our Cha Yu-jin returns please don’t engage in any activities that will hinder her career.’]

“…!”

[All attention is focused on that. I don’t blame you. But you can’t blame me either. therefore…]

Steer Cha Yu-jin moved her neck.

[Testa? I’m sorry but it’s none of my business.]

And the next moment.

“…!!”

The guy started to walk through the room and towards the entrance.

“for a moment”

“What is he doing?”

Everyone reacted half a beat slower to the overly sudden situation.

The problem was that Ryu Cheong-wu was standing on the farthest outskirts and more than anything he was so unfamiliar that he couldn’t move at all.

‘shit.’

I immediately tried to lock the front door with a pad but he opened the door first.

And in an instant I got on the elevator and pressed the close button.

“hey!”

That means

‘…I called the elevator in advance.’

This bastard… did he really plan to leave a long time ago?

That was when I looked back at the front door and gritted my teeth.

“Cha Yujin!”

“…”

The closed elevator did not open but Raebin Kim asked.

“Where are you going?”

I could see the shape of the mouth moving.

‘I don’t know.’

And then the elevator went down.

Steer Cha Yu-jin left the dorm like that.

Chapter 476

Six years after debut a member left the group without permission.

A situation that makes your blood run cold.

As soon as the elevator carrying steer Cha Yu-jin went down she immediately ran down the stairs but it was already too late.

The apartment I moved to was on a high floor so no matter how athletic I was I couldn't keep up with the speed of the elevator.

Just like that… the company turned upside down overnight.

-… yes?

Starting with the manager and team leader who asked in disbelief this news eventually reached the president's ears and woke up almost all the sleeping employees causing them to search Seoul like crazy.

Of course so do we.

Liu Chengwu with a stiff face has been running around the security office and the dormitory since earlier.

"Did you check the CCTV?"

"I confirmed that I walked to the front gate but I think I missed it because it was dark after that. "It feels like I took a taxi but…"

"…"

And in order to track down that taxi you have to report it missing to the police.

Of course it would be crazy to report that. Unless you really want to wait until it appears on the front page of entertainment news tomorrow morning.

‘Damn it.’

I want to bite my tongue.

I continued to monitor social media in real time to see if there were any sightings and tried to think of places this guy might visit.

‘I caught this kid running out on the last tour.’

If you know the other person well isn’t it possible to roughly guess their movements?

however…

“…”

The problem is that you don’t know the other person very well.

‘Because it’s steer Cha Yu-jin.’

okay.

I will admit it.

Ryu Geon-woo an office worker before becoming Testa Park Moon-dae was very interested in Steer and continued to look into it.

So even in the hospital room they probably recognized this Cha Yu-jin as the guy from Steer.

‘But that doesn’t mean I know about individual humans.’

Everything I know about Steer Cha Yu-jin is a story that was once processed through the media.

It means information about idols.

There is no way I would know about his personal favorite places or favorite places.

Besides that.

"…I guess no one will say anything right now so I'm saying it."

Big Sejin shook his head and said something with a bitter smile.

"…You know we have a group schedule tomorrow evening right?"

"…"

"It's an event."

That's right.

The last domestic group schedule for this activity is tomorrow.

Summer Festival.

"We announced in advance that Eugene would be missing but if we stayed up all night looking for Eugene and ruined the performance… I think that would be a problem too."

It was accurate.

The only alternative is to cancel the event altogether…

'…For an event of this scale can a Testa-level headliner be canceled on the same day?'

It feels awkward to say this but since each event has a different name the impact of cancellation is different for each event.

'And tomorrow's event is… '

“It’s a water bomb.”

“…”

I was bored. Fuck you.

If you cancel on the same day you will be punished.

‘Any excuse you can make doesn’t even work.’

The moment you cancel you will inevitably be in trouble.

And even if we don’t cancel and the event goes well if Cha Yu-jin who missed the event under the pretext of being sick is seen walking around looking fine outside…

-Cha Yujin are you crazy? Come to your senses you guys all seem to have escaped lol First of all I have escaped first.

-This is why you shouldn’t use foreigners in K-Pop. They always say this.

-Yes Mr. Ignacio Tea stop sucking dirty Korean money and go back to America.

In fact Cha Yu-jin already had a criminal record due to a camera assault incident.

This means that there is no way to get out of it and it is a feeling of abyss. All kinds of unfiltered verbal abuse and personal attacks from people who claim to be right will be bombarded.

‘…what should I do?’

The problem is that I don’t have a fucking answer right now.

Other than continuing to look.

However no news of Cha Yu-jin was received until morning.

"…"

Of course no one had a good night's sleep in the bed. Even now half of them have gone after the company.

It was the same for me as I woke up to dawn in the living room with open eyes.

I was lost in thought while rubbing my smartphone.

I felt dizzy.

'…If you're going to do this.'

Wouldn't it have been better if the album didn't do well?

I thought it was the best at that moment but if this happens what will happen to Cha Yu-jin's career?

How can I fix this?

"…"

My head hurt.

'There's so much to do.'

Even if I find steer Cha Yu-jin… I don't know where to start and how to resolve the situation.

The company public opinion and activities.

I don't know what to do with him for a month.

'I can only think of extreme measures.'

I pressed my eyelids.

It was then.

widely.

Cold water was placed on the table in front of me. As if to drink it.

“…”

I picked it up and drank some water. The guy with the water glass sat across from me.

…It was Bae Se-jin.

This guy probably thought he left because of what he said but he doesn’t look very good either.

It was bad.

“Hyung there will be filming the day after tomorrow… no tomorrow too. “It would be better to rest for now.”

“are you okay. “I also filmed all night long.”

Bae Se-jin spoke clearly but soon lowered his head with a slightly confused expression.

“It’s just… I don’t know why he did this.”

“…”

“No matter how many years I have had different experiences… that Cha Yu-jin is also Cha Yu-jin. “I thought… I was never the type of person to do something like this.”

This is what happens.

In fact although Cha Yu-jin may seem like a guy who does whatever he wants at first glance he is a guy who knows how to be considerate when the other person seems to be in trouble.

No he's the kind of guy who naturally hands it over without even showing it as consideration in the first place.

'I heard someone who seemed like that to Bae Se-jin suddenly say that it's none of my business what happens to him.'

You must have been embarrassed.

okay. From a perspective that does not know the situation well it is impossible to know how much stress steer Cha Yu-jin is under in this environment.

I was the one who kicked out a fucking idol but wouldn't I be upset if they didn't ask me to try the suddenly successful version for 30 days?

'I should have handled it with more care.'

As I was concentrating on getting Cha Yu-jin back to normal by safely passing these 30 days I was unable to provide proper mental care to her.

"…"

My head was heavy.

When silence flows.

"I."

A low voice was heard.

"Is that really true?"

When I looked up I saw a guy with a pale complexion carefully sitting down on the sofa.

This is Raebin Kim.

"I don't think Cha Yu-jin went out of his way to cause trouble for us on purpose.”

“…!”

Bae Se-jin raised his head.

“…I would like that too. But you heard it too. Testa said it was none of his business.”

“But… I don’t think that just because he said this isn’t his business it doesn’t mean he will intentionally interfere.”

“uh?”

“Did Cha Yu-jin say that she would freely harm Testa’s career?”

“Not really but given the situation if he doesn’t care of course it will happen.”

“…”

for a moment.

It feels like I got hit on the head.

Perhaps in a good way.

“Wait a minute.”

“…! Park Mun-dae?”

“I think Lavin is right.”

I picked up my smartphone with a clearer mind.

It was still quiet.

This means that there is no news from Cha Yu-jin.

But to put it the other way… it means there are no eyewitness accounts.

Does this make sense?

‘It’s already been more than 5 hours since Cha Yu-jin ran away.’

This guy doesn’t even have a car.

So no matter how lucky you are… Is it possible for a celebrity with the level of recognition as Testa to wander around without a single eyewitness report?

It’s impossible.

‘Unless you care.’

“Cha Yu-jin is now moving without being noticed by people.”

“…!”

“If I really wanted to cause harm to Testa I would have gone to a club but that’s not true.”

This means that as an idol he is following his habit of avoiding people.

Even during this time I don’t know if they are protecting the line or what…

I inadvertently remembered what he said.

-But where I live at that time is up to me. It’s my body and I do what I want with it. OK?

-Your consideration has a purpose. That’s not consideration that’s control. Control.

“…”

‘Could it be… that you were scared?’

It was then.

Raebin Kim carefully raised his hand again.

“I don’t know if I can say this but…”

“It’s okay to take it easy.”

“…! yes.”

Kim Rae-bin answered with a serious face.

“I think we need to talk more with that Cha Yu-jin.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin muttered in a gloomy voice.

“…I heard it doesn’t work.”

“yes? Ah I think I chose to be too inclusive in my wording! therefore…”

Raebin Kim seemed to do her best to choose the vocabulary but then corrected herself again.

“I think so far we have tried to persuade Cha Yu-jin not talk to him.”

“…!”

“Or maybe it was a conversation aimed at persuasion. However I think it was difficult to build trust between us because there were no aimless conversations.”

“…”

“Why are you doing this?”

“no.”

Perhaps Bae Se-jin and I both looked at Kim Rae-bin with eyes that were almost astonished.

Because it was a very sharp analysis.

It’s hard to believe that he’s indifferent to interpersonal relationships.

“…Hmm I guess what you said is right.”

“…! yes. “I think it was an inevitable trend because it is natural to worry about our members.”

I saw Raebin Kim.

‘This guy also put a lot of thought into it.’

I thought that someone who usually has a hard time hiding his true feelings or guessing what others are thinking must have gone through several stages to come up with such thoughts.

‘Is that why there hasn’t been much to say lately?’

Raebin Kim seemed confused by this situation but seemed confident in his words themselves.

“I’m not sure what Cha Yu-jin is thinking but… so I want to know.”

“…”

I saw the guy.

And he nodded.

“okay.”

“…!”

“I agree.”

I’m also curious about what he’s thinking.

Since the line has been crossed anyway I think it might be better to talk about it openly.

“thank you!”

This is the way it should be.

and.

“Anyway I have to find it to do that.”

“…yes.”

I turned the smartphone screen back on.

Now that I’ve noticed that this guy seems to be moving around unnoticed the potential destinations are narrowing down a bit.

Transportation and destination.

‘It’s a place where idols would go.’

Bae Se-jin nodded and said to me.

“Then… we can narrow it down to the extent of what we know.”

Cha Yu-jin who participated in <Azusa> even if it only focuses on the information up to that point.

Then isn’t it obvious who knows it best?

“Is there a place Cha Yu-jin went to when she was a trainee?”

This is Raebin Kim.

The guy answered eagerly with a serious face.

“I think I preferred places with lots of people!”

“…”

That’s a bit much.

“…How about a detailed explanation?”

“An outdoor cafe or restaurant with a nice view… It seemed to be a noisy and open space. Ah I think I preferred outdoors to indoors everywhere!”

“Ah that place reminds me of Cha Yu-jin’s hometown.”

That’s how we narrowed down the scope.

Then the words came out.

‘If you feel like escaping from here.’

There is a possibility that it may have gone far.

“Did you ever go outside of Seoul to have fun while you were a trainee?”

“Except for my hometown… Well I have been to the beach before.”

“beach?”

“It was Ganghwa Island.”

“…!”

At that moment something overlapped.

‘Cha Yu-jin lived near the beach in San Diego.’

Even when I escaped from the tour I found it at a cafe near the beach.

…and.

-That guy… came to Ganghwa Island in a variety show filmed during Steer.

Ganghwa Island Beach.

It was Steer’s first entertainment filming location.

“…there.”

“yes?”

“Let’s go back.”

And 2 hours later.

“Cha Yujin!”

Steer Cha Yu-jin meets a friend.

Chapter 477

"…"

Cha Yu-jin took a slow breath.

The fresh and exhilarating smell of a beach with rough waves along the coastline entered my lungs.

Although it is summer the dawn at the water's edge is moderately hot. So the air on the beach of Ganghwa Island reminded him of the beach in San Diego where he was.

Before at times like this I would easily recover my pace.

But now his head was not clear.

To put it accurately Cha Yu-jin was no longer able to blow away her 'defeated feelings' as easily as shaking off dust.

It was no longer possible as before.

'That sucks.'

So he decided to at least calm down.

I felt like I could just shut up here and survive for 30 days like this…

If there is no one.

but

"Cha Yujin!"

"…!"

I heard a voice calling.

When I turned my head I saw a gloomy figure wearing a mask.

I didn't mean it to be dark.

Because they are running with their backs to the dawn and sunset the light makes them look gloomy.

And he could tell who it was just by its dark silhouette.

Because I've seen him for several years.

-… bye. Yujin Cha.

The colleague I last greeted on the way home.

"Raebin Kim."

But the moment the name came out of my mouth I realized.

'They're not the same person.'

My stomach felt uncomfortable.

Meanwhile 'Kim Rae-bin' – after all the names are the same! – ran to the shore and shouted.

"Were you really here?!"

Finding yourself.

Does 'Cha Yu-jin here' have any special memories of this place?

When I thought about it like that I was so sick of it.

"I am here. "But aren't you looking for your friend?"

“…??”

“Then go back. Because it seems there is no such person. “I am not your friend.”

I couldn’t speak so smoothly. Cha Yu-jin did not dare to express her anger and silently turned her head away.

It was then.

“no! “You are my friend.”

“…!”

Kim Rae-bin also raised his voice.

But Cha Yu-jin knew.

‘He’s not angry.’

Kim Rae-bin’s voice was filled with the confidence and conviction typical of someone who simply shares what he or she has discovered.

“I agree that our experiences have been different since participating in <Azusa>. “But I realized that the friendship we had built before participating did not disappear.”

‘Before participation?’

Cha Yu-jin thoughtlessly asked herself and immediately realized.

Before participating in <Azusa>.

The time when we practiced together at the same agency.

“Then I am the friend you met when you were a trainee. “You are also Cha Yu-jin who I studied with when I was a trainee!”

"…"

"We can judge that we are the same person!"

Cha Yu-jin was at a loss for words for a moment.

It wasn't that I didn't have anything to refute.

However… it was because the opponent Kim Rae-bin was full of confidence. He seemed to believe without a doubt that he had found perfect logic.

'oh my god.'

And that was… not something that was easily seen over the past few years.

But it wasn't completely unfamiliar either.

Before debuting and a few times even after debut… when preparing an album.

-If we proceed like this we will definitely have a stage that conveys modern charm and is complete.

I remember seeing things like that sometimes.

…No that's not it.

'My friend was originally that kind of person.'

Kim Rae-bin was originally that kind of person.

At first glance he just seems polite and humble but he has a stubborn and unyielding side.

Self confidence.

A shamelessly solid worldview.

And the talent to make it not like stubbornness.

Seeing the good side of an old colleague again gave me a special feeling.

"…"

Cha Yu-jin clearly knew.

'They're not the same person.'

I even said several times directly that that was someone other than the person I knew.

Still this couldn't be helped.

'…but there are some things in common.'

Cha Yu-jin was only in her 20s.

I couldn't reject the solid friendship that was proven in this dead-end corner of an unfamiliar world where I was suddenly thrown into.

So he had no choice but to answer in a subdued voice.

[You are right.]

It was the first recognition.

Just then a wave hit. Cha Yu-jin turned her head.

'I guess you didn't understand.'

However a bigger answer came back without needing to reply again in Korean.

“okay!”

hmm?

Cha Yu-jin got up from the rock.

“Kim Rae-bin did you understand what I said?”

“I’m studying simple word-level English to write lyrics. “Because it helps with hitting the punch line.”

“Oh.”

Cha Yu-jin almost asked what kind of song he was composing but soon realized the reality and stopped.

Because it’s meaningless.

“…?”

Kim Rae-bin did not notice the unnatural interruption but decided to continue the conversation anyway.

Taking advantage of the slightly relaxed atmosphere he remembered Park Moon-dae’s advice.

-If you really meet Cha Yu-jin… feel free to say whatever you want.

So I really did that.

Raebin Kim first asked what was most important in his judgment at the moment.

“Have you eaten?”

Food clothing and shelter!

Since I probably couldn’t sleep it was right to at least get a meal.

Cha Yu-jin was momentarily taken aback but soon smiled and turned her gaze back to the sea.

“no.”

“Well it’s early but let’s have breakfast first.”

“are you okay.”

I didn’t ‘feel like that’.

Then Raebin Kim looked at himself with a look of shock.

“Are you stressed enough to skip meals?”

“…”

“…! Or are you feeling a lot of pressure from your current situation because you have lived so freely?”

Damn freedom.

Cha Yu-jin looked at the waves with her chin resting and answered indifferently.

“I worked at a repair shop.”

“…”

The five years of activity ended as if nothing had happened. The work he started after returning home.

“My parents offered to give me a surfboard store but I said no.”

It must have been extremely annoying to meet and talk to idiots who ride surfboards and flirt with each other on the beach every day.

It was a contradictory feeling wanting to be stuck in a pathetic life wasting my life but not wanting to meet a fool who wasting his life.

“Auto repair shop?”

“huh.”

“Did you have fun?”

“not really.”

But I didn’t hate it that much. Cha Yu-jin has never had a history of being bad at anything. Even at the repair shop I quickly adapted to using my hands and body.

and…

“It was nice that I didn’t think anything of it.”

“…”

Why did steer Cha Yu-jin return to Korea as soon as her contract ended?

In fact it wasn’t that he didn’t receive offers from other agencies at all.

It wasn’t a very big agency but there were a few offers from small agencies.

Maybe I could have released one or two more albums.

But he didn’t.

-No.

‘We’ve already come too far.’

Because he realized he had done something stupid.

“…”

Originally he had a very simple theory of life that he learned from his grandfather and developed.

-If you can’t see a solution find it.

-If you can’t find it just give up and try in a new direction.

Cha Yu-jin thought that way and lived by practicing it. Until debut.

However the past few years as ‘Steer’s Cha Yu-jin’ were a little different.

This is because I could not ‘give up cleanly.’

‘A member is arrested for drug use a song that was not selected becomes the title the group’s name is attached to a project that they did not participate in the album is cancelled… ’

And rumors.

An environment where you can’t deal with rumors and rumours.

Even though there was no fundamental solution in sight he persevered making the best choice at every moment.

Of course at the time it felt all worth it. Even if it was a waste it didn’t matter.

But after pouring everything into it.

As a result there was nothing left.

-End of steer contract.

“…”

An ending with no growth or twists.

If you have come that far you have to admit it.

That it's past time to give up.

"But this place makes me think too much."

So it's painful.

The world was so perfect that the foolish choice of not giving up was given the wrong price.

Everyone is happy and everything is successful.

[I just… don't know why I have to look at this damn world where everything is perfect.]

"…"

Since it was something that couldn't be said in English Cha Yu-jin muttered in Spanish.

However Kim Rae-bin did not press on what he meant.

I just quietly tried to understand the emotions contained in the tone of voice through my own social skills which were not very sensitive.

'It seems difficult.'

And that core was enough.

So Kim Rae-bin decided to just quietly sit next to Cha Yu-jin and watch the sea together.

Because he knew that he had nothing to say.

"…"

"…"

And it was the right choice.

Shootaaa-

The waves reflected the light and rippled slightly.

In front of the peaceful beach Cha Yu-jin felt a bit of freedom.

It was the kind of thing you could enjoy by saying words that no one would understand.

Thanks to this I was able to nod my head to Raebin Kim's words.

"It's eight o'clock now so it's a good time to have breakfast."

"okay."

The two woke up on a rock on the beach.

The footprints remained neat and not crooked.

* * *

And after eating breakfast at the Baekban House with a single room that Kim Rae-bin had found out about from the members in advance.

Raebin Kim now feels comfortable asking his questions.

"Cha Yujin do you hate your brothers?"

"Sigh"

That's right.

Just say it out loud.

Cha Yu-jin who was drinking water almost started screaming but barely held it in.

And I decided to give an honest answer thinking that I had already found the accommodation anyway.

“It’s uncomfortable.”

“Because you feel that you are trying to infringe on your freedom for the sake of another Cha Yu-jin? Or is it because he treats you while projecting that Cha Yu-jin?”

“Umm… right.”

Cha Yu-jin reacted shakily. It was because Kim Rae-bin spoke so blatantly.

And after thinking about it I came to a more honest and specific answer.

I’m sorry about the favor. And… it was because of a little worry.

“And… ‘Mundae hyung’?”

hmm?

Raebin Kim raised his head.

Cha Yu-jin was frowning mysteriously.

“I’m suspicious of that person.”

“…!”

“That person knows me very well.”

Raebin Kim opened his mouth wide.

“Well… Brother Moon Dae remembers all of us well and since he is in charge of planning this group…”

“Nope! That’s not what I meant. “It’s about me.”

“…?”

“Not you me.”

Cha Yu-jin pointed to herself.

He was already feeling it.

The person whom Kim Rae-bin calls ‘Moon Dae-hyung’ knows too much about steer Cha Yu-jin.

Steer is objectively a group that did not have very good reviews.

‘It was even a boy band.’

It is difficult for a man of the same sex to know the situation that well. Having heard the name even once may be the limit. And only towards bad rumors.

But what was the attitude of the person named ‘Park Moon-dae’?

-Shut up.

-… It’s okay if you don’t have to look at that.

Block at every critical moment.

It’s as if you know exactly what your group’s triggers are.

And that too based on facts.

“Too much so… it’s not natural.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin couldn’t explain it to Kim Rae-bin in detail but she wanted to warn him that it was somewhat uncomfortable.

So I said.

but.

“Then let’s ask him directly!”

“What?”

Kim Rae-bin immediately picked up her smartphone…!

“Kim Rae-bin are you crazy?”

“I’m not crazy you idiot!”

“bar…”

At the moment when Cha Yu-jin was embarrassed by hearing Korean swearing for the first time in her absence Kim Rae-bin successfully made the call without any problem.

“Yes bro!”

And after a while.

“…”

“…”

One more person was added to the room at Baekbanjip on the beach of Ganghwa Island where there were no crowds yet.

“hi.”

‘Brother Moon Dae’ had bags under his eyes in just one day.

He didn’t already have a very healthy complexion or a fierce look but his face looked more tired and tired.

‘hmm… ’

Cha Yu-jin felt a slight sense of guilt but still knew that caution came first.

So I tried to straighten my stance right away but “My older brother Cha Yu-jin says he has a question for you!”

Kim Rae-bin first poured out Cha Yu-jin’s questions directly to Park Moon-dae.

‘Raebin Kim!’

The moment when Cha Yu-jin shouts inwardly and focuses her gaze and sharpens her reflexes in preparation for an unexpected situation.

The ‘Mundae brother’ in front of me… slightly lowered his head.

“Well that’s it.”

And Cha Yu-jin who is astute in interpersonal relationships immediately noticed the nuance of the movement.

This person…

“Because I’m interested.”

“…??”

“I was interested so I just looked into some activities.”

This person was embarrassed.

‘oh my god.’

Moon-Dae Park.

Former Ryu Geon-woo ended up ducking out in front of the singer himself at such an unexpected time.

Chapter 478

It’s very embarrassing.

This situation.

“What were you interested in?”

“…”

“What activities did you see?”

“Just the whole thing.”

Wasn’t Cha Yu-jin the one who escaped from the dorm?

I don’t know why I felt like I was being interrogated.

‘He said he didn’t want to talk about Steer.’

This means that I could not have expected a situation where my past would be stolen from an alumnus’ house in Ganghwa Island by a guy who managed to find me after staying up all night…

‘But I can’t not answer this.’

From what I can see it looks like Kim Rae-bin has calmed him down and he has finally relaxed but I can’t stop him.

So as I keep answering questions there is no end to the questions.

“Why did you see us?”

shit.

‘Was Cha Yu-jin here also the same personality as the question mark killer?’

Rather think of it as a good thing because you are used to it. I have no choice but to remain calm like that.

And in the meantime steer Cha Yu-jin’s questions became more and more specific.

“[I mean] shouldn’t there have been a cause?”

“…”

hmm.

I looked at the guy.

Steer Cha Yu-jin has become more direct as if she has lifted one layer of hurdles from the past few days.

So you shouldn’t give an answer that can be skipped over here. I realized that this quick-witted guy would notice right away.

okay.

‘That’s right.’

If you use your brain to package this it actually has the opposite effect.

So… I just started putting out whatever came to mind.

It was a story that had never been told before.

“I saw a live cam of the stage and they did well.”

“…”

“I think it was a festival in Pohang.”

Actually I vaguely remembered the name. It was the Pohang Sea Festival hosted by the Ministry of Oceans and Fisheries.

[2X0712 Pohang Ocean Leisure Festival Steer Full]

It was a coincidence.

“Originally when I was in college I filmed videos of idol events… I earned some living expenses but the habit stayed with me so I happened to watch videos of idols.”

And the feeling I had at the time of Data Pal still remained even then.

Kind of like ‘How much will these guys do?’

So I thoughtlessly looked up the unit price and was quite shocked.

‘Because it is lower than my predicted unit price.’

It was even at a time when demand was falling.

‘I could see people withdrawing their feet.’

Unless there is some kind of great rebound this idol group is sure to fizzle out like this.

However looking at Steer’s stage the lethargy typical of ‘a person who knows it’s already too late’ was not visible.

So I wondered if I had misunderstood the unit price.

“…”

…I think that’s why I suddenly had this thought.

-If I film and upload a fancam what are the chances of getting lucky and hitting the jackpot again?

Like during the Yeongrin Heavy Rain fancam.

However I knew that it was a delusion that was virtually impossible and I did not have the money or time to implement it.

'There's no reason for me to do it in the first place.'

So that means it ended there.

"…As I continued watching I also watched related videos using the WeTube algorithm. Things like stage or entertainment. "That's it."

"…"

That was it really.

I kept my mouth shut and Cha Yu-jin also kept her mouth shut.

'I doubt it… I don't think so.'

…That's enough.

I held back a short sigh. I guess this explains it.

"…?…??"

Next to me Kim Rae-bin seemed to be barely able to follow the conversation but we'll see about that later.

Now I'm busy taking care of my head.

'Actually it's funny to even talk about this now.'

To be precise I had forgotten that I had been looking for a group called Steer until recently.

I entered Park Moon-dae's body with all my memories of that time gone.

That was the end of my memory as a civil service exam student in my 20s when I only had fragmentary information about the success of the ＜Azusa＞ re-listing season.

And it was only recently that Ryu Geon-woo regained his memories of quitting his civil service career and working for a living.

'I got it back by chance when I destroyed the system.'

So this question is…

"So… are you our fan?"

"…"

No you're saying it's not like a question like this would come up right?

"I've never been to an offline schedule so it's hard to call me a fan."

"Really?"

But Cha Yu-jin chuckled.

What?

[So you who originally did not participate appeared on a survival program and it was just a coincidence that a B-grade boy band became a completely successful KPOP group?]

"…"

[You had absolutely no desire to change the fate of this group. Right?]

hey.

‘I was threatened with death if I couldn’t debut you bastard…!’

What fate is frozen to death.

After that if I didn’t win first place I lost and if I didn’t win the grand prize I lost and that’s how I made a living.

I couldn’t bring myself to say that and just suppressed my anger in silence.

But suddenly a suspicion arose.

‘Is this really a coincidence?’

Could it be that because I was interested in a group called Steer that debuted in ＜Azusa＞ the system figured it out and accepted my wish?

‘…There is a possibility.’

Anyway let’s calmly resolve any misunderstandings.

I answered sincerely.

“It’s really a misunderstanding. “This must be some kind of butterfly effect.”

“Umm.”

“My memory was a bit messed up too.”

And after explaining my situation a little more I emphasized it again.

“Everyone else in the first place all I did was watch your performances and entertainment shows.”

But it didn’t work.

[A boy band where half of the members disappeared due to gossip and only 3 members remained?]

"…So before we find out about that let's start with the stage fancam first…"

It won't work. This keeps coming back with the same words…

'Let's endure.'

I suppressed my sleep and silently closed my eyes and opened them.

Cha Yu-jin is now completely leaning on the table and nodding her head. It seems like he has regained his composure instead of being very alert.

And next to me Raebin Kim is nodding as if he finally understands.

"ah! That's why you immediately recommended Ganghwa Island!"

"What?"

I'll be amazed.

"This is the place we came to hang out as trainees but Cha Yu-jin says it was the filming location for her group's first entertainment show. It seems that Brother Moon Dae knew that fact. indeed!"

"…"

You acted like you would never talk about that bastard Steer but when did you tell Raebin Kim?

Wait a minute that thing is still opening its mouth.

"that's right. Umm the second time was also Ganghwa Island."

"I see!"

hmm?

I frowned.

This… is a bit strange.

‘Obviously Steer’s second reality show was planned for Ganghwa Island.’

But that’s it.

“It wasn’t canceled…”

“Oh.”

“…”

“…”

Fuck you.

I realized right away.

‘You caught this bastard.’

I wondered if they were aware of the intentionally canceled schedule.

That’s also the schedule at the beginning of debut.

‘You bastard!’

Cha Yu-jin laughed and adjusted her posture. I rubbed my forehead.

I tried to check the facts right away because I was worried that I might say something crazy such as whether I had memory problems or the timeline was different but they said they were using this to trap people.

“It’s a misunderstanding.”

“OK.”

“It’s a misunderstanding.”

I’ve never bought a single of your albums…

‘You can find this information just by organizing the timeline.’

But Cha Yu-jin didn’t even pretend to listen.

[I think everything is clear now.]

Cha Yu-jin held out her hand.

It was quite polite.

“nice to meet you.”

“…”

“It’s been a long time since I saw a fan.”

Damn it.

I… reached out and shook his hand.

“…!”

Why are you surprised when you put your hand out?

…And although I say I’m a fan it’s true that I survived the boredom with the content this guy provided without spending a single penny.

I guess you could say it’s a debt.

“Yes it was nice to meet you.”

"…"

Steer Cha Yu-jin continued to shake hands in silence for quite a long time.

Then he suddenly shrugged his shoulders.

"I think it would be a pity for 'Mundae hyung'. "I'm more handsome than this Cha Yu-jin."

That seems like a somewhat controversial statement.

"Is there anything you can feel confident about?"

"I have a tattoo here!"

"what?!"

Cha Yu-jin who is pointing at her forearm and Kim Rae-bin who is shocked leave the two to play…

Anyway I think it's done now.

'…It's been resolved right?'

If I had known this would happen I wouldn't have said I was a fan a long time ago. I'm not a real fan anyway so saying that could have only made me more wary so is this the best?

'It seems like he'll be less stressed so this is the best… '

I pressed my sore eyebrows and lowered my upper body with the intention of pouring water.

It was then.

Liquid poured down on the table.

It wasn't water.

"Hyung Mundae?"

Oh damn.

It's a nosebleed.

* * *

"Are you okay? After all going to the emergency room…"

"I said it's okay."

I muttered as I dabbed an ice pack at my already sore nose.

This is the first time I've had a nosebleed just because I stayed up all night. It wasn't like that during <Azusa> either so we needed Bacchus.

'I have so much to do that my brain is overloaded.'

It seems like blood was rushing to my head and the pressure was trying to escape.

Anyway it just means that my head has become clearer.

"I'm starting to see people."

"yes. "I think we need to be careful."

We are now sitting on a simple parasol chair in front of a convenience store.

There are a few people visible on the beach far away and we are all wearing hoodies and masks so no one recognizes us yet.

But since I don't know when it will come I guess I'll have to take a taxi and go back…

“Hey drink.”

This guy is the problem.

‘I don’t know if you will follow me obediently.’

“thanks.”

Anyway I opened the ionic drink Cha Yu-jin offered and drank it. And then there was a pause.

“…”

Isn’t this the drink that Steer advertised at the beginning of its debut?

“Wow Moon Dae do you know that too?”

“what.”

I read the article organized in the Steer Wiki advertisement tab.

I continued drinking my drink.

Then I heard a small voice next to me.

“sorry.”

“…”

“Are you disappointed in me?”

“no.”

I took the drink out of my mouth.

“I should have paid more attention but I’m sorry I didn’t.”

“…”

I added as a joke.

“We came out fighting with T1.”

“What?”

It’s true that it’s something to be so shocked about.

“So all schedules related to T1 are blocked. Because of that I cared more about my reputation. “Because I’m nervous.”

“…”

“I’m sorry if you felt controlled. that’s right. “We have no right to do that when we first met.”

Raebin Kim was right.

I glanced at the guy sitting next to me who was packing up the remaining ice packs.

The guy is sitting there seriously worried about my nose bleeding with a face that has no idea that he has made an incredible social achievement.

‘I am indeed.’

It was then.

“Hey.”

Cha Yu-jin wrinkled her nose and shrugged her shoulders.

“I’m not trash.”

What are you talking about all of a sudden?

“I feel grateful to my fans. “Thank you Moon Dae because you are our fan.”

“I’ve never even bought an album.”

[…some values may not be related to money.]

The guy who made a remark that was unbecoming of a person from the headquarters of capitalism put his head on his lap resting his chin.

“thank you.”

“…”

I finished my drink.

“Thank you too.”

We called a taxi on the spot and returned to the hotel.

Cha Yu-jin did not respond or run away. I just quietly chatted with Raebin Kim and naturally got into the taxi with her.

And it would have been great if that had resolved everything.

“Yu Yujin!”

“…thank god.”

Even if I hadn’t found Ryu Cheong-wu who didn’t look very good among the guys who welcomed the situation.

‘What is it?’

I felt a strong premonition of being X.

“Cheongwoo what’s going on?”

“…hmm.”

It means there is. Damn it.

“I received a call from the company… This is just the employees’ guess. “Don’t worry too much just listen.”

“…”

“I heard that Eter will appear as a special guest at an event called Summer Pool today.”

what?

I realized the hidden meaning of those words.

“…It wasn’t the original schedule but all of a sudden?”

“suddenly.”

That’s right.

It is said that Eter suddenly decided today to appear at a similar but smaller event as Waterpool for a fee that is almost unpaid.

But why did our company listen to this so quickly and contact us?

“Anyway… it seems like there’s been some talk about Eugene at work.”

“…”

So the news that Cha Yu-jin escaped came to the ears of the officials through someone in the company…

“If you hadn’t been able to find Eugene an article might have been published in the evening.”

The official over there predicted that this Water Bomb event would be bad news for Testa.

And Ether was hastily inserted into a similar but smaller event to serve as a comparison group.

‘Fuck you.’

Nice head.

‘In this way even small-scale stories can be told with the passion and spirit of newcomers.’

The idea is to aim for word of mouth by contrasting with the first-tier idol members who left the group as they got older and became more popular or the idol groups who canceled Water Bomb.

However this story assumes that Cha Yu-jin went on a rampage like a dog.

“…yes. However since Cha Yu-jin returned safely it will not have the effect that the agency is aiming for.”

“huh. That’s why I told you not to worry too much. “I didn’t tell you for no reason because I thought you would feel more anxious later.”

“…”

That’s right.

Liu Chengyu smiled faintly.

“Anyway get some rest. It’s okay for me to contact the company. “There are still about four hours of sleep until the event… I think it’ll be okay.”

“hmm.”

That won’t work.

“No we have to guess the formation one more time. I also need to check the parts. Since the center is missing I think we need to pay more attention.”

The song which was originally created with Cha Yu-jin’s presence in mind had to be tuned more sharply to exclude her.

But Liu Chengyu shook his head.

“My complexion is so bad right now… Then let’s go to sleep right away. “Then we’ll get it right first…”

“Do you have a group schedule for dinner?”

“…!”

I almost hit it.

Cha Yu-jin suddenly joined the conversation.

‘What is it?’

When I asked ‘Do you have a schedule?’ he didn’t seem very curious as if he was listening closely to the conversation.

“…that’s right. “It’s an event.”

“Are you in trouble because ‘Cha Yu-jin’ isn’t there?”

“…a little bit.”

“Umm.”

Steer Cha Yu-jin looked into space for a moment as if lost in thought.

And I took a quick look at Raebin Kim.

…no way?

“[The reason you got a nosebleed is half my fault.] I also have a sense of responsibility. therefore…”

“…??”

“I have to schedule this evening.”

“…!!”

“Really?!”

“I don’t lie.”

“Cha Yujin!!”

The living room was filled with exclamations screams and bewilderment.

I almost opened my mouth too.

‘…I couldn’t even imagine.’

Steer Cha Yu-jin has joined the temporary schedule.

Also on water bomb.

But after a while.

“Hold on a moment.”

“uh.”

Big Sejin carefully called me out.

“It’s really good that Eugene is cooperating but… you know there are only a few hours left until our water night right?”

Big Sejin spoke quickly and accurately.

“If we don’t do as well as Eugene it might be better to just leave.
“After all we ended up talking about health issues.”

“…”

“what do you think about it?”

It was a reasonable concern and a cool-headed judgment.

I probably would have nodded my head too if there was no other information value. but…

I chuckled.

“I don’t think you need to worry.”

“…!”

“Let’s get right into practice.”

No other words will be needed.

Just once.

This is because I know that once the choreography becomes cool my worries will disappear.

‘No rather… ’

I wonder if other emotions arise in that place.

“…okay.”

And 30 minutes later.

“…!”

Let me tell you that my predictions came true.

So the time for Water Bomb was approaching.

Chapter 479

Seoul Water Bomb.

“Waaaaaa!!”

“evil! hey!”

Streams of water laughter screams and music erupted from all directions.

A crazy summer festival that exchanges fun and physical strength was in full swing from daytime.

Usually at this type of event there are a lot more people who come to focus on having fun but today’s Water Bomb was quite noticeable with people who didn’t do that.

“Is this the last time for the kids?”

“Yes yes. maybe?”

I am a fan of Testa.

Of course this is not the case for everything as Testa itself is very well known to the public and this event is not their solo performance.

However it was also true that people who would not have come to a party where they would run and scream and shoot water guns for 10 hours did so because they were tired.

And even if he wasn’t those fans most of the people who came to Waterbomb today were looking forward to seeing Testa’s performance as a ‘famous singer’ and having fun.

“Oh it’s so cold.”

“Hey the more famous kids come out to dinner though. “The tester won’t come out until after 9 o’clock??”

“okay. Let’s go… Hey Mudi is coming!”

“oh my god!”

However unlike the general participants who simply focused on the festival itself some of Testa’s fans were suffering from other anxiety.

Of course this is due to Cha Yu-jin’s absence.

-It’s too bad Eugene doesn’t appear.

-Cha Goyoung would have been flying around but I think he would be the one to regret it the most…

-People who are not sick in the first place suffer a lot once they get sick… Don’t worry about Lover I want to see you resting well and healthy our Eugene (photo)

A few days ago it was already announced that Cha Yu-jin had suspended her schedule due to health reasons and naturally most people predicted that Cha Yu-jin would not come to Water Night today.

It was easy to find posts on social media expressing concerns about Cha Yu-jin’s health and wishing her recovery.

But there was one problem with keeping the line there and ending there.

Cha Yu-jin’s star quality was too good.

-?? Suddenly taking a break without even telling me the name of the disease??

-LOL It's a shame that you don't post anything on Eugene's car engineering world really.

-Could it be that Chamera lost again?

-Wow Chayupjin take a break from stress? Haha. Why does he look so lame? It doesn't suit me.

Has Cha Yu-jin ever been sick since her debut?

And to the extent of suddenly stopping the schedule without a deadline?

Moreover it was not known specifically where the pain was.

It only states that temporary rest was recommended due to 'physical and mental strain'.

So you may feel this way either subtly or overtly.

'I'm curious.'

Why on earth does it hurt?

Although the story has not yet surfaced speculations were going on behind the scenes in the fandom.

Moreover some aggro suddenly started appearing early in the morning.

-Cha Yu-jin is not sick or is he not coming out because he is meeting his girlfriend haha^^ Yesterday he stayed out without permission and the company was in trouble you idiots.

-An account looking for the original intention of Eugene Ignacio Cha who left home (★★★He actually escaped from the dorm★★★)

These were anonymous accounts.

Accounts with similar speaking styles appeared out of nowhere and made provocative comments.

There were all kinds of rumors including that he had a girlfriend that he got into a fight with the members at the dorm that there was already noise from the time of contract renewal.

Moreover there is even talk that Testa may not appear at all at Water Bomb today due to the aftermath!

– Check to see if the tester comes out or not. Really haha I'm solving it out of pity.

-Don't lose your mind if you suddenly receive a cancellation notice.

And around that time there were bound to be people who were deaf and thought things like 'If I didn't know would there be smoke coming out of the chimney?'

-I see there's something there.

-It's true that I don't consume sasaengbal stories but honestly I'm anxious. It's been obvious since his debut that he has a slightly different sentiment.

-Please Gommer Big Bird you guys are searching. Try something. It seems more real because it's quiet.

It quieted down a bit during the day but fans who had already seen it were in a somewhat uncomfortable state.

'Oh it's annoying… '

The same was true for Kim Rae-bin's fan who came with friends to Water Bomb which was not even in Palja.

'Cha Yu-jin why are you really sick right now?'

I'm already wondering if I should get a partial refund for the ticket since one of the best members of Water Bomb is missing.

Of course I won't do that because of Kim Rae-bin.

'Kim Rae-bin is a slut… he won't do it.'

While muttering that she had no expectations Raebin Kim's fan crept forward and sideways as close to the protruding stage fence as possible.

After standing outdoors for several hours while soaked in water the feeling of discomfort and cold could not hinder his movements.

"huh? "Would you like to see it from a little further ahead?"

"Uh huh."

My friends spontaneously followed along.

Looking around it was clear that many people were fighting over each other to fill in the missing seats all of them having a timetable in their heads.

okay.

An unpleasant feeling is an unpleasant feeling and the real Testa is the real thing.

'Why doesn't the testa come out?'

In the end there wasn't even a cancellation notice.

Now the last corner.

'It's coming out!!'

[Hello Seoul~]

Papa baba papang!!

Amidst water cannons powerful sound firecracker-like flame effects and LEDs exploding six tall figures appear on a huge outdoor stage on a dark midsummer evening.

[Make some noise!]

It was a testa!

“Wow!!!”

Even though he reflexively screamed the fan noticed.

Cha Yu-jin was missing.

But it was a moment. At the same time my eyes were drawn to Testa’s outfit.

They were wearing simple white t-shirts and jeans. A light outfit that only shows two or three members wearing denim jackets.

But in a situation like this simple things are always best.

This is because water becomes the point element for all other elements.

Ahhh!!!

A familiar intro begins to play against a backdrop of ear-popping shouts.

Exciting and fast beat.

＜Promise＞ has been arranged slightly more rhythmically to suit the festival.

[Take your STAR

A day when the stars are pouring down

Kicking the waves and running

Run and Fly to the sky!]

It is a popular song with a refreshing taste befitting an idol.

It felt very wholesome for a water bomb but it was still fun enough to be like a college festival where everyone sings along to songs everyone knows.

Moreover because of the commonality in the keyword ‘water’ it was a perfect fit in terms of performance.

“and!!”

“Fuck you dog!”

Testa’s performance splashing water while wearing only special anti-slip pads on his bare feet was already met with enthusiastic cheers.

In addition Testa members generously volunteered their bodies.

[Today is today.

Let’s go!]

In the second verse they even included an ad-lib interlude on purpose and started running around the protruding stage freely.

“Ahyeon!”

For example Sun Ah-hyeon jumped out in front of the protrusion and took a graceful and agile lap while being hit by a splash of water.

“Wow!!”

A stream of water poured down again on Sun Ah-hyeon who was waving her hand with a slightly embarrassed or shy expression on her face.

And if you look to the side

“Liu Chengwu! Liu Chengwu!”

“Please stay here!”

‘and… ’

It was almost like I could see the desire swirling around. Even people who don’t seem to be Testa fans are saying the same thing.

Ryu Chengwu was providing fan service by being showered with water pouring down around his neck and back without any sign of displeasure.

‘Crazy abs… ’

Raebin Kim’s fan naturally restraining himself from turning his head turned his head to find his favorite.

[Yes fly so far like this]

It was right in front of me!

The white face of Kim Rae-bin with her extravagant piercings was right in front of us.

‘Gigi Kim Rae-bin’

Kim Rae-bin’s fan almost lost his mind for a moment…

But I had to come to my senses soon.

This is because the guy who was one of the members wearing the jacket was facing the brunt of the excited requests from the mischievous couple in the audience right next to him.

“Take it off! Take it off!”

Let’s take off our jackets and have fun together.

‘That must be true of Kim Rae-bin’s personality!’

however…

The guy who was snooping his head… actually took off his jacket!

“…?!”

And handed it to the audience.

“Aaaah?!”

“It’s mom!”

‘You crazy man!’

The screams of the person who received it and the people around them turned the area into a frenzy.

Kim Rae-bin didn’t seem to understand why water guns were pouring out instead of thanks but he seemed to think it was a sign of gratitude.

Kim Rae-bin’s white top was all wet and stuck to her back as she bowed her head and ran on stage again.

‘Fuck… fuck.’

thanks.

I wanted to punch myself in the mouth for criticizing me for asking why I was attending such a dangerous event like Waterbomb.

The stimulation was crazy.

‘Are you in good shape too?…!’

Raebin Kim’s fan was once again impressed by her choice not to pick up her smartphone.

I’m taking a picture someone else will be taking a picture. What I see with my own eyes is more important to me!

[Today will shine!]

Testa finished the first song only after going around the protrusion and showing another exciting dance break.

A roar that threatened to leave the outdoor concert hall shook the air.

[hello~! Nice to meet you!]

It was the same even when Testa tried to give a light greeting and talk.

[Oh my we would be even more grateful if you could avoid our faces so that we can sing that song… Oh my.]

Even as I spoke water was splashing mercilessly on my face.

However Lee Se-jin grinned lifted his shirt stole the ball burst into laughter and moved on.

[All right! Still playing is more important~?]

Then cheers and positivity that seemed to leave the concert hall resounded.

Dimin Kim Rae-bin’s fan frowned for a moment even in the hot and exciting atmosphere.

‘Ah that’s why I did the water bomb thing.’

This was because it could be dangerous because of mindless kids who shoot at eye level or crazy guys who shoot mixed with alcohol instead of water.

Especially when it comes to famous male idols like that they often have strange fandoms or passionate followers.

however.

Park Moon-dae who already looked like a wet puppy made a serious bombshell statement.

[Then just… shoot comfortably.]

"…??"

[We will stop it on our own.]

Then Testa started taking things out of his pockets.

They were waterproof goggles.

"Hahaha!"

I'm finally using the armor I didn't use when I came out!

While the people who had been attacked by time lag were laughing Testa also laughed heartily and put on his goggles.

These were some pretty cool-looking fashion goggles.

And without a moment to catch your breath they jump onto the protruding stage one by one in the order in which they were put on!

[Going straight to the next song!]

"Waaaaaaaa!!"

“Ahh!!”

Good job on choosing a spot!! crazy!!

While Kim Rae-bin’s fan was holding her friend’s arm and screaming water guns poured down on Bae Se-jin who was standing right in front of them.

My jacket my clothes and the white shirt I wore underneath were all wet.

‘Pity!’

However she did not stop her friend from shooting water at Bae Se-jin’s boat…

In this way Jeonju flows by in an atmosphere of high excitement due to excitement and a rush of hormones.

[Doong…!]

“Ah the latest song!”

It was ‘Roll the Dice’.

The beat seemed to have sped up a bit perhaps because it had been arranged to be a little more intense.

When people are already starting to shout and respond.

[Oh and… we have a guest.]

“uh?”

Liu Chengyu suddenly smiled and said that.

But there was no explanation as to what was being said and no time for people to mutter in curiosity…

[Touch your hand

My tape is cold again!]

The song started with Park Moon-dae's high notes.

"Wow!"

Park Moon-dae wearing goggles moved his body vigorously as if he didn't care who was shooting water and where. People cheer and follow the movement.

[The moment my heart beats

All my senses are slow]

Testa pulled out the characteristic and impressive choreography like a sword but used other formations and gestures somewhat freely and ran around the protruding stage.

Lights splatter from people's cameras.

The moment of the performance when the song is running the beat is racing and the summer evening air seems to be bursting with heat and moisture.

The last part before the pre-chorus!

[Finding a clear answer-]

and.

Suddenly the music stopped.

"…?"

In the most tense situation where you need to explode!

For a moment I thought it was an audio accident.

ping!

A colorful LED light came on on the stage display board behind the protruding stage.

And there… someone was standing there.

Blonde. Jeans and a white T-shirt that fits well.

The seventh person wearing goggles.

Cha Yujin.

[…]

He holds a microphone and makes short sounds as if testing.

[Ah ah.]

That moment.

“Waaaaaaaa!!”

“Eujin!!”

“what?? who is this?”

In the excitement fans are shocked in a good way by the sudden appearance and even strangers are caught up in the atmosphere and shout.

The swirling band accompaniment returned.

[!!]

And Cha Yu-jin started running out of the protrusion.

“I’m crazy!”

Cha Yu-jin who had half of her hair shaved ran straight ahead as if she was going to break through the wet stage without paying attention.

In the meantime without losing his breath he continues to sing his part without stopping and puts it over the microphone.

[There is only one choice

Yes take it all one more

Even if I lose this tight grip]

And at the very front.

The moment you step into the center of Testa’s large pavilion.

[Let’s Start the melee]

The song is dropped.

A spectacular dance break that wasn’t in the original song.

[side side side]

Cha Yu-jin jumped forward.

“…!!”

crazy.

Crazy crazy!

The squirting stopped temporarily in front of the projection.

An incredibly three-dimensional feeling a violently impressive presence and exhilarating explosive power.

‘what??’

[Just roll the dice]

Cha Yu-jin performed the dance break in a style that was close to a solo dance.

The action of kicking the ground with your feet and bouncing your body as if sweeping the floor with the recoil of your body looked really cool but it also seemed like a lot of overload.

‘Huh??’

But I didn’t even have time to come to my senses.

Cha Yu-jin’s next action was to casually lift up her jacket and throw it among the dumbfounded people.

Immediately a well-toned upper body was revealed.

“…?!”

“Aaaah!!”

And so it continues.

I kept creating something that I couldn’t take my eyes off of.

When entering the slow section Cha Yu-jin deliberately sat down and welcomed water.

So that I can hit you directly in the face.

‘Mi… crazy.’

And without even closing his eyes he stared at each of the people who were shooting water guns took off his goggles and stood up.

Very naturally.

However at the perfect timing as the interlude ended he rejoined the formation.

And the final chorus performance of the title song that drives you crazy.

[pull]

Fireworks exploded.

However he generously crossed all lines and burned it so that even the loud and splendid finale seemed like a background.

So at the same time.

– Mimimi | Chin Water Bomb Cha Yujin appears

-Wow Cha Yujin

SNS was being turned upside down.

And there was one reason why all of this was possible.

Steer Cha Yu-jin did not have higher absolute abilities than tester Cha Yu-jin.

The lack of management and education was that painful.

Just an experience.

All the things I went through because of the group that had so many accidents.

An environment where there are many sudden changes depending on the situation so your ability to learn and apply choreography at the moment is bound to increase dramatically.

This is because we could not survive if we did not increase.

-I won everything.

-omg.

So he mastered the choreography for Testa's latest title remix and two other songs for the event in four hours.

and…

Moments where I desperately remained by adapting to very uncomfortable and unfamiliar situations in order to somehow put on an impressive performance.

There was one ability that he developed to the limit in order to seize the opportunity.

[Talent: EX (EX)]

If only the opportunity came.

He was a man who would not lose sight of someone.

Chapter 480

Water Bomb's testa flooded social media like crazy.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssss and and and and and and and and and Ryu Chungwoo's desperation!!

-Water Bomb I'm using a phone with a shattered screen.

-What should I do? What should I do?

-Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha everyone is out of their minds.

Appreciative videos and photos are shared in real time.

Heat and energy.

As if there was an exclamation mark attached to all those expressions they were full of liveliness and dynamism. And excitement bordering on madness overflowed.

And I can definitely say that MVP is…

-Crazy guy (video)

It was Cha Yu-jin.

The appearance of Cha Yu-jin who suddenly appeared in the middle and wandered around the stage as if she was going to eat her was captured on phone cameras from all kinds of angles and uploaded to the Internet.

Numerous eye contact photos and videos are still pouring in.

In this short period of time it seemed like there were hundreds or hundreds of posts talking frantically about meeting Cha Yu-jin's eyes.

-Can't I hear Cha Yu-jin? Every time I come I scream so much.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ (Photo)

-Is this what you originally looked like Cha Yu-jin? (video)

A midsummer night.

Cha Yu-jin whose eyes were backlit by a light that pierced her eyes like the sun seemed to be swallowing her gaze.

-Wow fuck

-He said it hurts.

-I'm flying around;;;

-I guess you're crazy. Oh please you son of a bitch I sold the tickets because I thought you wouldn't show up.

Of course there was a lot of crying among Cha Yu-jin's personal fans.

A few days ago it was announced that Cha Yu-jin would not be participating in the schedule for a while due to health reasons. Naturally it was a well-established belief that there was a high probability that Water Bomb would not participate.

But on the same day.

-????

-What is it?

Everyone was dumbfounded by the sight of him suddenly appearing in the middle of the room without another word and rushing towards the audience on stage like crazy.

And soon I was screaming.

However the voices of dissatisfaction caused by such individual losses are not noticeable…

-Cha Yujin and crazy

It was so overwhelming.

Water Bomb's Cha Yu-jin's eye glow was visible even through the low-quality screen that was shaken by water droplets and moisture.

Powerful facial expressions and movements.

-It's a legend.

-I thought it would be suitable as a water bomb but I didn't expect it to be like this…

-It's not that I'm sick but what training did you do?

Of course if you look closely at each detail you may have noticed something awkward.

For example Testa allocated a particularly small number of dance parts or intentionally increased the number of parts each member filled out with ad-libs so that the total sum was less than usual.

Somehow Cha Yu-jin's vocalization seems to be a little less stable.

However the audience did not dare to leave enough mental space to even care about such things.

The ability that is most maximized at these festival-type events.

Because of the existence of talent stats that have been trained to the limit.

That was the only thing that caught my eye.

-Cha Yu-jin posted 3 seconds on Crazy Inheart and in 10 minutes it already had over 50000 views;

Just by posting a short cut with a hashtag on social media views poured in.

-Oh I'm going crazy.

-Water Bomb doesn't sell VOD or anything like that? please

The audience in the video seemed to be going crazy to the extent that the reactions of internet people who started hitting the ground were not awkward.

It was like that in reality.

Water bomb scene.

Wow!!

The stage races like crazy.

[In the pose!]

The third stage was the new song 'Pose' with an exciting American 80s teen concept.

This song which originally focused on playful and exciting boyishness was developed into a more relaxed and hot feel in line with Water Bomb.

Although she didn't comment Steer Cha Yu-jin really liked this song.

So I tried not to think any deeper.

I implemented the choreography I had learned and ran wild.

"Whoa."

And finally the interlude between songs arrived.

[Did you enjoy it~]

I could barely hear the progress.

'…Wow.'

As he took a deep breath and combed his hair he saw a firm hand handing him a water bottle.

It was leader Ryu Cheong-woo.

"…"

Steer Cha Yu-jin was almost mistaken for a moment. It was because of the adrenaline.

But soon I realized the situation again.

'are you okay.'

"Thanks."

He drank half in one go and poured the other half on his head with a grin. Screams erupted from the audience again.

And Lee Se-jin's sad words.

[That's right Cha Yu-jin appeared as a special guest~ You guys are so nice right?!]

Ahhh yes!!

yes!!

Screams mixed with positive exclamatory and profanity were rampant.

Spectator Spectator!

‘Oh shit.’

It’s embarrassing to say this but Cha Yu-jin felt a tickling sensation that made her hair stand on end for a moment.

Was it because it had been such a long time since this reaction occurred?

And Park Moon-dae who had been hit by a thunderbolt of water while wringing out the moisture from his jacket next to him also noticed Cha Yu-jin’s expression.

‘I was overwhelmed for a moment.’

He also knew the exact reason.

In other words it has been a very long time since Steer has been given this kind of environment.

Unlike Testa.

‘…Testa is the headliner of the concert.’

So the audience for this performance were people who were already ready to pay attention to themselves.

‘…’

That was an element that Steer Cha Yu-jin could not have no matter how active she was.

Steer was a group that had already ‘cooled down’ once.

The public does not become interested in materials that have lost their sweetness after being consumed in that way until the ‘cool time’ comes back.

Not paying attention.

How scary is the preconceived notion of human psychology?

That characteristic made me not even watch 'Lee' Cha Yu-jin's stage.

'but.'

A miraculous moment when public interest returns.

The presence of steer Cha Yu-jin who waited for just that one moment and grinded herself to the very end displayed such an enormous suction power that it was now violent.

At least Park Moon-dae knew that so he smiled in many ways.

'okay. discharge… '

Until I got hit by water all over my body again.

"Take it off!!"

"…yep."

Wow!!!

Park Moon-dae gave up his jacket without any hesitation after being hit by the water cannon again. The unexpected cheers grew louder regardless of the progress.

[Then let's go to the encore song~]

And by slowing down the tempo slightly the last song slightly brings out the atmosphere of a summer night.

A song that is so popular that everyone can sing along.

Limestone movie OST.

[Black-hole

[Let me swallow it]

Black hole.

A deep tone rang in my ears.

What sounds like a chorus are the voices of the audience.

Oh oh oh-

Some excited audience members turned on their smartphone flashlights and waved them to set the mood.

Cha Yu-jin moved her body while listening to the unfamiliar and good song that she had only practiced for a few hours.

The cheers deepened again.

He looks at the audience and listens to the music amidst a surge of adrenaline.

A deep rich and unique melody.

And within it he found traces of what he knew.

Guitar riff.

I remember the low unconfident voice my friend spoke to me.

-For the next album… no if that's not possible it would be nice if I could use it at some point…

'Kim Rae-bin made it.'

Here he seemed to have made it into a song just as he wanted.

But that appreciation was very short-lived. To fall into such thoughts…

It's been so long since I've been on this stage and it's so big.

And there were people who continued to follow him with their eyes.

As if possessed.

"Cha Yujin!"

"Eujin!"

Are they fans of this 'Testar Cha Yu-jin'?

Or is this entirely a reaction to my performance?

I couldn't figure it out.

But at this moment…

[Black-hole!]

Because it was he who was standing on stage.

Cha Yu-jin was able to fully accept the stimulation.

Move your body express yourself and digest the song.

And the viewer reacts!

That thrill.

So I realized.

'ah.'

That's why it was like this.

[Hit it like a comet]

Give up completely and find another way.

The reason I couldn't keep that simple principle.

The reason I couldn't give up.

'It's fun.'

[Shatter like a shooting star]

He fucking loved this.

* * *

The bed was comfortable.

And the writing is very comfortable on the eyes.

-Water Bomb come out one more time…… please

"hmm."

I turned the pages on my smartphone with satisfaction.

Half a day after the water night.

All of the Water Bomb-related articles that are still dominating real-time trends are related to Testa.

'It was a somewhat difficult route from safety to exposure.'

The buzz was enough to make it worthwhile to make an unconventional choice even after taking some risks into account.

-Can you please come to Incheon? I'll do really well. I'll put some Evoin in the water gun please.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠA fancam of Ahyun's shirt being torn… It's finally here.

-How did the trio of jackets all lose their jackets (video)

-Lee Se-jin is such a fox… Have you seen him being pushed and pushed by a slut? If you don't fall in love with him after seeing this you don't like your guy.

Even humorous posts like this are popping up.

————————=

[The idol gave me a gift but I don't know if he gave it to my boyfriend or to me]

(capture) (link)

It is said that a couple who received a jacket from Kim Rae-bin at Water Bomb are fighting without giving an inch to each other because they received the jacket.

Kim Rae-bin's ruling is urgent haha.

————————= =

-Crazy hahahahahahahahaha

-Oh the man said it was his because of the size and the woman said she made eye contact first so it's all quite persuasive haha.

-Ravin please show up quickly before the Solomon verdict is announced haha.

Happy jacket hahaha

For reference here are the results I asked myself:

-yes? ah! I thought the woman was so cold that she needed my jacket

so I gave it to her…

I thought so.

Anyway the conclusion is…

'What can it be?'

It means a great success.

I chuckled.

If this happens one more thing is automatically kept in check.

'But in the meantime Ether?'

The first-tier idols who appeared in Water Bomb garnered all the attention so is there any chance that the rookies who appeared in Summer Pool would be mentioned?

I just did something foolish by running an event at a cheap price.

No on the contrary…

-Hmm I guess I'm not as talented as I thought.

– Doesn't it feel oddly solemn?

If you sort the comments in the WeTube fancam by latest order and then search for Korean you can secretly find reactions like this.

In short we were marketing the concept very tightly but our weaknesses were slightly revealed when we showed up at such a raw water-shooting event.

Lack of experience.

Lack of ability to cope live.

‘hmm.’

I rubbed my chin.

If I do this well… I could feed it in reverse.

‘It’s a bit scandalous.’

No matter how much I think about it trying to go viral with Cha Yu-jin was a bit excessive.

‘Isn’t it hard to see that as a strategy?’

But if you really think of it as a strategy.

I smiled and got out of bed.

‘An eye for an eye I can do the same… ’

“Lie down Park Mun-dae.”

“…”

shit.

I leaned against the head of the bed. Sejin Lee sat on the edge of the bed with a bright smile on her face.

“Wow~ As soon as the schedule ends I feel sick! “The fever is 38 degrees!”

“…”

“As expected Mundae I’m sick again after finishing my schedule!”

Stop it.

“But then that means you’re going to get some rest now right? huh?”

“uh.”

But isn’t it possible to use your head while resting your body?

I’m not even the only one who has stretched out.

If you listen carefully.

“Ugh.”

“after…”

This is the sound of Kim Rae-bin and Bae Se-jin talking loudly in their own rooms.

That’s right. At Waterbomb only the bad guys wore jackets.

‘They are all the ones who moved the most during the Cha Yu-jin incident.’

However since everyone lost their jackets and ended up running around bare-chested it can be seen as a planned result. My body seemed to have become heavier since dawn perhaps because I was relaxed.

I nodded and soon came to a fairly credible guess.

But even though we moved around a lot the others probably had a tough time too right?

‘I stayed up all night ran to work and had a hard time for a few days.’

However there he even performed while being showered with his entire body by a stream of water from an unknown source…

“You probably aren’t feeling well either. Isn’t it?”

“…”

This guy is avoiding his eyes.

“Go and lie down.”

“yes.”

And 2 hours later.

Soon everyone began to suffer stably.

“…What?”

That is everyone except steer Cha Yu-jin.

Chapter 481

This is the accommodation.

There are… almost no survivors.

“Ugh.”

“her…”

This isn’t some kind of disease or apocalypse.

It’s a new accommodation that I haven’t been able to unpack properly because I’m already busy but it’s empty and there’s no one walking around.

‘Everyone is making a fuss.’

Even.

“Haha my body aches… I don’t know how many years it’s been.”

“…”

Liu Chengwu also stretched out.

I looked back at the guy in the bed next to me who was taking fever reducers and smiling.

‘I got hit by a thunderbolt of water once and persistently.’

Of course that wasn’t the only reason this guy stretched out. Because he was fine and showed no signs of fatigue even after three consecutive days of concerts.

It seems that the stress and burden that arose from the collapse of the company and the reckless push during the album preparation period coincided with the Cha Yu-jin incident and exploded all at once.

'He must have done more because he was the leader.'

But even so what's great is that this guy is in the best condition.

And it's up to you to figure it out.

"Well when you feel better I'll go to work for a while and come back…"

Me indeed.

"Get some rest. "I don't even have a schedule."

"…!"

"It is not too late to receive a call from the company when it arrives. "It's not like there's anything urgent."

"…huh. okay."

Liu Chengyu lay back on the bed with a slightly embarrassed smile.

I just… first lay down on the blanket.

'Well… there are days when I get a good rest like this.'

At this point the important things have been completed.

I thought it might be okay for a day or so.

Weeing.

The wind blew along with the sound of the circulator running. That was enough.

It's really funny that no one says it's hot on this summer day even though the air conditioner isn't on.

'hmm.'

But there is only one exception.

[…It's hot.]

"Turn on the air conditioner."

"I'm not trash."

Standing on the doorstep with sad eyes… is the only survivor.

This is Cha Yu-jin.

"Why is everyone sick?"

This surprisingly lively guy came out to the living room early in the morning and has been wandering around ever since.

It seems that Bae Se-jin is making a fuss in his room so he can't go in.

By the way the funniest thing is that the exact opposite of this situation was posted on social media.

-Ah Eugene said he would go out somehow so he appeared but he seems to be taking a break because his health is getting worse. ㅠㅠ

The professionalism is crazy…

That's right.

People firmly believe that Cha Yu-jin showed her fighting spirit and became a legend by flying around on stage even though she was sick.

However the only one who is officially sick is actually the only one who is fine among them.

“I’ll wake up in the evening and shake everything off so you don’t have to worry about it.”

“…”

So steer Cha Yu-jin pretends not to be but looks quite embarrassed. Since a while ago I couldn’t sit in one place.

‘…I can’t tell them to go out and play.’

Still I don’t think this kid will run away again thinking about control.

In fact steer Cha Yu-jin became strangely silent right after yesterday’s performance but seemed lost in thought in a good way.

This means that it has changed quite stably.

‘good.’

then.

I said calmly pressing the back of my hand to my throbbing forehead.

“I think it wouldn’t matter if I closed the door and turned on the air conditioner in the living room.”

“…”

“no. It’s so big… I’m switching rooms with Lee Se-jin. “We will change it right away.”

Yes I should have done this a long time ago. If we gave this guy a solitary confinement and guaranteed privacy he would have calmed down a bit.

‘I was too obsessed with eliminating variables.’

It's more visible because it's a bit more relaxed. Being sick can be beneficial right? I saw steer Yujin Cha.

'I think the tension between us has eased quite a bit while performing together this time.'

It is a similar phenomenon to the way that once the group assignment results end with an A the bad feelings disappear for the group members who participated properly even if the process was a bit boring.

'This guy did a good job.'

Yujin Cha.

Without this guy a significant amount of this buzz would probably have been lost.

First of all a guy who didn't seem like he was going to appear in the show suddenly appeared in the middle of the show took aggro and took over all kinds of popular videos with his talent stat EX so it was a hot topic.

'…The reaction when Cha Yu-jin comes back is a bit problematic.'

I wish I could remember.

In any case this means that in a situation where friendly relationships are built like this there is a high probability that the proposal will work well.

'I think it will work this time.'

I looked at him with quite confidence.

however.

"I have no intention of taking that sick person's room."

“…!”

[I told you. It’s not that trash.]

And then the guy left the door flapping his t-shirt neckband.

“…”

no…

‘Then what?’

Even if I give him a solution he spits it out.

Why did you say it was hot? Was this an expression of intention to eat some ice cream as a build-up?

I looked back at Liu Chengwu for objective confirmation but soon discovered that he was sound asleep.

“…”

Let’s leave it alone.

‘…I don’t know.’

okay. Do it yourself.

In the end I decided to guarantee Cha Yu-jin a reasonable amount of autonomy.

It means that he had to crawl out of bed and say this.

“The manager is here… It should be on your phone too. “If you need anything ask for ice cream or something.”

“…”

“Don’t talk about details like what who or how we are sick.”

Seeing that the word was leaked to other agencies I think we need to be more careful until we properly control our mouths.

Isn’t it difficult to expect such things from Cha Yu-jin?

‘I guess this is enough.’

However… Steer Cha Yu-jin sighed.

what?

“OK. “I understand now.”

“What…”

“Go to bed now.”

And I was pushed into the street room.

“…?”

When I turned around Cha Yu-jin was sitting on the sofa and holding her smartphone.

‘What is he doing?’

And this question is solved step by step.

* * *

First of all… not even an hour later a box of something arrived at my dorm.

Ding-dong.

‘Ice cream and… ice pack?’

And some daily necessities and groceries.

Given the circumstances did you assume that Cha Yu-jin contacted the manager?

no. It was not prepared by company employees.

“You did it?”

“Yeah.”

I had it delivered to the supermarket myself.

“I hated being contacted by Moon Dae’s company. no?”

“…”

“And any adult living in Korea can use this method.”

No I’m not saying I thought you couldn’t deliver.

‘For some reason I didn’t think doing it myself would be too much of an active gesture in my life.’

“I need to sort things out…”

“Nope.”

However Cha Yoo-jin kicked Kim Rae-bin’s butt as she stumbled sent her back to her room and even organized the boxes she had ordered herself.

And surprisingly Cha Yu-jin’s practice of ‘doing it yourself’ started here.

First give everyone warm and cold water in a tumbler.

“It’s okay…”

“Your face doesn’t look good.”

They handed out ice packs lined with towels.

“Huh? “There was a towel like this…”

“I bought it.”

In the end we ended up checking the temperature and checking the timing of taking medicine.

“The fever hasn’t gone down yet. “I use an ice pack.”

“…”

I suppressed my sleep in bed while watching the guy leave the thermometer.

At this point I’m confused.

I… am being cared for by Cha Yu-jin?

And to that guy too?

‘Is this true?’

I turned my head. Seeing Ryu Cheong-wu opening the ice pack towel with a puzzled expression it seemed like reality was true.

However we did not know that Hwaryongjeomjeong had not even come out yet.

An hour later.

“…brother.”

“why.”

“What smell is this?”

“…!”

I raised my head and looked outside.

I could see a pot boiling in the kitchen outside the door.

From there the unique smell of savory broth was rising.

“…??”

And the person standing in front of the pot is… Cha Yu-jin.

“…?!”

Does Cha Yu-jin cook?

I was almost wondering what he was doing or why he was making food for himself…

Surprisingly the purpose of cooking was not self-sufficiency.

“Come out and eat.”

“…”

He called the troublemakers to the table.

The members who were suddenly assembled sat around the table and were able to confirm the identity of the food he cooked.

that…

“Uh huh.”

“this.”

It looked familiar.

-Chicken soup for the soul!

This is because it was a recipe that Cha Yu-jin had already tried several times.

‘Did you say your mother told you this?’

It seemed like a taste that had its own memories. But what happens every time he tries this dish…

I added honey once.

-Wow!

There was almost a fire once.

-Ugh!

In short it was a complete failure.

There is probably no one here who doesn’t remember.

“…”

“…”

Bae Se-jin’s trembling voice was heard.

“…why bother giving me the option of ordering porridge?”

I can’t bear to refute it.

But… I looked up and saw Cha Yu-jin in the kitchen who was still cleaning up after herself.

To be exact his hand movements.

‘hmm.’

It was the movement of someone who had experienced it.

This means that it was not a reckless attempt. I mean I used to cook on a daily basis before.

then.

‘…was there a time when the company did not provide good care?’

In short it may be a case of your skills improving as you do it.

I thought for a bit and then gave a short answer. I can’t even talk about all of this so just say it.

“…Thank you.”

“…okay.”

After hearing those words everyone sat up straight as if they had made a firm decision. They seem to be willing to eat whatever comes their way.

Soon Cha Yu-jin sat down at the table with something that looked like soft white porridge as if she had taken it as a side dish.

The members flinched but steer Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth without any reaction.

“It may be a little unfamiliar but. “The only thing I can do is cook when I’m sick.”

“…”

Instead of saying ‘Then order porridge’ Sun Ah-hyun’s happy voice came out.

“Now I’ll eat well…!”

“thanks.”

And after a moment of holding the spoon quite solemnly.

“…!”

“It’s delicious…?”

“It has a unique flavor!”

Surprisingly Cha Yu-jin’s chicken soup tasted very good.

‘No it’s really okay.’

If it sticks in the mouths of sick foreigners it means it’s really delicious.

Steer Cha Yu-jin smiled slightly.

“Good.”

The meal began to take place in a relaxed atmosphere.

And the sick ones slowly opened their mouths and started talking as if they had gained energy as their stomachs were filled.

“Yesterday’s water night… it was fun.”

“Oh really. We all ended up like this because we enjoyed it so much!”

“that’s right. But Eugene responded the best and is the healthiest.”

Ryu Cheong-wu was probably planning to gently lead the conversation by saying ‘And I’m really grateful that you even took care of me like this.’

However Cha Yu-jin reacted like this smiling and slightly frowning her eyebrows.

“There is also a reaction to ‘this’ tester Cha Yu-jin.”

“…!”

I didn’t come forward.

‘I don’t think you’re arguing?’

Rather it felt like respect.

And now there are people other than me who refute it.

“But still… you did the performance that people saw yesterday.”

“That’s right~ I guess there were more people who just came to the event than our fans?”

“…”

“Wow our Cha Yu-jin is really good too… You were really good too. So you were good and people liked you.”

Cha Yu-jin was briefly silent. And he answered obediently.

“i know.”

“…!”

The guy calmly adjusted his posture at the table. It was a bit polite.

“Thank you for giving me a chance. And I apologize for my rude attitude at first. sorry.”

Steer Cha Yoo-jin bowed her head and some embarrassed members began to stumble while putting their heads down on the table.

Huh.

“Oh no. Ugh it was nice to perform together…! “I’m sorry that I didn’t really understand…”

“Oh that’s right…”

The atmosphere became more relaxed.

It was a complete reconciliation mood.

“Okay let’s get along well from now on!”

Well this guy seems to think he deserves an apology.

Anyway the atmosphere of building basic trust with each other… wasn’t really a bad thing.

“good job.”

“I know.”

I listened to Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin’s small conversation laughed and then continued eating.

And I don’t know if it was really thanks to Cha Yu-jin’s nursing but it was evening a few hours later.

All Testa were able to roughly recover their strength.

“go!”

“Sejin is having a hard time.”

So this means that we are now gathered in the living room snoring and playing games.

Ttanttarang ttanttarang!

I was sitting behind Bae Se-jin who roughly turned the handle and

Ryu Cheong-woo who was cautious watching the screen moving without thinking.

‘I’m still dizzy.’

Surprisingly Cha Yu-jin did not enter the room but sat next to the sofa.

“Are you comfortable?”

[It’s kind of like that. Thanks to my friends and fans.]

Yeah Raebin Kim… No I’m not a fan.

Well even if that’s the case.

I asked casually.

“What about Chungwoo?”

Even if it’s because of Bae Se-jin’s drug problem isn’t Ryu Cheong-woo okay? He must have performed well until the end.

But Cha Yu-jin suddenly closed her mouth and glanced at me.

what.

[Sometimes it is an artist’s duty to protect the dreams of fans.]

“…?”

What are you talking about?

[Nothing.]

Cha Yu-jin took a step back but I roughly captured the mood from the tone of voice.

‘What kind of shit is that?’

It was clear that steer Ryu Cheong-woo also had a mental breakdown. I guess he was a different person than he is now.

'Well it doesn't matter.'

Anyway steer Cha Yu-jin seemed to have adapted quite well here and didn't seem as uncomfortable or angry as before.

Even now Sun Ah-hyeon who brought the peaches is talking nicely.

"Still I hope we get along well during the remaining time. "If there's something you want to try we can try it together."

"okay. "Speak comfortably!"

Steer Cha Yu-jin was briefly silent but then shrugged his shoulders.

"OK."

"Oh!"

A brief cheer of welcome erupted from the living room. It was as if a new colleague was being recruited.

'hmm.'

Not bad.

I chuckled.

It was then.

[Update complete!]

-Early achievement

…uh?

Chapter 482

…I once made such a hypothesis.

The reasoning is that because of this system update Cha Yu-jin has returned to the way she was when she was working as a steer.

I don't know the exact description but it seemed persuasive in terms of timing and context.

And the status window notified that the update would take 30 days.

Naturally everyone expected that he would spend the next 3 to 4 weeks with steer Cha Yu-jin.

however.

[Update complete!]

-Early achievement

It was the moment when this unexpected pop-up suddenly appeared.

['■■■ (ver.2 Beta)' being applied]

Jiying-

Color returns to the hologram where only basic lines and fonts remained.

The UI has returned a dazzling game system-like framework has been established and the graphics have become more sophisticated than before forming a translucent window.

and.

[complete!]

“…”

I don’t know why

It’s over.

I knew that intuitively.

I turned my head and looked at the guy watching the game on TV with the kart running dizzyingly.

And then he opened his mouth.

“…Cha Yujin.”

The fact that the update ended early means that the abnormalities that have occurred to Cha Yu-jin so far are also over…

“why?”

“…?”

…It’s not over?

Cha Yu-jin was resting her chin without any abnormal reaction.

Steer Cha Yu-jin looked the same.

And when I called him and didn’t say anything he shrugged and turned his face to the TV.

“It’s okay to tell me if you think of it.”

“…”

Wait a minute is this really wrong from the basic inference?

‘It was unrelated to the update?’

It was just when my head was about to become more complicated.

Tiring-!

“…!”

Another pop-up appeared.

[Do you want to restart ‘For Company Use’?]

“…”

Oh I see.

I pressed my eyelids with my hands.

I even had a choice of timing.

* * *

Let’s see.

If I don’t restart it and cancel the system completely there is a possibility that Cha Yu-jin may not come back at all.

However if I restart this system right away… Aside from being uncomfortable.

‘Is this Cha Yu-jin… disappearing right away?’

…Maybe so.

Of course it is right to send him back quickly and bring back Cha Yu-jin.

However now that I can make a choice I start to evaluate whether I should tell this to myself or not.

Even if I suddenly say to that person's face 'It looks like it can be restored to its original state so go back right away' will it be cleaned up without any mental damage?

'…That guy's memory is Cha Yu-jin in a state where Steer was disbanded.'

It is a waterway that has barely been opened.

There's a guarantee that that guy… didn't expect to enjoy the stage here even once or twice more.

'after.'

I sat down on the bed holding back a sigh.

Anyway this was a problem for which there was no clear answer.

'First of all… everyone is in a bad condition right now so let's keep it.'

Let's decide tomorrow.

"Sleep well Mundae."

"yes. "My brother too."

However even after Ryu Cheong-woo who had a close race with Bae Se-jin until the end fell asleep in his own bed I could not fall asleep quickly.

About an hour passed like that.

"…"

Perhaps it was because I had already taken body pain medication but my consciousness was in a state of random disorder.

‘I knew it would be like this.’

Moreover this pop-up has so much luminescence that you need to wear an eye patch.

In the end I grumbled and got up from my seat.

“after.”

And that was when I came out to the living room with the intention of drinking some water.

“Aren’t you sleeping?”

“…!”

I ran into Cha Yu-jin who was still lying on the living room sofa.

“I slept too much during the day.”

“It’s not that I slept it’s that I’m sick.”

You speak well.

For someone who claimed to be a caregiver all day he looked extremely cheerful even though it was past midnight.

I smiled and got some water from the kitchen.

But why doesn’t that guy go in? Oh is Bae Se-jin uncomfortable?

“Can you change the room?”

“No thanks.”

The guy who answered firmly stretched out and muttered.

[I just… You know when you talk to your friends right? I wanted to stay awake more.]

Are you coming?

“Did you talk to Raebin Kim?”

“Yeaap.”

And the guy said something about not spilling the tea blah blah blah which I thought was American slang.

I guessed that it probably meant that they weren’t talking behind our backs.

“I don’t know much about that slang.”

“Sorry but I think you understand Moondae-nim?”

“With insight and context.”

“Got it.”

Cha Yu-jin responded appropriately laughed and then lay down on the sofa.

It was the most comfortable attitude I have ever seen here.

“…”

I drank some water and thought briefly about it.

Perhaps now is the time?

It was then.

[Hey shall I guess?]

Cha Yu-jin bounced off the sofa and raised her upper body.

[Have you found a way to send me back right away?]

“…!”

[Yeap I knew it.]

Cha Yu-jin grinned and put down the cola she was drinking.

[Now that we have some kind of relationship and everything seems to be going well why are you suddenly worried about me?]

“…”

[The situation has turned upside down. that’s right?]

I can’t even take it out.

“okay.”

I sat across from the sofa. I thought it would be better to give a good explanation rather than agitate the situation.

‘Is it better to keep it open with the secret assumption that it’s okay to complete 30 days if you want?’

That was when I thought about it.

However before she could open her mouth Cha Yu-jin grinned.

“Why are you hesitating?”

“…!”

[Don’t be confused. I am not your team member.]

Cha Yu-jin spoke firmly.

[Oh but I am your KPOP idol. Right?]

And although he added it as a joke I recognized the nuance.

‘I’m telling you not to sympathize unnecessarily.’

I think I want to use Testa’s reputation as a substitute to give this steer Cha Yu-jin more of a stage to perform while receiving cheers.

Or it means that you should not dare to think that you will not be able to give up because you regret it.

There is no way I would want to be treated like that by my fans. That may mean it but…

Well it was really unlucky to do that in the first place.

“okay.”

So I just answered like that.

But I have to say this.

“So it’s true that it was nice to see you on stage after a long time.”

“…”

Steer Cha Yu-jin was silent for a while.

A time past midnight. After there was silence in the living room with only indirect lighting.

“Maybe… we might meet again.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

I didn’t really ask how that was possible.

“I’ll show you an even better stage then.”

“…okay.”

I just affirmed it.

“Great.”

Cha Yu-jin smiled and crossed her arms.

It was an implicit signal.

“Say goodbye.”

“I already did it.”

The guy shrugged his shoulders.

“I’m satisfied because I just did it to my friend and apologized to everyone else. and…”

and?

“I’ll do it to my brother now.”

The guy held out his hand.

That was not a handshake posture.

A high-five or clasp position where the palms are pressed together.

This is for a fan signing event.

“Thank you. “My fan.”

“…”

I also held out my hand.

Hands facing each other rather than diagonally like a handshake.

“thanks. “For showing me a good performance.”

“You’re welcome.”

It was a short high five.

[Do you want to restart ‘For Company Use’?]

“…”

‘okay.’

Pak.

Light exploded from the pop-up.

And the sound of something being renewed the newly constructed sound effects and notifications appeared and sparkled quickly and loudly as if they wanted to attract attention.

But I didn’t do anything foolish by looking in that direction.

Instead I saw them off.

“Bye.”

Cha Yu-jin did not complain of pain but she blinked as if she was slightly dizzy…

I leaned back on the sofa and slowly fell asleep.

Until I finally heard steady breathing.

“…”

I quietly went into his room and took out a blanket without waking Bae Se-jin who was sleeping.

Then after covering the sleeping boy on the sofa I took the bedding from my room and spread it on the living room floor.

"…"

Sleep came very slowly.

* * *

The next morning.

"Hey."

"…"

I opened my eyes.

And I immediately realized who the owner of the voice was.

'Cha Yujin.'

…I turned towards the direction where I heard the voice.

Then right next to my head Cha Yu-jin held a large pot with both hands…

for a moment.

'…pot?'

"…?!"

What is this unexpected situation?

At that moment Cha Yu-jin who was looking at me with wide eyes jumped up and shouted.

"Mundae-hyung is awake!"

“Bar Park Mun-dae!”

“Are you awake?”

Then I heard a frantic call. What is it?

The members who came running in anger as if they were looking for some kind of club started talking gibberish.

“Cha Yu-jin is back!”

okay.

“But… I cooked!”

okay?

“What are you saying…”

“I’m making breakfast.”

Cha Yu-jin ambitiously opened the lid of the pot she was holding and held it firmly to my face.

‘No kinda.’

Anyway this smell and appearance…

‘…chicken stir-fried soup.’

That’s it.

A really hot menu selection for those who had body aches yesterday to eat for breakfast…

No wait a minute.

Even more than that my memory came back and it was a touching greeting and they made a spicy chicken stew and put it on the sleeping guy's head?

'I'm confused.'

But Cha Yu-jin was the same.

It was really consistent…

Even the head was bombarded with new information without a break.

"This is my apology and token of gratitude! "A lot has happened so far."

what?

Wait that means…

"Do you remember?!"

"I have some. Bad Cha Yu-jin enjoyed Water Bomb. "I want to do it one more time."

"…?!"

"Members eat! Breakfast!"

Bae Se-jin was confused but Cha Yu-jin bravely called everyone to the table.

And the table fell into even more chaos.

"Eujin are you okay? "What do you remember?"

"I'm healthy. "I remember."

First of all Cha Yu-jin's condition was confirmed to be completely normal.

As soon as he woke up at dawn the guy who naturally had memories of the past few days said that after thinking carefully he decided to have breakfast.

“Bad Cha Yu-jin is also me so I have to take responsibility. One meal is not enough. So I made it too.”

“Eujin…”

However it seems that steer Cha Yu-jin’s title has completely become ‘Bad’ within him.

And I thought there would be another emotional reunion.

“Cha Yu-jin Cha!”

“Kim Rae-bin is a traitor.”

“…?!”

“I told you my secret!”

“I didn’t tell you!”

“I told you that bad Cha Yu-jin!”

“You just said with your own mouth that we are the same person! “It’s invalid!”

hmm. This is shit.

But then I heard a slightly emotional murmur next to me.

“long time no see…”

“…”

I decided to leave Bae Se-jin who had finally regained my beloved roommate and eat something.

And when I took a bite of the fried chicken soup.

'hmm?'

"…"

"Why are you doing this Mundae…?"

"no."

Cha Yu-jin suddenly intervened.

"Hyung Moon Dae isn't my cooking delicious?"

"No it's delicious."

"Hehe."

okay. It tastes good.

But that's it.

'This isn't just chicken stir-fry.'

It's chicken soup.

When Cha Yu-jin's chicken soup on W Live failed it tasted almost the same as when I revived it with braised chicken soup.

Besides that.

'I don't think Cha Yu-jin has ever made stir-fried chicken before.'

And the person who made the chicken soup well… was Steer Cha Yu-jin.

“…”

I looked at Cha Yu-jin who was still arguing with Kim Rae-bin.

‘no way.’

Do you have any memories of when you were a steer?

Chapter 483

Cha Yu-jin who returned had an extremely lively day.

This doesn't mean I just played around.

"I'm practicing!"

He checked the choreography worked out and even spoke directly to the crying manager.

And after talking on the phone with my family in the United States I started playing racing games with Kim Rae-bin.

"Yeaaah!"

"Now wait!"

"left! "Press the jump key on the left!"

The members were dragged by the swirling momentum.

It felt like I was filling up my bucket list while reorganizing my daily life.

I even had a video call with Munge at Bae Se-jin's home in the middle of the episode.

[king!]

"Ooooh. Hi buddy!"

The clump of hair that was once the size of a fist had grown to a size that overflowed over both hands. The stomach-turning pattern is still the same.

‘You still look fierce.’

On the screen the white head and tail were shaking mercilessly.

“Since we’ve moved should we call Kkamgi too?”

“I like it!!”

He even called the dog at his home in the US via video call and seemed to be giving the members a group dog housewarming event.

“…”

And… I observed him in silence.

What’s interesting is that an unexpected guy was caught.

“That door. “Are you… regretful?”

“…?”

Sun Ah-hyun spoke quietly.

“I?”

“Ugh”

The guy blushed slightly and nodded firmly.

“Of course I’m really happy and relieved that Yujin is back but it might be sad to part ways again.”

“…”

“I think it’s obvious.”

No I mean… I was worried about that point because it was ambiguous.

Anyway it seems that Sun Ah-hyun was quite concerned about her steer Cha Yu-jin who simply disappeared.

‘I gave a rough explanation.’

The situation ended when Cha Yu-jin herself noticed my change and requested it.

Still from these guys’ perspective it’s no different from suddenly disappearing without saying goodbye.

Even though I didn’t immediately feel relieved and happy that our member Cha Yu-jin had returned safely in the morning I could feel a little uneasy.

hmm.

“…okay. thanks.”

“Oh no!”

So maybe we should at least bring up the story.

“Yeeees!!”

“Ugh!!”

I decided to time it while watching Cha Yu-jin holding a game controller and celebrating victory.

And the timing came not too late.

That evening.

“Oh our Eugene is good~”

“Hee hee!”

Cha Yu-jin who had had a stormy day was looking at the guitar in Keun Se-jin's cell.

In other words the pace that had been running as if it had been planned was slowly slowed down and released.

I called him out.

"Eujin."

"Umm?"

"I have something to talk about over Water Bomb."

"OK!"

I planned to lead him to the veranda and talk to him about the water bomb to slowly understand his psychology.

'If you don't feel like it you can stop right away.'

Carefully.

But there was no need to proceed there.

…Because Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth as soon as she stepped onto the veranda.

Straightforwardly.

"I remember."

"…!"

what?

I turned my head.

“Bad Cha Yu-jin.”

Cha Yu-jin had a calm face.

The guy shrugged and stretched. Then he passed by the frozen me and stood at the veranda window.

“But it’s not accurate. [It feels like some kind of vivid dream or… childhood memory.]”

The guy squinted one eye slightly as if trying to recall a word he couldn’t remember.

“But what ‘that’ Cha Yu-jin felt um moving? touching? Overwhelming? [It’s harder than you think to find the right expression isn’t it? anyway]”

Then leaning against the veranda ledge he turned his gaze toward me.

Like Cha Yu-jin the steer of one day.

“I remember that.”

“…”

I saw the guy.

A positive and clean way of thinking a proactive and friendly attitude and an attitude of pointing out the facts first as if rushing in with ease was still the same.

Cha Yu-jin is a member of this group who debuted as Testa.

However it did not seem like he knew ‘Steer Cha Yu-jin’ simply as knowledge.

So… Cha Yu-jin just looked like Cha Yu-jin.

And he spoke as himself.

“I think I was exhausted. “A lot.”

“…”

[Maybe Bad Cha Yu-jin wouldn’t admit it but it was a kind of burnout. And that’s something anyone can experience when they hit a wall.]

Cha Yu-jin cheerfully shrugged her shoulders.

[Even me. So that’s not a particularly shocking fact!]

Is that so?

But actually I don’t think it’s a very good feeling to realize that your past self wasn’t successful.

Even though I performed amazingly well on stage I didn’t get any attention because no one was watching.

I know that in the end he got tired of being an idol and quit.

“…what do you think?”

“What? “What is it?”

“just”

The air on the veranda on a summer night when the air conditioner wasn’t running was hot and stuffy.

“About this situation as a whole.”

“Oh… bro are you worried about me?”

I nodded slightly.

Cha Yu-jin seemed a little surprised but soon lowered her head surprisingly seriously.

[I won't lie. Honestly I think I was a little confused when I woke up this morning.]

The answer continued calmly.

[At that time it felt as if I was Bad Cha Yu-jin and Testa's memories came back.]

"…!"

[After a while I came back to myself. Brother you are right. It was a somewhat traumatic experience. Five years without complete repayment.]

…I guess it was like that.

Cha Yu-jin sighed briefly. I calmly accepted his words.

But it didn't end there.

"But Moon Dae I know this."

The guy raised his hand.

And then he gently tapped my back.

"Time heals everything."

"…"

"So if Moon Dae hadn't come to the past I would have performed on stage again."

I raised my head.

Cha Yu-jin was smiling.

"Other people are just like me."

no way.

And before I could ask he made the word ‘steer’ with his mouth.

“…!”

[5 years. The fact that I wasn’t reciprocated is what Cha Yu-jin thought at the time. Who knows what would happen after that?]

Cha Yu-jin shrugged saying that life is long and opportunities keep coming.

[I don’t know. We could have gone back to Korea in about two years and debuted again with Kim Rae-bin’s amazing song… Maybe we could have released an album in the US.]

It wasn’t about great success.

Even Cha Yu-jin who returned to the U.S. just scattered and completely gave up on idol group activities…

In the end I am saying that I would not have given up forever.

[We would have continued with it somehow. Because I loved it so much.]

“…”

What comes to mind reflexively is funny enough my experience.

My first concert.

-Numerous voices came together and rained down from all directions like shooting stars and lights.

I was out of breath.

I understood Cha Yu-jin’s words because I knew what kind of shock my head was experiencing there.

And I also understood the next words.

[Water Bomb made Bad Cha Yu-jin realize that early on.]

'okay.'

So… he became much more cooperative after that.

[But even if there wasn't Waterbom I would have realized in the end whether I was running a repair shop or a surfboard shop in the United States right? I know myself.]

Cha Yu-jin spoke confidently and laughed.

"Because I know I also trust Moon Dae. "I like that."

"…"

So that's the story.

It's just that Ryu Geon-woo made an extreme choice before that so we didn't see it but Steer actually recovered.

Cha Yu-jin who had been in the shoes of the person involved spoke without any doubt.

"You're my fan."

"…"

I… I don't know.

Has Cha Yu-jin the steer who gave me a high five gone back to where she lived?

Or did this guy briefly go back to his past as a steer just like I regained the memories of my former co-worker Ryu Geon-woo?

So now I have regained all my original memories and remember what happened at the time of Steer just like I remember things from the distant past.

But one thing is certain.

'…That Cha Yu-jin ended up becoming this Cha Yu-jin.'

That is why it is a trustworthy statement.

…I would think so.

'therefore.'

I also think that if Ryu Geon-woo hadn't fallen and held on for a few more years we would have been able to see these guys on stage again somewhere.

I will believe that too.

Whiing.

The wind blew.

I looked out at the starry night view of the veranda and opened my mouth.

"…okay. "Thank you for letting me know."

"Don't mention it!"

'Nothing much to say.' is a slightly more polite expression than Cha Yu-jin usually uses.

I realized that I was not saying this to my older brother Park Moon-dae but to Ryu Geon-woo who supported me.

So I nodded quietly and stood on the non-air-conditioned veranda with the guy for a little while longer.

* * *

“So… I have something to tell you.”

“what.”

“Mundae is my fan.”

“That’s not true.”

“that’s right. I’m doing fan service! Then please cook chicken ribs for me.”

“Why do you want to charge money for a service?”

“That’s Konglish. It originally meant receiving money for service!”

What the hell.

After a while he started behaving like the youngest member of the team as if the serious conversation we had had was a lie and I came out of the veranda with a familiar feeling of excitement.

‘Dakgalbi.’

Have you been eating too much chicken lately?

But when I saw him going back to his room a thought suddenly occurred to me.

‘Oops.’

So I quickly asked.

“Now that I think about it you’re Sejin hyung.”

“Oh.”

That's Bae Se-jin.

I was worried about what the guy who regained his memories would think…

"I don't know!"

The guy whose memory details had already begun to fade seemed to only vaguely remember the mess that took place during Bae Se-jin's drug arrest.

Besides that.

"But I think there must have been a misunderstanding. [Honestly would that guy have joined the military rather than selling drugs?]"

"…"

The trust(?) of the guy who had seen Bae Se-jin's desire for legal action over the past few years was solid.

"You're right."

"Sure. "I'm always right."

"I heard it might be wrong."

"It felt wrong at that moment. But in the end yes!"

Wow.

I laughed and hit the guy.

"okay. Let's see."

"Hehe."

In that way Cha Yu-jin really came back completely.

The next day he received a lot of homemade candy from Bae Se-jin and uploaded a post on social media.

————————————=

Lover this is Cha Yu-jin!

Sorry for being late. It won't hurt anymore. TT

I am now completely healthy (emoticon wearing sunglasses)

I want to perform on stage again soon. Thank you for your concern. Let's go find a cooler tiger!

(picture)

————————————= =

'The response is hot.'

The number of comments and shares being updated like crazy is very positive. I nodded ended the call with the company and saw Liu Chengwu approaching.

Now you are ready.

"Reality filming is as planned."

"huh. "The conversation ended well."

That's right.

Now that Cha Yu-jin has returned safely it truly is the perfect time to film the group's own content reality show.

"Next week."

You can go as planned.

“yes.”

I was satisfied and calmed down.

Now all the priority issues are done.

‘All that’s left… is to deal with this.’

It’s time to take a deep breath and face it.

“…Status window.”

Tiring.

A bright phrase begins to appear on the screen.

[New! Update completion reward]

[New! [New features open]

[New! Survey]

…

Items flash. It’s more suspicious that it seems very nice as if it’s tempting.

So it was time to check carefully.

An unfamiliar word caught my eye.

[New! Survey]

“…Survey?”

What does it mean?

I rubbed my chin weighing several possibilities.

Of course one thing is certain.

'huh. 'I won't get caught.'

I have no intention of clicking. I'm going to call the big moon and take a look inside. And there is no risk?

'Quickly get out of the room.'

Let's quickly cancel this damn system.

'big… '

It was that moment.

Ji-e-ing-

"…"

The smartphone rang.

It's a text.

'hmm.'

I opened it to see if it was a call from the company…

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Junior. Are you not interested in featuring?

"…"

for a moment.

Even if you read it again the sender and the content are correct.

'what?'

It was the beginning of a proposal I had never imagined.

Chapter 484

Featuring.

Musician usually refers to a case where a guest participates and sings some parts when a singer produces a song.

Usually guests with different attributes from the original singer participate.

That's why it gives the album a unique fun and strength.

For example a rapper uses a vocalist a male uses a female vocalist or a junior who lacks recognition uses a senior singer for promotional purposes.

But that's it.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Junior. Are you not interested in featuring?

Could it be that I'm in the VTIC song?

'…A 1st group male idol should feature another 1st group male idol's song?'

The Internet version full of verbal violence immediately comes to mind.

It's going to be a terrible mess.

Of course you can pull it off properly with just aggro but…

'Why me?'

There's nothing more to think about about this.

-I'm sorry but we have too many new tasks to take on a new challenge.

I stopped looking at the status window for a moment and immediately sent a reply.

'I guess he doesn't really mean to ask me to feature him.'

The intention was to find out what the person's intention was to send such a text message.

And not long after the smartphone rang again.

The reply that arrived was…

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Really?

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: You must be interested.

"…"

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Don't you feel better about helping each other rather than getting into debt? It looks good too.

Look at this.

'Are you telling me not to bring up the fact that you helped me out a few times recently and accumulated debt?'

He was the one who tried to break my head but he certainly paid the price by cooperating and voluntarily paying his taxes.

After that I received crucial help a few times.

'But it was two-way you bastard.'

How are you making it seem like you were the only one who unilaterally helped me? Plus I got hit on the back of the head a few times.

I started typing the opposite meaning as if I didn't understand what this guy was saying.

-There is no need to feel like you owe it to me.

But after writing that far I paused for a moment.

'hmm.'

I don't think this guy is just trying to scratch me.

It's a bit infuriating but it's also quite interesting. I rubbed my chin edited my reply and sent it.

-What kind of song is this?

I may say this with my own mouth but he is a man who knows how to distinguish between right and wrong like water that has been stagnant for decades.

I'm not a bright-eyed idiot who thinks I just want to be with someone because I'm close with them.

What I'm saying is that there's no way he would ask for my feature on his album. therefore…

'This must be a connection.'

Who is it? Surely it's soft and sweet…

Ji-e-ing-

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Of course it's my song.^^

"…"

Aren't you crazy? this?

I hit the guy on the phone.

“Senior.”

-Junior.

“Is there anything else you want to explain?”

A small sound of laughter could be heard on the other end of the phone.

-yes.

Thus an impromptu meeting took place.

Although it almost felt like a duel.

* * *

Cheongryeo called me to an outdoor cafe where we had already met once.

‘Did they at least take over?’

No one is wondering if they rented the whole thing so quickly or if it was really a scam.

Instead this time a yellow dog was running excitedly across the grass.

“I guess Kong was excited because it was summer and the grass was growing well.”

“…”

king!

I laid the ball down at my feet and looked at the dog whose tail was wagging violently.

What… you mean to throw it?

‘It’s old.’

As the soft ball crossed the yard in a parabola the dog quickly ran after it.

And then I looked at the human across the road.

“If it’s hot you can go inside.”

“That’s it.”

It was cool because it was still close to dawn.

Without opening my mouth first I crossed my arms and waited for the guy who suggested it to explain himself.

Because that’s the way to go.

And the law was followed.

“Well first of all you know that I’m preparing an album.”

okay.

“You also know that all VTIC members have enlisted right?”

Oh I know.

When I nodded the guy nodded disgustingly.

“I have a song I want to use but there’s a part in the bridge that doesn’t fit the vocal range.”

“…”

“Well given the situation I think your junior is the right person. how is it?”

Are you serious?

“Someone who is on vacation doesn’t have a voice?”

Anyone who sees it will think that Judan is going on strike because he won’t record.

However Cheongryeo did not blink an eye.

“You cannot engage in profitable activities while serving.”

“An exception would be something made before enlistment.”

“It doesn’t apply to recording while on vacation. “I’m in trouble if the word gets out.”

And smiled softly.

“I think you will understand junior.”

“…”

Do you understand?

I understand that it can be difficult if words get out…

‘…ah.’

Damn it.

‘It even got into this guy’s ears.’

I picked up the ice water and drank it. And then he opened his mouth.

“Did it leak from LeTi’s side?”

Cha Yu-jin escapes from her dorm.

This means that Wonderhole's agency which was preparing a counter-viral campaign against us was involved in a short period of time.

Was the root by any chance LeTi?

'LeTi invested almost half of its investment in our company.'

In the process it is an environment in which a network of contacts is inevitably created between stakeholders. Of course this means that exchange of personnel occurred.

And the story of Cha Yu-jin's escape from the dorm may have leaked out there.

But Cheongryeo spoke lightly.

"hmm. 'It leaked all the way to LeTi' is the correct expression."

"…"

"I understand. There must be a lot to worry about now. "It's difficult to control information right?"

He slightly pulled his upper body forward and leaned his arms on the table.

"If my junior features I'll tell you where the rat is."

"…"

"Sounds like a good exchange. how is it?"

hmm.

I put down the glass with only ice left on the table.

“First check.”

“hmm?”

“I need to check whether the information you heard about our company is correct.”

Even LeTi leaked.

Cheongryeo who had been listening quietly spoke the correct answer comfortably without pausing.

“Cha Yu-jin left the dorm.”

“I don’t know why I left.”

“Member conflict after being hospitalized due to stress… There were rumors like that but I don’t know.”

Are you saying you don’t think that way?

However there doesn’t seem to be any doubt about Cha Yu-jin’s escape.

‘It kills my confidence.’

Anyway it’s good. I can see that this guy has a good grasp of the situation.

Then next.

“Why are you using me?”

“…”

“for a moment. Just stop saying that I am the right person for the situation. “If it’s a matter of song quality or promotion I know there are many options other than me.”

Right now if Joo Dan discovers a song late starting with the method of recording before enlistment then male soloists who are good at singing dominate.

‘There’s also a way to fill it with arrangement.’

But why bother using a rival first-team male idol?

“Exactly there is a reason why you should feature me.”

“that’s right.”

“…!”

Cheongryeo clearly affirmed.

And I laughed heartily.

“Do you want to guess?”

Should I kill him?

“Well I guessed right right? I was asking my junior if he could guess it too. “It’s okay if you don’t know.”

You’re given information and I have to guess but I don’t know which part is the same.

‘It seems like you lose when you get angry.’

So I told it like it is.

“I’m not a mind reader so how could I know what you’re thinking?”

“hmm.”

“But you can think about it from my perspective.”

On the contrary.

‘What if I’m Cheongryeo and I have to use Park Moon-dae as a feature?’

How can you benefit from using the same top male idol competitor as a feature?

“What would you do if you had to use me?”

Then you will quickly realize it.

“No matter what you do you lose money. “Because it’s controversial I have to defend it.”

Rumors of fandom division and fighting.

From there a battle of public opinion would arise and feelings would be hurt so a great plan was needed to defend against it.

Time money and manpower to make that plan?

It would be much more profitable to turn it into album promotion.

So what should we do?

“So… it makes me think about whether we can somehow prevent controversy in advance.”

There is only one way.

“If we were the same company there would be no controversy.”

“…!”

That’s right.

Seniors and juniors within the same company are naturally more free to feature.

This means that the scope of conceptual ‘understanding’ by fans is slightly wider.

In other words if Testa’s agency ‘Orbit Stars Entertainment’ is completely an affiliate of LeTi… that is.

If you have come this far you can also infer the reason why this guy suggested it.

Creating an atmosphere.

“By inserting my name into your activities… are you trying to make it clearer that our company follows the LeTi line?”

…but it’s like this.

-??What is it Park Moon-dae?

-Oh it’s from Testa company Leti.

-ㅇㅋㅇㅋ So that’s why I featured it.

-Wow that’s amazing. They said they were close but since they changed companies they can do things like this haha.

Cheongryeo lifted her arm from the table.

And laughed.

“You got it right.”

“…”

“As you may already know LeTi is also investing in the platform business. Kind of like online concert broadcasts and fan social media.”

Cheongnyeo touched her Americano cup and continued speaking.

“And the importance of the platform in this industry… Well you must have felt it too.”

“…”

“So in the long run. “Right now I need to raise the weight of my image a little bit.”

This guy has virtually taken control of his own entertainment company called LeTi.

Therefore they can boldly invest their albums to further increase the company’s business power.

‘For the long-term survival of the group.’

Because you can do whatever you want with the company!

‘Crazy guy.’

“So you want to show off your influence on our company more?”

“hmm? What a show-off. Isn’t this factual? “Half of the investment would not have disappeared junior.”

Cheongryeo stared at me blankly.

“And… if you are a junior you would know.”

what.

“This is not a proposal that unilaterally benefits only LeTi.”

“…”

I took a moment to cool down my thinking circuits.

And then I calmly started calculating again.

‘Testa’s benefit.’

“…Make up for the bad relationship with T1 with LeTi’s platform?”

“I understand.”

Even so it seems obvious that you will be pushed out and kept in check.

Moreover is it still comparable to the platform of a large broadcaster like T1?

‘But in the current situation it’s not a bad thing to show that you’re toeing the line to some extent… ’

I hid my complicated thoughts and answered sharply.

“It’s at the level of rationalization. After all LeTi is clearly the winner.”

“I was worried that people would think that way so I prepared other rewards right?”

…I’m talking about Cha Yu-jin’s escape from the dormitory.

‘hmm.’

I crossed my arms.

I felt like I could hear the scale going back and forth.

It was natural. Because this isn’t a decision based on friendship.

It was then.

Cheongryeo softly opened her mouth again.

“I want to make one thing clear.”

“…”

“I have no intention of doing any harm to Testa. only…”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“Because I plan to do everything I can under the given circumstances.”

“…”

“Your junior is saying the same thing.”

I realized who he was referring to even though he didn’t necessarily mention it.

-ether.

Against that rookie.

“…”

“In that sense strategic partnership.”

Cheongryeo held out his hand.

“how is it.”

“…”

I let out a short sigh.

And asked.

“What is the deadline?”

“this year.”

The answer came back right away.

I held hands on the table and shook hands without any unnecessary effort.

“Of course this is my independent judgment and after we go back and discuss it if it is rejected at the group level it’s over.”

“is it so.”

It seems like you really want to do that.

“And one more thing.”

I corrected my posture.

“Of course you know but featuring in the title song is unreasonable.”

“hmm?”

“No matter what just make it a b-side song or a second sub song.”

“…”

This was a natural and common sense recommendation. Well it would have happened even if I didn’t say anything.

However Cheongryeo paused for a moment and then smiled faintly.

“I think there is a misunderstanding.”

uh?

“I never said that I needed to feature my junior in my solo album. “I said I needed it for the ‘song I wanted to use.’”

“…”

“Don’t worry. “There won’t be any problems for either side.”

“…”

Oh fuck.

Yes I overestimated.

‘That bastard is not the kind of bastard who will lose money on his album… ’

From now on let’s worry about my physical strength while giving at least as much attention to that guy’s career as his fingernails.

After drinking all the melted ice I roughly stroked the back of the dog’s neck. The sound of the dog panting was loud.

The guy across from me opened his mouth again.

“Oh and the rat”

You just happened to be fine.

‘I was going to tell you anyway.’

“There’s no need to tell me that.”

“…?”

“I’ll take care of it.”

I laughed inwardly.

It was because I knew that if I came this far and went with the flow even this guy wouldn’t be able to make a save easily.

“Instead I would like to place another condition.”

I talked about the conditions that became more and more specific as I came to the appointment and talked.

Cheongnyeo who was listening gradually changed her face.

“haha!”

I burst into laughter.

“Youngjae you are really greedy.”

Are you the only one who will do it?

I also shook the head of the dog that took the ball once and then threw the ball back.

“Do you want to cancel?”

“no.”

The guy stopped laughing and nodded.

“is it so. “Let’s do that.”

I thought so.

I ended the conversation with him smoothly like that. And in the summer morning sky…

[brother! Is something wrong? I haven’t been able to contact you at all these days…]

hmm? A pop-up appeared.

‘Ah big moon.’

It’s been a while since I heard from you.

There was a lot of fuss over Cha Yu-jin for a while so I stopped contacting her and she seemed to be worried.

I was already trying to contact you but it just worked out.

After providing some background I briefly declared the current situation.

‘The system upload has already been completed.’

[omg?]

‘Some kind of new pop-up keeps popping up. There is also a survey.’

[…survey?]

Yeah I’m embarrassed too.

‘I’m out for now so I’ll go back and tell you the details… ’

It was then.

“Um junior.”

What is it?

However while he had not yet responded a feminine voice was heard again.

Contains content you could never have imagined.

“A survey?”

“…!!”

what?

I turned my head towards Cheongryeo as if my neck was going to break.

He’s exactly me… no.

I was looking at the empty space in front of my eyes.

Where there is a pop-up window.

“…”

no way.

“Do you see it?”

“yes.”

Cheongryeo raised her hand.

And… I poked the pop-up with my index finger.

“It looks good.”

[Aaaah!]

…like that.

An unwanted status window counselor was added.

Chapter 485

Cheongryeo sees Keundal's message pop up.

Ironically the person who is most bewildered by this situation is the person who is not here.

This is the person who launched the pop-up.

[What is this?]

"I made a typo too."

Cheongryeo clenched her chin as if observing an interesting phenomenon. Big Moon popped up and screamed again.

[Ugh!!]

It's not even a fuss.

I resisted the urge to press my eyebrows and asked.

"Since when did you see it?"

"Well this is my first time doing this."

Cheongnyeo didn't even blink and watched the pop-up crying for a few more seconds.

And then he spoke harshly.

"Is that… I'm using my junior's previous body?"

"…"

“Ryu Geon-woo.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“It seems like my body changed a while ago and I’d like to hear an explanation.”

“…!?”

This is the incident where Geondal and I switched bodies.

Isn’t that too? for a moment.

“…Did you notice it at the awards ceremony?”

For some reason when I zoomed in with the cannon camera and made eye contact it felt strange.

“that’s right.”

Cheongryeo obediently agreed.

And then he tapped his chin with his finger.

“Well let’s just say that your junior’s… judgment seemed a bit clouded. “Unusually.”

“…”

Are you saying Big Moon looked stupid?

‘Look at how someone who knows the situation chooses words.’

A person who is not in the industry entered the body of an idol so what kind of judgment can he have?

‘after.’

Anyway it just so happened that I was in the mood to explain why I did it that way.

“I had some work to do.”

I gave a reasonable summary of the events of the time related to the system fragments contained in Geoldal.

Cheongnyeo’s reaction to hearing the story was not great.

First of all it would be because all the problems were resolved at a moderate level instead of something crazy like a building collapsing.

…or maybe you already guessed it.

“I see. Oh you also posted the photo you took at that time on the Internet right? “I enjoyed it.”

“…”

How did you know that… Okay.

When I see him smiling and thanking me for taking a good picture I am at a loss for words.

‘Let’s quit.’

A ghost-like guy.

Anyway there is only one reason I can guess why Cheongryeo suddenly looks at the status window.

“I think the fact that you were the GM in the virtual world created by the system had an impact.”

“hmm. “That’s persuasive.”

That’s right.

Cheongryeo has a record of being the GM or game master of a game created by the system.

‘I was able to manipulate the settings window and pause the game.’

Although he got stabbed in the back with it it was an incredible ability that made it possible to take a hit on the system.

‘If the power of that role returned to some extent when I restarted this system… it would make sense.’

Well then.

I have something to test.

“…”

Without saying a word I called up a status window pop-up in the air.

[New! Update completion reward]

[New! [New features open]

[New! Survey]

…

To a different location than the Big Moon pop-up.

[brother…?]

I didn’t react on purpose.

Then the woman in front of me opened her mouth.

“I think I’m calling my junior.”

“uh. “I’m sending a message not to panic.”

That's how I confirmed it.

'Cheongnyeo strictly reacted only to the big moon's pop-up.'

then.

'Isn't the status window next to it visible?'

I once again confirmed his attitude and pretended not to be.

Pupil facial expression gesture…

'…It's natural.'

Of course he is someone who has successfully worked in a profession that requires extreme facial expression management for decades.

There is absolutely no chance that it is a fake but…

I uncrossed my arms.

'This is beyond this level.'

What if you can really see it but you're so determined to hide it just because you want to fuck me?

No I didn't pretend to be that bastard.

'Now there is that level of trust.'

I concluded that.

However the problem is that Cheongryeo's analysis has only just begun.

He scanned the surface of the glass where water droplets had formed due to the cold.

“Well then junior what you call a ‘system’…doesn’t mean it has completely disappeared but rather it has entered several bodies.”

“…”

“No matter how much it is a trophy you absorb it and use it. “Don’t you think that you are doing something that is too risky?”

The guy looked up from the glass and made eye contact with me.

Apply the system to your company?

-What should I do if I want to ‘restart’?

“…”

It was as if those eyes were saying that.

It was a confidence that only those who had acquired it through countless repeated experiences and established a thinking structure could have.

If you use it you will definitely become addicted.

‘It seems like fanaticism.’

Even though it was summer a strange feeling that made me shiver ran up my spine.

So much so that I doubted my judgment in deciding to make good use of the system that had changed to my belongings.

‘…Fuck you.’

I swallowed a sigh.

“I wrote it to lose T1 and become independent. “I don’t want to use it anymore.”

“I see.”

Cheongnyeo shrugged her shoulders as if to do whatever she wanted but then casually said the following.

“I want to check.”

what?

“Status window?”

“yes.”

Then as if to pique my ears another pop-up suddenly appears.

[Do you want to designate ‘GM ‘ as the System Administrator?]

Are you crazy?

This guy doesn’t even know where to go.

‘Get out.’

Are you talking about disclosing internal information to competitors? I immediately cleared the status window.

And I barely opened my mouth.

“The status window has now been called.”

“is it so? “I can’t see it either.”

“uh.”

With that the conversation ended.

But I actually felt uneasy. Because I learned something new after meeting this guy.

‘Actually I said I would get rid of the company’s system… ’

Damn it’s not like there isn’t something that bothers me.

I thought of this while looking at Cheongnyeo.

The pop-up that appeared the last time I ran into Heeseung Kwon.

-Check the owner of the ‘■■■ Fragment’!

“…”

‘Fragments of ■■■’ may be fragments of the system.

And just as it was with Kwon Hee-seung there is a very high probability that this guy who has experienced the same system also has some of that fragmented system in it.

So it’s a problem.

‘I could only absorb more of this fragment if I raised my company level.’

If we were to substitute this it would mean something like this.

-If I terminate this system of course there will be no level of company operated by the system.

-Then the ‘fragments of □□□ that are in Cheongnyeo will not be recovered.

…This means that this guy will face mission failure without a status window.

Since I’m an experienced person I can’t roughly say that it’ll be okay.

‘I don’t know how many times this bastard restarted during that experience.’

Moreover if you make a mistake and the reset syndrome occurs again there is nothing more terrible than that.

‘No if you say something stupid a spark could fly in me and I could die.’

Besides… didn’t that guy give me crucial help in escaping once when I was hit with an abnormal condition?

In a building collapse.

“…”

‘Are you coming?’

Yes in my conscience I have to draw a line.

I came to a conclusion.

‘The company system will remain as is.’

But we can’t just suddenly get hit like we did last time.

‘At the very least we need to understand the reason and principle of updates that occur in fragments.’

-Why did my self from the time before I became Park Mun-dae suddenly appear?

-And why did it have to be Cha Yu-jin?

Effect and target. to that extent

‘We must make sufficient preparations and minimize variables.’

After that we need to create a stable structure to recover the fragments without causing mission failure to this guy.

However refrain from using the system itself carelessly.

Let's just watch without touching it.

'At least until Geoldal completes the analysis.'

The quiet pop-up sparkled again.

[I will do my best…!]

thanks.

'I'll take care of your daily wages.'

[Brother… But I don't have much money now…]

"…"

[Sorry. No this is all made by my brother so feel free to use it…]

It's okay.

We reached a dramatic conclusion with a pop-up concert invitation.

For reference Cheongryeo looks at the pop-up next to me with interest and asks a few questions and only then a little later does he ask about my current situation.

Anyway it's a work story.

"Ah I heard that your junior group is filming a reality entertainment program this time."

Did that leak too?

"Hmm but the director who originally worked with you… must have been from a studio under T1."

“uh.”

The entertainment production crew who did everything from the hotteok selling travelogue to that family’s grandson’s carrot coin are all caught up in T1.

So it was very difficult.

Cheongryeo smiles and speaks softly.

“Can I introduce you to someone nice?”

oh.

I was planning to eat this bastard.

“The recruitment has already been completed.”

Be satisfied with a paid platform for behind-the-scenes content you idiot.

Because the person we recruited was…

* * *

“…hello.”

“Wow hello writer!”

The main writer in charge of Testa’s reality show is sitting across from Testa who greets her energetically.

Big Sejin smiled and offered to shake hands.

“It’s been a while since I saw you!”

“Oh yeah.”

Ryu Seo-rin.

This is the same person who wrote <Azusa>.

In addition I am related by blood to Ryu Seo-jin my college senior and twin homemate… but I will think about this later.

Anyway this guy is one of the most important production crew members recruited for this Testa reality show.

And there are two very simple reasons.

first.

“It’s nice to be able to work with the author again like this.”

“…Oh that’s right.”

This is because they were also defeated by T1.

Why did this person who was a contributor to the <Azusa> series get kicked out?

‘That’s because all of us who debuted there became independent and flew together.’

Of course it seems that there was a complex battle over lines in the broadcasting industry linked to the political world.

And the sub-writer who was a freelancer got caught up in the fierce internal political battle and lost half of his bread.

‘Of course I think it would have been possible for him to stubbornly stick to that guy’s personality.’

I don’t think it’s necessary.

Because there was no need for that.

After collaborating with Netplus a few times and becoming a hit it seemed like he had built up connections there and turned his career there.

For reference we also participated in the first work.

That… the hellish KPOP camp.

“How many years has it been since then?”

“It’s been quite a while. “I was grateful then.”

Ryu Seolin nodded. He even gave lip service saying that it went well thanks to the testers.

Of course that’s not why I work with that person.

The second reason is…

“So… about this reality show.”

Good job.

Whether it was sacrificing the contestants and dedicating them to the viewers or creating a narrative point to increase the emotion of 1 to 10 he was a writer who was good at creating entertainment.

I also had a good eye for people.

In other words there is no one better suited for Testa to partner with.

“You don’t want the cute reality programs that idols usually produce right?”

If that’s the case it seems like you should look elsewhere.

Liu Chengyu nodded at once.

“yes. “For our existing reality programs we have tried to make it fun even if it requires more effort and time.”

“Of course.”

Ryu Seolin answered without hesitation.

“Then let’s go for a selection similar to that PD’s style right? “I also know some of the writers there.”

I could feel the confidence in Ryu Seo-jin’s soft-spoken voice.

‘also.’

It will give off the right atmosphere without being clumsy.

It’s an atmosphere where you can happily make fun of the cast and cheat them.

Moreover since we have already selected the PD’s production team and entertainment show several times there is a high probability that the public will be lenient thinking that this is Testa’s style.

but.

“no.”

“hmm?”

Still I don’t think I can avoid saying that it’s an imitation.

‘This is not Ryu Seo-rin’s specialty.’

Of course the originality will be lower than that crazy crew so there is no need to risk that.

So that is.

“Please do what you normally do.”

“…!”

Everyone just needs to do what they do best.

Ryu Seolin narrowed her eyes and asked with a ‘no way’ attitude.

“Well if that’s what I was originally doing…”

“yes.”

“…”

Isn’t there a representative example we all know?

That’s how this testa reality goes.

“Like <Azusa>.”

Soon Ryu Seo-jin looked like he was saying something crazy.

However investors always have a strong say.

A few days later.

Testa’s reality filming began as planned.

* * *

I opened my eyes.

What you see is a familiar ceiling.

This is my room… in the lodging I’ve been staying at for several years.

“…”

At first glance it sounds natural.

Isn't it very normal to see a familiar ceiling when you open your closed eyes?

And there is one more premise here.

'Testa has moved.'

In other words this was not Testa's current lodgings.

A space that resembles the accommodation before moving.

"what."

I got up.

There was something on my stomach in a dark room.

"…?"

It's a yellow file.

I squinted my eyes for a sneak peek and deliberately read the cover of the folder out loud so it would be captured on camera.

"Your profile file."

And unfolded it.

[Your occupation is a doctor.]

And below that descriptions and features were written.

hmm.

'It's like this.'

In fact Testa deliberately did not listen to a detailed briefing on the detailed settings within the program.

It’s for reality.

I just know the format and purpose.

“What is it used for?”

I got out of bed speaking steadily.

In my head I was rewinding the line I had said at the group meeting when I was recruiting Ryu Seo-rin.

-We already know because we are experienced.

Testa’s concept for this reality program.

-The writer said survival is fun.

It is death survival.

Chapter 486

After acquiring all the information in the ‘profile’ file assigned to me.

I opened my door and came out of the dark ‘Testa’s former accommodation’.

‘The door was locked.’

There was some resistance in my hands. I held the doorknob with a little force and pushed it gently.

Sreuk.

“Who are you?”

“All of it.”

“Park Moon-dae!”

A few guys were already in the living room and they were happy to see me.

It was dark but the physique and face were visible.

Raebin Kim and Sejin Bae.

It seemed like the two of them had been sitting huddled together on the floor instead of the sofa and then got up quickly.

hmm.

“Did everyone wake up in their own rooms?”

“Yes it is.”

Raebin Kim nodded saying that he was the first to come out. And Bae Se-jin hit the point.

“How on earth did you do this? “It’s the same as our previous accommodation!”

I wasn’t just talking about structure.

Thanks to the reverse takeover of our old company T1 Stars we were able to hear that the lease contract for the previous accommodation was still in effect.

‘The accommodation can be used for reality filming now.’

But that’s probably not why he was surprised.

I looked around and checked the plaster air freshener in front of the turned off TV.

Flower wreath shape.

It looks very similar to the one that Sun Ah-hyun displayed in her previous dorm and brought it back to her current dorm.

“I see. “The items are almost identical.”

In other words the props from Testa’s time were almost identically reproduced.

Besides that.

“But maybe because the lights don’t come on it feels a bit gloomy…”

“…I know.”

The light switch didn’t work. The only things that work are a few hallways and indirect lights at the end of the ceiling.

“…”

The more imaginative a person is the more uncomfortable the environment becomes.

A eerie atmosphere as if something could happen at any moment.

‘hmm.’

Now that I think about it I couldn’t even see the faces of those who were particularly strong in this area.

Guys like Ryu Cheong-woo and Sun A-hyeon.

‘…! for a moment.’

I looked at the other guys’ faces again and asked.

“Did you happen to have a roommate in the room?”

“ah.”

Then the other guys seemed to notice something as well.

“So you were all alone in the room?”

“yes! “For now I am.”

That’s right.

There are three of us all sharing separate rooms.

Kim Rae-bin is Sun Ah-hyun.

Bae Se-jin is Cha Yu-jin.

I am Liu Chengwu.

So each person does not have their own roommate.

‘If this is the case… is it just one person from each room?’

Then you can guess like this.

So to speak these three became the ‘house team’.

Of course since it’s a group reality show we can’t keep filming just by ourselves and we’ll probably be in contact with the other guys anyway in the future.

However if the teams are divided like that there is only one room left.

‘cell.’

Bae Se-jin clenched his fists as if he realized the same thing.

“Oh yes! “Then let’s look for Lee Se-jin because he is alone…!”

“yes.”

However when I approached and carefully touched Lee Se-jin’s cell door it was locked.

“…”

I couldn’t hear any noise in the dark accommodation…

“…He’s inside but he’s being quiet on purpose to scare us isn’t he?”

“There is a possibility.”

Isn’t this a guy who knows entertainment?

However there was no way Big Sejin suddenly opened the door and came out.

It was dead quiet for at least three minutes.

“…”

“…”

At this point the problem of audio being blank occurs.

There’s no way a guy who’s so good at timing would be stuck in a room for this long and deviate from the main story.

I guess I can just see it as a door that can’t be opened right now.

“I don’t think there is one.”

“Are you saying you have no intention of coming out even if you do?”

That’s unknown.

“Hmm.”

Bae Se-jin and I felt a strange feeling as we looked at the tightly closed cell.

It was then.

“There’s something down here.”

“…!”

Raebin Kim bowed. And then I picked up something that was half sticking out from under the door.

It was a white piece of paper with writing on it.

‘Directive?’

There was only one sentence.

-I open at the end.

It was meaningful.

“It looks like an escape room hint.”

“I know.”

We looked at the paper with serious faces.

The cool air hit the back of my neck perhaps because it was cooled by an air conditioner at the end of a hallway where even indirect lighting didn’t reach well.

‘You set the mood right.’

Please at least give me a flashlight.

The atmosphere was so eerie that it wouldn’t be surprising if it turned into a full-blown survival game with zombies popping out of nowhere.

‘It’s a possibility.’

I nodded.

Of course before that let’s proceed with the part that the production team has asked us to do first.

-Please introduce the editing point to the viewers.

“Shall we sit down first and talk about us?”

“okay.”

This is the self-introduction part.

* * *

“First of all I am a ‘doctor.’”

“oh.”

“You have a job worthy of your Mundae brother!”

Kim Rae-bin was impressed as if someone had chosen it for her.

‘No we all drew lots before being sent here.’

I don’t know but I’m sure they distributed the folders using that. Maybe the team could have been divided as well.

But I decided to leave it as a behind-the-scenes fun to the viewers and nodded.

“Thank you for your kind words. Well then Sejin hyung…”

“Oh I’m… a ‘lawyer.’”

“…”

“What?”

“no.”

At this point I thought ‘Wouldn’t that guy be better suited to be a prosecutor?’ I think my interview will be included as well.

And everyone will agree.

“But speaking of being a lawyer it seems like you have been given a mission to deceive people…”

“What are you talking about! no!”

Bae Se-jin was furious.

Oh what is the mission?

-Job mission

: Must be performed before the first game ends.

This is it.

When I looked at my profile file it was written down.

It will probably be different for each job. I nodded remembering mine.

“All right. “Hyung I’ll be suspicious for now.”

“Usually you say you believe first…!”

“I’m not normal.”

“…?!”

By playing a skit we lighten the mood a bit and give it a bit of a survival feel.

As we shout at each other the awkwardness that is typical of entertainment show intros is definitely gone.

“Then what about Ravin?”

“I am a ‘journalist.’ i look forward to.”

“okay.”

Lastly it was after hearing about Kim Rae-bin’s occupation which was strangely suitable and not at all suitable.

“Then… shall we walk around here some more?”

“Of course. “I think we need to find a way out.”

This was designed to be an escape room.

The full-length window next to the living room which was supposed to lead to the veranda was blocked by a thin temporary wall.

Anyone can see that it was aimed at a secret room.

And the crucial fact.

Bae Se-jin who was approaching the front door reached out to open the translucent middle door installed in front of the front door.

Rattling.

But it didn't open.

"…the middle door is also locked."

also.

The keypad I made in my previous accommodation for double security just in case is holding the middle door tightly.

"It looks like there's no power here either."

"after."

After checking that again the search resumed.

"Seeing things scattered is…"

"I think it would be better if we all move together in case something goes wrong!"

"okay!"

"…"

Well if that's the case.

The three of us started moving slowly as a group and enjoying the ‘escape room content.’

Search each room collect hints that lead to the kitchen and eventually reach the locked bathroom door.

“If you substitute the numbers in the order of the colors of the rainbow…”

“2724! “That’s it!”

“That’s great!”

But literally these guys are enjoying it more than they thought?

Once we got used to the darkness the atmosphere became just an ordinary escape room cafe.

There weren’t any particularly scary elements.

Zombies or at least spooky BGM don’t appear out of nowhere.

‘This is a bit boring.’

I’m sure the writer Ryu Seo-rin didn’t do anything to hide his abilities.

‘I look forward to a reversal.’

I worked hard to solve the hints with the guys roughly anticipating a warm and quick editing point.

And soon he even took off the lock hanging in the bathroom.

“2724… That’s right.”

“Oh!”

“With this we can at least maintain our dignity…”

widely.

And it was the moment I opened the bathroom door.

A light came on inside.

“Huh?”

“Oh I guess the electricity came on!”

The fluorescent lights were dazzling for a moment. And with natural human instinct everyone walked into the newly opened bright bathroom.

‘hmm.’

I immediately checked inside.

This place is almost exactly like the previous accommodation but there is just one thing that creates a sense of discomfort.

A black rectangular portable device that sits right above the sink.

“wireless set?”

“Why is there a walkie-talkie in the dorm?”

“…”

no way.

I immediately walked over to the sink and picked up the radio.

…There’s a battery!

‘It works.’

I immediately pressed the button and spoke.

“Can you hear me?”

[…]

“Brother Chungwoo? “Ahyeon?”

“…Lee Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin!”

But it was quiet beyond the radio.

I shook my head and lowered my hand.

“There was no response… I wondered if this was a way to communicate with other members.”

“iced coffee…”

“Maybe your brothers or Cha Yu-jin haven’t discovered it yet.”

“That might be possible. Um… can I take a look at the walkie-talkie over there for a moment?”

“sure.”

It was time to exchange our own reasoning.

Blink.

“…?”

“I just did.”

Blink blink.

“…”

This time it’s definitely not an optical illusion.

I raised my head and looked at the ceiling.

‘The bathroom etc… ’

It blinked twice in succession.

‘And usually this kind of production is… ’

Oh damn.

“Park Moon-dae?”

I grabbed the two men by their necks and took a step back.

and

Blink blink blink blink blink blink blink blink blink blink –

“Aaaah!”

“Wow!”

I immediately ran out of the bathroom pushing the two screaming guys away.

Blinking rapidly before my eyes.

And then there’s something like a shadow behind my back… damn it!

‘There’s someone!’

As soon as I managed to get out of the bathroom door I stretched my hand back.

bang!!

“Huh!”

I slammed the bathroom door and locked it.

“What is it??”

“It feels weird!”

Anyone who saw this could have seen a ghost or zombie popping out of a corner cabinet!

“Has anyone seen it?”

“Because I didn’t look back…”

“…me too.”

after.

I looked at the bathroom door which was as quiet as a lie and somehow I held back a sigh and felt relieved.

‘I didn’t get caught.’

It would be better to increase the number of bathrooms and then go again.

‘…I think I might have been caught on camera looking like a bit of a scaremonger right now.’

Bae Se-jin tapped my shoulder as if comforting me. I’m kind of pissed off.

“I took that radio.”

That was good. The national rule is that the person who caught it last should take care of it and not drop it.

“That’s amazing! Oh the living room switch seems to work now!”

Meanwhile Raebin Kim quickly applied the bathroom situation and found out that other lights had now returned to the house.

‘Then is it possible to use electricity in the same way?’

I got up.

“What about the Chinese keypad?”

“…! yes! “The light is on!”

Raebin Kim waved his hand. I caught my breath.

‘…okay.’

The middle gate seems to be slowly opening now.

‘I wonder if this will cover the first part or so.’

And that was when he immediately took steps towards the middle gate.

“…that’s Park Moon-dae.”

Bae Se-jin lowered his voice so that Kim Rae-bin could not hear.

“yes.”

“I’m talking about this… there’s something like blood underneath.”

“…!!”

I paid attention to the upside-down bottom of the radio he was holding out.

Then something clearly dark red and sticky appeared.

‘…Is it a slight angle?’

Are you really a zombie?

While I was predicting the haunting location by looking at the angle of the camera Bae Se-jin whispered softly.

“I think Ravin will be scared… so let’s not talk about it.”

hmm?

“…Um yeah.”

When I nodded Bae Se-jin nodded then firmly held the radio and headed forward.

And I thought.

‘…Should I retrieve the radio?’

That guy just looked a little unnatural.

Are you saying Raebin Kim will be scared?

Kim Rae-bin said ‘…? ‘Why do you think I’d be scared when it’s just fake blood made on a variety show anyway?’ This guy will react the same way.

Because he is a rather wild guy.

‘He’s the kind of guy who even catches chickens with his own hands.’

Maybe it’s because I grew up in a farming family but I have a particularly good stomach.

And Bae Se-jin probably doesn’t know that.

‘Well we can just say that he was embarrassed and was trying to protect the younger person as the oldest person.’

But there is one more thing that bothers me.

'Bae Se-jin's job.'

A lawyer.

Being a lawyer… is ultimately a profession that represents suspects in criminal law.

And there is a possibility that the suspect is the criminal.

'What if we paid attention to that characteristic in the game?'

What is the probability that Bae Se-jin received a mission to protect or troll some kind of troller?

'…Keep it for now.'

I decided to pay attention to 'lawyer' Bae Se-jin.

Well it's an entertainment show anyway so there's no need to win but… like the carrot coin thief in <That House's Grandson> getting stabbed one-sidedly is no longer a thing.

And I quickly pretended not to know and joined Jungmun.

Bae Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin were reading the phrase 'the number does not match' with serious faces.

"The Chinese number… doesn't fit."

I guess so. For security reasons the original password for Testa's accommodation would not have been used.

'But isn't it a bit loose to look for the number again?'

After thinking briefly I answered.

“How about 0000?”

“ah.”

It’s the default number.

and.

Tiriririk-

“oh!”

“That’s it!”

Finally the middle door opened.

Beyond that was the front door.

‘Start checking ahead.’

It was then.

[…brother!]

[…Listen~!]

“…!!”

“Me members?”

A shouting sound is heard from the other side of the entrance.

“I guess he was waiting on the other side!”

“That’s right!”

‘As expected I’m joining.’

We quickly approached the front door. The voice got louder.

[…Got it! Take it out…!]

It seems like they are saying they will just take it out. I nodded and moved my feet.

That moment.

The front door started to glow.

"…!!"

"What is it?"

The two guys jumped up.

It's good to react quickly based on your bathroom experience.

"are you okay."

I lifted my hand and put it on the door.

Sigh.

Then a layer of wrapping paper is gently peeled off from the edge as if peeling a sticker from paper.

It is coated paper.

"Is it a cover…?"

"huh."

The outline of the paper cover which was difficult to see because it was dark was seen by the light coming from behind.

And the identity of light is…

“panel?”

It is a pad similar to a smartphone screen or monitor screen.

“Huh.”

“Is it okay to install something like this on the normal door of that home?”

A panicked sound was heard from the other side as well. Something must have happened there too.

It was that moment.

Beep.

[Welcome to the Lamb Game!]

“evil!!”

Light burst out from the screen attached to the front door and a sentence appeared along with a sound effect.

Very loud.

Raebin Kim is covering her mouth and looking at the screen as if her eyes are about to pop out.

“What is it?”

“Let’s step back a little.”

Shasasak.

The three of us took three steps out of the door in unison.

And at the same time the screen became colorful.

[First game]

-Choose an offering

“…!!”

-Sacrifice one job to open the front door.

Until result announcement: 3 hours.

what?

* * *

Internet.

That’s when Testa started filming.

An unexpected post was posted on the account of their company ‘Orbit Stars’.

[Please select a character to be sacrificed. (link)]

-??

-what’s this

There were many people who suspected it was hacking but there are pioneers everywhere.

When curious people click a list appears with a vague black silhouette.

_____

1. doctor

2. Sheriff

3. Detective

4. scholar

5. Undertaker

6. Lawyer

7. Clown

_____

It was a public vote for the scapegoat.

It was the moment when the true meaning of survival entertainment began.

Chapter 487

Testa was locked in the dorm before moving.

And… I finally opened the middle door and reached the front door where a panel flashed.

-Sacrifice one job to open the front door.

I knew it the moment I read it.

This is where the dropout comes out.

‘Is this a form of survival?’

So are you saying we should vote among ourselves to choose a job?

It is so stimulating that it thrills the brain. I nodded and raised Ryu Serin’s evaluation again.

‘Wait a minute but if you vote like this… ’

You don’t know who has what job and it’s impossible to communicate with the other party.

Are we going to vote in such a boring way without the entertainment stimulation of directly talking to each other tricking each other and making people laugh?

‘That can’t be possible… ’

ah!

I turned around and shouted.

“brother!”

“…! why?”

“A walkie-talkie!”

And I shouted out the front door.

So that I can hear you on the other side.

“Did you find the radio? wireless set!”

[Radio… is it a gun?… basin?!]

[…uh!]

I could faintly hear the sound of rapid movement from beyond.

“…! Are you using a walkie-talkie now? “Can I just click here and talk?!”

“If you press the button instead of yes you won’t hear a response so keep it short!”

“okay!”

Bae Se-jin picked up the walkie-talkie and started shouting.

‘If you’re lucky you might be able to hear the communication from over there and find the location of the radio… ’

So are you asking us to communicate via walkie-talkie from here and discuss which occupation to sacrifice?

It was a moment to think about it.

Suddenly the front door panel was updated.

[☜☞]

[Sacrifice selection completed!]

what?

“Huh?”

“Hyung Moon Dae? “Have you made a choice?”

“That can’t be possible.”

But before I could say my next words… the door opened.

Sweet.

“…!!”

The front door was open.

And what you see in front of you are guys who are catching their breath as if they just ran in with a walkie-talkie.

There were four other testa members.

The guys’ eyes widened.

“Guys!”

“Mundaemun University! Ravine! older brother!”

“I’m glad everyone…!”

At that moment everyone forgets about the game and nothing else and begins to gather together like a flock of penguins in joy.

It was a mess like being shipwrecked and then meeting family.

“brother! “We’re here to save you!”

“okay.”

I roughly accepted Cha Yu-jin’s hug and counted the heads again.

‘There are seven of us.’

okay. As expected as the number of pages increases a sense of stability arises.

But that’s it.

‘Why is the door open?’

Is this the most likely one?

“Could it be that you chose the profession that will become the sacrifice?”

“Nooope! “The door suddenly opened!”

“…!”

Liu Chengwu also shook his head resolutely.

“I thought you picked it. Since we are a team stuck in a dorm I thought we had no choice…”

what?

“What are you talking about? “We were locked in our dorm!”

“…? Sejin what…”

no way.

Only then did I penetrate the gap between the four people. With that open view I looked at the other side of the front door.

And I was shocked.

‘crazy.’

On the other side… the other side was also a lodging!

“Just outside the front door…”

“Wh is this also a dormitory…?”

The guys who noticed started to turn their heads in confusion towards the front door.

“Holy moly! “There’s a living room!”

“Wow~ I’m crazy really!”

Before we knew it Cha Yu-jin and Eun Se-jin were running to the living room where we escaped and screaming.

And I also stepped through the middle gate on the other side.

“…”

“I’m really the same…”

oh.

‘So you’re saying they tried to escape over there too?’

Although each party misunderstood the other as an outside team in reality they were each team from Dormitory A and Dormitory B.

‘What on earth is here?’

Is it a set?

No it’s impossible unless you’re on a set.

It wasn’t just the props that were decorated like the previous lodgings it was the house itself.

“her.”

I got stabbed in the back. I grinned and looked around again.

I know for sure there will be a way to escape in the end. Because then there will be catharsis.

However the entrance itself was fake and was structured to face each other like a mirror. It is a wonderful double secret room that further immerses you in fear and tension.

‘Then what is the escape route?’

No before that.

I turned my head. The members flinched.

“First of all… then neither team touched or did anything on that panel.”

“okay.”

I reached out and pointed to the panel. Toward the sentences that are still floating well.

[Sacrifice selection completed!]

“Then why did it say ‘selection completed’?”

“…”

Big Sejin frowned as if thinking deeply and crossed his arms.

“Aren’t you on a job mission?”

“…!!”

“Why is it possible that one of your occupations has a role in selecting sacrifices? Um what if you think of board games?”

That makes sense.

It was a sharp thought.

“Then let’s ask everyone about their jobs first.”

“Ah about that…”

It was at that time that Big Sejin was about to answer something.

[Participants.]

“Ugh!”

“What the…”

A modulated mechanical sound was heard.

Voices were now starting to come out of the front door panel.

‘It has a lot of features.’

We rushed over and stood in front of the panel.

Then the panel screen changes and a new sentence is transmitted.

[The sacrifice job has been decided.]

[The sign of fate has now fallen.]

White letters on the black screen flashed ominously.

“It’s already over…?”

“How does this work?”

The air became cool with confusion and tension.

But I was nervous in another way too.

Hey it’s clear that the game time limit is 3 hours.

‘Then what should I do for the remaining three hours?’

Doesn’t that destroy the tension?

It was then.

Sweet.

The wall next to the entrance opened. And then something poured out.

“…!”

“Wow!”

I checked the items while a few guys were making a fuss.

‘card?’

There were a total of 7 cards that looked like poker cards at first glance.

And each person’s name was written on the back.

“what?”

“Is this a QR code?”

“wait for a sec.”

I slapped the other guys.

The panel’s text isn’t over yet.

[Among the 7 cards there is a card belonging to a participant whose occupation was chosen as a sacrifice.]

An image of 7 cards being turned over appears on the screen and soon one is enlarged and a red mark is attached.

Sheep skull.

[That is the token of sacrifice.]

“…”

It’s serious.

[You can exchange this ‘token card’ for 3 hours.]

[And at the end of the game the character with the ‘Sacrifice’ token card becomes the final sacrifice.]

On the screen the cards are turned over and spin around like wild rocks and then turn over one after another to reveal their backs.

And then a card with a red sheep skull symbol on it blinked…

[Pow!]

It exploded.

[02:59:59]

All that’s left is a black screen. Just a blinking white countdown at the bottom.

“…”

I immediately looked at my card again.

Likewise it was a card with a poker pattern and name on one side and a QR code on the other side.

I asked tapping the stopped panel.

“How do I exchange it?”

There was no other narration.

Just a new phrase appeared on the black screen.

[Please show the QR code.]

hmm.

I turned the top of the card toward the QR code and looked next to the front door panel.

‘Are we scanning here?’

“Mundaemun University?”

“for a moment.”

I scanned the QR on the card while stopping several scared guys from grabbing my shoulders.

‘What if it’s like this?’

The screen changed again.

[Required currency: 1 gold]

“…”

Gold?

“I don’t think this is something that can just be exchanged?”

“yes.”

It seems like it costs money.

‘It’s also heartbreaking to keep exchanging things recklessly.’

And at that moment Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

“I know!”

“…!”

“Wait a second!”

And then the guy ran quickly kicked down the door of his bathroom and took something out.

“This is gold!”

It was gold with a QR code attached.

“…!!”

“Wow where have you been?”

“It’s under the shelf.”

“Eujin you’re really amazing…!”

The members gathered together and began to express their admiration for Cha Yu-jin’s vision. Your mouth will be torn apart you bastard.

And then a decisive statement comes out.

“Hmm there must be more hidden in these two dorms right?”

“I guess so?”

then.

I immediately took off the QR card I was scanning.

“Then let’s look for gold first.”

And so the treasure hunt began.

“Mundaemundae~ Didn’t you miss our members so much?”

“Oh I did.”

Big Se-jin who was excited to see them was next to them and eagerly told them about what they had experienced.

I was silently turning over the living room where these guys escaped(?).

“Ah but I don’t know if there are more here. “In fact we almost completely replaced it.”

Yes looking at the underside of the sofa in the living room it was clearly visible that they had been thoroughly searched.

I shook my hands and stood up.

Now that I think about it there was something I wanted to say to this guy.

“I mean what you were trying to say earlier.”

“huh?”

“Didn’t you guys talk about jobs?”

This is the job of these guys.

‘Even when I’m talking about what I experienced I can’t even mention it.’

Then Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

“Uhm~ Anyway that’s what I was trying to say earlier. “We were so busy exploring that we couldn’t even talk about jobs?”

“…”

Hmm you?

‘You didn’t do it intentionally?’

The guy who is the best at entertainment said he did the introduction part that the writer had even requested separately.

But as if he had read my mind Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

“I thought the picture would be better when we were all together like this… but now that I look at it I think I’m lying don’t you?”

“maybe.”

Anyone who finds something embarrassing in their job will tell lies of their own accord. I nodded and agreed.

‘…This is another bastard’s idea.’

This type of game makes it difficult to completely trust anyone. I just internally shrugged my shoulders and ended the conversation with the guy.

And I was on my way to the kitchen.

“…Park Moon-dae.”

Bae Se-jin suddenly approached and spoke in a very low voice.

“You didn’t get a really weird job did you? Are you sure?”

“yes.”

That’s not unusual.

But that’s it.

“But wouldn’t someone who got a strange job also respond this way?”

“But… you scanned the card right there earlier. “I think people who tried to hide their jobs couldn’t do that because they were anxious.”

“…”

Is it sharp?

“And since you’re good at these things I’m just going to bet on you.”

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva and said.

“My job is ‘lawyer.’”

okay.

“I have special abilities.”

“…which?”

“…’I can understand the circumstances of other jobs.’”

“…!”

“It said so… so I knew what the job was.”

Bae Se-jin lowered his voice further.

“Ravin said you were a reporter right?”

“yes.”

The guy swallowed.

“There are no reporters…!”

“…!”

“There is no such thing as a job as a reporter!”

It was an unexpected blow to the back of my head.

I immediately reviewed Kim Rae-bin’s attitude up until now. However there was no particular awkwardness characteristic of a person pricked by conscience.

‘Raebin Kim is that good at lying?’

Is that possible no matter how much you have trained yourself through past entertainment?

‘There are some suspicions about Bae Se-jin.’

However without showing it I opened my eyes wide as if I was surprised and then made a sad expression. It was as if my ears were piqued.

Bae Se-jin also had a solemn expression.

“Brother can you tell me a job you know? “I’m trying to get Ravin to come up with a real job candidate.”

“okay. But before that… I also want to hear about your abilities.”

You know how to negotiate quite well.

I nodded immediately. What I revealed while Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva was…

“My abilities were a question mark.”

“…?”

No it’s not a joke.

[Special abilities]

-?? (Published in progress)

It was written like this on the profile.

“I think I probably didn’t tell you because it would be a spoiler in the course of the game.”

“ah.”

Of course if I end here I won’t be able to gain your trust.

I even added my guess.

“If this is a type of mafia game the doctor’s role is usually to defend the victim.”

“…!”

“So I think they will let you know when someone will be sacrificed.”

“…That makes sense.”

yes.

In any case I was able to get a list of occupations explained by Bae Se-jin to see if I had lost trust.

‘A doctor a sheriff a detective a scholar an undertaker a lawyer… and a clown.’

These are modern and contemporary professions.

Anyway it was very plausible and useful information.

‘It’s a benefit.’

If it’s true. I happily bowed my head and said my thanks and Bae Se-jin looked a little proud.

“But if it’s like this the meaning of what you said about trusting me isn’t enough… I guess I’ll try to recruit one more trustworthy person.”

“uh? “Who…”

I raised my hand and pointed to one person.

This guy is looking intently into the kitchen of our dorm.

This is Liu Chengwu.

Bae Se-jin became desperate.

“…Isn’t this something to do with my usual personality? Job is important. “It’s entertainment.”

“Of course.”

No that’s what I’m saying.

I nodded willingly agreeing.

“Think about it bro.”

“Huh?”

“Last time in our own content Chungwoo was a traitor. “That zombie.”

“That’s right.”

“Then based on the cooldown theory it won’t be Cheongwoo this time.”

“…?!”

“how is it.”

Wouldn’t it be boring if the same guy got caught again?

Even if it was a lottery it is judged that the production team would not have done it even if they had to resort to it.

‘Then they would have told me there was an error and had me pull it out again.’

And Bae Se-jin eventually clenched his fist and agreed as if my theory sounded quite plausible.

“…It’s as good as it gets. Let’s do it.”

yes.

I immediately walked towards Liu Chengwu and bowed down to him.

“brother.”

“hmm?”

“This way for a moment.”

And without being noticed by the others the three of them started talking as if they were each searching a similar place.

“Sejin wants to form an alliance but he says we can only do so if we reveal our occupation.”

“ah.”

“We’ve already introduced ourselves.”

If you just say it it means that we will form a party like this.

However Liu Chengwu who was looking under the table smiled slightly as if he was embarrassed.

“Um… I can’t tell you. Sorry.”

“…!”

Bae Se-jin’s expression changed.

“You can’t believe it…”

“Wait a minute bro.”

I quickly intervened before he took off.

“It’s not that you don’t want to talk it’s that you can’t?”

“…”

Liu Chengwu smiled vaguely.

‘also.’

I nodded and bowed to Bae Se-jin.

“I think Cheongwoo has a job that doesn’t allow him to say his job directly.”

“…ah!”

“If it were the mafia I think they would try to deceive and not answer so honestly.”

“Ugh…”

Bae Se-jin was depressed but soon nodded.

“Then… he could be a detective. “In mystery novels the detective usually acts last.”

oh. It was quite a contextual reasoning in terms of content.

“then?”

“…good! “Let’s talk.”

Bae Se-jin nodded. I gave Ryu Cheong-woo a moment to listen to Bae Se-jin’s explanation.

And Liu Chengwu was impressed.

“You had that ability too. “You’re amazing Sejin.”

“Kuhm what?”

“According to what you said Ravin is definitely suspicious but… what’s urgent right now is that there’s someone who can be sacrificed right now. “I’d like to talk more about that.”

hmm?

“…Of course.”

“Let’s say one of us could choose the profession to be sacrificed. “Then what kind of job do you think it would be?”

That’s easy.

I answered without hesitation.

“A detective or a clown.”

* * *

Same time. Internet.

_____

[What did everyone vote for in the Orbit vote?]

Since there are 7 views there is a lot of speculation that it is a testa content with 7 members. I’m curious haha.

_____

Chatter was rampant in the Orbit voting section that suddenly appeared in each idol community.

First of all the word ‘offering’ was provocative and the fact that you could vote was also fun.

And the opinions seemed to be surprisingly unified.

-Isn’t taking a photo with a bright look the answer for anyone?

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㄹㅇ Just looking at the job title gives me the feeling of a troll.

jester.

Isn’t this an occupation that somehow gives off the feeling of a criminal or a dark criminal?

However there was a strong opinion that it should not be filmed.

-Everyone doesn’t know what they’re talking about. This kind of thing is only funny if it’s trolled by the voting party. Just looking at it it looks like a variety show.

-Ah this is definitely a doctor haha.

-Let's kill the detective please so we can have a mental breakdown and laugh out loud.

As the rumor spread the number of people calling for detectives and doctors increased.

And after some time.

A new article has been uploaded to the Orbit Stars account.

[Voting has been completed. ->View results]

And the moment people full of curiosity and anticipation clicked on the view results the link was to a video.

[Start the game now – TeSTAR coming soon]

This is Testa's entertainment trailer.

-Mimimi crazy

-Testa entertainment!!!

-Wow too

-I'm already looking forward to it. What should I do?

The reactions of people who were happy to see it and said it was their first entertainment show in a long time.

And on the other hand a comment from a fan who realized the reality passed by.

-Wait a minute… So the member we voted for was just eliminated?

Huh

Wait a minute

No way ㅠㅠ

Fan sites and communities began to explode with speculation and excitement again.

And then.

Testa's strange filming location was burning hot in a different way.

"It's radish radish."

"hmm?"

"Would you like to exchange cards with me?"

"…!"

The first trait request has begun.

Chapter 488

I looked at Sun Ah-hyun.

‘Let’s exchange cards?’

Moreover the guy who called me to the outskirts of his room took something out of his pocket.

“…!”

Gold with QR code.

It is a commodity used to exchange cards.

“Where did you find it?”

“Uhm actually…”

Sun Ah-hyun whispered quietly.

He said that when he woke up in his room he read the profile and searched the room at the same time.

“Then I found it… under the bed.”

“…”

This means that you found it when you started the game.

‘And you’ve kept your mouth shut all this time?’

Sun Ah-hyeon?

I was impressed without even realizing it.

'You all have a taste for entertainment.'

It was amazing. I can't wait to see how this will turn out if it is edited according to the scenario written by Ryu Seo-rin.

"But I don't know if it's okay to use it like this. "It could be used at a critical moment."

Then Sun Ah-hyun nodded with an expression of determination.

"I need to know the information so it's okay to spend my gold…!"

"hmm."

In order to play the game properly in terms of efficiency the right answer is to not play until someone else does but…

'This is entertainment.'

It was good for the development to get out of the first attempt quickly. So I nodded.

"Then let's get to know each other's occupations. "I think that would be better."

"Uhm I'm… a scholar."

oh.

I nodded.

"The door is…?"

"I am a doctor."

"Ah aha!"

Sun Ah-hyun blushed and nodded saying it was a good job.

That's the end of the story.

"We are exchanging our cards."

"Huh?"

"Did you find the gold?"

I called the other members together and stood in front of the front door.

"I'm just going to give it a try first."

"okay."

Big Sejin nodded.

I organized the game rules once again.

"If there is one of us who needs to be sacrificed the sacrifice will be changed by exchanging this card."

"Ugh that's right."

It's like passing the joker in a card game.

'Is this a bombing?'

However this seemed like a survival game with a hidden culprit or murderer like a mafia game.

However regardless of whether you are a mafia or a citizen it is unlikely that you will necessarily choose occupations such as 'scholar' or 'doctor' first.

I recalled the answer I gave to Liu Chengwu earlier.

Which occupation do you think has the highest chance of dying?

-Detective or clown.

If the person chosen as a sacrifice is a mafia detective if it is a citizen it is a clown.

‘This is the standard route.’

Professions like scholar or doctor are less likely to attract aggro than those two.

So in front of the entrance it is dark because the only light is still not on.

We held the cards relying solely on the light coming from the panel.

“I do it.”

“Ugh.”

I scanned the QR codes for me Sun Ah-hyun and Gold.

“…”

Then the screen on the front door panel began to swirl dark red without a sound.

“Boo!”

“Wow it’s scarier than I thought?”

I focused my eyes on the panel while listening to the guys’ nervous voices.

The vortex lasted for 3-4 seconds and soon disappeared.

All that remains on the screen are the backs of two cards.

[Token exchange completed]

[Park Moon-dae <-> Seon A-hyeon]

“oh.”

“This is how you do it.”

A small exclamation from the members rang out.

And I smoothed out my cards.

‘There is no other information.’

It seemed like only the exchange record was neatly stored there.

“It was nothing special.”

“Ugh. Still… it was amazing!”

“That’s right.”

There was no other unnecessary stuff. Sun Ah-hyun and I seemed satisfied with our demonstration and walked away from the front door.

After that the search continued.

“Mundaemundae~ Is it true that you can’t open the bathroom door in this dorm? Oh if it’s this difficult there must be gold in it…”

“There’s a ghost inside.”

“Uh huh.”

And Comte.

“There’s chicken in the refrigerator!”

“…!!”

“I’m really touched that you’re giving me food.”

As the skit continued it was a moment when the atmosphere relaxed slightly.

The members seemed to have become numb to the environment so they dispersed and wandered around the two spacious dorms.

‘Has it already been two hours?’

And after a while.

Beep!

“…!”

An alarm rang in the front door.

And then the voice began to repeat with a siren sound as if it were an emergency notice.

[Enter the room where the warning begins.]

[Enter the room where the warning begins.]

[Enter the room where the warning begins.]

“What is it?”

“Room of Beginnings?”

The scattered members ran out. I was aware of the sirens and shouted loudly.

“I think we’re talking about the room we each started in!”

“iced coffee!”

“See you all in a moment!”

The guys who ran to the front door soon dispersed in perfect order. Indeed they looked like people who had eaten Jjambap from broadcasting.

I also returned to the room where I started.

The room was a replica of my room in my previous accommodation.

Sweet.

It was the moment I went in there and closed the door blocking out a layer of siren sound.

Ding dong!!

“…!!”

[It is time for interim notice.]

…There were speakers here too.

‘…after.’

I guess they’re doing this on purpose to scare people.

Before I knew it the fluorescent lights had stopped coming on again and I was sitting on the bed in a dark corner of the room.

Then that strange mechanical sound came through the speakers again.

[Check the bedside drawer.]

Are you coming?

I moved my hand. There was an electronic device in the drawer inside the bedside table.

It was clearly not there before.

‘Did the staff member filming over there come out and add it?’

You’re having a hard time. I muttered to myself when I saw the black box with only the camera sticking out of the corner.

Then I carefully turned on the screen of the electronic device. I guess I received it as a PPL or it was Ohseong’s tab.

Beep.

The lit screen flashes through the dark air.

[Job skills disclosure]

[Your job skills are…]

‘Hoo.’

The members split up because of this.

I read the article slowly.

“…”

‘Is this… meant to be used here?’

It was quite interesting.

As I was rubbing my chin trying to think of a few applications I heard another notification sound.

‘hmm?’

The pad screen has changed again.

[01:00:00]

[※Token can be checked※]

The time remaining until the end of the game and… is this a sign of my card?

"…"

I raised my hand and touched the pad.

[Kyahahaha!]

The first thing I heard was the sound of a child laughing.

That innocent sound somehow creates a sense of discomfort and sends shivers down the spine.

And without warning a huge red circular pattern filled the pad.

Lamb skull pattern.

[Your card is 'Sacrifice Token'.]

[Current Lamb: Moon-Dae Park]

"…"

I see.

I took my eyes off the pad screen for a moment and took a breath.

The sign of the sacrifice is with me.

So if I continue like this I will die.

* * *

“Wow~ Did you all enjoy it!”

“Yeah bro!”

The siren sounded again and the members came out of their respective rooms.

And the remaining hour passed quickly.

Now rather than searching for gold the focus is on conversation and surveillance.

“Huh? “Where are you two going? Are you exchanging cards?”

“…I’m going to heat up that chicken.”

“…yep.”

Externally an hour passed smoothly without any major incidents or conflicts.

However a strange tension was rising.

‘soon.’

It’s over.

I measured the time and waited for the ending.

And after a while.

BEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEICK!!

“Ouch.”

“I guess time is up.”

I wasn't that surprised this time.

However everyone looked a little nervous.

'The losers have been decided.'

After being inside for several hours the level of immersion naturally became stronger and the word 'sacrifice' seemed to feel a little scary.

It's like entering a haunted house at an amusement park.

"It's gone."

And the front door panel had indeed finished counting down.

[00:00:00]

And then a huge letter appears as if to cover it.

[End of exchange]

"…"

Modulated mechanical sounds began to flow from the speakers again.

[This is a notice before the announcement.]

[The first sacrifice token you receive is determined by the votes of your sponsors.]

"After sponsor…?"

[Voting results from fans who love you]

'…Pan?'

The red graph on the screen went up endlessly and a whopping 20374 votes appeared.

If you put those high numbers and explanations together…

“No way… was this a fan vote?”

“When did you receive it?”

‘My words.’

Whether the astonished members are surprised or not the panel continues its narration in silence.

[The one that received the most votes was one job with 20374 votes.]

Now everyone is holding their breath and watching the panel.

[And now that the time limit has passed the profession with this sacrifice token is…]

Gulp.

At that moment I heard the sound of swallowing due to the gloomy tension.

The result rang.

[I am a scholar.]

“…!!”

“ah.”

I reflexively glanced back at Sun Ah-hyeon.

Sun Ah-hyeon had a pale face.

‘…’

-Umm… I’m a scholar.

Sun Ah-hyun definitely said that.

And the members immediately started looking around to find the person involved.

“scholar?”

“Who is the scholar? “Say it!”

“…”

But it was quiet.

No one has come forward and even Sun Ah-hyun is keeping her mouth shut.

“uh?”

“…Why is no one coming out?”

Bae Se-jin narrowed his eyes and Kim Rae-bin looked around with a puzzled expression.

“Isn’t this a situation where we can’t change the outcome anyway?”

“that’s right!”

“But why…?”

It was a time when everyone was talking with confused expressions.

[The sacrificial room has been opened.]

Sigh.

“omg.”

The front door opened automatically.

And after that another door was seen opening automatically.

That's right… a single room in our dorm.

This is the room that was not opened.

"Is that the sacrificial room?"

"I think so."

It popped into my head reflexively.

A note that Raebin Kim picked up from under that door.

-I open at the end.

'Did that mean that room would open at the end of this game?'

Or when it is confirmed who will die or be finished… Is it?

I assumed that and followed them. Due to the atmosphere I thought I should say this in the interview.

And in front of the open cell door.

"I'm coming in!"

Cha Yu-jin stepped forward without hesitation. but…

"Oops!!"

"Why why?"

The guy frowned and took his foot back.

'what?'

Everyone was surprised by the reaction and looked into the room.

“…!!”

The inside of the room… looked like the altar of some kind of cult.

Torn black wallpaper and burning red candles swayed eerily.

And a huge coffin-shaped altar located in the middle. There was a red-colored sheep’s head skull pattern engraved on it.

‘You’re crazy.’

Quack!

“Ugh!”

Is there even a thunder effect?

In front of the space where the art team was replaced the members became a flock of penguins again.

“I don’t think I can sleep in this room anymore…”

“I’m glad I moved.”

“huh.”

Anyway we entered it cautiously.

“…There is a name tag.”

“Ugh.”

And soon according to the name written on it it looked like a table to welcome guests with a coffin-shaped altar surrounding it.

It was that moment.

[Participants.]

“I knew it would be like this.”

“me too.”

The bizarre narration started flowing through the speakers again.

The camera coming out of the coffin rotates and captures our faces.

[Welcome to the room of sacrifice.]

“Do we really have to sacrifice a member here?!”

“Calm down Ravin.”

[Participants must find the black sheep here.]

“…”

Black sheep?

[The participant who immediately passed on the fate of his sacrifice to another participant.]

[In other words the culprit who sacrificed the ‘scholar’ through the final exchange of tokens is the ‘black sheep.’]

“omg.”

“Wow I’m getting more and more confused about this.”

I put it together quickly.

‘hmm.’

So what this means is that you have to find the person who handed over the last token to the ‘scholar’ who ended up being the final sacrifice.

It seems that the person who committed the act was judged to be some kind of ‘mafia’ or ‘criminal’.

‘Then all you have to do is find the guy you last exchanged with the scholar.’

It was a moment when I thought it would be too easy to reason.

Another condition was added.

[If you guess the black sheep correctly the culprit will be burnt along with the sacrifice.]

[But if you don’t find the black sheep]

“…then?”

[Everything except the black sheep and the sacrifice is offered as a burnt offering.]

“Ugh.”

“Wow this is an absolute horror game!”

The sound of annihilation brought out screams and violent reactions from all over.

‘oh.’

So this is a structure in which if the sacrifice keeps its mouth shut the person himself can survive.

‘If you do this you won’t tell me who you exchanged with.’

I was impressed by the viciousness of the production team.

[Then good luck.]

I wish you good luck – I wish you well…

The speaker which had been echoing eerily soon crackled and cut off.

And the skull symbol on the coffin glowed red.

“Oh!”

“I guess I’m telling you to get started.”

While I was gawking at the amazing room the atmosphere soon settled down in its own way.

The members seemed to be organizing their thoughts so far and thinking of things to talk about.

Of course the number one priority is probably this.

‘I guess you’re asking who the scholar was sacrificed to be.’

In fact wouldn’t it be okay if we somehow interrogate them and catch the person who made the last exchange?

But the first thing to open my mouth was

“for a moment! “I have something to tell you first.”

It was Bae Se-jin.

The guy continued speaking calmly.

“I knew what jobs there were.”

“yes?”

“I’m a lawyer.”

And just like he told me he started telling me all the information he knew.

'Is this reasonable since it is the last minute?'

I nodded inwardly.

If you know what jobs there are it's easy to deduce who has what job using elimination.

"But there is just one person who asked for a job that no one else has! "That person…"

And it was the moment when Bae Se-jin was about to say Kim Rae-bin's name.

"Huh? wait a minute."

'…?'

Big Sejin suddenly intervened. The guy immediately asks Bae Se-jin who pauses for a moment in embarrassment.

"Hyung what is your job?"

"…I'm a lawyer. "A lawyer's professional skills allow him or her to know other professions…"

"…? "You mean your brother is a lawyer?"

Big Sejin laughed.

And then he made a bombshell statement.

"weird. "I'm a lawyer?"

"…!!"

"Uh huh?"

“There can’t be two jobs that are the same. “Right?”

“…”

The members opened their mouths and looked back at the two people with the same name.

Big Sejin stroked the back of his neck.

“Uhm. Looking at the reaction it seems like Sejin has been saying a lot here and there that he is a lawyer but lawyers are not allowed to do that because of their mission.”

“…!!”

After observing the members’ reactions Big Sejin frowned and smiled bitterly.

And sighed.

“Oh my you were all deceived by your brother. “Everyone was fooled.”

“…”

A moment of embarrassed silence separated the members.

That moment.

“wait for a sec.”

Bae Se-jin spoke firmly with a white face.

“You’re the one who’s lying!”

‘oh my god.’

I swallowed my sleep.

‘One of the two is definitely trolling right?’

I can already see viewers chewing popcorn without even being able to breathe.

It was literally the beginning of a melee.

Chapter 489

A person with the same name who claims to be a lawyer.

Bae Se-jin and Keun Se-jin are engaged in a tense war of words.

“…Lee Se-jin has been quiet until now but only opened his mouth after it was decided who would die. Anyone can see this is strategic. “It’s to confuse people on purpose!”

“A-hyung it’s the opposite. Isn’t it more unnatural to just talk about your job and abilities from the beginning? “Everyone think about the mafia game. Normally good citizens don’t do this even if they are wary of the mafia.”

Both have a point.

Anyway they can’t both be lawyers and one of them is a lie… That’s amazing. I was secretly impressed.

“Oh… who do you suspect Moon Dae?”

“Looking at the current situation it seems like there are both possibilities.”

One is an actor and the other is good at entertainment.

‘I guess I can naturally pretend to have a different job.’

If both of you put your mind to it you can have a good game with the trolling profession.

Right now neither of them are logically awkward.

“…! It’s sophistry. “I discovered the suspicious person early and shared it with trustworthy people!”

“So the reason is actually a lie if my brother is a mafia. “Then it’s just a baseless story?”

‘It’s a mess.’

I can almost see the other guys’ pupils spinning around. I clicked my tongue inwardly.

And I raised my hand.

“First of all I have a question for both of you.”

“uh?”

“Could you please explain a little about the profession of a lawyer? “People who usually lie have loopholes.”

“I see. “If I go into detail I’m sure someone will come across some contradictions.”

Liu Chengwu nodded.

‘okay. No matter what if you keep asking questions you’ll end up making up things on the spot and answering questions that you haven’t prepared.’

Then the logic falls apart awkwardly as the back and forth don’t make sense.

“ah.”

I don’t know what it was like on the inside but on the outside the sejins with the same name reacted as if they were quite excited.

“Oh that’s a good idea Mundaemundae~”

“Then I’ll do it first.”

Bae Se-jin came out as if he would not lose the player.

“Lawyers… can find out how many jobs there are in total and what those jobs are.”

Bae Se-jin then explained the jobs he knew.

The other guys nodded and repeated their jobs.

“Doctor sheriff detective scholar undertaker clown…”

“And you’re a lawyer.”

“that’s right.”

Bae Se-jin nodded seriously.

“Raise your hand if the job I have isn’t in here.”

There was no rebuttal.

‘No one has a noticeable change in complexion.’

It probably means that the job you have is among them.

‘In other words Bae Se-jin’s story is highly likely to be true.’

Bae Se-jin must have noticed that expression and looked at Eun Se-jin defiantly.

But the guy smiled bitterly.

“Well you know what the job is…”

And the guy shrugged his shoulders.

“But from the way you talk it seems like you really know right?”

"…!!"

"You are now admitting that you lied even though you are not a lawyer…"

"No no."

Big Sejin shook his head. And he said it quite seriously.

"I guess Bae Se-jin seems to have a different job with that ability. "The only lie is that I'm a lawyer."

"…!!"

So what Big Sejin said is…

'Bae Se-jin found out that fact using the skills of another profession but he is impersonating a lawyer?'

Certainly a number of cases are possible!

"No it's just… Actually just looking at it it looks like a skill that has little to do with the profession of a lawyer."

"Huh."

Raebin Kim was shocked. And at the same time Bae Se-jin got angry.

"The job of a lawyer requires you to know the defendant well. "What's so awkward about this!"

"No that kind of ability just makes you a criminal! It looks like the dark side will have it. "It looks like a good plan."

For a moment a look of 'I think so' passed across the members' faces.

And Bae Se-jin is now narrowing his eyes with a cold face.

‘Is it overindulgence or acting?’

I shrugged my shoulders and then looked back at Big Sejin and asked.

“Then what are the original skills of a lawyer?”

Big Sejin smiled and spoke without hesitation.

“It’s the ability to designate one person and find out if that person is innocent.”

“…!!”

oh my god.

And Keun Se-jin’s remarks did not end there.

“By the way I’ve already used it~”

“…?!”

At that moment the atmosphere of the room changed.

Seon Ah-hyun who had been quietly keeping her mouth shut reflexively asked back.

“Who who…?”

“Here are our members~”

Keun Se-jin patted the back of the member right next to him.

That’s right…

“Raebin Kim?”

“yes!”

The guy grins. Kim Rae-bin's eyes look like they're about to pop out.

However he soon looked around and nodded with a confused expression.

"Of course I am not the criminal. Because I have never exchanged a card in the first place…"

Bae Se-jin clenched his fist and intervened.

"That's ridiculous!"

"…?!"

Raebin Kim was shocked.

"Kim Rae-bin said her job was a reporter! But… there is no such thing as a reporter among occupations!"

"…!!"

"Oh come to think of it."

Kim Rae-bin's eyes began to roll. Oh my.

"And now every time I try to reveal this he stops me."

"yes?"

"Lee Se-jin!!"

Bae Se-jin shouted loudly clasped his hands and muttered.

"…and there was something strange about your job."

"yes?"

"jester."

“…”

Hoo.

“Do you remember the card game we played last time? “Joker: If you hold the clown card last you lose…”

Catching a thief.

Bae Se-jin was seen swallowing saliva.

“So wouldn’t Raebin Kim have that kind of job? “The mission is for us to fail.”

“yes!?”

Kim Rae-bin was even more shocked.

‘If that’s acting I guess I’ll have to make that guy act too.’

However Bae Se-jin continued speaking in an increasingly confident tone as if the logic had finally connected.

“And Lee Se-jin is a scholar.”

“yes??”

“Lee Se-jin is the sacrifice and they are trying to prevent me from singling out Kim Rae-bin so they can win!”

“…!!”

There was such a rule.

-If you guess the black sheep correctly the culprit will be burnt along with the sacrifice.

-However if the black sheep cannot be found everything except the black sheep and the offering will be burnt.

In other words the only way for a sacrificed person to survive is to make people unable to catch the culprit.

“how is it.”

“…”

My heart condition was pretty good.

But… Lee Se-jin burst out laughing.

“Ah I understand.”

“…?”

Lee Se-jin declared like a bomb.

“No your brother is a clown right?”

“…!!”

“Originally people who want to bluff speak first. “To lay down the boards.”

“what? Wait a minute what she’s doing right now is something that’s obvious… like biting at me because she’s being cornered! “You’re just repeating what I said!”

“No! “My brother’s foot went numb.”

“hey…!”

The overindulgence was getting worse. Now I think it would be okay to add something like ‘I’m really fighting^^’ as a subtitle.

Liu Chengwu hurriedly intervened.

“Um… Sejin I mean Lee Sejin.”

“Yep!”

“Then can I hear the logic of your reasoning?”

“Of course~”

Big Sejin grinned.

“I think Sejin is a clown. “I think there is a high probability that it is the black sheep that we need to catch!”

“what?!”

“Sejin calm down and let’s listen first.”

Ryu Cheong-woo was calming Bae Se-jin.

Big Sejin looks at me and narrows his eyes.

“…”

“And did you hear something from Moon Dae before I came here?”

“…!?”

That’s right.

There is some information I shared with the guy who has the most say in this game before coming here.

-actually…

“Can I tell you?”

“okay.”

I nodded. Big Sejin willingly opened his mouth.

“Ahyeon said she was a scholar.”

“…!!”

This is it.

‘It’s suspicious.’

‘Scholar’ is the profession selected as the final sacrifice in this game.

“I don’t know what the first job fans voted for as a sacrifice is but the final sacrifice right now is a scholar.”

I continued calmly.

“And there is this person who said he was a scholar. “It’s Ahyeon.”

“…”

“So anyway let’s ask Sun Ah-hyun a question…”

“Over there.”

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth with a pale face.

“I… I never said that.”

“…!!”

what?

* * *

The foundation of a dark cult.

The people surrounding him are struggling under endless revelations.

“I have a different job.”

“yes??”

How on earth is it possible for a participant to reveal their true occupation in this game?!

Raebin Kim was shocked once again.

I can’t believe something like this is happening to Ahyeon!

‘Brothers Se-jin Bae and Se-jin Lee are claiming to be lawyers.’

‘You said Brother Moon Dae is a doctor.’

He quickly organized the current situation in his head.

therefore…

————————=

Testa’s job (claim)

Ryu Cheong-woo – ?

Bae Se-jin – Attorney

Seon Ah-hyeon – Scholar

Sejin Lee – Attorney

Moon-Dae Park – Doctor

Raebin Kim – Reporter

Cha Yujin – ?

————————=

This is what each person claims.

And there was rampant sniping at each other.

Even Seon Ah-hyun who was recently exposed is saying that she is not a ‘scholar’!

“Then what job do you have?”

“Well I have the ability to know other people’s occupations.”

“omg.”

“And… I checked the door frame with that… and I found something.”

Sun Ah-hyun said with a determined expression.

“Moondae is not a doctor.”

“…!!”

“I lied about my job…!”

also?

Raebin Kim turned his head as if his neck was going to break.

‘Brother Moondae is definitely… ’

-First of all I am a doctor.

Bae Se-jin also had a similar expression.

“…Park Moon-dae?”

“…”

Park Mun-dae did not answer. And Sun Ah-hyun continued speaking.

“The doctor said he was a doctor… but he wasn’t.”

“I’m a doctor.”

“Oh no…!”

Sun Ah-hyun looked as if she would burst into tears at any moment but she spoke firmly.

“Moondae is an undertaker.”

“…!!”

“what!?”

For a moment shock struck the room once again.

-undertaker?

Raebin Kim turned his head.

I had to stay calm. Make sure to check it out!

‘Mundae hyung’s reaction… ’

“…”

Are you very calm?

Are you feeling a little… shy?

Park Mun-dae scratched his head.

“Hmm… Even undertakers end up as doctors. So wouldn’t it be right to be a doctor?”

“…”

Everyone was speechless.

“hey!”

“No… it just looks like a mafia game so I thought it would be strange to be so honest in the beginning.”

Park Mun-dae scratched his cheek. The tension collapsed in an instant.

“What are you talking about?”

“There is a saying that even bad laws are laws. So undertakers are also doctors.”

“I’m going crazy…”

“You’re an idiot!”

Park Moon-dae shamelessly muttered with an expression like ‘Anyway I didn’t lie’ and people turned upside down.

Bae Se-jin is almost screaming now.

“Anyway then you admit it? What is an undertaker?! What kind of job do you do? Do you have to fool people?!”

“No it’s not like that it’s just that… they say you can contact dead people. “I don’t know how to use it since no one has died yet.”

“Ugh.”

“I actually found out about that during the mid-term inspection. I told you. “I don’t know that ability.”

“Ugh…”

Park Moon-dae did not look like his feet were numb. This is just an impulse strategy I used in the beginning.

Bae Se-jin groaned and then shouted.

“Then you should have told me when I started this!”

“I was going to do it but now two lawyers have come out and Ah-hyeon is in a mess of lying about her job so I thought it would be buried even if I revealed it.”

“…”

That’s right.

With that look on his face Bae Se-jin was convinced and Kim Rae-bin was also half convinced.

“and.”

Park Moon-dae turned his head.

And then I looked straight at Kim Rae-bin.

“…!”

“I think the occupations Sejin mentioned are quite persuasive.”

“That’s right.”

“I’m not sure if that’s a lawyer’s ability.”

“hey!”

Brother Bae Se-jin’s rebuttal flowed naturally and Park Moon-dae fired back in an instant.

Raebin Kim to herself.

“So Ravin. “Are you sure you’re a reporter?”

“…”

There was silence.

He bit his lip.

‘That’s it.’

And the moment Raebin Kim opened his mouth…

“Wait! “We have lost our purpose!”

“…!”

This time Cha Yu-jin who had been quiet intervened!

“Our goal is to find out who the sacrifice is and who the culprit is. So what’s important is something else.”

“uh?”

“What is that?”

Cha Yu-jin asked without hesitation.

“How did you exchange your card?”

“…!”

“[The important thing is to get the order right!] So we need information from everyone. You can’t think about suspicious people in advance. Then prejudice arises.”

“Uhm…”

It was organized by Park Moon-dae.

“Then what you’re saying is let’s organize the card exchange details

first.”

“Yes!”

“…That makes sense.”

“Well definitely.”

Quite a few members nodded but Park Moon-dae added calmly.

“But I think it’s best not to give up doubt. “It seemed to me that Eugene was protecting Ravine.”

“Ha?”

“I agree too～”

“okay. “Let’s organize the exchange details first and make sure to ask Ravin again.”

“…All right!”

Raebin Kim answered bravely.

Still he planned to do his best to get as far as he could.

-It is better to hide your identity.

This is because Raebin Kim did not forget the advice written in the job profile she received.

“Okay then let’s sort it out.”

Meanwhile one by one the members began to organize in chronological order what they had witnessed while exchanging cards at the entrance.

“The first time… Moon Dae and Ahyeon exchanged right?”

“okay.”

“Next Cha Yu-jin exchanged with Chung-woo.”

Then the alarm rang and everyone went back to the room they started in and checked their cards…

After that.

“Is this the end of the second half?”

“I think so.”

To summarize it is like this.

————————=

1. Sun Ah-hyun <-> Park Moon-dae

2. Cha Yu-jin <-> Ryu Cheong-woo

[Interim inspection]

3. Ryu Cheong-woo <-> Bae Se-jin

4. Cha Yu-jin <-> Park Moon-dae

————————=

Just 4 times.

“I put a person with a coin in front of me. So the person who recommended it.”

“All right!”

Raebin Kim nodded.

“Brothers~ You said you were going to heat up chicken but you ended up exchanging it! Could it be that you did it suspiciously and secretly?”

“Because you’re making such a fuss! You did it quickly when you went to the bathroom. “All the other kids saw it.”

“oh my god.”

There was another argument-like joke going on next to him but he thought hard.

‘Then the suspect is in here… Is that how it appears to people?’

Of course even if we did that there were only 5 people.

Kim Rae-bin’s eyes were rolling in this strange situation where she who lied about her job was among the excluded few.

“Well did you exchange anything other than what you just said?”

There was silence in response to Sejin Lee’s question. The smile on his face deepened.

“Then… the person who said he had a bad card during the mid-term inspection? “It’s the sacrificial mark!”

“…”

There was still no answer.

It was that moment.

“I knew.”

“…!”

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand with her eyes shining.

“Offerings during mid-term inspection? “The person who had the card is a mafia.”

“…!”

“Because he doesn’t show up now. That means I don’t want to give away my exchange records.”

This meant that if he wasn’t the culprit he would definitely have cooperated and found out who the exchange went to and the order of the exchange.

“ah…!”

The members were momentarily impressed.

but.

“It could be the other way around. Cha Yu-jin!”

“Umm?”

Raebin Kim responded in a cautious voice.

“The person who had the offering card at the time did not exchange it so it may still be an offering.”

“Oh”

The sacrifice survives along with the culprit only if the guessing of the culprit fails.

There was a clear reason for the sacrifice to keep its mouth shut!

“Ah but the sacrifice now is a scholar～”

Sejin Lee said as if something suddenly occurred to her.

“If viewers were to vote don’t you think they would have chosen scholar as the profession they would kill for here? You end up choosing a job that stands out more. Right Mundaemundae?”

“That’s right.”

Park Moon-dae nodded lightly. And Bae Se-jin also responded.

“Yes Park Moon-dae said that…! “I think the first vote would have been either a detective or a clown.”

“Um yeah.”

So it clearly meant that he was among the exchanged people.

“Ah I guess it can be done like this.”

Sejin Lee grinned.

“The person who exchanged it early before the mid-term inspection may have taken it as is.”

“…!”

“Then it’s a sacrifice like Ravin said!”

It was that moment.

“ah…!”

“…?”

Sun Ah-hyun covered her mouth.

‘What happened?’

It was just when Kim Rae-bin was looking at Sun Ah-hyun and was about to worry.

“it’s me.”

“…??”

“I… think I handed over an offering to Mundae.”

Sun Ah-hyun said with a blank face.

“I’m a detective…”

“…!!”

And Sun Ah-hyun straightened her body.

“But Moon Dae is not a scholar. So… the sign of sacrifice was handed over to someone who was a scholar.”

“…”

Raebin Kim checked the exchange list.

After the mid-term inspection the exchange of Park Moon-dae…

4. Cha Yu-jin <-> Park Moon-dae

“…!”

If this is true.

‘no way.’

Cha Yu-jin was the sacrifice.

‘Brother Moon Dae is the culprit and Cha Yu-jin is the sacrificial scholar…!’

Now that Kim Rae-bin realized that he didn’t know Cha Yu-jin’s occupation he clenched his fist and thought.

‘If this is true… should I act?’

He was still waiting for an opportunity to use his ‘job skills’!

his abilities.

– When sniping the correct ‘culprit’ you can kill him instead of sacrificing him.

Shoot the criminal.

That’s right.

Raebin Kim’s occupation was ‘sheriff’.

Chapter 490

Raebin Kim once again reflected on his professional abilities.

Sheriff.

If he finds the culprit before the game ends he can shoot him!

‘Then we can catch only the culprit and save the members who were sacrificed!’

The original rules of this game are simple.

-Participants can pass offering tokens to each other by exchanging cards.

-Finally if you correctly guess who the culprit who passed the sacrificial mark also known as the black sheep is that culprit and the sacrifice will die.

-If you cannot guess everyone except the culprit and the sacrifice will die.

Deathmatch team battle.

In other words the culprit and the two victims automatically become one team and the remaining five members become one team. Only one side can survive.

However if the sheriff succeeds in shooting the criminal the story will be different.

Rather than both the culprit and the sacrifice being killed the game ended with only the culprit being sacrificed instead.

In other words you can even buy offerings!

Minimal deaths!

It could be seen as the best route.

However there was a condition.

-If the sheriff shoots the wrong ‘criminal’ the innocent person will be immediately sacrificed.

Even if Kim Rae-bin accidentally shot someone who was not the criminal the person who was shot would die.

Burnt offering that is burning to death on that coffin-shaped altar.

So we had to catch the right culprit the first time.

‘Let’s do our best!’

Raebin Kim internally clenched his fists.

And in the meantime the situation in the room was falling further into shock and confusion.

Sun Ah-hyun’s revelation!

“So you’re a detective?”

“…And when you exchanged cards with Moon Dae it seems like the sacrifice token was passed over?”

“Ugh.”

For the first time since the mystery began Sejin who had the same name stopped fighting and started asking questions to Seon Ah-hyeon all at once.

And both of them had strange expressions.

“Then if what you say is right…”

———————=

1. Sun Ah-hyun <-> Park Moon-dae

2. Cha Yu-jin <-> Ryu Cheong-woo

[Interim inspection]

3. Ryu Cheong-woo <-> Bae Se-jin

4. Cha Yu-jin <-> Park Moon-dae

———————=

Based on this order the person Park Moon-dae exchanged with after exchanging with Sun Ah-hyun was…

Last 4 times.

4. Cha Yu-jin <-> Park Moon-dae

Everyone turned their heads.

“Cha Yujin.”

1 hour before card exchange ends.

Cha Yu-jin who found a new coin near the entrance exchanged a few words with Park Moon-dae and completed the exchange in an instant!

Raebin Kim also swallowed his saliva.

‘really…?’

However the person involved Cha Yu-jin… had a distraught expression.

“I’m not a sacrifice. Because I’m not a scholar.”

“…!?”

“I can swear. “I swear.”

It was very fine.

The members were a little embarrassed.

“Then what is your job?”

“I am a doctor.”

“…?!”

The members began to murmur at Cha Yu-jin’s outspoken words.

“Well as soon as it turns out that Mundae is an undertaker and not a doctor? “The timing of this is a bit strange~”

“I didn’t know that Mundae-hyung was a doctor! I was just quiet. “I tried to find the answer by observing what the members said.”

Bae Se-jin asked carefully.

“Can you prove it?”

“No one can prove their job. But I’m a doctor! “If there is anyone here who is a doctor please come out and talk.”

“…”

“No one is talking. I know why. Because I’m the doctor!”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders. The majesty certainly seemed real…

‘Really?’

Then I had to reason again.

Who on earth is a scholar and who is a criminal? Kim Rae-bin tried to think again.

It was then.

Park Moon-dae was silent for a moment as if he was lost in thought but then he placed his hand on his chin and opened his mouth.

“…Ahyeon said you were a detective.”

“…Ugh.”

“Then… even if it is true that you are a detective there are other possibilities.”

“Which one…?”

“I became the first sacrifice based on viewer votes. “Maybe he’s a clown and not a detective.”

“…!!”

That’s right.

What if the starting point of the spinning sacrificial token is not a detective but a clown?

“So… this is what I’m thinking.”

Park Moon-dae turned his head.

“Among the suspicious people who still seem to lie for a living there is only one candidate who has a card exchange record.”

And he naturally looked at the person in question.

Bae Se-jin.

“…!!”

“brother. “After the mid-term inspection I exchanged it with Chungwoo.”

Bae Se-jin opened his eyes wide.

“And you said that Kim Rae-bin claims to be a reporter even though there is no reporter among your profession? “But Raebin Kim has no record of card exchange.”

“…”

“My brother claimed that Lee Se-jin is a clown and not a lawyer but even Lee Se-jin has no record of the exchange.”

So among the people who were not able to secure a job and were controversial Bae Se-jin was the only one with a record of exchanging cards!

‘That’s impossible!’

Raebin Kim opened his mouth and looked at Sejin Bae.

“for a moment.”

Bae Se-jin responded in as calm a tone as possible.

“Cha Yu-jin just speaks with confidence but there is no evidence. “The other person may be a doctor and remain silent due to a professional mission.”

“Hmm.”

“And… yes! Cha Yu-jin also exchanged cards with Ryu Cheong-woo once before Park Moon-dae. “If Cheongwoo was a clown and as you said the clown was initially sacrificed based on viewer votes…”

Liu Chengwu raised his hand and answered with an embarrassed expression.

“Hmm… But in the end Yujin exchanged cards with Mundae. “Then the sacrificial token is moved from Yujin to Mundae?”

It was accurate.

“Then the College of Arts should be a sacrifice but it is impossible because the profession of the College of Arts is an undertaker not a scholar.”

“ah.”

In the end it was a contradiction. Because there is a mismatch in final occupation.

‘It’s impossible.’

Raebin Kim swallowed.

“It would be strange even if Eugene was a clown and had a sacrifice card in the beginning. “The token is passed on to you through me who exchanged cards.”

“…”

“Sejin are you a scholar? “The final sacrifice.”

Bae Se-jin’s face hardened in response to Ryu Cheong-woo’s question.

“It can’t be! And that means you are the culprit! “Because you were the last one to exchange!”

“huh. So that’s not it. “Then since we’re on the same team there’s no way we’re prying into each other like this.”

Liu Chengyu continued to speak calmly.

“And Sejin. “Didn’t you keep insisting that Lee Se-jin was a clown earlier?”

“…”

That was correct.

Until now Bae Se-jin and Lee Se-jin had been fighting fiercely over the job of a lawyer both calling each other clowns…

Now it’s a bit hard to suspect someone else of being a clown.

In the end Bae Se-jin fell silent.

“Really… Hey Sejin Lee! Be honest about your occupation! “I can’t reason!”

“…after! Brother you are really good at acting! Wow you really speak honestly right?”

“Ugh!”

Lee Se-jin also looked as if a vein would sprout from his forehead. He explained cruelly with a smiling face.

“In the first place even if I were a clown it would be impossible for me to pass the sacrificial token in the middle~ I didn’t exchange it.”

“…”

That’s right. One of the unique names not on the card record exchange table was Lee Se-jin!

‘The other one is me… ’

Raebin Kim swallowed.

Sejin Lee's kind explanation continued.

"But now the final sacrifice occupation is 'scholar' right?"

He was neither a detective nor a clown who were likely to be chosen by vote.

The final sacrifice's occupation is a scholar!

"Whether viewers voted for a detective or a clown the person with that job is not a sacrifice now right? "It means that the certificate was handed over in exchange for a card."

"…"

"I don't know how it goes around but ultimately it goes to a scholar."

Lee Se-jin's words had no logical flaws. Kim Rae-bin also nodded his head involuntarily.

'I see.'

If so Lee Se-jin and himself who have no records of exchange are really innocent!

"So… Cha Yu-jin is a scholar and it's true that Park Moon-dae handed it over to Cha Yu-jin!"

"I'm not a scholar. "There are definitely other possibilities."

"So I'm not the criminal either…"

"…"

There was silence.

No one seemed to be lying.

Even Park Moon-dae said this.

"…Surely the viewers chose a scholar from the beginning?"

"Did the production crew try something?"

"Hmm."

The depressed members looked like their bones were all in pain now.

This is because the occupations were mixed and the number of cases did not match.

However Raebin Kim knew one more piece of information about her job.

One piece of information that no one knows.

Just yourself.

'I am the sheriff!'

From there I started filling in the blanks.

Raebin Kim clasped his hands together.

The two men with the same name fought over the same job each claiming the other was a clown and he was a lawyer.

'Let's assume that whoever it is is using correct reasoning and telling the truth.'

If so the table can be easily completed.

He slowly remembered everyone's testimony and matched people and occupations.

If you erase it using the erasing method…

“…”

There is only one space left.

He realized.

“…!”

Raebin Kim took a deep breath. And called a person’s name.

The remaining people.

“Brother Cheongwoo.”

“huh?”

Raebin Kim turned to him and remembered the ticket he had made.

It matches members and occupations.

————————=

1. Ryu Cheong-woo – ?

2. Bae Se-jin – lawyer (or clown)

3. Sun Ah-hyun – Detective

4. Lee Se-jin – Lawyer (or Clown)

5. Park Moon-dae – Undertaker

6. Kim Rae-bin – Sheriff

7. Cha Yu-jin – Doctor

———————=

If you fill it out like this you end up with one question mark.

And… there is one job left.

If you put it there it will look like this.

———————=

1. Liu Chengwu – Scholar

———————=

‘ah.’

In this case there is no contradiction in the professional testimony!

The first contradictory job information available.

‘This is where we have to start reasoning!’

Now I have to say it.

Raebin Kim opened his mouth resolutely.

“I am the sheriff.”

“…”

“So your brother is a scholar!”

“…!!”

“We matched all the professional testimonies. And… the only thing left is my brother.”

Raebin Kim explained the table he made diligently. I felt that the members were paying great attention to what they were saying.

“…That’s it!”

“…”

Raebin Kim took a breath.

‘Will you believe it?’

He looked around with eager eyes.

And… Park Moon-dae raised his hand.

“Wait a minute what is the probability that Bae Se-jin or Lee Se-jin are not clowns?”

“that…”

“It feels a little inaccurate to me. “Because there is no evidence.”

That can’t be possible.

Raebin Kim was shocked and was about to become depressed.

“for a moment.”

“…!”

Bae Se-jin narrowed his eyes and intervened.

“Park Moon-dae… aren’t you protecting Ryu Cheong-wu? “It feels that way.”

“yes? “What do you mean…”

“That’s right.”

“…!”

Seon Ah-hyeon also calmly intervened.

“Originally if it were a liberal arts college I think I would have said… let’s think about it. Because Ravin said it with courage.”

“hmm. “They might be trying to deceive you.”

“Ravin…?”

“…”

Everyone was silent.

‘uh?’

Kim Rae-bin was a little embarrassed but Bae Se-jin nodded loudly.

“okay. If Ravine is the sheriff he must have been trying to pass off his job as a reporter because of some mission or ability. “Rather it’s easier for me to understand.”

“Sejin hyung…”

“Sheriff just sounds like a good job. “They probably tried to hide it because their role was like a police officer.”

Raebin Kim was very moved!

But Park Moon-dae was calm.

“yes. That’s why I hope this is true… If Cheong-woo is a scholar the culprit is immediately identified based on the exchange records.”

“what…?”

“Brother.”

"…!!"

3. Ryu Cheong-woo <-> Bae Se-jin

"Cheongwoo's last exchange record is with Bae Sejin."

Bae Se-jin's face turned pale.

And Kim Rae-bin also realized this.

'Then if we assume that Bae Se-jin is a clown… '

Clown Bae Se-jin was first sacrificed and handed it over to scholar Liu Cheng-wu!

Everything fit exactly!

'Oh my god.'

It was a moment when he was wondering whether he should prepare to shoot in embarrassment.

Someone raised their hand and shouted.

"That's strange!"

"…!"

It was Cha Yu-jin.

The guy spoke clearly.

"Then Bae Se-jin would have opposed Kim Rae-bin's story. "I don't want to get caught."

"…"

"But Sejin was the first to tell me to trust him. But Moon Dae was against it. So Moon Dae is more suspicious."

"…"

"Isn't it possible that Moon Dae exchanged cards in secret?"

"…!!"

iced coffee!

'Yes if you secretly exchanged cards without telling anyone… '

Kim Rae-bin who was trying to think like that soon realized the reality.

'…uh?'

And then a small laugh was heard.

It was Park Moon-dae.

"It's impossible."

"…!!"

"As you all know the front door is right in the middle of the two accommodations. This means that it is impossible for people who want to exchange to access it without being detected."

That's right.

The front door was exactly in the center.

If two or more people approach there they will be spotted somehow!

Looking back at Cha Yu-jin Park Moon-dae kindly added something.

"If you try to exchange there it stands out. In fact if more than one person moved everyone monitored them.”

“…Umm.”

Park Moon-dae gave decisive testimony there.

“Besides I’ve never even gone to the front door.”

“what…?”

“After the mid-term inspection it was still in the same area where I started. “You saw it too Sejin.”

That’s right.

After checking whether there was a sacrifice token on the Holo card in the room where each person started during the mid-term inspection.

– Bae Se-jin Park Moon-dae and Kim Rae-bin.

The dorm where these three woke up.

Park Moon-dae did not deviate from that and continued his search.

“…Well why did you do that?”

“I was wondering if there was a way to get rid of bathroom ghosts.”

Park Moon-dae’s explanation that he wondered if the undertaker’s ability to communicate with the dead might be of use was smooth.

“Since my job is an undertaker I wondered if I could talk to ghosts.”

“omg.”

So the conclusion is this.

-Park Moon-dae has never approached the front door since the interim inspection and there is no coin.

therefore…

‘Brother Moon Dae has never attempted an exchange…!’

“In conclusion given the circumstances I am a person who cannot exchange cards.”

“…”

“I think this will convince everyone of my innocence.”

To begin with it was just heartache. Park Moon-dae added that and shrugged his shoulders.

‘…I can’t refute it.’

Raebin Kim looked to the side.

There was a person standing who revealed that his profession was a detective.

His eyes were wide open as if he was in shock.

‘This can’t be right.’

Raebin Kim spoke hastily deliberately trying to encourage him.

“Hey Ah-hyeon. In that case you should also be suspicious of other people who tried to exchange…”

“Oh no.”

“…!!”

“It’s possible. “Even the door…!”

Sun Ah-hyun muttered firmly with a pale face.

Park Mun-dae asked back without any agitation.

“By what means?”

“…”

“I’m sure you’re not going to talk about using a walkie-talkie or anything like that. “The production team is not stupid and could have put something so unfair into a guessing entertainment show.”

Sun Ah-hyun quietly shook her head.

And spoke.

“There’s no need to go to the front door.”

“…?”

“All you have to do is go to the entrance with Moon University’s card…!”

“…ah!!”

Bae Se-jin let out a moment of exclamation. You understand what it means.

And Sun Ah-hyun explained clearly.

“The person who wants to exchange can go to the front door with Park Moon-dae’s card…!”

“…!!”

“okay! And all you have to do is pretend to be passing through the front door and use both cards by yourself to exchange them quickly!”

“Ahhhh!”

The atmosphere heated up in an instant. Raebin Kim also blushed and raised his thumb.

“You are correct!”

“Thank you so much…!”

There is no need for the two of them to go there in person. Seon Ah-hyun smiled slightly after finding the loophole.

But Park Moon-dae… nodded.

“…?”

“That could be possible.”

‘You’re making an admission like this?’

Of course that couldn’t have been the case.

“Then anyone could have done that.”

“…!!”

“I think it’s possible if anyone but me passes the card to the other person.”

It was right.

“…”

For a moment there was silence again.

Lee Se-jin asked while holding back a sigh.

“…Does anyone remember who the members were who were loitering near the entrance?”

“…”

From here on it was a mystery again.

And in fact it was the same even if someone’s testimony came out.

Anyone could give false testimony.

Although everyone emotionally suspects Park Moon-dae to be the culprit they admit that there is nothing more to talk about.

Park Moon-dae was very good at refuting.

‘I see.’

So Raebin Kim realized something.

‘When there is no physical evidence you have to use your sheriff’s skills even more.’

Only then can one avoid the biggest risk that one might encounter during the investigation of the criminal: the annihilation of the remaining five people.

‘I’m just verifying it with the sheriff’s abilities.’

Of course the risk was great. Because if you shoot the wrong criminal an innocent person could die.

And actually… in that case the sheriff dies too.

Raebin Kim remembered the next line of the rule explanation.

-If the sheriff shoots the wrong ‘criminal’ the innocent person will be immediately sacrificed.

-And the sheriff is also sacrificed together.

In other words the sheriff's bullet… he was risking his own life to shoot it.

Still it would be better than pointing the finger at the wrong culprit and having everyone die!

'Now is the time to try.'

Raebin Kim made up his mind.

And I raised my hand.

"…?"

"Raebin Kim?"

he shouted.

"The sheriff is shooting participant Park Moon-dae!"

"…!!"

At that moment a dazzling light effect appeared from the huge coffin in the center.

Chapter 491

Immediately after Sheriff Kim Rae-bin declared that he would shoot ‘Park Moon-dae’.

Jiing!

“Wow!”

“What?!”

Light exploded like a flashlight from the coffin.

The light followed the members round and round like a flashlight or a spotlight creating tension.

Ugh-

Then like roulette it finally stopped at one person.

-The sheriff shoots contestant Park Moon-dae!

Moon-Dae Park.

Right at the person you shot!

“…”

Raebin Kim swallowed his saliva.

Park Mun-dae expressionlessly looked at the light shooting out of the coffin.

Stifling silence filled the room.

and.

[bang!]

“omg!”

A harsh gunshot rang out and several members flinched.

And then the speaker exploded.

A mechanical sound announces.

[Correct answer.]

[The culprit is an undertaker.]

“…!!”

“Wow!!”

The light that was shooting at Park Moon-dae turned red.

[The sheriff shot the criminal.]

I even forgot to breathe.

It was a success…!

‘therefore… ’

Park Moon-dae was the culprit!

“Huh.”

Raebin Kim lost strength in his feet and almost fell.

“Raebin Kim!”

“Ravin what did you just do? “Is this a sheriff’s ability?”

“yes…”

“It’s amazing…!”

In an instant the atmosphere brightened with excitement.

“that! If there was such a thing I would just shoot them one by one at the start of the game!”

‘If you fail two people will die… ’

It was just as Kim Rae-bin was trying to explain that to Bae Se-jin whose face was red.

Before that Park Moon-dae smiled and shrugged his shoulders.

“yes. I lost. “Ravin is amazing.”

“…!!”

“It’s true that any of us can use the entrance trick with two cards by ourselves. Because I was the one who asked Chungwoo for that. “Everything is correct.”

“Huh oh oh!”

“That brother will also become a scholar.”

“Wow that’s awesome!”

oh my god.

Kim Rae-bin looked back at Ryu Cheong-woo. Liu Chengwu was smiling.

‘When exactly?’

It was then.

Park Mun-dae raised his hand and patted the back of Ravine's head.

"There was no evidence but I figured it out. Good job."

"Thank you…"

"So since there is no evidence for this Ravin's job role was important~ This is awesome."

Some members clicked their tongues as they recalled what had happened.

So Moon-Dae Park actually created an unprovable trick using only his brain without using any professional skills.

Seon Ah-hyeon who caught it accurately was also surprised.

"Ahyun played the detective role well."

"Oh no…"

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to look happy for a moment at the compliment but her face soon sank.

"Over there it's Mundae. "I'm sorry… I handed over the sacrificial token to Mundae."

"You probably didn't know either."

"but. There was a reason…"

"…?"

Sun Ah-hyun hesitated for a moment and then answered.

"As a detective… you can find out the other person's occupation by exchanging cards.”

“…!”

“So I tried to find out what kind of job I had before telling Moon University about my job…”

‘iced coffee!’

I see! Brother A-Hyeon wanted to form an alliance with Brother Moon-Dae so he checked in advance.

Raebin Kim nodded in realization.

And the person involved Park Moon-dae also nodded.

“But suddenly an undertaker appears.”

“…”

“…Ugh.”

From there it became a mess.

Moon-Dae Park commented briefly.

“I must have doubted myself first.”

“Hahaha!”

The members burst out laughing.

The atmosphere became much lighter. Words were exchanged here and there as if the game was over.

“Brother it was great!”

“But you guys… when on earth did they exchange??”

“Please check that on the air.”

“haha.”

Liu Chengwu smiled humbly. Bae Se-jin’s face turned bright red.

“No and why on earth did you exchange with Park Moon-dae! “It was a suspicious request to anyone to ask me to do it secretly!”

“I’ll ask you to broadcast that too.”

“Ugh.”

“We will also watch on air to see who is the lawyer between you and Lee Se-jin.”

“What are you waiting for… it’s me!”

“Hey brother are you holding on until the end?”

“hey!”

Bae Se-jin huffed but didn’t seem to be in a bad mood. Because in the end I just laughed.

“Okay anyway… I succeeded!”

“yes.”

I don’t know if I can say that in front of the criminal I caught.

Anyway it was a moment when the atmosphere became softer and the tension eased.

Suddenly the lights in the room went off.

“…!”

And one by one the candles were lit again.

Dark red light.

And then it started blinking mercilessly.

“What is this again?!”

“Oh what a atmosphere!”

An eerie voice began to flow from the speaker.

[Please sacrifice the culprit the black sheep the undertaker.]

“…!”

While the glow of the LED candles turned dark red creating an eerie atmosphere low-quality string ensemble sounds began to flow from the speakers.

An orchestral sound like an amusement park theme song.

[Please burnt the culprit the black sheep the undertaker.]

[Please burnt the culprit the black sheep the undertaker.]

[100 seconds left.]

Kim Rae-bin’s heart skipped a beat.

* * *

Wow it kills the mood.

‘The art team must have worked hard.’

I felt the taste of capital.

I looked around for ways to properly create an atmosphere of fear. Everyone has a bad expression.

‘I’m leaving work.’

Thank you all for your hard work.

“Then I will go. “I hope you all survive until the end.”

“That…”

Liu Chengwu raised his hand.

“Oh me too?”

“Oh no!”

“…?”

Why not?

“The reason I shot Brother Mundae was also with the intention of saving the person who was the sacrifice!”

Kim Rae-bin began to enthusiastically say that if the sheriff finds the criminal the sacrifice will come back to life.

‘In other words instead of sacrifices criminals are thrown onto this pseudo-altar.’

Sheriff was a truly cost-effective job.

I thought it was a loss of balance but as I continued to listen to the explanation Raebin Kim would have exploded if he had pointed out the wrong culprit.

Well on my conscience I was glad it didn’t end up like that…

‘It would have been fun to fail in my guess and shoot someone else.’

No that’s true in entertainment.

It wouldn’t have been such fun if you suddenly found both of them dead at the beginning of the game without knowing what was going on.

Of course it would have been a guessing and wild show and it would have been a completely chaotic piece of entertainment but there was also popular demand for that.

‘I could have given you someone more bold.’

I clicked my tongue at the production team for not manipulating Bae Se-jin into going to the sheriff.

Well thanks to that it ended up like this.

‘Hmm.’

I tapped the coffin with my hand a few times with an ominous red light flowing through it.

Bang bang!

“Then how can I become a sacrifice?”

“Wow that’s creepy.”

Then as if in tune with the chuimsae… the coffin opened automatically.

I’m sorry.

“evil!”

Inside…

“It’s mom.”

“No… put someone here?”

It is a piece of wood with a miserable appearance as if blood has dried.

[60 seconds left.]

Along with that sound the BGM became more bizarre.

Originally the two of us were supposed to go in so I wouldn’t have been too scared of flirting but things turned out like this and I ended up going in alone.

Maybe that’s why the reactions around me changed a bit.

“Ah… this is more real than I thought?”

“Ugh it must be hard to be scared…”

“it’s okay. “What are you doing with this?”

There’s no real body so why make a fuss?

‘I’m going to get food coloring all over my body.’

“Let’s go in.”

I went into the coffin. It wasn’t as sticky as I thought.

‘You can also see an infrared camera over there.’

Well if it’s like this.

“I think this will be closed now… Is Mundaemun University really going to be okay?”

“Are you coming?”

What on earth are you looking at people like?

There’s no way anything would pop out of this narrow space. You can just open your eyes and just stay there.

I nodded with my fists clenched and soon the coffin lid closed.

Tootuk-thud.

The surroundings became dark along with a heavy sound.

But I could hear the sounds outside just fine.

‘It’s better that it’s not soundproof.’

I understood the situation outside as if I was just sitting there with my eyes closed.

First of all that strange mechanical sound coming from the speakers.

[Put a candle on the altar.]

“what??”

“I think we can just take the candles here! oh!”

The coffin rang slightly with a rustling sound. It seemed like the members were putting those strange red-hot LED candles on the coffin lid.

‘You’re asking me to do all kinds of things.’

I crossed my arms.

“what. Can I just upload it?”

“Ah the circle patterns here are the same as the shape of the candle stand?”

“Well then let’s put it up there.”

“OK! “We need 7 candles!”

Soon several vibrations and the sound of moving steps were heard outside the coffin.

“Is it right to do this?”

And after a short silence.

[Burnt offering!]

“Ugh.”

Suddenly a gloomy shout as if several people were speaking together was heard from the speaker and the sound of the wind began to swirl.

And the surroundings became more noisy.

“evil!”

“Oh my…! What the!”

‘Did the bathroom ghost escape?’

Rather it was honey that came into this coffin. It was my moment to nod.

Weeing-

“…?”

A small sound rang out along with vibration from somewhere nearby.

The sound of an engine or device operating.

…It's right by my bedside.

"…"

what.

I turned my head. But there was nothing to be seen in the pitch-black darkness.

'then.'

I stretched out my hand and headed towards the sound.

That time when you feel the rich pigment and wood at your fingertips and slowly move to the side.

Sweet.

"…!!"

for a moment.

'It feels like I pressed a button or something… '

It was that moment.

"Aaaah!"

"What is this!?"

Another violent reaction began to be heard outside. And I gritted my teeth too.

'This crazy production crew!'

The coffin was shaking!

‘what.’

And after 2 seconds.

The floor of the coffin I was lying in began to move downward like an elevator.

“…?!”

Where are we going?

* * *

Testa’s death survival game.

-turned

As soon as the trailer came out fans got excited.

Indiscriminate mystery survival entertainment!

Anyone can see that the atmosphere of fear is chilling which further fuels people’s imagination.

-What is it about a pseudo-religion? It’s a feeling

-Yes the weather is still so hot that it’s perfect to see something scary haha.

-You can only see the voting results live on TV?ㅠㅠ How can we wait for two weeks…

And as if responding to the response a new video appeared before half a day had passed.

-New trailer is out (link)

It was a trailer that showed the members’ surprised expressions embarrassed reactions and all kinds of crazy effects in short cut scenes.

An exciting thrill with a clear concept!

[The first sacrifice token you receive is determined by the votes of your sponsors.]

[Bae Se-jin: Sponsor…?]

[Voting results from fans who love you]

Moreover what they voted on just half a day ago is even shown in the trailer!

-Oh I'm going crazy.

-I really think the kid we voted for is going to die. ㅠㅠ

The people who were so immersed worked hard and worked overtime to create a short trailer that ended with huge subtitles.

[Coming soon]

Fans screamed again at the subtitle that appeared along with the live broadcast time notification.

[Authentic Death Survival]

[How many Testa members will survive?]

-Ahhhh

– look at the scale

-The kids' expressions look like they're really immersed in it. It's already fun.

Fans who like this kind of thing left comments like crazy feeling helpless from the dopamine stimulation.

And a week later.

-The pre-release of Mundae is here!!

The teasers that were released one by one for each Testa member have finally come to Park Moon-dae's turn.

-Oh I will memorize this BGM.

-My heart is racing

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠI wanted to see you use your head. Oh I love it.

So far strategic image teasers have been released to introduce the suspenseful genre entertainment so Park Moon-dae's fans also clicked on the video in anticipation of such a scene…

In just 3 seconds the magnificent video BGM suddenly disappears and the screen changes dramatically.

-??

A character who appears with a somewhat clumsy funny but soulful solo recorder BGM.

It was Park Moon-dae who was opening his profile in bed.

The narration was laid out.

[Park Moon-dae: Being a doctor is a good job.]

[Park Moon-dae: I think we can save the members.]

-Oh I guess he's a doctor at Mundae University.

-Oh wait a minute Eugene is also a doctor?

□?? What is it? Jjinim?

People were puzzled!

However Park Moon-dae who was perusing the profile with a serious expression stopped the moment he turned the next page.

[?]

He looked at the back page and then quickly flipped to the front page quickly checking the documents back and forth.

And then I burst out laughing.

[her…]

A huge exclamation point appears above Park Mun-dae and displays his profile.

Leading the way.

[Your occupation is a doctor.]

And the back page.

[Now please add a modifier in front of it.]

[page]

-???

[You are an undertaker.]

It was a sudden drip.

On the screen Park Moon-dae pointed his forehead.

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-Why is Park Moon-dae the only entertainer to be convinced of?

-No Mundaengdang haha Tibet again haha.

-Isn't it a scam? Testa is also a star so it makes sense that the undertaker is also a doctor.

Crazy guy hahahahaha

[Park Moon-dae: I knew then.]

[Park Moon-dae: I believed it but I was fooled again.]

Interview cuts have been inserted.

Behind Park Moon-dae who was looking into space the image of Park Moon-dae who had been deceived in Testa's own entertainment shows passed translucently…

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

It was funnier because he was an intelligent character.

The mournful recorder touched my heart.

and.

[Park Moon-dae: I can't believe I'm being caught again like this.]

[Park Moon-dae: I can't do it because it's unfair.]

[Park Moon-dae: I have to catch it too.]

Park Moon-dae chose to move forward quickly.

-…???

-What is this?

And the first introduction scene.

Park Moon-dae spoke confidently.

[I am a doctor.]

[Park Moon-dae: That's how it happened.]

-???Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-You crazy guy.

That's how Park Moon-dae's massive doctor troll began.

At least that's how it seemed to people.

There was only one week left until Park Moon-dae who had positioned himself as a comedy character with confidence was revealed as the culprit at the last minute and viewers screamed in betrayal.

Chapter 492

Testa's Death Game Survival.

The long-awaited live broadcast.

[We state that the people products and organizations that appear in this program are fictitious and have nothing to do with reality.]

The program began by creating an atmosphere with a very meaningful phrase.

and.

[Bae Se-jin: What the hell is this place… is this our accommodation?]

One by one the members woke up in the same gaming room as Testa's previous dorm.

Of course even though the set is eerie the fact that it recreates the dormitories of first-tier idols in an extremely similar way is also a selling point.

-oh

-Is this a crazy real Testa accommodation?

-amazing

-Is this a true story where a house is revealed through a horror show?

Since Testa had already moved to another place and there was no burden of invasion of privacy fans' interest soared without hesitation.

And this background was a good device for immersing oneself in the members' shoes.

[Kim Rae-bin:… the light does not come on.]

-Oh I'm already scared.

-I would be really surprised if I suddenly woke up in my previous accommodation.

-The kids seem to be creeped out by Jjin?

It was main writer Ryu Seo-rin's plan.

'A program like this should start by making people understand exactly how the characters feel.'

Since Ryu Seo-rin who attaches great importance to the narrative and the character's perspective was the main writer the editing points were also similar.

First of all the circumstances of the three people were openly shown.

'It's a signal to immerse yourself in this.'

The first one is Bae Se-jin a lawyer.

[Bae Se-jin: 'Your profession is a lawyer.']

[Bae Se-jin: And the job mission… 'Make three or more people believe in my job and abilities.']

Here Bae Se-jin played the role of the main character.

This is because viewers also knew as much information as Bae Se-jin as they knew what kind of job the lawyer character had in the first place.

[Bae Se-jin: I am a lawyer… and I know what jobs there are.]

[Seon Ah-hyun: !!]

Viewers either believed or doubted the members from the perspective of Bae Se-jin who was carrying out the mission.

-Hey Raebin Kim why do you call yourself a reporter? There's no reporter on the job list.

-It feels uncomfortable;

-How many people did you tell just now? After Mundae Ahyeon and now Cheongwoo?

Ahyeon is a bit strong…

In this way the direction of viewers' suspicion is naturally adjusted.

And when Bae Se-jin's point of view becomes boring a second character's point of view appears.

This is doctor Cha Yu-jin.

[Bae Se-jin: Guys!]

Cha Yoo-jin described how the four people in the dorm proceeded immediately after the dramatic encounter at the entrance with another dorm team.

-Wow I'm writing that when I open the front door I'm not escaping but I'm scared to come back to the same dorm… Wait a minute is this lodging really bombed? Why are you like this lol

-They completely changed their accommodations.

-Does the fact that Eugene is a doctor mean that he doesn't make patients by crushing his enemies?

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋ Breaking down the amazing door of quarterback Eugene's car!

-Hey how can you form a team and divide it like this? If you tie Baemun Lab and four of them together the balance and exploration skills will be poor haha.

And there was one more role for Cha Yu-jin.

-I'm curious about Eugene's reaction when he meets a fake doctor haha.

That's right.

The last member whose occupation the production team told viewers about from the beginning.

[Park Moon-dae (undertaker) ← impersonating a doctor]

…Park Moon-dae who has been caught as an undertaker and is running a scam as a doctor.

By openly revealing the doctor Cha Yu-jin the relationship between fake and real is also clearly illuminated.

Of course it was thoroughly edited for humor.

– Hahahahahahahahaha

-Are you crazy for trolling?

Park Moon-dae was telling all kinds of people how to be a doctor but Cha Yu-jin who is a real doctor was lucky enough to not say anything which caused people to burst into laughter.

It seemed as if the role was to ventilate the heavy and persistent atmosphere.

[Park Moon-dae: I am a doctor.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Hmm I see.]

[Cha Yujin ← I didn't hear it!]

Cha Yu-jin who was passing by the two people having a conversation said '← I didn't hear you!' The thing floating around with subtitles was a gag from a genre of entertainment full of tension.

– Hahahahahahahahaha

-Hey I wonder when Cha Yu-jin will catch it haha.

-Ah I'm avoiding this haha.

'Mundae is cute!'

A graduate student who was unable to watch episodes 1 and 2 that were released simultaneously here and was barely catching up with the progress on WeTube was watching it that way.

Of course the reason I couldn't see the actual show was because I was rotting away in the lab working hard to become a Cheokcheok doctor not a Cheokcheok master…

'I have to pass the thesis examination next year and get a job!'

So her goal was to use that money to travel the world by following Testa's world tour.

But for now I felt good just watching Testa's content on this sweet weekend.

She rolled over on the bed once.

'This genre…? 'It's my first time watching a variety show.'

Fortunately the production team clearly indicated the occupations and exchanges with pictures so it was easier to understand.

…although it was a bit scary to see the red sheep skull popping up.

[※When exchanging a card using the front door device※]

[※Each job remains the same and only transfers the sacrifice token to the opponent※]

‘Oh so the person chosen by the viewers is not immediately eliminated but the cards are exchanged? Through that we can pass each other over.’

She realized roughly and nodded. In the end as the offerings were exchanged the last person caught died.

Of course what I was curious about was this.

‘So what profession did viewers choose?’

Surprisingly a cut was inserted right before the question was asked.

[Wait a moment here]

“…??”

[Special preview only for viewers!]

[The occupation of the sacrifice you voted for in advance is…]

“Uh huh?”

Huge letters popped up on the screen.

[Detective – 20347 votes]

“omg!”

The graduate student was momentarily embarrassed.

‘Can I tell you this?’

Or rather who is the detective?

“Well first of all except for Eugene the undertaker who is asking questions and Se-jin Bae who is a doctor is a lawyer…”

He was one of the other four members!

[Detective candidates: Ryu Cheong-woo Sun Ah-hyeon Lee Se-jin Kim Rae-bin]

[Who is the detective?]

It was a moment of nodding to the production team who created and showed me a four-quarter face cut.

“…?”

The screen changed again.

[※Announcement of correct answer※]

Huh?

[Ryu Cheong-woo: I see. Ahyeon is a detective.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: And the viewers chose a detective.]

“…??”

It’s mid-term inspection time.

To the scene of Liu Chengwu reading his tablet.

[Detective: Seon Ah-hyun / ※1st place in voting※]

And Ryu Cheong-woo’s profile document is cross-edited.

“…!”

[scholar]

[The scholar can know the first occupation chosen as a sacrifice and information about the participants with that occupation.]

[However scholars cannot talk about their jobs and abilities.]

That's right.

Scholar Liu Chengwu.

Due to his professional skills he already knew during the mid-term inspection that Sun Ah-hyeon was a detective and that she had been selected as a sacrifice.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Then the door that Ahyeon and I exchanged cards with is now a sacrifice.]

And the sacrificial token was handed over to Park Moon-dae!

Liu Chengwu knows everything.

People were excited about that hot route!

-Wow it's crazy.

-Ryu Cheong-woo knows everything but can't say it lol

-If this happens Cheong-woo will have to carry the case at trial but the key is whether the kids will believe what Cheong-woo says.

But I can't tell you how I knew.

-Anyway it's a guess. I figured it out. Should I insist that I'm right?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

People chewed popcorn with excitement anticipating Liu Chengwu's hardships and hard carry.

And after the interim inspection was over.

[Park Moon-dae: Eugene did you find gold again?]

[Cha Yujin: Yeap!]

[Park Moon-dae: Hmm… there isn't much left until the end so if I don't use it it will disappear.]

[Cha Yu-jin: Wow…]

Park Moon-dae appeared and created a strange humorous atmosphere.

He made Cha Yu-jin's assumption that 'if you don't use the gold now it will disappear' as a fait accompli and gently coaxed him into suggesting a card exchange.

[Cha Yu-jin: Then will you trade with me?]

[Park Moon-dae: Um… are you sure it's not you?]

[Cha Yujin: Yes!]

[Park Moon-dae:… Good. Then believe it and do it.]

[LOL]

The fake doctor caught the real doctor!

Successfully handing over the bomb!

-lol

-Goodbye Cha Yu-jin!

-The undertaker is even defrauding the real doctor.

-Ah Park Moon-dae this shameless dog even spent Cha Yu-jin's money to exchange cards haha.

however.

[End of exchange]

[Professions that currently have the sacrifice mark]

[※scholar※]

-???

-What is this?

-Why is Cheongwoo a sacrifice?;;

When it was revealed that scholar Ryu Cheong-wu was the sacrifice the viewers' grill was thrown into chaos again.

-What?

-Wait a minute who was the person you exchanged with Cheongwoo at the end?

□Bae Se-jin

□…? You're lawyer Bae Se-jin what are you talking about?

ㄴㅇㅇI would have only exchanged it with Cheongwoo;;;

And in the midst of the chaos the members began to suspect each other and entered into a full-fledged detective phase in order to find the 'black sheep' who was the last to hand over the sacrifice.

The viewers were also guessing.

-So Bae Se-jin is the black sheep? At the end Cheongwoo traded with

Bae Sejin.

I'm not sure. Maybe we just didn't show a few exchanges. Do we see a twist or two in the Testa variety show?

– No in the first place Park Moon-dae handed it over to Cha Yu-jin but why is it suddenly in Ryu Cheong-woo's hands?

It was then.

[Bae Se-jin: Wait! I have something to say first.]

Among the members who were trying to reason around the altar Bae Se-jin began to work hard to solve the introduction by revealing his occupation.

-That's right let's tell you everything now.

-You're good at your mission haha.

– Helpful in reasoning about Sejin's lawyer job mission. Good boy good boy.

Because it was something viewers had seen several times it was time to relieve some of the tension and calm down.

Sejin Lee broke in.

[Lee Se-jin: It's strange. I'm a lawyer?]

-yes??

-I don't know anymore you Testa bastards.

-Not only Park Moon-dae is deceiving Lee Se-jin is also deceiving.

-Sejin kekekekekekekekekekekekekekekekekekeke.

That was when all the people who believed it was Lee Se-jin's trolling turned around.

Bae Se-jin with a serious face was suddenly brought into close-up.

And the interview is inserted.

[Bae Se-jin: When Lee Se-jin said she was a lawyer.]

[Bae Se-jin: I knew then.]

-?

-What do you know?

-Sejin?

[Bae Se-jin: I may have mistaken my occupation.]

-??

[Bae Se-jin: I also knew a little bit about the characteristics of each job. however…]

There is a flashback of Bae Se-jin carefully reading her profile document.

And then there was a close-up of the document.

Edit a spotlight on a job in the job information section.

-clown: imitating other people's occupations

[Bae Se-jin: This is me.]

"…!"

[Bae Se-jin: As I listened to Lee Se-jin's story I thought my skills were a bit too much for a lawyer.]

[Bae Se-jin: I think I am mistakenly thinking that I am a lawyer.]

[Bae Se-jin: Then since you were mistaken you automatically imitate the lawyer.]

At the scene there was a natural scene where Bae Se-jin angrily retorted to Lee Se-jin and expressed frustration by saying that she was a lawyer.

After that the narrations overlapped.

[Bae Se-jin: There is no evidence but yes. I felt like I was a clown.]

-Mimimi crazy

-Ouch

Everyone was astonished.

-This is the acting skills of a genius child actor haha.

-I'm really tired.

-Oh aren't you crazy?? Bae Se-jin must be crazy

Meanwhile Bae Se-jin was insisting on screen that he was an innocent lawyer as if possessed.

-So Sejin Lee is a talented lawyer?

First of all Bae Se-jin believes that but is still doing it haha.

It turned

-Wow even though I know everything Bae Se-jin looks really unfair haha.

It was the actor's power.

In the midst of that shock the broadcast gained new momentum and continued forward.

The mentality of 'someone might hit me in the back again!'

And the moment when after much reasoning and reasoning the criminal's trick was finally revealed it was the moment that made the backs of viewers' heads hurt the most.

Exactly… because that was Park Moon-dae.

[yes. I lost. Ravin is amazing.]

The undertaker who seemed to be humorously trolling the whole time!

-I'm going crazy…

-You made me laugh for this reason.

-They let us off guard and committed such heinous acts.

Viewers who had exhausted all their energy could no longer laugh.

-When trying to deduce that the exchange between Mundae and Yujin at the last minute must have been a fake I wanted to make the movement of the sacrificial offering back and forth more confusing.

ㄴㅋIt's awesome really.

-Wow then Ryu Cheong-woo also exchanged with Bae Se-jin first to confuse people and then received a sacrificial bomb from Park Moon-dae?

No why would he want to become a sacrifice? Haha isn't this person just deceived?

How can you be tricked by doing the trick of taking both cards by yourself? I think it's true that he cooperated…

And the overly engrossed fans started pouring out long speculations like crazy.

It was then.

The narration was laid out.

[Park Moon-dae: I think it went well.]

-??

-I got caught what are you talking about?

Park Moon-dae's interview was inserted and the scene suddenly stopped.

And the screen suddenly changes with the effect of a film running.

[◀◀◀]

[Park Moon-dae's room at the start of filming]

In the scene that went back Park Moon-dae was seen reading his own profile.

Park Moon-dae tilted his head.

[Park Moon-dae: Criminal?]

And there was a close-up of the undertaker's backstory in the profile that was not shown to viewers.

[The undertaker is the 'culprit' of this incident.]

-criminal?

-Isn’t the culprit the black sheep? Who passed the sacrificial bomb in the end?

That is decided during the game. Why do they say that the undertaker is the culprit at the beginning?

The cut changes again amidst the viewer’s mental breakdown.

This time during the mid-term inspection.

[Your card is ‘Sacrifice Token’.]

[Current Lamb: Moon-Dae Park]

The tablet showed a new explanation to Park Moon-dae who realized that he had received a sacrificial bomb from Sun Ah-hyeon.

To ensure a smoother game a warning message is shown only to the class that is in charge of the sacrificial bomb at the time of mid-maintenance maintenance.

[Caution]

[A person who sacrifices an innocent person becomes a ‘black sheep.’]

[The black sheep may pay for its sins.]

The interviews intersected.

[Park Moon-dae: That’s when I realized it.]

[Park Moon-dae: When you throw a bomb around as an offering at the end… the person who gave it not the person who received it may be ruined.]

Park Moon-dae: And one more thing.]

The narration of Park Moon-dae being interviewed is overlaid on the footage of him flipping through a tablet.

On the screen Park Moon-dae smiled slightly.

[Park Moon-dae: Oh the criminal and the black sheep are separate.]

That's right.

So the criminal and the black sheep that the sheriff had to shoot were originally separate people…!

[Park Moon-dae: But if these two are the same person… then only that person has to die.]

[Park Moon-dae: It's easy to reason.]

-omg

So Park Moon-dae's operation began.

[Park Moon-dae: I have to become the black sheep.]

It was a crazy utilitarian idea.

The graduate student covered his mouth.

Chapter 493

‘I will eat both the culprit and the black sheep!’

After deciding on the route Park Mun-dae moved without hesitation.

The first action he took after an interim inspection that confirmed that he had received a sacrificial bomb was…

It was the recruitment of Ryu Cheong-woo.

[Park Moon-dae: Bro I found some gold.]

Of course at this time Ryu Cheong-woo already knew that Park Moon-dae had received the sacrificial bomb from detective Seon Ah-hyun.

In other words it was impossible to cheat!

-No why?

– Hey it’s a talent to take pictures of people who know everything haha.

-How did you seduce me?

Park Moon-dae’s interview was inserted.

[Park Moon-dae: Seeing that he couldn’t talk about his job I thought it must be a tough job so I tried to recruit him.]

[Park Moon-dae: But it wasn’t.]

After the narration Ryu Cheong-woo responded to the suggestion with a gentle smile.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Mundae. Are you trying to exchange it because a sacrifice symbol appears on your card during the mid-term maintenance?]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes? What is that…]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Looking at the reaction it's true.]

-There was no reaction.

-Yes the answer is decided just answer and you are the sacrifice no matter what~ haha.

The reactions of viewers giggling and Park Moon-dae narrowing his eyes on the screen were mixed.

[Park Moon-dae: Brother.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Huh?]

[Park Moon-dae: Why are you so sure?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: I was just guessing.]

Park Moon-dae also noticed this at this point.

[Park Moon-dae: Is this your job skill? For some reason he couldn't reveal his occupation.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo:…]

Another interview was inserted there.

Park Moon-dae's face was unfazed as he nodded.

[Park Moon-dae: We changed the route there.]

[Park Moon-dae: Of course what is important is sincerity. Let's be sincere.]

-yes?

-What are you talking about?

-When did fraud become real?

And in the screen that came back Park Moon-dae really hit it ‘sincerely’.

[Park Moon-dae: But actually I have a proposal that will benefit you whether you lose or win.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Hmm?]

[Park Moon-dae: Listen.]

Park Moon-dae enthusiastically revealed the outlines of his plan.

An explanation of the culprit and the black sheep and even the benefits of having them be the same person!

[Park Moon-dae: It’s easy after that.]

When Park Moon-dae and Ryu Cheong-woo do not get caught the fun of genre entertainment comes alive thanks to their amazing tricks.

And what if Park Moon-dae gets caught?

‘It is possible to clear the game with minimal sacrifice.’

Either way it was refreshing.

[Park Moon-dae: (Ryu Cheong-woo) is very good at getting over things like this.]

After Park Moon-dae’s interview was laid out like a narration.

Liu Chengwu on the screen nodded as if he had heard the narration.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: It seems like a good idea and fun. good.]

That's how Liu Chengwu joined as a colleague!

-no

-These fun gamers are really

And the two began to tangle their paths.

They intentionally exchanged each other openly before and after their exchange.

Ryu Cheong-woo exchanged with Bae Se-jin first and Park Moon-dae exchanged with Cha Yu-jin just before the end.

And Liu Chengwu who was quick to avoid their exchange being discovered approached the front door alone.

Then I opened the door all the way moved it to the outskirts out of my peripheral vision and finished it by dealing two cards and gold in succession in 2 or 3 seconds.

No one saw it.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Well if Moon Dae had just said that he would die alone he wouldn't have listened.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Instead of giving up so easily he was really determined and tried to use a trick. That was good.]

As Ryu Cheong-woo said it was a perfect trick that could make anyone a suspect without a single eyewitness account except for those with a deep suspicion.

-If it weren't for Sun Ah-hyun's reasoning and Kim Rae-bin's actions it would have been destroyed.

-How do you know this?

-Is this a real story about the level of brain fighting in Idol Jacon?

And with only Park Moon-dae's weak feelings remaining Seon Ah-hyeon's reasoning and Sheriff Kim Rae-bin's determination dramatically combine to finally catch him!

[Park Moon-dae: Thanks to (Sheriff Ravin) Chung-woo also survived.]

[Park Moon-dae: Thank you. The minimum number of people were eliminated.]

Park Moon-dae who was interviewed with a grinning smile had a cool and confident face unlike someone who was eliminated.

-Anyway I won haha.

-Wow even if you lose you win!

-Yes I don't know about walkie-talkies~ I don't know about bathroom ghosts~ I caught the culprit and cleared the way. Good job to the production crew.

-Guys I'm leaving work~ Ah I've selected all the episodes haha.

The page was continuously updated with comments that reflected the excitement.

And on the screen although strange BGM was playing from the speakers and people were shouting burnt offerings Park Moon-dae said his goodbyes in a more cheerful mood than before.

And then I entered the coffin-shaped altar lightly as if I had come home from work refreshed.

It was the moment when other members placed seven candles in bizarre patterns above them.

[Woowoo-]

An explosion of noise erupted along with a swirling sound!

-omg

-?

-I'm scared of dogs

-What is the effect?;;;

Inside a dark and eerie room.

A real fire was burning on top of the terrifying bloody coffin that Park Mun-dae entered…!

[Bae Se-jin: Park Moon-dae!]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Are you okay Mundae?!]

It was invisible to the eye as a magic low-temperature flame with only a flashy effect. Fans watched the radical and shocking cut with their mouths covered.

And after the lights go out.

When the members hurriedly opened the coffin at the altar…

-omg…

The inside of the coffin was empty.

All that's left is five or six pieces of gold that look like old money.

-ㅠㅠㅠ

-Oh this is so realistic.

-scared

In an instant the atmosphere became cold again.

The members seemed shocked but the game was not over.

A dark low bell rings slowly and a narration murmurs.

[Undertaker Burnt Offering]

[Undertaker Burnt Offering]

And it continues.

[A new sign of sacrifice has come down.]

[You can change the fate of the offering by exchanging cards.]

[Also starting from this game exchanges are possible even if the opponent does not have a card. You can select a job on the screen and scroll through it.]

A new game has begun with new rules that encourage disruption.

-Do we really have to keep doing this until a certain number of people die…?

-Wow I'm scared.

-The kids' expressions are all stiff;;

In this way Episodes 1 and 2 which were broadcast simultaneously ended with a lot of immersion.

'I'm really crazy… '

The graduate student who finished the walk without being able to breathe swallowed his saliva and reflected on the achievements of the College of Arts.

What impressed Moon Dae the most about this episode wasn't just because he was a fan!

'Ah but it's a shame that the College of Liberal Arts was eliminated so quickly.'

Could it be that it doesn't come out again?

Originally I had no interest in this genre of entertainment so I felt like the fun would be cut in half if the reason I watched it the liberal arts department didn't show up.

When a graduate student was mindlessly watching the credits go up feeling a little disappointed…

[??? : Someone please die quickly.]

Suddenly a trailer came out.

"…?"

wireless set.

A cut to a crackling sound coming from a blood-stained walkie-talkie whose use has not been revealed until now!

[Kim Rae-bin: Argh!]

[Bae Se-jin: What?!]

-Sssssssssssssssssssssss.

-The ghost finally comes out?

People were in an uproar.

And on the screen a white straight-boned hand holding a walkie-talkie appears…

and.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Moon Dae-ya…?]

The trailer ended with guessing the identity of the radio's voice!

-??

-omg

-Park Moon-dae?

-Isn't it a ghost?

"…"

The graduate student immediately watched the video and listened to the trailer one more time carefully.

And immediately went to his subscription SNS.

'I feel like I got hit by a doormat!'

I have a firm belief that someone has corrected the sound quality!

Minutes later her faith was rewarded in a post that was shared more than 10000 times.

-This crazy thing looks like it's getting hit (corrected video)

And episode 3 aired a few days later.

The people who sat down on the table with interest wondering about the purpose of the walkie-talkie…

-???

-This is a coffin with a gate.

– gasp

I was able to clearly see the view of the infrared camera that illuminated Park Mun-dae as he entered the coffin.

-It seems like he's scared of Mundae.

-Oh this makes me a bit nervous ㅠㅠ

People were sweating as they watched Park Mun-dae listen carefully to the sound and press the button above his head.

And the scene where the coffin was moved down was full of comments.

-omg

-Going down

-what

-Where are you taking me?

This is the place where Park Mun-dae went down as if he was being dragged.

That place…

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Park Moon-dae: Accommodation?]

This is Testa's former accommodation.

In other words it had the same structure as the upper floor but instead of a room that looked like a pseudo-religious altar an altar that looked like a coffin rose in the center of Sejin Lee's room.

Moreover the room was as dark as a coffin…

It might have been possible to get there but there was a crucial difference.

as soon as.

[Park Moon-dae: Blood…]

There was a huge thick trail of blood that seemed to have been dragged from the coffin to the door.

-It's mom.

-Ughhhhh

And the blood was connected to the door complete with a red-faced sheep skull pattern.

[Park Moon-dae:…]

A few seconds of silence passed.

It was only after that that Park Moon-dae carefully took a step toward that door.

bang-!

[Park Moon-dae: !!]

The coffin in the middle of the room rose again making a loud noise and the lights briefly flickered.

And the door opened automatically.

Mei profit-

-Please save me

-No what should I do with the door ㅋㅋㅋㅠㅠㅠ

-This was really good ㅅㅂ

The door opened and onto the exposed living room floor… there was a trace of blood that looked like it had been dragged.

Park Mun-dae who had reached for the door stopped in that position.

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[↑Looks like he fainted while standing…]

It was supposed to be a funny subtitle but fans laughed and screamed.

Finally I started begging the sheriff.

-Ravin let's not save Cheongwoo. Let's cancel. Let's burn it together.

-The radio was correct. Please someone die quickly. Let's sacrifice either Ahyeon or Cheongwoo.

-Oh shit what should I do is this like the afterlife? What is it??ㅠㅠㅠ

-Why is everyone making such a fuss?

He is the scariest among the testersㅠㅠ

Fans who already knew that Park Moon-dae was weak to fear were restless but Park Moon-dae silently moved on in his own way on screen.

And an object was found in the living room hallway right next to the blood-stained floor.

[Park Moon-dae:… walkie-talkie?]

-no way

– gasp

-Are you writing this here?

Park Moon-dae slowly stretched out his hand and picked up the walkie-talkie.

And his ability was not just verbal but was broadcast for the first time as a formal profile.

[Undertaker job ability: Can make the living and the dead communicate.]

Park Mun-dae pressed the radio button.

The beeping signal went off. And the moment Park Moon-dae put the walkie-talkie to his mouth…

[Park Moon-dae: If anyone stops by]

[Park Moon-dae: Someone please die quickly.]

-????

-?

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

The atmosphere was instantly relieved by the earnest sincerity.

Park Moon-dae ‘Things have changed haven’t they? He may have made the excuse ‘I did it for the sake of a quick investigation’ but the image of a scaremonger who had already been caught only made it look like an honest blunder.

[Park Moon-dae: Just kidding]

-It wasn't a joke haha.

-Anyone can see that it's serious

Viewers flirted.

But at that moment the atmosphere changed completely.

[Park Moon-dae:… Remember.]

The funny sound effects and subtitles disappeared.

Moon-Dae Park held the radio tightly and quickly delivered the message in a low voice without any pitch.

[Park Moon-dae: Do not enter a locked bathroom.]

A violin sound as gloomy as the sound of the wind and an eerie drum sound were played as background music.

Soaring music.

-uh

-Wait a minute.

Park Moon-dae raised his head.

The scene changes as if the camera rotates with the movement.

Blood stains on the floor.

It gradually became darker and turned into blood and it led to the bathroom.

And it was covering the bathroom door.

-Quaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa

-Don’t open the door don’t open it.

-Oh crazy ㅠㅠㅠ

-Open it quickly haha.

-This is a ghost angle.

A real-time chat window filled with excitement and excitement mixed with curiosity fear and worry.

On the screen the camera focused on Park Moon-dae again.

[Park Moon-dae: And the button on the coffin…]

[Park Moon-dae:… cut off.]

He slowly lowered the radio which had no signal even when he pressed the button.

And his cut ended with him taking a deep breath and raising his head again.

[LAMB]

The program opened with a powerful performance but viewers were still rolling around in shock.

-What should I do with my child?

-I think I had a nightmare that day.

-I died alone after going through the non-slaughter route and now I get paid to experience the fun horror.

Ssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssst

– Looking for Moon University party members. Condition: must die

People who were shocked by the existence of the afterlife(?) became immersed and started watching the program again.

‘Did the other members properly receive Park Moon-dae’s radio?’

And fortunately salvation came not too late.

30 minutes after the program.

[The sound…?]

The coffin moved anew. and…

[Lee Se-jin: Mundae?]

[Bae Se-jin: Hey Park Moon-dae!]

The next ones to come down the altar were… Sejin with the same name!

[Park Moon-dae:…!!]

It was the moment when the signal that the program was reaching its climax was set off.

Chapter 494

Around the time when Park Moon-dae was suffering in a bloody afterlife(?) accommodation.

Above the game was in full swing again.

[A sacrifice mark was placed on one of the participants' cards.]

But this time the atmosphere changed a bit.

'They say they get bored if they do the same thing over and over again.'

But if you change the format doesn't the viewer have to understand it from the beginning?

So what writer Ryu Seo-rin changed was the tempo.

Speedrun.

[Time limit: 30 minutes]

[Participants who do not exchange cards at least once will be immediately burned.]

"omg."

If you do not participate in the sacrificial bomb distribution you are automatically eliminated!

In the end unlike the first game where cards were exchanged secretly as if it were a maneuver everyone actively and openly resorted to scheming.

You could even select the job you wanted to exchange by just swiping your card on the machine at the front door so you no longer needed the other person's consent.

in result.

[The occupations that currently have the sacrifice mark are…]

[I am a 'lawyer.']

[!!!!]

People with the same name who had been pulling their hair out and fighting each other claiming they were lawyers got along well.

And the comedy explodes during the mystery part.

[Bae Se-jin: Yes actually I am a clown…]

[Lee Se-jin: You were too upset when you were accused of being a clown to say something like that.]

[Bae Se-jin:…?]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes actually I was a clown!]

[Bae Se-jin: Hey!]

When the lawyer appeared as a sacrifice the two changed their stance and started claiming that they were clowns!

And this time on the contrary they both committed suicide while fighting claiming that each other was a lawyer.

[Bae Se-jin: So I chose a lawyer during the card exchange! The third record is mine. If I were a lawyer in the first place there is no way I would have chosen myself…]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Ah.]

[Bae Se-jin: Why?!]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Sejin I think you just confessed that you traded with a lawyer…]

[Bae Se-jin:…!?]

[Lee Se-jin: It's awesome.]

So the lawyer and the clown entered the coffin together.

[Lee Se-jin: You talk too much when you're angry.]

[Bae Se-jin: Shut up.]

-Is this the taste of trolls?

– Haha that's so funny.

-Mundae: You came to save me!

Sejiniz: No we fought among ourselves.

Kkkk

anyway feel free to say it.]

In the end I asked the question that would answer everyone's curiosity.

And the two finally opened their mouths with serious expressions.

[Bae Se-jin: I'm a clown but…]

[Lee Se-jin: I was a clown…]

[Bae Se-jin: ?]

[Lee Se-jin: ??]

[Park Moon-dae: ???]

-uh

-What are you guys?

-Two Gwangmeo?

Even the viewers were taken aback.

Even subtitles.

[What kind of situation is this…?]

[◀◀◀]

So Lee Se-jin's recollection was included for explanation.

Early game.

[Bae Se-jin: I know this because I am a lawyer…]

[Lee Se-jin: (pretending not to listen)]

In fact Se-jin Lee had already secretly listened to Bae Se-jin's story and was fully aware of it when she was talking diligently about her professional abilities.

And this is what I thought!

[Lee Se-jin: Somehow in my profile document I was told not to casually say I am a lawyer! I was a clown! I'm fake~]

[↑ Self-proclaimed clown (2)]

-????

– Se Se-jin

That's right.

Each of them thought they were clowns and they pushed the other into being a clown…!

[Lee Se-jin: Hey you're really good at acting! (※Smoke is correct)]

[Bae Se-jin: What? Anyone can see that you are the suspicious one! (※It's definitely suspicious)]

It was an entertainment-type performance that burned the soul.

-You must be crazy lol.

– Jagang Doo-cheon of two lawyers who thought they were clowns

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Gwangmeo's day spinning round and round in bewilderment

The story goes that they were sacrificed with a black sheep and burned.

In the end the parties who realized this conclusion while having a conversation in the afterlife…

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Bae Se-jin:…]

[Lee Se-jin:…]

[Park Moon-dae: Shall we move?]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes]

[LOL]

After a dizzying silence he became solemn and began to move along with Park Mun-dae…

– Haha what should I do?

-My stomach hurts from laughing so much.

-Even the tester laughed while watching the live broadcast.

-clown party haha

However this atmosphere of laughter did not last long.

Because the identity of this place was soon revealed.

[Lee Se-jin: Mundaemundae~ Speaking of that walkie-talkie did Mundae contact you from here?]

[Park Moon-dae: That's right.]

[Lee Se-jin: Oh.]

[Bae Se-jin:… But you told me not to go into the bathroom at that time. Why did you say that?]

Park Mun-dae shined a flashlight beyond the door.

The bathroom across from the living room.

[Park Moon-dae: The bathroom is like that.]

[Bae Se-jin: Huh.]

Quagwagwang!

The image of lightning was edited out.

There was a close-up of the blood-covered bathroom door being pounded. The members screamed.

[Bae Se-jin: Blood blood?!]

[Lee Se-jin: Ouch what is that? What is that?!]

[Park Moon-dae: (If I knew I would be here like this with an expression on his face)]

-Pretending to be a bully because you have developed tolerance for 30 minutes

– Hahahahahahaha cute.

-I barely pretended not to get upset when I found a flashlight in the corner of the living room!

And as expected criticism came in.

[Lee Se-jin: No we still played the game above for over 30 minutes~ Didn't you even open that? Of course Mundae is the best among us…]

[Park Moon-dae: Then open it yourself.]

[Lee Se-jin: Sorry.]

-lol

-These cute little idiots

It was even funnier because none of the members who were strong-hearted or who acted before thinking were eliminated.

So this is where the elders step in!

[Bae Se-jin:… Let's go. I'll open it.]

[Lee Se-jin:…!!]

[Park Moon-dae: Thank you.]

[Lee Se-jin:…?!]

-Cold hahahahaha

-A rare sight that leaves the great world speechless.

-Former baby shaman enters energetically~

So the three people gathered together each carrying a flashlight and a walkie-talkie body(?) and approached the bathroom.

Lee Se-jin who is tall operated the flashlight radio Park Moon-dae operated the radio and Bae Se-jin who served as the action leader lightened his body as a courtesy.

and…

Sigh.

Bae Se-jin opened the bathroom door handle while wearing the rubber gloves she found in the kitchen.

I saw it at that moment.

-omg

thud.

Cuckoo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo coo

thud!!

The inside of the bathroom is revealed along with a tense and gloomy BGM.

Sitting on the bloody floor.

[Victim]

In front of the cabinet in the bathroom.

There was a body lying down.

-Heeeeeeeek

-It's mom.

-??

-Hey what is it?

All the members froze.

[Park Moon-dae:… It's not moving. yes. I think it would be okay to take a look.]

-And the attitude of not being able to approach you

-I understand this time

-I couldn't even move the country.

A very quiet accommodation.

And a corpse-shaped doll in a dark place.

The members approached cautiously.

Sejin Lee moved the flashlight slowly.

[Lee Se-jin:… First of all he seems like a man. Your outfit… is unique.]

The doll was lying down with a knife in its hand.

Moreover perhaps because it was a cult concept they were wearing what looked like black robes and even their faces were covered.

'mask?'

The members have now become familiar with the strange pattern depicting a lamb's skull.

[Park Moon-dae: I think it's the one from the visit earlier.]

[Lee Se-jin: Uh. And our… offering card? That's the sign too.]

-It's creepy.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

After confirming that it was a doll and not a costumed actor the members slowly reached out and turned it over.

And in the meantime Bae Se-jin confirmed one crucial thing.

[Bae Se-jin:… There are no wounds here.]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes?]

[Bae Se-jin: Look there's so much blood but there's no wound. There are no tears in the clothes… Rather this corpse is holding a knife.]

The atmosphere became cold.

[Then what is this blood…?]

-Please save me

-Wow that's scary.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ They said the undertaker was the culprit but is it true that the undertaker killed him? What is it?

It was then.

Park Moon-dae who had been silently turning his head to follow the light of the flashlight stood up.

With the radio in my hand.

'uh?'

Park Moon-dae turned on the walkie-talkie and asked.

[Park Moon-dae: Before you entered the pavilion. Who was holding the radio and where was it when you were contacted?]

[Bae Se-jin: Huh? that is…]

[Lee Se-jin: Living room! It rang in the living room and the first person to check was Ravin.]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Lee Se-jin: Why?]

Park Mun-dae was silent for a moment.

But soon I asked again.

[Park Moon-dae: After that Ravin grabbed the walkie-talkie and ran to where other people were.]

[Bae Se-jin:…! that's right! I came to the kitchen.]

Park Mun-dae nodded in response.

As if he realized something.

-??

-What is it?

-How did you know?

[Park Moon-dae: Just a moment.]

Park Moon-dae ran out of the bathroom and immediately started running around with a walkie-talkie and shouting.

[Park Moon-dae: Can you hear me?]

[Park Moon-dae: Can you hear me?]

As if he had forgotten his fear Park Moon-dae opened the door and started talking to every room in the dorm.

And after repeating the process it was time to return to the place where the pipe was installed and moved up and down.

Cheezy.

"omg!"

The radio turned on and a response came back.

[Radio operator: Mundae? Mundaeni??]

[!!]

The members also ran out of the bathroom.

[Bae Se-jin: How did you do it?]

[Park Moon-dae: I found the location.]

[Bae Se-jin: Huh?]

[Park Moon-dae: It seems that this radio and the radios of the people who were not eliminated work if they are in a place like the dormitory.]

The graduate student who was watching the broadcast with bated breath hit his thigh.

“Ahhhh!”

That walkie-talkie only works when the person upstairs who is not dead yet and the person downstairs who is dead and came down in a coffin are in the same room.

‘oh my god!!’

This gave me a strange feeling as if the two were physically the same space but were divided by time or dimension.

Is it expressed this way because it is the afterlife?

‘What happens now?’

The graduate student looked at the screen with interest.

Perhaps Mundae will tell us about the corpse in the bathroom and once again advise us to be careful?

At that moment Park Mun-dae was opening his mouth.

[Park Moon-dae: I told you earlier not to go into the bathroom but I will change my words.]

[Park Moon-dae: Be sure to go in. There will be ghosts and people.]

"…??"

And Park Mun-dae sounded even more like a bolt from the blue.

[Park Moon-dae: I think I… the 'undertaker' killed that ghost. I guess it was right to kill him.]

"…?!"

On the screen Park Moon-dae spoke calmly.

[Park Moon-dae: Lure them into the ghost coffin and burn them like we were eliminated.]

[Park Moon-dae: That's how they survive.]

At that moment the BGM on the screen changed.

* * *

[Park Moon-dae: That ghost looks like the leader of a cult.]

A clean neutral-colored living room.

In a place where the only living space was a few pet supplies a huge TV was installed for monitoring purposes.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Wait a minute!]

And right now the screen was showing Testa talking on a walkie-talkie in front of the coffin.

Self-assigned break time. The idol who was monitoring his competitors tapped his chin.

“I tried something unusual.”

Wow!

A soft barking sound was heard from near his thigh.

The man lightly patted the head of the dog that responded to his self-talk and picked up his smartphone.

“kind.”

Wow.

Cheongryeo’s pet dog Kongi happily honked his neck and then snuggled into his beloved blanket.

And similarly Cheongnyeo’s smartphone rang.

-Director Jang: Yes I received a reply from PD. Of course Testa said he could appear!

It was natural.

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo smiled and watched ‘Testa Him’ passionately sending radio messages on TV.

It was 7 days before the collaboration with Park Moon-dae.

Chapter 495

In the video Park Moon-dae's narration began with the brilliant success of the mystery BGM playing.

[Park Moon-dae: It was strange from the beginning.]

Park Moon-dae reading the profile.

[Park Moon-dae: They said that the undertaker was the culprit of this incident but there was no explanation as to what the incident was. It's strange.]

'You are the culprit in this case' in the profile document. Above the text was a photo with a red cross.

Black robes and a strange skull mask.

The body that the eliminated candidates saw in the bathroom of the afterlife covered in blood stains looked exactly the same!

And Park Moon-dae who was looking at it closely tilted his head at the next page.

[Park Moon-dae: But again the mission was too easy.]

Undertaker's mission.

It ended with one sentence.

[It is burnt offering.]

It means to fail and die.

As you progress through the game if you learn what 'burnt offering' means it is a very simple and scary story.

[Park Moon-dae: In fact if you are caught as a criminal the undertaker will die. Even if that's not the case there are many ways to get eliminated.]

[Park Moon-dae: After learning what 'burnt offering' meant in the part about reasoning about the sacrifice I thought it was strange because it was so easy.]

Then I came to think about it this way.

[Park Moon-dae: The undertaker must die.]

"…!!"

[Park Moon-dae: I think the story progresses only when the undertaker dies and someone can escape.]

[Park Moon-dae: So there is information that I must convey here using the walkie-talkie.]

The undertaker's ability is necessary to communicate between the two worlds and exchange information through a walkie-talkie.

So what's the most impressive piece of information about this strange afterlife?

[Park Moon-dae: It's a body in the bathroom.]

That strange creepy corpse that had no wounds but was soaked in blood.

[Park Moon-dae: I thought there was something there.]

And the screen intersects.

A team of survivors is unlocking the locked bathroom.

[Kim Rae-bin: This number is correct.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Good.]

Sweet.

The lock fell with a short sound and the members quietly approached the bathroom.

Sun Ah-hyeon whispers into the walkie-talkie.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: We came in.]

The bathroom was as clean as it was in the beginning when the people in the Parkmoon University dormitory had just discovered a walkie-talkie in the sink.

And although it was extremely quiet they were not fooled.

-Park Moon-dae: It felt like it was in a cabinet.

The surviving members quickly formed a formation and pushed in front of the sink considering Park Moon-dae's advice delivered through the radio.

and.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: I will open it.]

After nodding to the three people waiting Liu Chengyu quickly opened the cabinet.

Then

Blink.

Blink blink blink blink blink blink blink blink blink –

[Kim Rae-bin: Hmm]

[Cha Yujin: OK.]

The bathroom light started blinking again like crazy.

However this party the majority of which had strong hearts did not back down and looked straight into the cabinet.

And saw.

[Cha Yujin: Oh my…]

A ghost with a knife staring out from inside a dark cabinet.

“evil!”

It looked exactly the same as the corpse downstairs!

The graduate student screamed and tore at the pillow without realizing it.

Are you saying that was standing behind Moon Dae and the kids when they ran out of the bathroom?

‘I’m so scared!’

It was a natural human reaction.

A creepy BGM full of tension played. Whether this is a horror movie or a thriller movie it’s a situation where the characters feel like they have to jump out and run away!

Of course when the members saw this ghost they should have run away and dispersed to engage in a thrilling chase but…

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Catch it!]

[????]

I decided to push myself physically!

[Cha Yujin: Got it.]

When Cha Yu-jin suddenly jumped into the cabinet and grabbed her waist the actor playing the ghost froze in embarrassment!

The viewers were also frozen but soon burst into laughter.

-??

– Hahahahahahaha

-It seems like you can see his expression even though he is wearing a mask.

-We are sorry. Our children have grown up to be survivalists and will not go to great lengths.

-What should I do if I dropped the ghost knife?

Ryu Cheong-woo even quickly snatched away the weapon while Cha Yu-jin was holding onto it.

Since it was a broadcast the ghost really couldn't have stabbed the members but even if it had the move was prepared so quickly that it wouldn't have been able to counterattack.

and

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Let's hear it!]

[????]

The four people lifted the ghost bound with a curtain and started running in quick step.

-?lol

-What luggage?

– Turn your luggage into a coffin lol.

It reminded me of something similar to guerrilla training with logs.

[Seon Ah-hyun: The door is open!]

Then he runs past the previously opened door and puts the ghost in the coffin!

-Wow crazy

-It's funny but thrilling.

Because the members were so serious the comedy was just a side note and the excitement and thrill of missing a ghost came to life through quick editing.

And even the youngest children were horrified to see the writhing ghost and worked hard to manually close the coffin lid.

bang! bang!

-It's mom.

-Wow it's bloody;

Moreover the coffin lid was rattling as if a ghost was attacking it from inside.

However the members calmly pressed the coffin lid and attempted to communicate with the ghost as per protocol.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Shall we have a conversation? Judging from your attire it looks like you are the one who created this altar.]

[??? :...]

[Cha Yu-jin: There is a possibility that this person is an American ghost. Hey can you hear me?]

Surprisingly no reaction was heard.

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders. Viewers laughed.

-Must be an American ghost hahahaha

-Why are you treating me like a ghost when I caught you physically? ㅠㅠ

-You seem like a ghost who can control speed and speed.

-I started laughing and then screaming making a fuss. My cat looked at me with strange eyes.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkk

In contrast to the viewers who were shocked and wondered if this was right or how they came up with this idea in the first place the members were serious.

[Seon Ah-hyun: Shall we light a candle like this?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Wait a minute.]

Liu Chengwu was silent for a few seconds as if he was thinking deeply but soon divided the team into two.

Myself and Sun Ah-hyeon.

And Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin.

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Since we will be holding this I hope you two can take a look at the cabinet where the ghost appeared earlier. It felt like there was something behind it.]

[Raebin Kim: Yes!]

So while the calmer brothers who were former professional arts and sports players were guarding the coffin the two youngest children ran to the bathroom eagerly.

And forgetting about their bickering they searched the inside of the cabinet covered in fake blood…

[Cha Yu-jin: Kim Rae-bin! Look at this!]

[Kim Rae-bin: Oh my God!]

I found out that the plate inside the cabinet rotates like a revolving door.

And behind it… were dark concrete stairs heading down.

[Cha Yu-jin: That's… looks like the way to hell.]

[Road to hell…?]

It's like a road to hell.

A dark staircase was shown on camera along with Cha Yu-jin's story.

And a question came over the radio.

[Park Moon-dae: Are there no words there?]

[Raebin Kim: !! there is!]

There was dark red writing on the concrete wall next to the stairs.

And finally the full story of the incident is revealed.

-It's a pseudo-altar.

-You were trying to resurrect it with some crazy celebrity tribute? turned;;

-omg…

To summarize the leader of a cult foundation was murdered during some strange ritual.

The culprit is an undertaker.

So in order to come back to life he tried to recreate the murder case in which he died and sacrifice Testa members one by one!

-Gapbun occult gives me goosebumps

-If things continued like this there would only be 2 survivors left…

And the way to stop this scary situation was found in the afterlife.

[Lee Se-jin: There was something written on the bathroom cabinet here as well. Well what do I have to do to revive it? There are precautions and things like that.]

[Kim Rae-bin: Indeed! okay.]

It is said that if you sacrifice the ghosts on the altar you can escape from this place of strange rituals.

It was said that the 'emergency exit' would be opened but viewers were divided in their opinions as to what it meant.

It was then.

[Bae Se-jin: And then.]

[Bae Se-jin: Here too… the cabinet seems to be open as well.]

-omg?

-then?

At that moment the broadcast screen changed to an image of the afterlife.

Moon-Dae Park calmly held up the radio and spoke with his eyes fixed on the inside of the cabinet.

[Park Moon-dae: We have stairs up and down.]

[Raebin Kim: !!]

That's right.

Behind the cabinet in the afterlife there were stairs in two directions up and down.

[Park Moon-dae: Because we came down in a coffin and arrived here. The top is probably yours.]

On the screen the stairs of the two cabinets were connected by a cut.

[Park Moon-dae: Then down below… I want to bet on something called an escape.]

[Raebin Kim: Yes?]

The flashlight was pointed towards the stairs below.

Then on the ceiling of the stairs I saw the outline of a sign that was unlit but still visible.

[Park Moon-dae: There is an emergency exit sign.]

[Cha Yujin: Oh!]

-oh my god

And so at the last minute an escape with a dizzying time limit began.

[Ryu Cheong-Woo: Quick!]

As soon as the candle was lit and the coffin on the altar was set on fire the residence began to shake as if it would collapse and the surviving Testa quickly went down to the afterlife through the cabinet passage.

A situation where the coffin is lowered into the afterlife and a ghost may try to come out of the coffin.

[Bae Se-jin: This way!]

Fortunately the survivors met the eliminated people who had been waiting on the stairs beforehand and quickly went back down the stairs.

And saw.

[Park Moon-dae: Emergency exit!]

Climbing the stairs the emergency exit light came on and illuminated the emergency door!

The members opened the emergency door and ran out one by one.

[Cha Yu-jin: Oooh!]

It was outdoors.

The staff applauded under the filming lights outside the set as the sun set.

[Everyone escapes successfully!]

A sense of liberation overflowed with cheers!

* * *

And the behind-the-scenes story that followed immediately.

[Producer: As I mentioned through this game the testers' roommates in their new accommodations will be decided.]

[Producer: Scores are assigned in order of mission success and escape so those with the highest scores can select the room first!]

The members who successfully completed the mission and escaped to the top began to diligently choose a room.

Of course among them was Park Moon-dae.

His interview has been inserted.

[Park Moon-dae: I roughly researched the rooms the members liked in advance.]

[Park Moon-dae: I think we should go to a room where there are quiet members.]

An interview that appears to have been conducted immediately after the game ended. Up until then he seemed pretty confident.

But I soon faced this reality.

[Producer: Unfortunately Mr. Moon Dae was unable to clear the mission.]

[Park Moon-dae: ?]

-Huh?

-Mundae was a burnt offering why?

Park Moon-dae also answered the viewer's questions on screen.

[Park Moon-dae: I cleared the mission. Because it was a burnt offering.]

Up until this point Park Moon-dae looked as if there had been some mistake.

However the production team held back their laughter and said this.

[Producer: Oh that's right.]

[Producer: The doctor saved Mr. Park Moon-dae's life. Clap clap clap!]

[Park Moon-dae: ?!!!]

Park Moon-dae turned his head.

'Doctor' Cha Yu-jin smiled brightly and waved.

-for a moment

-Hey no way hahahaha

That's right.

Cha Yu-jin is a doctor!

With his doctor's abilities he was able to save one person before the game even started!

And the mission is also consistent with that.

If the person you designate really comes out of the danger of death and survives the mission will be successful!

So as soon as she saw the profile at the time Cha Yu-jin reasoned like this.

[Cha Yu-jin: All criminals kill smart people first.]

[Cha Yu-jin: So I will save Moon Dae-hyung!]

And as it happened Cha Yu-jin's reasoning was perfect.

Park Mun-dae was the first to be sacrificed.

In other words… a huge success!

[Cha Yu-jin: Mundae-hyung's burnt offering? no!]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

Originally it was supposed to go up at the end of the game and serve as a sign of the existence of a cabinet passage connected to the afterlife.

However there was no chance because of Testa's way of playing which covered everything with physical power!

in result.

[Producer: So what happened…]

Yujin Cha 1st place.

Park Moon-dae… last place.

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-Park Moon-dae sacrifices himself after hard carry

-I'm in tears Mundae!

-I won't forget! I won't forget!

In that way Park Moon-dae lost the choice of room…

'It's pitiful but it's so cute!'

The graduate student felt sad but could not hold back his laughter.

However Park Moon-dae also had his own happy ending waiting for him.

After hearing the full story of the incident Park Moon-dae in the program gave up everything and trudged to the spare room for the last time but…

[Kim Rae-bin: Moon Dae-hyung! Please take care of me in the future…]

[Park Moon-dae: Done.]

[Raebin Kim: ??]

[Park Moon-dae: Thank you.]

I arrived at a happy ending with the wonderful result of meeting the best roommate through luck.

-Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

– Hahahahaha that's so funny.

-Live well with your rabbit Mundaengdaeng.

'Oh my it's so cute… '

The graduate student also smiled and nodded.

For reference Cha Yu-jin's room which won first place was sold out quickly when Ryu Cheong-woo entered.

[Cha Yujin: Welcome bro!]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Haha! Yes please take care of me.]

Second Sun Ah-hyun and Lee Se-jin met showing off Testa's long-standing friendship in the same-age line.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Sejin…!]

[Lee Se-jin: Wow! We are finally roommates!]

And at this point viewers naturally noticed.

-Hey just sleep.

-If this happens I'll be in solitary confinement haha.

That's right.

The final long-awaited solitary confinement…

[Bae Se-jin: Ha…]

Bae Se-jin who finally lived in a single room after 6 years of being alone won the prize!

[Wish Achievement Ceremony]

Bae Se-jin began to make small gestures of victory in her cell alone with a happy face on her bed.

It was an extremely rare sight. Because I forgot the unmanned camera.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Hamjjiya…

-1 ham 1 cage okay I got it.

Viewers burst into laughter and congratulated Bae Se-jin an introverted person.

[Testa has moved into the new sweet home.]

The subtitles also changed to a cheerful tone and the video ended with a cheerful and happy ending. The graduate student clapped and smiled without realizing it.

‘It was okay… ’

It was that moment.

Suddenly the image became bright again.

“…??”

The one caught is Cha Yu-jin wearing a hoodie with a sullen face.

He pouted his lips and threw the card he was holding.

-Huh?

-???

-what

[Cha Yu-jin: This game wasn’t fun. Cult? Ghost? It’s so childish.]

[Kim Rae-bin: Also what happens after you are so immersed in it?]

[Cha Yu-jin: Hey!]

While the two were arguing the camera’s field of view gradually panned back to show the location where they were.

“…!”

It was a place that even graduate students were familiar with.

‘omg!’

Right in the attic.

It was the exact same place that appeared in the title song MV of the last album!

Testa who had just finished playing a board game was still there.

However this time the letters written on the board game board were different from before.

That's right… the title of this entertainment show!

At that moment fans realized.

-Mimi crazy

-Could it be that Zarkon is the board game they were playing?

-I got goosebumps.

-and

While the chat is being updated.

In the tester where all the cards were sorted out the member who was playing the role of game master opened his mouth again.

[Seon Ah-hyun: Well then… shall we try playing another game?]

Seon Ah-hyun.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: This one will be more fun… I prepared for a long time.]

The entertainment ended with a close-up of his face smiling softly and quietly.

[To be continued…?]

Leaving a meaningful subtitle on a black background.

-for a moment

-??

-hey

-Is the next album a cakewalk?

Soon fans caught wind of the situation.

‘Yes this is a comeback!’

-Crazy me I want to watch it again from the beginning

-Haㅠㅠ

For the next week it was as if an abundant supply of rice cakes was scheduled with new interpretations of this in-house content.

‘Wow are you making a comeback again within this year?’

The graduate student quickly heard of the rumor and sent a KakaoTalk message to find his friend.

Around this time Testa’s fans were screaming at the unexpected connection to the world view.

Fans of other groups were also screaming.

[＜One Take 4K＞ Cheongryeo (CHR) ‘Ash’ @MusicBOMB]

-omg

-ㅠㅠI’m crazy really.

This is because Cheongryeo’s music broadcast activities for the first week of her solo album comeback were in progress.

And a few days before that.

Park Moon-dae received a text message.

-VTIC Senior Application: Filming scheduled to begin at 17:00 on 9/13 (Wednesday)

“…”

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: See you on timeˆˆ

Featuring.

It was the belated start of Park Moon-dae’s personal activities after the activity period ended.

Chapter 496

2 weeks ago.

Around the time when Park Moon-dae had just finished filming Testa's own content.

Cheongryeo was in the midst of finishing preparations for her comeback.

"Next is the interview right?"

"yes!"

Preparation went smoothly.

LeTi's officials acted as if ensuring that all of Cheongryeo's activities were carried out without error was the top priority.

"You've been waiting since a while ago. As quickly as possible…"

"iced coffee! yes."

This is because Cheongryeo is a celebrity who takes great care of herself.

Even though he was businesslike he was a gentle and temperamental type with no irritability at all but it was also true that he was never easy to deal with around people.

'hmm.'

Cheongryeo also knew this but did not necessarily change its attitude to make people feel safe.

‘I listen to difficult people better than comfortable people.’

It was a grammar completed through inductive statistics after numerous attempts.

In any case Cheongryeo was not the type of person who needed to share their daily lives to feel comfort and belonging.

At least I suddenly wanted to talk about my pet dog Kongi but it didn’t matter because I had someone else to talk about.

After checking the time Cheongryeo called the ‘other party’.

However this time Kong did not intend to send a photo like he sometimes sends through text messages.

“…”

After a short call connection tone the other person answered.

“Did you finish filming your own content successfully?”

-yes. Senior.

This is Park Moon University.

What’s interesting is that this junior always uses polite language whenever he calls or texts.

It’s not like I’ve ever had a conversation in informal language.

It is a habitual meticulousness.

‘That’s not a bad thing either.’

If you don’t let down your guard you won’t suffer any losses anywhere.

Qingli thought a little cheerfully.

So it's a pleasure to work with such a proven resource.

Soon Park Moon-dae's solemn words of congratulations were heard.

-Congratulations on your comeback with your solo album.

"thank you."

Cheongryeo responded lightly to what many people had heard over the past few days and got straight to the point.

"The time has come to prepare for what we agreed upon at that time."

-…

"As I said last time it's not like you're going to feature a song on my album."

-yes.

Cheongryeo almost laughed inadvertently remembering Park Moon-dae who was embarrassed at the time but did not show it and continued talking.

The featuring method you choose.

"I have a program to go to this time so let's go out together."

-…!

"You'll probably like it junior."

Cheongryeo finished the calculation.

"The program name is…"

* * *

＜Nice to meet you!＞

MBS entertainment airing on Saturdays at 5:40 PM.

It is one of the few long-running contest programs on the airwaves where singers can appear.

Just looking at the title it seems to be a typical public broadcast program that introduces talented unknown singers or masters active in genres other than pop music.

‘That’s correct.’

right. The style that the public airwaves like.

But it is only half correct.

‘Because just doing that won’t get viewership ratings.’

What do I have to do to sell it?

The answer is simple.

‘It’s a bundled sale.’

Not only artists from less popular fields but also famous established singers who are looking to promote their albums or performances appear as performers.

And if the two performers form a pair and perform on stage a variety of pictures can be drawn.

This is a program that has been running for a long time reaching season 7.

The casting lineup was still quite flashy but it had a bit of an old-fashioned taste as middle-aged people had settled in as the main audience…

‘But this guy appears here?’

I glanced at Cheongryeo.

It was a too crowded and complicated program for VTIC to appear.

If he gets a name like that it wouldn’t be enough to even have a special feature on him so he’ll just show up?

‘hmm.’

Of course there are bound to be targets.

I remembered his answer to my direct question ‘Why did you choose this program?’

-I have something I want to show you.

Well so today I came to the pre-meeting for this program.

For your information the main PD here has been pushed into season 3 and even though it’s over 7 years old he’s not even handing over the program to a junior producer and he’s just continuing this without producing a new program…

After talking to him I think I understand why he does that.

“Oh nice to meet you. Mr. Moon Dae. My nephew says he’s a fan so I’d like him to sign the album for me. “Don’t give away what’s left but make something new.”

“sure.”

You’re an old man.

Well I’m not continuing it because I have a sense of mission but I’ll bet that I just sat down to see the cost-effectiveness.

Still it was interesting to see that even if the name value of an idol was raised to the highest level the broadcasting station PD was the best.

At least I wonder why they don't treat them carelessly but the attitude is different towards VTIC which has an insane level of recognition overseas.

"And our Korean Wave star VTIC! It's an honor to be featured again. i look forward to."

"Haha please take care of me."

'As expected the answer is Gukbbong.'

For this typical old man it was the best. I internally nodded while looking at the PD.

'Let's release the next album and see.'

The target is the lethal dose of Gukppong to hunt for the Cultural Merit.

Anyway the fan who asked for my autograph was not guilty. Why not come into the waiting room as a PD family opportunity?

I carefully signed the spare album I had brought along just in case and the PD quickly took it away and only then started talking about the program.

"So you two perform on stage together… So how did you two become so close?"

"Ah we did a variety show together when I debuted at a literary school. "That program was also on MBS."

"…Ah~ I remember! "That's right."

'I don't remember.'

You have a good social life.

I guess that's what it takes to become successful enough to sit on a program that airs on public airwaves.

"Anyway I'm so happy for our program to be able to host these two people."

And as expected instead of specifically mentioning the entertainment in question the PD blurted out his words and then quickly said what he wanted to say.

"But they both have the same job and have a similar image so what? "I'm worried that it might be difficult to include a climax due to the length of the story but is that okay?"

uh. It's okay.

Just… when two first-tier idols from different groups team up the topic is already explosive.

The climax is like freezing to death.

'I'm using Sue.'

If two famous idols are going to appear it means that they want to split the episodes and distribute them separately to extend the viewership boost.

'Yes no.'

And needless to say Cheongryeo the person involved responded immediately.

"yes. "You don't have to worry about that part."

"…Oh okay."

You seem confident.

It was convenient that I didn't have to open my mouth. This is okay since I work with a cool guy.

"And I heard that our manager delivered it in advance. this…"

"Ah yes yes."

After that there was no needless baiting.

The meeting went smoothly as I talked with the program writer and sub-producer. I nodded and thought pretending to listen intently.

'So what kind of performance does this guy want to use me for?'

And this question will soon be resolved.

Immediately after the meeting ended.

A conference room at the LeTi headquarters 20 minutes away from the broadcasting station.

"I'll show you the music video first."

Cheongryeo turned on the projector and immediately began discussing the stage composition.

Originally a scene depicting this concept should be included in the filming of the program but due to practice time issues it is often just a reenactment.

'It's a complicated script.'

So I understand that.

"It's a provisional edit but it only lacks the intro and credits. "I don't think there will be any problem for my junior to understand the album concept…"

"wait for a sec."

The flow is a bit strange.

“Why is your music video suddenly showing instead of a stage outline?”

“hmm?”

Why are you suddenly showing off your soon-to-be-released MV when the performance we’re about to perform isn’t even a song included in the album?

However Cheongryeo calmly answered with an expression that asked such an obvious question.

“This is a program performance to promote the album so of course I have to make my title come to mind as soon as they see it.”

“…”

“This title itself is the concept that will become the base of our stage so read it carefully and understand it now. “I can’t send you the music video file before it’s released.”

Are you coming?

‘Your head is working well.’

I held back a sigh and nodded.

I thought for no reason that I had agreed to cooperate and not talk nonsense on this guy’s stage.

This is because I said that I would unilaterally follow this guy’s stage composition as long as it didn’t damage my image.

But what if the vision is this clear?

‘I don’t know if they’re doing a treble shuttle or something.’

No I think that would be better than a useless and unsuitable concept.

I clicked my tongue and stared at the MV he was playing.

Marble floor turned into ashes.

In the middle of the ruined floor of the old museum there is a place where paints are mixed up like an explosion.

The one lying alone on top of it is Cheongnyeo.

[…]

The contrasting images slowly passed from the perspective of the sky.

I heard the wind.

and.

[The devil is in the details]

A meaningful phrase appears and the song soon begins.

[Ash]

The title of Cheongryeo's upcoming solo album.

-Oh maybe we're just in pain

Medium tempo in a faint minor key.

And jazz-style accompaniment.

-Ashes to ashes dust to dust.

In the remaining ashes

Same Story

And love is dead

It has a very addictive refrain right from the beginning.

And the humming slowly decreases before going into the verse. And the choreography of the beat.

The choreography performed on ashes with bare feet a turtleneck and black slacks seems to have a power of its own making the camera pull and push and change angles.

The minimalism is the most impressive perhaps because he has the best proportions and physique and has managed his body shape to the limit.

'Damn it.'

My form is not bad.

I almost chewed my tongue.

The difficult task of mixing impressive choreography with easy listening that makes it easy to just listen to the song was done well.

Besides that.

This choreography.

'It is rather easy to just follow the movements but it is a difficult choreography to express the feeling.'

This means that there are many people attempting the challenge and it is good for those evaluating it to line up.

It was already pleasing to the eye.

-This person is really similar to Cheongnyeo. It's amazing.

Stop using your part-time job as a teacher.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk one pointer

-This person dances well but there really aren't many people who can capture the vibe of the original song haha.

-Why are there so many malicious comments? I think you worked hard to post them.

These challenge videos will get a lot of comments and reactions.

'It is the best choice for a soloist who is confident in dancing.'

It was the most ideal result if it could be made.

No matter how much Testa postpones his military service several of them will be enlisting in the military within a few years and Cha Yu-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo will definitely have to play solo or in a unit.

There is a lot of competition surrounding whether it is possible to plan a result as refined as this.

"…"

I kept my mouth shut and watched the music video until the end.

The tempo control was amazing as the background and costumes became more and more extravagant but at the end they were reduced to ashes and ended in a minimalistic manner.

-And love is the end.

The screen ended abruptly with Cheongryeo standing on black water in a dark space.

And Cheongnyeo the main character opened her mouth with a smile only after the temporary editing of the music video was over.

"Do you like it?"

They didn't even ask for objective opinions and skipped straight to subjective questions.

'I'm confident in this.'

Is that so?

I nodded calmly.

"uh."

"…"

"It was well made."

Why are you so surprised?

'You have to admit what you have to admit.'

There is no point in fighting over pride when we have to work together now anyway.

'It's not like the comeback timing coincided.'

But still.

"It is difficult for me to capture the feeling of this choreography."

"hmm?"

"I'm telling you this just in case but I don't think you'd want to ask me to implement a similar choreography in two weeks."

This is advice for stage quality.

'This is a level of perfection that can only be rivaled by a level A dance dancer or higher.'

Moreover this program features established singers.

This means that narratives like Debut Survival where people understand you once you work hard and show growth are just laughable.

If I were to do a choreography similar to this I would have to do it well enough not to break this concept.

But realistically it wasn't cost-effective.

'Just use it as a treble shuttle you idiot.'

But Cheongryeo burst out laughing.

"Haha I guess I decided to do whatever I wanted on this stage didn't I?"

"…"

Are you serious?

"I'm kidding."

The guy was chopping things up and tapping his fingers on the table as if calculating.

"Each person should do what they are good at… The agreement with the junior will be valuable."

okay.

"But I still have to do the basics."

"…?"

Cheongryeo asked lightly.

“How many hours a day have you practiced?”

And the <Azusa> level of practice fell on my head.

Chapter 497

“Are you okay?”

I’ll kill you… no I don’t have the strength to kill you.

‘You bitch.’

I’m sprawled out in LeTi’s VTIC dedicated practice room.

7 hours.

It was time to practice choreography with Cheongryeo.

‘Isn’t he crazy?’

It’s the end of the comeback so there’s no time so why spend 7 hours just for one performance?

The most amazing thing is that it doesn’t seem like it will end today.

It’s an art to subtly push people to their limits and then let them breathe just like some kind of extreme PT.

‘This guy would have made a lot of money as an instructor.’

Wait a minute these words are meaningless to a guy who has already made a lot of money.

‘Is my brain not working… ’

I caught my breath.

Testa is also not a group that misses much in terms of practice. This means that there are quite a few cases where practice time is on the offensive in this way.

However it is completely different to cram in choreography with unfamiliar dance lines in such a short period of time.

I can't help but think of <Azusa> where I learned to dance for the first time in my life at that age.

I looked at the ceiling stretched out in silence.

An unfamiliar fluorescent light was shining.

'hmm?'

I opened my mouth without thinking.

"Did you remodel the lighting?"

"hmm?"

Cheongnyeo who was playing a song answered as if she were puzzled.

"I did. "Although it was three years ago."

"ah."

And then I realized.

In my memory this is not the LeTi practice room where I practiced for nearly a year.

'That wasn't real.'

This is the ceiling I saw when I was trying to win the grand prize with a hybrid group called 'Wishes' a mixture of VTIC and Testa members.

This is the experience I had when I debuted with the VTIC guys in the body of Ryu Geon-woo in the virtual world created by the system.

‘The words came out without even thinking.’

And Cheongnyeo seemed to have noticed that too.

“Is it similar to when you debuted with your junior? Maybe so. “I fixed that too.”

A funny explanation followed: ‘If you make it multiple times standard specifications will develop and it will become standardized.’

I laughed.

“Is there efficiency in the practice room?”

“sure.”

I don’t know how stupid he must be if he figured that out.

It may be new but in terms of experience and information no matter who you bring up it will be difficult to rub against that guy.

Well too.

‘I thought VTIC would decline to some extent after the military gap ended.’

I need to prepare a little harder.

From rookies who debuted with capital by benchmarking us to VTIC who is not in form Testa is also in a very sandwich situation.

‘I guess I can’t let my guard down because I’ve won the grand prize.’

I drank water and quickly planned out my next album.

It was then that Cheongryeo sat next to him.

“Your junior your ability to learn choreography is good.”

I guess so.

“If I don’t have the skills to learn this year I’ll have to quit.”

“haha.”

I don’t think I’m laughing because it’s funny. Perhaps during this year even people without learning skills have had the experience of using it as members.

‘I guess he was so angry that he tried to leave.’

You can tell by looking at that guy’s stats window.

This is a guy who has already perfected his talent to the limit. You must be confident in your routine.

So a kid who couldn’t keep up with the amount of practice he assigned wouldn’t be treated like a human being.

‘…hmm.’

But that’s it.

I called a guy with a question that suddenly occurred to me.

This guy is the only one who will have this conversation.

‘Big moon.’

[yes?]

“…”

Does it pop out in an instant?

I thought the reply might be late because I was at work but I never thought the reply would come so quickly.

Anyway after chatting with him about a few things I was up to I gave up.

'…I'm talking about the potential stats that appear in the status window.'

[…?? Ah your brother's infinite potential trait? It wasn't given by the system but it was what my brother originally had…]

No that's not the story.

[yes?]

'It's something that appears in someone else's status window other than mine.'

Limit stats are indicated in parentheses next to the stats.

An indicator that tells the person's limits.

Let me give you an example.

[Dance: C- (B)]

Here 'B' in parentheses is the limit.

It was also the biggest reason why only those who could earn a living through arts and physical education became the only ones who could do it. Talent.

And what I'm curious about is this.

'No matter what I do it's impossible to overcome that.'

Is it impossible for a person to grow beyond that limit stat?

"…"

After a moment of silence a timid pop-up appeared.

[Maybe…?]

After that the explanation continued ‘Actually I just changed the system’s judgment so that you could see it… ’

Ultimately it means that it is a value calculated by the system.

‘hmm.’

I frowned.

It was that moment.

[Survey available!]

“…!”

Next to Big Moon’s chat pop-up.

Suddenly a status window pops up.

‘what.’

[Tips: You can customize the features with feedback through surveys.]

“…”

So… did you come out to make sales by telling your story? Can you tell me if you can?

I looked at the status window popping up.

It shines like an advertising banner as if asking you to click on it.

But…

‘Do you want to do it?’

If it were you would you go fishing?

I removed the pop-up without hesitation.

‘You will be discarded as soon as you collect the system fragments from that guy.’

This is the correct answer.

And when I nod my head inwardly.

“Did you get enough rest? “Get up.”

“…”

For reference I only lay down for 5 minutes.

‘after.’

I stood up suppressing my anger.

Yes it’s a marginal stat and it’s a mess… Right now my dance stat is still B+.

Well that’s good. You can’t whine that you can’t do it at this time.

‘Let’s grind as far as we can.’

Let’s do it.

* * *

That night.

The door to Testa’s new dorm opened weakly.

Beep-click.

And then a silent voice was heard.

"…I've been there."

It was Park Moon-dae wearing a hood.

"Oh Mundae…??"

"…"

Why is he like that?

Lee Se-jin who was trying to greet her while taking the pack out of the refrigerator was embarrassed.

However Park Mun-dae simply answered like this.

"I practiced."

What kind of person's practice can make Park Moon-Dae look like that?

This is a friend who follows me all night long and monitors me without sleeping.

The sight of Park Mun-dae hanging out like water-soaked laundry was unfamiliar and even a little solemn…

'wait for a sec.'

At that moment Lee Se-jin realized again what Park Moon-dae had been doing.

"This is Cheongnyeo featuring practice right?"

"uh."

No who would ask for a feature and treat someone like a trainee at their company?

'Don't you know good?'

Although the evaluation of Cheongryeo was somewhat relaxed due to past events they were still a different group and were subject to caution. That's why Lee Se-jin was even less desirable.

'Maybe I should have opposed it more actively.'

So he deliberately and cheerfully put his arm around Park Moon-dae and shouted.

"Mundaemundae~ Aren't you doing too much for others? "Why are you so determined to kill me!"

It was then.

"…I agree too."

"…!"

Bae Se-jin who was enjoying life in solitary confinement secretly came out to the living room and spoke to her.

Sejin Lee was a little embarrassed.

What's wrong with that brother?

"You don't have to but you do it."

Bae Se-jin continued speaking steadfastly.

That's right.

He was uncomfortable with being accepted into VTIC.

The fact that he suddenly attacked Park Moon-dae at the beginning of his debut was a decisive factor but it was not the only factor.

'…It was strange.'

That was the unique atmosphere of a person named Cheongryeo.

In fact it's rare that we've even had a conversation in person. But I felt it just by observing.

There were moments where I felt like I was a person without emotional context meaning I had no ability to empathize.

It reminds me of the psychopaths played by Bae Se-jin.

Since he was naturally sensitive and alert to the attitudes of others he felt it better.

It was an impression that did not go away even in the virtual world of the system or the objective fact that I had received help in a building collapse.

It was something that could not be helped unless one knew that the gap was caused by repeated restarts over an extremely long period of time.

'hmm.'

Anyway Lee Se-jin looked at Bae Se-jin with a straight face and then changed his mood again.

'Oh my gosh even if I keep a straight face here I won't listen anymore.'

lighter.

"that's right. "Please save up your stamina for our album."

"That's right."

yes!

Lee Se-jin was delighted to see Park Moon-dae nodding his head.

But Park Moon-dae's words were not over.

"Do what you have to do properly."

"…"

'Hey then… are you any different from Kim Rae-bin who works all night?'

Before I say anything to my roommate Kim Rae-bin I was told to look at myself.

Fortunately there was Bae Se-jin next to Lee Se-jin to get angry instead.

"So do it without overdoing it!"

"yes. Well… I practiced as long as it didn't affect my health."

Park Mun-dae answered calmly.

And muttered softly.

"That's worse."

"…?"

"It's nothing."

Park Moon-dae was silent as he looked back at the state of his exquisitely overworked body.

But then he shrugged his shoulders.

“And it helps. Because this is my first time doing choreography of this genre. And… I have something to take away when it’s over.”

“Take it?”

“yes. “I have something to gain.”

Park Moon-dae nodded and smiled.

It was a smile that seemed surprisingly rewarding.

“I think our own content was selected in an interesting way this time but I think it will be a little less popular than before.”

“hmm?”

Park Moon-dae also concluded that Ryu Seo-rin may have been chosen in a balanced way to be provocative and exciting but that this was only for the enthusiast audience.

‘It’s hard to take reasoning lightly because you have to use your brain.’

However in order to connect it with the next album it has to be symbolic and meaningful to some extent and then it gets further away from the light taste.

‘I managed to balance the popularity by taking advantage of the horror elements.’

That was also possible because it was late summer and early fall.

So that is.

“We need to take care of popularity in the next album.”

I will take care of both soup and popularity!

Park Moon-dae grinned.

“I will get something that will help me there.”

A big picture was being drawn in his head.

Soon I ended up crawling into the bedroom with a person with the same name scolding me saying ‘Okay just take a rest.’ But…

A few days passed like that.

And finally after Testa’s own content was released spectacularly.

The first day of filming for Cheongryeo’s stage contest featuring Park Moon-dae has arrived.

* * *

VTIC Among them Cheongryeo’s fan community was very energetic during the solo album promotion period.

In particular the rice cake was even more abundant because Cheongryeo made quite a few broadcast appearances to promote this album.

-Jaehyun are you crazy with your schedule? Thank you.

-ㅠㅠㅠChaeyul said she watched Jaehyun’s performance and V-Tik is the foundation of K-pop relationships…

-I’m working like a cow this year so how can I not like applying for a new career high?

-Shin Jae-hyun’s fansign response went around (video)

And in this atmosphere the news of Cheongryeo’s ＜Nice to meet you＞ program appearance was initially just one of the album promotion activities.

There was even a rather cold evaluation that said ‘It’s okay if you don’t show up because you’re falling so quickly.’

Still most of them were happy with the schedule itself and liked that they had more time to watch Cheongryeo's performance.

I was also delighted to read an article saying that the number of audience applications for ＜Never See You＞ had reached an all-time high.

And of course there were winners among community users.

-I never thought I would attend Bom for the first time… I'm taking my mom with me and I'll bring a review haha.

ㄴㅊㅋㅊㅋ

□I'm jealous

□How did you get there?

But that afternoon.

-omg

-Hey Shin Jaehyun

-lol

-and

People who had planned to post reviews of the audience began to leave only one comment in real time.

All the fans who were hanging out in the community at that time to see audience reviews were taken aback.

'Jaehyun??'

-????

-what

-What is the reaction now?

A few minutes later.

Finally a review of the audience using proper sentences was posted.

and.

-crazy!!

It didn’t take long before Cheongryeo’s fan site was filled with screams and confusion.

Chapter 498

＜Nice to meet you＞ stage contest site.

[Weekend afternoon fun! The stage of the star-meeting collaboration of the century ＜See You＞ is about to begin!]

The MC read the standardized script fluidly thanks to his many years of experience. And the audience's response and applause poured in like an audience member.

[The theme of this contest is 'Millennial 2000'! The stage was set with the theme of the 2000s.]

[The cast selected the artists of the genre they wanted to collaborate with and the collaboration was accomplished. Please look forward to what kind of stage was created.]

And the MC quickly explained the voting rules.

It's simple. If you liked the performance please click the button!

It was a common story told at every recording but this time there were quite a few audience members who heard it for the first time.

'I come to places like this too.'

'Thank you Jaehyun. I take a step back and try to be filial.'

These are all people who applied after hearing about Cheongryeo's appearance. In other words there were many fans of VTIC who were not existing viewers.

And that was a double-edged sword in this contest.

If Cheongryeo failed to present a performance worthy of first place but took first place based on audience votes that alone would be controversial.

But the fans sitting there had little to worry about.

‘It’s Jaehyun so what?’

It was a belief that became stronger the longer I was a fan.

VTIC Especially because Cheongnyeo never had any disappointing activities.

[The curtain on that special stage is now rising.]

And finally the third theme contest of Season 7 began.

Wow-

Singers and celebrities came out and performed accompanied by polite cheers.

The singers here are mostly established singers who are highly preferred by middle-aged people.

This means that there has never been a male idol like VTIC.

‘oh.’

Since the fields were so different Cheongryeo’s fans also viewed it quite favorably without any sense of control.

‘It’s okay.’

‘You all are doing great.’

Pure evaluation is carried out carefully.

There were many quite unconventional stages.

Representative songs from popular musicals in the 2000s sung by vocalists and former rappers had an old-fashioned hip feel and the collaboration between a master acrobat and a dance singer was quite impressive even if it was a little incongruous.

‘and!’

This was especially true for younger VITC fans.

Because I don’t watch this program that much I didn’t know the program’s typical stereotypical stage structure that “appeals to the audience” so it was refreshing.

And imagine the stage of Cheongryeo in your own way.

‘Who did Jaehyun do it with?’

‘It would have been really cool to do it with an opera singer.’

Occasionally there were performances performed between singers due to a lack of talent or mismatching but no one would have thought that Cheongnyeo would have done that.

‘Well if you want to be better than these people… ’

There were one or two stages on stage where I was even worried that Jaehyun might make a mistake.

And as time passed the 6th stage arrived.

The sequence just before the end.

The MC finally opened the gun he had been waiting for.

[The performer on this stage is… a global KPOP artist representing Korea. This is Cheongryeo from VTIC!]

Ugh!!

Wow!

Fans who noticed the moment the word ‘global’ came out were already cheering enthusiastically.

And even middle-aged people who are not necessarily fans responded well. This is because everyone has heard the name of VTIC whether in the news or on WeTube.

Expectations for famous celebrities!

Those eyes that gauge how well you will do.

Amidst the overflowing adrenaline the MC continued the proceedings by controlling the tempo.

[And the collaboration partner selected by Cheongryeo is…]

Brief moxibustion.

And when the audience’s curiosity is at its peak.

A sound like a thunderbolt fell.

[National Idol! This is Testa’s main vocalist Park Moon-dae.]

“…??”

“…?!”

yes?

Unlike the reaction of the middle-aged and middle-aged audience members who seemed to be more feminine saying things like ‘Young idols are doing it together~’ the young fans in the audience couldn’t believe their ears and were inwardly upset.

Why does Testa appear here…?

‘Cheongya?’

‘Hey Shin Jaehyun!’

There were fans who screamed that it would be better to have a recorder gifted kindergartener.

[Then let’s meet now! Collaboration starts!]

Before I had time to compose myself the stage started with the MC’s shout!

Lights come on on a dark stage.

“…!”

Fans reflexively held their breath and focused their attention on the stage.

But… there was no singer.

On the outskirts a standing microphone stands alone in the spotlight.

Fuuuu-

There was a brief sound of wind.

In that void a familiar riff melody played on a piano filled the air.

A familiar accompaniment.

And the minor chorus cuts through the quiet background sound.

-It snows in my winter

covering both cheeks

cold and cozy warmth

and you

.

It was a popular song by an emotional hip-hop group that was popular in the mid-2000s. A song that follows the formula of featuring an addictive chorus and a famous female soloist.

The featuring part is reproduced in a wonderful male voice.

-Um umm- Um umm-

Um umm-

Lonely humming.

An emotion that is infinitely close to the original singing while reminiscing about the bittersweet feeling of love after a breakup.

"…"

It was not Cheongryeo who sang.

'Park Moon-dae…?'

However even though it was in a minor key the audience immediately listened to the refreshingly clear voice.

Soft piano accompaniment and humming softly rang through the audience.

-Yes

And the moment when the accompaniment is in major key and a fast rap should be included in a brighter atmosphere with the original band sound.

-No

“…!”

The sound fell even more heavily.

thud.

The elegant and gloomy piano accompaniment was heavy.

The tempo of the accompaniment drops on top of the heavy minor note… and becomes slower.

Laid-back and dark enough to feel a little dangerous.

And then In-young appears.

-Night with the lights off

Our aching hearts

“…!!”

Cheongnyeo!

A singer with a head microphone walked out from the outskirts. That movement alone seems to fill the stage.

The dark blue stage shirt went well with the black slacks.

‘Ugh!’

However even as the suppressed cheers of the audience erupted here and there some people were puzzled.

‘uh?’

A song sung by Cheongnyeo.

The familiar melody was correct.

But… it wasn't the song 'Winter love' that was developed earlier.

-I hear the voice of love

＜The Heat of a Summer Night＞.

Like the previous song it was a song from the 2000s.

However it is a song by a female solo singer who is famous for its sexy concept.

Moreover unlike the original song which was a fast-tempo techno dance song the choreography and song unfold with heavy accompaniment at a slow tempo.

-Summer night

A hot and ecstatic moment

Movements with a slight feel of modern dance or waxing unfolded along the solid physique.

Dancers came out and filled the stage doing the same moves but that only added to the glamour.

Live vocals that are unwavering in the movement of lights and every detail is clear and the strengths and weaknesses are perfect making it a cathartic dance.

With that alone the stage seemed to have been completed.

The unique naturalness of someone who has been on stage for a long time attracts attention.

-I waited you know.

It condenses the splendor and sexiness of the original song but adds artistry to the wild beauty of a much slower more static and heavy tempo.

The uniqueness of old popular songs which may sound frivolous has been suppressed and disappeared without a trace.

‘It’s crazy.’

‘You could do it alone!’

‘Why is Park Mun-dae in front…?’

Fans were immersed in the stage thinking in a stream of consciousness.

-A moment becomes eternity

Burn the flame of love

Summer night

Meanwhile the leisurely yet weighty performance moved smoothly along the stage and the first verse and chorus ended in the blink of an eye.

And the music stopped for a moment.

Cheongryeo walked to the standing microphone outside making the sound of her shoes.

“…”

It was a moment when the audience watched with bated breath again waiting for the next catharsis.

Suddenly someone else appears under the spotlight on the other side.

“…!”

Moon-Dae Park.

A singer with neatly trimmed soft blonde hair grabbed a standing microphone on the other side.

And then the accompaniment flows again.

-My love is in winter

Even when spring comes in my heart

“…?”

The previous accompaniment used in <The Heat of a Summer Night> sung by Cheongnyeo continued without any discomfort.

And Park Moon-dae’s melody came together incredibly naturally.

‘Huh…?’

This was because it connected two songs that used similar composition grammar from the same era.

However the mood and lyrics are completely opposite.

Thanks to this a very strange atmosphere was created.

A narrative point was created.

The brief love of a summer night and the eternal separation of winter.

-Snowdrifts do not melt

the warmth of eternal winter

right-

The lonely voice gained clear and strong power and rose with the accompaniment.

The vocal ad-lib reached a climax that was pleasant to listen to without any technique.

-It snows in my winter

covering both cheeks

cold and cozy warmth

The high-pitched sound casually extended to ultra-high notes elegantly and beautifully.

-Yes you

And from there the sound and lyrics continue again.

-You and me

in summer night

Cheongryeo's song that hit home.

The two continued to take turns singing the song they were singing as if they were singing each part of a song.

-You can't miss the opportunity.

And at the end of the soaring sound two huge spotlights come on in the center of the stage.

And the two people on stage moved.

"…!"

The two who came to the center moved to the building up accompaniment.

Mirror choreography.

-Summer night

hot and ecstatic

(I hear a voice)

The movements are mixed and the lyrics are mixed together.

-My love is in winter

(in summer night)

Before we knew it the two were switching songs and singing naturally again.

-A moment becomes eternity

(The warmth of eternal winter)

And the last verse.

-and you.

The performer faced each other and stopped the choreography.

And then they sing along with the harmony and elevate the song.

-Yes you!

You you u- uu umm umumm

The string instruments rang loudly.

And the choreography was all done at the climax.

-Um umumm Um umumm um Umm…

The humming of the two songs' melodies creates an exquisite harmony.

And the two movements match like a mirror creating complex pair choreography.

A performance where the feet are crossed the upper body is bent the shoulders are held and the empty space is filled like acrobatics without any error.

All movements that seemed smooth at first glance could only appear graceful if one had complete control over the limbs.

In other words it was an almost unrealistic sight to perform 'humming' live with perfect pitch without even making a high note while doing this movement.

'and.'

"…"

The gaze is fixed as if drawn in.

A composition that can only be performed by performers with an extremely high level of understanding and skill in the dance stage that is the KPOP stage.

'ah… '

So a few fans understood why Cheongryeo chose Park Mun-dae.

'I see.'

'If I wanted to do something like this I would have chosen an idol.'

However there was also a misunderstanding.

In fact it was impossible for Park Moon-dae to implement the choreography of this climax part alone with his current abilities.

However due to the amount of practice the short choreography of about 30 seconds was covered so that the dancer could copy and dance ‘exactly like the opponent’.

Even more so if the person in charge who has been developing effective methods of imprinting choreography on the members for decades had personally incorporated each and every movement.

It is possible to reproduce something absurd for a moment.

And at the end of that ‘nonsense’ synchronization a short clear high-pitched chord rises above the gorgeously built-up accompaniment.

-Hot and ecstatic moments

I waited you know

Catharsis!

-Wh-whewhewhewhe!

The stage which started in winter and ends on a summer night faces the audience with their backs to each other to the accompaniment of brass.

thud!

“…”

And so the stage ended.

A composition that pours artistry appropriate for this program into an idol-like stage framework.

That atmosphere!

And exquisite arrangements and choreography that resemble live stunts.

It was the essence of performance.

‘I tore it.’

‘crazy.’

Wow!!

Screaming cheers filled the audience.

It wasn’t a cheer I gave because I was a fan but a reaction to the stage.

[It was a really great stage!]

Even the MC’s comments sounded sincere.

Soon the two people on stage smiled slightly and politely greeted the audience a few times before politely returning to their seats.

Although it was for voting purposes the results were virtually identical.

Fans already knew.

‘You can definitely take pictures of this.’

Even if it airs Cheongryeo will never be criticized for taking first place.

That confidence thrilled the fans in the room.

But still confusion and question marks remained in the minds of most of the fans who came to the audience.

‘How did you do it with Park Moon-dae??’

‘What’s that crazy song selection?’

And those questions were scheduled to be satisfied soon.

This is because the process of forming a team between the two received a lot of attention during the weekend's main broadcast.

Chapter 499

The episode of the broadcast program <Nice to Meet You> in which I featured Cheongryeo's stage was organized quickly and without delay.

And on the day of the main broadcast.

Of course it was on TV not from the stage but from the part that introduced the singers who would prepare for it.

[Rom J: I have been interested in pansori for a long time…]

[MC: Oh this is the first rapper on this program who is interested in pansori. Let's see the results to see if a pansori master actually appeared!]

This is where a collaboration team is formed by introducing yourself and talking about what genre you are interested in.

Almost the last part of that part.

Finally the guy who shared the stage with me appears.

[Is this In-young getting out of the car…?]

[Cheongnyeo: Hello.]

In addition artificial cheers were added in the background and lightstick effects were added everywhere.

And even huge subtitles.

[This man… handsome!]

“…”

‘Is this true?’

I would believe it if the person who created the subtitles came from 10 years ago in a time machine.

‘If the stage wasn’t fun the program would have failed a long time ago.’

I got up from my seat with a shocked face.

“uh? Where is Mundae?”

“Go get something to drink.”

For your information I was not the only one monitoring.

We are currently on tour preparing for a new album and today is the member group camp day that occurs once a week.

So we rented a suite and gathered everyone together.

And I was watching this show on my smartphone…

-What are you doing at Mundaemun University? Oh hey~ Is this the live broadcast today?

-… yes.

-ah! This hotel’s TV is said to be able to watch Korean airwaves via the Internet! How about using a TV so you can watch it on a big screen? If it’s okay with the others…

-Oh of course it’s okay~

-Oh is the Mundae broadcast today? Then let’s take a look.

-OK!

…After going through this process we all sit together and watch this old program.

[VTIC the king of KPOP!]

[Leader Cheongryeo]

"…They openly float it."

"I know."

Why did you turn on the TV if you were going to look at me with such a dissatisfied expression?

'Well I had similar thoughts.'

In any case the content of the program unfolds without anyone refuting it.

Cheongryeo's brilliant career was introduced and soon there was a scene where Cheongryeo talked about the 'hopeful genre of collaboration'.

Of course usually this is all a script. It is common for the writer to select and match the artists he has already recruited according to time and popularity.

However this time Cheongryeo really collaborated with someone in the 'genre of his choice'.

To be exact I plugged it into this broadcast myself.

[Cheongryeo: I… would like to try the idol division.]

[!!!!]

[MC: Cheongryeo do you remember that you yourself are an idol…?]

[Cheongnyeo: Of course. (Laughs) However I have had quite a few opportunities to perform on stage with artists from different fields but I have rarely performed with the same idols.]

MC asks pretending to be embarrassed.

[MC: Then maybe… the female idol division?]

[Cheongryeo: That can't be possible. As a male idol in the same position as me.]

Cheongryeo smiled and brushed aside the MC's question as if nothing had happened then made another point.

[Cheongryeo: And now that I don't have any members well… I feel a bit lonely because I'm performing on stage alone. That's why.]

I can hear VTIC fans being thrilled.

'Image making is killing me.'

It seems like a waste of time.

I looked up from the subtitles and walked back to the refrigerator near the hotel room entrance.

And I took out the bottled water provided inside and lifted it… and saw it.

dark beer.

"…"

Now that I think about it it's already been a few years since I've had alcohol in my mouth.

"…"

Now that I think about it there is no concert tomorrow.

‘One can is not okay… ’

“Park Mun-dae.”

“yes.”

Well I knew it would be like this.

It was Bae Se-jin who called me and followed me to the front door. Is there some sort of alcoholic sensor?

I looked up from the beer and picked up an unlabeled water bottle.

Since we have to monitor it anyway let’s just drink cold water.

The moment I thought that Bae Se-jin suddenly asked.

“Are you in a bad mood or upset right now?”

“…? no.”

I don’t think it’s the idea that Park Moon-dae’s condition was ruined because I stopped him from drinking.

“okay… Other than that I think it would be okay to drink a can every now and then.”

“…?!”

for a moment.

‘Are you serious?’

The one who disposed of all alcohol from the previous dorm until now?

When I looked up Bae Se-jin spoke with a slightly embarrassed look on his face.

“I know it was strange for me to say this and that in the first place. But it just seemed like a bad habit that would lead to addiction to alcohol so I was trying to stop it.”

I guess so.

“But now if I don’t have that habit I’ll be meddling for no reason.”

“…”

“of course! “This is only when you are sure that you don’t want to drink because of stress.”

I took my hand off the water bottle for a moment and reminisced.

‘Now that I think about it… ’

At some point the habit of drinking to relieve frustration disappeared.

‘I think I saw that guy a few times whenever I went near the refrigerator or convenience store.’

And right now I definitely don’t want to drink it to relieve stress.

I smiled and nodded.

“yes.”

“okay. okay.”

Bae Se-jin nodded neatly. As if acknowledging it.

‘I am indeed.’

I feel like I’ve received some sort of addiction treatment certification.

‘Yes thanks to that guy I gave up the cost-effectiveness of using alcohol to relieve my mood.’

I also admitted it.

“My brother didn’t interfere for no reason but he helped me.”

“…That’s pretty much it.”

I can’t hide the fact that I’m a little proud. Well that’s good.

‘How long has it been?’

I stretched out my hand.

And finally I grabbed a can of a familiar brand of dark beer from the refrigerator that I had been drinking years ago.

‘The design has been changed.’

And I drank it right away.

Gulp.

The carbonation was exhilarating.

The first cold barley beer I had in a long time went down my throat.

It was cool.

‘oh.’

I returned to my seat holding a can of beer.

“If I think you’re being weird I’ll stop you again.”

“Oh yeah.”

I emptied the beer can again.

Bae Se-jin looked like he had something else to say as he watched me drink but he turned his head away without saying anything.

‘Good idea.’

I sat down refreshed.

On the TV screen a shabby guy was opening his mouth.

[Rom J: But the fact that a collaboration artist also did it in the same genre… I really respect the idol’s singular path.]

[Cheongnyeo: Haha… yes. thank you I risked my life to become an idol.]

[VTIC Cheongnyeo is serious about being an idol! Which artist will collaborate with him?]

“…”

The reactions of the cast members laughing were broadcast.

There would be no way to know that that was not a metaphor but a literal fact.

‘Your deceitful skills are outstanding.’

I accepted it generously and drank my beer in silence.

“Popcorn?”

Are you coming?

I also chewed some of the popcorn offered by Cha Yu-jin as a snack…

“…”

“Eat more! are you okay.”

It’s not okay.

‘It’s sweet.’

I don’t know how this guy eats things like this and doesn’t lose his form. Is this what Geunsoojeon does?

However Cha Yu-jin looked closely at my arm holding the popcorn and said with shining eyes.

“Oh! “You’ve gained muscle.”

“…? “Is that so?”

“What are you eating?”

“no.”

I didn’t eat anything else.

No matter how much you think about it there is only one variable.

I gestured toward the screen.

“I think I picked it up while practicing.”

“Ouch.”

Finally I appeared.

[VTIC Cheongryeo’s collaboration artist!]

[??? : hello.]

Eventually I saw myself gathering all the motivation that wasn’t on the screen.

[Park Moon-dae: This is Testa’s main vocalist Park Moon-dae.]

[TeSTAR!]

All kinds of dazzling effects are added again and the Testa Career is introduced.

Then Cheongryeo and I pretended to be surprised at each other shook hands and started preparing for the stage in a friendly manner.

[Cheongryeo: It looks like this. It's really nice to meet you.]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes senior. i look forward to.]

[Cheongnyeo: Haha. Oh you think I can just take it easy? The atmosphere.]

[Park Moon-dae: Then please feel free to speak.]

[Two people who were originally close friends…?]

It's a bit disgusting to see it like this but it still looks quite heartwarming on screen.

Of course the internet comments are screaming.

Let's think of the comments that are flooding the comment section with comments like 'Destruction' 'Are you crazy' 'I can't believe you were a hottie'…it's something we have to endure.

'You end up benefiting.'

I stared at the TV grinding popcorn between my teeth.

[Cheongryeo: I became acquainted with him around the time when he debuted at the College of Arts and Sciences. Seeing this makes me look forward to the stage.]

And the images of me being warmly instructed in the choreography and Cheongryeo's appearance of being in harmony and being satisfied were edited.

‘You’re ruining my image as a good senior.’

In reality I was slamming the choreography into someone else’s head.

No matter how much you think about it it’s clear that the muscles were built there. The power to control the body was important for the choreographed movements that guy put in.

It means that force was used by compressing it tightly.

Although it appears cheerful on screen.

[Cheongryeo: The school is progressing smoothly because the university has good dance skills.]

“Is that really the reason?”

“Don’t be fooled. “I worked for 7 hours every day.”

“oh.”

[Park Moon-dae: Mun-dae…? No please look forward to the stage.]

[Natural idol charm??]

“Haha!”

“…”

‘Did you save this too?’

And after an interview video that made use of my speech mistakes that occurred due to low stamina the performance was finally broadcast.

[Starting now!]

“Is the gate over there coming out now?”

“okay.”

“Oh~ Let’s see.”

The testa guys were also more focused on the TV in a comfortable position as if they were posting comments every three seconds.

But after the stage ended.

“…”

“…”

-turned

-Why are you so good?

-Is this the taste of K-pop’s first generation? So good.

-Ah… couldn’t you have waited until the kids were discharged from the military? Jaehyun… a stage like this… ㅠㅠ

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

Everyone around me and on the internet reacted with disdain.

“Park Moon-dae this is why you practice so much…”

“yes.”

And I also realized what effect Cheongryeo was aiming for.

‘The sophistication stands out ridiculously.’

As this program is old it has a stage design that is suitable for the tastes of the main audience and is suitable for emotionally appealing to the classic middle-aged audience.

That's not a bad thing but the point to dig into is that everyone is using that method.

'This stage stands out alone.'

That's why the impression of Cheongryeo and Park Moon-dae's stage which made popular music in the early 2000s like the essence of the latest KPOP was doubled.

If you add a completely different color to similar colors wouldn't it really stand out?

'Of course if you can't do it it will only create more discomfort.'

That part was achieved with tremendous stage composition and time.

And the reason he chose me was because he needed someone other than those who had already entered the military who would follow his instructions and grit his teeth to bring out quality.

'I guess they were trying to gain public opinion to grow the company.'

As he himself admitted last time.

I saw signs of LeTi's viral success that had already begun.

-Ah when Testa became independent LeTi invested a lot so it seems like they are joining the same line and not cutting it off from the company haha.

Huh

What is it then a one pot meal?

It's not a one-pot meal it's just the same as next door? Haha.

Ah it's still interesting

I'll probably be there all night and publish an article tomorrow to solidify the claim that ‘Testa has followed the LeTi line.’

In this way Testa lowers the suspicion and resistance to appearing on LeTi’s platform in the future and smoothly increases its own platform influence.

The mid- to long-term plan to increase the agency’s weight is being successfully implemented.

‘Honestly it wouldn’t be a very pleasant situation if I didn’t have anything to eat… ’

“Did the door there have fun…?”

“…”

I shrugged my shoulders in response to Sun Ah-hyun’s question.

Well one way or another it seems like the other party has gained a lot.

“It was worthwhile.”

That’s right.

“It would be good to learn this choreography style once.”

Sun Ah-hyeon smiled at my answer.

“Ugh. thank god. ah! The stage was very cool…”

“Yes! The arrangement and composition were interesting but most of all the stability in harmony and the skill in choreography were very impressive.”

“thanks.”

I nodded in a rather warm atmosphere.

“If you want to do more choreography like this… I can teach you…!”

That’s a bit much.

“thanks. “Let’s do it sometime when we have time.”

Just don’t take heart now.

To be honest I have hopes that my dancing stats will increase if I do more but the cost-effectiveness is not good…

Trying to raise your dance stats now when you can’t record your stats is not very time-efficient.

There are not only one or two other guys on the team who are good at dancing but from the perspective of working in a group the other one seems more attractive.

Raising my already core abilities to the peak.

therefore…

‘Maybe it would be better if it was a singing song.’

I’m curious what will happen if I get ‘EX’ for my singing ability.

…Like steer Cha Yu-jin’s talent stats.

I saw Cha Yu-jin sitting next to me pouring a whole piece of popcorn into her mouth remembering the guy flying around during Water Bomb.

“Hmm? Is there something wrong?”

“no.”

“OK. Oh bro the stage is great.”

Are you coming?

I turned my head and remembered.

…In fact Cha Yu-jin's talent stat is back to S+.

'Is it because my memories of the time when I steered have become very blurred?'

Or if certain conditions are met when I go on stage I might manifest as EX again… but I'm a little concerned.

'There were also scenes I witnessed.'

-… after.

That guy who is watching Steer Cha Yu-jin's Water Bomb performance on his smartphone in the living room at night.

Cha Yu-jin frowned and had an expression that did not indicate whether she was analyzing or feeling angry.

'He's a good guy who knows what he's doing.'

As far as I'm concerned it would be nice if there was a hint…

[Survey available!]

[Tips: You can customize the features with feedback through surveys.]

Not you.

I won't do it.

'This guy is persistent.'

Are you crying out for at least a stat-raising feature to be added? I removed the status window without even waving my hand.

“But it’s Mundaemundae.”

why.

“Are you holding a beer in your hand?”

“Oh they say you can drink it now.”

“who?”

“Brother Sejin.”

“oh.”

Naturally I quickly emptied the beer can put it down and thought again.

‘Anyway I got what I got and preparations went smoothly.’

When I think about what I got by walking on this featuring stage as a deal I actually feel like cracking open another beer as a souvenir.

I want to put it into action quickly but…

‘I need to lay some boards before that.’

Ether.

That new group that ‘benchmarked’ Testa.

It would be better to leave that rookie group no longer in trouble with Testa.

‘It would be good to make the company’s finances a little stronger as well.’

I chuckled as I changed the smartphone screen.

I saw a text message that arrived this morning.

[Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Bro our practice is over haha]

Spacer's comeback preparations are complete.

This is the beginning of a proxy war.

Chapter 500

Spacer's comeback led by Park Moon-dae.

At first it seemed like it was just taking aim at the hiatus of male idols whose weight classes were heavenly.

This is the season when Cheongryeo's comeback activities are about to end and Testa's comeback activities are still only planned.

Therefore when the story of 'Spacer's comeback announcement' was published in an article a few months ago there was no great response.

Because it's natural.

[Spacer to enter the music industry this fall…"Preparing for an intense comeback]

-Finally ㅠㅠ

-I'm looking forward to it fighting~

-Who are they?

-Intense lol

Excluding random malicious comments the overwhelming majority of reactions were from existing Spacer fans. Since no exact announcement was made this means that the general public had very little expectations.

That was the end then.

And as time passed Spacer's planned comeback became something that only fans remembered.

A group has started promoting a large-scale comeback.

[Eter (ĭter) October comeback notice! [Advance of the Monster Rookie]

It's Ether.

Since they left a brilliant impression with their debut activities they plan to promote once more within this year to continue the momentum.

This too was natural.

'Let's solidify the rookie award.'

It also meant that I was confident in the song and concept. Park Moon-dae guessed that they probably already prepared it together with their debut song a long time ago.

'It would take some time until the end of the year for the grades to be reflected so I thought it would come out in the fall.'

In a way it was good news that Summer Pool featuring Eter was completely buried by Testa's Water Bomb.

There was no need for a harsh comparison and even Eter's fans quietly passed on without even mentioning it.

So while maintaining their status as a major rookie Eter's agency Wonder Hall announced their comeback date and even announced a pre-sale notice to the media.

It's the third week of October!

'good.'

Park Mun-dae checked it with satisfaction.

And after some time.

Suddenly one after another as if I had been waiting articles appeared.

[Orbit Stars Entertainment “Spacer’s comeback is in early October”]

[The male idol competition in the music industry is coming in October…”From Spacer to Eter”]

[‘World Tour KPOP’ Spacer’s Comeback October Music Industry Male Idol Match Will Be Successful]

Spacer’s specific comeback schedule has been announced.

And the fact that Eter was making a comeback around the same time was subtly emphasized.

The timing is only 2 weeks apart!

The spacer came first too.

In other words the image strategy of beating Eter’s late-half performance which peaked and then declined and won did not work.

On the contrary it is a perfect situation for Eter to easily press the spacer.

-2nd army big clash?

– Looks like Eter will break the stamp properly

-ㅋㅋㅋ What kind of guts does Orbit have? Is it because it’s small and medium-sized?

It seems like I lost my sense of humor while raising Testa.

Of course many netizens interested in idols were much more interested in Ether.

Spacer was already a senior not a rookie.

Moreover the existence of Testa who was perfectly compatible in terms of origin and ability had a negative impact on Spacer's buzz and image from the moment they were formed.

It was something that could not be helped.

-I'm already looking forward to seeing what kind of new concept Eter will bring. I've been waiting for a rookie like this who has only one path in K-pop.

-Oh Eter if they pick a good song this time they will probably be confirmed for the 1st team haha.

– Haha it would be really funny if Spacer tried to take a concept-filled route in a hurry and was pushed out by Eter but it's already a post-test.

The low-level aggro level of interest only maintained the buzz.

Moreover by this time communities and social media interested in idols were already hot with other topics.

The collaboration stage between Cheongryeo and Park Moon-dae!

Fans' reactions to the unexpected collaboration between two first-tier male idols!

For reference this is what it felt like.

-Like a dog

-Muggle bastards are making comparisons. It's all because of Kim Tae-in a crazy bastard who invested the money he made through V-Tik into some shady company. He's dead.

-Don't get involved slut.

"…"

It was very hot…

Still the public response itself was good.

They praised both Cheongryeo and Park Moon-dae and said that it was an unexpected friendship and the well-chosen stage attracted a lot of attention and was a huge success.

In particular the fact that two people from different groups sing two songs with completely different concepts in harmony makes it more impressive and fun in a meta way.

To top it all off it was even ranked among the most popular videos on overseas WeTube.

-The moment when a wish I didn't even know I wanted came true

-Maaaapsosa They are so cool! (eye heart emoticon)

-God when did we do a performance like this? That's right I don't need to know why. I just want to see more performances like this! (flaming emoticon)

-VT Star. That's my dream group ☺

However it was inevitable that the more this happened the more the die-hard fans of both sides became depressed…

They have been hostile for several years due to various incidents. A member of my group who hahahahahahahaha with a rival group that has deep emotional rifts!

-Please let's just stop here. I'll kill you if you plan a joint trip like this.

-I didn't watch Orbit that way but after all

Of course I couldn't say this openly on the water. Anyway it was undoubtedly true that the stage reaction was good.

So the trend was to try to somehow rationalize the situation and get over it by circulating cropped versions of GIFs and videos of only one person's performance on social media.

In a word a period of stimulation and turmoil!

Meanwhile Ether and Spacer's comeback?

It was a bit annoying to the Testa fandom and not that big of a deal to the public.

-If you feel like you're getting stomach pain due to copycat try Water Bomb to get some relief.

-I'm so angry that they're going to hit the unflown kids again.

-I'm just looking at the stars.

Thanks to the huge box office success of this album and the huge popularity it gained from Waterbomb fans were not too anxious.

I thought Spacer and Eter would make a comeback in such a dull atmosphere.

That is until Spacer's teaser appeared.

[Spacer 'Hello' Teaser]

The teaser itself did not cause a huge stir.

It was just a short cut of the Spacer members happily going about their daily lives over a good song.

-You're handsome ㅠㅠ

-Their voice… OMG

-THIS SONG WILL BE AMAZING

The song was addictive even after just a passing listen.

Spacer's composition member created the top notes Kim Rae-bin participated in the arrangement and Park Moon-dae verified it with his characteristic 'grasping ear' so it came out smoothly.

Ambitious plan!

However there was no public listening to the song as it included a teaser for a male idol that they were not interested in and as usual the usual scene unfolded with domestic and foreign fans leaving comments.

However Spacer's new title was not something that could only be seen in the teaser.

A few days later.

-Is this our kids' song?;; (link)

A link was posted on fans' SNS.

'what?'

People who click on the link without thinking are immediately shocked.

"…!"

I could hear the familiar voices of Spacer members and the melody I had already heard in the teaser.

However that was not a video posted by Orbit Stars their agency.

[My own hydrating delicious sports drink!]

[Honey Shake Water]

The sight of several people taking turns taking turns sipping a particular beverage after a hard day.

Edited to 15 seconds it was… a WeTube advertising video advertising a new drink.

Spacer's title was used as background music.

-??

-What is this?

It's a CM song.

Spacer provided a song with only slightly modified lyrics from their title song to be used in a product commercial for a company that was marketing very aggressively.

For free!

Of course it was a confidential agreement.

Park Moon-dae almost lost the system by trying to find this company that was conducting aggressive marketing and had an advertisement scheduled around the same time as Spacer's comeback.

'Damn information power.'

In any case the efforts of the working-level staff with the allowance paid off and the contract was ultimately concluded successfully.

In fact it is nothing but a unilateral donation from Orbit Stars Entertainment!

Still if we had not had expectations about the song we might not have been able to sign the contract but the value of Kim Rae-bin's name written on the arranger was great.

'Because he's already composed a successful OST song.'

The other company eventually put their stamp on the word that the composer of ‘Black hole’ which resonated at this Water Bomb performance participated as a main participant in the arrangement.

So now.

[Hi Hi Hello

Can you hear this voice?

If you can hear me please answer now]

Spacer’s songs are being exposed to smartphone users across the country.

Moon-Dae Park deliberately logged out of his WeTube account and even checked the frequency of exposure of the advertisement.

‘It’s significant.’

It was very satisfying to be broadcast like this for almost a week.

‘Anyway our company is not in a situation where we can aggressively increase TV exposure.’

This agency has had a lot of broadcasts cut off due to a dispute with T1.

Even with last year’s target idol Testa and popular female idol Mirinae there were really few programs that Spacer could appear in right away.

‘Then expose it to the public on the other side.’

In this way various versions of the company’s beverage advertisement were broadcast on WeTube.

In other words the most popular and catchy chorus part in Spacer’s new title has been floating around in users’ heads.

-What song is this?

I found this (link)

ㄴㄱㅅㄱㅅ

It was a strategy that the first team could not use.

This is because handing over one's title as advertising music upon release could easily be linked to the album image or name value.

But the effect was clear.

As long as the song is good there is no promotion more certain than increasing exposure.

Moreover it is an unbiased exposure.

'Even people who ignore male idol songs are a bit different once they focus on the image of a commercial song.'

As soon as the Spacer members heard the story they agreed to try it unconditionally.

In particular this album is said to be the album in which the members have participated the most so far.

So to put it simply the Spacer members were also in this state.

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: I really wish at least one more person would listen to it ㅠㅠ

So there was nothing rough.

Popularity.

Everything is set up according to that!

Moreover there is a decisive task here.

-It's easy to see haha.

-The song is good. I'll have a look.

Spacer calmly removed the MV.

A clean story without excessive conceptual worldview or fictional elements.

The MV was effortless with a sporty choreography scene shot on an outdoor basketball court on a nice day and a story about the boys posting the video on their social media.

It only maximizes visual beauty and good feeling.

Because the barrier to entry was minimal there were few people who were turned away from the music video.

That's how Spacer's song began to go viral.

[Advertising CM of the Year selected by me (subjectively if you refute that I may be wrong you are right)]

[Did you know this was a spacer song?]

[Honey Shack? If you search for what advertising song is this does it come up?]

* * *

And five days later.

Spacer's song slowly climbed the music charts and entered the top 40.

Immediately after finishing <Azusa> if you exclude the debut album the highest ranking!

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Ahhhhh

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠShould we go up further? No I'm satisfied even if I can't climb higher but should I still be greedy? What do you think?

-Calm down.

Park Moon-dae laughed while looking at the strange KakaoTalk message sent by Kwon Hee-seung but in fact he was reminded of the limitations of this strategy.

'If things continue like this it will be difficult for the music to rise further.'

This is because there is one more drawback to making it a CM song.

Fatigue builds up.

If you continue to watch forced advertisements you will develop animosity.

'Plus once you realize that it's an idol song the effect starts to diminish.'

Now turning around the music charts was no different from luck.

And the other agency also knows this.

'Wonderhole.'

Eter's agency.

Even during the Cha Yu-jin incident last time they were the ones who found out about the runaway from home in real time and planned it.

Park Moon-dae also knew that there was someone in this company who was leaking words in that direction.

But I deliberately didn't catch it now.

'Let's just use it once.'

He put a lot of effort into creating a trap.

Spacer's comeback was also intentionally scheduled for two weeks before Ether. To make it look appetizing.

And the shortcomings of this promotion were not intentionally hidden. It was intentionally left unattended so that Wonder Hall could obtain relevant information. Make your weaknesses clear.

"yes."

[Ether teaser release imminent… Monster rookie takes over the music industry]

So as a result Eter does not have to adjust the comeback schedule.

'I think I can beat Spacer at least.'

Their shortcomings seemed clear and they calculated that if they made a comeback anyway they would be able to push their popularity.

'Anyway for male idols building a fandom is more important than popularity.'

Rather they may have thought that the spacer would receive enough attention that it would be perfect to eat it up.

However there was something that Eter overlooked.

"good."

Park Moon-Dae's side had been gnashing their teeth at planning this scenario for months.

And that night.

A post like this was secretly posted on an internet community.

————————= =

[Spacer's music is doing well]

But am I the only one who thinks of Tea Holic for no reason as does this title concept?

————————= =

-Wow I thought it was just me! Haha a bit of a tea-holic in the early stages? Songs from when a regular entertainment show appeared for a long time haha.

That's right it's a bit refreshing and not complicated… Something like a hoodie stage costume suddenly comes to mind when Ha Jin-tae has brown hairㅠㅠ

-I know what you mean haha.

-Huh it's not similar at all.

Ah I didn't just mean that they looked similar it meant that they felt similar. There was no pressure and this was the point.

The story was that Spacer's music video subtly overlapped with T-Holic's heyday.

This opinion did not receive much rejection or sarcasm.

This is because T Holic's group's heyday was long past and Spacer did not have an image that could be held in check.

It was just a tone that boasted the insight of an enthusiast.

-But it's kind of funny. Eter is a concept-filled testa line and this spacer is like the T-holic line on the other hand.

ㄴㅋㅋㅋK-pop is exciting

After a day or two it received a small amount of attention from the community and a few die-hard idol fans were talking about it.

Articles began to appear.

[Spacer who resembles T-Holic Eter who resembles Testa… Mixed views of the agency]

[Will Spacer become the next Tea Holic?]

But this time it wasn't from Ether.

'You guys are the only ones who know how to unplay.'

It was published by Park Moon-dae's Orbit Stars Entertainment.

An article linking Spacer with Tiholic Ether and Testa.

It's framing.

Combining composition and narrative!

In this way Park Moon-dae began to reverse the group positioning that Eter had done during his debut.

PDF by: traitorAIZEN

KW
데뷔 못 하면
죽는 병 걸림
백덕수 현대 판타지 장편소설

Debut or Die

– 데못죽 –

- VOLUME 8 -

-AUTHOR-백덕수

-ILLUSTRATOR-
텡

[DAOTRANSLATE]

Chapter 501

A spacer with a comfortable concept like T Holic.

Eter with a strong concept like Testa.

Articles about similar-looking junior groups with different entertainment companies started popping up all over the place and were used as firewood on social media and communities.

It was a provocative article with obvious points of rebuttal.

That's why aggro is so popular because there are so many people who want to say something.

[Reporter crossing the line… (link)]

[What do you think about Spacer resembling T-Holic this time?]

[Is it just me who is like Jagang Doo-cheon who is full of concepts and full of hearts?]

At first glance it may seem that both junior groups are on the same line but in fact there was a crucial difference.

The question is whether there is a layer of intense antipathy or not.

For reference the latter is a spacer.

-They look like their old brothers? I'll come see you

-ㅎㅎㅠI kind of miss it.

What resembles this spacer's position was T-Holic's early and mid-debut concept.

This means that it is an old story that has already happened more than 10 years ago.

Moreover since T Holic had already passed its heyday and changed its positioning there was no way to directly compare it to its contemporaries.

Rather because the quality is good it evokes a strange sense of nostalgia and enjoys a promotional effect.

But what about Ether?

– Haha here we go again

-Isn't this boring? Now get out of the way of Testa and there will be articles like that haha.

In the article the senior idol they said they inherited was Testa.

An idol in his prime who reached a career high in album sales just a month or two before last year's target idol.

It was absurd to inherit a living breathing ongoing powerhouse with less than half the buzz.

Park Moon-dae smiled and flipped through his smartphone.

'In addition fans have already said that Eter is similar to Testa.'

Now that a normal comparison group called 'Spacer' has appeared even the public has become aware of it.

-So it seems like this new idol is conscious of testers~

Of course the article did not explicitly state that Eter copied Testa's concept by benchmarking it.

All I could say was that the two groups were clearly following the path of their respective senior idol groups.

‘It can’t be too explicit.’

It was a natural choice to avoid giving the nuance that ‘the Testa Spacer side is driving public opinion.’

However even this cannot quell the ridicule and controversy that will arise.

-Was Spacer’s performance comparable to that of the all-time legend on the stone board?

-There are no jokes. Where is your conscience?

-It’s just that they’re junior idols making a comeback together so it seems like they’re making a fuss and it’s sensitive.

-Oh please I’m just saying that the concept is similar not that the grades are similarㅠㅠ Please understand the context.

□At this point it seems like you just want to swear and don’t look at the context.

Either Spacer or Eter could not dare to compare their grades with the mentioned senior idols.

And here the trend of public opinion changes slightly.

There are people who compare Spacer and Eter who are in similar positions.

‘Still I’m just trying to decide which one is better.’

The mentality of wanting to determine comparative advantage and rank which Rising side has more promising future!

VS play.

It was an eternally fun imagination.

And of course Eter won by decision based on the average grades alone.

-Spacer seems to have been caught off guard this time and the Wonder Hole rookie came out with his teeth gnashed so honestly Eter?

-At least Eter has potential. Look at the performance of the kids who debuted now haha.

The problem is that as each person's argument goes back and forth it becomes easy for the story to become more extreme and extreme to attract attention.

Like this!

-Honestly isn't it a bit too much of Eva to put the popularity on Spacer? Haha isn't it shameful to do this through a CF song?

Compared to Godgi like Ether it feels more solemn…

Eter has a chance of getting a tester seeing as he achieved success with his debut song.

The moment when logic takes a leap forward.

Rather they become prey.

?LOL

What can I say honestly Ether is backward compatible with Testa both capital and skill.

A group that imitates current idols is already saying that haha. Even though I'm not a fan it's funny.

Do you live in a different Republic of Korea than me?

Eter fans really don't understand the topic.

Ridicule poured in.

It was different from the positioning of Rising a dark horse as a rival while being mentioned along with Testa like at the time of debut.

This is not 'Did you have a fight with Testa?'

The question was 'Has it succeeded Testa?'

If you think about it that way the evaluation scale becomes very strict.

Because what you have to do as well as Testa becomes the reference point!

A group of people with crazy recognition who sold millions of albums ranked at the top of music charts and took first place in Idol of the Year voting!

-If this is a Wonder Hole unplay it will fail haha.

In the end those who want to defend Ether have no choice but to change their stance.

-Ether fans don't think so. It's aggro… phew.

-The ban on food at the mention of senior idols is all aggro~

-Eter is a rookie who has only released one album. Don't talk about succession or anything like that. Really.

Ether fans took the lead in claiming that 'Testa and Ether are different.'

There is no choice but to draw a line unconditionally.

Of course it was like this under the water.

-Those old shacks are really annoying.

-It wasn't just one or two concept-filled idols it was just 'Sam 1 Star' who was the representative. It's really sensitive.

In any case it seemed that public opinion management was working and the situation was calming down.

Moreover as another controversy erupted and a few days passed this topic also seemed to slowly die down.

But the next week.

With the release of Eter's new song MV gasoline has once again run out of firewood.

-???

-lol

This is because blatant references are now visible to people.

Testa!

* * *

The night I returned to Korea after the first tour ended.

I sat at the dining table in my dorm and accessed WeTube.

The MV of Eter's new song <Shut out> is currently playing through a promotional advertisement.

[Shoot harshly Yes BAMM

You can't catch me]

It has a nice oriental style great choreography and great visuals.

This time too it was chosen well.

But still.

-lol

-It's coming.

-It looks like a mix between a haengcha and a saber.

-So blatantly like this? LOL

'It's all done you bastards.'

Once a frame of similarity was established the method was to find similarities even if only on purpose.

However since these guys really benchmarked Testa it is bound to be clearly visible.

There were a lot of similarities from the four directions concept camera work album photo costumes to choreography.

As a result wreckers came out in full force.

[Wonder Hole leaves behind the legendary T-holic and imitates idols from other strange agencies]

[A rookie male idol from a large entertainment agency whose secrets were all exposed]

Haven't you seen that once a celebrity starts getting criticized even facts that weren't an issue in the past come into new light and get criticized?

This was a similar phenomenon.

Even the last album was being thoroughly analyzed.

-Now that I look at it the chord progression of the song is at the level of copy-pasting.

-This song couldn't have been released without Kim Raebin.

– Didn't Byeolbyul Song participate? Haha.

yes. I need to catch that.

I nodded and took the can I was holding.

Sweet.

It was the first beer I drank in about a week.

Isn't it worth drinking because the reason is a toast?

Gulp.

Carbonic acid went down my throat. There is no other cider.

'This is it.'

I grinned as I put down the can of wheat beer.

For reference the spacer also benefited from this plate.

[Inheriting Tea Holic? Spacer: I tried to summarize in 5 minutes what this song is all about.]

There was controversy over Wrecka so viral marketing took place again.

So the music rankings rose further.

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Brother…

-Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Placed 19th ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

At this time it is said that the spacers were very happy among themselves shedding tears and mucus regardless of whether they were criticized or not. I even cried after winning first place on a music show.

Actually I was satisfied here.

‘I took a hit at Wonder Hole so that’s it.’

This means that everything went as planned and the company’s finances were raised thanks to the success of Spacer so they planned to get out of the business.

To be honest as a Wonderhole rookie didn’t you just practice hard and debut? After some time the people who used to criticize you will become aware of that.

Something like this.

-Aren’t people embarrassed? Honestly there is nothing wrong with Eter who just practiced hard. It’s not plagiarism it’s too much.

So it had to end when the agency that was at fault was being criticized.

‘Actually that’s true. I wonder what these guys who just debuted knew.’

If the agency agrees and changes the route so that it is no longer involved with Testa then that is fine.

-Congratulations

I tried to end it by replying to Kwon Hee-seung’s text message. It’s true.

But… unexpected support fire suddenly arrived.

“…after.”

Check out this WeTube video.

[These guys are our version of MZ…? We are also part of the MZ generation! (Burning emoticon) <T-Holic's Show Business> Clip]

That's right.

T-holic themselves mentioned Spacer in their entertainment…

And that too with a very positive nuance.

'I thought they were crazy people.'

But I soon remembered a common sense cause and checked it out.

-Are you planning on not renewing the contracts of T-Holic seniors?

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Do you want to know?

That means it's true.

There were just three months left until my T-Holic contract was renewed.

In short I was screwed a bit when I was leaving the company.

'It must have been quite X… '

Well looking at the fact that they invested a lot of money in Ethereum and created a dedicated planning team to change the route it seems like there must have been quite a few upsets when T Holic was on the decline.

It's been a while since the T-holic members' schedules centered around individual activities. Now we will each sign a contract with the place we want and then move on to group activities.

'That's not a bad ending either.'

I nodded.

In fact these guys even contacted us.

[Senior Ha Jin-tae from T-holic: Mr. Moon Dae would you like to appear on our entertainment show one more time? Haha artists from the agency can also appear as a group!]

"…"

Honestly I don't know if I can go that far.

'Wouldn't they try to kill you in Wonder Hall?'

I don't know what they're going to do if they release the dating rumor or the club story to kill Ransom or for revenge.

I guess there's a part of me that believes it… Anyway.

"I decline."

What are you trying to do with your agency's group appearance? There's still a lot to do here.

'This is just preliminary work completed.'

Pressing down on Ether was just the first step.

Now even if these guys do things like release the testa at the same time unless they can beat us in any one area it will end up as 'falling short of expectations.'

Because the 'vs Testa' frame has disappeared and the 'Testa succession' frame has been added.

Eter will be compared to Spacer not us based on 'how successful they are as senior idols.'

They can no longer use benchmarking that blatantly takes references from us.

‘Try to do well.’

I’m curious as to how these good-working Wonderhole bastards will get through this hell difficulty right now.

‘Well even if it’s not right away an escape route will naturally emerge over time.’

I admit it but Wonder Hall is a very good agency so I wouldn’t miss it.

And even the moment of being criticized like this can be used as a narrative for the group…

‘It will take a year to do it naturally.’

By then you will have risen to a level where you will no longer be able to fight.

Moreover since Tea Holic came out like this… it may take more time for public opinion to rebound.

I shrugged.

Anyway as for what Testa wanted to do after clearing away Ether… I guess I’ll have to start with this story.

As everyone knows there was originally a nickname that Testa was called.

-T1’s son.

Although it was meant to be sarcastic it was also a metaphor for a simple fact.

Since I debuted in a survival program promoted by T1 their affiliated broadcasts received full support.

But now it’s almost like being disowned.

This means that now he is a son a nabal and there is no soup.

‘Rather it is in an ambiguous state and cannot be attached to any broadcasting platform.’

LeTi platform? It’s still in the early stages and he already has a direct son. VTIC.

therefore.

‘It’s time for us to find a new family.’

I checked the message from my agency’s management staff.

-yes. I have a meeting at MBS tomorrow. (greeting emoticon)

I didn’t appear on Cheongryeo and MBS’ old programs for nothing.

‘It was all to make connections.’

That was the deal I made to him.

-There is a producer in our company who I would like you to introduce.

There is nothing to worry about now.

‘Son of the Airwaves.’

Let’s try that.

Chapter 502

Here is an old public broadcast program.

A program that had already passed its peak and continued its existence before ending in a shabby way.

‘But the name is famous thanks to its heyday.’

In short most people know this program but have no intention of watching it anymore.

An entertainment show that sucked all the buzz and fun out of it and ended.

If this program receives a favorable opportunity through personal connections and manages to start a renewal season… will there be any expectations?

Is it possible to get a casting worthy of the name he earned long ago in his heyday?

The answer is obvious.

‘It won’t work.’

Celebrities and their agencies are not stupid and popular people will appear on popular programs these days. You’ll already be getting invitations.

‘Why would you choose such a dangerous thing?’

It is eliminated at the point when there is a better alternative.

‘And… even considering the nature of the program it’s unreasonable.’

This is because this entertainment show is a ranked contest program.

＜True Battle＞.

Maybe some people remember this name.

This is because Kim Rae-bin who read all the documents on the first day of the meeting raised his hand and shouted.

“It’s the same program that ran when we debuted as Wishz!”

“that’s right.”

This is a program by a joint group of Testa and VTIC that debuted at LeTi in a virtual world created by the system.

“Oh I remember. That program was famous. But why are you ruining it now?”

“That was already a few years ago.”

“Oh…”

There it was a successful contest program that even reached season 7 but here as more time passed we faced a slightly different reality.

As time went by reaching Seasons 15 and 16 the topic became less and less popular and the original PD left again causing a failure.

I calmly declared the solemn truth.

“And the industry consensus is that the renewed version coming out this time will probably fail…”

“…”

‘I can’t help it.’

It's hard to cast famous cast members because it's been so well known that expectations are low.

However since the name is valuable if recruiting famous actors fails it will be a rebound and a failure and you will not be able to dream.

It's just… I don't get any attention and I'm headed to hell.

In short it is a failed program destined to fail.

Even Keun Se-jin who was holding up the documents clicked his tongue.

"Wow you even included survival rules."

"Well recruiting people must be difficult."

In the meantime it is said that in order to make it more provocative they have adopted a survival format rather than a competition which makes it more difficult to recruit names.

'There is a higher chance of losing money by coming out so what's the point of coming out if you've already made it?'

It's not for nothing that existing survival programs feature amateurs who have not yet debuted or people who have debuted but are not famous.

If you have more to gain than to lose shouldn't you be willing to endure situations like being eliminated and laughed at?

'PD must be in pain too.'

So realistically there was only one route to overcome this situation.

-At least one star with a very high name value is confirmed to appear.

From there you can start recruiting.

The moment when it is confirmed that you can raise your game based on that and even if you lose you can be recognized by the public by saying ‘I fought well’ and ‘I can’t help it.’

Depending on each individual’s situation there may be plenty of names willing to appear.

However even when the program was about to be scheduled it was not possible to find such a big star cast (of course)…

“…But you’re saying we’re going to go out anyway.”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin narrowed his eyes with an expression that said he had a lot to say. Liu Chengwu smiled awkwardly.

“The production crew’s reaction was good.”

“Of course it is!”

okay.

Sure enough when Testa waved the bait at the program he got asked right away.

-I think this is the first time something like this has happened at another broadcasting station… You are very proactive.

According to the agency’s staff it is unheard of for a public broadcaster’s production team to make such a polite and earnest request for a meeting.

That’s right. These guys were desperate for a popular celebrity totem.

What if Testa becomes that totem at this time?

“Thanks to us I think they will do a good job editing once the difficulties in casting the program are resolved. and…”

“and?”

“I think I can leave a good impression on MBS through this program.”

“…!”

You become a contributor to the launch of the renewed edition.

＜Re-listing! The same position as in Idol Co. Ltd. was possible.

Although it is a public broadcasting network that is now losing popularity to OTT programs there are still many corners to be missed from year-end song festivals to music broadcasts and weekend entertainment.

‘And you can’t pamper us like you owe us money for letting us debut.’

It is possible to build a cooperative relationship on equal footing.

He only talks about being the son of a public broadcaster but in reality he is an ally.

Besides there is one more advantage.

“And the producer’s rank is high. I think it will work better.”

“Oh… I see.”

A person who has been promoted due to accumulated years of leave and good connections will have more influence within the company than a newbie who has just been appointed.

But Keun Se-jin got straight to the point.

“But isn’t influence more important than rank? “Seeing that you were in charge of this program I thought you might be the type of person who works according to your own personality rather than career advancement.”

If you look at the fact that he is in charge of a damn program it means that he is a bully who got caught up in company politics and ended up doing nothing.

I chuckled.

“There was another reason why you took on this program.”

“okay?”

“uh. “He started his career as a producer at a broadcasting company with Season 3 of this program.”

“ah.”

Perhaps it was because of that regret that they decided to renew it but it means that the broadcasting station had no expectations for this program so much so that even at that level they could not raise much of the budget.

If you look at the programs that PD Lee has been in charge of so far the entertainment batting average is quite high.

“Then if it goes well this time… Oh the broadcasting station will be very surprised. And the PD is also recognized~”

“Wow that’s a good result for everyone…!”

Keun Se-jin may have meant that we would have a lot to eat through the synergy of all of this but in any case Sun Ah-hyun seemed happy that it would be of great help not only to us but also to the production team.

‘Well both are correct.’

But for all of this to come true there is one premise.

“For that to happen we must win.”

An overwhelming victory recognized by the overwhelming majority of viewers.

stage.

Without that all of this is negative.

This means that the moment Testa makes even the slightest mistake it is a crazy act that completely reduces the name value he has built up as a member of the first team.

But still.

“As long as you win this is the best.”

Once the airwaves were established it was easy to negotiate with other platforms. Because the hurdles are lowered.

If we do well T1 may be able to appear on affiliate entertainment shows as well…

‘If only that happens.’

Now you no longer have to worry about domestic promotions.

“Hmm… We have to keep being popular and topical in Korea so people will listen to our music even if we target it overseas.”

“yes.”

“wait for a sec.”

Bae Se-jin intervened.

“Isn’t that a bit reckless? There’s no guarantee that these production crews will do that. “Even if we do well we can fail due to other factors. This is our job.”

“…”

“…I didn’t say this because I wanted to ruin the mood. “I just… think I need to say it at least once.”

embrace.

“yes. “You’re right.”

“…!”

“And actually even if we don’t come here we won’t suddenly go bankrupt.”

If Testa is satisfied with its position and wants to see a gradual decline it is actually okay not to do this.

I have ridden the Daesang and participated in a world tour and the Testa’s name will be vividly remembered for at least two years.

but.

“But if you want to keep moving up even as you get older you have to find a platform somehow.”

Like the current VTIC.

Now was the most important time.

“…”

Bae Se-jin nodded with a slightly heavy expression. And a slightly solemn look flashes on the other guys’ faces as well.

“OK I’m totally ready for that! “Let’s get out there quickly!”

Except that guy.

The other guys nodded ignoring Cha Yu-jin’s cries as if they had made a promise.

“We will do it by majority vote.”

“good.”

And then the voting began.

Raebin Kim brought his laptop and ran an anonymous voting program.

The result…

“It’s unanimous.”

Everyone votes in favor.

“There’s no point in being anonymous?”

“I know.”

The members looked at each other and laughed.

So we decided to take a risk and take a leap that seemed reckless at first glance.

And soon after this news the embargo was lifted under the active leadership of MBS.

[‘Return of the Legend’ <Jinseong Competition> Will I Participate in the National Idol Test?]

And the fans’ reaction exploded.

* * *

At first no one believed it.

-???

-Why is Testa here?

-Why?; I don't think it's possible I'm not stupid

The probability of a first-tier idol appearing on a survival program that suddenly fails and gets renewed.

In fact I had to assume it didn't exist. If you're not careful you'll only end up losing a lot of money so why take that risk and go on tour at that time?

However the article appeared again and the facts were confirmed by reporters who even called Testa's company.

[Testa confirms appearance on MBS <True Battle>…"We will show you an intense stage"]

The fan reaction at that moment… First I will give an example from under the water full of merciless individual fans.

-Are you kidding me again?

-Eupseomdaeng is this true?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

I'm sorry Gommer. I won't stop you from being friends with Toemultic. Please save me.

…It seemed like it gave people stomachaches again following the performance featuring Cheongryeo.

'I'll win and pay you back.'

In this situation if Testa gains extravagant benefits from that program it will actually kill the taste. Because I wouldn't have expected it.

And losing on stage as a member of this group?

‘I’m rather unsure of my quality.’

No matter how high people’s expectations are I don’t think we’ll fall behind if we’re just setting up the stage.

In fact even now if we do information warfare our weakness is…

[Survey available!]

[Tips: You can customize the features with feedback through surveys.]

Yeah I don’t use it.

Does it seem like information is urgent right now? I don’t know how many times this has happened.

‘Jingle bastard.’

You don’t give up.

It doesn’t matter.

I laughed inwardly when I saw the pop-up.

‘Spacer’s comeback was successful and the drama starring Bae Se-jin will be released soon.’

Now what if we perform well in this program and then make a comeback?

This means that the company’s rating goes up as planned.

And looking at Kwon Hee-seung’s last case if you raise the company’s level it is possible to absorb additional ‘■■■ fragments’.

‘Then it means that we can also absorb what Cheongryeo has.’

Geoldal is also diligently looking into the internal algorithm of this ‘company system’.

If done well it could all be finished before Cheongryeo goes to serve in the military.

therefore.

‘You don’t need it.’

Without hesitation I removed the pop-up without even making a gesture. And it was just as I was trying to focus on the stage plan again.

“…?”

Suddenly a translucent blue color appeared in my vision.

As if he were wearing sunglasses.

‘what?’

I didn’t know what it was for a moment but the moment I focused my eyes on that blue color I knew what it was.

that…

It was a huge pop-up.

Floated in front of my nose.

[Detecting owner’s dissatisfaction!]

“…!”

Like protesting.

and…

[[Start automatic re-update ‘For Company Use’]

for a moment.

Chapter 503

System automatic re-update?

The moment I saw the pop-up saying something crazy my head started spinning furiously.

Considering the incident that occurred during the last update what needs to be prioritized right now is…

‘stop!’

[An error may occur when you force stop automatic updates.]

You bitch.

If I did this I couldn’t just stop it because I didn’t know that something terrible would happen.

Once I confirmed the situation I had to move.

‘And… in the last update steer Cha Yu-jin woke up.’

then.

I immediately got up from my seat and started looking around each room.

“Mumundae?”

“Why are you running around like that… Huh?”

“Hyung are you working out?”

And found it.

There was one guy who hit his head and fell while working on his laptop.

There was one guy who passed out while reading an e-book in bed.

And… there is one guy at the desk who is looking at the program introduction leaning his head on the bookshelf and closing his eyes.

"…"

Raebin Kim Sejin Bae Cheongwoo Ryu.

Three people.

I almost bit my tongue.

Let's think about it with common sense.

'Can three people suddenly fall asleep at the same time?'

And only those who stated that they 'felt dizzy for a moment' during the last system update?

And I wasn't the only one who had similar thoughts.

As soon as I was briefed on the situation the expressions on the faces of those who were awake changed.

"Wait a minute this can't be right…"

"Seriously? "Is this happening again?"

I again racked my brain over the guys who had begun an urgent discussion about whether I should go to the emergency room.

What caused this?

And I reflected on the contents of the pop-up that appeared earlier.

‘Detecting owner dissatisfaction… Re-update?’

At that moment an idea struck my head.

no way.

…Are you saying that they did this because they judged me to be ‘dissatisfied’ because I kept ignoring that damn survey without even touching the system?

‘Damn it.’

In short doesn’t it sound like he’s going to keep adjusting the system until I can use him?

‘Do you know what kind of customer satisfaction CS is?’

It was even creepy.

Because of the lifeline of the VTIC leader who had to face mission failure without a status window the company system was kept alive but there were too many variables.

‘…as if there is an ego.’

The human figure of the system that allowed conversation before being destroyed came to mind. A slight chill went down my spine.

However this does not mean that we are not prepared for this situation.

‘Of course there have been times when we assumed that the update incident would happen again.’

With someone who has experienced it.

“…”

I made eye contact with Cha Yu-jin. The guy nodded slightly.

‘There’s already a guy who has memories of the time when he steered.’

Even if all three of them are rolled back to that time… as long as they blow up that damn public broadcast survival program they will be able to survive more stably than before.

‘No in fact from their point of view this may be better than being alone.’

If these symptoms occur in many people there is a problem that can be definitely prevented.

Feeling of isolation.

This is a situation where I am suddenly thrown into an unfamiliar environment and start to question my sanity.

It was the same with Cha Yu-jin but that’s what makes people difficult.

‘But the side effects… ’

“…If this continues almost half of our members might forget what they were doing right?”

“…”

I clenched my teeth and released them.

I can’t even dream of group activities until it’s restored to its original state.

“sorry.”

“…!”

Big Sejin’s face changed in an instant and he smiled faintly and slapped his shoulder.

“Mundae why are you creating responsibilities that don’t exist? “I’m just sorting out the situation~”

No it is my responsibility.

However if I told the guy who was trying to lighten the mood that it was my responsibility it would only ruin the mood so I decided not to do that to make myself feel better.

So instead we took action.

“I am against the hospital. [You lose your memory and wake up in a hospital bed? It’s so typical. “They’ll probably misunderstand that I’m making fun of you.]”

“But… I think it’s necessary to contact you just in case.”

“yes. Oh and the top priority is to be prepared to explain things well when the members wake up. yes?”

The conclusion was like this.

First wait at your accommodation.

However to enable a quick explanation we decided to organize the story by collecting evidence from the hotel through photos and the data WeTube portal site.

“I contacted the manager so I could go to the emergency room right away if there was a problem!”

“okay.”

Finally a dramatic agreement was made to try to wake them up if they didn’t wake up within 30 minutes and if they still didn’t wake up go to the hospital.

And we sat down each watching one room at a time.

The tension filled the room as if I was breaking into a cold sweat.

How many minutes had passed?

A signal has arrived.

"…! W here…!"

"…!!"

It was Sun Ah-hyun who shouted.

We immediately ran to where he was standing guard.

The place where Sun Ah-hyun was…

'Bae Se-jin.'

It was his cell.

Sun Ah-hyun who had already entered the room and was standing next to the bed turned her head and shouted.

"I think you'll wake up…!"

Bae Se-jin was clearly wiggling her facial muscles.

'after.'

A tense moment.

"Uhm…"

"…"

Bae Se-jin stood up frowning and pressing his eyes.

And I put my energy into my head even tighter.

Steer Bae Se-jin?

That guy is a person who was falsely accused of using drugs at the beginning of his debut was expelled from the group and probably went to prison.

'There is a high possibility that he is an idol and a fool and is very tired of the entertainment industry life.'

In severe cases the probability of distrust of humans is quite high.

Aside from everything else wouldn't the uncooperative behavior during <Azusa> have gotten worse instead of getting better?

So I was thinking about taking a more cautious approach.

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth blankly.

Wait… far away?

"…What are you doing?"

"…??"

"…?!"

You're fine.

On the contrary Bae Se-jin seemed to be frightened when he saw the idiot-like people looking down at him while he was sleeping in his room.

"Oh!! "Brother are you out of your mind?!"

"Of course you are sane! "No you fell asleep while reading a book and now you're telling me…"

And as I looked around I was embarrassed to see the condition of the guys who had even brought photo albums with them.

“What is that again?”

“…That’s it.”

i get it.

I guess… it’s not this guy.

After a quick summary of the situation.

Soon Bae Se-jin also joined this trend.

The guy who came out into the hallway looked at Kim Rae-bin’s room and Ryu Cheong-woo’s room alternately with a distraught expression and muttered.

“…So you’re saying I could end up like Cha Yu-jin last time?”

“You talk harshly.”

“What are you going to say?”

Bae Se-jin whose attack power increased by asking ‘Are you out of your mind?’ growled at Cha Yu-jin. It was a very peaceful picture considering how shitty it was.

But I took advantage of this opportunity to think about what I had to do.

First of all we know that Bae Se-jin’s memories from the time of steering have not returned… but we don’t know what the two remaining guys will be like.

So that is.

‘Should I tell you?’

I heard you went through quite a bit of hardship in your previous life.

‘Getting the sale in advance might help you mentally prepare.’

In the end I called Bae Se-jin who was holding the e-book reader and looking distraught.

“Hyung wait…”

“uh?”

It was then.

“Huh!”

A sound erupted from the outer room.

It was Raebin Kim’s room.

“Ravin!”

Everyone this guy and that guy ran down the hallway in a hurry and ran into the room.

And this time the situation we face is…

“It seems like a side effect of an energy drink! “I tasted a product from company P that was newly released this month…”

“wait for a sec.”

hey.

“Ravin. “How are you now?”

Kim Rae-bin who was blinking answered calmly.

“…? “I feel refreshed thanks to the nap…?”

“…”

It’s fine as is.

The members lost out after two consecutive saves.

“after.”

“Oh didn’t it just happen that everyone fell asleep?”

“…Everyone has been overexerting themselves these days.”

“Ugh we all stayed up late yesterday in a meeting about appearing on that program…”

“The right answer was not to go to the hospital. “I’m smart.”

Now everyone is wondering if it was just a coincidence.

‘…indeed.’

I asked the confused Kim Rae-bin once again.

“Do you suddenly remember memories that never existed?”

“Nothing in particular… Ah is there a memory I really need to remember?”

“no.”

Rather it went well.

I patted the guy on the head and came out of the room. It seemed like the other guys were sticking by Kim Rae-bin and explaining the situation.

‘Then the only one left now is Ryu Chengwu.’

This may not be a big deal either but let’s not relax.

Even if you don't lose your ego sometimes strange things can happen.

"Now let's wait in front of here."

"Hmm."

So all the members ended up waiting in Ryu Cheong-woo's room.

but…

"…it's too narrow."

"…"

It was quite uncomfortable with 7 adults crammed into the room.

'hmm.'

Is it okay to just stay like this? Since the previous two attempts were fine now is the time to try something a little bolder.

As a test I stood up and called out to Liu Chengyu who was leaning against the bookshelf.

I was wondering if this might be able to wake me up if I was really asleep.

"brother."

"…"

There was no response.

'I guess it wasn't like that.'

I let go of more expectations and changed the way I sing.

By referring to this guy exactly.

“Liu Qingwu.”

It was that moment.

“…!”

Liu Chengwu suddenly opened his eyes.

“It’s mom!”

“Did he originally wake up like this?”

“It’s like a Cult movie now.”

As they each added a word I internally held back a sigh of relief.

If you open your eyes when your name is called it’s obvious.

‘This guy was just asleep.’

Well considering that I didn’t fall but was leaning against a bookshelf that might be the case. If I had known this would happen I would have just woken everyone up a long time ago instead of being careful and waiting.

‘I have to explain that I made a bit of a fuss… ’

“…Who are you?”

“…”

“…”

for a moment.

I checked Liu Chengwu’s face.

Instead of gentleness the guy’s face showed a faint look of wariness and confusion.

And that expression became stronger the moment I looked behind me.

“Cha Yujin? And Kim Rae-bin…”

“…”

This guy didn’t know Park Moon-dae.

But the fact that only those two people bothered to recognize me and called me… I see.

I opened my mouth without stopping.

“Is your group’s name by any chance Steer?”

“yes? Yes I did. But what is the situation now…”

“…”

X done…

* * *

Ryu Cheng-wu returned to his steer days.

“thank you.”

I handed him an unopened bottle of water out of concern that he might be wary but he was holding it and smiling without drinking it.

At least his expression showed some of the usual warmth.

“But first I would like to hear an explanation of the situation.”

“…yes.”

You must be wondering what kind of mess this is.

I quickly recalled the conversation I had with Cha Yu-jin.

Although he forgot a lot of details from his steer days he didn't forget them completely.

So it means that we were able to hear the impression that Cha Yu-jin remembered about Ryu Cheong-woo at the time.

-At that time Chungwoo was a little scared. Let's all be careful.

-In a way I said that.

-[So what I mean is… typical burnout and especially twisted strength?]

'What are you saying?'

Cha Yu-jin herself did not give a very good example.

However I understand that it must be handled delicately like a bomb.

'Maybe even more than Cha Yu-jin.'

Don't you remember the last time you ruined your relationship with steer Cha Yu-jin to the point where she even ran away from home?

As a teacher on the other hand we began explaining to Ryu Cheong-wu in a very serious almost solemn manner.

"…So now we are a group called Testa."

"hmm."

Explanations of evidence including visual materials and Internet access and witnesses appeared one after another. I am confident that there is no shortage of data.

However even after hearing the explanation Steer Liu Chengwu remained silent for a while. I just checked the provided data a few more times.

"…"

'I guess I was wrong this time too.'

It may be difficult to believe it right away.

I guess I'm not the type of person who is interested in unrealistic things like this…

"okay."

"…"

hmm?

Suddenly a neat affirmative statement appeared.

Even Cha Yu-jin was embarrassed and asked back.

"Brother do you trust us?"

"Well… it's hard to believe but it's also hard to not believe. "You can't manipulate the portal site."

Ryu Cheng-wu touched the back of his head and smiled bitterly as he looked at the screen of the portal site that several members had accessed several times using the smartphones they held out.

Then he turned his attention to the albums I had handed out and then looked back at me with an expression that I couldn't tell if he was smiling or frowning.

"You can't manipulate all of this."

"…"

“So you have a schedule right now right? “It would be best if you shared that as soon as possible.”

hmm?

“yes?”

Ryu Cheong-woo casually answered Kim Rae-bin’s question.

“Well rather than suddenly taking a break from group activities I think it would be better for me to handle it to some extent.”

“…!”

Liu Chengwu looked back at the unfamiliar members and smiled a little embarrassed.

“First of all I am confident in my skills and perseverance.”

wait for a sec.

‘X didn’t happen… didn’t it?’

And the situation began to take an unexpected turn.

Chapter 504

Immediately after Steer Liu Chengwu woke up.

Stage practice… went extremely smoothly.

“Then let’s start with this song. Is it okay?”

“We are thankful…”

Ryu Cheong-woo quickly learned Testa’s latest and hit songs which the members had carefully selected without saying anything.

Keun Se-jin was embarrassed by the fact that he was actively learning more than just teaching the song and choreography.

“Oh my brother. There is no problem with us if we take a break and slow down the tempo~ After all the tour is taking a break as we enter the country now!”

“okay.”

But Liu Chengwu stuck to his attitude.

He wasn’t particularly unnecessarily wary or proud. We conducted the practice honestly and at a fast pace by asking questions clearly about what was needed.

‘hmm.’

It didn’t even stop there.

He even started monitoring original tester Ryu Cheong-woo’s stage video and various tester videos.

“If you need it I can tell you in more detail…!”

“ah. it’s okay.”

Despite Seon Ah-hyeon’s suggestions which made her nervous the guy calmly continued monitoring.

The reason was simple.

“I remember doing this song for the first time so I have to make up for what I lack in stage experience.”

“…”

“If necessary I’ll be shameless and ask you a question.”

“Oh no…! Please feel free to tell me anytime…!”

And Steer Ryu Cheong-woo has started to embody the feeling that Ryu Cheong-woo originally had in his latest song in a very similar way…

“…almost the same?”

“okay.”

It took just three days to get here. It felt like I was watching an extreme rehabilitation exercise.

So I can’t help but say this.

That evening.

[Just roll the dice-]

I checked on Ryu Cheong-woo through the door who was watching the stage video again on a large monitor in his room.

Then he turned his head and asked Cha Yu-jin who was robbing the kitchen.

“Do you have any idea why it’s like that?”

Isn’t it good because it’s cooperative?

Of course it’s good for work. I thought it would be

But whether this is really normal is another question.

‘When I woke up the world had changed but I accepted it so quickly?’

When I woke up in Park Moon-dae’s body I fell out of bed. It was only when the status window popped up that I accepted reality because I thought I would run into it if I lost my senses.

But how can a person be so calm just because people around him open his mouth?

He even treats the original Steer members and Bae Se-jin a former member well without much agitation.

Can humans do that?

‘Even if you’re a gold medalist in archery that’s true.’

Isn’t this a bit strange? If I were in this situation I might have grabbed someone and taken them hostage in order to find out the unvarnished truth.

‘It almost feels like Cha Yu-jin who ran away from home is the most common reaction.’

So I asked someone who had experienced it.

And this answer came back:

“Umm… yeah. It’s strange. But I’m not sure.”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin herself also remembers large-scale events and feelings rather than details so specific analysis such as behavioral principles was impossible.

However the guy shrugged his shoulders and spoke with a rather serious expression.

[What is certain is that I don’t feel like that mysterious older brother is ‘pretending’ to cooperate with this team.]

hmm.

‘That’s… I agree too.’

If you pretend to cooperate while secretly thinking about getting hurt you will practice to the point of depletion of your stamina and it will show up subconsciously.

Isn’t a person’s composure originally derived from physical strength?

‘If the priorities are different they are read.’

But that steer Liu Chengwu was consistent. He was truly preparing for his stage part ‘sincerely’.

I don’t doubt that either.

‘then.’

I guess I can ask it myself.

He was not in a state where he was unable to communicate as much as steer Cha Yu-jin. Moreover since it seemed like I was observing my surroundings the other person would be able to sense that I didn’t have any malicious intent.

“Give me one.”

“Boo.”

So I took the popcorn that Cha Yu-jin had bought fried it and headed to her room together.

It’s convenient because my roommate happens to be the target.

“brother.”

“ah.”

Steer Liu Qingwu took his eyes off the monitor turned his head and smiled sadly as was his habit.

“Do you have anything to convey?”

“no. It’s not like that.”

I sat down next to him and handed him some popcorn. The guy looked a little surprised but took the popcorn without saying anything.

And I also chose my words while throwing popcorn into my mouth.

Don’t go too seriously.

“I was wondering if we might have put too much pressure on it. Even if you take a break from group activities problems won’t suddenly arise so it’s okay to stay comfortably until you get used to it.”

“…”

“If you’re in a hurry you can hang on.”

“hmm.”

Liu Chengwu laughed as if the wind had gone out. Yes I meant it to be funny.

‘I’m serious though.’

Open your mouth.

Fortunately the guy massaged the back of his neck as if to loosen it up and then opened his mouth with a faint smile.

“Yes I don’t feel pressured. It seemed like a group that was doing well so I thought each member should do well.”

“…”

“First of all I am a member.”

I felt something like a strange sentiment in his tone.

‘…are you trying to overlap with your own group?’

The steer this guy originally belonged to was disassembled mid-air.

However as of now Testa has renewed his contract and is doing well.

In Cha Yu-jin’s case I felt a sense of disconnect due to this difference but this guy seems to feel a kind of… responsibility even in his current state.

About maintaining the status quo.

‘hmm.’

Well this is all speculation but I know for sure that it is not an action done with malicious intent toward this team.

I nodded inwardly.

‘But there may be plans other than what was said.’

Besides I still don’t know what this guy is thinking so from now on I’ll try to steer the conversation in a direction that eases the tension.

“thank you. And stop talking. You are older.”

“Um… Haha is that right?”

Steer Liu Chengwu seemed to be thinking briefly but soon calmed down and spoke. This part hasn’t changed.

‘yes.’

The moment I tried to check this guy’s remaining vigilance by slowly bringing up other stories…

“Mundae-hyung is actually older.”

I almost threw the popcorn.

‘When did you come?’

When I looked back I saw Cha Yu-jin staring at my popcorn with a blank expression on her face.

‘Fry it and eat it yourself.’

Why does a person with a box full of boxes feel regretful about something that has already been taken away?

But once I handed it over to them I saw that they were happy to eat it so it was hard to say anything.

And as I turned my gaze towards Cha Yu-jin for a moment I heard Ryu Cheong-woo ask back in a curious voice.

“You’re old?”

“Mundae was originally an adult.”

“You are an adult too.”

“You know What I mean! Moon Dae-hyung mentally? He is older than Chungwoo. yep!”

“…”

Are you coming?

Liu Chengwu was not surprised because I had also told him a summary of my turbulent supernatural experience.

But that doesn’t mean I just smiled and understood it. That was completely embarrassing.

‘No Cha Yu-jin why did he bring up this story… I don’t know.’

Let’s think of it as an opportunity and talk about it.

“Strictly speaking that’s true.”

This is an opportunity to naturally lower your guard. I rubbed the back of my neck and opened my mouth.

“Well I’m just saying this… but I think it’s more important that I’m your brother’s relative.”

“huh?”

Isn’t the world originally based on school ties regional ties and blood ties?

Let’s go to the blood relationship meta.

“Well my name used to be Ryu Geon-woo. If you hear it you’ll know but it’s like the Pungsan Ryu clan.”

Steer Liu Chengwu looked dazed as if he had been hit on the head.

“I only went on a few family trips together when I was young. You probably don’t remember. You didn’t remember it before it was a family trip… there was only a video.”

“…”

There’s no answer. Was it a disaster?

‘If you think it’s a lie it’s ruined.’

It was that moment.

Liu Chengyu slowly opened his mouth.

“If you are older than me… do you wear glasses and read a lot?”

“…!”

no way.

“Remember?”

Steer Liu Chengyu frowned slightly.

“Um… Actually I don’t know how it came to be and I didn’t even know its name. When I try to remember I can only vaguely recall that I had a relative like that.”

The guy’s face brightened slightly.

“Looking at that reaction I guess my description is correct.”

“Oh!”

Cha Yu-jin admired it on my behalf and I was… a little dumbfounded.

Because I didn’t expect this.

‘You remember me?’

Come to think of it Testa Ryu Cheong-woo had never heard such specific situation conditions and tried to remember in his head who ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ was accordingly.

Before that I made sure to play the family travel video first.

Anyway let me come to my senses and answer.

“yes. I think that’s right for me.”

You are right.

“Oh!”

You can stop admiring it.

Anyway a faint smile appeared on Liu Chengyu’s face.

“amazing. I never thought I would meet a relative like this.”

“me too.”

“haha.”

And I realized once again that steer Ryu Cheng-wu had been quite nervous up until now.

‘Your attitude has changed.’

The gentleness was the same but the gestures seemed much more comfortable.

I guess they were on guard as expected.

‘I can’t not do it.’

Now this guy looks a bit like a human being.

And in this situation where strangers or people I knew had become unfamiliar to me meeting a relative made me feel like I had relaxed a bit.

Because it's a simple and uncomplicated relationship.

"Then should I speak louder from now on? What did you do originally?"

"I just roughly mixed it up to suit my convenience."

"Ahaha! Okay I'll do that."

I think the blood relationship meta worked successfully.

"Let's start from here."

"yes!"

After that Ryu Cheong-woo treated the members in a more mellow manner and it seemed like he stopped talking to all the members after a while.

and.

"I don't think there's a need to postpone the schedule for this program either. I can do it well."

According to my firm will my participation in the survival program was not postponed and proceeded as planned.

And so the first stage filming began.

The good news is that it is not survival from the first stage.

This is a pre-release for program promotion purposes.

This is the self-introduction stage.

* * *

Renewal of ＜True Battle＞.

For a name that is almost childishly solemn ＜True Battle Final＞ created quite a stir on the Internet.

It was thanks to the lineup.

[The reborn ＜Jingeom Battle＞ splendid cast revealed… from target idols to legendary vocalists.]

There were so many Named appearances that it was hard to believe that this was a renewal of a program that was already in decline.

The production team's recruiting power exploded as they held onto Testa and worked hard to sell his name.

-As expected from a public broadcaster the lineup of singers is good. They are talented. I look forward to it.

-Soft and sweet reunion? Must watch live!

-Goddess Mudi with honey vocals～ I want to see you on stage quickly^^♡

-It's surprising that MBS must have risked his life!

Even though this comment part-timer's reaction poured in at the beginning of the article and promotional video it was overshadowed by the genuinely surprised comment reactions without much ridicule.

Of course there was one name that attracted the most attention in this lineup.

'Testa!'

-Testa ㄹㅇ Is this coming out? Is this really true?

Usually it is only when groups large enough to receive the grand prize appear in survival shows that they are well past their prime.

Even that after much deliberation was barely enough to make an appearance.

For a group that has already risen in stature no matter how good the program's prospects are it is no different from a poisoned chalice as it has a higher chance of diminishing the value of their name.

This is because it is easy to become a topical firewood or a sacrifice to earn a new name as 'the rookie who beat that famous group'.

The same goes for program producers.

It is less unexpected and not fun for an already famous group to win.

Moreover Testa is a group that debuted from another broadcasting company's survival program!

If there is a cast member who chooses a stage that is comparable to Testa or rather Testa I will give preference to that one!

-If you win Testa here T-Net > public broadcast official will come out and I don't think you'll ever be able to win haha.

-It's so sad to see Testa's fans trying to prepare for when it's already going bankrupt. It's sad.

-Why did it come out?

Expectations were rising on the Internet which was unaware of some kind of agreement between PD and Testa.

Even if half of it is the expectation that we might see Testa fail.

But after a few days.

The moment the opening stage of <True Competition> was revealed on WeTube.

[Dream as blue as day]

People felt a sense of enlightenment.

-Ah haha

-I went on stage but nothing happened.

-I'm going to chew it again ㅇㅋㅇㅋ That's how confident I am.

Each performer performs for one minute and touches the baton.

Testa's self-introduction stage which appeared right before the end and was an exquisite remix of the debut and latest songs was as intense as it was short.

[Yeah!]

As only one minute was given it was a powerful performance that seemed to have removed the introduction and edited only the main text leaving only the core!

Just as any movie that is shown through a plot summary introductory video can be considered fun the fast-paced plot and stage with only wow points were perfect for modern people's tastes.

-This is it.

-Wow it's like a survival group.

-I'm really looking forward to the testa; crazy

Of course there were not only good points.

Testa was originally a group with extremely good recognition and popularity with 'at best making up for it' level in this program.

In addition the opening stage was impressive raising expectations that were already high.

Twin Homma who takes pictures of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin also calmly made this assessment.

‘It would have been better to be reasonably ambiguous.’

However the die had already been cast and Testa had to begin the first survival contest under these conditions.

And it wasn’t that there was no way out.

‘If you do well enough to meet the sky-high expectations by the next competition stage… ’

An image that no one can refute is created.

The most important and impactful first impression in survival.

Testa allows you to start with your preconceived notions in a good sense.

And Testa himself knew it.

* * *

Immediately after the opening stage ended.

“Phew.”

“Thank you for your hard work~”

I had a hunch while I was backstage at the filming location of <True Battle>.

‘Well done.’

This was clear even without looking at the reaction.

Actually I wasn't even worried. The only variable is steer Ryu Cheong-woo and just looking at the amount of practice and rehearsal performance over the past few days his angles can be seen.

'He's a guy who will never make a mistake.'

And he really put together a perfect performance. So much so that I was mistaken for a moment that he was actually Ryu Cheong-wu.

but…

'I think I'm lost.'

The problem is that right after coming off the stage this guy's condition is a bit strange.

"…"

Steer Liu Chengwu stood silently out of breath.

It was as if he was so shocked that even the staff looked at him.

'It's been so long.'

It would have been the first performance since the disbandment of Steer. It seems that Cha Yu-jin also had similar symptoms.

"Are you okay?"

I approached him and held out the water I was holding.

Liu Chengyu took it in a daze then lifted his head as if he had come to his senses.

Then I opened the cool water bottle and drank it.

Gulp.

after.

After almost emptying a water bottle like that.

“thank you… It’s been a long time since something like this happened.”

Ryu Cheong-woo smiled quite brightly and concentrated on monitoring himself behind the monitoring members.

‘You look okay.’

I chuckled.

Everything seemed to be going well.

Until then.

Chapter 505

The day of the first group recording of ＜Jingeom Competition＞.

Greetings were exchanged among the cast which was filled with established and named names without any newcomers.

Testa was no exception.

“Oh my god it’s been so long guys!”

“Senior Mudi!”

First of all Mudi.

The singer who was a vocal trainer and judge on ＜Azusa＞ greeted us quite warmly when we entered the waiting room.

“Wow how many years ago was that already? Everything went so well that now I really need to get your autographs!”

“Ah～ What are you saying! We’re here to get our senior’s autographed album～ We’re begging you so earnestly please sign it senior!”

“Ahaha! What really!”

Sejin Lee That guy really picks out and says only what people want to hear.

-First of all I’ll try to talk as best as I can so let’s all stay calm～

For your information that guy is holding a talk show almost every day to fill the void left by leader Ryu Cheong-woo who has completely lost his memories of Testa.

Thanks to this the atmosphere became much more friendly.

“Ahyeon is still a deer~ Mundae can stop sending red ginseng on holidays now! I got it every time and I even talked about it on the radio!”

“ha ha ha!”

Mudi cheerfully gave words of encouragement and jokes to each member and finally turned his attention to the leader of Testa.

To be exact to the person who thinks he or she is a leader.

“It’s been a while since Cheongwoo too. Have you had a hard time as a leader?”

“Haha I’m doing well because the members are so good to me.”

However since this steer Cheongwoo also participated in <Azusa> and met vocal trainer Mudi there was no problem in responding.

I checked to see that he was smiling and chatting with Mudi.

‘It’s okay.’

In any case it may not have been a coincidence that Mudie was invited.

‘Obviously in the beginning there were a lot of casting requests from names that had something to do with Testa.’

In order to be able to calculate that the other party ‘can benefit from editing’ it is important to have a friendship that the public knows.

‘As soon as Testa signed a contract to appear he must have emphasized that first and made casting calls.’

After that once the cast line is completed the horizon for recruiting contacts will be expanded from there.

Perhaps that's why the cast members we were associated with did not end with Mudi.

"Mr. Moon Dae! Oh my goodness!"

As soon as we get to the next waiting room the ones waving enthusiastically are the soft and sweet members.

That's right.

A female idol group that left behind the legendary concept song 'POP☆CON' from the same LeTi agency as VTIC.

Here Soft Sweet is also a cast member.

Even one member who had already succeeded as an actor was included.

"Hello senior Sohyun."

"No~ Wow we meet again like this!"

It was a very unique case where the original members were completely reunited and appeared on Survival.

However it is definitely not a stupid choice.

'That's clever.'

Since this is a group past its prime anyway there was nothing to lose even if the performance wasn't good as there were many names among the cast.

And since one person who is popular now has also succeeded as an actor there will be no negative impact on his image because his field is different.

All you have to do is avoid personality controversies and that's because you're not an idol who's only been on TV for a day or two so you'll be able to avoid it on your own. Aren't they the ones who survived the Byeongmat Concept?

That was when I was nodding my head.

"Actually you know that we came out because Mr. Moon Dae was coming right? Please take care of me!"

"…?"

"Ahaha look at Mr. Moondae's expression!"

What are you talking about?

At that time Sohyun patted the shoulder of the soft and sweet member who smiled brightly and said happily.

"Mr. Moon Dae is our fan! It gives me courage if there is at least one person who will look at me seriously."

hmm.

Now several years have passed since I danced popcorn in <Azusa> to explain that I am not a fan. In the end I shamelessly nodded.

Let's mention it in the interview.

"It is an honor."

"Wow we are honored!"

And it was just as the friendly concluding conversation continued.

The question was asked playfully.

"How do you view it as a leader? Mr. Moon Dae is it true that you are still our fan?"

‘…!’

To Liu Chengwu.

Perhaps given the nature of the question it seemed to naturally turn to the leader but…

‘no.’

This steer Ryu Cheong-woo has no way of knowing whether I danced popcorn or poppin in ＜Azusa＞.

Naturally you wouldn’t even know there was a meme saying I was a fan of these people.

I clenched my fists.

‘There goes the cover.’

Keun Se-jin who was acting as the acting leader today blinked his eyes and was about to join in.

“sure.”

Steer Liu Chengwu answered clearly before him.

“Mundae also plays seniors’ songs on our live broadcasts.”

“…!!”

“omg! Really? It’s awesome…”

“Thank you Mr. Moondae!”

And the conversation flowed naturally.

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo finished his greeting without any problem by mentioning the activities of the past Testa.

Sejin Lee saw the atmosphere and smiled with her mouth shut without interjecting further.

I and the others went with the flow and ended the conversation well but inside we were confused.

“…”

no way.

“See you later~”

“Yep seniors!”

widely.

As I left Soft Sweet’s waiting room I looked back at Liu Chengwu.

“That was just…”

How did you answer?

The guy scratched his face as if he was a little embarrassed and then smiled.

“Well as I was watching the stage videos appeared in the algorithm… The fans had organized the testa activities well.”

“…”

“I can’t believe you saw all of that… Thank you. You are truly amazing…!”

“Haha not really but… thank you.”

no.

This doesn’t end with ‘awesome’.

‘It wasn’t just a stage video you saw all of Testa’s activities?’

The way he speaks makes it sound like he just figured it out on a whim through an algorithm but looking at the answer he gave earlier it was almost as if he had memorized the entire fan wiki.

Moreover Ryu Cheong-woo was not the type to do such searches.

Steer Ryu Cheong-wu doesn’t seem to be particularly different. It’s clear that they looked into it separately on purpose.

‘When exactly?’

Did this guy sleep?

It’s shocking that I studied all that voluntarily even though I didn’t ask for it in the first place.

In the meantime a carefree question came back.

“Did I make a mistake earlier?”

“no. It was neat.”

“Haha thank you.”

No I’m not being asked a question right now I just want to ask. What kind of mentality does it take to fall into an unfamiliar world without a status window and get output like this?

‘Not even the main character of the novel.’

However Steer Liu Chengwu only spoke calmly.

“Still if I misunderstand anything please tell me. I guess I’ll talk to the fans a little more softly than what actually happened.”

“…yes.”

Are you coming? I don't even know anymore fuck.

'Is this mentality why you said Cha Yu-jin is scary?'

It was quite convincing.

* * *

The filming that followed went smoothly.

The MBS announcer came out and grandly introduced each and every member of the cast but it got to the point after an hour.

'It was almost the last turn so we were shit so that's it.'

However the MC's voice was already slightly cracked. Too bad.

"I will announce the theme of the first contest."

The topic finally appeared on the electronic display board in huge font.

[Change song]

A theme where the cast members take turns singing each other's songs.

Traditional brutal and interesting. It's okay.

"And since it is a competition unlike the opening stage the audience will rank the performers' performances."

It's an obvious thing to say as a starting point.

And the following is an equally obvious but provocative statement.

"And unfortunately the person who ranks last will be eliminated."

“…!”

Even though everyone knows he makes a surprised face every now and then and is very good at broadcasting.

In the midst of this intentionally created tension the cast members selected the other person’s song to cover by drawing a ball…

“Wow thank you very much.”

Testa picked Mudi’s ball.

‘good.’

These are participants who do not have any overlapping elements. If this happens the standard for comparison will be vague and it will be easy to choose a stage with a different taste.

‘Since we know each other the editing angle would be good.’

Still I guess I’ll have to give lip service in the interview and say that the soft sweet song was a bit off.

“Huh?”

Just then a soft sweet testa ball was pulled out and it was screaming.

‘Congratulations.’

Clap clap clap.

I finished the first shoot with polite reactions thinking of words that would avoid strange editing points as much as possible in the interview.

And start practicing immediately as soon as you return to work.

“Um I think it would be good to add a completely different accompaniment to the arrangement…!”

“I guess it would be attractive to change the mood so drastically~ So why not just leave the melody?”

“The addictive melody top note is an advantage so take that element! That’s a great decision.”

“Then the concept is… Yes I already knew that Moon University had something to say~ Say it quickly… Oh? Eugene too?”

“Hee hee!”

Choose a song and choose a concept.

A discussion took place quickly excluding unnecessary editorials and the results were reached.

– Complete testa version of Mudi’s hit song from 10 years ago!

Raebin Kim who was familiar with the results of the discussion presented a tentatively edited arrangement demo within an hour and tossed it to those with good choreography skills and drew up a picture.

This was possible because the role division and progress structure were thoroughly established through several years of experience.

And steer Liu Chengwu eagerly observed and absorbed all of this progress.

As if I were a new employee with some experience.

“Here you have to contact the company as an interim report.”

“yes. The production crew will probably come to practice and film so we have to coordinate that.”

“I guess so. okay.”

At this rate I feel like I will be able to take on the role of a leader in no time.

‘Once the update is over the memories will come back anyway.’

He did so well that I felt a bit sorry for doing something like this when all he had to do was endure it.

Moreover something like this happened.

“…Ryu Cheng-wu.”

“…!”

Immediately after the meeting Bae Se-jin was thirsty and offered a drink to steer Ryu Cheong-woo who was trying to get water.

“Drink if it’s okay.”

“…”

In fact there was no need to worry any more about how to deal with the gap with Bae Se-jin during his steer days.

This is because the conversation already ended a few days ago.

-I have something to tell you about Sejin.

-I heard the story from Eugene. So things are different now?

After that Ryu Cheong-woo has never once expressed antipathy towards Bae Se-jin.

‘Is it true that people communicate so well?’

However Bae Se-jin seemed to have noticed a strange appearance. So why bother handing something over like this as if to test it?

“I feel thirsty… so it’s okay if you don’t want to drink.”

“…”

I definitely saw it.

There steer Liu Chengwu hesitated for a moment.

But in the end he accepted the bottle without refusing and coolly opened the lid.

And he answered with a smile.

“thank you. I’ll drink it well.”

“…! what!”

Liu Qingwu even drank his drink on the spot without showing much emotion.

Bae Se-jin seemed a little relieved and the mood got better.

‘hmm.’

It’s like watching a scene where steerer Cha Yu-jin’s relative personality score drops in real time…

And as practice continued into the evening in this atmosphere Lee Se-jin also said this whether he was serious or just pretending.

“Thank you brother~ You are so kind to us! Our Eugene ran away from home with no memory of it.”

“Yeah.”

“Haha did you do that?”

Liu Qingyu spoke the following words in a gentle voice.

“It’s still the same.”

“…?”

“I’m glad you seem to be doing well now.”

“…Yep.”

Suddenly a strange feeling of tension seemed to flow briefly and then disappear.

‘hmm.’

I immediately focused on the conversation.

The atmosphere was still good. Cha Yu-jin silently drank her water bottle and then suddenly spoke.

“And congratulations. If things continue like this Cheongwoo your memories will come back soon.”

“hmm?”

“When I admitted that I liked the performance my memories came back. Maybe that’s the trigger? I feel that way.”

Cha Yu-jin said that calmly as if she was passing on a tip.

How to regain memories from Testa!

‘You did say something like that.’

I recalled the conversation I had with Testa Cha Yu-jin after she returned to her body.

-[It may not be a coincidence that the “update” ended quickly. I mean the timing is amazing right?]

-[I’d like to bet that my realization or our honest conversation influenced the timing.]

I don't know why this system bastard is doing this but he's trying to update the company's system anyway and in the process he's rolling back the members' memories.

So the mental growth of that member affected the completion of the update…

'I adopted it because it was a fairly convincing hypothesis.'

I already shared it with Geoldal.

And since I spoke to Ryu Cheong-woo based on the premise of 'you have lost your memory' it was more appropriate to say 'tips for regaining your memories' rather than 'how to get out of that body quickly'.

Perhaps that was why Liu Chengwu asked back as if he found it quite interesting.

"Automatically?"

"Well I asked Moon Dae for a favor. This is the story I explained. There's a strange ghost or something about Moon Dae. Status window?"

hey.

Before Cha Yu-jin could say anything she naturally finished speaking.

I pressed my eyebrows. Okay do whatever you want…

"That gave us our memories back. My brother will do the same."

"ah."

It was that moment.

Liu Chengwu answered in a gentle voice.

“Is there a need for that?”

what?

“brother?”

Liu Chengwu looked back at me.

And he spoke in a calm non-excited voice.

“I mean is there really a need to get my memories back?”

I was a little late in interpreting its meaning.

‘That’s… ’

-Is there a need to bring back Testa Ryu Cheong-woo?

This means that you should not call the original tester Liu Chengwu.

I got goosebumps.

Chapter 506

After steer Ryu Cheong-woo's remarks there was a short and heavy silence in the practice room.

'Do I need to get my memories back?'

This may be because the members gradually realized what this meant.

In other words he is saying that he will continue to be here instead of Ryu Cheong-woo who was the original tester.

Meanwhile steer Ryu Cheong-woo was quietly waiting for our answer without any response.

As if waiting for a verdict.

"…"

And after a while.

"Brother what are you talking about? You will be able to find your memories. Hey don't worry!"

Big Sejin was the first to respond with a smile. It seemed like speaking as if nothing had happened would give me a chance to gently move on or cancel the conversation.

But Liu Chengwu did not cancel.

"Well I didn't mean to worry about that. Does this mean Sejin is worried about you? Are you anxious because I have no memory?"

"…!"

okay.

'If he was shaken by that sound and wanted to cancel it he wouldn't have said it at all.'

But I didn't expect to be asked so bluntly.

He even calmly asked if he was anxious because he was less confident than his original tester Ryu Cheong-woo.

"If you have any concerns please tell me. I'll improve it soon."

"Oh no I'm still so thankful! But as it is it's too unfamiliar and uncomfortable for you."

"It's not that uncomfortable."

Steer Liu Chengyu smiled faintly.

"It's fun. The stage is great and there are a lot of new things to learn. It's good because it's unfamiliar."

"…"

"I'm afraid that when I get my memories back I won't feel this way."

"It would actually be better."

Big Sejin spoke softly in a rather warm voice.

however.

"How can you be sure?"

"yes?"

Liu Qingyu said unfazed.

“What happened just now is not an ordinary situation that can be easily confirmed. And I think I know best how I feel.”

“…hmm”

Even Keun Se-jin looked speechless for a moment.

I wanted to say something to refute but I paused for a moment out of fear that I would offend the other person and cause a bomb to explode in the process.

The moment you say you think that way and refute it directly doesn’t that mean you’re wrong?

‘Fuck you.’

It’s twisted. Let’s start by freshening up the atmosphere right away.

It was the moment when I quickly decided what I wanted to say and tried to intervene.

“practice!”

“…!”

Suddenly someone shouted loudly.

Surprisingly it was Bae Se-jin who was curled up in a corner and reading an e-book.

“We only have a week! Break time is over. Whatever it is practice first before speaking!”

“ah.”

The way he was shouting until the blood in his neck stood up seemed so desperate.

And at that moment the atmosphere suddenly changed as if something had struck me. It reminds us of the immediate priorities.

It wasn't the way I wanted to do it but it was very effective.

Bae Se-jin continued to shout.

"If it gets any later Raebin Kim won't have time to work on the arrangement!"

yes.

"If he stays up all night again just to meet the deadline his roommate will stop him. My roommate is Park Moon-dae!"

"oh."

Hey that's a bit much.

"…! no! Even if we don't have to do the night work we will finish it within the period. Please believe me!"

"Ugh I believe it…!"

"If you're Ravin of course you can do it!"

The tension in our everyday conversation was instantly relieved.

"okay. Let's work hard."

"Fine fighting…!"

So the topic changed smoothly.

Ryu Cheong-woo also actively participated in the practice with his usual gentle and cooperative attitude as if his earlier statement was a lie.

As time passed the tension from earlier could be felt as if it could naturally arise in such a special situation.

‘It could be because you’re confused! Cha Yu-jin even ran away from home.’

Something like this.

However I did not forget steer Liu Chengwu’s attitude earlier.

‘I’m not confused.’

That was something to be sure of.

The guy had already come to a conclusion in his head.

Here he remains as steer Ryu Cheong-woo.

Then all the efforts he has made so far will fit together like a puzzle.

By asking more questions than I was told I learned all of Testa’s representative songs and performances of the latest songs as well as the history of the group called Testa and the personal story of ‘Ryu Cheong-woo’ here.

Just like training.

So that he can remain as Steer Ryu Cheong-woo without regaining his memories as Testa.

‘Was that the purpose?’

And then it’s time for a break.

I saw Bae Se-jin sighing softly standing in the corner of the practice room.

“brother.”

“…Park Moon-dae.”

Bae Se-jin glanced at me and then looked away again.

It was Ryu Cheong-woo who was listening to Kim Rae-bin and Sun Ah-hyeon explain the song.

“…I’ve thought about it before.”

Bae Se-jin muttered softly.

“He was uncomfortable with me too. Just like before with Cha Yu-jin.”

“…”

“But… I’m trying hard not to look like that. I don’t know why.”

I noticed it.

It seems that the reason he was pleased with steer Ryu Cheong-wu who accepted the water bottle a few days ago was not simply because the favor was accepted.

‘I took that as a signal that ‘I will try to get along’.’

As that guy said I don’t know why but it seems like he saw hope in itself.

Moreover Bae Se-jin’s words were not over.

“…And I don’t know why they both feel uncomfortable with me.”

Damn it.

“that”

“it’s okay.”

Bae Se-jin sighed.

“It’s obvious. I guess he was a nuisance to the group and was eventually taken to his former agency.”

“…”

“It will be okay if I show that I have changed a lot since then.”

And the guy looked quite stern but his complexion soon became gloomy.

“More than that what to do now… I don’t know.”

“…”

We looked side by side at steer Liu Chengwu.

The way he spoke to the members was friendly enough to be confusing at first glance with the original tester Ryu Cheong-woo.

but.

“If he doesn’t regain his memories what will happen to the Chungwoo we originally knew…?”

I couldn’t answer.

* * *

One week later.

The day of the first competition stage of <True Competition> has arrived.

[Let’s meet Testa’s stage now.]

I adjusted my in-ears as I entered the stage where the MC’s introductory message and the 6th turn would begin.

No matter how confident you are this is survival. If I made a mistake and slipped I might have ruined my entire career and reputation.

But I wasn't anxious.

Normally it would of course be thanks to proper preparation but now it is not because of that.

'I don't care that far.'

Because other anxiety factors were greater.

"…"

Wow!

Cheers and applause.

Inside Testa began to move.

-Sound of falling raindrops

knock on the window

Blue pouring into my head

Mudi's hit song we chose was a ballad called <You Don't Know>.

It was a song that became famous on social media which was popular at the time as it was called 'Inspic' due to its sad early morning sensibility. Thanks to its composition of repeating refrains it was so addictive and popular that it caught your ear once you heard it…

Raebin Kim arranged it to be much more depressing and heavy.

-Boring Love and Sick

Still waiting for the notification to ring

The intro is the same as the original song flowing gently as if speaking but then the part changes.

A slow low bass rang through the speakers.

-You don’t know but

And then a full-fledged weighty performance follows.

The concept is inner depression.

As the song progresses with classical pieces it becomes more and more elegant and grand and a quite artistic performance is added on top of it.

And even Seon Ah-hyeon’s solo dance of the interlude.

In the opening performance we broke away from the symbolism of KPOP and this time tried to create a stage that would suit cultured tastes as much as possible.

And last.

-I can’t sleep

I’m just going to say it once.

Goodbye goodbye

This part where the accompaniment is eliminated and only the voice is included… Kim Rae-bin selflessly evaluated the song solely based on the tone and selected the right person.

Liu Chengwu.

-You don’t know but

It was digested cleanly.

And the accompaniment came back with the sound of the bass.

-Umm… umm.

Until the ending with the sound of the performance slowly fading away as if depressed.

…

For the stage we chose a dark and atmospheric concept that would be ruined by poor control.

So that catharsis and charm become even greater when the correct impact is made at the correct time.

And the strategy was successful.

Wow!!

Let the lights go out.

The audience was filled with tremendous cheers and applause in contrast to the dark atmosphere of the stage.

Keying-

The bright lights came back on the stage and before leaving the members greeted them brightly with the excitement of the stage even though they were drenched in sweat and taking deep breaths.

“Thank you~”

“thank you.”

And it was the same for steer Ryu Cheng-wu.

“thank you!”

Liu Chengwu did well.

And he seemed happy.

‘Damn it.’

I held back a sigh because it made people’s minds even more complicated.

But it couldn’t be put off any longer.

‘It’s escapism.’

I had to talk about it before the update was over.

After a while.

＜True Battle＞ Waiting time to clean up the stage before taking the final cut of the contest.

“I have something to tell you.”

“…”

I called steer Liu Chengwu to the small sleeping room inside the waiting room.

The guy followed without any resistance. And asked.

“Is it because of what I said a few days ago?”

I nodded not surprised.

If I go back to the dorm I’ll have to work again and it will be a blur so it’s better now.

‘And this… it would be better to approach him as a relative rather than as Tim’s younger brother.’

It will be more comfortable that way. So I sat down next to him and spoke.

“Can I ask the reason?”

“…”

“I’m not trying to say anything. I’m asking because I was practicing at the time and couldn’t hear why you thought ‘It won’t be so good if I get my memories back.'”

Steer Liu Chengwu did not appear uncooperative this time either.

Rather he was silent as if he was thinking for a moment or choosing his words.

And answer slowly.

“Because I don’t think that person is me.”

“…”

“Cha Yujin Well I thought about Yujin when I saw her.”

The guy continued speaking calmly.

“I’m saying she’s very different from the Cha Yujin I knew.”

“…”

“I definitely felt like I had memories of living as the Cha Yujin I knew.”

‘Is that it?’

That's right.

Even though Cha Yu-jin has recovered her memories from her days as a steer she is focusing more on her memories of living as a tester.

Of course. Steer is a thing of the past.

There is no way this guy who was in the same group as Steer Cha Yu-jin could not have felt that sense of discomfort.

In other words this guy… It's natural to think that if he regains his memories he won't remain the same as he is now.

'shit.'

"I feel like even if I retrieve my memories I will end up like a different person. I don't want to do that."

Steer Liu Chengwu said that out loud. I gritted my teeth.

His words didn't even end there.

"know. But um I guess he thinks he's the same person."

"…"

"In that case I am the same member as I am now even though I have no memory. yes?"

for a moment.

'This… seems like something prepared.'

Strangely smooth.

'Same member?'

No it wasn't.

‘That’s not how we treated this guy.’

At that moment I realized the contradiction in our attitude toward steer Liu Chengwu.

No matter how much memory you have lost people around you usually unconsciously treat you the same way as before. I mean it’s a habit.

Just like I had inadvertently done a few times before with steer Cha Yu-jin.

‘But are we now treating this guy… as the same person as Testa Ryu Cheong-wu?’

Steer Cha Yu-jin was treated like the Testa Cha Yu-jin we knew so he got into a big fight and escaped.

He passionately asserts that ‘I am a different person from the person you know.’

As a result we now implicitly treat the ‘original Liu Chengwu’ and this ‘steer Liu Chengwu’ as different people.

What I’m saying is that you’ve only lost your memories.

‘Damn it.’

I was bored.

There was no way this guy wouldn’t have noticed that sense of discomfort.

But instead of pointing it out he spoke calmly as if persuading me in line with my logic.

As if it doesn’t matter as long as one side is persuaded.

“And in just a few months if not a few weeks I will be able to do my part without any help.”

But at the end his calm voice trembled low.

“So… I just want you to leave it like this.”

That day.

Testa’s stage received tremendous praise and took first place in the on-site audience vote.

Early audience reviews flooded the Internet raising expectations for the program and giving fans relief and excitement.

It was as planned.

But that was the only thing that went according to plan.

…I received a pop-up that the update was complete.

Chapter 507

[Re-update complete!]

-1st adjustment

A pop-up similar to the one you saw before.

And the pop-up continues again.

['■■■ (ver.2.1 Beta)' being applied]

[complete!]]

System update complete pop-up.

"…"

What comes to mind is… a question.

'why?'

Wasn't it completed early last time as steer Cha Yu-jin's condition recovered?

Nothing has been resolved now. Liu Chengwu never changed his position of not wanting to regain his memories.

Could it be that it was completed by performing on stage together in a cooperative manner? But this isn't even the first stage so based on what criteria is it an early completion?…

'for a moment.'

I took a deep breath.

I've been thinking too long.

'It shouldn't be complicated.'

And I finally regained my composure and came to a rational conclusion with a cool head.

Completed ahead of deadline?

'There was no such thing.'

There was no deadline in the first place.

This time unlike before there was no explanation like 'D-30 until completion'.

I didn't update it to a higher version by absorbing the fragments in the first place but since I don't use it isn't this bastard readjusting itself on its own?

'It's ver.2.1 not ver.3.'

So this was just done when it was time to do it.

The system completes itself.

Tiring.

And as if in response to my conclusion another pop-up appeared.

[Do you want to 'preview' 'For Company Use'?]

'…Preview.'

My mind was filled with questions again.

If it's a preview doesn't that mean the system is restarting?

Come to think of it the previous pop-up had the phrase ‘1st adjustment’. So are you saying that you will measure my satisfaction through this ‘preview’ and update the system if necessary?

What happens to Liu Chengwu’s memories? Are they returning it as a test or are they not returning it because it is only a preview and not a live system?

What is the penalty if I hold on without pressing this at all? Also what is the risk of the system acting as it pleases?

Which one is more likely? Which standard should you use to judge…

Oh damn.

I hit my head on the headboard.

thud.

‘Fuck you fuck you…!’

Since I couldn’t come to a clear conclusion I couldn’t be like this.

How many times are we going to do this shit?

Why is something like this necessary during the update process?

“Are you okay bro?”

“…”

“If you feel dizzy or have a headache try an ice pack…”

“…It’s okay.”

I slowly raised my head.

My roommate Raebin Kim is looking at me with a worried face as if she's breaking into a cold sweat. It seemed like he thought I had accidentally hit my head on the headboard.

That guy must not have been able to rest properly while preparing for the last performance.

"Are you resting well?"

"yes! I am keeping my word to stay calm until the next filming."

"okay."

"Is your hair really okay…?"

uh. It seems like it will break.

It's not because I was pinned to the bed.

"That's okay."

I looked at the pop-up again and finally opened my mouth.

"I have something to say. Let's ask all the other members including you to gather in the living room."

It was pointless to delay and hide it further.

* * *

Testa's lodgings an hour after Park Moon-dae's convocation.

In the room of Seon Ah-hyeon and Lee Se-jin two people of the same age the room owners were talking quietly.

The topic of their conversation was one.

This is the story told by Park Moon-dae who saw the pop-up and called them to the living room.

-… The update has been completed.

He did not hide anything and shared almost exactly what he had received.

It was a surprisingly kind characteristic of Park Moon University to convey the parts that would be difficult for those who have not directly experienced the system including examples and analogies.

But at the same time… he looked extremely tired.

-I honestly don't know what will happen if I press this. But I'll think about it more and find out so don't worry too much.

So Sun Ah-hyun is sharing her concerns with a friend of her age who has built trust over the years.

Sun Ah-hyun sat on the bed with her long legs together and muttered a little nervously.

"I'm worried about the doors."

"…"

"I think I'm overdoing it…"

And Lee Se-jin had no intention of refuting those words.

This is because he had similar thoughts as soon as he heard Park Moon-dae's briefing earlier.

'If I do that I'm going to be in really big trouble.'

Of course the first thing I was concerned about was how Ryu Cheong-woo would react now that he had lost his memory and seemed to have become a different person. Everyone even Park Moon-dae must have felt the same way.

However it is absurd to say that Park Moon-dae's abnormalities are not noticed.

Angwang is almost dead.

'It's not even a day or two that he overdoes it.'

Sejin Lee frowned for a moment. My appetite was bitter.

Still if things were as they should be Lee Se-jin would have told a gentle story here to put the other person at ease.

I honestly thought that saying that I was anxious would only make the situation worse.

But this time was different.

"…Um that's right. Anyone can see that it seems like too much."

Because a solution was needed. And although Sun Ah-hyun may be a bit awkward in interpersonal relationships she is a serious and attentive type.

'It's worth discussing.'

Of course Seon Ah-hyun wasn't the type of person who could feel relieved by self-justification when she opened her mouth without even being sincere.

So he spoke the truth quite freely.

"It didn't seem like Chungwoo wanted to remember. So how much of a burden will it be now? Among us the only one who can see the status window or something is the door."

"…Mundae."

Sun Ah-hyun pressed her lips with her teeth.

"Well then if Cheong-woo refuses until the end… wouldn't Moon-dae press that?"

Sejin Lee already knew the answer.

"no. I should have done it."

If the judgment was that it was reasonable Park Moon-dae was the kind of person who would just do it despite his heartache.

Maybe that's why Testa has been able to continue his career despite so many controversies and incidents from his debut until now.

But Keun Se-jin also knew the aftermath that would follow.

"But you will have a very hard time after doing it."

"…"

"Mundae is a bit… trying to take responsibility for everything."

He was the one who thought it was his fault that this situation had happened.

'If you do it wrong something can happen due to real stress.'

Sejin Lee still remembered the uproar that occurred during the summer package filming at the beginning of her debut.

Park Moon-dae was almost in a state of trauma but was able to proceed with the filming.

He clenched and unclenched his hands.

'…Oh how did it end up like this?'

Succeeding as an idol seemed like a dream but it was embarrassing for a realist like Lee Se-jin because things that literally only happened in dreams kept happening.

I never thought I'd meet a friend who would care about me this much but this ridiculous thing was focused on that friend.

So it was time for Lee Se-jin to remain silent to think of a solution.

"Hey… let's talk more."

"huh?"

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth first with a determined look on her face.

"Let's talk to the other members… and talk to Chungwoo again. I haven't had time to practice for the stage so far and I think everyone was cautious because of Eugene's work… so we barely talked to him…"

Sejin Lee felt like she had been hit.

'I know.'

I only tried not to offend Liu Chengwu but I had no intention of having a deep conversation or persuading him.

I unconsciously left it out because I saw bad things happening during Cha Yu-jin's time.

Sun Ah-hyeon remained silent as if she was thinking deeply and then spoke again.

"Current Chungwoo is also kind to us but he must be anxious. So it could be that you don't want to retrieve your memories… I think it's right to have a more in-depth conversation."

"…"

Lee Se-jin listened and Seon A-hyeon spoke slightly faster.

"I don't do that now so I think the exam will be even more difficult.

Because if no conclusion is reached no one can help…”

“You’re right.”

Sejin Lee immediately agreed.

And then he stood up. Because I knew that the person I was talking to was a friend who wouldn’t be offended if the conversation suddenly ended.

“Let’s talk now.”

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun also nodded and stood up.

Lee Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun left the room together.

And again an hour later.

“Park Moon-dae.”

The two called out to Park Moon-dae who was sitting on his bed with his eyes closed.

As soon as Park Moon-dae opened his eyes he realized that his roommate was not in the room.

And this time I found my roommate outside the room.

To be exact all members except himself.

“what…”

“We’ve been talking for a while and I have something to tell you.”

Sejin Lee spoke like a notice. And I thought.

‘It’s okay to do whatever you want’ is not acceptable.

Aren’t you supposed to be responsible for the results? It’s no different from simply handing over decisions and responsibilities to yourself.

therefore.

“Press preview now.”

This decision had to be made as well.

* * *

“what?”

I couldn’t believe my ears.

“Do you know what you are talking about?”

“of course.”

Lee Se-jin was calm despite the fact that all of the members were suddenly dragged into someone else’s room.

It was the same for the members who came with us.

“This is the result of discussion between members and a majority vote.”

“…”

“No you said we would all use the company’s system. It was like that last time we made an album.”

Sejin Lee shrugged her shoulders.

“Then surrender to the majority decision and press it~”

It was absurd.

What's even funnier is that several people around me are nodding their heads in agreement.

Moreover the story did not end there.

"I talked to Chungwoo here."

"…"

I turned my head reflexively.

Steer Liu Chengwu who was standing behind had a pretty calm face. There seemed to be no opposition pressured by public opinion.

"I heard that if you keep putting it off something dangerous could happen. And there is a high probability that the memories will not return."

"…"

"I will believe it. I know you didn't have to lie to me. All you have to do is return the memories without any explanation. But you didn't."

And the guy smiled faintly.

"…I felt it while preparing for the stage but it seems like you guys are trustworthy team members."

"brother…"

Even the surrounding members responded.

It was a quite… touching remark. Because I heard directly from someone whose memory was lost and who became a stranger that I trusted them within a matter of weeks. I too was agitated for a moment.

But at the same time I felt a strange sensation.

A slight sense of discomfort.

‘what?’

But that unpleasant feeling passed through my mind before it could materialize.

And now a clearer situation was visible before my eyes.

Everyone agreed and notified me.

Click ‘Preview’.

“…”

The funny thing is that my mind suddenly becomes calm. As if it was some sort of relief.

‘Are you crazy?’

It is always good to have the right to choose but what is the benefit of being reassured when you have been notified that a decision has been made by a majority vote?

But the fact that my head has become lighter… I can’t deny it.

‘…okay. It’s less burdensome.’

I ended up calling up the pop-up.

“Then let’s press it.”

“okay.”

[Do you want to ‘preview’ ‘For Company Use’?]

I pressed ‘yes’.

And immediately the pop-up started to get busy.

A hologram that changes color and flashes.

[Implementation of ‘Preview’]

I thought of a few possibilities.

The system is restarted with Ryu Cheong-woo’s memories not returning the survey function is activated and even though it is rare Ryu Cheong-woo’s memories are returned as is.

But none of them were correct.

“…! Ugh”

“Ravin?”

I saw Kim Rae-bin falling down and the guys looking at him with astonished faces.

And at the same time I realized.

Preview meant the next batter.

This time Ryu Cheong-woo is on hold.

Chapter 508

[In ‘Preview’]

There was something strange about the status window whose colors returned after performing ‘preview’.

There are no fonts and almost no interface has been implemented.

It looks like a computer operating system that has been emergency run to enable only a few functions. It was a unique aspect that I had never seen before.

But I don’t have the energy to pay attention to that right now.

“Raebin Kim! are you okay?”

“Ugh…”

This is because Raebin Kim is staggering having accidentally hit the back of his head against the hallway wall.

“Lay it down for now.”

I immediately came out of the door and helped Raebin Kim. Without saying a word Cha Yu-jin helps Rae-bin Kim and lays her down on the floor and Sun Ah-hyun runs to get a pillow.

“Ugh…”

“headache?”

“Ravin are you sick?”

“…”

Raebin Kim had no answer. But gradually my breathing became calmer and my consciousness became quiet as if it was being submerged…

“Huh!”

“…!”

I woke up suddenly as if waking up from a nightmare.

And the moment his eyes widened and his mouth opened.

“Who are you?”

“…”

A phrase I’ve already heard comes out.

‘Fuck… ’

I pressed my forehead with one hand. Meanwhile Raebin Kim seemed to be looking around still in a dazed state but she looked happy as if she had finally found a familiar face.

“Cha Yujin?”

But soon I was shocked again.

“Cha Yujin! How did you enlist? Could it be that I gave up my nationality and volunteered for military service…”

What does this mean again?

Cha Yu-jin perhaps having similar thoughts opened her mouth with a puzzled look on her face.

“…?? Kim Rae-bin lost his mind?!”

"…! Could it be that you came to visit me and I fell and lost consciousness and don't remember anything?"

no.

Next to me Keun Se-jin opened his mouth in a shaky voice.

"Enlistment? No way Raevin is you…"

And then he said something that everyone vaguely remembered but couldn't say out loud.

"Did you go to the military?"

"…? yes. I have just completed training camp!"

A deathly silence fell between us.

I closed my eyes tightly.

'…world.'

Steer Kim Rae-bin No… Former steer Kim Rae-bin was in the military.

* * *

"Oh so… a warrant came out…"

"yes! Currently I have completed all bachelor's courses using the Credit Bank System so my enlistment postponement period has ended."

(Probably) Steer Kim Rae-bin… was braver than expected.

It is said that he probably completed his bachelor's degree in music through cyber and enlisted immediately after receiving a warrant.

'…Since Steer was disbanded there would have been no reason to come up with another reason for delay.'

And I think I did better in the military than I thought.

Raebin Kim summarized his life as a private as follows.

"Although there are a few things I don't understand I don't bother to ask questions remembering the advice I received from my sister before."

I'm so glad…

'You were lucky.'

There might be a bully with that personality but I don't think there was a person with a twisted mentality among my senior staff. So in fact Raebin Kim had a military constitution that did not need correction.

'It's because he's the kind of guy who criticizes his superiors.'

But my mouth was grinning.

'I can't believe I'm in the military at that age.'

Of course if you think of them as just college students 24 is too late but if you think of them as idols it's too early.

Idol groups that have achieved some success have a dominant meta of staying out of the military as much as possible in their 20s.

'To put it the other way this guy is no longer a 'moderately successful idol group'.'

…steer Kim Rae-bin.

"So… time went back in time and now I debuted in a different group and am still active as an idol…?"

“yes.”

“that…”

Steer Kim Rae-bin who immediately heard the explanation of the situation was speechless as his eyes were watering at this supernatural environment.

Then as my vision finally cleared I was surprised to see Inyoung standing behind me.

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo.

“Chungwoo hyung…?”

“You came too.”

And Liu Chengyu kept his mouth shut. There was no change in his expression but strangely I got the feeling that he didn’t seem to be in a very good mood.

‘Why?’

Wouldn’t it be nice to see someone who has been in a similar situation to you for several years?

Kim Rae-bin would not have been the type of person to cause an accident.

“…”

At that time there was some awkward silence.

Perhaps sensing the sign Eun Se-jin consciously continues his explanation in a soft and cheerful manner.

The current Ryu Cheong-woo is the Steer Ryu Cheong-woo you knew. And the fact that Cha Yu-jin has memories.

finally…

“Um so to continue explaining we Ravin’s group Testa are currently preparing for the stage on a contest program~”

“Is that so…”

“Ugh this one too… It was arranged by Ravin!”

Before she could say anything Sun Ah-hyun hurriedly started playing music on her smartphone.

A completed version of Mudi’s <You Don’t Know> arrangement that Raebin Kim created for the contest a few days ago.

-Umm umm…

The music flowed slowly along with my humming as I recorded the demo.

“…”

Steer Kim Rae-bin listened to the low-quality sound coming from his smartphone with a blank face.

Exquisite and delicate composition and melody.

And Cha Yu-jin who was looking at her smartphone seemed uncharacteristically nervous.

‘I guess I know.’

This means that Raebin Kim did not participate much in song work during the Steer era.

It’s just a guess but even if he had participated it would never have been in a direction where he had full authority like he does now.

If the higher-ups at the agency pushed for a poor direction without any sense wouldn't they have tried to accommodate it somehow?

Like the mess that occurred when I first arranged 'Blazing Like the Sun' during the second team match of <Azusa>.

'And… he must have done something to steal copyright fees by involving his relatives.'

In short it is no different from exploitation.

So it may be a bit bittersweet for him to hear in person the results of Testa Kim Rae-bin's full display of his talent here no matter how necessary it may be.

Just like steer Cha Yu-jin did before…

"Amazing! Did I really arrange it?"

"…??"

I will cancel all inferences.

Kim Rae-bin's eyes were shining brightly. It looked a bit scary but no matter who saw it it was an excited face. He even seemed excited.

At the same time Sun Ah-hyun's face also turned red.

"Ugh! Do you like it…?"

"yes. Indeed… Yes."

Raebin Kim even seemed to be unable to do her specialty 'talking excitedly about a field she is interested in' because she was too overwhelmed.

He seemed to genuinely feel something like joy or emotion in this situation rather than any great discomfort.

'ah.'

And I realized why that would be possible.

‘He believed he debuted again as Testa.’

He did not separate himself from ‘testa Kim Rae-bin’.

The current situation was viewed as a picture of one’s future on a continuous timeline.

And the reason that was possible was because Kim Rae-bin could not simply be explained as being naive.

‘It’s because of our attitude.’

This is because we are now treating Raebin Kim the same way as before. So Raebin Kim accepted us as ‘acquaintances he doesn’t remember’ without any hesitation.

In addition there are already two people who have memories of Steer and one of them is a friend who has been with him since he was a trainee.

There is no choice but to relax vigilance.

‘All the conditions were met.’

It was luck that I got because Kim Rae-bin was very similar to before and because it happened so suddenly that I had no time to mentally prepare.

‘after.’

I slowly became calmer and realized that I was quite nervous.

The atmosphere became warmer and Sun Ah-hyun was also excited by her steer Kim Rae-bin who was impressed and was about to play another song.

Cha Yu-jin asked.

“Then do you want to arrange Kim Raebin’s next stage?”

“I?”

“Oh~ I see. If you’re greedy tell me anytime Ravin!”

Raebin Kim’s eyes widened but his face soon became quite serious.

“I think this might be too much work but if you take on the challenge and produce results… could you consider me as a candidate?”

At that moment relief and joy flashed across the members’ faces.

It was clear that people were thinking something like ‘Kim Rae-bin is still the same.’

“of course!”

“thank you!”

While the members were smiling warmly Keun Se-jin opened his mouth energetically.

“Then shall we start preparing for the stage?”

“…?”

It was that moment.

“I… have to perform on stage!”

Raebin Kim said that but his tone was closer to surprise or embarrassment than enlightenment. It was as if I had suddenly been hit by hail.

That is it is negative.

“Ha you don’t want to do it?”

“Rather than saying I don’t want to do it I think it’s better if I don’t do it.”

“…?”

And Kim Rae-bin answered as if nothing had happened.

“I realized it through experience. I am not qualified to do broadcasting or stage activities.”

“What what?”

The members stiffened.

And I also hardened my expression.

‘What does this mean?’

Even during Steer there was no problem with that guy’s stage abilities.

‘Inside information.’

I looked back at Cha Yu-jin whom I remember as being a fellow member. The guy had a slightly bitter expression.

“…”

I feel bad.

Fortunately there was someone who would rush in here first… but no this guy can’t do it.

But Bae Se-jin had already opened his mouth.

“What are you talking about! You are good on stage!”

“yes?”

Kim Rae-bin was startled by Bae Se-jin's shout but soon became more confused when she saw Bae Se-jin's face.

'…Have you noticed it now?'

This is the face of 'Lee Se-jin (A)' who was involved in a drug scandal in the early days of Steer.

Sure enough Raebin Kim asked politely… with a determined look on his face.

'…?'

"I'm sorry but what is your name?"

"Bae… It's Bae Se-jin."

"…! Are you familiar with Lee Se-jin who was a child actor?"

"…"

it's me. Bae Se-jin's face was filled with absurdity as if he wanted to answer like that.

And he answered with his facial expression.

"it's me!"

"…?!"

Raebin Kim was astonished. I touched my forehead.

But at the same time I also had these thoughts.

'Is it better to explode in a less serious atmosphere like this?'

Drugs or anything.

‘Maybe we can stamp it out as a misunderstanding and end it by swearing at Bae Se-jin’s biological father.’

Given the circumstances the drug transport problem must have been because of that bastard.

However before Raebin Kim opened his mouth he glanced back to check on someone.

‘…?’

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo.

“Ha but.”

“Ravin. You must be very confused and tired right now so get some rest first.”

Liu Chengwu answered at once.

Then he looked back at us and smiled bitterly.

“Is that okay?”

“Ah… of course!”

“Kim Raebin’s room is here!”

“Thank you…”

Hearing Ryu Cheong-woo’s words sound reasonable everyone hurriedly helped Raebin Kim and led him to the bed and although he was confused he couldn’t shake it off and lay down on the bed.

“…”

And I was conscious of steer Liu Chengwu.

The feeling of discomfort I felt earlier.

‘I think I just interrupted Raebin Kim.’

I decided to remember it.

Of course now we have to dig a little deeper starting with Kim Rae-bin’s statement about avoiding the stage.

* * *

“Amazing…”

This is Steer Kim Rae-bin’s reaction after seeing her fancam receive millions of views and enthusiastic comments from fans.

And the members who came and showed us the Baribari video had some hope.

“Yes that’s true right?”

“I think it would be impossible to go on stage as expected.”

“uh…?”

“I think it would be impossible for me to perform on stage at this level.”

The members were embarrassed.

In the meantime Seon Ah-hyeon said this with a stern expression.

“Ha but. When you were in our group… you performed really well on stage!”

“…? I guess there was some kind of opportunity or a lot of effort.”

Raebin Kim responded calmly.

“Sorry but that’s not me.”

It was a slightly creepy conclusion.

And everyone in Testa was momentarily speechless.

‘Fuck you.’

I resisted the urge to close my eyes.

‘This guy also had a problem.’

This is unconditionally… aversion to idol activities.

It wasn’t normal.

But this was not the end of the day’s absurd events.

This is because while Kim Rae-bin was watching the stage video she turned her head without thinking and something finally caught her eye.

This was the content that appeared in the pop-up status window where ‘Preview’ was implemented.

[Preview of new features (extra)]

-View fragment records

‘Fragment record?’

As soon as the word that was the cause of all this shit came out my concentration was activated.

I reflexively read the next line speed-reading.

[Help: You can reproduce the mission failure scenario when the system owner absorbed the fragments by ‘Viewing the fragment record'.]

what?

For a moment if it were a mission failure scenario that I went through…

'no way.'

I reflexively checked the function.

[View fragment record]

-Mission Failed: Building collapses

-Mission Failed: Return to original state

The first is a disaster in which a building literally collapsed. Unless my head is split open would I pretend to be crazy?

But still.

'…the second time.'

-Mission Failed: Return to original state

Returning to Ryu Geon-woo's body.

At this moment the function to change bodies with Geoldal was opened.

Chapter 509

‘Switch bodies with Keoldal again?’

From collapsing buildings to changing bodies.

A function to recreate the situation at the time of the last ‘mission failure’.

I kept my mouth shut as I looked at the option given in the status window that said ‘Re-update’.

It was ridiculous.

‘Who on earth would welcome a feature like this?’

I went through so much hardship back then that there was no way I would want to experience that again. Who on earth would want to feel the thrill of being trapped in a collapsing building or having their schedule ruined?

Are you really saying that I’ve been thinking about absorbing ‘Fragments of □□□□ often lately? So far I’ve acquired fragments every time I’ve solved a ‘Mission Failed’ so I guess I found a connection there.

‘If you predict demand this way even at a local corner store you’ll get cut you idiot.’

Moreover the system was applied to the company but why are they providing additional functions that have nothing to do with the company?

It’s not like just borrowing the IP shell from some famous webtoon and producing a mobile lottery game without any context.

And as if in response a pop-up popped up.

[Mission Failed: Return to original state]

Maximum viewing time: 48 hours

-Would you like to view?

This guy doesn't even notice.

'Try to get out of here.'

I erased the pop-up and closed my eyes. My temples throbbed.

…First let's clear up the situation.

'The members who have now lost their memories are Ryu Cheong-woo and Kim Rae-bin.'

If we just look at the situation both were cooperative with the group and did not act unexpectedly.

However Ryu Cheong-woo is reluctant to regain his memories and Kim Rae-bin is reluctant to perform on stage.

And it didn't end there. I remembered Kim Rae-bin's expression just before that.

-Ha but…

'Earlier steer Kim Rae-bin caught Ryu Cheong-woo's attention.'

It's like it's a little scary too.

It's a rare sight to see while living as a testa but it's almost like a habit.

"…"

Over the past few days I was lost in thought remembering the strange feeling of discomfort I felt with my steer Ryu Cheng-wu.

And came to a conclusion.

‘There’s nothing we can do now.’

Up until now I have refrained from scratching for fear of causing a rash but now that it has come to this point doing so any more is a foolish act of escaping from reality.

If the method of not blushing doesn’t work try the regular method.

‘I’m asking.’

And I knew who the most suitable partner was.

A complete entity with both memories.

* * *

“Tell me everything you remember.”

I called Cha Yu-jin the person involved in the previous incident and who had successfully regained her memories into the kitchen and started a conversation like this.

“What?”

“Internal conflict when steering.”

Cha Yu-jin looked at me with a shocked face.

“I said I would cook something delicious for you! “I tricked you!”

okay. To achieve this they even recruited Lee Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyeon and dispersed the two steers into the choreography practice room and workroom.

But it’s not a scam.

“I’ll do that too.”

“Oh.”

“What do you want to eat?”

“Kimchi fried rice please.”

receipt.

I opened the refrigerator and took out the ingredients.

“Please add cheese!”

Are you coming?

I stopped the guy who immediately became calm next to me and asked while cutting kimchi.

“The reason I’m asking is because I think that since the situation has become like this we need to somehow gather information to deal with it.”

“…”

“It means you can no longer go on without knowing what you don’t know.”

Silence tacit consent.

I started with the part that bothered me the most.

“First of all it seems like Ravin is paying attention to Chungwoo.”

“Umm… Yep.”

affirmation.

“What is the reason?”

Cha Yu-jin looked sullen for a moment but soon calmed down.

“Hyung do you really want to hear it?”

“uh.”

“OK.”

Cha Yu-jin was silent for a moment. Without prompting I quietly continued preparing the ingredients.

Soon a calm voice rang through the sink.

“In the old days Steer’s brother Cheong-woo was a scary person.”

“…!”

It was an unusual choice of words.

Scaring you?

“What was it like specifically?”

[You know half of the early members of the KPOP group called Steer were a mess. So he led the team like a high-ranking leader. Like a very tough American football captain.]

Cha Yu-jin slightly shrugged her shoulders.

[So what I mean is that he never treated his teammates as tolerantly and gently as he does now.]

“…for example?”

The guy frowned as if recalling a vague memory.

[There was a time when a member who missed choreography practice was not allowed to come into the dorm and had to stay up all night in the practice room.]

what?

I immediately grabbed the handle of the frying pan. Cha Yu-jin continued speaking with a hint of laughter.

[That stupid guy almost cried and had to learn the choreography all morning.]

"…"

[And that kind of punishment continued for several years.]

'It's hard to believe.'

Due to Liu Chengwu's personality it is impossible or something like that.

The question was whether it was realistically possible.

'This isn't even the military.'

No matter how old they were they were all in the same age group.

And in the same situation an individual who is only a leader in name tries to 'punish' like an instructor?

As long as the other members had thick heads there was a limit to how effective they could be.

Moreover haven't they all just debuted by being ranked high on a popular survival program? At a time when my self-consciousness was so inflated…

“That worked?”

But Cha Yu-jin answered immediately.

[It worked.]

“…”

i get it.

‘It means that Ryu Cheong-woo was surprisingly familiar with the politics of fear to the extent that common sense defies it.’

In order to control the atmosphere of the group which was in chaos both internally and externally… in the end a hard-line policy was used.

I silently flipped the bacon. And I checked by starting to fry the sliced kimchi in the oil.

“It means that as a leader he was properly coercive.”

“It’s similar.”

While listening to Cha Yu-jin’s affirmation I mechanically put the cooled rice into the frying pan and smoothened it out.

Repetitive labor makes it easy to think about other things and I completed my rebuttal in no time.

“But Ravin would have listened even if he didn’t have to.”

“What about me? “I listen too!”

“Do you have a conscience?”

“Boo.”

The guy made a sullen expression as if he was a little offended but soon gave a proper answer.

“If you discriminate problems arise. “I think that’s why Chungwoo treated all members equally strongly.”

“…”

They said they couldn’t take care of each and every situation because they had to suppress them and prevent them from making a single noise.

‘That’s why even Kim Rae-bin noticed… la.’

Come to think of it steer Cha Yu-jin was surprisingly obedient to Ryu Cheong-woo in the beginning.

It was an indicator showing the level of bloodshed in the team atmosphere that Ryu Cheong-woo a former national team athlete had controlled by ‘not paying attention’.

‘For the politics of fear meta to work in the long run it had to be at that level.’

After suppressing the backlash for several years half of the members eventually decided to leave the group and run rather than cause problems within the group.

The agency took hold of the abandoned group and managed it somehow.

However Cha Yu-jin seemed a little regretful even after speaking.

[As our fan you have the right to protect your fantasy. So I didn’t mention it specifically but… yes that’s the truth.]

“…”

And I knew.

“You have no reason to lie.”

“that’s right. “I am an honest person.”

I finished the kimchi fried rice by adding cheese.

And he spoke calmly to Cha Yu-jin who was dispelling her gloom with her appetite.

“There’s nothing in particular where the illusion is broken or anything like that.”

“…are you telling me seriously?”

“Are you coming?”

In the end Ryu Cheong-woo made the best choice within the given environment.

I can’t criticize it for not being the best choice.

‘It’s a miracle that you did that with disobedient children.’

More than that.

“So right now Steer Liu Chengwu is trying to be gentle on purpose.”

Cha Yu-jin seemed lost in thought for a moment but eventually nodded.

“I think so too. Because people don’t like showing their weaknesses. Chungwoo is no exception.”

In other words Steer Ryu Cheong-woo himself viewed his ‘coercive leader’ image as a weakness that would not help him settle down here.

‘…There is a high probability that he himself would not have been willing to be so forceful in the first place.’

I predicted as I cut a stick of butter in half and added it to a new pan for frying eggs.

And now I asked Cha Yu-jin who couldn't take her eyes off the kimchi fried rice with all the cheese melted on it.

"I get it. "Then what about Ravin?"

"…"

"I don't know why you don't want to be on stage."

Then Cha Yu-jin slumped her shoulders slightly.

"I don't know either."

"…??"

[The steer I remember Raebin Kim… Yes he was less active than he is now. But I didn't hate the stage.]

"…"

I didn't bother to say that even now I just don't recognize myself as a 'performer' but I don't think I hate the stage.

In the end there isn't much difference.

'Anyway this guy doesn't know exactly.'

In that case it could be that there was a decisive incident with steer Kim Rae-bin after this guy went to the United States.

-After the group disbanded. After breaking up with all the members.

I decided to keep this timing in mind.

and.

“Let me ask you one last question.”

“…OK.”

I brought up the question I had been putting off.

“…What happened to Bae Se-jin?”

Crackling.

The sound of eggs cooking filled the quiet kitchen.

and.

[The news seems to have stopped a few years ago and I think he continued to appeal the trial.]

You appealed?

An appeal means that you are dissatisfied with the outcome of the trial.

And that also meant that he was found guilty of drug distribution and was definitely sentenced to prison or a fine.

‘Fuck you.’

If it is distributed there is a higher probability of imprisonment. I held back a sigh.

“What are the results?”

“I don’t remember. [Perhaps the Steer members did not intentionally look for the final conclusion.]”

Cha Yu-jin’s voice sounded a little bitter.

“But now I know. Sejin is a completely moral person. So… [I now think it was a misunderstanding or a coincidence with bad timing.]”

“…okay.”

That was it.

‘Then all of the Steer guys know that Bae Se-jin was found guilty in the trial.’

It was even more surprising that steer Ryu Cheong-woo was quite gentle and kind to Bae Se-jin here.

‘hmm.’

I turned down the heat on the induction stove coming up with a few hypotheses.

Then I put two soft-boiled fried eggs on top of the kimchi fried rice with burnt cheese.

“It’s done.”

“Wow!!”

In an instant all of Cha Yu-jin’s worries disappeared. Well that’s nice to see.

And after a while the guys who had gone out to the front door came rushing back.

“Hey should we leave with kimchi fried rice?”

“My brother uses delivery service!”

“Wow that’s really shameful Eugene.”

I made some kind of decision while looking at the steers who were standing together in silence and a bit awkwardly.

First of all the basics.

‘The situation is so messed up right now.’

After listening to Cha Yu-jin’s explanation I realized that the cause-and-effect relationship during steer was more complicated than I thought.

But how to guide both guys to regain their memories satisfactorily at the same time without stepping on either bomb?

‘The level of difficulty is crazy.’

And even if all of this miraculously ends well the problem remains.

‘Recovering my memories ultimately depends on this system update.’

That cannot be guaranteed.

I am not clear on how this system works.

That’s why the reasoning in that part becomes vague and it lingers even when you talk about it.

In the end the conclusion is that if I do not understand this fundamental part there is no clear answer.

-Why did the update bring back memories of when I was steering?

-When will I regain my original memories?

Principle of the system.

And under the current conditions… I could think of a way to figure this out.

‘Then I’ll find out.’

If I hesitate I'll drag it again and the bomb may explode while it's out of my hands.

'I'll never see that again.'

Here following direct conversation with the person concerned the second step of 'Jeonggongbeop' comes.

– Direct analysis of the system.

And to catch a tiger you have to go into the tiger's den.

I decided.

'Throws an adventure number.'

And if I'm going to take a risk I have to do it myself to feel safe.

So early that morning.

'Status window.'

It's been a while since I volunteered to load up my gaming system.

And since it was in 'preview' mode I checked again the system pop-up which was somewhat lacking in completeness.

[Mission Failed: Return to original state]

Maximum viewing time: 48 hours

-Would you like to view?

48 hours is probably the maximum penalty period that Park Moon-dae and Ryu Geon-woo received when their bodies changed hands last time.

'Seeing as it's labeled as maximum there's a high probability that I can finish it arbitrarily.'

Even in the worst case a conclusion is reached within 48 hours.

Please note that tomorrow is the weekend.

My competition stage is not ready yet and Keoldal has a day off from work.

Doesn't it fit perfectly?

[Are you really going to do this?]

okay.

[All right…]

Geoldal who had already been persuaded for several hours obediently agreed to my opinion.

And after a while.

"after."

I woke up in bed with tired eyes.

The ceiling of Ryu Geon-woo's bedroom was outlined in the dim light.

But I don't have time to check in detail.

'Starting with connection.'

I immediately accessed the view of 'Parkmundae' where the big moon was.

[Viewing fragment records]

Images are projected into my mind as if my field of vision is split in two.

‘good.’

This is what I did last time.

And this tells us one thing.

‘If the body is in a changed state I can access Park Moon-dae’s field of vision through a status window just like Keundal did.’

If so we might be able to go one step further.

So I took it to the next step.

-It’s a bit like being sucked into a typhoon or a black hole…

‘That’s difficult.’

As I recalled Big Moon’s vague explanation I focused more and more on the visible surface of the status window as much as possible…

And how much time has passed?

‘…!’

My consciousness was literally sucked into me.

Into the status window.

‘That’s it!’

Check and change system structure.

Just like Geoldal had done several times before by accessing the system through the status window from the daydream incident to the collapse of the building.

[■■■■■■■■■]

‘I’ll just… put you in a coma-like state where you can’t recover.’

I started analyzing the system.

Chapter 510

Entering the system felt similar to a kind of pseudo-sleep state.

Could it be said to be a dirty feeling where one succeeds in waking up momentarily from a state of pressure only to eventually succumb to the pouring sleep and fall asleep with a sober mind?

‘The expression ‘being sucked in’ is really accurate.’

Just like Geoldal explained.

-brother! As expected you quit…

-brother? my…

-…

It seemed like the big moon was still sending a message but that was all.

There was a dull hum as if I was hearing outside sounds underwater and soon even that was no longer heard.

Like falling into a deep sleep.

Like falling down a cliff.

A feeling of sinking into the deep sea.

‘…after.’

For a moment I felt like I was feeling dizzy and overwhelmed but I quickly shook it off.

‘It was already expected.’

There is no need to be embarrassed by what you know. I paused again and tried to figure out the structure of this system.

After a while.

‘…!’

As if I was slowly opening my eyes I began to realize where I was.

And I was astonished.

‘oh my god.’

loaf.

There were endless glowing lumps of different sizes randomly packed all over the place. And they were complexly interconnected and flashed irregularly.

The inside of the system was messy like circuits that had been patched together.

‘What is this?’

It felt like a system coded by a beginner. To the point where I think naming it “system” was a pretty good choice.

At the same time it felt like an architectural design drawing cut and pasted in a bizarre and confusing way with connections attached like spider webs or synapses.

In one word it’s a huge… mess.

This was first implemented as a nice-looking status window? It was clear that the big moon had ground its own head.

‘Should I look at everything one by one?’

I first approached the nearest lump and focused my attention.

It was like I was able to access the database.

This is…

[Company rating measurement]

I see.

‘Is it so that each function is divided and connected?’

I briefly speculated that it might have become such a messy structure because necessary things were added from time to time.

And from then on the search began in earnest.

‘There’s still plenty of time until morning.’

I was planning on staying here for at least a few hours.

And after a considerable amount of time has passed.

I checked the names of all kinds of lumps.

Perhaps because it was in the outskirts there were a lot of company-related functions that seemed to have been created recently.

‘There are so many of them.’

It wasn’t strange to be annoyed but I wasn’t annoyed perhaps because I was satisfied with digging into the inside of this damn system.

Anyway it wasn’t long before I patiently continued to check my surroundings and found what I was looking for.

[☆Search☆]

Unlike other lumps this one has a unique expression.

This was not created by the system. This is the trace left by the big moon that was implemented last time.

‘It was implemented when the building collapse mission failed.’

Complexly connected to several chunks it looked more like a terminal than a chunk.

‘good.’

Through this I was able to immediately access the desired function.

And if you want you can connect them well and create an application function.

-Actually it’s not even an application it’s just a change in the way it’s displayed…

No search is a really great feature.

While remembering Geoldal’s words I accessed the ‘search’ terminal.

‘Is it okay to make it this way?’

After carefully checking the implementation method I concluded that I could create an application function in a similar way.

And I used the search function as I had originally intended.

The purpose is to understand how updates in this system work.

-search.

-… All information related to updates.

Give it all.

At that moment my consciousness began to quickly pull towards the destination in all directions.

I gritted my teeth and began to accept the pouring information.

And then I realized.

'…!!'

The purpose of this damn bastard is…

* * *

'brother! Are you okay?'

Now that he was in Park Moon-dae's body he couldn't bring himself to make a loud noise but inside he was almost screaming.

'Of course I should have gone!'

Testa Park Moon-dae who was originally Ryu Geon-woo was very good at cleverly distorting logic and persuading and in the end Geoldal gave in to his will…

The thesis 'I feel more comfortable doing it myself' was a matter of subjective appreciation. Geoldal who still had a soft side could not rationally deny those words.

Moreover Geundall had already failed once.

-The pressure was so strong that it was impossible to find out specific information. Maybe my brother could go in there…

-…? If someone fails once it seems reasonable to change people and try again.

-yes? Yes that's true but…

So in the end the moment you spit out a vague affirmation you become possessed and when you come to your senses you find yourself in a crazy situation where your body has changed.

'Ugh… '

Big Moon couldn't bear to take a nap in bed so he came out to the living room sofa and waited with open eyes for news from Ryu Geon-woo…

But I knew.

Controlling the system is easy to say but in reality it was an incredibly difficult and difficult task.

'He probably won't be able to come out for a while… '

[Big moon.]

thud.

"Huh-up."

Geoldal had to immediately roll off the sofa and cover his mouth.

There was a message from Testa Park Mun-dae crackling and shaking in the air.

'Did I come out?'

[Not like that.]

The message was answered casually.

[I found your search function. I also tried to utilize the messaging function in a similar way. It seems a bit… unstable.]

"…??"

So you're sending a message… from within the system?

Why did you come up with that idea? No better than that!

'brother! Come out quickly! 'I guess I was wrong!'

[No everything is smooth here. I don't think that's necessary.]

Big Moon cried out asking why he was so calm in that monster scab but the messages kept arriving.

[There is something to be delivered.]

[I found out why the system updates in this way.]

"…!!"

Big Moon even forgot to howl.

"What is it?"

The answer to the question I had muttered without even realizing it came back like a knife.

[To make me use the system often.]

"…??"

yes?

[Think about it.]

[Last time during the update Cha Yu-jin's memories were lost. I tried many times to use the system somehow to obtain information.]

It was like that.

Testa Park Moon-Dae tried to see if it was possible to continue activating some functions while holding on to the system which was not updated and operating in such a ridiculous state of emergency.

Of course it was impossible.

‘brother… ’

Just when my heart was about to sink for a moment.

[I think I learned that.]

“…??”

And then a long message arrived at breakneck speed.

[This bastard decided that the most efficient way to entice me was to erase my member’s memories like he did back then.]

[That’s why you’re doing this shit. I expect that if I do this I will use the system often.]

Huh.

[Last time I saw myself wasting a lot of money trying to use the system.]

“…”

The choice of words was unusual.

‘Tongue brother.’

And Keundal realized why Lee took advantage of the inefficient messaging function between himself and himself.

This guy was so angry that he had to tell someone about this…

[Do you remember? Last time we updated we added all kinds of additional features.]

[As if asking me to write something.]

‘yes… ’

I also knew about the big moon.

After completing the update I saw everything that flashed as a pop-up such as a survey or a new feature as shared view.

but.

‘But it didn’t work… ’

That brother completely ignored everything.

[okay.]

[Because appearing useful didn’t work he tried to make me more desperate.]

“…”

[That’s the situation right now.]

‘oh my god.’

In other words the system has decided that it is much more efficient to corner the opponent than to become useful.

It was a chilling conclusion.

‘It wasn’t safe because my brother became the owner rather than subordinate to the system.’

If a rattlesnake bites its tongue it becomes poisoned and dies. Just because you have poison doesn’t mean you won’t be harmed by that poison.

After thinking about it for a while Big Moon realized it and quickly shouted.

‘Hyung now that you know you’re coming out right? ‘Come out now!’

I was planning to pray that if my brother would come out right away they would just throw away this system.

but.

[for a moment.]

“…?”

Suddenly a surprisingly calm message came back in response as if it was genuine.

However the content made Geoldal uneasy.

[I found something else now.]

‘What on earth?’

What else did you find in that short period of time?

Big Moon wanted to cry a little now.

What on earth is he doing in that system right now?

* * *

Inside the system.

‘You crazy bastard.’

I can barely control my anger.

As a result of the search the frustrating result was that it was a beta version a mess and that this system was not much different from before it was destroyed.

‘Still getting results is a harvest in itself.’

The road to get here wasn’t easy. I won’t pretend like it’s not for nothing.

First of all using search an ‘application function’ created by Keudal consumed a tremendous amount of mental energy. I thought my head was going to burst due to the immense pressure.

‘Damn it.’

I’ve been thinking about this for a while but how on earth did Geoldal survive this and work on it?

It wasn’t surprising that he hadn’t found out anything specific about the update until now.

I decided that it would be foolish to come all the way here and return empty-handed so I managed to hold on.

-But you still do it!

…while saying this.

Moreover since Keoldal already knows everything if I can’t do it he will definitely log in here and try to do it again.

‘Then it’s inefficient.’

It’s a waste of time and pain.

So I just did it. And I didn’t really like the conclusion I found.

‘This bastard is real.’

I suppressed my irritation and looked at part of the update information that appeared in front of me.

[Use Frequency: 0]

-Re-updated

: Application of the best situation based on ‘frequency of use’ (period: 365)

The goal was to increase the frequency of use.

‘That’s why this shit happened.’

However the first update that became the standard for this revision namely Steer Cha Yu-jin was slightly different.

: Apply command to improve capabilities of entities belonging to ‘Company’

In the case of steer Cha Yu-jin it seems to have been an attempt to return Cha Yu-jin’s forgotten steer activity experience in order to promote ‘improvement of the abilities of the company’s artists.’

However the original memory was lost during the update.

‘But suddenly the frequency of use increased during the update so we took a step back and achieved our goal.’

It was amazing.

-go away.

My will rang through the air and information was scattered. I regained consciousness and calmed down again.

But there was also a strange feeling of pleasure like unraveling a knot.

Anyway just by knowing this bastard’s purpose I could see the way.

‘Once you know it it’s not difficult to handle.’

The system probably didn’t just give me the ‘Mission Failure View’ function that I am currently using to enter Ryu Geon-woo’s body.

I think they analyzed that there would be a high level of dependence on the system in a desperate situation of mission failure. Did you want to remind them of that experience?

Sorry but it was a failure.

‘I’ll make you regret giving me this feature.’

I grinned ferociously and shoved the damn information out of my sight.

My head raced and I came up with a plan. It seemed like the business was over now.

‘Then let’s go out now… just a moment.’

But then.

I noticed that the last most recent addition to the scattered information was hanging at the bottom.

This is it.

[Ver.2.2 update (scheduled)]

– Implementing data

‘Is this… next time?’

In terms of modern civilization it felt like content that was ‘reserved’.

‘Let’s check.’

I'm sure we'll find out what this guy originally had in store. I listened to analyze the information one more time.

If you focus your mind and try to understand specific details…

A message rings in my head.

-who is this?

"…!!"

I lost focus.

'just now.'

Something came into the application function called 'Message' that I implemented.

'what?'

I tried to implement the 'Message' function in more detail to make it more visible.

'Damn it.'

For a moment it felt like my missing teeth were clenching under the strange pressure that the system seemed to be rejecting.

A name was added to the front of the message.

-Lee Se-jin A: Who is it?

"…!"

I realized.

Sejin Lee A. The name tag Bae Se-jin received during <Azusa>. So… Bae Se-jin whose name has not been changed.

And to be updated.

‘The number of cases is one.’

-Lee Se-jin A: Where am I?

Now I have accessed the memories of ‘Steer Bae Se-jin’.

Chapter 511

Steer Sejin Lee.

Bae Se-jin whose name has not been changed.

The memory of the person who had been tried for drug distribution in the past and appealed was in the system I am currently digging into.

'…Let's stay calm.'

It wasn't surprising.

From my experience so far it seems like the system stores memories of past lives as a kind of backup.

'I've already seen my memories of my steer days come back a few times so how can I be surprised now?'

I also regained memories of my days at the company while beating the system.

The problem is this.

'Is it okay for me to talk?'

Conversation not just memory was possible. It was unclear what effect this would have.

Normally there is a high probability that he would have escaped without being touched… but now is a special situation.

This means that they even changed their bodies and forced access to the system.

‘If you pass it on like this you’ll be X.’

It is beneficial to try everything you can.

-Lee Se-jin: I asked who you were.

Just then the guy sent me another message. It seems like they recognized that I was around in some way.

‘…’

okay.

I touched the chunk of information as if I was connected to a terminal. And Keundal slowly sent a letter as if sending a message to ‘Park Moon-dae’.

Starting with expressions that the other side can easily understand.

[I am a member of the same group as you now.]

At that moment an immediate reply came as if a thunderbolt had struck.

-Lee Se-jin A: Steer?

And for a while there was no response to the data.

After a considerable gap filled in as if a person paused an answer finally came back.

Carefully.

-Lee Se-jin A: Ryu Cheong-woo?

‘…’

Strictly speaking two of those letters should be considered roughly correct.

[Not Cheongwoo. Probably not who you think.]

And just as I was about to continue the explanation from here.

The sharp reply arrived one step ahead.

-Lee Se-jin A: I am no longer a steer. And Steer has never recruited a new member.

-Lee Se-jin A: If we were in the same group there's no way I wouldn't know. Reveal your identity in detail.

'…!'

This guy knows the situation in more detail than you think.

'It means that there is enough background knowledge to be able to make logical arguments.'

It was strange. Any news on your previous group after you left and went through a legal battle? It's usually hard to even pay attention to.

However the fact that I know these details means that I searched for them on my own.

I stabbed that part on purpose.

[Have you been looking for steer regularly?]

-Lee Se-jin A: You answer first.

It's solid.

On the contrary it felt less sensitive than in <Azusa>. They are more than alert but they seem to be basically unperturbed.

‘hmm.’

If so that would be fine.

I decided to be honest about the situation.

[I am not a steer.]

-Lee Se-jin A: What?

[My current brother debuted in a group called Testa not Steer. I belong to that group.]

And I tried something new.

‘It doesn’t necessarily have to be in the form of a message.’

Instead of refining it into language I transmit the information I want to convey in its entirety.

Some information about the situation I have encountered so far.

Concentrate your consciousness while in contact with the terminal.

-Lee Se-jin A: ‘Brother’? What is that…

And that moment.

Everything I had experienced so far flowed into the terminal raw without any need to organize it.

-Lee Se-jin A: !!

‘It’s an unbelievable story so this is more efficient.’

The pressure was intense but not unbearable. After passing the information to the narrow line I took my consciousness off the terminal.

And ‘Lee Se-jin A’ seemed to just quietly accept the information I sent without replying.

After enough time has passed to digest it.

-Lee Se-jin A: So.

-Lee Se-jin A: I debuted in a different group.

The answer came back.

‘It worked well.’

Although I almost bit my tongue.

I regained my concentration and answered.

[yes.]

-Lee Se-jin A: Then… how am I doing now?

[You are working well as a group. And he changed his name to his mother’s last name. As Bae Se-jin.]

It meant that no problems occurred that would cause him to leave the group and that the issue of blood ties was resolved.

The answer came only after a period of blank space that was closer to blank space than silence.

-Lee Se-jin A: You are living well.

It was a fairly calm response.

[You are working hard.]

-Lee Se-jin A: I have never been lazy either. But living hard and living well are different.

‘…’

I was a little conflicted and decided to ask out loud.

It would be funny to come all the way here and pretend not to know.

[Does your brother think that he has not lived well?]

A former child actor and former idol who was involved in a drug scandal that ruined his career and held on to appeal.

-Lee Se-jin A: That’s not necessarily true. It’s not like there was no one who believed in me.

-Lee Se-jin A: But I won’t deny that the majority of people didn’t believe it.

‘You’re calm.’

To be honest it wouldn’t be surprising if it turned out to be more psychologically painful or if it attacked me for asking. Isn’t this a situation that makes sense?

However steer Bae Se-jin written as ‘Lee Se-jin A’ used a firm tone without any agitation.

‘Is it because it’s data in the first place and you can’t be swayed?’

No no.

In that case there is no way that the feeling of such a detailed conversation could be conveyed.

My doubts were soon resolved.

-Lee Se-jin A: Anyway okay.

-Lee Se-jin A: So… is this conversation like a dream I’m dreaming after already escaping from this situation?

[A dream?]

-Lee Se-jin A: Yes. If I were just a memory there's no way I could talk to you like this.

It was an interesting assumption.

'I'm sure… Bae Se-jin is sleeping right now.'

Based on Bae Se-jin's consciousness this steer Bae Se-jin's memories can come out of the information chunk and have a conversation…

So the basic principle is the same as the past steer cases.

'Anyway it's unusual for him not to be embarrassed saying it's just a memory.'

To be honest I predicted that Steer Bae Se-jin would be a very twisted person. Since I was a child I haven't been able to solve anything and the environment has dragged me into an abyss.

'When a person goes through something like that of course their personality is ruined.'

However this guy I'm talking to now… had the appearance of a veteran who had experienced all sorts of hardships.

[Aren't you feeling unfair?]

-Lee Se-jin A: It was unfair.

-Lee Se-jin A: But I also learned that just being unfair doesn't solve the problem.

These are the aspects.

It was very solid.

Moreover he even suggested the opposite.

-Lee Se-jin A: It seems like the situation is not good right now. If you have any questions ask. Because I will answer.

They were more cooperative than I expected.

'You can't miss it.'

So the moment I tried to quickly ask a question…

'hmm.'

A better idea occurred to me.

If you are this calm and mentally strong this method would be better.

[How about this?]

I explained my proposal and Lee Se-jin A seemed to think for a moment but soon answered willingly.

-Lee Se-jin A: Yes. That would be great.

okay.

I immediately grabbed his terminal.

And they started tearing away from the system.

Pressure swept through my body.

* * *

Testa's accommodation at night.

Geoldal who was sitting on the living room sofa in a state of anxiety to the point of almost biting his fingernails finally received the pop-up he had been waiting for.

[It's out of the system now]

"…!!"

It was a call from Testa Park Moon-dae that came directly from the system.

at las!

'thank god!'

Big Moon sighed in relief wiped away his cold sweat and lowered his voice as much as possible and shouted.

"Now take your body back. "No don't ever re-enter the system!"

[wait for a sec. I want my body to stay like this until tomorrow morning is that okay?]

"…?"

[I have work to do.]

[Go that way. I'm getting some sleep.]

"…??"

And a few minutes later Geudal happened to meet Ryu Geon-woo who silently entered the password and infiltrated the Testa dormitory.

'brother!?'

[I told you to sleep.]

Testa Park Moon-dae kept his mouth shut.

His older brother who had entered Ryu Geon-woo's body again answered quietly without opening his mouth as if to avoid waking up the other members.

Then he walked into the living room and said:

[I'll be getting ready so take a break.]

'What are you preparing?'

A pop-up appeared with Ryu Geon-woo's face quietly looking at the large moon without any expression.

[conversation.]

Recalling the conversation I had with steer Bae Se-jin within the system.

-Have you ever wanted to talk to someone in person?

-Lee Se-jin A: Good.

And about an hour later.

The conversation actually happens.

* * *

Liu Chengwu woke up from his sleep when a hand shook him.

My mind wasn't clear and the room was dark.

'Is it still dawn?'

He didn't feel much discomfort at being forced to wake up earlier than expected.

Because I lived like that for several years. It was something I had to get used to if I wanted to work in the entertainment industry.

However I couldn't help but feel embarrassed the moment I saw a stranger in front of me in my dorm.

"…!"

A cold-looking man wearing glasses.

Its appearance somehow resembled itself.

"who…"

"Ryu Geon-woo."

"ah."

It is a name to remember.

He felt sleep slipping away and quickly got up from the bed.

The person who Ryu Geon-woo Testa Park Moon-dae revealed was his previous life.

'And my relatives.'

He motioned quietly to himself.

"…?"

"Follow me."

Liu Qingyu did not protest and quietly followed him.

The destination is the room across from us.

It was Park Moon-dae and Kim Rae-bin's room.

"Brother tongue."

“Oh.”

Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin were seen in the light of the stand as if they had already woken up.

And the moment he saw In-seon Ryu Cheong-wu’s blood rushed from head to toe.

‘It’s just us.’

These are all people who have memories of Steer.

He asked slightly puzzled without showing it although the level of tension increased.

“Um… what situation is this?”

“I switched bodies for a moment.”

Without even asking whether such a thing was possible Ryu Cheng-wu instinctively realized that he was Testa Park Mun-dae.

This is because things like tone of voice eyes gestures and strides were completely consistent.

‘Now that I think about it I heard that the person who was originally Park Moon-dae is using his body now.’

When Ryu Cheong-woo recalled a rough explanation of the situation he acknowledged the situation. Anyway it wouldn’t help me if I didn’t admit it.

It was a bit suspicious and awkward but there was no need to express it out loud.

So instead he responded like Ryu Cheong-woo the leader of Testa.

“Isn’t there a problem? “It’s amazing to see you again like this but… safety is more important than that.”

“There is no problem. “Thank you for your concern.”

Ryu Geon-woo responded as if he had chosen the correct answer.

but.

“But I’m not seeing you again.”

He calmly breaks down his words.

“Because you don’t remember Ryu Geon-woo.”

“…”

Liu Qingwu responded unfazed.

“Well so much time has passed that I guess I didn’t recognize him for a moment. sorry.”

“okay. “It could be so.”

Ryu Geon-woo nodded easily.

“But you said it was a mistake when I answered ‘Ryu Geon-woo’.”

“…!”

As if I made a mistake.

In short he was conscious of not recognizing Ryu Geon-woo.

Because it’s a lie that I care about.

“Are you sure you said you remembered Ryu Geon-woo?”

“…”

After silence.

Liu Qingyu immediately smiled bitterly.

“no.”

“…”

“When I looked at the photo album on my smartphone there was a video. “I wondered why I had saved previous family trips with recent dates centered on relatives I couldn’t even remember.”

The time when Testa Ryu Cheong-woo was looking for Ryu Geon-woo at the request of Park Moon-dae.

He saved the scene of ‘Ryu Geon-woo’ in his family travel video that Park Moon-dae recognized on his smartphone wondering if it might be of use.

“So I remembered it… but when you asked it just came to mind and I said it.”

A calm explanation that it was not intentional.

It was persuasive enough but Ryu Geon-woo did not fall for it.

‘You looked at each and every detail of Testa Ryu Cheong-woo’s phone gallery.’

And it was even revealed that he intentionally answered that he remembered to make it easier for him to settle down here.

I didn’t need to point it out.

“I’m sorry if it felt deceptive.”

Ryu Cheong-woo like tester Ryu Cheong-woo apologized meekly.

But at the same time he also saw Kim Rae-bin flinch at his soft tone.

It’s an ambivalent feeling that makes you feel a little sad but also keeps you on edge for fear of saying something useless.

‘I can’t help it.’

It wasn’t a very pleasant experience. Liu Qingwu clenched and unclenched his fists thinking somewhat self-deprecatingly.

And after hearing the apology Ryu Geon-woo calmly nodded.

“I don’t think it’s deceptive. But that’s not what I wanted to talk about.”

Ryu Cheng-wu was briefly relieved but soon heard Ryu Geon-wu’s bombshell announcement.

“Actually what I have to say here isn’t that important.”

“…?”

“Because I came here as an agent.”

And he began to look into space.

“From now on I will pass on what he said.”

Although it was not visible to others there was a new message pop-up that he had ‘ripped out of the system and implemented as a status window’.

-Lee Se-jin A: It’s been a while.

“I’m Sejin Lee. Sejin Lee who was a steer.”

He started reading the contents of the message pop-up.

And a cold silence fell in the room.

“What now?”

“yes…?”

Ryu Geon-woo’s voice rang through the words of the Steer members asking questions.

“The reason I came here is. “Because I have something to say.”

-Lee Se-jin A: I don’t think you’ll be curious about my thoughts and there’s no need to so I don’t plan on saying anything else.

-Lee Se-jin A: But I have to tell you one thing. There’s something I remember clearly.

Ryu Geon-woo looked at Lee Se-jin A’s message pop-up and clearly conveyed the content.

“I won the case.”

At that moment everyone in the room raised their heads.

Among the shocked and blank-faced people steer Bae Se-jin spoke through Ryu Geon-woo’s mouth as if making a declaration.

“I was dissatisfied in the second trial and appealed and in the final third trial that went all the way to the Supreme Court… I won.”

The message proclaimed clearly.

-Lee Se-jin A: So Steer is not a drug group.

Chapter 512

“…”

Park Moon-dae and Kim Rae-bin’s room was filled with silence.

The former member of Steer said so through the mouth of Ryu Geon-woo who stands tall.

-I won the case.

So Steer is not a drug group.

“…”

A silent shock echoed through the air.

Steer Liu Chengwu muttered to himself.

“Win the case.”

“okay.”

Beyond Ryu Geon-woo’s answer the image of a member who had already left the group seemed to emerge.

Lee Se-jin A a former actor.

Liu Chengyu opened his mouth involuntarily.

“how?”

He knew how the trial unfolded.

This is because I checked and remembered how Steer Bae Se-jin reacted when he was arrested on drug distribution charges.

Those words were said with a face filled with anger resentment and fear.

-no!

He believed that it was true.

It wasn't that he was embarrassed because he was caught but rather he was angry because he felt unfairly treated.

'It's either a misunderstanding or a false accusation.'

So I spent every early morning worrying about how this group would survive until the charges were lifted.

When I think back now I liked those times better.

This is because contrary to plan Lee Se-jin A's charges were not cleared.

Thanks to the burning public opinion the ruling came out frighteningly quickly. and.

[<Azusa> Debut group steer Lee Se-jin sentenced to prison in first trial…"The crime is bad"]

Sentenced to imprisonment.

But Lee Se-jin A did not give up.

And the more he appealed the worse Internet public opinion became. It's surprising that there are places left where it gets worse.

-I'm sick of it you weakling.

-Anyway it seems like those who sell drugs have sold their brains and conscience.

-I guess sucking money from a bad guy must have been really bad so I can't give up.

-Wow I had no idea that they would turn out to be so cruel after starting their family business so seriously; I think my close friends should also investigate.

Days like that continued.

When the article was published excited people came and disappeared like the ebb.

After a while like that.

After being sentenced to prison in the second trial this topic has no longer become a hot topic in public opinion.

This is because there was no room for controversy and it became cold.

-LOL it's ugly.

"…"

And Liu Chengwu could not have known that there was little chance that the result would suddenly change to not guilty in the final third trial of the Supreme Court.

Because it already said so in the article.

In fact it was common sense that could be explained with just a comment even without considering the complex trial procedural issues such as legal and factual trials mentioned in the article.

-All the evidence has already come out so why are you acting like that?

Even an accomplice testified about the bank account where the money went.

“…”

Only then did Liu Chengwu give up looking for the trial results.

He was already tired enough.

‘I can’t do this.’

While I was trying to somehow support the collapsing group by scolding and threatening I didn’t have the energy to spend on this kind of torture of hope.

He decided to be realistic.

But here it all turns out to be a lie… At the end it is explained that he was ultimately acquitted.

You are using someone else’s mouth to do this without even knowing where the person is.

‘Lee Se-jin A who was a steer did not distribute drugs.’

The overwhelming meaning of that one sentence.

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo opened his mouth again.

Lee Se-jin A’s words came out.

“I understand your feeling of disbelief.”

There are very few cases where a person is suddenly found not guilty only in the third trial.

-Lee Se-jin A: However if you can find a legitimate reason for appeal there is no way.

-Lee Se-jin A: In my case it was a false statement by a witness.

Lee Se-jin A found contradictions in the statement of his biological father who risked his life in order to receive a reduced sentence and overturned it.

It was the result of persistence persistence not giving up meticulousness and a little bit of bad luck.

“It took a long time but in the end the original verdict was overturned and the case was remanded to trial again.”

Ryu Geon-woo calmly read the message.

A lot of agony several years of trial and the end of another trial.

“I won.”

“…”

innocence.

“I don’t lie about things like this. “There’s no need for that.”

Ryu Geon-woo remained calm.

And that calmness really seemed to ensure that Lee Se-jin A spoke the truth without hesitation.

Everyone there felt it.

“…”

And as if to break the silence one person jumped out.

“You fXXking did it!”

It was Cha Yu-jin.

Noise and heat suddenly fill the room.

He gave Ryu Geon-woo a rough hug and reacted warmly like a coach rushing at a boxer who had just won.

Of course Ryu Geon-woo refused.

“It’s not me.”

“i know. Please pass it on!”

Cha Yu-jin spoke in a slightly trembling voice.

[I’m sorry I didn’t look until the end.]

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo nodded with a slight smile.

“They said thank you.”

“Oh…”

The stiff atmosphere melted in an instant.

But the remaining two people were still sitting motionless in their seats.

It was a shocking difference.

Unlike Cha Yu-jin who had already completed her internal conflict as a steer for these two all of these events were currently in progress.

‘I see.’

So Ryu Geon-woo roughly separated Cha Yu-jin and opened his mouth

again.

To convey the next words.

-Lee Se-jin A: But I know.

-Lee Se-jin A: The fact that I won the case means a lot only to me.

“For you hearing this story now doesn’t change what you’ve already experienced.”

At the beginning of their debut Stier suffered a huge blow due to a member’s drug charges and that was the starting point for their collapse and disbandment.

It was a proposition that would not change.

Even if it turns out now that it wasn’t true the public won’t care. In vain.

“…and I have no intention of denying that the injustice I experienced also caused great harm to you. “That can’t be possible.”

but.

-Lee Se-jin A: But you can change how you feel when you think of those memories.

Steer didn’t fail because he deserved it.

That way you can come up with reasons to refute it yourself.

“…So I really wanted to let you know that it was legally proven and recognized.”

-Lee Se-jin A: That’s it.

“…”

With those words Ryu Geon-woo closed his mouth.

The message pop-up no longer appeared. As if he had finished everything he really wanted to say and had no regrets.

It was then.

“I.”

A hand came up from one side of the bed.

It was Kim Rae-bin whose eyes were slightly red.

“Well… you must have been through a lot but can I say I’m sorry for not being able to help you…”

Ryu Geon-woo nodded willingly.

Steer Kim Rae-bin seemed a bit confused but continued speaking slowly and seriously considering each word as if he was putting his mind together.

“And… it’s late but congratulations. But what exactly does it mean when you say ‘You can change the thoughts you have when you think of the past?’

Lee Se-jin A thought about it but eventually answered like this.

-Lee Se-jin A: I think it’s right to feel it for yourself. If someone else tells you it becomes someone else’s opinion and it becomes an obligation or compulsion.

“okay.”

Raebin Kim was lost in thought again and only one steer remained. I knew that too.

Steer Liu Chengwu.

‘…’

He also knew the appropriate answer.

‘That was such a hard time’ ‘I’m glad your innocence was proven’ ‘I’m sorry I didn’t find out the news in advance’…

But these words didn’t come out of my mouth easily.

It was because of a feeling of exhaustion.

My original tendency to say such things with sincerity came back to me in my mind which had been blown away by the shock.

However I didn’t want to blame Lee Se-jin A now. It was just… somehow I felt like my mind had been swept away by an overwhelming truth.

“…I see.”

All I could say was a few fragmentary words. He looked up trying not to return to his dry tired expression.

It was then.

“Liu Qingwu.”

-Lee Se-jin A: It looks like you… will continue with the group here.

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo delivered the message without taking his eyes off the air.

“If you want to do well here I will support you… You’ve had a hard time. “Thank you for trusting me and I’m sorry.”

Ryu Geon-woo delivered those words without censorship.

Although it would certainly be an uncomfortable statement from the standpoint of Testa Park Moon-Dae-in himself.

“…”

“Even though it took a long time…”

-Lee Se-jin A: I won without compromising.

-Lee Se-jin A: There will be virtue in you too.

Liu Chengwu did not answer.

But he did not deny it change his words or even moderately affirm it.

He just raised his head in silence and then lowered it slightly.

As if nodding.

-Lee Se-jin A: Thank you for listening.

That’s how the conversation with Lee Se-jin A ended.

Cha Yu-jin seemed to want to say a few more words with him but the situation had no choice but to come to an end when Geo-dal came in.

“brother! “If you keep doing this you’ll collapse…!”

“No I…”

And the meeting ended with a brief indirect briefing that Ryu Geon-woo was overdoing his work.

Thanks to this the former Steer members dispersed and went back to their beds each with different thoughts.

“…”

In fact during the Steer era Lee Se-jin A was implicitly banned from mentioning within the group.

It was something that happened naturally. There was no backlash.

This is because most of the members had only had public conversations for about half a year. At that time steer Lee Se-jin A was very defensive and reacted sensitively to his peers.

Still no one thought that what had just happened was a meaningless event.

For example Raebin Kim here.

“Sleep well.”

“yes…”

He quietly laid down on the bed at the recommendation of another member but did not fall asleep right away.

Steer Kim Rae-bin continued to worry.

As befits a sincere personality built on the foundation of his natural disposition and childhood he honestly continued to think as Lee Se-jin A recommended.

‘When I think of the past I have a different mindset… ’

He recalled his steer activities and changed the underlying facts. Just like modifying the beat during arrangement.

-Steer has a member who was arrested on drug charges.

-Steer’s drug charges were unjustified.

It was just an unfair accusation.

‘Then… my shortcomings as well.’

Could it be that there were reasons other than talent and effort?

Kim Rae-bin a former idol who gave up the stage thought inadvertently.

But soon my consciousness was lost in the pouring sleep.

It was a quiet sleep.

* * *

And at the same time.

Bae Se-jin who had fallen asleep in his comfortable cell suddenly realized that he had regained consciousness.

But I didn't wake up.

-hi.

'…?'

In front of him a black-haired man with a calm expression suddenly stood.

It was a familiar face.

-I came because I said there was still time to talk to you.

Because it was Bae Se-jin himself.

Of course Bae Se-jin who was sleeping had no way of knowing that 'Lee Se-jin A' who was returning after reaching an agreement with Ryu Geon-woo had come all the way through the system and reacted like this.

"…??"

What kind of dream is this?

-What do you think about life now?

“what? “Who are you?”

-… You seem to be living well but your personality is the same. I’m right.

It was an alumni book answer. However Bae Se-jin also frowned and answered the same question so it would not be unfair.

This is because an epiphany came to me like a lightning bolt.

“Are you by any chance the old me? Was it the steer? That group.”

-…

Bae Se-jin saw the other person’s reaction and realized that he had guessed the answer correctly.

‘oh my god.’

He swallowed into his non-existent body.

However to be seen as a person who caused great inconvenience to the team… the person in front of us looked very solid and mature.

‘what?’

Anyway he had something to urgently ask right now.

“By any chance… am I going to become you like the other kids now?
“I lost my memory.”

Fortunately Sejin Lee shook her head.

-That won’t happen. But you can have this memory.

"…okay."

Bae Se-jin's expression hardened for a moment but he soon thought about it and nodded.

"okay. "That's okay."

In fact I didn't even know I needed it.

From Cha Yu-jin to Ryu Cheong-woo and Kim Rae-bin.

I wanted to find out why the members who remembered their past debut as a group called 'Steer' had strange attitudes towards themselves.

He clenched his fists and spoke calmly.

"I'm ready to be remembered."

Lee Se-jin A immediately refused.

-It won't happen.

"…what?"

Bae Se-jin was momentarily speechless.

-I'm sorry but I just came because I wanted to check my condition for myself.

'Former steer Lee Se-jin A' was the conscious self of the sleeping Bae Se-jin anyway and the only thing that changed was the memory.

In other words once he looked at himself objectively he planned to return his memories without any regrets.

-There is no need to remember and know everything about the past. Growth can happen in other directions too.

Pain is not the only thing that makes people grow.

And now I Testa Bae Se-jin seem to be growing well.

Lee Se-jin A nodded as if acknowledging.

However Bae Se-jin had a straight face.

“Why are you judging that on your own?”

-…!

“I know my condition better.”

Remember me.

…Dongmyeong who had become conscious like that began intense self-questioning in the middle of the night.

Chapter 513

After gathering all the Steer guys in the early morning and having a chat.

“after.”

I got out of bed a few hours later while the light from the window was still dim.

It was earlier than the original wake-up time.

Okay to be honest I wasn’t sleeping I was just keeping my eyes closed. I couldn’t sleep.

My head felt a little dizzy. I don’t know if this is the aftereffects of being stuck in the system or staying up all night in a 30-year-old’s body.

Since Geoldal seems to exercise regularly I think the former is much more likely.

‘Now it’s not even my body so I have to use it properly.’

Fortunately today is my day off.

After checking Ryu Geon-woo’s condition I checked Keodeal who was sleeping on the floor.

For your information there was quite a bit of conversation going on before the beds were allocated like this.

First I listened to people worrying about my mental health for a few minutes and then I heard Geoldal shout like this.

-After all you sleep in my bed! Because it was my brother's bed in the first place…

-okay.

-…? Really?

-uh.

Because when it's over anyway and I switch bodies you'll be sleeping in the bed. I nodded inwardly as I looked at the guy fully stretched out on the bottom of the blanket.

'…Maybe now is that time.'

I closed my eyes for a moment and then immediately brought up the status window. To make sure 'this thing is really over'.

And I called.

'…Lee Se-jin?'

Steer Bae Se-jin.

Lee Se-jin A who was having a conversation through a pop-up.

"…"

But there was no response.

There was only one pop-up left in the air.

[Lee Se-jin A: Thank you.]

"…"

The guy was no longer here.

That means… either way the job is finished.

The guy who said he wanted to check Bae Se-jin's consciousness and said he wanted to check for himself… is no longer left.

'okay.'

I thought for a moment and then laid my head back on the bed.

There was no point in staying still. After all the work had been done it was time to head back.

'Let's get this sorted out quickly instead of waking him up when he's sleeping needlessly.'

In addition to the pop-up with Lee Se-jin A a translucent status window was visible in the air.

[Viewing fragment records]

-Mission Failed: Return to original state

The elapsed time was written at the bottom.

(04:11:21 / 48:00:00)

4 hours.

It feels like a day or two has passed.

[Do you want to quit viewing the fragment record?]

In any case as expected viewing could be stopped at any time within time.

'…okay.'

I nodded.

and.

[end]

My vision briefly flickered and I felt dizzy but soon became fine.

And then I realized that I was lying on the floor and my eyes were closed.

It was Park Moon-dae's body again.

There was no new pain.

'Ugh'

However the headache that feels like needles piercing my temples never ends. The aftereffects of messing with the system.

'Is this damn pressure still going to stay?'

However when I returned to Ryu Geon-woo and saw the big moon still sleeping well it seemed like there was nothing left in his body.

'Then this is better.'

It's better to attribute it to the spirit of the guy who committed it. If you suddenly change your body in the middle of the night and get a headache as a bonus wouldn't it be quite a bit weird?

If it were me I wouldn't leave it alone. In that sense the current situation of taking care of the situation that one has committed is not bad.

'It will last a few days at most.'

In the case of big moons it seems like I recover when I sleep but I can't sleep right now and I'm just feeling a bit dizzy.

I woke up pressing my temples. I was planning on waiting in the kitchen and drinking some water before the others woke up.

And the moment you open the door and go out.

I saw it.

"…"

The kitchen is still dark and quiet in the early morning close to dawn.

There were already guests at the island table there.

The dark silhouette was… Bae Se-jin.

"…brother?"

"…"

No answer came back. The guy just stood there silently with a glass of water in his hand.

I didn't rush and waited for him to respond.

And after a while.

"…"

The guy nodded and drank the water he was holding in his hand. And he asked me.

"Do you want to drink water?"

"…Yes but."

In response Bae Se-jin quietly went to the water purifier and got another glass of water. It's no different from the usual early morning…

‘No.’

…is Bae Se-jin correct?

As I watched the behavior of this guy who seemed particularly calm I suddenly thought of this possibility.

‘…Lee Se-jin A?’

In the meantime he finished using the water purifier. And started walking while holding a glass of water.

Eventually as it passed near the window pale sunlight illuminated the dark shadows.

The guy… had an uneasy expression.

“That… is that you?”

“yes?”

“That’s what he sent. that…!”

Bae Se-jin is right.

He was so bastard-like that it made me lose my temper. And I checked one more thing.

I nodded.

“You met.”

This means that ‘Lee Se-jin A’ successfully communicated with this guy.

“that’s right.”

Bae Se-jin was silent for a moment as if he didn’t know what to say and then slowly opened his mouth again.

“And… I received the memories.”

“…”

Was it like that?

I nod my head

At that time the guy added calmly.

“I didn’t receive everything.”

hmm?

* * *

A few minutes ago.

Two people with the same face were confronting each other. Among them the one with slicked-back hair and narrower eyes spoke firmly.

-You cannot claim ownership of time you did not experience. Stop it.

“What on earth are you talking about earlier? If that’s my past then that’s what I experienced! If I forget does it never happen?”

-…!

‘Did you leave it to me?’ Stories that could be summarized as ‘It’s my heart’ went back and forth endlessly.

A tense argument without a single concession was taking place in Bae Se-jin’s unconscious mind while he was sleeping. It was an internal conflict in the true sense of the word.

-I am your consciousness embodied by receiving memories of the past.

So it is no different from having tried to regain one's memories and deciding not to do so.

"What are you talking about? You don't know how I've been."

The person who expressed his emotions more openly frowned. This is Testa Bae Se-jin.

"But how can you be sure that you made the same judgment as me? That's stubbornness!"

-It's sophistry.

"You are sophistry!"

And both of them were mentally panting and had reached an implicit truce.

-…

"…"

The two looked at each other as if they were tired of each other but their faces remained steadfast.

I couldn't help it. Even though our experiences were different we were the same person and had similar ways of thinking.

And the first to speak was Sejin A.

-I understand your point.

This is because years of legal battles and imprisonment gave him the wisdom to acknowledge the inevitable situation and quickly devise another route.

But the destination did not change.

-But the decision is mine.

"…!"

The point is to give up persuasion and take action right away.

"for a moment…! Then let's do it like this."

However Bae Se-jin's side was slightly more irregular.

Because I have learned over the years that good results can come from just acting the way you want without worrying too much.

'If it's like this…!'

He boldly opened his mouth.

"Give me only part of it."

-…

"Anyway when you wake up you can hear about the situation from other members. However if you listen directly you can understand it yourself without being distorted."

Whether it's because we're worried because we're uncomfortable talking about it or whether it's arbitrary or not facts get distorted when they pass through other people's mouths.

That was something Sejin A also knew well.

"It's okay if I don't give you the parts that are uncomfortable for you."

-…

"But I need to get as much as I need to make a good decision."

So as not to misunderstand.

Lee Se-jin A silently looked at a person with the same name as herself.

Bae Se-jin felt nervous as if he had swallowed his saliva.

And after a while.

"…!"

Lee Se-jin A with a calm face stretched out his hand.

-okay.

It was a handshake hand.

Bae Se-jin carefully stretched out his hand and grabbed it.

and.

[———]

Memories poured into my consciousness.

My vision was gone.

'omg'

Bae Se-jin paused for a moment feeling intimidated for the first time.

Still the feeling of overwhelm lasted only for a moment. Soon my consciousness became clearer as if I was submerged in water.

The first thing I felt was… a message.

-who is this?

It was a message he had sent to someone.

An unfamiliar figure in a black space.

Ryu Geon-woo. therefore…

‘…Park Moon-dae??’

[I am a member of the same group as you now.]

Bae Se-jin realized.

What he received was not Lee Se-jin A’s life.

Just before this as Lee Se-jin A’s memory I received the memory of the end of the short time I had a conversation with Park Moon-dae in the system!

‘…! Just this??’

Bae Se-jin was also embarrassed at first. Immediately afterward I almost became enraged because I thought I had been scammed but I soon figured out the situation.

‘ah.’

This is because the background knowledge of Lee Se-jin A’s experience that led him to this point naturally came to mind.

You acquire emotions and knowledge naturally as if you had experienced it yourself.

‘oh my god.’

It didn’t seem like it was a lie to say that this steer’s Bae Se-jin was realized based on his consciousness.

And because the content was quite shocking he understood why his past self had tried not to return the memories.

It was pure favor.

‘…I’m being accused of transporting drugs.’

The knowledge alone was shocking.

However the memories received now are only background knowledge to be recalled.

The horrific arrest difficult trial and time of suffering have already been overcome and the story can be understood through a filter.

So Bae Se-jin slowly digested them.

I was able to accept it calmly as if I was vaguely remembering something that had passed.

But there were some things that couldn't be done.

-It's been a while.

A situation in which Ryu Geon-woo spoke directly with Steer members.

The real-time emotions that 'Lee Se-jin A' felt as he revealed the truth to them were vivid as if he was experiencing it himself right now.

-I won the case.

Light sadness calmness refreshingness clean lingering feeling.

And… confidence.

'I see.'

Bae Se-jin understood then.

Sejin Lee: So the firmness that he showed in the past… was the confidence unique to someone who fought alone and achieved what he wanted in the end.

It was strength.

And it was shocking at the same time.

‘I… could have done this?’

Lee Se-jin A is her past self.

So he was a person who could overcome such an extreme situation without breaking down.

‘…’

In fact Bae Se-jin thought it was a miracle that he had grown so far as a tester.

I thought it was barely possible because I happened to be on a team with good people received encouragement and was able to strengthen my resolve.

Because I knew how sensitive I was I implicitly thought that I would not have been able to handle it if the environment had been a little worse.

But that may not have been true.

‘I… could survive even the worst.’

And I was able to win.

It was a mind-boggling realization.

So when the memory was finished replaying I spoke out of excitement without realizing it.

To Lee Sejin A.

“excuse me…”

-…

But no answer was heard.

It's already gone. Or absorbed into himself.

'…ah.'

He became somewhat lonely. Even though I know it's me.

So even though I knew it was unconscious I tried saying it out loud.

"great job."

It was strangely comforting.

Bae Se-jin had an intuition as he felt his unclear vision becoming brighter.

'You're waking up.'

So he woke up from his dream.

I didn't intend to tell you all of this in detail but I thought I should at least explain how things happened.

* * *

"…That's how it happened."

"…"

After finishing speaking Bae Se-jin took another sip of water and I nodded inwardly.

It seemed like he had a better experience than I thought. and…

'In the end the two identical guys argued a lot and agreed to only pass on memories that were enough to understand the situation.'

They were really consistent guys. I drank water and laughed.

“You’re amazing.”

“Are you being sarcastic?… No probably not.”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin obediently accepted my answer and slumped down in a chair.

And he said it quite forcefully.

“Anyway… that’s what I’m saying.”

“yes?”

“What are they going to do? Especially Liu Chengwu.”

“…”

“I felt this while searching for memories but earlier… I felt like I was so tired.”

The guy added seriously.

It was a fairly proactive attitude.

“I think he was handling too much during that steer. But there was no one else to rely on and no compensation.”

okay.

“The problem is knowing why you want to stay here… Yes I understand why you were so concerned.”

Bae Se-jin frowned as if thinking but immediately raised her head.

It was a rather reassuring expression.

“So I thought about it too.”

oh.

“yes.”

“Listen. therefore…”

Bae Se-jin began to seriously express his opinion and I was quite surprised.

‘It’s okay.’

The guy’s opinion was pretty good.

Additionally as a side effect I found my mind quite cooled as I listened to the story.

‘Is it burden sharing?’

As an outsider it was honestly quite nice to be able to come up with a solution with someone who knew everything about the situation.

Two heads were better than one.

‘Not bad.’

Just like that I forgot about my headache and had a short conversation with Bae Se-jin.

The other members wake up and even the big moon wakes up until the morning becomes chaos.

“Huh? Geon-woo… Oh you’re Mr. Geun-dal!”

“Yes yes! you’re right. That’s all for me…”

“Hey eat and go! How did you come here this early?”

“Huh I mean uh…”

…For reference throughout the meal Keun Dal goes back and forth like a ping-pong ball in Keun Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun’s ping pong getting rid of the events so far.

And what I mean by that is… the people who heard the story and realized the exact outline of the incident started to look at me with wide eyes.

This means that the system has been rushed into action.

“…”

“…”

“So… you changed your body and came back?”

It’s okay. I was determined.

“Moo Mundae…”

“…”

“Park Moon-dae Are you really going to do this?”

“no.”

It won’t happen anymore.

‘Now I know how to work with the system.’

The calculation is complete.

“Ah… hey that won’t work! Or at least write a memorandum…”

“I will.”

"…?!"

I willingly signed a promise not to repeat 'use of the system without consultation' again. The members responded with expressions as if they were about to applaud.

"Let's put a stop to it."

"Ugh that's right…!"

"…"

That much?

Of course the two guys who were not original members were an exception.

Steer guys.

'hmm.'

Kim Rae-bin listened intently to Cha Yu-jin's explanation of what the situation was but Ryu Cheong-woo showed a weak reaction as if he could not decide how to react.

His expression was still gentle but that was all.

Originally I would have rushed in proactively grasped the situation and then tried to blend in naturally.

'hmm.'

It seemed like this guy had some complicated thoughts after the early morning conversation.

I made eye contact with Bae Se-jin and nodded once. And then he opened his mouth.

"Now that I think about it there's a new shoot tonight."

“Ugh…! That ＜real match＞.”

Filming for this contest program.

I was thinking of taking a chance there.

However when I actually got to the filming set one more variable arose.

A survival contest was adopted and a new contestant entered the ＜Real Competition＞ where the last-place contestant from the previous stage was eliminated.

“Oh my they are rookies.”

“Let’s do our best～”

They were the first ones to come to the filming set and were greeting people here and there with nervous faces.

But that participant.

“i look forward to! This is Eter a rookie from Wonder Hall!”

It was ether.

A group of rookies who benchmarked us.

Chapter 514

The Eter guys were invited to the renewed version of <True Battle> which we had won first.

As soon as I arrived at the filming set the first thing I thought of when I saw the guys walking around the waiting room in the hallway and saying hello to the other cast members was this.

'Why didn't I hear it?'

Why didn't we know that those guys were appearing?

I asked myself a question for a moment and then clicked my tongue.

It's obvious.

The production team intentionally did not leak it.

'You probably thought we were going to be crazy.'

I could tell just by talking to a few people at our current company that Testa would not like Ether.

Coincidentally none of the current cast members belonged to a company like LeTi which rigorously checks additional cast members and keeps them in check in advance.

So they wasted time by saying 'The casting has not been decided yet.'

I wiggled my eyebrows.

'I saw it as water.'

Actually I did not expect this situation. No there was no need to predict.

This is because there was a calculation that Eter's agency Wonderhole would not dare to push it here.

Haven't you already experienced it with the Water Bomb gun?

'If an inexperienced rookie were to be compared in a head-to-head match it would be very easy for them to break down.'

So I was planning to leave the bait that was planted in this company on purpose and gently shake the bait to get them to bite…

Are you walking into the wrong place?

'Is this the last struggle?'

The fact that it seems unlikely that a company like Wonderhole would use such shallow tactics makes my head tense even more.

"Come on let's go in first~"

"Yep."

First Testa entered the designated waiting room without saying anything. However just by looking at the facial expressions of our staff they looked like they had a lot to say.

'Steer Liu Chengwu must have seen this too.'

Up until now he would have been the type of person who would have been quick to notice the situation and quickly understand the situation but for some reason he just follows without saying a word.

'hmm.'

I went into the waiting room and talked to the guy.

"It's a group called Eter and they debuted by benchmarking Testa."

“I see.”

An inertial answer came back.

Anyone who had researched Testa would have definitely known this but he was overly calm and peaceful.

As if reacting to a topic that doesn’t interest you.

‘…’

I checked his reaction and then looked away.

Angry company employees were talking as if they were spitting fire.

“No this is really ignoring us…”

“I can’t help but say something?”

You’re really pissed.

Of course there are times when he deliberately pretends to be even more angry in case Testa pecks at him saying ‘Didn’t you know this?’

Anyway some high-ranking employees even ran out of the waiting room to argue with the production team.

Even though it was just a face-saving action since the broadcasting station was superior it was better to control the level of protest than to not do anything at all.

Some members who noticed this smiled wryly or shrugged their shoulders.

“How can this happen? It’s like cheating!”

“Um… Yes that’s right brother.”

…Of course there are some people who are just mad like that.

There are also guys who come up to me and ask questions with a nervous look on their faces.

Although he said ‘I will not go on stage’ my steer Kim Rae-bin accompanied me for the filming.

“What should I do…”

“It’s not a big problem. All you need to do is rest. Sit down.”

“yes…”

The guy sat next to the sofa with a mysterious look on his face.

I nodded.

“And we will soon see each other’s faces.”

“…?”

I waited.

And soon after a guest came to our waiting room.

“Hello senior!”

Ether.

The guys who were walking around the waiting room saying hello came to us as expected.

And then I realized what Wonder Hole was aiming for.

“i look forward to!”

Guys saying hello.

The Ethers I met in real life… were introverted guys who looked somber and had no hint of yellowness.

This means that there is not a single character with a strong personality let alone a guy with a clumsy side or a weak guy.

I swallowed my sleep.

‘Holy shit.’

The Wonderhole bastards were aiming for this.

These ether guys were socially flawless and docile.

‘I wanted to show this to the public.’

If you are planning to explode the build-up you have been building while taking the mystic route here.

This… is an intention to alleviate the conflict with Testa.

If the image of the ‘successor’ cannot be destroyed the company has changed its course to take advantage of it as much as possible.

By strengthening relationships.

‘It’s obvious.’

Although it is a competition program Eter is learning a lot from Testa due to his warm relationship with seniors and juniors in the entertainment industry!

If you add a bit of humanity to it the public will tend to be lenient towards a young rookie who appears to be naive and uncalculated.

And the ridicule or controversy that has surrounded these guys for ‘imitating Testa’ will naturally fade away as it does not fit this image.

The moment you become friendly with the other person you begin to feel rejection as well.

That's how it goes.

-Eter kids it reminds me of when I just entered the company haha.

-Ugh I'm having a hard time.

-I hope you do well on stage.

And by humbly showing his surprise at the news of Testa's successor he is safely establishing his super rookie image.

The stage just needs to not be ruined.

'Solidifying the image of a promising player.'

Minimization of risk.

I resisted the urge to press my hand between my eyebrows.

'Well thought out.'

The bigger problem is that it cannot be said to be unconditionally false.

I looked around at the Ethers who were all huddled together.

'These guys are really just kids.'

These are teenagers who debuted by practicing hard and using their energy without knowing anything about their agency's plans and negligence.

Model students who don't really know how things work and even if they do they only know a superficial thing.

There is a high probability that even the use of smartphones will be banned.

‘We deliberately weeded out only these guys and made them debut.’

Wonderhole’s calculations were visible.

In the future we will be able to use the situation a few more times in the future where the agency takes all the insults and they step aside.

This is because fans know that they are really obedient and innocent kids.

“…And I am Nua the leader. I’m watching the stage really hard. I respect you senior!”

The faces of the guys who introduced themselves and continued their greetings were filled with nervousness military shyness etc.

The silver-haired man who appeared to be the leader shouted vigorously with both hands clenched.

“We will work really hard!”

Isn’t it actually a fight to say something like that to a competitor on a contest program?

However it was obvious that the people speaking had no such intention at all so the members just gave a moderately positive response.

“Yep~ Thank you very much.”

“I hope you do your best during today’s filming…!”

“…! thank you!”

It was just his friendly demeanor when talking to a junior who normally doesn’t show much emotion.

Wonder Hall was probably aiming for this too.

‘You know that our agency is actually driven by our influence.’

So the idea is to appease Testa’s antipathy towards Eter and prevent him from being harsh towards these guys.

Even if you try to use your hand you hesitate even once.

And even more so when the cameras are rolling.

‘If you react incorrectly during filming Testa will look narrow-minded.’

I nodded inwardly smiled casually and shook hands with the Ether leader.

“I’m looking forward to seeing something great.”

“Thank you yep!”

And after asking us carefully they delivered us an album with a long letter attached they left the waiting room with flushed faces.

I closed the album with a long letter starting with ‘I’ve been a fan since Park Moon-dae sang ’.

Most of the other members seemed to have a strange feeling about it as well so they took a look at the album.

‘This album was the benchmark for Haengcha.’

Being able to offer that with sincere respect.

This may be due to the sense of disparity that comes from the difference between that company and the group.

‘Well it’s not enough to be agitated.’

I shrugged and put the album away.

Well it's not even a day or two that something amazing happens in this industry.

Additionally we have experienced some incredibly supernatural events.

This is also proof that the guy sitting next to me lived.

"…"

I slowly turned my head.

Steer Ryu Cheong-wu had already put his album on the table in front of the sofa and was lost in thought with his hands crossed.

Anyway since 'Ryu Cheong-woo' was the leader of Testa he had moved to his seat and was sitting here while greeting the juniors who came to the waiting room.

However he showed little leader-like proactiveness.

"Sister~ We'll start filming in 30 minutes right?"

"sure. Oh and this story even reached our CEO. We will file a proper complaint so don't worry!"

"Oh my… Really?"

"Why are you protesting? We are strong. So there is no need to protest… What? Sejin hyung?"

"Be quiet Cha Yujin."

Ryu Cheong-wu who kept his mouth shut regardless of the noise around him preparing for filming felt as if he was living in a different world.

“…”

Well it’s the same thing that I don’t open my mouth.

‘I guess I’ll have to get ready soon.’

I shrugged and tried to get up.

It was then.

“I have something to say.”

Steer Liu Chengyu opened his mouth quietly.

‘hmm.’

I stopped moving and looked back at the guy as I sat down.

“Tell me.”

“thank you.”

Liu Chengyu answered briefly and then spoke slowly.

A completely unexpected topic.

“My… ‘memory’.”

“…”

“Wouldn’t it be okay to return it?”

“…!”

30 minutes before filming.

Suddenly Steer Liu Chengyu withdrew his stance of refusing to receive his memories back.

“I thought about it… I think I caused a lot of trouble. I acted a little too much.”

As he said that Steer Liu Chengyu smiled faintly. It was as if I had regained mental stability and become peaceful.

But I knew.

He couldn’t have done that.

‘There is no reason.’

There was no reason for that.

This guy is not doing this because he has achieved enlightenment or has accepted the situation at ease.

‘No rather… ’

I remembered his face last morning.

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo’s face after receiving all the words from ‘Lee Se-jin A’.

-If you want to do well here I will support you… You’ve had a hard time. Thank you for trusting me and I’m sorry.

Immediately after those words were finished the guy clearly had a tired expression on his face.

Burnout.

‘That’s… exhaustion.’

The look of hiding his feeling of extreme helplessness with inertia appeared and disappeared on his face.

And again a gentle voice continues to sound favorable to Testa’s situation.

“It’s okay to proceed right after this filming is over. Well you were going to do a unit stage this time right? First I’ll leave.”

Unit stage.

I recalled our conversation this morning.

It was a condition created to break away from the mannerisms of contest programs.

-If there are a lot of people the performances may overlap so we split the performance once or twice. Make a personal schedule as well.

“…Maybe you’ll want to do it after you regain your memories.”

“That could be possible.”

Steer Liu Chengwu readily agreed. And he answered casually.

“That’s what ‘Ryu Cheong-woo’ should handle.”

It was a calmness that was even chilling.

“…”

I narrowed my eyes for a moment closed my mouth and thought.

and.

“Oh yes.”

I agreed immediately.

Then he looked around and opened his mouth.

“First of all you are saying that you will not be performing on stage this time. I’ve already tried to listen to other guys’ opinions so let’s speculate now.”

I immediately called the members who were talking around me and had them sit around the table. The staff seemed a little embarrassed but it was okay.

I have no intention of wasting time.

” Speaking of units should we accept applicants now and tie them together quickly? I wanted to do research before filming.”

“Oh good.”

Since it was a topic we had already discussed there was no confusion with the other guys.

“Then let’s raise our hands. hand.”

The response came back immediately.

The ones who immediately raised their hands without delay were Cha Yu-jin and Keun Se-jin.

These are guys who never miss a chance to be on stage.

“…”

The next person to naturally raise her hand was Sun Ah-hyun. A cautious and sincere guy.

And finally Bae Se-jin with a stiff face.

In other words except for the two guys who only had memories of steer everyone seemed to have raised their hands.

A faint bitter smile seemed to pass by Liu Qingyu’s lips.

I nodded and declared.

“Total 4 people. It will be okay to keep it like this. The number of people is reasonable.”

Then steer Kim Rae-bin next to him cautiously raised his hand. The guy opened his mouth only after being allowed to speak.

“Isn’t that… five?”

“That’s 4 people.”

“…Oh you meant excluding yourself. sorry.”

“hmm?”

I nodded.

“I don’t do that.”

“…??”

“You didn’t raise your hand.”

“…!”

I declared.

“Cha Yu-jin Lee Se-jin Sun Ah-hyun and Bae Se-jin. 4 people do this.”

Let’s not get along.

Chapter 515

Liu Chengwu was locked in his own unconsciousness.

Sudden changes in environment and conditions. Days when I tried my best to adapt to it.

And at the last opportunity a tenacity that burns like a flame.

– Mr. Cheongwoo?

But that too was the end.

“Mr. Cheongwoo!”

‘ah.’

Liu Chengwu raised his head.

It is an unfamiliar manager who calls himself.

Not long after memorizing his name he said that he was the newly hired manager of the group Testa.

‘And the first manager said he caused a car accident… ’

Now this is not very meaningful information. Liu Chengwu somehow felt depressed just thinking about it.

However he responds calmly without showing any signs of it.

“yes.”

“I’d like to buy some drinks. Which one would you like?”

He also knew that this manager regularly bought Testa drinks in the morning when her schedule began and again between 2 and 3 o'clock after lunch.

However this was a special situation that did not apply to both cases.

This is because filming was taking place in the practice room.

"Ah thank you. Then latte…"

The sound of the production crew answering softly when asked about drinks by other employees of the company could be heard here and there.

After dryly checking on the staff of <True Competition> who filled the outside of the practice room he opened his mouth.

"Please order something that is easy for you."

That was enough.

That's how steer Liu Chengwu's final period began.

* * *

Originally on the day Steer Ryu Cheong-woo said 'I will regain my memories' he planned to disappear as soon as the schedule was over… or rather 'recover my memories.'

But it didn't go as planned.

-That's difficult.

Moon-Dae Park. The unfamiliar member who was previously said to be his relative expressed his disapproval.

The reason given was 'variable risk'.

-When you regain your memories you will likely be confused for a moment but wouldn't it be a bit dangerous while appearing on a contest program? There are a lot of things that require cameras.

It was a logical statement.

So Liu Chengyu is currently sitting here without any meaning.

Actually I could have responded by asking if it was my business but I didn't.

'Because it's not like I'm on stage.'

If they were just filling empty seats for a few days it was just waiting time. Although I'm tired.

Liu Chengwu drank the allocated drink. It was a hot Americano.

"That's called decaffeination."

"…"

"Sejin hyung."

The person who approached me with a blank expression and spoke to me was someone who like me was out of the camera's spotlight.

It was also a person that popped into my head.

'Park Mun-dae.'

This member like himself and Kim Rae-bin was excluded from this contest.

I don't know the exact reason why it was missing but I wondered if there was anything I could do.

If it had been before I might have paid attention to this part and tried to check in a way that didn't seem excessive to see if I was missing something or what my plan was. But now there was no driving force for that.

Liu Chengyu just nodded slightly and drank his Americano.

Without saying anything Park Moon-dae also held his drink and looked at the practice scene of the ‘Testa Unit’ members being filmed by the camera.

“…”

There was silence.

“Thank you~ Ah coffee!”

“Is this my cake? Wow.”

And then the practice room started to get noisy. The ‘Testa Unit’ who stopped the choreography as if they had finished filming the practice scene was smiling and accepting drinks and snacks.

At that moment Park Moon-dae who was sitting next to him also got up from his seat as if the time had come.

“Then let us move too. Because preparations are over.”

“…preparation?”

“Ready to shoot.”

“I said I wouldn’t perform on this contest stage.”

What do you mean by filming?

However Park Moon-dae looked at himself as if it was strange.

It’s an almost absurd look.

“Just because we don’t perform on stage doesn’t mean we won’t appear on programs.”

“…”

“You have to participate in creating the stage. In order to complete the stage there are more than one or two things that need to be changed other than performing.”

It was at this time that Liu Chengwu began to feel that something was strange.

And when he came to his senses he was already conducting an interview with Park Moon-dae and Kim Rae-bin.

“Ta-da. There are three contract producers for the first round of this contest.”

‘…?’

“I will try my best.”

Clap clap clap.

Park Moon-dae was seen clapping as the center and Kim Rae-bin on the other side was seen applauding.

“…”

Should we play together?

But even before the question was over Park Moon-dae’s words took a toll.

Arranged by Kim Rae-bin Park Moon-dae’s theme selection.

“As we are a group that self-produces albums we wanted to show those aspects and I think it worked out well. As you all know we are the three elite members of this group when it comes to producing.”

“Really?”

“sure. It’s the complete truth.”

Even the cameraman held back laughter at Park Moon-dae’s cool and shameless answer to the PD’s humorous question.

“and.”

His gaze returned to himself.

“Here Chungwoo will be in charge of overall drawing and review. Feedback.”

Wow.

The production crew led by Park Moon-dae responded positively.

“…thank you.”

In the end Liu Chengwu was given the role.

-General producer.

I immediately realized that despite what it said it was a title that only saw the stage and did nothing.

This is because there were no other requests from Liu Chengwu for the next few days.

The word ‘producer’ is only a nominal term. Thinking like that Liu Chengyu spent his time not getting involved in anything.

As I did nothing time passed quickly.

I wondered if I had ever been like this in my life. Because it was a busy life filled with repeated successes through extreme training and slips and falls.

‘Is it at least similar to when I quit archery?’

But at that time I didn’t feel so exhausted and floating. Because it was painful.

Pain makes time slow.

But now there was no pain to worry about right away so the next shooting day came in an instant.

Surprisingly it is said that the performance came out in three days.

“They said they needed to see our reactions while watching the performance so I think we’ll film it together.”

Then they moved to the company space in the form of a large lecture hall.

“Is everything going well?”

“Then~”

The grinning members of Testa stood on a makeshift stage made by removing the central podium and Park Moon-dae sat in the front row of the podium while chatting.

“Hey Ravin…! The song was really good!”

“…! Are you serious?! thank you!”

Kim Rae-bin even talked to other unfamiliar members other than Cha Yu-jin so it seemed like he often communicated with ‘Testa’ while working on the arrangement.

‘Was that really a natural adaptation?’

Liu Chengyu sat down and laughed at himself. It wasn’t particularly unfair.

The stage started right away after some maintenance.

“Ah but when we stand like this… well it seems a little unbalanced~”

The four who were grouped together as a unit were a combination of three with dance positions and one with vocal positions.

Even the three people in the dance positions were tall creating a strange sense of disparity.

“…me?”

Nod.

And the location was eventually readjusted in response to the gloomy question of Bae Se-jin the ‘other one’.

“Center~!”

“Oh! Center!”

“…!”

In response to the member’s response Bae Se-jin creaked and moved to the center.

And when Bae Se-jin stood in the center… the balance was indeed right.

“Hahaha!”

“Are you smiling?”

“…”

The writers desperately covered their mouths. Sun Ah-hyun’s face also turned red as if she was holding back laughter.

That's right. Bae Se-jin reacted as if he was angry but it was not a serious mood.

The honesty that comes from the flawless relationships that a good team would have.

'…'

I could belong to this atmosphere.

He felt a faint flash of impulse again but it soon disappeared.

"so! Please consider that our movement route is temporary and has just been adjusted~"

And the starting stage.

A retro theme with a somewhat musical composition unfolds along with a bright and cheerful band accompaniment.

It was immediately noticeable that the part distribution was refined taking into account differences in individual capabilities.

Could it be that something like an occupational disease has developed? Liu Chengyu laughed bitterly.

But that was it.

[Between us it's like

[As if there is a special space]

The music rings.

The performance continues.

Fierce and tiring concerns about what level of performance should be secured in that gap.

Watching the stage without those things was… comfortable.

[What will this interval be?

You don't know yet

That's true]

For the first time in a very long time Liu Chengwu watched his competitor's performance without thinking.

[Yes!]

The one-minute demo version performance was over in an instant.

"That's it~ Thank you!"

When I was briefly caught up in that lingering feeling.

As if he had been waiting Park Moon-dae's indifferent words struck me.

"Brother's feedback."

"…"

Liu Qingyu felt a bit of rejection and embarrassment.

I never thought I would really ask for feedback.

'Didn't they just give you a title?'

However Park Moon-dae's face was somewhat somber. It's as if you're just asking because you need something to say on air.

'I see.'

Liu Chengwu realizing that there was no need to give such intense and accurate feedback nodded slightly. Park Mun-dae asked immediately.

“First please start with the good parts.”

Liu Chengyu answered without thinking for a long time.

“The movements were light.”

“That’s right. I thought it would be better to use a live band to suit that but…”

The thought that he had felt a similar sentiment briefly crossed Liu Qingyu’s mind. With faint joy.

However Park Moon-dae did not necessarily ask for consent and continued the conversation in a flowing manner.

“Well anyway. What are your thoughts on the choreography?”

“It was okay.”

“yes. Although they were well chosen… what is the disappointing part?”

I didn’t even care about that.

Ryu Cheng-wu instantly found a connection in the answer he gave earlier.

“Was the movement more flashy than the music?”

“That’s right. Because it is not a completed song yet.”

Park Moon-dae nodded and looked at the performance members who were drinking water then took out his smartphone.

“This is the version Ravine is currently working on. Ah Ravin. Is it okay if I play it?”

“yes…!”

Kim Rae-bin who was applauding the members was surprised and said yes. And Park Moon-dae absentmindedly played on his smartphone and handed over the wireless earphones in his pocket.

Ryu Cheng-wu was caught up in the seemingly natural movement and soon began to listen to music.

‘…?’

However since it was not unusual enough to refuse he listened to the music naturally without being conscious of it.

“It got a little flashy.”

“That’s right.”

“I wish there were more string instruments in this part.”

“ah.”

“Would a brass crown be better?”

Strings and brass.

‘hmm.’

Liu Chengwu focused on music for a moment.

“…”

And Park Mun-dae observed it closely.

Affirming his judgment once more.

This is the judgment I made a few days ago when I heard steer Ryu Cheong-woo’s declaration that he would ‘recover his memories.’

-Not like this.

I didn't think it would be a good thing for a person to have their memories come back after being burnt out like that.

This was even more so because he was a member with a strong mentality and deep inside to the point where it was difficult to know.

So why did former steer Ryu Cheong-woo burn out so much?

There was a clear answer prepared for that.

'I've been working for too long with no reward.'

Of course continuing to do a job that doesn't suit you and isn't enjoyable is bound to get tiresome.

Especially if it ends without any results.

What was more problematic was that Liu Chengwu's mental strength was so strong that he lasted for a very long time.

Bae Se-jin also agreed.

-Besides I… I mean it bothers me that I heard about the win from my past self.

Seeing the outcome of what led you to do that.

It's not that it's refreshing it's that it's empty.

'It is highly likely that this was the opportunity for Liu Chengwu's driving force to disappear.'

So after consulting with Bae Se-jin Park Moon-dae confirmed his plan for the future.

Also known as 'pattern change'.

first.

-As an idol member it breaks away from the typical role pattern of a group leader.

And what happened next was important.

-But it makes you feel the sense of efficacy that comes from work.

‘And this guy has already started down that route.’

Park Moon-dae recalled that once again and looked at Ryu Cheong-woo.

At that moment the guy was opening his mouth.

and.

“A gold crown would be better.”

I started expressing my opinion.

‘yes.’

Park Moon-dae laughed inwardly but continued speaking without showing it.

“Is that so… Yes. Ravin said he will continue tomorrow morning so I’ll check it out.”

“Um okay.”

In this way Ryu Cheong-woo began to participate in the completion of the stage step by step like getting wet in a light rain.

That’s right.

Park Moon-dae was really planning to make Ryu Cheong-woo the general producer.

Chapter 516

Collaboration between me and Bae Se-jin.

Ryu Cheong-woo plans to become a producer.

Ryu Cheong-woo who had passed the first step suddenly accompanied me on my way to see Kim Rae-bin's work the next morning.

Since I admitted it with my own mouth there is nothing I can do about it.

"I have to go check it out."

"ah."

And I spent the morning with Raebin Kim who quickly adapted to the unfamiliar studio. All I asked of him was to chat and react to the song.

However in the process Ryu Cheong-woo gradually became more and more naturally focused on the song.

"Following your advice I implemented three versions using brass samples!"

"It definitely suits me well… I go with number 2 or 3. What about your brother?"

"Well… number 2?"

As I participated in the arrangement selection my thoughts were reflected in the song without my knowledge.

And next step.

“Then let’s play along with the choreography plan.”

“yes!”

I played the tentatively completed sound source number 2 in the choreography draft video I filmed this time.

In this way the topic naturally continued from the song to the stage.

“I think it suits you well.”

“okay.”

“I think it would be good to include a part where two people exchange while organizing the large-scale work. Then that part…”

If you look at Liu Chengwu like this you will inadvertently express your own thoughts.

“If it’s a part… I don’t think it would be awkward if it was a bridge.”

And as someone who has a lot of experience on various stages steer Ryu Cheong-woo’s opinion was very good even without me intentionally guiding it.

“I think it’s okay. What about Ravin?”

“Oh me too… Yes. It seems to go well with the arrangement!”

Steer Kim Rae-bin showed signs of not paying attention to Ryu Cheong-woo.

Although he refused to go on stage he seemed emotionally excited to see ‘My Own Studio’.

‘…It could be because he just escaped from the military.’

No for most people it would be like that but for Kim Rae-bin it might not be so.

Anyway the atmosphere was pretty good and the work progressed smoothly.

And this means that Ryu Cheong-woo was able to complete a number of production tasks that were woven like a spider's web in a smooth and smooth manner as if he were going down a slide.

Large parts distribution costume point theme.

Even feedback on choreography details.

"…Since I'm going to be wearing gloves it would be better not to use friction-based gestures."

"Oops. OK."

He went to the practice room and said this.

And before I was even aware of it time passed quickly and I finally reached the end.

"Hyung from now on we are filming rehearsal. Let's go."

It means that the stage is complete.

And this time the moment the performance began at the official filming location for the competition.

"Starting now."

Unlike last time Liu Chengwu began to focus on the stage.

* * *

A dress rehearsal with everything from costumes to lighting effects.

It would be a worthy performance as it contains all the elements of an actual stage.

And now.

Lee Se-jin dressed in a magician's suit on a lit stage grins and gives a theatrical stage greeting.

[Ladies- and gentlemen!]

A gorgeous ensemble of brass instruments.

And while making a turn Bae Se-jin takes her place between Sun Ah-hyun and Cha Yu-jin who appear in the light and sings the introduction.

[Between us it's like

[As if there is a special space]

Stage background with velvet curtains and spotlights.

Finger snaps and cheerful steps.

The stage was set in the style of a 20th century black and white movie but the song playing was the latest popular song.

.

It was the latest comeback song by Testa's junior Mirinae.

Rather than remaking old songs in a modern way as is often done on competition stages it is a unique way of changing newer songs into a retro style.

[What will this interval be?

You don't know yet

That's true-]

Live sound suitable for stage effects and rhythmically arranged songs.

Cha Yu-jin raises her vocals as if she is pushing along with the song as the brass explodes and heightens the tone.

[Take one step one step

To you who does not approach]

And then as if everything is refreshingly resolved the sound loosens and the chorus follows.

In the midst of a choreography that seemed to involve the four people completing one big move together Bae Se-jin adjusted her hat smiled and nodded.

[Fill in the blanks

fill this gap

[Beyond the gap]

On the outskirts Sun Ah-hyun turned the performance formation into a diagonal line by riding around on a gorgeous wooden standing microphone with a classic cane-like appearance.

[Something special

Even if I stumble and fall into it

[It’s a sweet dream]

Even though the main and lead vocalists were missing the live performance was solid.

In addition members with strong dancing skills take charge of the verses and each perform solo performance parts with strong character.

And when a sub-vocalist whose strength was not dancing came to the center the other three members decorated the performance and supported it helping that member demonstrate his or her talents.

The part where tap dancing was mixed in to match the costumes and theme was also clever.

“and.”

Those who were watching the rehearsal together also burst into laughter with small exclamations or were so focused on the stage that they had no time to do so.

And at the front of the audience.

“…”

Ryu Cheong-woo also concentrated deeply on the stage but it was not the impression he felt from the perspective of a complete audience like the filming staff.

Because he participated.

The steps I had to go through to complete it came to mind automatically without me consciously thinking about it.

-Easy to break up the rhythm with a tempo that is not too fast.

-The concerto only plays crucial parts.

-Practice focusing on steps.

…

It had to be that way.

‘It was reflected well.’

This is because the feedback was thoroughly reflected without being distorted.

Not all opinions expressed were reflected. However the factors that were not reflected were reached with an understandable agreement as to why they were so.

So I feel more at ease.

To give them confidence that their participation only contributed to improving quality.

[Ye-eeees!]

The lights sparkled like firecrackers on the stage. It's dazzling and the stage is fun.

And that was it.

There are no obstacles to overcome such as rejection that comes from learned frustration.

This is not because he was a performance idol who was mentally overworked to the limit but because he was immersed in this work step by step without being conscious of it in other ways.

And what remains is the pleasure of seeing the perfect result completed as intended.

[Fill-in the blanks!]

Oooh!

The moment the song ended with a clean and solid mid-range sound the people watching cheered and applauded.

Admiration poured out on the unit members who were breathing heavily with flushed faces.

And even to the members in charge of producing who were sitting in the audience.

“You planned it so well… It was really good!”

Steer Liu Chengyu smiled faintly.

“thank you.”

He felt a small spark.

It was a fever called a sense of accomplishment.

* * *

After rehearsing.

The Testa members who were on stage moved to be interviewed and Park Moon-dae left for a moment saying he would talk to the production crew.

So all that was left was a waiting room with only two steers.

“It was a very enjoyable and meaningful work!”

“okay.”

Kim Rae-bin dressed in civilian clothes with her hair tied back and wearing glasses looked very happy.

He looked so happy that he didn’t flinch even when he was correcting himself.

So Liu Chengwu opened his mouth.

“Ravin.”

“…”

“There must have been many times when you felt that my attitude toward you was harsh.”

“…?”

He calmly said what he wanted to say a long time ago.

“Sorry.”

“…?!”

“You’ve worked hard so far.”

He tried to pat her on the head but stopped short of lightly tapping her shoulder for fear of appearing overbearing.

But one way or another Kim Rae-bin was frozen in shock.

“If you have something to say feel free to do so… It might be difficult to say that it’s okay.”

Liu Chengwu did not show a bitter smile.

He also knew that there was probably no other way to go back to the past.

Equally oppressed through hierarchy and fear. Other than that it was impossible for him to attract members and maintain the group in a disorganized team atmosphere.

However I realized that there was no need to justify it to others by saying such things out loud.

So I just ended it like this.

“It’s okay to tell me after I regain my memories. Take it easy.”

“…”

Raebin Kim didn’t answer but that wasn’t a rejection.

Because I was wondering if I could say this. This was thanks to the revival of my tendency to explore which had been suppressed for some time.

“That brother.”

“huh?”

In the end Raebin Kim asked carefully.

Ask your own questions.

“So are you still planning to regain your memories…?”

“I’m curious about that too.”

Another voice chimed in.

“…!”

chin.

It was the sound he made when Park Moon-dae opened the door and came in probably after finishing his conversation with the production team.

Of course the truth was that I made an excuse to leave the two of them to talk but it was okay now.

‘Surely none of this worked?’

Are you really saying that there is no change of heart at all?

Park Moon-dae almost seriously reflected on his own abilities but before that he checked Ryu Cheong-woo’s expression.

“that’s right.”

Steer Liu Chengwu looked quite relaxed.

It wasn't resignation.

There was clearly a change.

"…"

'then.'

Moon-Dae Park decided to dig deeper.

"But I think the reason you're trying to get it back has changed."

"…Well it's the opposite."

Liu Chengyu rubbed his chin.

"I realized more why I hated getting my memories back."

In response to the unexpected answer Park Mun-dae immediately repeated those words.

'Why don't you like it?'

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo responded as if he had heard Park Mun-dae's inner thoughts.

"I feel like I'm losing."

"…?!"

Even Raebin Kim opened his mouth at the bombshell words. However Liu Chengwu continued speaking calmly.

"I told you this before right? When I saw Cha Yu-jin she regained her memories and seemed to have changed a lot."

right.

‘So you said you didn’t like it because it felt like you were becoming a different person?’

Park Moon-dae recalled the conversation at the time.

“…”

“okay. It looked very comfortable. He looks happy and relaxed. It was good.”

Ryu Cheong-woo smiled faintly describing Cha Yu-jin’s healthy condition in an extremely positive light.

“But I didn’t want to do that.”

“yes?”

“I feel like I give up everything and get comfortable easily rationalizing that someone else who succeeded in a way I don’t even know is me.”

It was quite a harsh rejection.

It might have been some kind of degenerated pride or self-esteem.

However steer Ryu Cheong-wu had forgotten his pride for quite a long time to realize that vividly.

“So I wanted to show that I could do as well as him and take that position.”

“…”

“This is actually just a rationalization.”

Because it’s imitation.

Liu Chengwu calmly added.

Park Mun-dae asked.

“From the beginning?”

“From the beginning.”

From the moment he came to his senses and grasped the situation Liu Chengwu came to this rather extreme conclusion.

The reason that was possible was actually because Steer had had similar concerns over and over again for several years.

own use.

-What on earth can I do?

But in fact Liu Chengwu was not the type of person who longed for an exit after such gloomy self-reflection and agony.

He is the type of person who gives clear answers to complex problems and implements them immediately.

However since there was no clear answer to anything during the steer I did not get a chance to escape from that worry.

Maybe that’s why it was more painful.

A long slow fall.

however.

“I don’t even think about that right now.”

Steer Ryu Cheong-woo responded to Park Moon-dae with a look typical of someone who has already fully realized the situation.

“Today’s stage was probably a way for you to lighten my mood. thank you.”

“…”

At the same time Park Moon-dae realized something.

‘Your tone of voice has changed.’

Now instead of reproducing ‘Testa Liu Chengwu’ similarly Liu Chengwu was using a slightly assertive and tone-free tone of speech.

Park Mun-dae guessed that that was probably the tone used when steering.

And the conversation develops.

“Oh I have a question too.”

“Something.”

“I think there was something he was trying to say when he first tried to persuade me to want to regain my memories.”

“…”

“Can you hear me?”

Park Moon-dae smiled faintly.

“sure.”

He said what he had prepared.

” Cha Yu-jin says she has changed a lot since she regained her memories but that’s just because she found her part again. Same goes for my brother.”

“hmm.”

“…I’ve had a lot of good experiences with this group so far.”

“okay.”

“This is my brother’s achievement.”

“Really?”

“yes.”

If it were Ryu Cheong-woo a few days ago it probably wouldn’t have made any sense at all.

Because he had almost forgotten what achievement even felt like he probably couldn’t believe that he had accomplished it.

It still must have felt like it belonged to someone else.

But the stage I saw now.

This little experience opened up the possibility for him to imagine what it would feel like.

So he smiled and answered:

“okay. I’m curious.”

That night steer Liu Chengwu decided to redeem himself as a testa.

Chapter 517

“Are you starting now…?”

“okay.”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded vigorously in response to my answer. The guy sat down with an expression of both tension and anticipation.

And Sun Ah-hyun wasn’t the only one with that expression.

After filming the guys who joined gathered in the living room after hearing that Ryu Cheng-wu’s memories were coming back.

Even though everyone was nervous Big Sejin spoke lightly as if to lighten the mood.

“Brother how do you feel about making several close friends in just a few seconds? I think it would be fun~”

“okay. Although that is not the purpose.”

“…!”

Steer Liu Chengwu’s answer sounded almost cold.

However it didn’t seem like he was dissatisfied; he just seemed to respond naturally and according to his personality.

It felt more natural than before when I was trying to look gentle.

The guy laughed softly and Big Sejin also just laughed.

“I’m glad you look comfortable!”

“thank you.”

Liu Chengyu turned his head towards me.

“Then I’ll go find you now.”

I nodded. And I checked the status window.

[Do you want to restart ‘For Company Use’?]

The moment this is restarted Ryu Cheong-woo’s memories will return just like Steer Cha Yu-jin did.

For reference I thought Raebin Kim would automatically regain his memory if I closed the ‘preview’ I’m currently using so I worked hard on the system to make preview and restart coexist.

I was afraid that people would be shocked by the sudden need to regain their memories and reject it…

“I am Raebin Kim. You… your symptoms appeared later than Cheongwoo so it’s okay to think about it more slowly. Don’t be pressured.”

“…?? I never said in the first place that I didn’t want to get my memories back but…”

“oh.”

“I’m looking forward to having new experiences in composing when I get my memories back!”

…They say so.

‘Have you messed with the system for no reason?’

I somehow feel unfair that I used up so much energy that my head exploded.

Anyway for now let's stick to the plan.

I removed my hand from pressing my forehead and spoke calmly.

"I'm going to press it now so you can lie down."

Considering the cases so far I made this recommendation because I thought there was a high probability that he would fall asleep.

And Steer Liu Chengwu lay down on the living room sofa without replying.

"Can I do this?"

"yes."

And I confirmed that he was stably settled.

After making sure I was mentally prepared I moved the status window.

'Restart.'

Faaat.

Light exploded from the pop-up.

However regardless of whether the hologram in the air was dazzling or not Liu Chengyu lying on the sofa quietly exhaled without moving a single movement.

Like falling asleep peacefully.

"…"

"brother?"

No answer came back.

Steer Liu Chengwu is just lying on the sofa with a relaxed face.

So much so that I almost inadvertently blocked the light of my pop-up which I wouldn't have been able to see anyway.

"…"

"Let's wait."

"huh."

We moved carefully so as not to disturb the guy who seemed to be in a deep state of unconsciousness.

During the holiday day the living room was quiet like that for several hours.

And that evening.

Chi profit.

I was frying eggs in the kitchen.

At that time a scream was heard from behind.

"Oh my brother!"

It was the voice of Cha Yu-jin who was in charge of monitoring Ryu Cheong-woo from 5 to 6 p.m.

That means…

'You're awake.'

I turned off the frying pan and immediately turned around.

In the living room Ryu Cheng-wu with his upper body in a disheveled state was sitting on the sofa.

He had his head down so his expression was not visible but he was covering his forehead with one hand.

But Cha Yu-jin is unstoppable.

“Mundae-hyung make something delicious! Go quickly!”

…Is that before the question of whether it’s okay?

‘Isn’t it just what you wanted to eat?’

However when Cha Yu-jin pulled his arm Ryu Cheong-woo smiled cheerfully with a slightly swollen face.

“…okay? Thank you…”

“…!!”

Even though it was hectic it was a soft and comfortable response.

This is the reaction someone familiar with this type of situation would make.

Bae Se-jin who came running asked with his pupils trembling.

“…Ryu Chengwu?”

“huh.”

Liu Chengyu straightened up his crumpled clothes and combed his hair fully standing up.

There is a somewhat embarrassed smile on the corner of his mouth.

Just like we originally knew.

“Thank you all for your hard work.”

That was enough.

“…brother!”

“Oh my our leader is back~!”

At that moment the living room became noisy as if it was about to leave.

As if it were a separated family reunion several people hugged Liu Chengwu and although Liu Chengwu looked a little embarrassed he patted each of them on the back.

“In particular Sejin worked hard. You said everything you needed to say in the schedule.”

And it ends like this.

“There were many members other than me who were confused because of their memories and I’m sorry that I only received help instead of taking care of them.”

“Ah there have to be days like this so that the things you usually do can be rewarded~”

“No thank you anyway.”

The guy answered quite firmly. And then he turned his head as if he was looking for someone.

‘Well there’s only one thing that’s not there so I know who you’re looking for.’

Me.

What are you doing?

“And the gate…”

“…”

I was holding a crab.

“…??”

Not a cooked crab but a creature marinated in soy sauce.

Bye.

When the shell was removed the inside was revealed filled with yellow eggs as if they were about to burst accompanied by an exciting sound.

It was soy sauce crab sauce made with fat crab.

“Come and eat.”

“…”

I didn’t choose it. This is the menu chosen by his parents.

To be honest I didn’t have time to do anything else but it worked out better. Since it’s a good restaurant it’s probably worth eating.

“Brother did you just buy that while taking a taxi to Mundae?”

It is cheap compared to the cost of cooking it.

“If Mundae had told me I would have played rock paper scissors…”

I most definitely do it.

“Mundae you should have rested too.”

You just need to know.

I didn’t do anything anyway. It’s just like frying an egg and tearing open a crab.

“It was prepared quickly. Let’s eat.”

I probably didn’t eat anything today.

I nodded and waited for him to sit down.

“okay.”

Liu Chengwu smiled a little shyly and eventually came to the table and the others also found their own seats and sat down.

And he excitedly talks to Ryu Cheong-wu.

” Even though you don’t remember anything the work is completed smoothly and without any accidents.”

“That’s right!”

“I know. Cha Yu-jin escaped.”

“I went to the sea. There was no damage!”

“Hey we couldn’t sleep that day…”

The table quickly became noisy. Liu Chengwu looked embarrassed for a moment but then smiled brightly.

“It was Yujin’s first time. That’s possible. I’m sorry that I didn’t show myself that mature.”

“brother…”

He proceeded with the meal by faithfully answering each and every question about his condition from the other members.

And I didn’t forget these words.

“I will contact the company starting today.”

“…Um yeah.”

I nodded.

Then I turned my eyes and looked at the table.

A table filled with crab and buttered eggs.

“…”

Liu Chengwu barely touched the food and only ate the bare rice.

‘hmm.’

I watched it closely.

* * *

It was only after Liu Chengwu went into the shower that he finally had time to organize his thoughts.

“after.”

I didn’t have time to do this because I had been spending so much time reassuring the other members after waking up.

It was natural.

Thinking about what he had done to his younger siblings who only had memories of the past he was so embarrassed that he felt a renewed sense of resolve.

I can’t help but fall into a slump and fall into self-pity.

‘He was like a child.’

But now I felt like I had done my job properly.

-It's like this…

Even Kim Rae-bin whose memories had not yet returned seemed somewhat relieved.

'…Good.'

Testa Ryu Cheong-woo recovered his strong mentality without much worry or passion just like he always did.

I belong to a good team.

I am handling my duties well.

He calmed down by reflecting on what had happened since his debut as Testa.

And when I got out of the shower clearing my head so that my thoughts wouldn't wander to the dark side.

"…?!"

"Oh did you come out?"

My roommate Cha Yu-jin was not there.

Instead Park Moon-dae was sitting in front of the table between the two beds.

No rather than calling it Park Mun-dae.

"Sit down."

It would be correct to say that Ryu Geon-woo his older cousin was sitting there.

He spoke informally without hesitation and was reaching out to the table to organize things that had come up.

Some ingredients with strong aromas. And… liquor bottles.

Ryu Geon-woo had a drinking bar set up on the table.

Liu Chengyu was speechless for a moment but finally opened his mouth again.

“Brother’s alcohol…”

“Now we’ve all agreed that it’s okay to drink it sometimes.”

But what’s on the table isn’t a can of beer… it’s a pile of wine.

“…”

Is this okay?

Liu Qingyu looked at his cousin with half-shock and half worry but he carefully sat down across the table anyway.

‘What did I do wrong?’

He thought for a moment but soon intuitively found something close to the correct answer.

‘ah.’

I guess I didn’t pay much attention when eating.

That was something that could be unpleasant enough.

He probably would have called to find out where his favorite restaurant was but he wasn’t even eating properly because he was so focused on what he had done.

‘I’m sorry.’

He wanted to talk about it right away.

But the other person spoke first.

“I have something to say.”

“huh.”

Liu Chengyu straightened his posture. Like drinking with a superior after doing something wrong.

But Ryu Geon-woo did not talk about his mistakes.

“This is what a younger brother I know told me.”

Ryu Geon-woo continued speaking slowly.

Something I heard somewhere.

“In the face of fear and pain… they usually get a little angry and blame others but that’s okay.”

“…”

Liu Chengwu opened his eyes wide.

Ryu Geon-woo smiled and stretched out his hand to pick up the glass from the table.

“If it’s okay for me you’ll be able to do it even more.”

Because he is the one who said that.

-How can a person always live rationally?

Liu Qingwu finally realized the cause of his déjà vu as he looked at the table filled with alcohol.

Summer Package.

The other person had completely recreated the scene of the day when he had given Park Moon-dae the opportunity to confide in him.

‘ah.’

Liu Chengyu slowly closed and opened his eyes repeatedly. Ryu Geon-woo held out a glass in front of him.

“You had a hard time.”

The alcohol spilled inside. Liu Qingyu looked at it blankly.

Then he reached out grabbed the glass and brought it to his mouth.

“…”

In fact he was too drunk to get drunk like this.

But I realized that I wanted to drink.

‘You wanted to run away.’

He said that he was deliberately trying to avoid recalling the memories of his time as a steer in detail as much as possible.

Because just thinking about it felt quite repulsive.

Steer Ryu Cheong-wu can be dismissed as ‘like a child’ only for what he did here.

When I was involved I was so buried that I didn’t realize it but after regaining my solid mind I was able to realize it when I looked back.

Before he was…

“Actually I…”

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo asked himself.

‘you?’

But Liu Chengwu did not answer.

I just drank the remaining alcohol in my glass in silence.

“…”

Ryu Geon-woo also did not urge his younger brother.

The two slowly emptied the entire bottle of wine and opened another bottle.

“Would you like to drink more?”

“huh.”

And one more bottle.

That was it.

The cousin was a person who did not ask Liu Chengwu to play any role.

Sometimes that was enough.

* * *

Testa rested well until the next day.

The only movement was going back and forth between rooms and chatting with each other. Even Keun Se-jin didn’t go to the gym and Ryu Cheong-wu was the same.

When Bae Se-jin saw the amount of alcohol the two had drunk he looked like he had a lot to say but he held back.

Time passed leisurely like that.

After dinner we all sat together in the living room and watched the last competition performance that was finally revealed.

“Wow Testaya is really good on stage.”

“that’s right. I’m especially good at it.”

The conversation went back and forth without any tension.

“I want to see our unit’s stage soon right?”

“Ugh. me too…!”

“How about Raevin? Ravine arranged it~”

“…! Of course… I want to see you again!”

“Oh oh oh.”

They had a nice and relaxing time talking about when Ravin would recover his memories and whether there was anything he wanted to do before.

Still the tester on the screen looked great.

Even as he watched the subtitles that made his hands and feet cringe Testa giggled excitedly.

[The stage of the KPOP king that captivates the audience]

“Are you our king?”

“Hahaha!”

A small round of applause is heard Big Sejin takes a group selfie saying he will reveal it to the fans and Park Moon-dae selects the photo.

Liu Chengyu looked at the comfortable scene with a relaxed mind.

And that was the moment when the competition video of <Real Battle> in which they appeared ended.

ridge.

[I realized.]

An advertisement played on the TV screen with an eerie monotonous sound.

“uh? That…”

But it was a voice I had heard before somewhere.

[There is a strange shadow in this building]

After the narration eerie images of deserted hallways and fire escapes flashed by.

A thriller with a deep fantasy feel.

[They are chasing me.]

Thump thump thump.

In sync with the sound close-up shots of the actors standing under dark red and blue lights passed by.

And among them is Bae Se-jin who makes eye contact with the camera!

“Oooooh! Sejin hyung!”

“Wow wow…!”

[Doll Hunter]

[Netplus Thursday October 31]

That’s right.

This was the drama Bae Se-jin filmed!

“I think it will come out great…!”

“I heard it! The main character’s friend!”

“That’s right it was that kind of station right? Congratulations Sejin!”

The members excitedly patted Bae Se-jin’s shoulders and back. Even Park Moon-dae spoke with a smile.

“It looks like it will be released soon.”

“…uh? Uh oh.”

Bae Se-jin nodded.

But inside I couldn’t bear to speak so I was breaking into a cold sweat.

‘I haven’t said anything yet…!’

Sejin Bae

D-3 until the psychopath station is revealed.

Chapter 518

Bae Se-jin did not intentionally not tell the members what their role was.

It's just… the timing wasn't right.

'We're talking about having memories and not having them but you can't suddenly bring up my drama!'

He even finished filming without any problems. In his mind no matter how much he thought about it conversation was low on his priority list.

So he decided now.

'I have to tell you before I go to bed today.'

But that night.

"Happy birthday brother~!"

Liu Chengwu's surprise birthday party was held!

That's right.

After all it's October 28th. That day was Liu Chengwu's birthday.

"…"

Why didn't he know…

"You were busy too."

This is because it was a surprise party secretly prepared jointly by three members of Testa's middle line the so-called 'same age group'.

The members who were having a hard time with memory and identity issues decided to just let them have fun and the three of them willingly put their heads together and divided up their roles to airlift the party materials.

"Just enjoy it~"

Bae Se-jin screamed inwardly at the remarks of Lee Se-jin a friend of the same name who is now becoming quite conversant.

'There is no need for such consideration…!'

However he was no longer sociable to the point where he made meaningless sudden moves.

'…But it's still considerate.'

Anyway the atmosphere was warm and nice.

Liu Chengyu seemed to be unexpectedly moved beyond joy to the point of being slightly dazed and the faces of the people who prepared accordingly became brighter.

Sun Ah-hyun blushed and held out the cake. The huge chocolate cake had exciting phrases like 'Testa's eldest brother is handsome' written on it.

"You can just blow out the candle…!"

"…Haha okay. Should I make a wish?"

"Oh oh~"

"…"

Of course there's no way I could suddenly sound like a psychopath in this atmosphere…

‘You’ve been through a lot of trouble already!’

Shouldn’t they at least be able to receive congratulations on their birthday with peace of mind?

So Bae Se-jin made a choice that he had never made before in his life which was to ‘keep his mouth shut and enjoy the atmosphere’…

The result was a heartwarming experience in which only he suffered.

‘Ugh.’

“Brother what did you wish for?”

“Hmm… Will our team be healthy and active for a long time?”

“It’s a really good wish…!”

“…I know.”

Bae Se-jin agreed and accepted the cake that Park Moon-dae cut off as neatly as a knife.

‘phew.’

Still the cake was delicious.

And only after pouring herself a glass of champagne (it was non-alcoholic) did Bae Se-jin try to bring up the drama again…

“I didn’t expect this kind of atmosphere… but I think it’s a very fun and harmonious team.”

“…”

“I want to get my memory back quickly so I can contribute more to this team…”

What makes it such a meaningful day?

Bae Se-jin almost squeezed her eyes shut when she heard the words carefully spoken by steer Kim Rae-bin.

“…okay.”

Let’s give up.

Bae Se-jin decided to wait for the next day.

And the very next day was the new filming day for <True Battle>.

Filming just before the hiatus to announce the winner of this contest film rest content and adjust the tempo once in the middle of the season.

Testa finished second and made a save.

“thank you!”

Everyone was able to finish filming in a good mood with the expected report card.

For reference Eter from the Wonder Hall agency who recently appeared accepted a low-ranking score of 5th place.

Their stage was full of energy like a rookie and the effects were spectacular.

Because it was a stage carefully organized by experts and with excellent planning skills 5th place would have been a disappointing ranking.

but.

Bae Se-jin managed her expression with years of experience but thought bluntly on the inside.

‘Honestly I don’t feel bad.’

I felt a bit like it was a matter of justice.

Of course on the side Park Moon-dae was thinking ‘It would have been better for us if those guys came in first and faced a backlash.’

In any case Eter’s naive and ignorant attitude gave Testa a strange impression and discomfort but the filming itself went well.

“Then I’ll see you in two weeks. Senior!”

“Yes testers welcome in!”

After saying goodbye to Soft Sweet who won first place in tears it was time to go into the waiting room and disperse to pack our bags.

The atmosphere was loose. If things continue like this it feels like we can all talk about it through small talk and have a good laugh together.

‘Finally… Is it time to talk?’

“Sejin.”

“Uh uh.”

But Liu Chengwu spoke first.

“It’s too late to say this right?… thank you. I heard that you paid a lot of attention to Sejin so that I could come to my senses.”

“…It’s not that big.”

“No it’s not great.”

Liu Chengwu’s eyes were warm.

“You must have been very embarrassed because of my attitude. It must have been harder for you to take care of others when you were in a difficult situation.”

“…”

“But you took care of me.”

Bae Se-jin was a little worried but soon spoke up.

“…It’s natural since we’re friends.”

For Bae Se-jin Ryu Cheong-woo was almost the same age friend she had met for the first time.

Moreover since I received a lot of one-sided help it actually felt strange to be thanked to this degree.

Liu Chengyu grinned.

“Thank you though.”

“…okay.”

Words so sincere that they seemed somewhat awkward were exchanged gently and ended warmly.

There was a nice silence.

And Bae Se-jin thought.

“…”

In this atmosphere suddenly the story of the role of a psychopath…

‘I wonder if it will work… ’

In the end Bae Se-jin gave up her speech wanting to shed tears.

…And so the day of the broadcast arrived.

Halloween midnight October 31st.

Testa gathered on the sofa in joy thanks to the unconventional choice of not making a schedule for the next morning.

“brother! Let’s get started! Sit down quickly! Hurry!”

“…”

Bae Se-jin flopped down on the sofa.

And to hide his nervousness he grabbed Cha Yu-jin’s popcorn at random and put it in his mouth and chewed it combatively.

“…?? What the…”

“Start.”

Cha Yu-jin was confused for a moment but soon heard Park Moon-dae’s voice and fixed her eyes on the TV.

[dream.]

[This must be a dream.]

[It had to be that way.]

The first episode of the new Net Plus series <The Doll Hunter> which was released a few seconds ago has started airing.

* * *

The content of <The Doll Hunter> was close to a modern mystery survival story.

One day the protagonist wakes up to the sound of an alarm and realizes that even though it is morning not a single ray of light comes in from the window.

And as he approaches the window he notices something horrifying.

Outside the window was full of wet dirt.

It was as if the entire building had been buried alive.

[Ahh!]

The plot of this mystery drama was to keep going upstairs to escape from a strangely twisted dark building and encounter neighbors who had turned into monsters.

Of course not all neighbors turned into monsters. Most of the residents were buried along with this building.

As the protagonist continues upward he encounters various human figures and friendly enemies. Among them I became friends with people I met and accompanied them.

A firefighter who retired due to injury a third-year student a member of the high school baseball team a co-worker and…

[…hello.]

“Oh Sejin hyung!”

Bae Se-jin’s character medical student Jeong Yi-sol was also a colleague who joined the cast in the elementary and middle grades.

A man in his mid-20s with slicked-back black hair and wearing rimless glasses.

He is intelligent has good judgment and even has first aid skills. If it were a game he would have been the number one recruit.

[Stop.]

[…!!]

In particular the scene where he appears in front of the main character in danger with a fire hose and chases the monster at the time of his first appearance combined with the engine BGM even provided catharsis.

Even Liu Chengwu who was not particularly interested in surreal videos was mildly impressed.

“Sejin you’re really cool?”

“…Uh uh. thank you.”

A capable helper who blocks the so-called cancerous development while also taking care of the team’s morality!

The role that everyone would covet shined even brighter after meeting Bae Se-jin who had both an outstanding mask and acting skills.

[This way.]

[ah…!]

Even the little-spoken parts felt attractive.

In addition this medical student invited the main character to his hideout and even treated the injured people.

As for where the hiding place was.

[convenience store!]

[fizzle.]

It was a convenience store full of supplies!

The fact that the protagonist and his group ate the greasy and salty canned ham and hot instant rice in a hurry was made to make them want to eat the ham and rice even though they knew it was product placement.

“Hey~ Brother you take care of PPL as well? It’s a really important role in many ways.”

“It’s so cool. It’s cool!”

“…uh.”

It’s a really important role in many ways… right.

Bae Se-jin couldn’t stop the members from watching the second episode non-stop because they were so excited.

As is typical for works with long solid original stories the drama progressed at a breakneck pace and thanks to this the members worked hard and continued to immerse themselves in the story.

There was no time to be bored.

We even analyzed the main characters’ strategies and gave them advice.

“Ah now I’m going to use that convenience store as a base.”

“That’s right.”

“Hmm~ I think it would be better to go a little higher. Ah but if you were in that situation again wouldn’t it be hard to think like this?”

The structure of the 31-story residential-commercial complex was twisted upside down so the officetels on the top floor where people lived became the bottom floor.

And on the 28th floor there was a convenience store targeting the needs of residents.

If you leave this officetel floor and go up a little further you will reach the commercial area so it is better to go there. Even the members had different opinions.

Even Seon Ah-hyeon asked Park Moon-dae.

“What do you think of that door?”

And Park Mun-dae answered calmly.

“Well… either way I think it will be available at convenience stores.”

“…?”

“Because it’s good to be attacked.”

The moment those words end.

Just then the convenience store appeared again on the screen.

The lights are off and the exterior is dark.

“…!!”

[…uh? Huh?]

The main character went downstairs to check the rescue signal sent by middle school students trapped in a small room in the officetel and the group was divided into two.

Those who were not injured moved.

The injured people remained at the convenience store.

And now I returned to the convenience store where only the injured people were left… All the LED lights were turned off creating a gloomy atmosphere.

“Ooooh”

“I see. It’s natural that convenience stores have food so anyone can target them.”

“Uhm~ Of course if you go to the floor where the shops are it will be a bit more distributed…”

While saying those words both Ryu Cheong-woo and Lee Se-jin could not take their eyes off the screen.

And they themselves realized it from their own words.

-Convenience stores are easily attacked.

So how did the medical student manage to hide there without being attacked until now…?

The moment when that question crossed the minds of some members.

[…]

On the screen the main character and several companions finally entered the convenience store.

Inside a dark convenience store where the main character’s shadow is cast.

[hey?]

Fortunately the shelves and counters illuminated by the dim light still looked fine.

But no answer was received. Only muffled white noise filled the screen.

‘Did you evacuate in advance?’

By the time such hopeful speculations had passed by. The main character’s flashlight was aimed at the convenience store warehouse door.

and.

[…!!]

Shoes and legs began to appear through the open door.

A heterogeneous appearance lying horizontally instead of standing vertically.

thud. thud.

A sound effect like a beating heart dominates the screen.

And the camera from the protagonist's point of view slowly raises its head and captures In-young the only person standing inside the warehouse door.

[Are you here?]

And everyone realizes.

The medical student was not attacked at the convenience store but was the one who was attacked.

A shaky camera captured the wide-eyed corpses behind a medical student who was calmly wiping blood from his hands with a wet tissue in a routine motion.

And then there was a close-up of the things piled on top.

These are the protagonist's colleagues who remained at the convenience store due to injury.

In particular the first members that the main character met significantly in episode 1.

Among them there was a heroine or a woman who was forming a love line with the main character.

There was also a supporting character Licorice who was a co-worker at the same company as the main character and seemed like he would go with him until the end.

But… that's right.

After just 2 episodes… all the starting members died.

By the hands of a medical student.

"…"

"…"

Bae Se-jin desperately started avoiding the members' gaze!

Chapter 519

In the screen ‘Jeong Yi-sol’ who has the appearance of Bae Se-jin an intelligent medical student is wiping the blood from her fingers with a calm complexion.

The protagonist asked looking stiff and pale at the corpses of his colleagues who had been alive just a moment ago.

[why…]

Viewers who watched this felt exactly the same way.

A confused silence fell in the living room and instead of Bae Se-jin who was sweating profusely the medical student on the screen answered.

[what?]

[He’s dead… Why? Why did you kill me!!]

A quiet convenience store.

And the living room of the accommodation outside the work.

A flowing classical accompaniment began to flow between the screens the two were crossing.

A graceful and calm sound.

And the medical student’s calm remarks rang out.

[There is no reason not to kill him.]

“What kind of bullshit is this…”

“Seriously bro?”

Shock and sighs echoed through the living room and Bae Se-jin covered her eyes.

However the medical student whose upper body is shown in close-up on the screen has the same appearance and a normal expression.

And explained.

‘He’s injured.’

The protagonist screamed almost like he was crazy.

[What… what are you talking about? Then why did you save us and why did you help us…!]

[I need to check.]

It is said that they checked whether he had the ability to offset the penalty of injury.

The medical student who answered concisely was calm and rational.

No he used a tone that seemed rational but it created a further sense of incongruity against the gruesome bloody background.

After thoroughly removing all the blood with a wet tissue he pointed to a corner of the warehouse with his hand.

A backpack filled with supplies.

[Pack your bags.]

[Aaaah!]

The main character went completely crazy and rushed at him.

The medical student frowned slightly and lowered his head to avoid the protagonist's fist causing him to fall.

The protagonist fell over the corpse.

[Uh oh!!!]

[Think.]

He gave advice to the protagonist who was struggling with anger and fear like a medical student teaching him how to take a deep breath.

And the moment the protagonist raises his head reflexively and gasps.

[Let's go together.]

The medical student held out his hand.

It was a companion offer.

The protagonist who couldn't understand this crazy bastard's thinking circuit forgot his anger for a moment and fell down staring at the hand.

A moment when the protagonist's vision shakes as if in slow motion and the world seems to have stopped.

[Juseong!!]

The silence was broken by a loud shout.

The remaining group who had been slowly following along with the rescued middle school students entered the convenience store.

The protagonist barely gets rescued by them and is dragged out of the convenience store.

And after being locked in the officetel crying and struggling I finally managed to go to the convenience store a few hours later.

[…]

The convenience store was already empty.

All that remains are neatly arranged corpses.

[Uuuhhh…]

The protagonist collapsed in front of him.

After the slow and painful music plays he unable to bear the pain alone discovers an item still lying in the corner of the warehouse.

Full backpack.

A medical student left behind a backpack full of supplies.

I don’t know if it was a decision that took mobility into account or if there was another reason.

[…sigh.]

However the protagonist fumbles and takes the backpack.

Then I gritted my teeth and left the convenience store with shuffling steps.

My steps became more and more powerful.

Leaving behind corpses hanging out like dolls.

＜Doll Hunter＞

Episode 2 ended so shockingly with the rough title logo floating over the main character’s tearful face.

“…”

“…”

Cha Yu-jin who had forgotten the popcorn and opened her mouth muttered.

“Bae Se-jin fooled me.”

“…no.”

“He said he was the main character’s friend.”

“For a moment… we are friends”

It was a remark without conscience.

“Are you serious?!”

“Not a friend but an enemy.”

“That person is too much…!”

Bae Se-jin who even heard a word from Sun Ah-hyun sank.

It was impossible for him to give sly responses like ‘But it was fun’ or ‘I faked everything.’…

In the end Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with a red face.

Let’s talk in detail now!

Out of consideration for me who played a psychopath three times in a row I told him not to do it if he was a psychopath but it was a bit difficult to get this role so quickly!

“that’s right. It’s a bit of a strange character but it’s actually…”

It was that moment.

“for a moment.”

“…?”

Sejin Lee chewed Yujin Cha’s popcorn with a solemn expression and interrupted her.

“Don’t tell my brother.”

why?

And a surprising answer came back.

“It’s more fun not to listen.”

“…?!”

“Hey Sejin you’re really good at acting. yes?”

“Yeah that’s right!”

“I’m looking forward to what you’ll do…!”

Crazy was crazy and fun was fun!

“Ah it’s starting.”

[Doll Hunter]

[3. [The person who climbs hell]

No spoilers!

Testa began to focus on the auto-playing episode 3 with a solemn posture and excited eyes.

“…”

Bae Se-jin was speechless with a dumbfounded expression on his face.

“therefore…”

“Shh focus!”

“…”

Bae Se-jin was speechless!

However only one member was left out of this vortex of confusion.

‘I never thought I would play the role of a medical student.’

Moon-Dae Park.

He had already finished reading the original webtoon a few months ago and was nodding to his foresight in installing a reaction cam.

‘The content will kill me.’

It was truly the embodiment of cost-effectiveness.

And as Park Moon-dae predicted real-time SNS was already filled with all kinds of screams.

* * *

Because <The Doll Hunter> did not reveal the roles played by the actors in detail light fans who are not true fans of Bae Se-jin did not follow the original webtoon.

There was just an interesting drama coming out on Net Plus and it happened that Bae Se-jin appeared in it so many people enjoyed watching it.

They were impressed by Bae Se-jin’s first appearance scene.

A wonderful helper appears!

-Medical student ㅠㅠ I was so excited.

-Wow it looks like you chose the role well for Bae Se-jin.

-It's thrilling.

-Doll Hunters everyone look at me.

And in the scene where the killer appears I am amazed in a slightly different way.

This means that it was accompanied by a scream.

-??? ?????

-What is this?

-Is this a dream?

-Oh it's true that you chose the role well but now the meaning is the opposite.

-Sapae Advent

And people who saw this reaction said 'What is it? 'What is it?' While doing this we started watching <The Doll Hunter> and after an hour or two we ended up screaming together which started a chain reaction.

-Well there are all these dramas.

– Hahahahahahaha I can't believe my eyes.

-I came after seeing the spoiler for the original crazy crazy crazy!!

And Bae Se-jin's true fans looked at this with excitement while they themselves screamed.

The moment they heard the news of Bae Se-jin's appearance they spent several days watching the original work and realized the truth from Bae Se-jin's first appearance as a medical student.

But even they couldn't hold back their admiration.

-Sejin has been on a hiatus from starring roles for several years but isn't he really human? I think I'm really possessed

-The hand washing scene was very intimidating.

-If each character setting is excessive and done incorrectly it can really be a disaster but the balance is really delicate and when it explodes it explodes. Bae Se-jin absolutely needs to do more works.

This is because the acting was so perfect that it was difficult to understand.

The strong role of a psychopath was not exaggerated but realistically understated and details were taken to ensure impact and delivery.

Of course in reality Bae Se-jin's acting hiatus was not as long as they thought.

Not only did he frequently play the role of a psychopath in the virtual world of the system but his previous work even played the role of a medical student.

Thanks to this even in the short preparation period things like the unique habits of medical students were implemented well so that even the smallest details felt realistic.

It was the effect of new experienced workers.

In addition Bae Se-jin was hastily cast and even the story of his introduction was secretly spread creating a synergy effect.

-WeTube source (link)

□????

□Is it Jjin?

Considering that the production team had boasted that this secret story would not be leaked Bae Se-jin could have been angry but the result itself was very good.

Favorable reviews also poured in from people who read the original work.

-You completed this character in one week? Aren't you crazy?

-Jung Yi-sol came out just like I imagined while watching the webtoon. The production team must have shed tears of emotion after taking the first take.

-Is the upward enhancement of appearance true? Hahaha. As expected the face looks promising.

-I was worried about synchronization as the casting seemed to be all done well but it was for no reason.

The buzz literally soared.

Moreover pre-filming for this work has already been completed.

They didn't forcibly increase the role due to popularity or impact which ate up the quality of the work like the Mary Sue character.

On the contrary after the twist in 'Medical Student' the originality of the work was greatly revived.

In fact until now <The Doll Hunter> had been progressing like a standard survival mystery story.

The main character who is somewhat adventurous affectionate and has clear humanity shows the actions of a main character.

However from episode 3 onwards the main character tries to escape from this bizarre building alone keeping a close watch on everyone.

[There are too many monsters in this building.]

[But I will not become a monster.]

It was a complete awakening.

The fragility of the main character which was needed to immerse oneself into the world view at the beginning was completely sublimated into a strong and cool-headed judgment that suits the taste of modern people in the 21st century.

[Run!]

In order to overcome the monster he overcomes the situation passionately and desperately risking his life.

The protagonist walks through the officetel floors without being swayed by people who cannot tell if they are asking for help or trying to lure him into a trap and finally enters the floor where the shops are located.

And from there medical student ‘Jeong Yi-sol’ appears again in the story.

[…!]

Although he did not appear often he created a symbolic thrill every time he appeared like some kind of horror event.

In a hideout I managed to find in a butcher shop and a cult group.

The medical student’s BGM made viewers freeze every time they heard it but the main character survived every time.

It was a possible tension adjuster due to the impact of the first twist.

For reference Testa reacted like this.

“It comes again.”

“Oh my god.”

The warm response from the first appearance has already gone to the other world.

-Testa is like parents watching morning dramas.

□Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

ㄴㄹㅇ Bae Se-jin looks like me feeling embarrassed next to him.

“I heard you’re not a psychopath.”

“No… no that’s it.”

-Baehamchi was embarrassed hahahaha

-How well did you keep it a secret?

The reaction of the testa that Park Moon-dae filmed and released was so realistic that even fans who did not know the exact circumstances burst out in laughter.

However the real climax comes in episode 5 the last of the episodes that were released all at once on October 31st half way through the season.

Near the end of episode 5.

The moment when the main character who ran away while being killed by a monster worshiped by a cult encounters a medical student.

[not…]

Deep.

Jeong Yi-sol stabbed the protagonist without any dialogue.

[why…]

[Lack of supplies.]

And collect the supplies the protagonist was carrying.

The backpack he left behind.

[ah.]

That’s right.

The medical student also killed the main character.

“…”

“…”

Of course it comes back to life.

-It’s a loop guys haha.

The main character came to his senses in the room like at the beginning of episode 1.

[Huh!]

“Aaaah!”

“Ugh thank goodness!”

“Sejin you fooled me again!”

“…?!”

They say you’re not listening!

The sight of Testa screaming that he should have heard the spoiler and Bae Se-jin’s expression of resentment caused laughter.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-It’s not like anyone else’s business.

-The reaction is the same as when I see my relatives. Testa was also human.

No I thought idols weren’t people lol.

This testa’s reaction to Chaos Episode 1 2 was even uploaded to WeTube as official content with the full support of Netplus officials.

It was truly a huge hit.

After a few days there were people who found meta fun by comparing it to Testa Bae Se-jin’s previous actions.

This is because <The Doll Hunter> and the character of the medical student were so strong.

-Sejin wore glasses in section 127 and here too hahaha

-Is the starting annihilation a symbol of Testa?

-Section 127 Doctor and ‘that’ medical student (image)

There were a lot of jokes linking Ruined Factory with the company’s previous collaboration game which is now Ruined Factory and there were many fans who drew fan art tying the two together.

What’s interesting is that it wasn’t just fans who were interested in this.

The same was true for the parties.

[hello! The weather has become very chilly so I wanted to contact you to see how you are doing. Haha have you seen this?]

Text containing a link.

Moon-Dae Park received a call from this game company Ruin Industrial Complex after a long time.

With the proposal I had prepared for.

[Are you really not thinking about making another game testers?]

Chapter 520

Let's make a game… again?

I re-read the long text message sent by the CEOs of the game company Ruin Industrial Complex.

Apparently he was quite impressed after seeing Bae Se-jin's 'Doll Hunter'.

'I expected it to some extent.'

I wrote my reply sincerely remembering the game from my last album which received a very positive response.

An ambitious follow-up to the successful first game.

[sorry. We don't have enough time.]

huh. Of course not.

The reason is the same as last time.

'It's okay up to once but if you go further people will start to try to create controversy.'

First let's define the new content we attempted in the last album.

-Insert the game into the album.

This is a new event-type attempt up to once but after two attempts it becomes a business.

A pattern emerges.

Then there is controversy that naturally follows.

-If you buy an album because of a game isn't it just a game and not a song album? LOL

This is the controversy over expediency.

This is because there will definitely be a regular consumer base who buys albums to play unique interactive games.

'This problem is happening because we made it well last time.'

Testa already has a lot of enemies. From my former agency T1 to the newly appeared Wonderhole bastards there are endless reasons why I shouldn't give a shit.

I thought about explaining this kindly but no matter how much I thought about it I felt like these people wouldn't understand.

'They probably didn't realize that existing users of their game wouldn't like it in the first place.'

From the perspective of the ruined industrial complex they probably thought it was a great benefit because they could make the game fun get good reviews and promote their new games in the future.

'I heard that there was actually quite a response from overseas.'

However gamers in this country who are well aware of who Testa is are likely to think he is crazy or have antipathy if he keeps going even if he does it once.

Making a game with a popular idol would seem like taking advantage of the idol's fame.

'If you want to do this you need to approach it more carefully and with a detailed plan.'

The point is that it shouldn't feel like an overtly ambitious sequel.

I responded by adjusting the level of rejection carefully so that the people in the ruined industrial complex felt the ambiguous nuance that ‘we may cooperate at any time when circumstances allow it.’

“This is enough.”

Everything was under control.

I nodded.

However there are variables in the world that individuals cannot control.

For example something like a hit at the level of a social phenomenon.

That’s right.

＜The Doll Hunter＞ becomes a hit that breaks platform records.

* * *

It all started with the overseas performance of ＜The Doll Hunter＞.

-Crazy Netflix ranks 1st in global market share

-Real-time viewing trend of The Turned Doll Hunter

Once you start watching ＜The Doll Hunter＞ it has the power to attract you to watch all the released episodes and has become a hot topic due to the statistics showing that there are very few people who leave the show.

And the ranking continued to rise due to word of mouth and new viewers who entered the ranking…

-No. 1 in viewing time… ㄷㄷ

After all it was ranked number one globally that week and received media coverage.

‘It’s a mess.’

The production studio and Netplus excited for the first time in a while published articles as if their lives depended on the media play.

Still I was more surprised that the drama’s reviews were so good that it didn’t get criticized.

-Awesome haha

The latest comment was literally a hit.

It was reported in all kinds of foreign media and media and attention was paid to the main actors who appeared.

This is especially true for the actor who plays the role of a crazy psychopath who presents the main character with his first awakening and his first death.

-Oh my god

Immediately a collection of overseas WeTubers’ reactions to Bae Se-jin’s psychopath reversal scene was ranked among the most popular videos on domestic WeTube.

-I never expected something like this but I enjoyed it (caps)

-He made this show 10x more exciting.

-Viewers screaming like the main character

It was truly a powerful comeback for a child actor.

In the dorm when Cha Yu-jin responded with excitement and enthusiasm Bae Se-jin who had deliberately avoided Internet monitoring was occasionally seen secretly checking it as well.

“brother! He said he’s in love with this guy’s brother!”

“…with a psychopath?”

The guy looked a little shaken but he didn’t seem upset.

‘of course.’

Isn’t success always a good taste? Even if it comes from four consecutive psychopath roles.

Now I can sometimes hear him talking proudly with subtle expectations.

“This time the actors and actresses were scheduled to appear on WeTube to promote it. If the timing is right I’ll try to promote my next album but I’m not sure if it will be effective…”

“Of course there will be…!”

Well there’s nothing bad about it. It’s good if you enjoy your activities.

However the problem was the babies who were not involved.

This is because as the name value of Bae Se-jin’s character medical student ‘Jeong Yi-sol’ grew public opinion stirred on the Internet.

———————-

[Why does Bae Se-jin continue to be an idol?]

To be honest Testa treated him like an incompetent member. If it were me I wouldn’t have renewed the contract even if it was unfair but I guess the members caught up with him in the nick of time.

———————

This is idol Bae Se-jin’s dance theory.

It is argued that because of actor Bae Se-jin’s overwhelming performance in the work there is no need for Bae Se-jin as a tester.

‘I’m asking you to take another picture during that time.’

Of course the conflict was enormous because Bae Se-jin had shown steady growth on stage and built a solid fan base as an idol.

-What is this crazy guy?

The person who wrote the article didn’t even swear but he cursed all the time…

Agari All fans are having a seizure button haha

Aren’t you embarrassed to point out that someone else cursed you while using a word like ‘Agari’?

-Honestly Bae Se-jin’s parts were few and he didn’t leave much of an impression on stage.

Even when he was out of grade at Azusa he looked like he had stage talent but what nonsense?

That’s why Testa’s personal fans are scared. I thought it was time to hit Bae Se-jin;

??? Why is the Testa fan suddenly calling out? Anyone can see that it’s disgusting.

-It seems like he’s attached to the team but it doesn’t seem natural. There’s something he’s much better at but sticking to his idols… hmm.

Wow that’s right I felt this way too… It seems like I was a bit gaslighted.

Why are there so many people who use gaslighting words carelessly? Come to your senses.

hmm. This is shit.

Such extreme remarks have equally divided pros and cons.

‘They’re doing this on purpose.’

Here after a heated debate and aggro a softer opinion emerges.

That was the problem.

-I want to see Bae Se in dramas and movies more often ㅠㅠ Since I have a lot of leave I guess I’ll focus on personal activities now right?

Naturally it is assumed that Bae Se-jin will place more importance on acting activities in the future and that she will naturally miss out on Testa activities more often.

There were quite a few people who casually wrote things like this.

-If the contract is renewed honestly the members should be considerate of this and not be selfish.

-There is an issue with the longevity of idol groups and if I were Bae Se-jin acting would definitely come first even if I didn’t say anything.

uh. I saw a good use of Testa member Bae Se-jin to lower the value of the Testa name.

I looked at the internet community and nodded.

All indicators were pointing to one thing.

‘Let’s make a comeback.’

This happens due to low tester activity. The impact of <The Doll Hunter> was so great that Testa was pushed aside for a moment.

Testa needs to come back as soon as possible and change the topic by hitting her on the head sexually.

‘It just so happens that Bae Se-jin wants to promote her next album so I can do it to my heart’s content.’

Moreover this was a good way for Bae Se-jin to fulfill her schedule as an actor.

Given the current development of <The Doll Hunter> there is a high probability that Bae Se-jin will appear in Season 2 as well. Then since we will start filming a new film in a few months it was good to include team activities before that.

'I was planning on making one more comeback before the end of the year… so it fits perfectly with the annual plan I made when establishing the company.'

Of course if Bae Se-jin really wanted to place a greater emphasis on acting activities rather than team activities it wouldn't have been a bad timing to start revealing it now.

'You can only participate in important schedules skip a few events and attend an actor's schedule etc.'

To be honest if I had done it until the contract was renewed there would be no moral problem if I slipped out of it.

So I asked him outright once.

-… Why?

I got a shocked response asking why I was canceling my schedule when I could have gone. Um yeah.

-I understand your ambition to pursue both idol and actor activities.

-uh? No not to that extent…

-Oooooh!

This guy definitely has some guts. It was a remarkable growth compared to when they first debuted.

I nodded watching the back of his head as he ran away to his room receiving applause from his younger siblings.

Moreover although Bae Se-jin said it as a joke when he joined this work his success in the drama actually opened a new route for a group called Testa.

For example the instant rice and canned ham PPL from ＜The Doll Hunter＞.

Do you know what? Netplus does not often accept money for PPL. In many cases it is handled as a two-way promotion between companies.

-ㅋㅋㅋ After watching The Doll Hunter I was craving ham with hot rice so I went to the store and there they were on the ham wrapper too haha (photo)

Something like this.

In the past few days canned ham wrappers with the image of The Doll Hunter have begun to appear in supermarkets.

The instant rice and ham company promoted the program in which they included PPL.

And the interesting thing is that this company is also a close competitor with T1 frozen food.

-It seems like it was just yesterday that I was a slave to Testa T1 but now they are advertising rivals haha. It's so funny.

Is this the gentleman's revenge?

That's right. By unintentionally screwing up T1 I developed a connection with a rival company.

"Oh~ Look at this Mundaemun University. Is this company wishing they would eat some of their chicken feet?"

"Good."

It’s not unusual for that company’s SNS manager to go there. For your information I’m really willing to eat it if you put an ad on it.

In any case in this way there seems to be a way to gradually escape from the influence of T1’s ‘I will not use Testa’.

By breaking away from the existing Testa connection which had been concentrated on T1 other companies began attracting attention.

‘It’s going smoothly.’

Bae Se-jin who had been worried that her acting activities would interfere with the team brightened up when I explained this to her as if this was good news in its own way.

‘It seems like I’m a little too enthusiastic… but that’s okay if you’re a good person.’

To be honest. The problem was more about cases where people did well and did not even know about it.

For example… the next album that is about to come back soon. This is the guy who participated in producing more than half of the songs here.

“You mean… I composed this song?!”

“…”

“Even when checking the detailed information the work time is only indicated as 21 hours. Did you really finish the work in 21 hours without moving the program?”

“…I guess so.”

“oh my god!”

Raebin Kim.

Steer Kim Rae-bin…

‘Let’s give it back quickly.’

After finishing the ‘I Listen to My Song’ listening session held by Kim Rae-bin I decided to return this guy’s memories as soon as possible and proceed with his stage rehabilitation.

I myself had no objections and was just waiting for the right moment so there was nothing to be reluctant about.

-I am very excited to see what kind of realization I have had to overcome my lack of talent and inclination to go on stage!

Steer Kim Rae-bin had originally concluded that she did not have the ability to be a performing idol.

Still he seemed to have a strange belief that he who had memories of Testa would have secured stage abilities through tremendous acting.

Perhaps because he listened to the members saying ‘You were originally good at performing on stage’ the logic in his head seemed to flow strangely and that’s how it came to be.

It was a bit of a distorted idea but let’s talk about it carefully and try to correct it.

What is important is stage rehabilitation?

‘Let’s go a little lighter right after I regain my memories.’

I set some principles.

Be simple and not overly formal.

Although there is an audience there is a low probability that it will lead to controversy even if a variable occurs.

Everyone in the audience should view the stage with a friendly and generous attitude.

finally…

-The format will be freer than the existing stage.

When I put it this way the answer came out pretty quickly.

‘There’s a candidate right now.’

This is a more natural way to do it because I contacted the abandoned industrial complex a few days ago.

I checked the KakaoTalk profile that appeared as the contact information for the ruined industrial complex once again smiled and sent a text message.

[congratulations. I heard you’re getting married.]

Their profile was a wedding photo.

It looked like the owner and his wife of the ruined industrial complex were getting married soon.

[Perhaps you need a congratulatory song?]

Testa’s congratulatory service.

I will do it for no money.

Chapter 521

The day when the Testa congratulatory song was confirmed after an enthusiastic welcome from the ruined industrial complex's president and his wife.

"Oh congratulatory song it's been a while~"

"Sejin did you sing the congratulatory song…?"

"I didn't do it alone my high school teacher got married so I did it with all the kids!"

For reference that video was already discovered on WeTube at the beginning of its debut. It was titled 'Congratulations to Testa Lee Se-jin haha.'

-Anyone can see that he is an idol wannabe.

-I have a different angle lol.

It became a bit of a hot topic.

Anyway as expected of these guys who became idols in their early 20s this was the end of this team's experience singing.

me?

'It can't be.'

What kind of person would have sung a congratulatory song when all contact with him while preparing for the public announcement had been cut off?

I did get a call asking me to take a picture but they wanted unpaid work so I blocked them without replying.

Thanks to this preparations for this congratulatory song started with preliminary research.

As always the guys gathered in the living room enthusiastically expressed the songs that come to mind when they think of congratulatory songs.

A bright and happy song!

“How about a picnic…!”

“There are quite a few ballads in our album right?”

Various love songs included in the title song were listed as candidates.

But there wasn’t a song that I just thought ‘This is it.’

“Well everything is kind of boring.”

“I know.”

Even songs that we sang but were not ours were nominated.

“Park Moon-dae You… there’s a song you sang in <The Singer I Made>. It’s famous as a congratulatory song.”

“That’s okay too. But I think distributing parts will be a bit difficult.”

“…Is that so?”

Are you coming?

Of course there are other reasons as well.

‘It’s a song that became too popular for me to sing alone.’

I think there are a lot of people who are trying to compare when I sang that song all by myself and when Testa sang it as a group.

‘There’s no need to give him something to scratch.’

Recently people are trying to use Bae Se-jin to scratch Testa one after another.

I personally or one of Testa will not miss this sweet opportunity to beat him up.

In the end Bae Se-jin accepted the majority decision defeat with a slightly dissatisfied expression.

“okay.”

Every time an opinion was raised in this way it was decided to hold or reject it for various reasons.

As a result later on songs that had nothing to do with us started popping up at random.

“I want to do this!”

“Eujin let’s use this when proposing to our fans.”

In the end there was even a 30-second marriage proposal challenge song that was popular on Tic Tac Tok.

“Better song!”

“I’ll think hard…!”

The discussion became increasingly serious. Honestly I feel like I want to go this far in my congratulatory song.

‘I was thinking of doing something reasonably cute.’

In the meantime Steer Kim Rae-bin who had been trying to get some opinions out by subtly encouraging him was amazed because he was listening intently as if he thought he had no authority.

‘I guess I’ll just sing a medley.’

Fortunately after about an hour the leader like a leader sorted out the situation.

“Well wouldn’t it be okay to sing whatever song the wedding party wants?”

“ah.”

It was a very valid opinion.

It’s not like it’s someone else’s party to take a risk and say it’s a surprise. Let’s go safely.

“I will contact you right away.”

“good.”

And the congratulatory song that the couple who owned the ruined industrial complex wanted was…

[and! Hey then there’s our first collaboration song the 127 Section trailer song! I really want to hear that!]

“…”

That’s a bit much.

‘Wasn’t the lyrics something like ‘I won’t die I’ll survive’?’

If I sing it at a wedding wouldn’t it sound like I’m encouraging discord?

[Or this title is also good! ‘Roll the Dice’!]

Let's start a fight at the wedding?

It seems that these people's ideas have been distorted into weddings weddings and requests for songs they want to hear.

"Haha yes. wait a minute."

I paused the call briefly turned off the sound and looked around.

The members began to desperately express their opinions.

"Among our songs there will be some that seem to celebrate couples! How about recommending something like that?"

"I know. There is no such thing."

"why! Something like a high five… I guess it's like we're proposing marriage."

"that's right. That's why my recommended song was rejected."

This means that you should say no to yourself and stop thinking about choosing a song that sounds like a marriage proposal.

"…Then what song should I sing?"

There was a dizzying silence.

At that time Sun Ah-hyun raised her hand.

"Can't I just… call you whatever you want?"

"Uh Ahyeon?"

"Even if it's a little awkward I think these songs are the most meaningful to you two…! Because you can recall that the company you run together has achieved good results. I think you'll be happy."

“…”

“Oh…”

Several guys seemed to be impressed by that honest expression.

But I quickly figured it out.

This means that you’ve played around with the calculator a bit.

If we exclude everything that suits a wedding and what doesn’t…

‘It might be a hot topic.’

Isn’t there a story?

When game company CEOs get married they are congratulated by first-tier idols with the game song?

I can already hear the clicks on WeTube.

But there is no need to state this conclusion. I nodded in agreement like one of those impressed guys.

“That’s right. I want to hear it.”

There was no special backlash this time.

“Ugh!”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded with a bright face.

“So then it’s decided?”

“Yep~”

So we politely resumed our conversation with the couple who owned the ruined industrial complex.

“I will prepare one of the two songs you mentioned.”

This is the anthem they chose. Let’s take responsibility for the feeling of discomfort that it doesn’t suit the wedding.

[Really? Wait a minute… come quickly. They say it works!]

[oh my god.]

[Wow I’m already so excited! thank you!]

They were people full of will to live their lives doing what they really wanted to do.

After listening to the CEO and his wife chatting live the phone call ended amicably.

[Then see you that day!]

After hanging up the phone.

We looked at each other and nodded.

“…Shall we practice?”

okay.

A tough and intense title song by a consensus male idol.

Wedding song confirmed.

“Um… but what song is the bonus book?”

Let’s educate this guy first.

* * *

After ending the call I went back to the room and played a song that Steer Kim Rae-bin had not yet heard of among the songs that were spoken about.

This is the background song ‘Bonus book’ from the trailer video released in collaboration with <127 Section>.

“This is also a song I composed…”

“that’s right.”

Steer Kim Rae-bin sitting between the beds watched the trailer intently.

I naturally followed up with the title song at the time ‘Better Me’ which shares some of the melody with the collaboration song and even showed the performance.

This is Raebin Kim’s one-person fancam.

[BETTER ME to find]

Every time the rhythmic choreography followed the riff melody cheers rang out through the music.

When Kim Rae-bin wearing a mask with a zipper over his mouth tore off the mask and threw it away began to rap and exclamations rang out as if they were tearing apart.

Waaaa-!

I opened my mouth.

“Aren’t you good at it?”

“…”

Raebin Kim did not respond for a long time and looked at herself in the vertical video.

The answer came only near the end of the song.

“I’m not sure. Was my review good for this performance?”

uh. I lived while hearing that it came out of a cyberpunk comic.

However Kim Rae-bin had an ambiguous expression.

“You don’t like it?”

“I understand that the audience’s reaction is very favorable but I can’t decide if I’m doing a good job…”

hmm.

“Ah but I am indirectly aware of it by looking at the reaction!”

“okay.”

I crossed my arms.

As I remember there was basically no difference in the way the stage was operated between Steer Kim Rae-bin and Tester Kim Rae-bin.

‘If you really have to ask are tester Kim Rae-bin’s stage songs better?’

And more actively without being conscious I added ad-libs using my own movements and facial expressions.

However there is no difference to the point where you would think they are completely different people. Because we are the same person.

‘But Steer Kim Rae-bin has completely concluded that she is not good at performing and Tester Kim Rae-bin is not sure if she is good at it?’

This is what is puzzling.

Basically this guy has a very good eye for stage skills.

‘As much as he has a talent for producing he makes sharp decisions.’

It was almost cruel.

This was the attitude and ability that this guy had even before his debut in ＜Azusa＞.

For example… do you know why this guy chose Bae Se-jin out of so many people in the second team match where he and I teamed up together for the first time?

At the time Bae Se-jin was a beginner who participated in the idol survival competition by crying and eating mustard due to pressure from her agency.

-It is unlikely that you will cause conflict in the team to get more parts and you are good at expressing yourself in the given parts!

In short since his skills are different he decided that he would take fewer parts but grit his teeth and properly perform the parts he received.

‘I figured out Bae Se-jin’s talent stats and persistence characteristics that were the only ones that were high.’

The performance evaluation was clear and calm.

However if this guy’s self-judgment is problematic the obsessive talk about ‘I can’t perform’ may be related to a deeper trauma than I expected.

‘As expected I’d like to talk more.’

I want to gently coax him into a deep conversation over a few days.

The problem is that Kim Rae-bin’s own intention is now firm.

“I would like to ask you to regain your memories as quickly as possible!”

hmm.

Even if you don't give it back and ask to continue the conversation there's a chance that it will make you anxious…

'It must be higher.'

I finished my judgment quickly and Ongeon nodded without changing his expression.

"okay. Well then let's do it today."

"yes!"

I called the other guys before midnight that night.

"Do you want to return it now?"

"uh. He said he wanted to receive it before singing the congratulatory song."

"Umm… Okay."

Soon Raebin Kim was seated in the middle of the living room as if she was celebrating her birthday.

"Raebin Kim did you eat a lot? I'm going to bed now so eat well!"

"I've had enough! And I have already prepared in my own way by looking at Chungwoo's example!"

Steer Kim Rae-bin answered quite bravely and lay down on the bedding.

"please!"

Are you coming?

After bringing up the status window I went through the two types of pop-ups and called up what I wanted.

Preview information pop-up.

I muttered while looking at it.

‘End preview.’

The hologram flashed without any significant effect.

Wow.

And at some point the unfinished interface design that was unique to the preview disappeared.

[complete!]

And then everything became quiet.

‘after.’

I took my eyes off the status window and turned my head.

Perhaps Raebin Kim is now asleep for a few hours like the others…

‘for a moment.’

Kim Rae-bin lying on the bedding had her eyes wide open.

“…?”

“Well… Moon Dae-moon University has taken care of it now right?”

uh.

We saw Raebin Kim again.

‘what.’

Raebin Kim opened his mouth.

“sorry! It seems like you were dizzy for a moment… So did Cheongwoo’s memory come back?”

“Huh?”

“Uh huh huh?”

Seeing the members all making dumb expressions for a moment Raebin Kim nodded as if he understood and quickly got up from the bedding.

“…! Brother Mundae hasn’t started yet. Are you waiting for me because I was sleepy?”

“Ravin.”

“yes?”

“What were we just doing?”

The guy answered in a slightly puzzled manner.

“…? Brother Moon Dae tried to implement something called ‘preview’.”

And everyone realized.

Raebin Kim’s memories of Testa came back… but it seems like his memories of Steer have evaporated.

Everything that steer Kim Rae-bin has experienced in the past few days!

“…”

“sorry. I will maintain a clear mind so as not to interfere with the progress any further!”

“…that is.”

I pressed my eyelids.

‘What a fucking preview…!’

* * *

A few days later.

“Congratulations.”

“Hey long time no see!”

A wedding hall located in Seoul.

A passenger who attended the wedding of a relative’s brother was secretly impressed when he saw the ceremony hall filled with strangers and the various wreaths.

‘I succeeded.’

It was a hot topic in the family that a relative who was the son of that little grandfather had become a successful game company and had even bought a building in Seoul.

Even older people who were used to computer games liked money and business.

‘Capitalism is really… ’

She a sociology major shook her head and stood in line for the congratulatory money.

Of course she had no interest in games at all so she only had the faint impression that her older brother had created some famous mobile game.

Anyway he said he made a lot of money and that definitely showed at the wedding that started.

‘You do it in a very big and unique way.’

The venue was filled with people of various young ages and company employees who seemed to have met each other through business.

And the slightly irregular progression and unique events that seemed to be taken from the game gave a fresh feeling.

‘The rice looks delicious too.’

When the guests made that decision the wedding ceremony came to a close with a very short and concise sermon.

The anthem part.

[As for the congratulatory song… after all this is a wedding for the owners of a ruined industrial complex.]

‘What are you talking about?’

She looked at the host with displeasure. Other people also had similar expressions.

The host shouted smiling nervously.

[As a congratulatory song… Idol group testers came!]

“Huhhh!?”

At that moment most of the guests including her almost jumped out of their seats.

‘What what?’

That moment when I doubted my ears as if I had heard something wrong.

[Then the congratulatory song begins.]

As I quickly turned my head to follow the lights someone came running in from the other side of the darkened ceremony hall.

“…?!”

It was a testa wearing a suit!

Chapter 522

Wedding halls are usually quite spacious.

However because it was filled with guests and all kinds of decoration equipment there was little actual free space.

Of course this means that the congratulatory song was performed at a place not far from the guests.

Thanks to this the guests in the front row were able to see the congratulatory singer right in front of them.

And because of the narrowness of this space some people can see the singer right in front of them even if they are not in the front row.

For example a woman from the sociology department who came to see a relative's wedding.

Swish.

She saw tall figures turning and running right next to the outermost part of the groom's guest room where she was sitting.

7 men.

Dressed in smartly tailored navy blue suits they passed by in an instant but their faces were unrecognizable.

A face I only saw on the screen.

'Testa.'

The most famous male idol in this country this year.

They escaped from the flat surface and became three-dimensional moving with a greater sense of presence and reality than what was in the imagination.

The wind they generated as they ran was even enough to touch their cheeks.

'…??'

"uh?"

"Uh oh"

A bewildering sound rang out around me.

So did she herself.

When she was unable to judge the situation properly and doubted whether this was reality.

Peeing-

The seven men who arrived at the congratulatory location in an instant grabbed the microphone and shouted without hesitation.

[I sincerely congratulate the two owners of the abandoned industrial complex on their marriage!]

There was still an ambiguous reaction mixed with sounds of surprise and cheers.

However when they grabbed the microphone they immediately smiled and spoke in a clear voice without the hesitation of an amateur.

[This is our first time singing a congratulatory song so we studied hard and we heard that the original congratulatory song is often sung by a close friend of the couple getting married.]

[yes. I hope that the two of you will continue to live happily and happily with each other.]

[It was just us? So we also prepared a congratulatory song with that feeling in mind~]

And it was only at that point that the guests finally came to their senses.

It's a testa!

'her…!'

The sociology woman swallowed.

She too had imagined what it would be like to see a celebrity in person.

It may or may not be better than the screen.

To conclude the facial features are equally handsome. It wasn't awkward because they were a group famous for being very good-looking.

However the screen could not completely capture the unique atmosphere of people.

Physique appearance facial expression.

It is in a sharp and clean condition that has been painstakingly polished every day to a condition that would have been good originally.

The destructive power of all that when it comes to reality!

'oh my god.'

What I saw right in front of me was a huge benefit.

When the wedding guest realized too late that their choice of location was crazy good.

Ryu Cheong-woo who has a solid physique smiled and changed the flow of the comment.

After mentioning how great producers and partners the two people getting married are.

[We also had the opportunity to participate in the wonderful work the two of you created together but I don't know if you know.]

The moment those words ended moans and screams erupted from the audience as if they had a premonition of something.

'what? 'What are you doing?'

Until now Testa spoke as if he had a personal relationship with the couple. This means that it did not come from across the country at a request or through an agency.

and

'Now that I think about it it looks like Testa was advertising some kind of game… '

And before the thought was even over.

[Let's begin!]

The accompaniment began.

The electronic guitar MR began to resonate loudly in the ceremony hall as if a bolt of lightning had struck.

"…??"

"Waaah!"

Excited screams and questions crossed the wedding hall. There were people who knew something and people who didn't.

And at that moment the song cut through all the noise in the ceremony hall.

[I'm gonna survive-

Like you did before!]

Exhilarating high notes.

'crazy!'

A clear high-pitched voice that I never thought I would hear at a ceremony.

All doubts disappeared in Park Moon-dae's voice and cheers erupted.

And then there follows the introductory part that is so catchy.

[Ash to ashes dust to dust!

But NOT for me

I live like that

Legends never die!]

Cha Yu-jin narrowed her eyes and held out her hand toward the couple.

The owner and his wife couldn't control their excitement and raised their hands!

'Huh?'

It was then.

The huge white screen in front of the guest room lit up and a video started playing.

From the days of the abandoned factory through T1 Place to the current abandoned industrial complex.

The image cuts through the process of the CEOs staying up all night and passionately and happily creating the game.

This was the request that Park Moon-dae requested after careful consideration in response to the CEO and his wife's words 'Tell us whatever you need.'

-It would be nice to play a video during the meal.

A video that tells the story of two people who will become a married couple often played at weddings.

It was created with unique content by combining the unique characteristics of the presidents. However the warmth and connection were conveyed just like usual.

and.

＜127 Section＞

In the video the moment the trailer video shot by Testa passed by all the guests who were unaware of the situation realized it.

＜'Bonus book' by TeSTAR＞

This was a game song that the CEO and his wife put so much effort into creating together.

So it was the theme song for the president and his wife.

[That's what keeps me alive!

I chase after you fiercely

Steps that will complete your life]

The appearance of Testa Screen's CEO and his wife heated up the atmosphere as if creating a synergy effect.

What are the side effects of singing a congratulatory song to a very famous celebrity?

This means that the main character of the wedding can change.

A side effect is that the guests focus more on the person giving the congratulatory message than the couple getting married shouting loudly and only talking about the congratulatory message during the meal after the ceremony.

Therefore contrary to expectations singing a congratulatory song to a singer who is not only famous for the song but also for the person himself may not be as satisfying as expected.

The wedding ceremony itself is buried.

[If I reach out I can hold it.]

However there were no side effects at this ceremony venue.

What Testa sang was a song related to the chronology of the work the couple created together.

It was no different from singing a couple's symbolic song.

Since it was even Testa's own song the strong narrative and connection was conveyed to the audience without any discomfort.

There was definitely a reason to call Testa the celebratory singer at this wedding.

[I will never die]

Like I did before!]

Testa kept the cute flavor from becoming too serious by asking the bride and groom and even the guests to sing the rap part together.

It was a composition that went well with the festive atmosphere of the wedding.

The sense of disparity in the lyrics actually brought about joy. The story in between gave it a unique charm and depth.

[Choose your way…

Choose your side.]

[Yes choose your side!]

In addition Testa transitioned from the middle of the game song to their latest song through naturally connected lyrics.

‘Roll the Dice.’

The song of the year that gained full popularity through Water Bomb.

The fact that the couple getting married today created the game in the album with that song as the title made the relatives and acquaintances in attendance a little excited.

[Just roll the dice

[Trust take my side]

In this way Testa succeeded in perfectly celebrating the couple’s marriage with a song whose lyrics did not match.

Not as a testa performance but as a celebration stage for a wedding.

[be happy!]

The 3 minute and 30 second stage ended like a knife in accordance with the video.

Testa and his wife were showered with applause and cheers.

When the accompaniment stopped the warm sense of solidarity created by the video and song disappeared and interest in Testa itself was about to explode but by then Testa was already quickly leaving.

“Oooh!”

However people who were already holding smartphone cameras cheered with their mouths and even filmed Testa leaving.

The wedding guests who were dazedly clapping and watching the congratulatory song finally came to their senses at that moment.

‘Oh me too!’

You are the one who can take the closest picture of this!

She hurriedly lifted her smartphone and succeeded in taking a photo of Testa passing right next to her in time.

At the same time the eyes were aimed directly at the tester rather than through the smartphone screen.

‘…and.’

These were the people I saw on TV.

Cha Yu-jin smiling with her fangs slightly exposed Sun Ah-hyun with long eyelashes and red cheeks and Lee Se-jin who is cool and handsome.

Kim Rae-bin with a gorgeous and decadent look; Ryu Cheong-woo with a strong frame and handsome features; Park Moon-dae with an indifferent white face and a handsome face.

Even the neat face of Bae Se-jin who recently appeared in ＜The Doll Hunter＞.

Those handsome celebrities that only I know about attracted my attention.

‘and.’

She was so choked up with wonder and excitement that she forgot to stop filming the video and held on to her smartphone for a while.

And she wasn’t the only one in this state.

This congratulatory song filmed by dozens of guests was naturally uploaded and made public on the Internet.

-I came to an acquaintance’s wedding and a tester came out. Wow;;

* * *

[Everyone screams when they realize who the singer is]

[Testa suddenly invades the wedding]

[Today’s crazy Testa anthem]

Internet users were initially taken aback by the sudden influx of short videos and news without warning but these titles were too interesting to ignore.

‘What is it?’

And if you click you will suddenly be caught in the back of your head by Testa who is passionately singing the game song with electric accompaniment and the bride and groom waving their hands excitedly during the congratulatory song.

[I’m gonna survive-]

As always the video provided objectivity so that it could be viewed from a third party’s perspective somewhat distant from the actual participants.

This means that there were many people who burst into laughter as soon as this congratulatory song started.

-What is this hahahahahahahahaha

-ㅋㅋㅋㅋ The sense of disconnect was crazy.

-Wow that must have been fun really.

-I can see the bosses are excited haha.

Testa singing the conceptual lyrics in front of both parents at the wedding and the wedding party responding like a concert couldn't have been so much fun!

The situation became more interesting when it became known that the couple were the owners of a ruined industrial complex and the relationship between them and Testa.

-Wow that couple is amazing too. How did they endure it without talking about it haha?

ㄴㄹㅇDoggi Legend is the only way to succeed in business.

-The secret was well kept and the wedding ceremony was done neatly without sacrificing anything. Congratulations on your wedding owners of the ruined factory.

People who didn't know that it was just a hasty decision about a week ago praised the couple's patience.

And by the time the aggravation of the humorous and unique incident itself reaches its peak and I have regained my composure something else comes into play.

It's skill.

-He's shameless and good at it.

-Wow the singer is a real singer. Look at how he breaks through the sound.

-It's really amazing that the stage is fun even without choreography.

Because it was a raw video without any editing the skill felt more realistic.

The shaky video taken by an amateur with a smartphone brought out the realism.

It was even worse because of all the small talk among the guests but there were some regrets.

The point is that there are almost no videos like music broadcasts where you can see Testa's stage clearly.

It was natural but it was unusual to find comments like this.

-Are you without conscience if you ask for high-definition fancams?

-Please give me high resolution so I can clear my conscience.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkk

Please bosses let it go. Didn't they film a wedding video? ㅜㅜ

Oh please don't do this in other people's wedding videos. I think it's the truth.

Fortunately it ended with proper internal crackdowns.

And among these 'overreactions' there were actually good things.

For example something like this.

-Bae Se-jin also showed up? hmm…

-I heard it's harsh to see someone who is busy filming even ordering a congratulatory song for an acquaintance who can easily miss it haha.

We haven't even started filming season 2… Are you from the future?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

He said he was filming it in his head anyway.

The aggro players who were trying to take advantage of Bae Se-jin somehow ended up overdoing it so their intentions were clearly visible.

Once an opinion becomes embarrassing or funny it completely loses its appeal. Therefore speculation about Bae Se-jin's activities temporarily died down.

-Wow it was on the Bonus Book music chart.

-Seeing our kids' old songs being rediscovered like this makes me think that this is a group that will last for a long time and will not go out of style. Let's go together for a long time as a group of 7.

Everything looked good.

Fans loved the natural happy stress-free rice cake and had fun for several days.

It was the perfect content to have a little fun while waiting for the comeback!

-Guys make a comeback… I miss you even more after watching this! Haha

But none of them knew.

The very reason Testa planned this anthem was frustrated.

[…ah]

[Yeah Fate is a fake!]

There was almost silence without any sound coming out of Raebin Kim's mouth as he listened to the microphone.

Thanks to Cha Yu-jin and Lee Se-jin who quickly came in the moment they saw that hardened figure the rap part was handled cheerfully like singing in unison.

They were the only ones who noticed more than that.

* * *

"My voice didn't come out."

"yes."

Raebin Kim nodded with a pale face.

"Suddenly… I became tense for no reason and my voice stopped coming out."

In the car on the way back after finishing the congratulatory song. I pressed my temples.

Not being able to perform on stage.

The symptoms that steer Kim Rae-bin had did not go away.

Chapter 523

Raebin Kim was unable to perform on stage.

However (probably) the reason for this is that the steer days have already flown out of my head.

‘I’m going to be amazed.’

What on earth can you say to someone who has no memory? First of all I sent him back to his room to tell him not to worry too much and to get some rest as it might be due to fatigue.

But everyone knew this was bullshit.

‘What kind of fatigue is freezing?’

Then it should have happened during my debut when I was sleeping three hours a day. No matter how you look at it this is a trace of steer Kim Rae-bin.

The good news is that there was a member of the same age here who would have spent the most time with the person involved.

And it just so happened that he didn’t have any dinner plans so he stayed at the dorm.

“Tell me everything you suspect happened to Ravin during the steer.”

Let’s shake it off.

Cha Yu-jin who had been called to the kitchen instead of pouting at my question had a serious expression on her face.

It seems like this guy also had some concerns after seeing this situation.

“A lot of things happened. But Kim Rae-bin was fine. [Of course he wasn’t as happy as he is now. However there was no extreme despair or mental issues.]”

“hmm.”

It was a quite unexpected answer.

-Raebin Kim was fine during his steer days. (Cha Yu-jin’s testimony)

“So at least as far as you remember Steer Kim Rae-bin also had no objection to the stage?”

“that’s right.”

Cha Yu-jin nodded and frowned.

“I asked Raebin Kim a lot of questions a few days ago. However Kim Rae-bin only said that she couldn’t perform on stage. [Sometimes it felt like he didn’t even know the cause.]”

An investigation was conducted before Steer Kim Rae-bin’s memory disappeared but the investigation was unsuccessful.

I nodded.

That’s good testimony.

“Then it’s simple.”

“What?”

“Now look.”

I marked it with my finger on the table.

“The last time you saw Raebin Kim during your Steer days was when you went to America right after the group disbanded.”

“that’s right.”

Cha Yu-jin’s trip to America.

I put a dot there and kept my finger straight.

“But Kim Rae-bin whose memories came back from Steer was a guy who had even experienced military service. I remember what happened after you went to America.”

“…Yep.”

Just as Cha Yu-jin worked at a repair shop in the United States and Lee Se-jin A finally won the case Kim Rae-bin also experienced something more during that period.

“The only difference from the steer Kim Rae-bin you remember is this period.”

-Period after the group disbanded.

I said shaking my hands.

“So the problem arose after you went to America.”

“Oh.”

In other words the short period from the disbandment of the steer to the completion of the training center comes into question.

‘Of course this is under the assumption that Cha Yu-jin had a good understanding of Kim Rae-bin’s condition during the steer.’

I think this assumption is extremely likely to be correct.

Cha Yu-jin is a very perceptive person. The problem is that you don’t use that awareness.

‘But it would have been a situation where I had no choice but to use it during steer.’

In extreme situations humans can show signs of intelligence that they didn’t normally have but people who are already smart will do so even more.

However if this guy says about a member of the same group and a close friend of the same age that ‘there was no mental problem’ it means that there really was no problem.

Cha Yu-jin who was listening also obediently acknowledged it.

“OK. So what do we do?”

He doesn’t seem to have any doubt that I have the answer. Thank you.

I nodded and opened my mouth at once like always.

“You should think about that now.”

“…What?”

“Let’s think about it based on this information.”

You too pay attention.

After assigning the work to Cha Yu-jin who was embarrassed I returned to the room.

For your information Kim Rae-bin the roommate who was unable to perform on stage was banging his head on the desk.

‘I told him to rest.’

It looks like it is stretched rather than resting.

The guy wearing headphones with a rabbit and energy drink engraved on them that he received from a fan at the beginning of his debut didn't move at all.

"…"

It looks like it's scared or dispirited.

'What a mess.'

I need to resolve this quickly. I sat down on my bed.

Well… In fact Cha Yu-jin said that there was no solution that immediately came to mind but in fact there was.

It was a way to go as far as saying 'We will do it after agreement' so we were just aiming for good timing rather than saying it right away.

Force digging into the system.

I rubbed my chin.

'I think if I dig I'll find something.'

If I access the system one more time like when I discovered Lee Se-jin A…

[Wow don't even dream bro!]

"…"

No… when did you hear that? It pops up before I can say anything.

I closed my mouth when I saw the big moon pop up.

what. Even if I felt uncomfortable since I was taking Ryu Geon-woo's body and connecting with him instead I didn't have anything to say.

‘But since I completed the first attempt safely I think I can do it even more safely this time.’

I responded as calmly as possible.

The pop-up didn’t respond for a while but then suddenly popped up.

[I’ll try it then so please wait a moment!]

what?

What does this mean again?

‘Big moon.’

But there was no answer. It seemed like this guy had accessed my system.

‘No I can do it so why do I make you do it?’

The cleanest thing to do is to be done by someone who has done this before.

I called the guy a few more times but as expected there was no answer.

‘Damn it.’

I closed the call with a bitter smile on my face. If you’re connected anyway if you disturb it for no reason you could end up X so let’s leave it at that for now.

Since he has a high level of understanding of the system as he has lived through the status window he may receive unexpected income.

‘Should I do something else first?’

I immediately turned my head and opened my mouth.

“Ravin.”

“Yes yes!”

Kim Rae-bin who had been resting his head on the desk suddenly lifted his head.

I’m comfortable with this because I’m a roommate.

I said ‘I really don’t remember anything. Let’s think back to the situation at the time of the performance to see if anything comes to mind.’ Instead of saying things like etc. I said this.

“Let’s take a look at the work.”

“yes?”

I asked the guy to open the hard disk as if I was trying to punish him.

Raebin Kim nodded with a dumbfounded expression.

“These 7 songs are the ones I worked on recently.”

On the heavy laptop screen he held out several files were open through a composition program.

I got some extra headphones from him and started listening to the song.

“thanks.”

“no! I wonder why you want to listen to the song…”

I glanced at his complexion.

Nervous anxious confused.

‘I’m conscious of fear that stage-related stories will come out.’

In this situation what really brings the story out is the handshake.

So I responded casually.

“I was curious. Lately I feel like I haven’t been paying much attention to producing.”

And then he smiled slightly.

“It’s nice to be able to listen comfortably since we’re roommates.”

“brother…”

The guy who said ‘No you paid enough attention’ seemed quite impressed.

This means that it was successful in diverting attention.

‘good.’

Even after listening to the guy’s explanation including listening to the seven songs repeatedly to understand their structure I pressed the play button again several times.

It was to kill time.

“Oh~ Do you listen to Mundaemundae Ravin’s song?”

“What are the members doing? Let’s do it together!”

As I listened to it repeatedly the guys who had just come out of their rooms to wash up and the guys who had finished their schedules were joining in and watching it together.

Seeing that there were people who didn’t necessarily want to come it was clear that they came because they were worried about Kim Rae-bin and sat down to see the atmosphere and encourage him.

“Now then let’s play number 3~”

“Ugh!”

Clap clap clap.

And in this sudden atmosphere of the listening party Kim Rae-bin finally began to feel nervous in a different way.

Soon a soft ballad song with a leisurely and good rhythm smoothly filled the room.

After listening Liu Chengwu smiled and said to the guy.

“This song is really good Ravin. I think the melody is especially good.”

“thank you! This is a demo version in which I composed the top line first and then composed a beat that matches the melody…”

Finally I can react immediately without conscious awareness.

After a few songs had passed and I had confirmed that his nervousness had disappeared I took action.

“Oh Ravin~ You’ve been using those headphones for a long time? How about taking a picture of what you wrote and uploading it to your account?”

While Keun Se-jin was talking to Kim Rae-bin I grabbed the laptop mouse again and opened the screen explorer.

What Raebin Kim showed us earlier was a folder containing the latest songs. 7 songs were selected here.

‘But when I sorted all the files in the folder by most recent… there was one more song among the 7 songs.’

-62_06.wav

This is it.

I asked Raebin Kim a question as if something occurred to me while looking at the file.

“Did you make song number 6 this time too? The save date is recent.”

“Oh that’s… I think it was a song I made when I had no memory of it.”

“iced coffee.”

It means that it was made when there were only memories of Steer Kim Rae-bin.

Actually I already knew.

‘I checked all the file creation dates.’

It was just that period.

But I naturally nodded.

“I don’t remember making it so it must have been awkward to introduce it. Still I think I’ve heard of it.”

“Yes it is saved on my PC so of course I went through the verification process!”

I asked the guy who quickly nodded.

“Was there a part in this song where you thought ‘If I had made it it wouldn’t have been made like this?’ Regardless of whether the song is good or bad in terms of composition method.”

At that moment the other guys who were talking quietly silently noticed. It seems that even the guys who were usually not very tactful were able to use their senses because the situation was so bad. Well done.

Kim Rae-bin’s face became more serious for a moment as if he was lost in thought but he soon opened his eyes and answered.

“ah! Actually I felt a sense of discomfort.”

“okay?”

“The song seemed like it was made with the members of our group in mind but I didn’t have any parts!”

“uh?”

At that moment Bae Se-jin could not stand it anymore and intervened.

“What does that mean?”

“So… When composing a song with the owner of the song decided I tend to write while being conscious of the characteristics of each performer.”

Raebin Kim explained diligently.

“This song seems to have been made in a similar way… but there are no parts that seem to be assigned to me!”

Bae Se-jin stiffened his expression.

“So… I think this song was written for Testa but you’re the only one who doesn’t have a part?”

“According to my analysis yes.”

Raebin Kim nodded.

“So I guessed that the person who made it in the first place… had no intention of performing it on stage…”

“…”

Raebin Kim seems to have made this assumption when she was banging her head on the desk earlier.

‘hmm.’

I looked at the file on the screen again.

Steer Kim Rae-bin clearly tried to find memories from his Testa days in order to ‘perform again and contribute to this team.’

In this situation wouldn’t they have tried to create a group song assuming that they would perform on stage after regaining their memories?

‘At least I wouldn’t have tried.’

If so this means that Kim Rae-bin tried to add her own part to the song but failed.

In other words it’s not that he ‘didn’t’ do his part but his aversion to the stage was so strong and determined that he ‘couldn’t’ do it.

‘…’

I held back a sigh. I was complacent.

Everyone was relatively less worried because steer Kim Rae-bin was trying his hand at composing music and seemed to be adapting well to the team but in fact it might have been him who was the most worried.

‘I guess I’ll have to take a more delicate approach.’

I deliberately spoke calmly and leisurely to Raebin Kim.

“Anyway you want to perform on stage now.”

“Of course!”

Raebin Kim answered at once. I smiled faintly.

“Then that’s enough. There are seven people and if we try there will be at least one thing that works.”

I tapped Big Sejin on the shoulder. Backup arrived quickly.

“Ah then~ The most important thing about this kind of mental thing is what you think you want to do! Ravin the conditions have been met right Ahyun?”

“Ugh that’s right…! I hope you don’t worry too much.”

“…! Yes thank you!”

Kim Rae-bin’s complexion brightened as if he felt a little relieved.

And I thought. I need to quickly find this guy’s memories first.

But that night

[There is no memory data bro!]

I almost hit my head on the head of the bed.

‘No?’

[Yes… I went to the terminal you mentioned but it wasn’t there.]

Holy shit.

As I cursed at the system a small pop-up appeared as if I was depressed.

[sorry. Maybe I’m not able to find it because I lack the ability…]

No that won’t be it.

‘This is definitely not a guy you would have found casually.’

If there is no big moon even after going this far there is a high probability that it really does not exist.

then…

If that memory had not returned to the system

-The memory of steer Kim Rae-bin will still be with me.

At that moment realization came.

I was mistaken.

Because it was a ‘preview’ I thought Raebin Kim’s memories of his time as a steer were also recovered into the system the moment the function ended.

‘But that wasn’t it.’

It was said that Raebin Kim during his steer days was absorbed into himself and was not coming out.

“…”

I sat down on the bed and reviewed my reasoning and thought process a few times before finally coming to a conclusion.

‘You have to knock on the door to the guy who is locked in his room.’

I needed stimulation.

* * *

After not being able to perform the congratulatory song properly.

Raebin Kim continued to worry while resting in his room at the dorm.

‘What exactly is the cause?’

About the reasonable reason why he suffered from extreme stiffness on stage.

In fact he tried several solutions during these two days.

He received gentle recommendations from Bae Se-jin and Sun A-hyeon for expert consultations and Ryu Cheong-woo encouraged him to accompany him in physical leisure activities such as shooting or mountaineering.

But none of that could relieve his anxiety. It’s okay during practice so you won’t know until you actually start playing.

So Kim Rae-bin who became even more obsessed with the cause speculated in a slightly depressed state.

‘Maybe the problem is that I don’t remember.’

I even remember Cha Yu-jin!

Park Moon-dae dismissed him saying ‘It’s just a matter of method’ but when this situation came up Kim Rae-bin couldn’t help but worry and reflect.

However he also knew that the more he thought about it too deeply the more he would be swallowed up by it so he tried not to be too obsessed with the stage itself.

Because I already had experience.

‘It’s a similar situation to when I had a previous compositional slump.’

Kim Rae-bin who was playing with the composition program nodded resolutely.

Then it suddenly occurred to me.

‘Wait a moment to compose?’

At that moment a light exploded like fireworks in Raebin Kim’s head!

If this situation is similar to a songwriting slump how about responding similarly?

This means enjoying the stage solely as a hobby while remaining anonymous.

‘At that time with the help of my brothers I even created an account called Byeolbyeolgok!’

When I thought about the situation at that time a warm feeling came to my heart.

It was hope and happiness.

In a slightly flushed state he got up to convey his reasoning and found his roommate Park Moon-dae who happened to be right next to him…

“I was going to say it anyway but it worked out. I’m talking about this album teaser.”

“yes?”

“How about making an intro song and adding it? As short as I can do it within the current period.”

Sometimes Testa put a lot of effort into creating a detailed worldview in the teaser but sometimes he didn’t.

This time I thought of the latter and gave strength to the album itself.

However adding an intro now may mean that work is becoming too much but for now Raebin Kim nodded willingly.

Brother Mundae’s plans always worked out well!

“I’m good! As this is a video introducing the album we will organize it well so that each element and member can appear harmoniously.”

And this time he was planning to bring up his own business but…

“no. You will do it alone.”

“…??”

“The intro to this album is your solo song.”

Kim Rae-bin couldn’t believe his ears but Park Moon-dae was still smiling faintly.

“Make the song you want to sing.”

Kim Rae-bin’s eyesight became distant!

Chapter 524

Raebin Kim has been creating songs of various genres since the spring of 14 when she first started composing music.

This is because he had nothing to choose and found something attractive in every genre.

-Ravin the classical music major I talked to the teacher about yesterday… has been composing disco?!

-… I'm sorry Ravin but you really composed all of your portfolio right?

A level of inclusiveness that shocked everyone who taught or scouted him!

Even in those days when perfection was lacking due to a lack of theory it was not dull and had a strong individuality.

And after going through a transitional period where he only cared about the completeness of the song itself he finally began to pay attention to external factors that he could not directly control.

-Who will call?

I compose music with the singer in mind.

It has become commercially viable.

And Kim Rae-bin went through the process happily.

As if putting together the puzzle of a famous painting to create an exquisite painting the song for the 'caller' was created through delicate processes and adjustments.

That felt very attractive to Raebin Kim.

I have never disliked it even once.

But the problem is… the singer has never been the only singer!

A song that only considers oneself!

‘What should I do?’

Kim Rae-bin was completely embarrassed.

Of course it wasn’t his first time recording his own solo song.

In Testa’s full-length album <Chakho Gapsa> which includes the title song ‘Travel’ the majority of the songs on the album were each member’s solo songs.

However not only Kim Rae-bin but also five or six other producers participated and it was only a part of the organic connection between each song on the album.

So it was no different from composing a long symphony and allocating one movement of it to oneself.

This meant that he had never been in charge of the entire intro to an album like this.

The only clues are the words of trusted members!

-How about writing about what you felt while making this album?

It was advice from Park Moon-dae who has always been my guide.

‘…good!’

If so we will create a song that will meet the group’s expectations!

Kim Rae-bin made a firm determination.

The fact that his brother had entrusted the teaser to him was completely ignored.

Meanwhile his goal of not focusing on stage fear was unconsciously being achieved smoothly.

-First step: preliminary research.

Raebin Kim first focused on the fact that this intro song would be the song that would introduce the group's album.

Collecting diverse opinions from members felt like a necessity.

So we started visiting the members who had the least amount of time at the dorm first because they had a lot of schedules recently.

"…What impressions did I get? Why is that?"

This is Bae Se-jin.

After completing his schedule for <The Doll Hunter> he was asked a survey while drinking orange juice.

He reflexively responded a little hesitantly but soon his expression changed to that of regret.

"No it's not that I don't want to answer I'm just asking an innocent question! Purely!"

"…? Yes I understand!"

Kim Rae-bin who was never offended in the first place simply continued to ask the question she wanted to ask.

-Collecting members' impressions of this album!

However Bae Se-jin who was trying to put on a friendly face as much as possible returned with a cold expression and answered like this.

“Park Moon-dae told me to express what I felt. I also sympathize. Don’t be influenced by me.”

Bae Se-jin left for the bathroom after hitting Juice with one shot.

“…??”

Raebin Kim was embarrassed!

‘Failure…?’

However he did not give in and was able to find the next target.

“What are you looking for Ravin? Why are you standing here~”

It was Lee Se-jin who returned home after completing his personal workout.

He listened to Kim Rae-bin’s explanation of what had just happened and immediately burst into laughter.

“Hahaha! Oh my… Ravin must have been surprised!”

He was inwardly chuckling at the lack of tact of a member with the same name but soon smoothly comforted Raebin Kim.

Raebin Kim began to reveal her hardships without even realizing it.

“As this is a song that introduces the group’s album I thought it should reflect the entire group’s perspective. If it were just my thoughts it wouldn’t turn out to be too peripheral…”

“Ah~ I think it will be okay because Ravin has such good sense.”

These were not empty words.

This is because Kim Rae-bin boasted an outstanding sense in everything related to art.

Lee Se-jin glanced at Kim Rae-bin's current attire and even remembered her younger brother's usual civilian clothes.

He had a unique sense of being able to match and wear outfits that would have been excessive or embarrassing if they were just one inch off.

'This isn't something you can learn.'

The public called it hip.

Even though he didn't have much tact in interpersonal relationships he was a very talented younger brother who more than made up for it.

'I'm quietly praying.'

He's a stubborn guy and won't run away.

Sejin Lee grinned after completing the evaluation.

"And anyway when it's all over we'll all give feedback together~ So for now let's do whatever Lavin wants to do comfortably!"

"…All right."

And as Lee Se-jin expected Kim Rae-bin seriously decided to focus only on herself.

'As expected just like the last time with 'Star Songs' all you have to do is think about fun songs!'

"…So I concluded that I could just make it as a hobby."

"Oh."

That night.

Kim Rae-bin sat at the kitchen table and chatted with Cha Yu-jin about her situation so far while working.

Cha Yu-jin who had finally received grilled bulgogi rice balls from Park Moon-dae as a late-night snack was devouring them in one go.

The soft rice was soaked in sesame oil and bulgogi broth and grilled to a savory taste like nurungji which was excellent.

However after hearing Kim Rae-bin's conclusion he licked the rice paste from his fingers and snorted.

"Kim Raebin I was mistaken."

what?

"I was mistaken?"

"okay! This is different from my hobby."

Cha Yu-jin grinned.

"Kim Raebin I'm not just making songs right now. We need to make a performance introducing our album."

"…!"

"That's why it's important that our fans like it."

Even the composition of the video concept.

Raevin Kim has to consider many things and produce extremely commercial results.

'I hope the fans will like it… '

He was deep in thought and Cha Yu-jin asked thoughtfully instead of picking up the last rice ball.

“Kim Raebin how did you originally make the album for us?”

Raebin Kim answered without hesitation.

“We created this song so that each person can utilize their own characteristics and strengths to the fullest.”

Cha Yu-jin grinned.

“Do it again this time! The fans loved that!”

‘ah.’

That’s right.

‘I have to make a song that I can express properly.’

Raebin Kim found a clear goal as if his mind was clearing.

It was an essential question that finally arrived.

-What are my characteristics and strengths as a singer?

And if we go a little further here.

Finally a fundamental question arises.

-Who am I as a performer?

Raebin Kim realized that he would be creating the intro from here.

So we moved on to the next step.

* * *

-Second step: Conceiving the work.

A work full of what Raebin Kim is good at.

First of all I thought Raebin Kim had a good grasp of what she was good at on stage.

He had good delivery skills and was good at interpreting and expressing songs as well as creating unusual wow points.

‘Nevertheless I suddenly became unable to perform well on stage… ’

If so there are other factors that have not yet been figured out.

‘After all it’s a memory.’

He had a strong feeling that he would be able to properly assemble this work only by considering his lost memory steer Kim Rae-bin.

However there seemed to be a long way to revive missing memories within a short period of time.

‘Mundae looked embarrassed too… ’

So he decided to take an indirect approach.

A member who had memories of Steer until recently.

And to the extremely trustworthy leader of this group.

“…What was it like on stage when you were a steer?”

“Yes.”

“…”

living room. Ryu Cheong-woo who was reading a book borrowed from Bae Se-jin kept smiling instead of answering.

And answered slowly.

“Good job. It wasn’t much different from now.”

“But if you have the time would you mind if I ask you to explain in more detail?”

“…”

If it had been another member he wouldn’t have bothered to ask Ryu Cheong-woo this question.

Liu Chengwu didn’t want to talk much about his steer days so he said ‘It’s embarrassing. Sorry.’ This is because the situation has already been resolved to that extent.

It was an implicit request not to mention it again in the future.

However Kim Rae-bin’s memories of Ryu Cheong-woo had disappeared at that time and he was not a great person who could notice the other person’s subtle discomfort.

So in the end I ended up getting a specific answer from Ryu Cheong-woo.

“Specifically… At that time the company wanted to give each member a clear character on stage.”

What Raebin Kim immediately thought of when he heard the character was a picture engraved on one of his main headphones.

rabbit.

“Do you mean like animal characters that fans call?”

“Similar but not that specific.”

Liu Chengwu added briefly.

“Someone always takes charge of the bridge and someone always stands in the center in the chorus… That’s it. Hair dye and glasses were mainly done only by certain members.”

If Park Moon-dae had heard it he would have dismissed it as ‘a clumsy attempt to divide children into types according to demand’ but the two people who did not know such specific vocabulary simply nodded in understanding.

“I heard a similar story from my previous agency. It is an abstract image that is different from positions such as dance vocal and rap.”

“okay.”

Ryu Cheong-woo who responded briefly saw Rae-bin Kim waiting for a more specific answer and eventually continued slowly until his next sentence.

“And you… Ravine has played a lot of roles on stage that are slightly darker and flashier than now.”

“Is that so?”

“okay. I got a lot of impactful parts.”

To be honest when I heard that story I didn’t really think ‘I don’t have the ability to digest that.’

However considering it logically Kim Rae-bin nodded.

“Then there is a possibility that I ended up avoiding the stage because I wasn’t able to perform my part well!”

“…”

Liu Chengwu was silent for a moment but then shook his head.

“No you did well.”

“yes?”

“Don’t doubt it for nothing just think like that. Okay?”

The strange tone may have sounded a bit forceful but it soon ended in a gentle tone.

“Ah… I understand.”

Raebin Kim nodded and stood up.

This is because Ryu Cheong-woo looked uncomfortable to the extent that even Kim Rae-bin who is not very good at recognizing ‘turning around’ could tell.

‘I think you’re tired. Let’s get up now.’

Moreover after Liu Qingwu he had already thought of the person he would ask about this matter in more detail.

“Since my brother was a fan of Steer I thought he must have appreciated my performance. Was it really dark and glamorous?”

“…”

“brother?”

‘I wasn’t a fan.’

Park Moon-dae wanted to close his eyes tightly.

However I did not reveal it because it would be of no use to say so now anyway since it would only scratch the surface of the main issue.

Instead he spoke dryly.

“Well it was kind of like that. But it suited me.”

Kim Rae-bin became a little confused by Park Moon-dae’s comment which swallowed up the previous statement ‘You did well in that shit environment.’

‘You didn’t avoid the stage because you couldn’t do it?’

“But why is that?”

Raebin Kim answered honestly even in the midst of confusion.

“For some reason I had a feeling that I would have to consider the memories of that time.”

“That’s possible.”

Instead of scolding Park Moon-dae nodded calmly.

And he spoke in an unusually soft tone.

“But what you are making now is the intro to the Testa album. I think it’s more important to focus on you who lived as a testa.”

“…!”

“Right now think about what you want to do and what you are good at.”

That was… correct.

Could it be that he has become so accustomed to inspiration triggered by small clues that he has become obsessed with details?

“I’m not saying that what you’re doing is wrong so don’t misunderstand.”

“yes…”

In the end Raebin Kim had no choice but to end the day’s proceedings without being able to ask any more questions.

He went back to his bedroom and thought to himself.

‘What I want to do… ’

And then I fell asleep.

It was probably after midnight when he came to his senses again.

‘uh… ’

Kim Rae-bin who was closing and opening his eyes with a hazy vision suddenly realized that the bed next to him was empty.

‘…Mundae hyung?’

He reflexively got out of bed and tried to quietly walk out the door.

It was then.

“What you answered.”

A voice was heard outside the door.

It was Park Moon-dae’s voice that disappeared from the bed.

“…?”

Raebin Kim reflexively stopped and peeked his head out of the door to see the voice.

“That’s not all.”

“…”

Dark living room.

Indirect lighting cast faint shadows on the faces of the two people sitting.

Moon-Dae Park.

And Liu Chengwu.

“After Steer disbanded you were the only one who knew Kim Raebin’s whereabouts. Because Cha Yu-jin was in the US and Bae Se-jin was at the trial.”

“…”

“And… you must have been overly responsible at the time so I think you would have checked your condition.”

Park Mun-dae continued speaking calmly.

“What happened to Ravin at that time?”

Raebin Kim held his breath.

An unfathomable silence remained deep in the living room.

and

“that’s right.”

Liu Chengwu answered lowly in a harsh voice.

“You saw what I told you not to see.”

At that moment something flooded Raebin Kim’s mind.

“…!”

Images began to flow in as if a dam had broken and water was bursting through the cracks.

It was a memory.

* * *

It started with a single sentence displayed on the screen.

-You look like a deep-rooted bastard

Chapter 525

Steer Kim Rae-bin's life wasn't bad.

Of course his group suffered from bad news and he was unable to create or produce his own songs in the direction he wanted.

It weighed heavily on my heart and sometimes caused insomnia.

However Raebin Kim had a family to whom she could tell them and on nights when her schedule was not full she would usually talk on the phone on the veranda.

-You don't have to worry too much Lavin. Originally all social life was like that. People who are new to society cannot do what they want.

His older sister often comforted him by citing examples of similar situations she was in and added words of encouragement at the end.

-As time passes you will have another opportunity to do what you want.

And Kim Rae-bin believed those words.

He ended the call with thanks and greetings and carefully returned to his room from the veranda.

Then sometimes I got pointed out.

"Don't stay out too long."

"sorry."

Ryu Cheong-woo just nodded and passed by and Kim Rae-bin who was nervous often breathed a sigh of relief.

‘But it’s not bad.’

Raebin Kim was good at finding the good in any situation.

“Raebin Kim sleep quickly!”

“You too go to sleep quickly.”

In this group there was a friend of the same age who had been a trainee with him since he was a teenager. For some reason it was a pleasure for him who had difficulty getting close to his peers.

And once you debuted didn’t you get the experience of experiencing various stages and releasing songs?

‘Overall my situation is something to be thankful for.’

Thinking like that he did not sink into depression or despair like some other members but continued his activities as best he could.

The next few years passed by as if they would never end and soon they came to an end as clean as a lie.

Group disbandment.

-Goodbye Cha Yujin.

Burnout a feeling of exhaustion was something Raebin Kim could not avoid. It was only natural after 5 years of hard work and hard work.

However Raebin Kim was not buried.

‘Let’s rest a little and carry out the plan!’

This is because he has already decided on a new career path.

Singer-songwriter!

Even though Steer came to an end after a not-so-good career there was enough room to go on a small tour and sell hundreds of thousands of albums.

With the money I saved there even excluding what I sent home I could have invested in equipment and set up a decent studio.

‘And if I get the chance I’d like to try working with a song I made the way I wanted.’

There were countless things I had yet to try. You will be able to move forward further!

With that in mind Raebin Kim returned to Gangwon-do and blended into his peaceful daily life.

By then he was recovering slowly.

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: Are you doing well?

The same thing happened about 15 days later when I received a text message from the older person who was the leader of the group.

‘ah.’

Raebin Kim reflexively straightened his spine and tried to maintain a tense state but realized that there was no need for him to do so and forced himself to relax.

‘yes. I’m doing well. While writing a text message saying ‘Thank you for asking… ’ he suddenly realized that he could now freely use his smartphone.

To be exact the Internet.

-Rule 3: Do not access SNS without permission.

During the group’s activities Ryu Cheong-woo monitored his teammates like a boarding school with strict discipline so naturally

Kim Rae-bin lived a life away from the Internet for several years.

And it continued until now.

I didn't have much interest in it to begin with and I only occasionally used it to post songs anonymously on the platform so I didn't feel much inconvenience.

But that was the group rule.

'Isn't this applicable now?'

This is because the steer has already been dismantled.

Logically there were no loopholes. The reason you feel repulsed by this situation is simply because of your own fears and learned inhibitions.

He almost became a little depressed but soon regained his sense of purpose.

'good!'

Raebin Kim first sent a polite reply to Ryu Cheongwoo.

And although he was a little hesitant he started searching his name on social media to get feedback.

-You look handsome today too (photo) #Raebin Kim

-King Ravin… Black Rabbit Emperor (Video)

-I miss Ravin ㅠㅠ

Articles written during the last period of activity and affectionate messages about people who were unable to tell what they were up to recently poured in.

Although he almost felt a little dizzy he looked at the writings with curiosity and gratitude.

‘There are still a lot of fans on social media.’

The ability to search for accounts that were already dead or inactive had disappeared due to several years of distancing.

He looked at popular posts on social media a few times using search terms containing only his real name but soon remembered another method and changed tabs.

‘Let’s look at various places.’

And the moment you searched your name on a search engine.

‘…?’

He saw an unusual text on the first page.

-… Kim Rae-bin Cha Yu-jin Min Jeong-hoon Steer T1 V-Tik Mirinae T-holic…

It was a text that seemed to have all sorts of group names and people’s names added at random.

‘Why is it structured like this?’

Raebin Kim clicked on the article without thinking. Then the page changes and moves to a new search engine.

“…!”

It was a gossip bulletin board.

In a place that was a hotbed of all kinds of rumors during the time of <Azusa> an article that had been posted a few weeks ago and was ranked high appeared before Raebin Kim’s eyes.

———————

[The steer was dismantled]

(article capture)

During Azusa I thought there would be a really great guy but somehow I feel a bit disappointed.

_____

And I realized why the strange structure of the writing was like that.

The post which had hundreds of comments was covered in keywords to be searched.

He inadvertently lowered his gaze to the best comment.

and.

Long sentences with crazy pros and cons filled his field of vision.

-The problem with Steer is that they pushed a concept producing member who wasn't even

-There was a lot of controversy but I think it's true that the biggest problem was planning. Anyway I hope all the members live well.

-Planning power = producing and there is only one member who participated in producing. This is the end of the explanation.

-Push Grinder Kim Renen LOL

"…"

Raebin Kim was not good at guessing the intentions of people who were speaking back.

However the language rules and described features could be sufficiently analyzed and distinguished.

So I noticed it.

-You look like a deep-rooted bastard

It was a story about myself.

Raebin Kim forgot to breathe and started checking related information.

-It really made me sigh when I saw how we made the song together and focused on the G part every time.

-Every time you act like you're the humble youngest on TV it's really… haha you either get a push or something during that time. It's not like that but people who become addicted to you after watching the stage also pretend to be greedy and don't have a fun personality so they all seem to have defected.

-I vomited every time I saw the evil-eyed bastards doing the lifting but it was better that they dismantled it. I hope I never see it again.

-He must be embarrassed to see that there is no news haha.

Comments with a similar tone were posted as the latest comments until a few hours ago as if they couldn't bear it anymore and were vomiting it out.

-Ah I feel refreshed. I finally realized that muggles are like this guy.

-I was annoyed at being treated like an abusive person but I feel like justice has triumphed haha.

If these were purely baseless accusations and malicious sentences Raebin Kim would have been little affected.

They could have realized that there was a member there who just wanted to conveniently pass on the cause of Steer's failure to someone else and who just happened to be disgusted with the situation due to his personal feelings.

However each sentence Raebin Kim saw had a logical structure. It's also very analytical.

Why is there a problem with Steer's production and marketing? Why is the distribution of parts unfair and problematic?

Why did all of this happen because of Kim Rae-bin?

One-sided claims based on factual analysis sounded like the truth. This is especially true for those who are panicked by posts expressing strong criticism and contempt for themselves.

He could not think of a calm rebuttal that he had no overall involvement in the production and that more than half of the claims were mere speculation.

I couldn't see any opposing opinions like 'Aren't these guys completely crazy?'

All these accusations just seemed convincing.

Moreover these 'fans' weren't just criticizing.

-I think Eugene has gone back to his country and won't come back… What should I do? I really want to die.

-Honestly wouldn't it be worse to have problems in your day job than in a relationship? Seriously why did my child get beaten up? Haha.

Instructions for affection resentment and resentment toward others were evident.

"…"

So Kim Rae-bin began to worry as she rubbed her cold hands as if her blood had cooled.

'How wrong was I?'

Did he make a big mistake?

"…"

He became speechless.

I wasn't the type of person who was good at making social small talk but the tendency to be good at speaking kindly and talking non-stop about things I liked disappeared as if dead.

Even before three days had passed his family started asking him out of concern.

"Ravin what's wrong with you?"

"…"

"Raebin Kim!"

"…therefore"

In the end Kim Rae-bin told her sister about the posts she had seen on a certain gossip bulletin board and the anonymous site she had accessed through the link.

"Why did you see that!"

My sister was shocked and started patting him. Kim Rae-bin felt her heart heating up but in the end she couldn't hold back and asked.

He needed an answer.

How much of his fault was that the Steer group didn't do well?

But the family looked at him with a straight face and cut him off.

"Ravin. They are all crazy kids. Why do you criticize celebrities so much when they are living their own lives? You didn't do that at all so don't look at things like that again. "Okay?"

I couldn't understand it because it seemed like he was just recklessly defending himself but I couldn't keep asking questions.

The more we talked the more distressed the family seemed.

The day Raebin Kim saw her grandmother wiping away tears alone in her room she decided to think for herself and find the answer.

Before going to bed he decided to lie down in bed and think carefully before making a decision without being scared.

So I thought as hard as I could.

'first of all… '

Summarizing the numerous criticisms they could be broadly divided into two causes.

Topic 1.

-The album quality dropped due to Kim Rae-bin's producing.

Raebin Kim did not actively participate in producing. I only received an allocation. And the company wasn't being selfish because it modified the results as it wanted.

But goodness and competence were not the same thing.

'So I think it was my fault for not being able to react more wisely and express my opinion.'

Kim Rae-bin concluded that we must reflect.

Next is topic 2.

Raebin Kim tossed and turned in bed feeling like his throat was closing up. And I barely came up with a sentence.

-Kim Rae-bin monopolized the good parts and was unable to perform them properly which had a great negative impact on the team.

Kim Rae-bin… tried to do her best in the given part.

It was true.

‘But maybe that wasn’t enough.’

Looking at the analysis posts it was strongly written why the part should go to someone better suited to it rather than Kim Rae-bin who ‘wasted the part’.

Moreover there was empirical evidence.

‘Our group didn’t do well.’

He failed to play the important part attractively enough.

So on the contrary it is quite possible that it might have been more beneficial if someone else had performed the impressive parts instead of him.

And if the fans think so… they’re probably right.

“…”

So maybe the answer was simple.

-Conclusion: Kim Rae-bin does not have the ability to be an idol.

It was right for me to produce as I had originally wanted to do when I was young.

He breathed in and out trying to think straight.

In a good direction.

‘I also felt there were problems with the elements of our promotional songs that these fans were criticizing.'

His eyesight was still good. So it was okay to continue with that.

'okay. Let's do that.'

Raebin Kim came to a conclusion and felt that his head was finally in order.

I will make a song myself.

'I can get there.'

He lay in bed looked at the ceiling and made a revised plan for the future.

"…"

There were no tears but somehow my heart felt empty and sad.

* * *

Testa's accommodation.

Kim Rae-bin felt the flood of memories as if she were getting drenched in a waterfall. The emotions at that time were vivid as if I was reliving it rather than remembering it.

It was as if I had been holding back and finally heard the words pour out.

Just like when you hear someone close to you share their sorrow you sympathize deeply and feel sorry for them.

Now for Kim Rae-bin that someone was herself.

"…"

The two older brothers were still talking in the living room.

However he stumbled turned his back on the dimly lit living room and quietly returned into the dark room.

Then he sat down at his desk and opened his laptop.

My mind felt numb and pale as if I had been hit with cold water.

However the final question that came up at the end of data collection was reemerging.

Clearly.

-Who am I as a performer?

This had to be fixed.

Shorter.

-Who am I?

And specifically.

-Who am I at this moment?

Then he quietly put his hand on the laptop and tried to accept what he was feeling without distorting it.

It was a feeling that I had been able to avoid deeply until now because I debuted as a Testa.

It was an essential element that was most clearly revealed when one was at his weakest.

Irreversible failure.

pain.

“…”

Raebin Kim decided to talk about pain.

* * *

A few weeks later.

[TeSTAR ‘Overture’ Comeback Trailer]

A teaser has been released.

Chapter 526

News of Testa's new album had already spread on the Internet but no advance time table was specifically released for promotion.

So people greeted the day the intro trailer was released without any warning.

Midnight. Fans who were lying in bed scrolling through their smartphone screens suddenly received an alert from Testa's official WeTube channel.

'…!?'

'what?'

This is the first video released with the name 'trailer' since the collaboration with 127 Section!

Fans who were completely sleepy clicked on the pop-up and a thumbnail immediately appeared before their eyes.

An image of an old broken yellow light bulb glowing small in a dark space.

Fans immediately clicked on it without even taking a breath all tense.

[…]

It started with a desolate street in a gloomy modern city.

Thump thud thud thud thump…

The rain continued to fall making a gloomy low noise. Beyond the back alleys of the city the colors are dull and dark and the sky is almost gray.

The back alleys are empty and dirty with weeds and manhole wires lined up haphazardly.

At that time a clear shadow appeared in the back alley.

Slosh.

It was a figure without an umbrella.

Kim Rae-bin wearing an old aviator jumper was backlit and looking into the camera across a back alley.

'…!!'

Kim Rae-bin who looked somewhat tired and worn out with a decadent look in her eyes seemed to be looking at the viewer beyond the camera lens.

The moment that feeling became clear the focus of the screen changed.

thud…

Before I knew it something had suddenly popped out right in front of the camera.

It was a white hand.

The camera descended eerily and captured the source of the hand.

manhole.

A white hand stuck out from the half-open manhole frozen like a mannequin.

[…]

There was tension in the video.

Raebin Kim came forward with heavy steps.

And held the white hand.

widely.

At that moment everything changes.

[Calling]

The gorgeous signature sound of trumpets and trombones burst out rhythmically re-tailored swing house in an extremely modern way.

Pleasant and addictive sound.

To the sound Kim Rae-bin was grabbed by a white hand and fell down the manhole.

sewer.

[Oooo-!]

Surprisingly it was a different world.

Above the manhole colored lights shining water and emergency lights contrasted with the faded city flashing in time with the beat.

The sound and color overflowed and jumped out. The mixture of cartoon-like CG and real-color fireworks overflowed as if they were going to explode.

But the structure is still a sewer.

Raebin Kim looking around sees that it is caught on a protruding concrete water pipe structure.

Black rabbit mask.

It was a fur doll mask that completely covered the head and looked as if it had been removed from a real rabbit's head.

Raebin Kim's hand picked it up without hesitation.

He put on a black rabbit mask and started running happily through the sewer.

Hip-hop beats filled the place where the brass disappeared.

[The starlight is brilliant

I'm lost

dark deep sea

[Hopeful and difficult]

Light flashed in all directions and the silhouettes of people who seemed to be having a party appeared beyond the iron bars in the distance and then disappeared.

Sometimes wearing animal masks they wore a variety of clothes from summer school uniforms to coats based on the harness uniform Hanbok.

These were the stage costumes that Testa had worn in music videos from <Azusa> until now.

Cheers and pollen flew.

[There is no right answer

I just keep running

New track is rough

[Your trigger is born]

Kim Rae-bin wearing a rabbit mask looked happy despite the lyrics implying that the new path will be difficult and cause trauma.

The moment he excitedly took a large step forward the cut changed to illuminate the narrow alcove.

[Pang!]

Kim Rae-bin wearing a black stage costume that fits her body perfectly sits on a chair alone in the middle of an alcove and raps.

It looked very nice but perhaps because of the background it had a somewhat gloomy feel.

An old light flickered in a dark room where the faded city could be seen through the bars.

In line with the blink the cut cut back to the sewer.

[I am

pull the trigger on your

Beyond the narrow aperture

Shot exploded

Hole created]

The music sounded cheerful and light.

However the sewer where Kim Rae-bin wearing a rabbit mask runs through becomes increasingly bizarre and distorted.

Every time the lights were turned off the original appearance of the sewer was darkly revealed and then disappeared in an instant.

On the other hand Raebin Kim's performance in the closet became more and more exquisite and intense.

[Engraved gun top

The future seen through a narrow gap

that]

As the accompaniment died down a virtuosic solo from the trumpet sounded.

He grabbed the camera and shouted with an expressionless expression.

["The escape hatch has collapsed."

Run]

bang.

The music returned and went wild.

Lights exploded around the sewer like an explosion. The primary colors trembled as if pounding on my mind.

The doll in the rabbit mask which seemed happy as if it was dancing was now running forward as if it was too much for her.

[The starlight is brilliant

I'm lost

dark deep sea

[The cliff edge is difficult]

Like a thriller movie tense editing techniques were used several times to tighten the video and music.

[The places I step on are increasingly minimized

Focus on clock (minutes 55)

Arriving soon though

My stride is narrow

It’s not on time]

The images of Kim Rae-bin wearing a rabbit mask and running hurriedly threatening to fall and Kim Rae-bin performing intensely in a small room quickly intersected.

[I can never arrive

The path presented on time

I don’t know which way to go]

And finally the rabbit trail reached the end of the sewer.

[Whoa!]

The emergency lights crackle and blink green.

Below it there is rough text written.

-GET OUT

silence.

There is no color no cheer no pollen.

In the quiet white noise Rabbit Tal took a deep breath reached out grabbed the handle of the emergency exit and opened the door.

[This is the end.]

Scarlet light floods in outside the door.

It was a circus tent.

The scarlet tent and round light bulbs filled with cameras filled the outdoor space with an ecstatic and eerie appearance.

Music is back.

[end of path

Dead end alley]

Raebin Kim wearing a rabbit mask lowered his trembling hands and stepped beyond the emergency exit.

The emergency exit turns off.

[There is no way out]

At that moment the screen showing Raebin Kim had suddenly turned into a cartoon.

Inyoung wearing a rabbit mask in a cartoon style that children would see cautiously approached the circus tent.

There was a colorful sign up there.

-MAN only

And then breathtaking stares began to appear as if they were glaring from all directions.

[Jump into the cave

To a strange country

manhole]

Kim Rae-bin who was looking around in horror hesitated and removed his rabbit mask as if tearing it off.

There was no head underneath.

[There's no rabbit.

MAN only

[So I call it a man-hole.]

Headless Inyoung held the rabbit mask anxiously in both hands and began to slowly stagger into the burning red tent.

The light bulb blinked.

[Manhole]

Kim Rae-bin who was performing in the cut of the crossed alcove again disappeared before we knew it.

All that remains is a chair and an old light bulb above it.

And the circus scene returns.

The circus tent that Raebin Kim swallowed came down to the bottom of the road as if nothing had happened.

Like a curtain call on stage.

Only the subtitles remained there.

[Overture – Rabbit hole]

[TeSTAR]

* * *

Late fall morning.

Park Moon-dae held up his smartphone and naturally scanned the screen.

Kim Rae-bin's exclusive trailer which was released last midnight was already at the top of WeTube's popular video rankings.

'I expected it but it's surprising.'

It wasn't a collaboration with a game or an ambitious plan for several months to come up with a concept and plan a masterpiece.

It was an unbelievable reaction that it was created by a short 2 minute and 30 second trailer featuring only one member.

It was that powerful and somehow evoked emotions.

-Have you seen Testa's comeback trailer?

-When will the music for this come out?

-Is it normal to feel so creepy and sad while watching the trailer?

-It looks like he just gritted his teeth this time.

A topic that did not end with simple compliments such as 'good song' 'good video' or 'handsome' continued to be reproduced.

There is something to talk about.

-Rabbit hole. Clearly inspired by Alice in Wonderland this trailer shows a lot of symbolism. A stage represented by a Wonderland alcove represented by a sewer… (See more)

– Speaking of the last cut of the trailer OOO (spoilers included)

-I think Kim Rae-bin made this Testa album with the theme of slump.

-Wonderland doesn't refer to stone tablets?

Of course there were people who were dismayed or laughed at it saying it was too complicated.

-Is it a national rule for producing members to be pretentious?

-Honestly they are a group that debuted with the good Seoba and have been on a roll so far so why is it difficult to reach a dead end ㅇㅈㄹㅋㅋ

You must be experiencing the pain of creation without knowing it~

However the opinion that surfaced through the detour of 'Am I the only one who thinks this way?' did not receive much attention.

Because people instinctively felt it.

This is an opinion that there is no need to come up with logic to respond to.

'hmm… '

'Antinga?'

It is said that everyone had an intuition that not many people would sympathize with such words anyway.

'The public opinion has become that this trailer was well made.'

Park Moon-dae analyzed quickly.

Kim Rae-bin seemed to be pouring out a very personal story but exquisitely adjusted the video and lyrics to end it as a metaphor for the new album.

And it gained popularity through visual beauty and melody.

'Actually regardless of the lyrics as long as the song is good I'll listen to it.'

Popularity lies in the melody.

So Kim Rae-bin's lyrics were not difficult enough to affect popularity. Rather it gave me something to talk about.

To sum it up it was good to talk about it.

It was attractive.

– Interpretation of Testa Overture lyrics

-Rabbit Hole Lyrics Interpretation

Related search terms that have already appeared support this fact. Park Moon-dae chuckled.

'It's interpretation.'

However among testers only Kim Rae-bin the person who created the song truly knows the meaning behind these lyrics.

'We've only guessed until now.'

He remembered how one morning after talking with Ryu Cheong-woo while he was quietly returning to his room he suddenly saw Kim Rae-bin sitting at his desk and was scared.

-Ravin.

-Brother my memory has returned.

The guy who was staring at the laptop with bloodshot eyes said that and fell into the composition program again.

At that time Park Mun-dae of the world was also a little embarrassed.

He watched the scene in some bewilderment but did not interfere.

[Maestro (S)]

What you need is a small opportunity.

Creation speed +150% when inspired

This was because it was confirmed that Kim Rae-bin's characteristics were activated.

'That guy must have heard us.'

Park Moon-dae was worried that it might have been a trigger and brought back bad memories but he didn't ask about that either.

'Wait until it stabilizes.'

Only a few days later when Kim Rae-bin came with a tentatively completed song he and the other members sincerely gave him proper feedback.

-thank you.

Raebin Kim calmly absorbed all the feedback without making a fuss.

After that he devoted all his time to requesting the song and trailer video and was able to complete the trailer faster than Park Moon-dae expected.

And today the trailer was finally released.

"Ravin your reaction is really good…!"

"Ravin you worked hard~ Congratulations!"

"I have something to tell you."

“…?? oh. okay.”

Kim Rae-bin stood in front of the members with wide eyes as if she had finally made up her mind.

Chapter 527

The morning of the day the teaser was released.

Kim Rae-bin gathered the members in the living room and stood solemnly in front of them as if preparing for a holiday.

Park Mun-dae glanced at the boy feeling like he was a parent or family member receiving his school report card.

‘What a mess.’

Kim Rae-bin looked tired as she had not been able to sleep properly for the past few weeks.

Park Mun-dae opened his mouth indifferently.

“…Let’s sleep first and talk.”

“It’s okay if you offered it out of consideration for me. “Let me start with what I have to say.”

Raebin Kim answered very firmly then closed his eyes tightly and shouted.

“First of all I’m sorry.”

“…??”

‘Are you saying you’re sorry for making the trailer so well and appearing alone?’

‘…You’ve been able to make things like this for so long but you’re sorry for hiding your skills?’

Absurd interpretations passed through the members' minds but at the same time they all discarded them.

And Kim Rae-bin slowly explained to the members who decided to smile kindly.

"This teaser reflects a lot of my personal impressions."

embrace.

"However this teaser is a representative work introducing Testa's new album. "It was not my personal work."

The members realized what Raebin Kim was trying to say.

-It's our album but I'm sorry for including my own story!

"We created a connection with the album. However I was unable to systematically report what symbols and metaphors were used in the process of creating the work."

Raebin Kim swallowed his saliva and spoke firmly.

"I thought I should apologize for that…"

And he bowed his head slightly.

Before there was even a short silence words came rushing in.

"Kim Rae-bin are you stupid? "Sit down quickly!"

"…?!"

When I came to my senses I found myself sitting on the living room rug with my back against the sofa.

"Ravin thought too much~"

“I know. “After making it well.”

A warm pat followed without criticism. Kim Rae-bin reflexively accepted the honey tea offered by Bae Se-jin with a blunt expression.

The person sitting on the sofa slowly patted his back.

It was Park Moon-dae.

“Even without you explaining it in detail I can tell that the teaser and the album are well connected. Because it’s an album we made together.”

He continued speaking calmly.

“From the beginning we monitored and provided feedback on the progress of the continuity you created. “You know right?”

“…yes.”

“okay. Then don’t feel bad about going ahead with the confirmation.”

He seemed a little conflicted and added:

“…The number of views has been good so enjoy it.”

Park Mun-dae was smiling faintly as he said those words.

Raebin Kim nodded holding back his eyes from turning red.

“yes.”

But there was a secret.

In fact he vaguely expected and predicted that the members would react like this.

The fact that they are not team members to scold or criticize was a fact I learned through crying and laughing together over the past few years.

'I said it even though I knew.'

Because I wanted to get this reaction.

The flood of Steer's memories left an almost shocking mark and he was highly hypersensitive to situations that would trigger them.

To criticism and condemnation.

Raebin Kim needed a counterexample in order to break the chain of finding justification for criticism and coming up with logic no matter what he did.

We wanted to make sure that that doesn't happen in reality.

"great job. "Good job Ravin."

And the attempt turned out to be so successful that Raebin Kim was finally able to free himself from the premonition that had been holding him back for the past few weeks.

My eyes were hot and my heart felt light.

He squeezed the honey tea tightly.

"Ravin do you like the teaser…?"

"Honestly I think it would have been cool to see it in person from the person who made it~ How do you feel about it?"

"that…"

Now Raebin Kim was no longer worried but was able to purely accept the question think about it carefully and come up with an answer.

"…I was relieved. This is because I was able to organize the images I felt while embodying them.”

It was the impression I felt while making the teaser rather than the teaser itself.

He had already experienced numerous successes since his debut as Testa. So rationally he was able to refute his self-abuse during his Steer days by giving counterexamples one by one.

However during his time as Steer he could understand why he had accepted such malicious and sophistical logic.

So heartbreaking.

Because they were the same person.

“It’s embarrassing but… actually this teaser song was released to console myself.”

The surroundings became slightly quiet.

Raebin Kim slightly lowered his head.

“As this is not a story that has been revealed to the public I thought it might cause problems with its popularity as it is somewhat ambiguous and could be interpreted in many ways…”

“Nope!”

The closing phrase ‘I tried to complement it as much as possible’ was cut out.

“You idiot it’s fun because there are different interpretations! So it was cool. [That teaser was literally cool!]”

Kim Rae-bin looked at Cha Yu-jin with a dumbfounded expression.

How can you not feel bad after being called an idiot by Cha Yu-jin?

and…

‘Are you serious?’

It’s more fun because there’s no clear answer to what I’m trying to say?

Park Mun-dae continued as if answering that thought and supplementing Cha Yu-jin’s words.

“okay. “Because each person would interpret and understand it according to what they know and what they experienced.”

Park Moon-dae who consciously swallowed the remark that it would have been a good viral hit nodded.

“…and millions of people saw the teaser. “There are definitely some people who understood the teaser exactly as you thought.”

Those words resonated somewhere.

Kim Rae-bin naturally imagined the scene briefly.

Someone who suffers from blame and criticism.

The scene where the person stumbles upon the teaser he created discovers the hidden story and feels empathy and comfort.

The scene where I thought this was my story.

He soon nodded a little choked up.

“yes…”

It was a feeling he would not have felt if he had gone to great lengths to reassemble his work so that the public could fully understand it.

Kim Rae-bin made a promise again.

-Reference it but don't be swayed by it.

I felt like my mind was clearer!

He answered firmly with a clear mind.

"thank you!"

"what."

Sejin Lee smiled and settled the situation.

"Now that our album has such a great trailer shall we have a toast?"

"Ugh I like it…!"

The members nodded and created an atmosphere by roughly pouring the drinks they wanted from cold water to Heotgaesu.

Bae Se-jin started talking about the 'Alice in Wonderland' and 'Alice in Wonderland' references she found in the teaser and Lee Se-jin introduced a WeTube video interpreted by a fan.

Raebin Kim took it all seriously but happily.

It was a routine like any other that I had experienced for several years.

'good night.'

In that gap Kim Rae-bin regained a deep sense of stability.

In the past few weeks he has succeeded in sublimating the overflowing pain into stimulating inspiration.

That stimulation gave me the opportunity to create but I couldn't produce creative work without resting in the constant stimulation. You will be exhausted and depleted before then.

A period of stability and recovery is also necessary for:

Raebin Kim has finally experienced such a mental break.

‘Thank you… ’

He let go of his emotions and finally smiled comfortably.

And then I fainted.

“…?! Ravin??”

“Oooooh Raebin Kim!”

The tension was relieved and the aftereffects of staying up all night were coming.

I guess you could say it was a happy faint.

“Oh…”

“Cha Yujin. Lift your legs. “Because I will lift my head.”

“Mundaemundae you should take a break too.”

Kim Rae-bin who immediately entered a state of deep sleep was taken to bed by the members who woke up in a hurry.

There were only 10 days left until the new album was released.

“…”

And at this point Park Moon-dae lifted one of Kim Rae-bin’s arms and made a decision.

* * *

Raebin Kim was immersed in peaceful unconsciousness.

I have vague dreams with warm good feelings. It would be nice to fall asleep like this and wake up after a long time but without even being verbalized the thought was ringing softly and pleasantly in my head…

A low voice sounded as if cold water had been poured.

“Are you awake?”

grandma!

Kim Rae-bin who unexpectedly opened his eyes and cried out for a guardian made eye contact with Park Moon-dae who had a sullen expression on his face.

The older brother who had an expression that seemed perfectly suited to the nickname Tibetan Fox nodded towards himself and stood up.

‘uh…?’

When I looked again I saw that the older brother was dressed in going out clothes with a wool fleece.

“Where are you going…?”

“uh. To the shop. “The promotional WeTube channel was set up.”

Come to think of it a comeback is just around the corner!

Raebin Kim finally came to his senses this time and hurriedly followed him to see him off.

‘When did I… fall asleep??’

It felt like my eyes were spinning!

However after getting ready in an instant the three older brothers standing at the entrance smiled and waved before leaving.

They are Park Moon-dae Sun Ah-hyun and Lee Se-jin.

They were three people of the same age who were good to talk about their relationship on TV.

“I’ll be back…!”

“I will promote the album properly~”

widely.

The front door closed cheerfully.

And Kim Rae-bin remained blankly at the entrance.

“…”

Who… should I ask about this situation?

It was then.

Tuk-tuk.

Someone tapped his shoulder. Raebin Kim quickly turned his head.

Bae Se-jin had a serious face.

“Well let’s eat.”

“yes…”

Kim Rae-bin who answered in an instant unconsciously followed him and headed to the table.

Surprisingly food was already prepared there.

‘Chicken soup… ’

A white soup dish was served on a plate.

And there was only one person on this team who made this.

‘Cha Yujin!’

That’s right.

However this time instead of adding red pepper paste and making it like fried chicken Cha Yu-jin made a traditional soup using her mother’s recipe.

“Bon appétit.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders and sat down at the table spitting out an idiom equivalent to ‘I’ll eat well.’ Kim Rae-bin forgot to ask questions due to the naturalness of it and took a spoonful of soup to her mouth.

Something is more familiar than before…

‘ah.’

Raebin Kim realized something.

It was a taste I sometimes ate when I was a steer.

‘Come to think of it Cha Yu-jin often cooked at that time… ’

Unlike now where we have a company that takes care of people and has members who are good at cooking back then we would order delivery or take turns cooking occasionally.

Kim Rae-bin unconsciously looked around and realized a vague memory that suddenly came to mind.

Only the members who were with us during the steer were sitting at this table.

Coincidentally.

“it is delicious? “Do you remember what you ate before?”

Cha Yu-jin even asked that out loud.

A brief moment of silence passed by.

And Bae Se-jin carefully opened his mouth first.

“…I don’t remember ever eating it. No I… I tried what you made last time when you lost your memory.”

“I guess so. “Yujin started cooking a full year after her debut.”

After you withdraw.

Liu Qingyu didn’t necessarily add that word but everyone understood the implied meaning.

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders and opened her mouth.

“Oh… I have a lot of memories of you. “Then do you remember that you threw away my cooking without eating it?”

I don’t think that’s something to say in a light tone!

Even Kim Rae-bin thought about it but couldn’t bring himself to say it because the atmosphere reminded him of the Steer era.

Back then I could never talk back at the dinner table!

“Don’t you remember? “Christmas Eve.”

“…”

Liu Chengwu did not answer for a moment.

He hesitated as if he was in conflict within himself but soon answered calmly.

“It wasn’t me who threw it away.”

“What?!”

“It would have been Min Jeong-hoon.”

Liu Chengwu gave one specific name. He was a member of Mo Steer who had been rumored to be dating.

Cha Yu-jin almost hit the table with her spoon.

“Holy sh… Then why didn’t you tell me it was a misunderstanding?”

“There’s no need for that.”

Liu Chengyu seemed to be conflicted about whether to speak again or not but he soon responded in a fairly indifferent tone.

“I thought you guys would fight so I decided to do what I did. I thought it would be easier to control that way. “Because you heard me.”

“…”

Soon Cha Yu-jin sighed softly.

“OK. [Typical “steer leader” behavior. It was my fault for asking.]”

Cha Yu-jin responded quite cynically but even a person who does not know English could tell from her tone that there was no malicious intent.

So there was no tension. Instead the conversation ended with Liu Chengwu smiling faintly.

A slightly embarrassing yet gentle atmosphere passed by as if the misunderstanding had been resolved and the two people would be reconciled.

And then the silent spooning continued again.

‘hmm.’

Raebin Kim had an unexpected feeling.

They are sitting around talking about uncomfortable times in the long past.

Actually it wouldn’t be strange if it was uncomfortable but I felt a little nostalgic about this atmosphere.

‘Why?’

The reason was simple.

Even in very difficult and difficult times when there is a good ending there is bound to be something to look back on and reminisce about.

Especially if there are people who have endured that time together.

“How much pepper did you sprinkle?”

“You can eat it unless you are sick. “This is right!”

They finished their soup in silence.

In this way I organized the past that I once forgot and then remembered.

We are ready to go again.

* * *

Same time.

After successfully filming a promotional mukbang entertainment show on WeTube Park Moon-dae received a text message.

It was very unexpected news.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I'll see you again within three days junior. If possible see it in person.

Even though he was thinking things like 'You crazy guy I'm making a comeback' Park Moon-dae was still conscious of the surroundings of the filming location and was planning to send a polite and nonsensical text message.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Because I'm enlisting in four days^^

"…??…!!"

VTIC. There are four days left until the enlistment of all members including leader Cheongryeo.

Chapter 528

"…"

I grabbed my smartphone and read it again.

-D-4 until VTIC Cheongryeo enlistment (Breaking News)

News that I was not curious about at all is now breaking news.

No matter how much I think about it it seems clear that the bastard sent me a text message saying he was going to the military on purpose to coincide with the public announcement.

I pressed my eyebrows and barely suppressed my frown.

It's still a filming location. Let's not give the officials interesting stories like 'Testa Park Moon-dae saw the news about the VTIC military and ordered them to come check it.'

However the guy I had been with for several years seemed to have read something on my face.

Big Sejin deliberately made a fuss and hit my shoulder. Stop it…

"What is it?"

"VTIC Cheongnyeo… I heard that even your senior is going to the military."

"Oh~"

Big Se-jin who made a meaningless exclamation smiled bitterly.

"I hope you had a good trip~"

His tone of voice is sociable but his face says ‘I hope you turn it off quickly.’

And I realized that this wasn’t really surprising news.

‘yes. ‘Because it’s November now.’

I had even heard that VTIC planned to all be discharged together so it was funny to be surprised by the obvious enlistment date.

I had already calculated it since last year but there were so many events that I forgot about it for a while.

“Then VTIC seniors… I think the fans will be very disappointed because there are no activities at all…”

“That could be possible.”

Sun Ah-hyun probably said this not because she was conscious of her surroundings but because she was truly worried.

But there is no need to worry about that either.

‘He must have already laid the grass for his own way.’

Cheongryeo has already decided on a comeback song for the entire group. Maybe someone like Jin Chae-yul even received a dance video from the military.

Before that let’s think about using their entire hiatus to attract fans. The only thing that matters is if the test goes well.

And perhaps VTIC fans had guessed everything from the beginning the reaction wasn’t that harsh.

It did come out like this.

-Jaehyun you said something about going to the military four days ago.

-Is it possible to see our kids perform in the military as a whole? Haha I'm excited (Actually I'm not excited just pass by)

-Why is 17-year-old Shin Jae-hyun going to the military?

"…"

I wonder if the last part is sincere but anyway.

"But don't you think it would be really cool to be discharged at the same time?"

"I know. "I hope you have a good trip."

"Ugh…!"

We ended our conversation warmly like this.

On set.

"Mundaemun University! "I'm talking about the story earlier."

As soon as we got into the car and the door closed Big Sejin immediately brought up the topic again.

"After being discharged from the military in 6 months I will make a comeback right away… no it will be about 7 months because I have hair problems. So a comeback in June next year?"

"maybe."

The guy's expression hardened slightly.

"We should avoid it then and make a plan for next year."

I agree. First of all we need to secure the Cultural Merit so that we can postpone our enlistment before we can come up with a proper plan.

“Whew it’s not easy to make something like this ourselves right?”

“Yeah but it’s better than not being able to squeeze it.”

The guy grinned as if he was saying something obvious.

This is because we do not have this luxury compared to the T1 days when we had to go ahead with the crazy idea of releasing a rookie debut album at the same time as VTIC’s comeback.

It was around that time that Sun Ah-hyeon cautiously intervened.

“I… are you talking about that VTIC senior?”

“huh? Ah that’s right! I’m thinking about the timing because I think you’ll make a comeback next year. “It’s the end of the year and we need to make plans for next year.”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded her head vigorously with a serious face.

“I think spring will be fine too. “I thought it would be a good idea to make an album that would bring out the sense of the season…”

“Oh that’s good too?”

And then we started excitedly thinking about the next album. Well it was a good thing to have a lot of ideas and be proactive. The more heads there are the more candidates there are.

It seemed like a peaceful time passed for a while and it seemed like Big Sejin naturally came up with a question during the conversation.

“Wait a minute did that senior contact you directly?”

It seems quite absurd considering what I read in an article.

“uh.”

“No why?”

“I don’t know.”

Big Se-jin made a puzzled expression but I really don’t know.

It would have been better if they had called me two weeks before but why bother calling someone who is busy four days before admission?

‘Is this a plot to hinder a comeback?’

Honestly it’s not easy that I can make time within three days. I have a schedule that lasts until past midnight.

‘Besides the moment you hear about an eyewitness it hurts.’

-Before Gommer’s comeback they made friends haha. I’m really mad.

-I should have a drink with the monk who lives in the military. Hehehe he’s such a great bastard that friendship is more important even if he’s a rival group that puts his fans through a lot of trouble.

Once you return the expected answer sheet you will find the answer. Of course a phone call would suffice.

The moment when I was thinking about how to convey ‘Are you crazy or call me?’ in a short and polite way.

[brother! I had a great idea!]

“…?”

Big Moon intervened.

He must have seen the text message earlier because he said he wanted to watch the entertainment being filmed in real time and shared his view.

however…

‘wrinkle?’

What kind of idea is this?

[Ah if you promise me you will never access the system!]

And I found out what Big Moon's 'good idea' was.

* * *

"…So you came like that?"

A Korean restaurant in Yeouido.

I lifted the glass cup. Park Moon-dae's hands were seen to have more calluses than his hands.

It's Ryu Geon-woo's hand.

That's right. Keudal's suggestion was 'Change your body for 1 hour'.

In the last case the guy realized that there was no risk in changing his body and willingly did so.

-I don't have any plans for dinner this week so you can talk comfortably!

-uh. thanks. But then you would have to do a Testa photo shoot at that time.

-Huh fishing.

Of course it's a joke.

The evening two days after receiving the call from Cheongryeo. I was able to save approximately 1 hour from the travel and massage time so I used this time.

Well I guess a massage isn't a bad experience. But in any case it cannot be denied that Geoldal was considerate of this side.

‘I owe you something.’

Let’s settle it properly this time too. I put the cup back on the table roughly calculating the amount.

This is not the outdoor cafe I met with Cheongryeo a few times in the past but a room-style Korean multi-course restaurant.

However there is a peculiarity.

“month!”

This is a house where dogs are allowed.

‘You brought the dog again… ’

After confirming that the large dog lying on the floor with a happy expression was being held in a harness I looked at the guy holding the leash.

Cheongnyeo.

The guy who came dressed in colorless civilian clothes didn’t burst into laughter even after hearing a rough explanation of why I looked like Ryu Geon-woo.

Instead I reacted like this.

“If you keep changing your body you’ll start taking it for granted.”

“…”

“Considering what’s happened so far it doesn’t seem like a good idea does it?”

I shrugged.

“It’s not something you just use blindly.”

“hmm?”

What if I get dragged into this system again? Of course I thought about it.

I wouldn’t have done that unless I was quite an idiot.

“I use the frequency according to the pattern.”

This is not a ‘special’ system that was used today only for this purpose.

To begin with I am using the system regularly once every three days.

“This system seems to be trying to create a situation in which I use myself often but it uses it at the same intervals every time so that I can’t rank ‘how often I use it.’”

Since it was purposely focused on useless features there is no chance of me being impressed by its performance.

‘And then when it’s really needed like this… I change it once in a while like this.’

In this case it is impossible to determine which ones were used because they were truly necessary so only the regular pattern of using them once every three days is recorded in the system.

In short it is data deception.

The guy sitting across from me raised the corner of his mouth.

“indeed. “This is the way my junior would think.”

Is this an insult?

I opened my mouth feeling my eyebrows twitch.

“What method were you thinking of?”

“I have to throw it away. “Don’t use it.”

“…”

Well… that’s the established theory.

To be honest it’s such a moderate choice that it’s hard to believe it came from that guy’s mouth.

But if I get rid of the company system now you will be the one who will lose the most.

‘If I don’t absorb the system fragments from you I know what will happen if the mission fails.’

When I think about it that way it seems like this doesn’t make sense. After disposing of the fragments I will use that as an excuse to extract information from this guy.

‘Once you’ve made a profit you’ll have no choice but to spit out something.’

Of course it would be funny to explain every detail now so I just said this.

“I have some circumstances. Anyway… why did you call me to meet you?”

Let’s get to the point quickly.

It’s very busy right now. There won’t be any bullshit like ‘I want to at least see your face before I go to the dark training camp.’

Cheongryeo opened his mouth as if he was a little disappointed.

“At least once before enlisting…”

“Don’t talk bullshit.”

“haha!”

Yes I thought so.

“Well I wasn’t lying. Of course there are other reasons as well.”

Cheongryeo smiled and said this.

“Beans.”

“…”

I looked down and saw the furry cat still lying on the floor with its belly down.

Hey no way…

“Are you asking me to look after you while you’re in?”

“yes.”

Are you sane?

Since we can’t even take care of Munggei at our dorm right now how can we raise someone else’s dog when it was adopted by Bae Se-jin’s mother?

‘for a moment.’

I immediately tried to retort but then realized that this pattern was quite familiar.

‘This is the pattern he uses to make people mad.’

“Of course I plan to leave it to a professional company. “You didn’t understand that I was asking you to take care of me at your junior’s dorm right?”

also.

'If only that had a long tongue.'

I sighed and took a sip of porridge.

"My parents."

"Mother… well let me tell you I'm not in a position to take charge of a puppy. Because he is a very busy person. "I don't even like dogs."

I'm busy too you bastard.

But when I realized that this guy's mother was a person of national merit I kept my mouth shut. Cheongryeo laughed heartily.

Did you really aim for it on purpose?

"And things like this are best done by someone you like."

I?

"Your dog?"

"yes."

Then Cheongryeo untied the harness rope he was holding.

king!

A fierce yellow furry animal rushes towards us.

'what.'

I think this person likes humans too much. I answered while roughly stroking my head.

"I guess your dog likes people."

“It’s okay to think that way.”

Funny guy.

Cheongryeo closed his mouth for a moment. He then turned his attention to his dog.

There was no change in his expression but he seemed to be struggling a bit which was unusual.

He had a pretty serious face.

“I don’t have anyone I can entrust with this kind of work. “I don’t trust the character of the person I hired.”

“…”

Come to think of it this guy was hospitalized because the housekeeper didn’t clean up the grape skins.

‘Well if multiple people cross-check the probability of problems occurring goes down.’

And since everyone in his network who knows the situation has already enlisted I understand why the offer came to me.

“All you have to do is visit once or twice a week and check on the condition. “It’s simple right?”

hmm.

“If the time is right… it would be better if you stay with Kong.”

“…”

Oh damn.

I sighed.

“I can’t guarantee.”

“…!”

“If it’s still good…”

“great.”

no.

“I can’t guarantee.”

“Haha junior what about your personality?”

“…”

“It means that you are a person who carries out a task responsibly. Um… thank you.”

Surprisingly Cheongryeo seemed quite sincere.

‘…after.’

In any case in order to recover the system fragments I will have to visit him at least once while he is serving. If you do this for a reason it will feel more natural.

In the end I decided to check on this damn dog once in a while.

Of course you can’t do it with bare mouth.

Let’s just listen to this much.

“When exactly is your comeback next year?”

“Well of course you can guess it without me having to say it.”

Well I thought I wouldn’t tell you the exact date considering the risk.

But even if you just listen to this much you can get a rough idea of the angle.

‘It’s a meaningful date for VTIC in June.’

I quickly identified a few dates and nodded.

“If you want to make a comeback at the same time I won’t stop you.”

Are you crazy?

“uh. you also.”

“haha.”

I sent the dog back to him and tried to pick up the chopsticks again.

At that time a defiant compliment was heard from across the table.

“Have a good comeback this time.”

“okay.”

It will happen even if you don’t say anything.

I shook hands with Cheongnyeo who extended her hand.

“But are you a military band?”

“no. “I have a language disorder.”

“…”

“Consistency is the most important thing in learning a foreign language and it was an environment where I could do so consistently.”

What a toxic bastard.

A few days later.

-ㅠㅠJaehyun passed away quietly… I'll just stick with it for 6 months.

-Shin Jae-hyun why are you a language student instead of a military band? How good are you at speaking foreign languages?

Global K-pop leader Jjambap Rae

Cheongryeo enlisted as scheduled and was given half a year until the VTIC group comeback.

half a year.

'We need to change the game so that we can receive a cultural medal.'

In that sense the goal of this comeback was clear. I turned off my smartphone and stood up.

And Testa began an aggressive comeback promotion.

Chapter 529

Park Moon-dae's body returns.

"Testa of course it will work out this time too! "I will support you too~"

"thank you."

I'm sitting in the shop I've been going to since Testa was in T1. As I was getting my hair color checked for the last time by the manager whom I had seen for a long time congratulations on my comeback came as a bonus.

And even a subtle compliment disguised as a good word.

"Where are you coming from this time? "Is there a stomach tube for eating?"

"If the company can catch me."

"Oh right it's important whether the company sets a schedule right?"

It looks like you won't be able to find out so you change your mind.

I laughed to myself.

"Promotion has become so important again right?"

"Of course."

So we also paid close attention.

-I hope you promote this comeback a little more aggressively.

I reviewed my plan recalling our conversation a few weeks ago.

When you think of ‘idol’s aggressive comeback promotion’ what method comes to mind?

A huge promotion worth hundreds of millions of dollars by investing a lot of capital?

Or do they want to impress the public with the news of Testa’s comeback by appearing on all kinds of entertainment?

‘Both statements are not wrong.’

However neither of these applies to the current Testa.

There is nothing unusual about promotions that involve spending money as they are already a common occurrence and there is no need to appear on entertainment shows without worrying about risk as it accelerates the consumption of the image.

This was also a common characteristic of first-tier idols who were well established in Korea.

So what is the ‘aggressive comeback promotion’ that Testa is pushing now?

-Let’s go dangerous not safe.

It means being willing to take on controversy and risk.

It means to act more openly toward the goal.

‘And now the goal is the Cultural Merit.’

okay. I will speak frankly.

Who should you aim to impress in order to receive a cultural medal?

‘They are high-ranking people.’

Political circles.

However Testa's global status especially in Western countries where its superiors like it is not significant.

It cannot even be compared to VTIC the previous recipient of the Order of Cultural Merit.

'Thanks to those guys the bar has been raised significantly.'

At most Testa has only fragmentary recognition gained through a cameo appearance in Limestone's movie and a game collaboration Netplus drama.

'It's not all our albums or music but other content.'

This means that this flash of topicality has little to do with the group's popularity.

There are probably an overwhelming majority of people who enjoyed that content who don't know about Testa.

However to put it conversely it also meant that Testa had not yet developed a representative global image.

'It means you can make a plan and aim.'

Just as latecomers in the game look at the strategy and devise the most efficient route testers can also aim for the image they want.

And Testa is a group that has already successfully completed this strategy once in Korea.

Since there are strands that have already been done this means that you have a base rather than starting from the bottom.

'If only I could pull these fragmented perceptions together and connect them into one lump.'

Then from then on you can consume Testa's content that has been steadily accumulated over the past few years.

Things that have already been proven to be fun.

"That's where it settles in."

That was the goal that Testa had to achieve through this activity.

'First things first.'

[Testa's first nomination at the 'American Music Awards']

After finishing all the hair care.

I chuckled while reading an article that was already out of date.

Well then let's put this to good use first.

* * *

American Music Awards. Also known as AMA.

It was one of the three major music awards ceremonies in the United States.

-Testa AMA nominated ㅊㅋㅊㅋ

-Oh good

However the article that Park Moon-dae saw did not cause much of a stir at the time of publication.

-There are three Nomi teams this year right? K-pop becomes more popular~

-ㅋㅋㅋ This is an award given to K-pop people to eat separately and eat separately. Do you like this? What will the sadaeju do?

Where did he get beaten up?

This is because the ‘American Music Awards’ originally had a new KPOP category. Some people sarcastically called this ‘treating it as their own league’.

Moreover it is no longer uncommon for KPOP singers to be nominated for awards at global awards.

-I won’t give it to you unless it’s a Grammy.

-Stop making a fuss about the Top Social section because there are only one or two awards ceremonies.

Since they are KPOP singers with high album sales and social media mentions three or four teams tend to have their names listed at various famous award ceremonies every year.

This is because it is impossible to miss out on a profitable stock in the United States the headquarters of capitalism.

Even though it was not an important award it was mentioned at least once and made good use of the buzz in the KPOP fandom.

So KPOP die-hard listeners were almost upset by this situation.

-ㄹㅇ There are not just one or two teams nominated but it has no meaning unless they win an award for best group or something.

ㄴㅇㅈㅋㅋㅋ

-Testa is a bit weak overseas right? Still maintaining class in Japan?

I think I will be defeated by Eter as well.

It turned into an aggro but it’s still ㅅㅌㅊ

The news of this nomination was also expected to be a bland topic that would only increase in the amount of mentions as Testa fans reacted like that.

-Could it be possible for you to appear as a performer?

What kind of AMA is this AMA that came out after kicking T-One? Come to your senses haha.

Is it possible that Testa can make a huge comeback at this awards ceremony? Most had never even considered it.

This is because there was no reason to choose Testa as a performer in all aspects including local recognition company weight class and connections.

Moreover there have been few KPOP idol groups that have succeeded in gaining local fame as performers.

Except for the first one.

-Except for V-Tick there is no group that went viral with an AMA performance. This ranks them in order. ㅇㅈ?

-ㅋㅋV-Tik I wonder if the state would have defended itself against the risk of military service for no reason?

-Ah haha the one-year gap in Cheonjoguk is not a gap period. Everyone is waiting for you.

VTIC is at the beginning of its heyday having built a solid global fan base.

In the years since there have been very few KPOP groups that have made notable gains as performers at overseas award ceremonies.

-Even if you do it if you don't get a good response it's a bad tech moment.

Aren't you good at the testa stage?

Yes even so K-pop is a minor~ Damn subculture haha.

The commenter's tone of voice is not sophisticated but the direction is roughly correct. K-pop is still minor in America.

However it also means that it is a market with the potential to grow entertainment companies' profits dozens of times more in the future.

Have you come here?

And in order to go viral you not only have to perform well on stage but also have a good local response which was a very difficult task as the sentiments were different.

Just for that day even the song costume and choreography had to match that sentiment.

At the same time they maintain an exquisite balance so that existing KPOP fans are not disappointed.

-Look forward to seeing what game Testa will come up with this time. It's realistic haha.

This was the common conclusion of those who were interested.

The same was true for this idol who received some inside information from his manager thanks to his agency being the same as Testa.

"Mi Minha! Senior Testa I heard you're appearing on AMA?"

Mirinae's main dancer Seong Ha-rin ran to the group's de facto leader in shock and got this answer.

"Uh… maybe."

"…?!"

affirmation!

Shocked Ha-rin Seong thought that Testa was definitely targeting the U.S. before gritting her teeth.

‘By what means?’

You haven’t signed with a major American record label and the company isn’t crazy rich right?

After all wasn’t Testa’s last album a huge hit in the US?

I wanted to ask that question repeatedly but Seong Ha-rin held back.

This is because the face of leader Park Min-ha standing in front looked almost liberated.

“Heh heh heh… well actually I… I don’t know. And because it’s confidential.”

“Ah ah! Of course I’ll be careful!”

“huh.”

Park Min-ha nodded as if she believed it of course.

And added:

“And let’s not mention it to Yulgi…”

“…huh.”

A solemn feeling passed between the two for a moment.

＜Azusa＞ Final ranking #1 is Mirinae’s true face madam Jeong Yul-gi.

‘She’s a good sister but… ’

The person… was so bright. I was worried that I might be misunderstood.

Thanks to my unique character I haven't been criticized too much yet but I was nervous that might happen.

'…Now that I think about it there is a similar senior at Testa.'

Seong Harin recalled an idol whose signature red hair was her signature.

Cha Yujin!

I almost wanted to ask the senior for advice on how he managed to make his character appealing while avoiding controversy for several years.

A few rumors and problems that arose were handled well with the right timing.

As expected the idol who won the grand prize is different…

'…no. They say Yulgi is a more pure and good person!'

Mirinae Seong Ha-rin quickly escaped Testa idolization!

Shaking her head she calmly analyzed the current situation again.

"So are those Testa seniors also looking to enter the U.S. market in earnest?"

"It felt that way at the company meeting."

Hmm.

Seong Harin rubbed his chin.

Mirinae at the beginning of its debut had a strong aim to advance into the U.S. due to the head of the division suffering from American disease.

At that time I studied foreign languages hard and was able to speak fluently but my group performance wasn't that good…

She thought a little sullenly.

'…As expected localization strategies are not good.'

Desperation can sometimes seem servile.

On the contrary it seems like she lost a lot of her domestic fans back then so Seong Harin feels a little bitter just thinking about her early days of debut.

'Since they are popular singers in our country it would be good if they maintain that position and advance… '

Seong Harin had complicated feelings but soon sighed.

Anyway… I really hope that Senior Testa's current attempt will go well.

Because we are in the same boat.

Shouldn't the investment come back to Mirinae only if the company has enough extra money?

'But please don't bring strange winds to the company… '

Seong Ha-rin did not want to let his precious Mirinae go back to the United States!

"…I hope everything goes well."

"yes."

That's how the conversation between the two people ended.

Although she sometimes suffered from anxiety she worked hard on her schedule and watched Testa's comeback preview content with an eagle eye.

Meanwhile.

[This year's AMA cast members]

'at las!'

Seong Ha-rin finally found the news she had been waiting for and clicked on it swallowing her saliva.

And I was embarrassed.

"Huh?"

Testa's name was not found among the announced performers!

No there were no KPOP singers in the first place.

'What is coming out?'

However at least there is not a single article related to it.

'Was it just a rumor? Or maybe they would have reviewed it and canceled it too.'

Seong Harin thought about that and turned off the screen.

But after some time.

Here Park Moon-dae attended the American Music Awards ceremony to perform.

"…"

He checked his outfit.

Wearing a white cotton T-shirt and jeans accessories around the face were kept to a minimum.

This means that it is not a stage outfit that an idol who has just made a comeback would choose.

But Park Moon-dae was satisfied.

‘good.’

This is because he was not standing here to perform Testa’s comeback stage in the first place.

This was the result of choice and focus.

‘All I want is impact!’

We will attract as much aggro as possible under realistic conditions.

The stage was chosen based on that.

-Generally speaking just promoting our album as a masterpiece doesn’t work.

So he decided to cover someone else’s song at this awards ceremony.

A tribute stage to a famous old singer.

It’s not even something you do alone. It was a composition where several people divided into parts and sang one song in succession.

In fact it is the level of poor treatment of ‘inviting’ someone you don’t even know.

What is Park Moon-dae’s attitude toward him?

‘Rather good.’

It was willingness.

‘It’s the perfect condition.’

If you don’t have local recognition you can borrow that recognition by using someone else’s famous song.

and.

‘Stats don’t betray you.’

[Singing: S+]

If several people sing separately it is good because there is a group of candidates to compare.

Moon-Dae Park grinned and lifted the microphone.

The performance was starting.

Chapter 530

Backstage after the American Music Awards began.

“Whoa.”

The frontman of a certain band took a deep breath.

As a member of a local band he is scheduled to play a part in a group performance that will soon take place and this was almost his first time performing on such a large and major broadcast.

However he had firm belief in his own abilities.

‘I need to calm down. ‘That can happen.’

He repeated to himself trying to keep his eyes on his surroundings as leisurely as possible.

Then he recognized the boy who was waiting right next to him.

‘oh.’

The boy an Asian boy with black hair and an indifferent expression remained in his memory because he showed quite outstanding skills during the rehearsal.

The calm and powerful voice seemed to indicate what kind of singer that boy was.

So to relieve his tension he tapped the guy on the shoulder and spoke to him.

“Hey how are you feeling?”

“good.”

The person who answered briefly spoke in a calm tone.

However I was able to infer the tension he was feeling from the lack of a smile on his face and his not very sociable attitude.

‘Of course it is.’

The frontman was considerate of his opponents.

“You should know that there is no shame in being nervous before such a big stage.”

“Of course it is.”

The other person nodded calmly. And added:

“You don’t look nervous.”

“of course.”

The frontman felt better.

“This is a matter of experience. “I’ve stood in front of quite a few audiences…”

“It seems so.”

The boy nodded calmly and the frontman felt that this small talk was really relaxing him.

As if giving advice he shared some of the stages he had experienced and the boy seemed to be listening nodding his head slightly the whole time.

‘He’s a good guy.’

And to show that he is an unbiased person the frontman was willing to ask:

“So… where in this country do you tend to base your activities? “I’m from the South.”

“If I were to be specific it’s Callie.”

“Oh is that your hometown?”

“A member of my band is from San Diego.”

To be honest I was surprised.

‘People in that state don’t know the word serious do they?’

It was a thought full of stereotypes but the suspicion itself hit the nail on the head.

‘I guess he wasn’t born on the Pacific coast.’

In any case it is rude to talk about one’s hometown so the frontman ended the conversation there.

“Hey how about taking a picture?”

“okay.”

The boy responded surprisingly cheerfully and even took several selfies.

“I guess you have a lot of experience taking pictures with your fans?”

“Not a lot.”

“haha!”

The guy seemed quite sincere.

‘He’s got guts.’

That’s what the frontman concluded.

In fact the person he was calling a boy just thought ‘There’s no reason to have a long conversation with this bastard’ but a good thing is a good thing.

But no matter what the boy thought the frontman continued to have a pleasant conversation alone and eventually came to this topic.

“So do you like tacos? I mean I’m half Latino.”

It was a polite way of indirectly asking about the person’s lineage.

The other party responded kindly.

“I am Korean.”

The frontman reflexively thought of the Net Plus drama but fortunately musical topics that suited the current situation came to mind one after another.

“Oh do you listen to KPOP?”

The boy didn’t answer for a moment.

“Quite a lot.”

And I laughed for the first time.

He misunderstood frontman Park Moon-dae as a boy due to his styling and after answering that he followed the staff.

It was time to prepare for the stage.

* * *

Awards ceremony hall.

The host's clear voice filled the gorgeous venue.

[…So we will remember forever!]

It was the introductory comment on the tribute stage.

This stage was for an American rock band that was very popular in the 70s.

The vocalist of this band who was in the spotlight until the end of this year became a hot topic when he passed away and donated all his assets to society.

At the same time a tribute stage was planned for the deceased at this awards ceremony.

Among the band's hit songs a song with an extremely emotional and slow tempo was selected.

And based on an interview with the deceased vocalists from various rising bands especially rookies with strong local characteristics took over their parts.

Maximizing storytelling!

The purpose of the stage was to maximize emotion and sympathy so these rookies except for a few who came in through connections were truly outstanding.

And everyone thought this.

'This is the opportunity I've been waiting for.'

A rare opportunity that rarely comes back at American awards ceremonies where famous singers of today usually perform tribute stages.

This song which people all over the world have heard is not just a cover stage but is sung on a large broadcast as an official event!

The vocalists were all heated with passion and tenacity.

‘I have to prove my talent.’

The vocalists who all thought that way went on stage with strong hearts.

Uuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuu!

Wow!

On the stage where the lift device clattered there was more than enough stimulation.

Applause light MR and sound effects noisily shake the visual and auditory senses.

However of course without giving them time to adjust to this large stage the song started playing right away.

ridge.

Hot accompaniment starting with drum beats.

The vocalist who was standing on the stage set skillfully made the first hit even in that situation.

[Not everyone wants it

Memories of love]

The cool voice runs through the rhythm making incredible use of the rhythm to the point where it’s hard to believe it’s the first time on a big stage.

When the ad-lib was added to the interlude the audience erupted in applause.

‘Oh damn.’

The frontman who was chatting with Park Moon-dae almost chewed his teeth while waiting.

Because his turn was next.

‘now!’

He grabbed the microphone and sang while checking that the camera in front of him was lit.

[I wake up at dawn and see a damp bed.

It looks like a trace of raindrops

[It is salty like sea water]

A voice that is pleasant to listen to fills the verse.

[It seems like a wave crashed in

I can barely bear it]

‘I did it!’

The frontman who brought out the high notes with his own vibe finished his part in joy.

Then the camera lights turned off and the next person appeared on the electronic display.

[I spent the past days crying

Reminiscing about the good old days.

I don’t want to do that anymore]

Cheers erupted again at the rough rocker’s voice.

All the parts that followed were full of personality and the good vocalists showed their individual colors and shined.

Moreover because the parts were arranged with harmony in mind it was great even if you listened to them continuously.

‘How good did I do?’

I couldn’t guess.

The frontman quickly came to the conclusion that it would be better to expect the stage itself to become famous so he decided to just enjoy the moment.

As the tension subsided he recognized Inyoung who was on standby on the side stage next to him.

It was the boy I was talking to earlier.

The frontman remembered that the guy’s part was in the latter half of the song.

‘Is it around 2 minutes and 40 seconds?’

However I remembered that it wasn’t even the climax part but rather an ambiguous chorus before it.

‘Cheer up friend!’

Having already completed his part well he enjoyed this time by eliciting positive responses from the audience and when the time came he slightly turned his gaze to check on the boy.

And finally a singing voice is heard.

[Not everyone wants it

Memories of love]

Strong and clear voice.

And a pleasant singing style that resembles a gorgeous connecting sound and a dripping purr.

Sharp high notes.

‘uh?’

It was a singing style that was significantly different from the calm sound during rehearsal.

However the surprising reason is simply because the boy sang the song in a completely different way from the rehearsal.

It wasn’t just the technique and technique.

[The world says

They say love is best.

I’m not saying it’s wrong but

oh

I don’t want to remember]

On stage.

He came up from the side stage and was singing the same song as the original singer.

* * *

I'll be honest.

From the beginning I did not consider anything about blending harmoniously into this tribute stage and improving the overall quality.

'Isn't that the job of the stage planner?'

They didn't give me any authority from arrangement to part distribution so what did you expect?

And I'm sorry but I had no intention of keeping the planning intention of 'a stage where the voices of many unique local bands harmonize'.

There is no way that such an effective method could be left behind.

[oh!]

I looked at myself singing the song on the screen and also checked the number of comments underneath it.

[12721 comments]

Just one hour.

This means that there were so many people speaking out in a short period of time less than an hour after the video was uploaded.

'Of course it's even worse when you think about the unofficial video going around on social media as soon as the stage was over.'

Overall there was no aggro prey like this.

Reproducing the original song by myself on the tribute stage.

-(2:46) Seriously what the fuck is this guy?

'I know.'

I smiled and tapped my smartphone.

But let me make this clear.

‘Simply imitating it doesn’t have the effect I want.’

As time passed singing methods also changed to suit trends.

Have you ever listened to a song you liked from about 10 years ago again for the first time in a very long time?

Well we’ve all probably had the experience of being surprised that the singer of this song sang it so awkwardly or because it was so unfamiliar.

This is because in my head I have already refined the vocals I heard in the past into a modern modern way.

‘I can’t make you feel that sense of disconnection by watching my performance.’

That actually has less impact.

I don’t want to be criticized for imitating your song but I want to be told that the original singer immediately came to mind when I heard your song.

‘The image people have of the original singer’s performance.’

A sentiment I felt back in the day.

My goal was to remind you of that.

So it was important to find a modern appropriately adjusted ‘singing method’ that would be in people’s minds.

‘It took a damn long time.’

-Nope.

-Noooope.

-Sing a little louder! More!

Let's take this opportunity to thank American Cha Yu-jin.

The fact that he gave an honest response from a local's perspective was very helpful. When I got rejected about 10 times I got a brilliant performance.

'Thanks to you I raised the level of completion as much as I could.'

It was a satisfactory result as my singing grade was above grade.

-Once again Park Moon-dae is good at singing and has a good mind.

-Wow I never imagined that I would come out here and tear it up haha.

-Can't the song be sung like this from now on? It's clearer to call it this way.

The domestic public response was also good. Because I also received the soup buff.

Of course the risk arose as expected.

-????Park Moon-dae why are you out there?

-If this crazy person comes out please let them know that it will come out. Ah the agency ㅠㅠㅠ No one would have been able to film the fancam right?

Starting with the fans' disappointing reactions.

-Am I the only one who doesn't like it? I didn't know that during their comeback they would come out in that way ignoring all of their group's colors.

Me too… I seem like a person who is anxious to stand out alone.

I really don't know why they chose that as their first schedule during their promotion period. They just appeared as a group on talk shows like usual.

Yes it's scheduled to come out. Stop meddling pretending to be a fan when you don't know anything.

Even this kind of aggressive reaction.

But it wasn't at a level that I couldn't handle. Well there are more than a few bastards who use Testa to get aggro.

'It worked out cheaply.'

Anyway it was going to be buried as the comeback activities progressed further.

In addition the company plans to release the fancam soon so the fans' disappointment was sufficiently alleviated.

There were enough legitimate reasons for fans to immediately think of why it was called that way without stressing about it.

'Because it's a tribute stage I said I sang it while remembering the original singer so what are you going to do?'

Isn't this just a cover stage?

Of course I can't stop people from having different opinions in the United States.

First of all let me point out my eligibility for application.

-KPOP is not a real band. He was chosen inappropriately.

-It's fake.

Oh please his band writes their own songs! What you think of as “factory manufactured” K-pop bands is an ignorant stereotype!

Next I would like to point out my performance itself.

It means there is no individuality.

-What exactly is his personality and KPOP style?

Fuck his song was fucking perfect! I don’t want that damn “K-pop-ness.” He was the only vocalist who knew how to properly respect the original song!

-It’s like Rosie comes to life… He’s such a great singer.

This is just an impersonation

He was just polite and humble – he recreated a legend like a legend idiot.

How do I feel about all this fuss?

‘Rather it is a welcome.’

It’s not that my skills or personality are being disparaged and I’m just thankful that the controversy over the performance itself increases the number of views on the performance.

I wish this debate on the pros and cons could continue for a little longer if possible.

‘good.’

I rubbed my chin.

And it wasn’t my intention but…

‘Other vocalists on this stage will also benefit from this.’

It is certain that thanks to the aggro aspect it became more of a hot topic than if it had proceeded as planned.

Moreover since I have a comparison group there were quite a few videos comparing how different other people tasted the song from the original.

-I think that Asian boy's part became the standard for this stage. Interesting.

-Rosie was a great vocalist but I like the third rocker better (laughing emoji)

Well it's not bad.

I shrugged remembering the guy who grabbed me before the stage and started talking nonsense.

'I posted a review on Inheart with all kinds of fuss.'

What about K-pop stars?

If possible it would be nice if you posted more pictures you took. Increase the buzz a little more.

With that in mind I began to search more for American reactions on the Internet.

Slowly the expected reactions began to appear one by one.

-Wait a minute are you that crazy alien band from the movie <Cosmic Gunner>?

at las.

'You're here.'

Testa's meme that briefly became a hot topic on the American Internet.

Oh my god that's right

This is really funny lol

In a way this is a group with a really strong local flavor (laughing emoticon)

That started to connect.

Of course if we left it here there was a high chance that it would fizzle out again instead of absorbing all the attention from Testa.

Like a few times in the past when I was satisfied with getting some traffic through a music video.

But this time I won't be satisfied with that.

I smiled and changed the page on my smartphone.

'Let's encourage it a little more.'

A little more fun.

I slowly began to write down a draft in English.

And at this point entertainment films filmed in Korea to promote the comeback also began to pour in.

[Who wants to hear late-night snack stories from people of the same age as Testa? | <Just have a drink and go> EP.26]

Chapter 531

“omg.”

This fan who has supported Park Moon-dae since he was a college student had an eventful year due to changing jobs.

And now we are being rewarded with overflowing Testa comeback content.

-Wow the kids’ group entertainment preview is out again ㅠㅠ

Just looking at the news on social media made my heart warm.

‘As expected the promotion period is the best… ’

Since ancient times when it comes to idols I have always thought that performing on stage is the best but the pouring out of entertainment previews this time gave me something new.

Wasn’t Testa also having an eventful year with his escape from T1?

‘T1 bastards shamelessly mobilize all of their affiliates to retaliate!’

Moreover due to the industry atmosphere being cautious of the big player T1 Testa was tacitly ignored as if it was not in the recruiting line even though it was not an affiliate.

‘But I guess that’s gone a long way now.’

They had a hard time with the last album’s T1 variety show being blocked but now the tense atmosphere seems to be easing.

‘We had a hard time at the university really… ’

For some reason my eyes felt sore.

‘I will grit my teeth and endure retaliation from large corporations and become independent and achieve further success… My idol… King God K-Pop Emperor Star… ’

It was a side effect of being deeply immersed in the group narrative.

And today she visited her graduate school friend’s studio apartment to catch and watch entertainment shows of people of the same age as Testa!

“It’s a performance it’s beer! “I took it out!”

“okay!”

The two sat in front of the TV looking excited as if they were about to watch a blockbuster movie!

The moment the countdown to the premiere ended.

[Just have a drink and go]

[(please)]

“Oooh.”

When the majestic logo appeared the two clapped hard.

The public’s demand for candid images of celebrities gradually developed and eventually reached its peak in the era of WeTube.

A bar!

Various programs where people drink sing eat and do interviews were a hit.

And speaking of this program… it was a program about cheating with alcohol.

[Seon Ah-hyun: Wow hello…!]

[Professional host: Kwaaaa!]

[Seon Ah-hyun:]

First after taking out a person's soul.

[Professional host: Today's drink.]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Seon Ah-hyun:…?!]

[Lee Se-jin: Hahaha.]

The magic is done by alcohol content and glass size.

[Park Moon-dae: You said one drink…]

[Professional host: It's just one drink right??]

Park Mun-dae was silent as he raised his glass.

It was pottery the size of an elephant's bowl.

[hahahahahahahahaha]

[Professional host: Our writer brought this…]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes… I will politely decline]

[Professional host: This is a cup that my mother baked herself. I brought it here because testers were coming… Do you not like it? The author is dissatisfied with his mother…]

[Park Moon-dae: Absolutely not.]

It's a skillful performance that makes you feel like you've heard from an instructor how to make an idol lose their idol!

[Professional host: I'll pour you a drink.]

[Park Moon-dae: (quietly)]

[Giggle Coral Qualk Coraqual]

[Park Moon-dae:]

-Playing with it

It was just as the real-time chat said.

'Oh my it's Mundae!'

Homma almost knocked over his beer glass while laughing.

On the screen Dong-Gapz looked mesmerized at the Andong Soju pouring out in front of him.

The first to come to his senses was Sejin Lee.

[Lee Se-jin: Host! Do you know what? This friend's nickname is Apple Rice Cake~]

[Professional host: Of course… I know!]

[Lee Se-jin: As expected the host is a pro! Oh on that note how about this drink with a picture of an apple? It looks good!]

[Professional host: Oh what's in the glass right now is not good? Not to your taste?]

[Lee Se-jin: Hey it would be nice to drink apples first~ That's right!]

Lee Se-jin was not caught.

however.

[Professional host: So you are now rejecting the traditional Korean soju made by a Korean master and choosing American apple cider…]

[Lee Se-jin: Sorry.]

[hahahahahahahahahaha]

Tallulah has no end!

People of the same age group continue to be teased mercilessly in this cycle.

[Professional host: Are you having fun?]

The wonderful snacks and the host's masterful skill in recommending drinks combine brilliantly so you can drink without any time to be nervous.

-I'm losing my soul.

-Tana Bom Soju in Park Moon Dae is really drinking it like soju.

Hahahahahahahahaha I can't speak just drink…

Do you guys use soju? I just think it's a sweet drink

Testa A lot of things have happened.

And after drinking a lot of alcohol while crying I got drunk and the mood started to relax.

From then on filming began in earnest.

[Professional host: Us! Chicken feet from the company that collaborated with <Doll Hunter>! I brought it as PPL.]

[Oh oh oh]

[Professional host: Yes. You have to eat Mundae.]

[Park Moon-dae: Me?]

-yep

-Yes you are

Lee Se-jin burst into laughter after seeing Park Moon-dae conduct the chicken feet PPL with the attitude of a skilled teaching assistant.

I shouldn't have done that.

[Professional presenter: Mr. Sejin said he could hang upside down on that Pilates equipment.]

[Lee Se-jin: Ah~ Yes yes. That's a movement where strength is more important than you think.]

[Professional host: I know how to do it too.]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes?]

[Professional host: I'll show you.]

The host suddenly hung on a pillar!

[Lee Se-jin:]

An alcoholic broadcast that leaves even Lee Se-jin speechless.

"Hahahaha!"

"Ugh huh huh huh!"

Park Moon-dae ended up holding chicken feet for the first time in a long time and Lee Se-jin suddenly ended up correcting the professional instructor's posture on Pilates equipment.

And the last one is Sun Ah-hyun.

[This person… drinks without saying anything…]

I was busy emptying my glass.

Every time the members got sick with Tallulah he drank it eagerly without any objection!

-He's an angel.

-Our Ahyeon lived without being scammed because she was a right-winger than a left-winger.

It even moved the heart of the professional presenter.

[Professional host: Mr. Ahyeon?]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Yes…!]

[Professional host: Isn't it difficult? Without snacks?]

[Sun Ah-hyeon: It's okay it's okay…!]

-I'm drunk.

-He's already gone.

[Feeling like a piece of trash…!]

[Professional host:]

[Professional host: It's okay! I'm trash!]

[Seon Ah-hyun:…??]

The host made up his mind!

And the questions that had been agreed upon in advance gradually followed.

What do you think about this comeback? Do you like the parts you each played?

An introduction to Sun Ah-hyun's wonderful handicrafts Lee Se-jin's famous entertainment scenes and why Park Moon-dae's painting skills are the way they are.

-Isn't the last one about attacking?

-Park Moon-dae why on earth did you come here lol?

It was for drinking.

And Park Moon-dae was no slouch either.

[Professional host: If you have been an idol for many years and have had a dark history like this cute charm was a little difficult even for me as a professional idol?]

[Park Moon-dae: I'm a puppy so it's okay.]

The shamelessness of not even changing the color of his face!

[Professional host: (at a loss for words)]

[Professional host: Haha… you are very shameless.]

[Park Moon-dae: Thank you.]

"Mundae has come to his senses."

"I know."

It was finally time for Park Moon-dae to show his courage and not be pushed aside by the host.

The professional host skillfully spoke informally with each other to make the atmosphere more comfortable and then brought up a drinking game.

As for what type it was…

[Professional host: I brought you a horror game guys.]

[Park Moon-dae: I'll go.]

[hahahahahahahahahaha]

Park Moon-dae who admitted through several public broadcasts that he was not very strong against ghosts decided to escape from the filming set.

[Professional host: I'm a professional host Your… Your professional idol! You have to broadcast like a professional!]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes.]

[Seon Ah-hyun: If I just play another game…]

[Professional host: No.]

[No]

"You're not watching."

"Oh it's so good."

Two fans of Park Moon-dae watched with joy as Park Moon-dae played a ghost story drinking game with the three strong hearts.

[Professional host: What this means is that we take turns telling ghost stories. Then for whatever reason I startled and flinch! If you do it you drink it.]

[Seon Ah-hyun: Yes…!]

[Professional host: Oh drink it even if no one flinches when you talk about it. I'm drinking it.]

[Seon Ah-hyun: (nervous)]

'oh.'

Homma saw the future at that moment.

And as expected chaos ensued.

-Kwolada

-This is a twist.

The ghost story told by a drunk person was a mess.

However Lee Se-jin deliberately tried not to be surprised but instead reacted appropriately and loudly and Park Moon-dae twitched his shoulders every time he did that so he drank the punishment.

After a few incredibly funny scenes.

[Professional host: Did you drink the entire drink?!]

[Astonishment]

In the end Park Mun-dae emptied the elephant's cup!

[Park Moon-dae: If you drink one more drink…]

[Professional host: Hey.]

[Professional host: We decided to just have one drink.]

However this broadcast also knew the extent.

[Professional host: If you really want to drink it please sign the contract for the next appearance and you can get alcohol for that day…]

No actually maybe he just wanted to annoy the cast…

[Lee Se-jin: Oh how about replacing that with our snack food? Mundae is also really good at cooking!]

[Professional host: Really? Please cook quickly!]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes…]

And without saying a word Park Moon-dae got up and started cooking diligently in the kitchen.

The intoxication seemed to have calmed the poison.

Sejin Lee eventually collapsed while holding back her laughter. The MC who was pretending to be calm next to him also collapsed.

And Sun Ah-hyun…

[Seon Ah-hyeon: (Oh… I think I flinched!)

[Sun Ah-hyun: (self-punishment)]

I drank alcohol.

-This guy is the craziest.

-Why on earth does Sun Ah-hyun drink so easily? Baby Bambi?

They say Bambi quits and becomes Elk.

Meanwhile Park Moon-dae carefully looked at the fire-free seasoned squid meal kit (which was provided considering he was drunk) and proceeded with cooking.

-He's humming.

-Happy light

For reference it was on the same day that Park Moon-dae roughly tore up the tribute stage at the AMA.

This means that there is a strong contrast with the triviality on screen.

-Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Not unusual

-No. 1 in survival is definitely different!

Still when Park Moon-dae finished cooking the food and sat down around the living room table we had a fairly honest conversation.

It was like sitting at an outdoor table at a convenience store while drunk and letting out all the thoughts in your heart.

[Park Moon-dae: Testa is…]

[Professional host: What about Testa?]

[Park Moon-dae: This is a really hard-working group.]

[Professional host: How much?]

[Park Moon-dae: I can't drink alcohol.]

[Professional host:…?]

-What are you talking about?

-What on earth is this related to?

-Is what you're drinking non-alcoholic?

The downside was that anyone could see that he was a drunk person.

Still if you put it in context it had a touching atmosphere in its own way.

[Lee Se-jin: Ah we try not to drink alone. Especially when you're having a hard time if you drink you may become dependent on it for no reason… right Ahyeon?]

[Seon Ah-hyun: Ugh. yes that's right! Because our goal is to stay healthy and work together for a long time…!]

[Professional host: That! This is an attitude that really needs to be respected.]

It would have been nice if it ended here.

[Park Moon-dae: I can't even eat a late-night snack.]

[Professional host:…?]

[Park Moon-dae: I can't eat with these people.]

[Professional presenter: (interpreting)]

[Professional host: So… those two don't eat late-night snacks?]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Park Moon-dae: Yes.]

The host nodded as if he understood.

Even if you're an idol you'll be disappointed if you don't eat a late-night snack together!

[Professional host: Oh that's a bit…]

[Park Moon-dae: Well done.]

[Professional host:]

[Park Moon-dae: It's a professional thing to do.]

yes?

[Seon Ah-hyun: Thank you Moon Dae-ya…!]

[Professional host: No they are just cozying up to each other…]

[edit]

– Hahahahahahahahaha

-Stream of Consciousness Professor Moon-Dae Park

-Seon Ah-hyun responds quickly.

Park Moon-dae blurted out words without context that he would never normally have and Seon Ah-hyun also actively participated in the conversation contrary to the cautious attitude she usually shows on broadcast.

And all of it was edited to give it a cute feel to suit the purpose of the program.

There was a strange pleasure in seeing these people who usually rarely show their sloppy side show their innocent side.

[Park Moon-dae: In fact we are now creating a similar Zaccon…]

[Lee Se-jin: Stop~~]

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-It's like a sword.

-No but wait a minute Testa what are you talking about?

Even its own content was passed over.

And then the moment of silence came as the cast sat down and sat down at the table.

It was time to finish.

On the table at the filming location which has already become a drinking party atmosphere.

[Park Moon-dae: Then let's go… let's go in.]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Thank you thank you…!]

Testa's age group staggered out of his seat and bowed politely.

The filming was quite heartwarming as the atmosphere was relaxed enough to keep me from frowning.

[Lee Se-jin: Thank you!]

however.

[Professional host: Mr. Sejin.]

[Lee Se-jin: Yes?]

[Professional host: Are you not drunk?]

Sejin Lee grinned.

[Lee Se-jin: How can you get drunk with just one drink?]

[!!!!]

Lee Se-jin took the two with her and left the filming set in a nice simple way. I left my greetings to the staff everywhere on time.

[Professional host:…??]

And the staff told the embarrassed host the truth.

[Sejin every time you drink you drink two or three times more water! Haha]

The edited version passed by on the screen.

There was a cut of Lee Se-jin continuously drinking water unnoticed.

The movements and timing are so natural that even the host doesn't notice!

Lee Se-jin succeeded in controlling the tempo of his drinking!

I escaped without being harassed that much…

[Professional host:…]

[Professional host: You lost!]

– Hahahahahahahahahahahahaha

[I will prepare Korean whiskey for Lee Se-jin. by professional host]

Next time he ends with a promise to make Lee Se-jin into a monster.

And just like that the bar ended.

"Aaaah!"

"It was really fun!"

The two people who were watching while drinking beer shouted sincerely and refreshingly.

The graduate student even asked Homma.

“Do other people like it too?”

“wait for a sec.”

And that was when Homma connected to the internet community to see the reaction to this appearance.

There was already a testa post in the popular posts at the top.

However the response to this entertainment show was not about the title song.

[Real-time honorary American netizen Testa]

It was a combination of words I had never wanted.

“…?”

Why… he’s not just an honorary American he’s a netizen?

She absentmindedly clicked on the text.

———————

As all of the memes made in Testa America were discovered there was confusion in the American community haha.

(capture)

A situation where K-pop idols are treated as the creators of Gapbun memes.jpg

———————

‘…ah!’

Even the alien band and games from the Hotteok entertainment Netflix drama Limestone movie.

In the screenshot in the article Testa’s content was comprehensively organized with memes created in the English and American countries so far.

‘omg.’

It seemed that thanks to Park Moon-dae’s performance going viral on stage his band received some attention and led to this situation.

This meme and that meme belong to this band that hasn’t even officially entered the U.S. yet so netizens can’t help but be interested!

‘Wow if this happens… ’

Homma had a thrilling premonition that if this grew even a little bigger it could lead to Testa’s popularity in that area.

It was an intuition unique to someone who knows the physiology of the Internet well.

A source of overseas inflow!

but…

‘…Because they are foreign fans.’

Homma’s eyes almost blurred as she briefly remembered the chaos that often occurs when large groups with different emotions collide but she soon overcame it.

Right now getting Testa’s weight class bigger was a much bigger priority.

‘I need it to survive the military white flag!’

Because my goal was clear I was prepared for the side effects.

As the group became independent from the company the vicious personal fandom that had been famous since <Azusa> was greatly eased and the overall atmosphere was very good.

'Let's go.'

So she bravely turned the page back. The purpose was to look at comments about not only entertainment but also related topics in the domestic community.

But what was newly updated was not just the comments.

'…uh?'

Latest new post.

The title caught her eye.

[Recording of Eter official opens]

This alone was enough to attract the attention of Testa member's home horse.

Because 'that' Eter has been hanging around Testa since his debut.

The problem was the phrase that came next.

[(Mention of Testa)]

"…!!"

She clicked on the article right away.

Chapter 532

Testa's lodgings after watching <Just Have a Drink> starring the same age group.

"I drink as much alcohol as an elephant…"

"…"

"…"

Bae Se-jin who had never seen this program before seemed momentarily dumbfounded by the revealed reality(?) but then tried to remain calm and muttered as if he was making a promise.

"Yes because it's filming…"

But it seems like it will suddenly take off again.

"But you're still there asking for another drink!"

uh. like this.

I responded calmly without changing my expression.

"It's a broadcast. "I said that because I thought they wouldn't really give it to me."

"…Is it possible for you to think like that in your condition at that time?"

"of course."

"…Ahyeon!"

“yes yes…!?”

“Is what he said true?”

“that…”

The living room is a total mess with Sun Ah-hyun sweating and conflicting between her conscience and friendship and Cha Yu-jin indirectly showing confidence in her drinking by saying that she should have left.

At that time Ryu Cheng-wu who had been quietly opening his smartphone alone opened his mouth.

“Guys. “I got a call from the company.”

“yes?”

At the mention of the ‘company’ everyone immediately shut their mouths and turned their attention to Ryu Chengwu.

This is because we have just entered the activity period so if something happens handling it quickly is key.

“Is it urgent?”

“Um… well.”

Liu Chengyu had a mysterious expression.

“It’s hard to judge. Would you like to see it in person?”

Seeing that we are disclosing it willingly it seems like we are the ones being criticized.

I first lowered the alert level and then focused on the smartphone screen he was turning to.

On the screen was an article from an online newspaper scam that was famous for reporting entertainment industry rumors in detail.

At first I thought it was just a rumor.

[Wonderhole monster rookie Eter official transcript released…"Overthrow Testa"]

"…??"

What is written is Ether.

'what.'

Is it a benefit?

But… 'Overthrow testa transcript'?

"What is Tado? Burn?"

"Let's ruin it and make it disappear."

"Oh~"

Let's read and summarize the article using Bae Se-jin's voice which gives a fairly aggressive interpretation as the background…

– Official A: Is Testa there…? yes yes. thank you (Hang up the phone) Oh I can't come out. I can't come out.

-Related person B: I guess he's really trying to come out.

– Official C: No matter how much they think about it I think they are conscious of us. Same goes for every unplay. Honestly I think I would be embarrassed. As if they are great artists that cannot be compared…

– Official A: Honestly it's a bit funny. They come from a broadcasting station. They are the kings of commercialism. The starting line is (different).

– Official C: If they think they won this they really have no conscience or sense. (laugh)

– Official D: Honestly I don't even want to use costumes as a reference. (laugh). That's the perfect expression for your excessive self-consciousness.

It was mentioned so blatantly that no excuse could be found. You have to hit the head or something.

'oh my.'

It seemed like something that three members of Eter's planning and management team had said in private had been leaked.

Isn't it obvious? Competitive groups from other companies that are kept in check and unsightly are a good option.

————————— = =

…In response to this netizens said "It looks like rookies who just debuted will be easily swept away" "I heard that Wonder Hall was conscious of testers and it was true" etc…

————————— = =

And netizens' reactions are almost like a sentence to hell.

I quickly started checking the current public opinion situation on my smartphone.

In the meantime Seon Ah-hyun carefully came up with a gentle reasoning.

"But… Isn't there any evidence that those recordings are from them…?"

"Um that's true."

Perhaps the sentence that followed Keun Se-jin's words was 'Honestly I'm not surprised even if it's true.'

Just by looking at what Wonder Hall has done so far with Testa you can vividly picture what the atmosphere within the company will be like.

'I found it.'

And I finally discovered the source of this incident.

This is it.

"It's not a transcript."

"uh??"

"This is a staff conversation from Ether's own content."

Kim Rae-bin was also shocked.

"Are you saying you posted these malicious comments publicly on WeTube?"

"no. I think they were trying to get rid of it…"

"Same?"

"It was poor workmanship."

It was a risk of cheap outsourcing.

Now here's a fun shot that I can't help but write about.

But what if a sound that shouldn't be released was accidentally included in the background?

'Just listen to that sound.'

If you remove the sound and install BGM through a program it usually works.

This time it exploded because ‘mistakes during work’ and ‘obsessive digging’ coincided amazingly. From Wonder Hole’s perspective it was like being struck by lightning that fell from a dry sky.

“ah…”

Expressions that are difficult to describe also flashed on the faces of those who roughly guessed the situation.

‘That’s how it works.’ I think the same description would be appropriate.

“But why did the rumor spread that it was a transcript? “The source is different.”

It was a valid question.

This is something that was included in the content that Wonder Hole themselves released.

In a way it is more reliable than a transcript but the reason why the transcript was attached…

“The person who posted it posted it that way.”

This means that the person who spread it deliberately chose more provocative words and had a strong desire to increase this controversy.

Oh… you work hard.

‘It looks like someone sent a reverse virus to Eter.’

Are you competing with Eter for the Rookie of the Year award this time? I reasoned briefly and scrolled down the smartphone screen.

“Mundae how is the internet atmosphere right now?”

hmm…

-Is this real?

-Wow I roughly expected it but it didn’t work out.

-Eter ㅅㅂYou’re overly self-conscious haha. Testa is keeping them in check so come to your senses. You guys aren’t even spacers.

-Wonder Hall where are you going?

-Wow it really doesn’t look like anything.

-It looks like it could be plagiarism from Testa seeing as they insist on using references haha.

huh. It’s hell.

“It’s controversial.”

“okay…”

Liu Chengwu was speechless and the others also looked somewhat dazed.

This is the first time we have encountered such a rare situation where a competing company without conscience falls on its own so everyone does not know how to react.

Keun Se-jin wiped the back of his neck and summarized the situation in a confused tone.

“First of all… we have a chance to meet people from Ether right? There is one episode left of <True Battle>.”

“yes.”

<True Battle>. It is a public broadcast singer survival program that has finished the first half of the season and now has the second half of the season remaining.

Here thanks to Testa we were able to open the door to casting and make the program more popular so the production team was extremely friendly to us.

'There are many benefits we have gained by opening public broadcasting stations.'

For example this time I comfortably appeared in several popular programs operated by the public broadcaster's WeTube channel.

However Testa is now busy with his activities so he was scheduled to voluntarily leave the show after only one episode in the second half of the season…

"I guess I'll meet Ether there."

yes.

Eter is also appearing there.

Meeting between the person involved in the controversy and the victim.

No matter how favorable it may be to Testa the entertainment industry will not miss this editorial bait.

"…"

"…"

"…Well let's all be careful during the interview!"

"Ugh…!"

Let's not get involved as much as possible.

Liu Chengwu confirmed with us out of courtesy.

“What is the probability that Ether will not come out and fall out?”

“Absolutely not.”

If you leave the show for no reason there will only be more controversy such as saying it was because you were stabbed. Moreover with Testa already defecting it seems unlikely that the PD will wait and see if one more team is left out.

Oh do you think Testa is going to say something here and send them away completely?

Are you not doing justice?

‘uh. ‘I don’t do it.’

If you do something like that outright you’re a fool.

The powerful are bound to be antagonized by the fact that they have been harmed since long ago. Avoid talking when you win.

In times like this the right answer is to keep quiet and feel relieved that these bastards have finally been punished.

“good. “Then let’s be careful and finish well until the end.”

“yes!”

It’s neatly organized.

“Okay then shall we head in today?”

“okay…”

We went into our respective rooms in perfect order remembering our schedule to start tomorrow at dawn.

‘oh.’

Thanks to this I just overlooked the fact that I drank about 1 liter of Andong soju during the broadcast. It was an unexpected help.

‘thanks.’

Self-destruction. If only people like this who could blow themselves up were here my job would be ten times easier.

Of course Wonderhole isn’t like that so they won’t continue to self-destruct like this. I’m going to try to fix it.

I laid down on the bed and monitored it again and made a light guess.

‘Once it calms down a bit in a few days I’ll try to settle things quietly.’

It was a prediction that took into account the strengths of the Wonderhole guys who are extremely good at unplaying.

And after some time.

-Wow I removed all the staff who mentioned Wonderhole.

As expected it went as expected.

A statement from Wonder Hall was posted stating that all of the staff members involved in the controversy were excluded from Ethereum.

Of course the reason why the staff did what they did was roughly dismissed as a personal matter but isn’t that the rule of this country?

-I heard that the short-term contract workers started talking amongst themselves lol.

Aren’t they also affected by the atmosphere of the agency in the first place? Haha.

-Look at the cut off the tail.

-Still the large unit definitely handles the work neatly. I hope there will never be this kind of noise again.

-Testajap official certification ㅊㅋ

However seeing the widespread reactions like ‘I feel like my feet are numb’ and ‘I don’t believe it’ it was clear that the image of an elite rookie that Wonder Hall wanted to promote was shattered.

The agency has lost trust.

‘Two consecutive hits?’

Previously I had shaken up the image by connecting the spacer with Ether so this seems to have been the final blow.

Perhaps Eter will not make a comeback for a while after the second half of <True Battle> and will take care of himself.

‘If this goes on next year might be a bit more pleasant right?’

Now won’t those on the other side be even more nervous and avoid anything that involves us?

However of course the talk about the <real match> that we had considered in advance also emerged among netizens.

-Hey now that I think about it I’m going to meet Eter’s tester. Isn’t the second half of the match starting next week?

Awesome

Wow I feel embarrassed haha.

If I am Eter I will get off.

I’m really looking forward to taking the D-day and waiting for it.

‘It’s very interesting.’

Well it's not even a day or two before they change their stance and say they'll criticize Testa like this so 'the public is on our side!' It's not like I'm feeling the same excitement.

'Let's do our job well.'

In the idol world where scheming is rampant clumsy tactics cannot survive. If you just carve that into your head you're halfway there.

I decided from the beginning that I would just enjoy this benefit.

"Mundae's costume!"

"yes."

I continued my schedule with the agency staff. Maybe it's because of his mood but he looks energetic.

'Come to think of it as much as we think it's a good thing the atmosphere there is quite bad.'

And this guess was of course correct.

* * *

"Whoa…"

The waiting room of <True Battle> is full of tension and gloom.

The Ether leader clenched and unclenched his hands trying not to be conscious of his surroundings.

My hands were cold.

'I'm worried… '

I could see it as a natural thing since I would soon meet my senior but now things were a little different.

This is because we are meeting in an awkward situation after being criticized by public opinion for a long time for criticizing last year's grand prize singer.

'How did this happen?'

Testa.

Exchanging signed CDs with those seniors seemed like a long time ago.

The leader of Ether stood up with a smile on his face trying his best to look as relaxed as possible.

The manager immediately comforted me in a voice full of concern.

"You don't have to worry. "All you have to do is say hello and the manager will take care of everything so just do as instructed."

"yes. All right!"

Even though I answered bravely I felt moved for some reason.

This is because I felt that he cared about the members and at the same time felt the absence of some of the people who originally supported that statement.

These were people who could no longer be seen due to the recent 'Tado Testa controversy'.

Most of them were fired. It happened like a lie in just a few days.

The leader of Ether bit his lip and thought.

'The older brothers and sisters didn't do that wrong…?'

The employees seemed to be having a hard time with the direction of the group recently.

So it seemed like he made that statement out of anger but usually he just said to target Testa.

Even after those controversial words I recalled asking them if they had heard anything and telling them not to worry saying “I said this because I was worried a lot these days.”

When that conversation was first revealed to the public it was just scary but if you listen to it again slowly it’s not even an insult.

‘It wasn’t any kind of personal attack.’

Honestly isn’t it possible for staff to mention competitors in private? The document was not circulated publicly.

It was abnormal to somehow restore conversations that had been erased by a program and disparage them.

Besides don’t the public say more explicit things than that to celebrities?

‘But to cut it all off like this… ’

It came as a great shock to the Eter members to see the employees who had taken care of them as best as they could crying and quitting work.

At that time I once again felt that the public was scary.

And now…

“…”

The Eter leader recalled the ‘Incidents and Controversies’ tab on their wiki that he had secretly searched on his laptop.

More than half of the problems involved Testa.

And even this conversation I heard after the incident occurred.

-The Testa company set it up on purpose.

-This is too obvious.

Employees were whispering to each other saying that given the circumstances it must have been moved by Testa's company.

It's called 'keeping rookies in check'.

They also seemed to restrain themselves when Eter members were around but in situations where people around them were divided loopholes were bound to appear.

So the Eter leader came to think like this.

'What did we do so wrong?'

Employees often said 'This industry is booming but there are no seniors or juniors' but isn't that too harsh?

Testa is such a popular idol and is in his prime so why do they do this to people who have just debuted?

Somehow I remembered what the employees had told me right before my first meeting with Testa.

-They will do whatever they can to kill you so don't get involved.

The leader of Eter seemed to be finally starting to understand why he said that.

So a while later I went to say hello to Testa's waiting room. This is what came to mind when I saw the relaxed appearance of those people.

"Hello senior!"

-I wish it would just disappear.

If it weren't for that group all the problems and breathtaking controversies that arose after debut wouldn't have existed.

No it felt like all this pressure would disappear even now.

The Eter leader thought like that for a moment and looked at Testa. However he gritted his teeth and tried to maintain his polite expression.

To never leave any room for criticism.

And Park Mun-dae thought.

'Look at this bastard's eyes.'

Again the idol version is full of scheming tricks. A clumsy person cannot survive. Because everything has already been discovered.

Chapter 533

Ether has a bad feeling towards us.

“…Shouldn’t it be the other way around?”

“I think they misunderstood that we caused controversy.”

“…”

Testa’s waiting room where Eter said hello and left.

Bae Se-jin who was silent for a moment opened his mouth with a shocked expression.

“Is there something their company did to us?”

“You don’t know.”

These are people who haven’t even received their resident registration cards yet. What kind of person would have figured out what was going on if they were that mature? They are just siding with our company.

‘There’s still a trick that Wonderhole planted on us… ’

Anyway too much has happened so far to be upset that a nosy person who doesn’t even know what’s going on has an antipathy towards Testa.

Wasn’t there someone who laughed and poured controversy over the creation of our Rookie Award?

‘I had a fight with the broadcasting station but now I’ve come too far to be afraid of the kids.’

So this conclusion was reached.

“Well you’ll figure it out. Let’s do our job well and then go back!”

“Yep!”

After changing clothes neatly we headed to the filming location.

“We would like to express our gratitude and welcome to all the returning artists!”

“Oooh!”

The opening concept of episode 1 of the second half of the season of ＜Real Battle＞ was a party.

The strategy would be to open the curtain with a flashy party-like ending and then contrast it with the pain of survival immediately afterwards through editing…

‘Typical.’

Still it seems that the tailcoat outfit will be quite in demand among their respective fans.

I drank non-alcoholic Sampyein and greeted other cast members with my camera. Of course these are the people who have already greeted everyone in the waiting room.

It’s a bit funny that we attended the opening event when we would voluntarily leave after one performance but that means we have to work harder so we don’t make a different sound.

In fact perhaps because they knew that they would soon be missing the singers who appeared showed less signs of keeping them in check than before.

Besides don’t we have some good recent news to mention?

“Congratulations on Testa’s comeback! “The music video was really cool!”

This is it.

“thank you.”

After saying hello to the soft and sweet member in the light green dress I turned around and this time other guys came rushing in and bowed their heads.

It’s ether.

“Congratulations on your comeback senior.”

He looked nervous as if he was going to be more careful in front of the camera.

But this time I couldn’t hide my eyes.

‘What a mess.’

Moreover it seems like the leader’s outlook has spread to the others so it seems like they are talking amongst themselves.

“Oh thank you. Eter the last performance was good and I’m looking forward to this one as well.”

“yes! i look forward to.”

Looking at the look in his eyes when he looked at Ryu Cheong-woo who gave him an appropriate congratulatory message on stage…

‘I’m sure I’ll win or something like that?’

A venom that had never existed before appeared.

‘The Wonder Hole guys benefit from this again.’

It seemed like those guys had come to regard the company's suffering as their own. They must have subconsciously laid down the basic logic that the company's position is their own position.

'Once the way of thinking is established like this it won't change easily.'

Why did a freelance idol have to have the sense of ownership that the company and its employees required?

"Yes~ Thank you!"

Anyway Testa got over the situation smoothly and easily.

You have to clap your palms together to make a sound but since we were like this there wouldn't have been any tension that would have been caught on camera.

"Now then the theme of the spectacular first act of the second half of <True Battle> is…"

I listened carefully to the MC's noisy introduction to the theme of this stage and finished filming the opening without incident.

And this time Testa quickly entered the stage meeting as usual.

"Then shall we go like this?"

"great!"

And it was over in an instant.

This team has a lot of experience on the creative stage and has already figured out each other's capabilities.

Moreover since they are close to each other the results can be reached quickly without any intrusive elements in the meeting.

As far as first place goes it may vary depending on the style of the audience on that day. At this level it will easily be in the top ranks.

‘I can afford it.’

Eventually the interview was conducted and the filming ended smoothly.

“Then we will leave in 10 minutes.”

“Yes~”

It was a smooth process.

And most of the short breaks were used casually.

“Raebin Kim Smile!”

“…?!”

From choosing photos to post on social media to packing clothes and electronic devices to solving Sudoku. It was an everyday scene.

There was not a single member who looked anxious.

“Well aren’t you all curious about what kind of stage Ether will perform?”

Including Lee Se-jin who asked me this while handing me a drink.

I nodded briefly.

“maybe.”

It was a comeback period so there was no time. Everyone unconsciously concluded that there was no need to split this up again and invest in detailed information warfare.

One of the staff even said that even if the Testa stage format was leaked and Eter copied it and did it first he didn't think they would lose.

This means that the difference in capabilities is visible to that extent.

This guy obviously knows what he said to me so why bother asking this…

"You don't like it?"

"uh? Hey… it's not like that!"

Even though he said that the smile on his face disappeared slightly.

"Should I just say I'm a little more alert?"

Alert?

I put down my drink to show that I would listen.

"Do you remember 'Azusa'? At that time I was really anxious to do well somehow. "I want to debut."

I remember.

And that wasn't the only thing that happened back then.

"You were like that even after you debuted."

"Huh it's a bit like that isn't it?"

Yes it was like that even during the first concert.

-I have to do better than Cha Yu-jin on the unit stage this time.

So this guy comes to mind who succeeded in receiving favorable reviews by performing a duet with Cha Yu-jin.

Moreover even in the virtual world where he debuted as Gyrop he was the one clenching his teeth so there would be no need to explain further.

“But at that time the team atmosphere was a bit like that. What can I say… There is something about running at full speed one by one without adjusting pace or speed.”

“okay.”

First of all I did that. There was nothing I could do because I was going to die if I couldn’t get the grades.

Big Sejin narrowed his eyes slightly.

“But now I feel like that sense of urgency is gone because we’ve come so far… Of course so do I.”

“…!”

Big Sejin muttered in a slightly subdued voice.

“What can I say a desperate desire to improve? Should I say it’s a sense of crisis…”

“…”

“Now even without that the team runs well.”

This team is definitely less desperate than before. Much calmer.

The group is stable and there are no conflicts regarding direction or part distribution positions.

My company has also settled down well.

‘I no longer feel like I’m walking on thin ice putting in so much effort into each and every schedule for fear of not being able to jump.’

Now unless it's something supernatural like losing one's memory the group won't be shaken.

'Right now I'm free from the situation where if I don't get good grades I'll lose.'

Compared to the past few years of running for survival in crazy situations at every moment now it was no different from soaking in lukewarm water.

'But it also means living like a human being.'

It is impossible for humans to live with their heads spinning like crazy every day as if they were playing death survival.

Eun Se-jin must have been thinking the same thing and soon frowned and added as if joking.

"Hmm now that you say it it sounds like you're really full don't you think?"

"I didn't say that."

"Mundaemundae is getting serious again!"

The guy grinned. But I didn't laugh along.

"Of course that doesn't mean it's bad… It's just a little weird."

He probably thought this situation was stable in his head but he felt uncomfortable somehow.

This seems to have become more noticeable now that the season which was full of chaos due to members' memory issues has passed and things have become quieter.

'…hmm.'

I brought up his status window.

[Name: Sejin Lee]

Singing: B (B+)

Dance: S- (S)

Appearance: A (A+)

Talent: A+ (A+)

Trait: Be quiet (B)

The stats this guy has raised over the past few years are already 7p when converted to system points.

It was proof that he had been developing himself to an unbelievable extent.

'The alphabet units for singing and dancing have changed.'

The stats he raised to get closer to the limit really showed his desperate attitude of never letting down his guard and training even after his debut.

"This is just something I tried so don't worry too much about it…"

"I see. "I kind of sympathize."

"…! okay?"

"uh."

I nodded to the guy who seemed a little surprised.

It was natural for a guy like this to feel anxious if he wasn't fierce.

To some extent I am like that too.

“But how long do you think this period of stability will last? “There are so many accidents like this every year so even if we don’t want to we will have to do it again soon.”

“…”

“Just take it easy at least until something unexpected happens.”

A person must also recover.

“And you still have a lot of drive to improve. “I can be sure of that.”

“…okay?”

“okay.”

“okay… thanks.”

“what.”

The guy opened his drink again and drank it looking slightly relieved without much resistance.

And I got a little lost in thought.

‘Are you wary of mannerism?’

This might have been a problem that came to me naturally around this time after I succeeded in becoming popular.

Then I remember this guy who was in my senior year around the time I debuted.

VTIC Cheongnyeo.

‘I guess he had similar thoughts.’

I guess my attitude towards that guy hasn’t changed just now.

I was able to understand more clearly why he acted like that.

‘Oh now that I think about it… ’

I have some free time tomorrow morning.

While I was thinking about it I decided to take care of his request when I had time.

* * *

“king!”

I roughly picked up the yellow furry dog that ran across the artificial grass field created on the rooftop.

This is Kong Cheongryeo’s dog.

“wait for a sec.”

Let’s take some pictures.

I avoided the guy who was talking to me and left him in the care of a person called ‘Puppy Teacher’.

And I quickly took a picture before he got upset and handed it over again.

“Kkiing…”

“He’s a very good boy but he misses his brother a lot.”

Considering that his job is as an idol his professionalism in not calling him dad stands out.

I got up only after I was sure the dog was in good health eating well and playing well.

We were so busy that we didn't have time to spend more time together.

And then it was time to go through the reservation-only passage.

A person walking with a cage in front of the private parking lot suddenly flinched and started waving his hands wildly.

"Oh Mr. Mundae?"

What is it?

'Is this someone who recognized Testa?'

It wasn't until he got closer that I looked at his face and realized it was someone I knew.

"Hello senior."

That was a T-Holic member.

The guy whose name must have been Ha Jin-tae looked at me with curious eyes.

"Do you also raise a dog Moon Dae?"

"no. "I'm asking an acquaintance for a favor."

"Oh… Are you Shin Jaehyun's friend?"

How did you know?

"…yes."

"Wow it looks like you two are really close friends."

It's just that he doesn't have any friends.

However I held back my eyebrows from twitching and tried to take my steps again.

Let's not talk too long. There's really no time.

But the next words almost made me stumble.

"I was recommended this place by Woodan."

I couldn't believe my ears.

"VTIC senior Joo Dan?"

"uh. "I like this kind of information."

I couldn't believe that this awkward older person was friendly with that socially inept guy but there must be a variety of human relationships in the world.

I'm not interested.

"Ah… I see. I'll have to ask next time too. "Then I hope you take good care of your dog sir."

"Oh thank you. thank you!"

But instead of stopping talking T-Holic started following me as I walked to the parking lot.

"…?"

"No I have something to ask."

"yes?"

"It's our agency. Speaking of the Eter kids who debuted at Wonder Hall how was it when you met them?"

Are you asking this out loud?

‘What is your intention?’

I responded calmly without showing any signs of agitation.

“They seem to be hard-working juniors.”

“Um… right.”

The Tea Holic member nodded.

“You probably haven’t felt like you’re just playing around with the stage yet. These days my agency is so obsessed with the Tic Tac Tok stage that they only ask the kids to do that.”

i get it. I guess he really doesn’t plan on renewing his contract with Wonder Hole.

“Is that so?”

“yes.”

Despite my soulless response the T Holic member cheerfully spoke up again.

But this time the tone was a little different.

“But don’t underestimate me too much. “Kids who have been trainees in large companies for a long time usually have the ability.”

The Tea Holic member laughed a little bitterly.

“tenacity.”

* * *

When Park Moon-dae unexpectedly met a T-Holic member at a dog facility.

“…”

At the same time in Eter’s dormitory their leader was monitoring with a serious expression.

A music video that I have watched several times.

[TeSTAR ‘Hunting season’ Official MV]

It was Testa’s comeback music video.

Chapter 534

Testa's comeback music video.

What first appeared in the video was a picture cartoon with gaps between cuts.

A scarlet circus tent with blinking lights at midnight. The bizarre place where Kim Rae-bin took off her rabbit mask and got sucked into in the teaser video.

An echo effect was used as if in someone's memory and a faint playing sound rang out.

[♬♪♪-♩ ♬♩-♬♪♪]

A circus performance's unique melody and cheerful drum sounds played with colorful lights accordion and harmonica.

However the circus performers wearing animal masks looked tired and shabby and performed a dangerous performance wearing prisoner chains while the audience only black silhouettes giggled and slapped their palms together.

Images of a joyful festival full of disparity passed by in a dizzying fragmentary manner as if changing a film.

But as if a flame goes out

Tuk.

Everything suddenly disappears.

There was silence on the screen calm and dark. And what appears is a dark backstage.

Real video not a cartoon.

[—-]

The camera slowly captured the black screen and slowly took a close-up as if it were being sucked in.

ridge. ridge.

While the slow meaningful sound of a heartbeat-like drum resonates a human figure standing in the center comes into view in a blur of light.

It was a silhouette of a circus performer.

The silhouette of the performer who was standing quietly was tearing off the old mat and chains that were on the outside.

And what is revealed is…

A man wearing a long coat with a scarf over a black suit that closes at the neck.

Liu Chengwu.

Sweet.

The moment the close-up stopped.

A light bulb came on like a flash above Liu Chengwu who was standing.

Boo-!

Along with the low howling sound of a boat horn the sound of drums like a battle ceremony spread out and a sharp and powerful synthesizer sounded dangerously.

In response to the sound Liu Chengwu slowly raised his collar covered his face and pulled his hat down.

And the moment he suddenly runs into the screen it switches to a performance cut.

[It's now.]

The choreography that seemed to spread the shadows exquisitely stole the view as if swallowing the camera.

From then on I binge-watched music and videos without any break.

As each part changed the camera went back and forth between inside and outside the complex circus tent showing the audience being attacked.

The way it unfolded as if running through a mysterious space from the cameraman's first-person perspective increased immersion.

The moment he encounters a camera shaking in the dark Kim Rae-bin kicks a rabbit mask in front of it and throws it in the first verse.

[The tables have turned

Today you are the sheep

Run further go ahead

It's fun doing some tricks]

In contrast to the somewhat comical retro circus music I first heard modern and heavy syllables struck my ears in sync with the performer's movements.

Even using sound effects that will whet your appetite at the right place.

It almost feels like an invasion from an advanced civilization.

"…Whew."

Ether's leader Noir rewatched scenes he had watched over and over again.

Foot-stomping chorus choreography.

The choreography and expressiveness seem to have honed the image of 'hunting' to the limit in the most attractive way.

A neat and intimidating feeling where even the shape of every limb and joint fits no matter what timing you stop.

[A night of reversal

hunting time

(Yea-h)

[Call up it's hunting season]

Halloween night when circus animals hunt the audience.

The fun and glamorous yet cruel atmosphere of the circus seemed to be torn apart by the weight class difference due to the overwhelming sound and performance.

That catharsis!

The performers vividly brought out the unique atmosphere of anti-heroes without any awkwardness.

The members who knew when to apply strength and when to withdraw strength knew where to most effectively apply wow points were in awe.

Last refrain.

Cha Yu-jin standing at the center bounced her whole body and moved wildly as if leading the way.

Even then the moment the music stops as if it's sucking you in you pose at the right time.

His eyes sparkled like an animal.

[Get close to me]

That overwhelming command of command.

Testa's music video did not lose its tension until the final moment when Sun Ah-hyun threw a circus light bulb on the floor with an expressionless white face.

No matter how many times I watched it it was overwhelming.

"…"

The leader of Eter put down the note he was writing with slightly trembling hands.

I felt my vision becoming blurry.

'I can't do it… '

I tried to hold back but despair came over me.

It was like a feeling a high school student would feel when trying to write a major thesis.

It is certain that this is the goal to be met at the end of the studies one has learned but it is too far away to be realized in a standard way with what one has now.

The performance of an incredibly talented opponent who was several years ahead of him put tremendous pressure on him who had just become a professional.

"ah…"

Originally when they saw Testa as just a ‘respected senior’ they could use it as motivation that they would become like that someday.

However if you think that you have to be as good as these people right away you will feel suffocated.

It seemed impossible.

“…”

However the leader of Ether tried to escape that feeling.

He then flipped through the notes he had written down and looked at the keywords he had written down that he ‘wanted to emulate’ or ‘express in this way.’

‘It’s slow but there’s nothing to be gained…!’

There is definitely something new to write about every time I look back. Every time I analyze I wonder ‘Why is Testa’s performance so good?’ This is something that can be caught specifically.

So he gritted his teeth.

I won’t give up.

‘Even if it’s similar!’

“brother! We’d like to practice a little more… Yes. This is Teacher Choi. “If you have time today…”

He asked his manager to schedule additional practice.

Those who didn’t have much had to do it somehow even if it meant splitting their time.

‘You can do it!’

We will do it as always.

He made a promise and hid the laptop he had secretly brought back under the bed.

On the last screen of the laptop there was an image of Park Moon-dae singing a gentle cross-beat bridge alone.

* * *

“Mr. Moon please close your eyes~ I will not touch the earphones as much as possible.”

“yes. thank you.”

As I carried out my schedule for the day I recalled what had just happened.

‘therefore… ’

I was trying to take a few pictures of someone else’s dog but ended up getting harassed by a senior colleague who didn’t even know me.

For your information that senior T-holic Ha Jin-tae had a lot to say until the end.

-Mr. Moon Dae let’s have a drink together with Udan sometime!

I don’t know how I came up with this idea but I just want to say that I really wanted to reject it.

I also want to say that I never wanted this phone call either.

[I heard that you met senior Jintae.]

Oh yes.

I continued to put on my makeup while taking calls from VTIC Joo Dan with my Bluetooth earphones.

“yes. “But I’m sorry but since I’m currently at a shop my response may be a little late.”

[it’s okay. I am not one of those people who cannot be considerate of others’ situations at all. Moreover the situation I am in now is also special.]

I can also give a simple explanation that I am in the military like that.

Anyway since there was no reason to refute it I readily agreed.

“You’ve been through a lot.”

[yes. There is no such thing.]

“…”

And I listened to him say something along the lines of ‘The military isn’t rational but if you adapt you too will be able to survive.’

‘Is it a national rule for corporals to change their words when they have time?’

Anyway since I didn’t really have anything to say to this guy I thought I’d just listen to him for a while and then hang up.

In the meantime a somewhat interesting topic came up.

[Senior Jintae claims that he seems to have given quite useful advice. Is it okay if I treat it as truth?]

hmm…

I frowned slightly recalling my conversation with the Tea Holic guy.

‘It was advice.’

T-holic Ha Jin-tae said not to underestimate Eter too much and said “Guys who have been trainees at large entertainment companies for a long time have perseverance.”

But honestly when I first heard it it didn't seem like very meaningful advice.

'Are there any idols who succeed without persistence?'

First of all it seems like a virtue that all successful people have.

So I asked again without thinking.

-What does persistence mean?

-hmm. Is this a bit ambiguous?… Do you know how kids who debut at large entertainment companies usually debut?

-yes?

-You work hard to pass the audition work hard to get into the debut group and work hard to release your debut album. But there is no guarantee when that will happen.

And through the explanation that followed I understood what this guy meant by 'persistence'.

-The period of when the debut group will be released is unknown so we have to work tirelessly for several years but since debut is through a needle hole it is very difficult.

This meant that the aspiring kids knew that debuting at a large entertainment company would be an unconditional advantage so they were trying to stick with it for dear life.

And if you overcome that and win you will debut.

-So the kids who made it through that and debuted got the idea that they could do anything if they worked hard. They all think they achieved it through their own efforts.

The group of guys who made it through each stage without any compromise whether due to luck or skill is the group that debuted at a major agency.

In short I don't know the taste of failure.

-Subconsciously they never admit that they might fail no matter how hard they try.

'So… it's called persistence but it's closer to stubbornness.'

Are you glorifying the fact that you can't stop cutting because you don't know the timing as 'perseverance'?

I came to that conclusion but the conclusion the T-Holic member came to was strange.

-That means you can always try your best. For a very long time without getting tired. Ugh.

In those words I could even sense that I was a little tired of myself. Just like I experienced.

'…no way.'

At that time a different group came to mind than the Eter that T-Holic used as an example.

This is the idol that would have been the most annoying to T-Holics in their prime and they are a group that perfectly fits the description of being 'from a large entertainment company'.

[hmm. It's not wrong.]

It's VTIC.

From Tiholic's perspective since VTIC was viewed that way it seemed like Ether was also analyzed from the same perspective.

'That's not it.'

VTIC was like that because the leader was held tightly by a crazy person who was outside the standards and Ether was not outside the standards.

‘I think it would only make sense if there was a guy on the team with a lot of skill.’

…The VTIC party seemed to sympathize internally.

[This is a convincing analysis. It’s a bit surprising. I too made my debut without knowing failure. In fact it is no different from a flower in a greenhouse.]

“…I see.”

[yes. I don’t want to leave the greenhouse in the future.]

Are you saying that with your own mouth?

Anyway I kept T-Holic’s advice in mind but decided not to try to adapt it too much to Testa’s situation.

‘Because each situation is different.’

…and soon I was able to see with my own eyes what I said: ‘Each person’s situation is different.’

A few days later.

The day of recording the mid-stage evaluation of <True Competition>.

[Escape the silence and gear up again

Fill this space with applause]

Eter performed before Testa.

[Set up]

I did my best until the end of the stage.

“…”

The amount of practice was visible during the dance break.

Of course it seemed complete before but this does not mean that.

‘The quality has changed.’

Before it felt like I was practicing hard as someone else planned and taught me but now it feels like I’ve been practicing to squeeze out the ‘maximum’.

‘I can feel that he put a lot of thought into giving each part as natural an impact as possible.’

It was evident that he was desperate to show everything without a single regret.

This is the look of a desperate person.

The feeling conveyed to the viewer by a person who fights and tries to win at all costs even though he knows the reality is that he cannot win.

“…”

I clenched my fists.

There is a narrative in the world that universally moves people’s hearts.

A situation where there is a cliff behind you.

The tenacity of gritting one’s teeth and trying to do something in a tightrope walk of dilemma.

Unique persistence and effort.

The will to push forward despite being under fire amidst checks and controversies.

It was a unique attribute of Rising.

…regardless of the reason for the controversy.

Regardless of whether it's a real bastard or not.

The mentality that makes you want to cheer for this team that is on the rise as an underdog.

-Underdog.

It was a position that Testa had almost monopolized until it received the grand prize.

Even in Testa there are a lot of these 'bad guys' and by maximizing the narrative through survival it was an attribute that was able to capture the public for a very long time.

However when a challenger becomes a champion the challenger's attributes naturally disappear.

An image that can only be had for a limited time.

'But not all well-known teams can have this.'

This is because there is a minimum line.

-He looks good at it too.

This was the qualification.

-If you work hard and do well like that you should be treated better.

Evoking this emotion on a stage where the public is interested.

At least this threshold had to be passed to be effective.

And so far no team has surpassed that since the testa…

[Jump over!]

The guys performing the mid-term evaluation performance on that stage were barely crossing that limit.

"…"

Holy shit.

This is the story that the survival production team will like the most.

Chapter 535

Testa waiting room after mid-term evaluation.

“You did a good job.”

This is a short review of the members who watched Eter’s mid-term evaluation performance.

Half of them have faces that say ‘We need to work harder too!’

And the faces of the rest of the guys who instinctively knew how the situation was going to turn out… were closer to ‘I got it.’

“Will this be aired before the final stage recording begins? “I guess that’s because of the date right?”

“uh. I think at least the pre-release video will come out before the final stage.”

“…after.”

In short it is difficult to reverse the production team’s editing direction by re-planning for the final stage.

Before that there is a video that is released in advance considering only this middle stage.

‘If I were on the production team I would never miss this phrase.’

A rising group that prepared desperately to pierce the needle by appearing in the midst of controversy and finally showed its potential on stage.

And even the senior group the other side of the controversy.

Our role here will be like this.

-Hey what was Testa's reaction?

If you don't act like a great person here it's only for a moment that people become dirty. In a situation where the target of empathy in the program has already been identified as Ether.

Testa was pushed out of the narrative fuck.

'Anyway viewers will find it interesting.'

Unless the production team was stupid the narrative of 'Ether overcomes adversity and achieves good results' was already confirmed at the time the interim evaluation was selected.

It was only natural that the painting was chosen like this.

Instead of retorting Keun Se-jin also let out a long sigh. Unlike usual there was no bitter smile.

I was similar.

'I feel better than I expected.'

And perhaps because the atmosphere was strange Raebin Kim cautiously raised his hand.

"…? Do you think that our stage prepared this time will be inadequate compared to that of the Ether people?"

Ryu Cheong-woo smiled bitterly as he looked at the guy who looked like he was going to blurt out 'We did better' at any moment.

"No I don't think so."

Looking at it objectively of course Testa did better in the intermediate evaluation.

Raebin Kim also nodded loudly.

“As expected! “I wondered if I might have missed something.”

But you probably wanted to ask why the atmosphere was so strange.

I gave the answer in advance.

“It’s because it’s natural to be good at it.”

“yes…?”

“This means that now even if we do well people won’t be agitated or surprised. “Because there are expectations that have been built up over time.”

“…”

This isn’t just a problem of Testa being pushed to the stage by a rookie.

It’s a question of freshness.

and…

‘The problem is that those bastards’ agency is showing how far they will go to suck this up.’

Wouldn’t you go viral and get excited while talking nonsense about turning a crisis into an opportunity?

-Participating teams responded well in today’s real match (spoilers included)

– Current status of Eter which I thought was going to hell

-A rookie group that is more practiced than you can imagine.

-Hey are you good at Ether?

It's already nice on the eyes.

In the meantime Eter itself is just working hard so it seems like we are finding loopholes and sending them to public opinion.

This is because it may backfire.

'People recognize that as if it were a ghost.'

As soon as the ridiculing atmosphere created by Wonder Hall's self-destruction disappeared it seemed clear that the 'unexpected discovery' that the Eter members were just honest and easy-going guys would become a trend.

In order to go against the trend something bigger was needed.

'My bone hurts.'

"Mumundae do you have a headache…?"

"…are you okay."

I took my hand off my temple.

…I had a feeling that it had become complicated in many ways.

And things started to go as expected.

A few days later.

[<Jin Seong's match> What's going on? Midterm evaluation with twists and turns | [Pre-release]

When the pre-release video came out

-Is Eter finally going to collapse? But if it's a twist isn't it supposed to float?

-I knew it would be like this because the broadcasting company is close to Wonderhole.

-Write a narrative hahahaha

Some people said this just by looking at the title.

-Are you good at it?

-It's better than I thought.

-I feel sad for no reason when I strain my eyes to keep from crying.

This changed after watching the video.

This means that Eter's desperate attitude felt too realistic to be said to have been created through editing.

'And because the results actually came out.'

I could feel public opinion shaking.

It seemed like the production crew could be heard from far away rejoicing that the aggro was a success.

'after.'

There were people who expressed interest in our performance but it was pushed down from buzz to numbers.

Naturally I thought I would do well so there was nothing to criticize so I lost interest.

I looked at the smartphone screen.

'Can you turn it over?'

To be realistic and safe I might have to give up this game and plan the next one.

There are rookies who have caught the timing well and have risen to the top and I am prepared to share the pie with them in the future.

'…I would have thought this if it were another rookie.'

I don't feel like it.

These bastards have accumulated too much karma for their agency.

Moreover right after this video was released Kim Rae-bin discovered the final blow to that karma.

In fact it was not created by the agency but by Ether themselves.

"I may be mistaken but the more I watch parts of Eter Junior's pre-released performance the more I feel a sense of déjà vu in the composition and expression."

"Deja vu?"

"yes."

Kim Rae-bin who had been thinking for a moment while looking at his laptop opened his eyes wide and shouted as if he had figured it out.

"All right. "You can see the gestures the members usually use on Eter people's stage!"

"…!"

"For example in this scene where he is raising his hand…"

We listened to Raebin Kim's explanation as he brilliantly went back and forth between the videos using shortcut keys.

And I was convinced right away.

“It seems similar…”

“OK. Literally I see.”

The facial expressions and gestures that Testa members used as a habit seemed right at the right time.

Of course the people were different the songs were different and they all fell into the right place quite naturally so it wasn’t to the point where I could tell where they came from as soon as I saw them.

‘…I must have done a lot of analysis.’

I felt like they didn’t roughly follow it but really thought about ‘why it’s good’.

But that’s from the perspective of those who followed suit and what do you think about those who were harmed?…

“Isn’t this too harsh?!”

This is it.

However I calmly shook my head at Bae Se-jin’s embarrassed words.

“You can’t say anything just because the gestures or facial expressions are similar. “Because it’s not copyrighted.”

If you can’t do it awkwardly it will stand out in a bad way and you will be found out quickly. And he will be criticized for saying ‘He thinks he is a tester.’

However if you do it well you will be able to move past the question ‘Did you pay for the gesture?’

“And in the first place everyone practices with a cover stage before debuting. You start by imitating your favorite idol’s gestures and facial expressions. “I can’t practice if I don’t have a reference.”

In a word it means 'It is difficult to criticize it for having no business ethics.'

"…So this is also a reference?"

Bae Se-jin gritted his teeth.

"Are we the only ones following?"

"…"

He probably didn't necessarily intend to follow Testa alone.

I guess I just didn't have time.

'I wouldn't have been able to conduct research while watching multiple teams.'

So I guess I was trying to pick out the strengths of the senior by focusing on the stage of the senior I was most conscious of right now and watching it several times.

From Eter's point of view you might think they were just trying their best but for a group that has experienced similar things several times it was natural for a member to be upset.

"This isn't the first time someone has used a reference like this one-sidedly. "Shouldn't we do something to protest?"

"Brother thinking like that is useless."

Big Sejin spoke clearly. Then he pressed his eyebrows and spoke lowly.

"It's a stage. "If you handle this well it's yours."

"…! Where does such sophistry come from…"

"no! "The atmosphere doesn't suddenly change just because my brother doesn't acknowledge it."

"…!"

"Look at the situation now. "If I say something like that people will think that Testa is acting mean-spirited against a rookie so what's the point? I'm sorry."

"…"

Keun Se-jin barely calmed down and Bae Se-jin answered with a stiff face.

"…no. "You must be frustrated too."

"…"

The atmosphere is amazing.

I pressed my eyes with both hands.

What is even more surprising is that the butterfly effect of this work does not end here.

Do you know what the bigger problem is?

'They're saying Testa will leave this program after this performance.'

If Wonder Hole gives this a try people say things like 'Aren't you getting off to avoid Eter?' or 'You're getting off because it looks like you might lose.'

Because timing is everything!

-Something is going wrong Testa is getting anxious now.

-Is it better to say that you will buy it if you buy it? Do you pretend to challenge yourself to fail and come out on survival show then get off after tapping the calculator? Really… ah.

-Azusa has lost all her original intentions. Was Testa's contract renewal the limit?

This becomes a problem of group image.

And this means that Eter who took the underdog narrative is also enjoying the pleasant effect of killing two birds with one stone by damaging Testa.

'I think I've succeeded in my revenge.'

I don't like it even more because I know what the people at that agency will think.

I held back a sigh.

And there was silence in the car.

"…"

"For now let's stay while we prepare for the final stage. There will be a group photo shoot soon so let's see the atmosphere at that time. how is it?"

"…okay."

"Ugh…"

Big Sejin calmly scolded the others.

However his complexion was not that good.

* * *

The recording day of the return of <Jinseong Competition>.

"You did so well guys!"

“thank you!”

Voices of congratulations and encouragement rang out in Eter’s waiting room.

The atmosphere which had been stagnant for several days due to controversy and reorganization was finally reviving.

It gave Eter a heart-wrenching sense of pride that they had worked hard to create that opportunity.

‘Is this a real sense of accomplishment?’

The leader nodded saying that it was an experience that made me realize again as an artist that the results of my performance are related to the joys and sorrows of many people involved.

And I felt a greater sense of responsibility.

“Our leader has grown up. “I really trust you and the company is working.”

“thank you!”

The leader of Eter left the waiting room with encouragement and a great sense of responsibility.

‘I need to say hello to the staff and cast in advance.’

Since I had to shake hands I thought I would at least wash my hands before going.

So when he naturally entered the official restroom.

‘uh.’

There was already a passenger at the sink.

“hello~”

"…Hello senior."

The leader of Eter bowed his head.

Testa Sejin Lee who was washing her hands at the sink smiled slightly nodded slightly and shook off the moisture.

Even after meeting him he was not at all shaken.

'…You still have a lot of free time.'

For some reason I felt a little jealous.

Doesn't it feel like a sense of crisis just because a junior competitor on an entertainment program did well on stage?

Is it still possible?

'Then why did you release something like a transcript?'

While the leader was slightly intoxicated with injustice a calm and gentle voice came from above.

"Ah the midterm evaluation performance was really good~ Congratulations on the good response."

"Oh thank you."

And the leader couldn't resist and gave the greeting he had been thinking about before.

"Senior Testa's performance was also good. "As always!"

There was a bit of a double meaning here.

It could be heard to mean that you are always good at something or it could also be heard to mean that there is no progress.

If the listener has a dark side and listens sarcastically it will sound bad but if the testa are really good people it will be received as a compliment.

‘I think I said it well!’

The leader of Eter thought proudly. and…

Lee Se-jin smiled bitterly.

“is it so? Oh my thank you~”

“…yes!”

“Then let’s do our best on today’s shoot!”

Se-jin Lee left the bathroom after saying goodbye and the leader of Eter eventually acknowledged it.

‘I guess he’s a good person.’

But I didn’t know why I felt sad when I thought about it.

And at the same time Testa’s waiting room.

“Mundaemun University. wait for a sec.”

Lee Se-jin tapped Park Moon-dae on the shoulder to get his attention.

“why.”

Despite his harsh response Sejin Lee knew that he was listening.

“Do you remember what I said? “This time… let’s just wait and see.”

“I remember.”

And I also knew why he said that.

‘Testa already has so much that he can’t raise the stakes for all of it.’

It was an awkward situation.

However even if you give up a little here it is safer and the expected value is higher not to act hastily.

It feels a little dirty though.

This is because Testa is no longer at the age where the public views him as ambitious even if he rushes in to win the Rookie of the Year Award.

There was also a great risk that the powerful would see this as too much.

‘It’s wise to buy things here.’

Moon-Dae Park guessed that Se-Jin Lee probably gave the same answer with a cold head.

but…

“I’m sorry but I want to cancel. “That word.”

“…!”

“I don’t know. Normally I’m the one on this team who says things like ‘Let’s take a long-term view and move on.’…”

Big Sejin smiled his eyes shining.

“I don’t want to do that. I.”

There were D-3 days left until the final stage.

Chapter 536

＜True Battle＞ started the first stage of the second half with a fairly large audience as if it were an opening ceremony.

I am hoping that the stage will be such a great narrative that the audience will want to make a fuss about it even if it is okay to spread spoilers.

‘There are a lot of Testa fans.’

Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin’s twin home horse an office worker was a Testa fan himself and sat down with that in mind.

As Ryu Seo-rin’s younger sister and Ryu Geon-woo’s senior in the club she had no idea that Ryu Geon-woo had become Park Mun-dae but she sometimes contacted Ryu Geon-woo a great master.

Actually I asked him if he wanted to come today too…

-it’s okay. It’s the end of the year and I’m busy with work so I think it’s going to be difficult.

I received a reply.

‘I wanted to get a picture from a different angle… Tsk.’

The office worker clicked his tongue saying he was still a blunt guy.

The fact that Keundal was scared and restless and responded by shouting ‘I am… Geon-woo hyung!’ was never going to be revealed.

Anyway after setting up the camera carefully to avoid being caught she sat down and searched the surroundings with sharp eyes.

‘It seems like almost half of them are Testa fans.’

In this case as long as Testa didn’t ruin the stage it was a given that he would finish in second place.

However that didn’t mean it was good.

‘It’s so blatant that you want to push Ether.’

If things continue like this if Eter gets 3rd place or lower

-To be honest it wasn’t a stage that would receive that level of ranking.

-Half of the audience there were Testa fans. They seemed to have gritted their teeth and kept it in check haha.

In this way we were able to give a narrative of ‘the rise of a misfortune that was devalued by the powerful’.

The thought of hearing such words from Eter made even Twin Homma feel uncomfortable.

‘I don’t know how much money they will make in the future to even think about what they know… ’

Her idea was that there should be professionalism and responsibility as long as you receive money.

In any case isn’t Ether also benefiting from what Wonderhole did?

[…now welcome the audience~]

The MC’s opening remarks ended just as Office Worker Homma was thinking about this in her head and fixing the camera with her hand so it wouldn’t be visible.

‘It’s starting.’

She adjusted her posture and sat down. I was thinking of taking a few test shots of groups other than Testa as well.

[The first stage… Oh he is also the winner of the last first half stage. Soft and sweet!]

And she predicted it as soon as she heard the name of the first order.

‘The next or next time will be Ether.’

The production team may have intentionally given Eter a first place. Because it fits the image of a challenger perfectly.

‘And there may have been an attempt to separate the testa and the order of the contest.’

Testa is always the last or just before the last for the sake of viewer ratings. It was obvious even without looking.

And since performing in succession in front of them would lead to direct comparison with Testa the analysis is that at least two or three teams would have been sandwiched between them.

[This order is… Ether!]

‘That’s right.’

She narrowed her eyes and watched Ether appear after Soft Sweet had finished performing.

Wow!

With the cheers of the audience following the staff’s guidance Eter took his place on stage and formed a formation.

And after a short period of silence the stage begins with an explosively powerful accompaniment.

[Feel the sunrise!]

The song seen in the pre-release began to unfold with powerful sound effects.

Angled like a knife it is the title song of T Holic's 3rd album.

It was a strong and childish social criticism song that T-Holic had only released as a title once and was a song aimed at appealing to teenagers performed in classic black school uniforms.

[Get out of the pain and gear up again

Fill this space with applause]

Anyone could see that the lyrics fit perfectly with Eter's current situation.

Even when compared to the stage theme of 'Who am I' it was a stage that left many interesting things to think about…

'also.'

It was immediately visible to the eyes of those who have been watching Testa consistently and have found the joys in detail in their stages.

Gestures and facial expressions similar to those of Testa.

"…"

It seemed clear that it was a reference. Twin Homma crossed his arms.

'That agency doesn't know the extent.'

Originally when people reached their limit they lost their reason.

This hasn't happened once or twice.

Until now everyone had held back because they thought there might be a backlash against Testa but once this was properly aired they had no idea what the backlash and explosive Testa fans would do.

'…for a moment. 'Do you rather want that?'

Twin Homma who asked back for a moment soon realized that it was the truth.

Wonder Hall intentionally allowed Eter to refer to Testa.

-If Testa fans start a fight it becomes noise marketing.

If Eter performs well the public will empathize with him and fight for him.

-Why would I do it again after seeing a rookie having such a hard time?;;

I think the staff felt resentful and swore at Testa fans because they were being so cruel.

Kingry Godshim hahaha

-Testa seems to hate you more than Eter dog viewers.

And now Eter definitely performed well on stage.

A performance that seemed to have been put forth with all of one's desperate energy.

What he lacked in technique and talent he made up for with practice and a life-threatening spirit.

Against the background of red and yellow lighting effects that resemble the rising sun Eter took the ending cut with full force.

[Feel the sun rise!]

Wow!

The stage ended with cheers.

Among the people cheering as if they were impressed the reactions of some audience members with subtle faces were hard to see.

“under.”

The office worker looked at Eter on stage with mixed feelings.

They bowed to the audience and went down with tears in their eyes and out of breath.

‘The eyes of those who like the newbie will roll their eyes.’

At that time there were quite a few people who were only impressed by Rising which was full of venom and earnestness.

‘The unit price… will go up.’

And Twin Homma realized that he had nevertheless not taken a single picture of Ether.

If it had been the same originally the unit price would have risen and the team would have taken it first because they had some left over.

‘Is it loyalty in its own way?’

She held back a laugh and watched the rest of the performance.

Unexpectedly my slightly disturbed mind calmed down in the meantime.

and.

[This stage is a testa!]

Finally the reason for this hearing has come.

Wow!!

The crowd was filled with screaming cheers. Homma calmly developed his thoughts in the meantime.

‘During the midterm evaluation… ’

Intermediate evaluation Testa arranged famous songs from 2000s bands like a KPOP idol and presented a stage that was pleasing and pleasing to the eye.

It is a stage where national songs are changed in a trendy way to suit their identity as idols.

Leisurely and skillful charm.

However seeing as there was very little screen time in the pre-release I think the production team didn’t edit it very well…

‘No it’s better.’

It is a stage that is completely opposite to the desperate performance that Eter performed.

If things continued like this there was a high chance that public opinion would gently move on to saying ‘both did well’ without any unnecessary comparisons.

Then even if Testa fans are angry with Eter they will be able to endure it one more time after seeing the situation.

This was the smart way to go.

‘Because there are kids on the team who know how to use their brains in politics they wouldn’t have made hasty changes out of consideration for mid-term evaluations.’

She trusted the quick thinking and cool-headed judgment of the two members she photographed.

[…]

Meanwhile thick darkness fell on the stage.

And the twinkling lights came to life.

The star-like twinkle of not just one but numerous lights filled the stage.

A voice soaring above it.

[Wait because you stand up

Even if the floor is cold

Your life is so br-ight!]

“…!!”

There was no slick dance pop there as seen in the mid-term evaluation.

A powerful rock sound that is flashy sexual and yet popular.

[Yeeees

Ride the clouds and

Shoot out into the skyyyy-!]

Glam metal rang everywhere.

‘ah.’

Riding on the thumping sound a group dance that is fearsome in its pace and pace rushes in in formation.

The blonde dyed hair black rider jacket and white printed T-shirt stood out exquisitely.

The performers shoot out to the front of the stage like lights in an aggressively flashy manner.

[Pouring down as a comet

The pain of last night

Shine on the asphalt

City of lights]

Perhaps the theme of ‘Who am I’ was easier to understand in the version at the time of the midterm evaluation.

Because they showed their identity as ‘Grand Prize KPOP Idols’.

The statement ‘Testa is a group that always challenges conceptually so we thought this was unique to us’ was less direct.

however.

[Sparkle like a star

Your tears running away

Shining like the nightscape]

The stage became more direct.

The moment I saw Park Moon-dae raising his hand at the end of his high note shaking out his hair and flipping his jacket.

‘I’m going crazy.’

The office worker knew.

This was a stage where I changed my mind after looking at the mid-term evaluation in order to use my energy and win.

A brief thought passed by as to why this was happening.

‘for a moment.’

[Come to me now

crossing the sky

[Beyond the sea]

Testa’s gestures are flashy as is common in metal bands these days.

And those gestures…

‘You’re doing exactly what Eter did earlier!’

That’s right.

Almost all of Eter’s gestures occurred during each part.

Raise your hand rest your chin close your eyes lightly then open them and nod your head as if you understand.

Although it was an attitude that went incredibly well with this glam metal.

‘You crazy people!’

[Come to me now

Forget the tears

Leave the pain behind]

Testa came out openly like when he was competing with Onyx for the Rookie of the Year Award.

And this was a mistake Homma thought Testa would never make.

‘If you make one mistake you’re ruined.’

When the strong try to win over the weak it can lead to resentment.

It’s easy for your image to be ruined by people telling you that you try to fight with your juniors or that you’re just greedy.

So I thought that Testa who has never made a foolish choice until now would never make this choice again…

[The world is yours

I want to give it all

[This must be love]

They chose.

An exhilarating feeling like pleasant goosebumps rising from my chest made my head hot.

‘Oh fuck… ’

Homma sighed.

There was something strange about that momentum of going all in like crazy without calculating anything that made the viewer cry.

On stage Cha Yu-jin with her piercings flashing and frowning performs with a hand microphone while Park Moon-dae quietly adds chords from behind.

[Wait because you stand up

Even without street lights

Your life is so br-ight!]

A storm of performances and vocals pouring down like a barrage of unrivaled levels.

Homma an office worker managed to find a realistic reason in the gap.

‘Realistically speaking.’

In order for it to be effective to make people feel like they could be compared openly with their juniors they had to be extremely good at expressing themselves.

Anyone can see the originality of Testa.

[Yeeees

Ride the clouds and

Shoot out into the skyyyy-!]

And Lee Se-jin knew that too.

-I’m really sorry but can I do it?

He insisted on doing this in three days and worked hard to choreograph and distribute gestures to achieve it and he barely slept at all.

In the meantime I didn’t forget anything I needed to do to take care of myself.

He knew it too.

I’m not a rookie who just debuted so it’s not a very smart and human thing to do.

Give what you have to give and think about what you already have.

‘People should live by controlling the tempo.’

Otherwise they say the balance will be lost.

It’s a job where you can easily be swayed by the public. It means that they cannot live as their own selves as individuals not as idols.

So it means that people need to have time to rest.

‘it’s okay.’

He didn’t want to live like that.

Be successful and live like a human being.

If that means you can no longer overcome pain and grow.

He desperately wanted to live in constant anxiety and anxiety.

So I wanted to go beyond the limits.

As much as you can.

[Come to me now

crossing the sky

[Beyond the sea]

I wanted to live only as an idol.

[Please be quiet (B)]

-Propulsion +100%

more.

[Please be quiet (A)]

-Propulsion +120%

more.

[Please be quiet (S)]

-Propulsion +150%

…more!

[Quiet (EX) activated!]

-Propulsion +180%

You do not feel any stat limitations during activation.

He came to the center.

[Name: Sejin Lee]

Singing: B (B+)

Dance: S- (S)

Appearance: A (A+)

Talent: A+ (A+)

Trait: Be quiet (EX)

He is this kind of person.

[Skill: A+ (A+)]

I wanted to live as an idol.

[Skill: S- (A+)]

Chapter 537

Sejin Lee was out of breath.

There was no complicated calculation left.

[Come to me now

Forget the tears

Leave the pain behind]

While breaking the beat it suddenly slows down and gives strength. The moves that use the whole body to the end come out three-dimensionally through the voice.

I feel more fit than any other practice.

The things that have been repeated trained and learned to become ingrained in the body are expressed as if they are bursting out of the whole body and limbs as desired.

Experience goes beyond imagination.

[The world is yours

[I want to give it all]

Even the hair and jacket swayed along the body as if it were part of the choreography. The movement shone brightly in the light.

climax.

My body is burning hot and light at the same time.

‘ah.’

How stunning is the view from the stage.

The feeling of finally reaching the desired state after putting in all your effort

How thrilling.

Lee Se-jin’s grinning face with beads of sweat appeared on the electronic display board.

[This must be love]

That was enough.

“Aaaaaaa!!”

A roar that makes your ears ring.

Twin Homma suddenly realized that she had been unconsciously holding the camera in front of her face so that it was fully exposed.

In a state of extreme excitement one was bound to hold on tightly to whatever was in one’s hand.

‘…ah.’

I looked up at the stage with out of breath and saw the idol’s performance boiling over at its peak.

smile.

opening.

How stunning is the view from the stage.

How thrilling it is to see a stage on fire as if someone has put their soul into it.

[Oh love!]

Testa's performance ended at the peak of excitement.

* * *

That night.

-torn

-crazy

– Hahahahaha testa wow

-How do I beat this?

I swept my hand across the smartphone screen.

The impressions expressed in real time by the audience at the just-concluded contest passed by my eyes.

'It's just an explanation and nothing else.'

There is just a lot of emotional expression. There was nothing raw about it.

After a while it will become a mess with the aggro who roughly understood the situation but for now it is the real reaction of the audience.

-If you don't get first place in this it's a masterpiece haha.

Pure admiration.

As the reactions exploded with adrenaline to the point of madness even the people who were there to read the reviews began to get excited.

-Why why?

-What did Testa do lol?

-Is it very different from the middle period?

And finally people who were watching started to give spoilers sporadically focusing on keywords.

‘Blonde’ ‘Arrangement’ ‘Danv’ etc…

‘The story about gestures hasn’t come out yet.’

But it seemed like it was only a matter of time before it came out. Of course it will be mixed with aggro and it will be a mess at first.

‘I’ve already made up my mind to get there.’

…From the moment that guy started talking.

-Let’s change.

I turned my head.

Lee Se-jin who had suggested changing the stage to a barrel three days ago seemed almost lost as she was sprawled out on the sofa in the waiting room.

It was worth it.

‘It seemed like everything was poured out.’

The capabilities he showed when he took over as the center of the mid-to-late dance break on stage were clearly beyond what I saw during practice.

A frighteningly desperate immersion.

-…!

I felt it intuitively as we performed on stage together not from the front but from the side.

Worst of all it was constantly mentioned in the reviews of excited audience members.

-I don’t know what Keunsejin did but it really turned around in the second half.

-I was coming to the center and suddenly I saw something that looked like a halo.

-Lee Se-jin please look at Danve.

-Look.

Okay guys calm down.

And as soon as the stage ended I confirmed that Keun Se-jin had this trait.

[Please be quiet (EX)]

-Propulsion +180%

You do not feel any stat limitations during activation.

I almost rubbed my eyes.

‘I thought I saw something wrong.’

This is the first time I’ve seen a crazy situation where a trait jumps from B to EX.

And the additional effect attached to it was… it was almost like being hit on the head.

‘I don’t feel like my stats are limited.’

“…”

This was one of the questions I had about the notation of the system so far.

-Is it really impossible to break through the limit stat?

And I felt like I had a vague answer to that.

Even if this is only true when the characteristic is activated on stage.

‘You can do it.’

The limit has been broken.

The analysis of the system was not flawless. There were certainly exceptions and loopholes.

okay. Sun Ah-hyeon’s characteristic ‘guts’ which ignored ‘status abnormalities’ was also an example.

‘Maybe the system is making up for its own errors with each individual’s ‘characteristics’.’

I guessed with a clear head.

Taking that into account it wasn’t a strange thing.

Sejin Lee.

His characteristics were probably suppressed.

Over the past few years there have been so many controversies and incidents that we had to make a rational decision rather than use our momentum.

‘That’s why I couldn’t do what I wanted and endured it.’

This time it exploded in the wake of the ‘Eter provocation’ incident.

The same was true for the trait of ignoring limit stats.

If there’s only one guy on this team who has those characteristics… it’s a big boost.

It wasn’t awkward at all.

‘…anyway.’

Well let’s analyze the reasoning about the rest of the system a little later.

For now I didn’t think it would be a bad idea to enjoy the results of this contest.

I chuckled and turned off my phone screen.

Although the online verdict has not been released yet the results in the on-site atmosphere were already clear.

That shout.

-Wow!!

won

Testa’s all-in gamble… paid off.

‘This is it.’

I quietly threw my smartphone aside and placed my head on the head of the sofa.

I felt pleasantly relieved of my strength.

“Wow… everyone is awake right?”

Sejin Lee opened her mouth in a hazy voice as if she was refreshed or exhausted.

There was a clear response here and there that even though I was feeling weak I was in a good mood.

‘I am indeed.’

It was fun.

The thing is that the guys who decided to completely reverse everything they had planned to do three days ago and take a crazy gamble are in a peaceful state after the performance is over.

Even Liu Chengwu burst into laughter.

“hmm. “I don’t know how to say this but I think people should live their lives doing what they want to do.”

“…uh.”

Bae Se-jin who gritted his teeth and endured the three days of crazy forced march was delighted with Se-jin’s change of attitude more than anyone else and almost mumbled his answer.

“Yep I liked it too.”

“It was useful and satisfying…”

The guy who greeted me with excitement and the guy who actually liked it when the second arrangement plan was adopted.

And finally Seon Ah-hyun’s words.

“For asking me to do it like this… Thank you Sejin. It was good…”

It was sincere gratitude.

I jumped on the bandwagon and nodded slightly.

“…no way”

Keun Se-jin seemed to be trying to answer in a low voice but was silent for a moment as if his throat was blocked.

Then he suddenly shouted in a lively voice.

“Well shall we give it a try?”

“Uh oh…”

“great…”

Fighting here and there with bad timing popped up with significance. Staff passed by from all directions laughing.

‘Good atmosphere… ’

I closed my eyes.

At that time the guy standing across from me called out to someone.

“Mundaemun University.”

why.

“I think I did a really good job of doing this.”

Big Sejin lay down and muttered.

It was a voice full of satisfaction as if drunk in a dream.

“I’m just… happy?”

“…”

Are you coming?

I tapped him with my foot.

“Do it for the rest of your life.”

“…! Of course～ Ah don’t you know Testa Forever?”

The guy was lying down grinning and raising his fist.

“Ah Testa showed me something today too!”

“Ohhhh!”

Satisfactory performance.

Before they knew it Eter who had been a hot potato had been pushed to the background even in these guys’ minds.

And the moment this contest was aired on live broadcast.

-omg

The same phenomenon occurred on the Internet.

* * *

-Crazy hahahaha

-It turned ㅅㅂ

Ether’s waiting room.

After the main broadcast of the contest stage it was finally a filming site where everyone gathered to announce the rankings.

The structure was almost the same as Testa's waiting room but the atmosphere was completely different.

A strange feeling of nervousness and embarrassment weighed heavily on the air.

And even a small murmur.

"Is this intentional again?"

"Really something like that…"

Because of the previous leak I couldn't make a big fuss but I knew who the staff was talking about.

Testa!

The team that upset the stage after the mid-term evaluation heard whispers from officials at the time of the contest that it was clear to everyone that they had kept Eter in check.

He said 'I didn't know he would do that.'

But the problem is…

-Wow this is a contest.

It's so good.

And it was visible that he was desperately trying to do better.

To some extent at the time it aired there were almost no topics comparing it to Ether on the Internet.

Even though there was already a controversy going around that it was changed with Ether in mind due to spoilers from the audience.

People were just saying in real time that Testa did a good job and then finally the topic of ‘We changed the stage by keeping Eter in check’ came up.

-Hmm the difference in stage quality is not enough to say that they were kept in check…

-By any chance did Eter kill any of the testers during the mid-term evaluation? Wow they massacred the civilians haha.

-In competitions the best thing to do is to do your best.

-Just cast it while you’re at it don’t get caught talking nonsense.

-Are you a Wonder Hall employee who was fired?

Because this is what happened.

No one was offended. When the result was overwhelming the intermediate process tended to be glorified and this story even contributed to the nature of the result.

-It’s been a few years since I debuted but I’m tired of it.

-Ah I feel really refreshed. If you want to be in the first team you have to be like this.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠCompared to when he was Azusa his anger hasn’t changed at all. Look at this (eye comparison video)

-If this was a failure it was going to be

A desperate attitude that stays alive even after selling over a million albums!

Obsession and desperate effort for stage quality!

Rather it became a selling point as the stage preparation process was revealed.

-Generation change seems to be difficult.

-sssssss

The public tends to be tolerant of things they like at first impression.

For a while comparison posts were ignored telling people not to be impatient while watching the performance and even people liked this story saying it was more interesting.

Driving public opinion too hastily had the opposite effect.

-Jinseong's competition is so funny these days haha.

It was a complete defeat.

So the expressions on the staff's faces when they heard about this situation inside the company were not bright.

Of course the Eter parties who were almost banned from Internet monitoring under the pretext of 'voluntary self-restraint' did not know this news.

However just by looking at the atmosphere of the staff everyone could already feel it.

That I lost.

"No you guys did well. Who would have thought it would be like that there? really…"

"They probably did it later on purpose…"

fizzle.

One of the managers who was trying to make a speculative comment while being noticed by other staff closed his mouth.

However the leader of Eter had already heard all of those words.

'…'

He was sitting calmly on the sofa but his clenched hands were shaking.

‘what’s this.’

It was unfair.

This time it was time to step up.

This was an opportunity for all the group members and staff to gain strength by overcoming adversity and finally achieving results and encouraging each other.

“under…”

“Hey it’s okay it’s okay.”

The members who were clapping at each other had a look of resignation on their faces as if they had already seen the result.

‘…This isn’t it.’

My stomach was boiling. I felt like crying.

-Thank you for your hard work～

It became even more so when I remembered Testa casually saying hello and leaving the filming set as if it was refreshing.

How can they set the stage as if they were holding themselves in check and not even change their complexion?

From then on it seemed like I was suffering from mental aftereffects.

“…wait a minute.”

The leader stood up.

Since I couldn’t throw water on my face I wanted to cool off on the cool emergency exit stairs.

And that was when I left the waiting room door.

I saw a tall figure drawing a drink from a vending machine right next to me.

A man in slacks who raises his body in an upright posture.

“…ah.”

It was tester Sun Ah-hyun.

And only after a few seconds did the Ether leader realize that he had been staring blankly at the other person’s face without even saying hello.

“Oh that.”

“…I’m so sorry! “I was thinking about something else… I’ll pass by senior.”

The Eter leader spoke loudly with gritted teeth then turned around and tried to walk away again.

He had made a firm promise not to show a dejected appearance.

But soon a gentle hand touched my back.

“Just a moment.”

“…”

Even so since he was a senior the Eter leader eventually turned his head to be polite.

And saw.

“…!!”

What Sun Ah-hyun was holding in one hand was a drink from a vending machine.

But what he held in his other hand… was a small note.

I saw words written on a dark blue cover.

＜Practice＞

…It was his own handwriting.

That’s me… thoughts analysis and application ideas written while watching Testa’s music video and notes.

It was his note.

“…”

When did you drop it?

“This… is what the Eter member left behind at the filming set last time… right?”

The Ether leader suddenly froze as if his heart had fallen.

Chapter 538

Ether leader Noir's practice notes.

He created it by analyzing his senior's music video over and over again while he was sleeping.

-I've tried to distribute the distribution to our members as best as possible according to their positions. Would you like to try it like this?

-As expected brother!

I vividly remember feeling proud among the members who said it was amazing.

And the sincere positive reviews from the staff during the mid-term evaluation and the brightened expressions of the employees at the company after the pre-released video.

Thanks to the good feedback I was able to spend several days practicing without worry.

However a few days later the main broadcast of the competition stage took place.

[Wow!]

[Did you just see it?]

Like a lie Testa overturned all the choreography and arrangement shown during the mid-term evaluation and brought a powerful performance.

As if he had sniped at Ether.

And Eter's leader was as shocked as the satisfaction and confidence he felt while performing on stage just before.

For the next few days only afterimages of that stage regret resentment and sadness swirled through my mind.

I barely managed to keep up with my schedule but when the cameras weren't rolling I forgot all the little things I normally took care of.

Among them… there were those practice notes.

It had already served its purpose and was no longer needed.

"…"

And now it was in the hands of the senior Testa member who was the person involved in the analysis.

Asking myself 'Isn't this something that belongs to an Eter member?'

A situation I never imagined.

I felt my blood run cold.

'What should I do?'

Did you see inside the note? No there was no question. I'm sure you saw it. Since I checked the contents I decided that it was from Ether.

My hair turned white.

Noir desperately tried to think of something but before that something came out of his mouth reflexively.

"I… I don't know."

I was a bit scared.

I couldn't think of a way to fix it so out of anxiety I started denying it.

"I don't think it's our member's note."

"…"

The other person Sun Ah-hyun did not answer. I just quietly held the note and stared.

And Noir realized that he had said something absurd.

It's not ether!

Now didn't that senior give other people a reason to casually show the note and ask 'Is it yours?'

And if other people see it… I mean.

'ah… '

Cold sweat ran down my back.

He stood there frozen unable to believe that something like this had happened so suddenly.

It didn't feel real.

'Is it a nightmare?'

It was time to think like that.

"Okay… then can you possibly find the owner? "It seems like there is no owner on our side."

Noir stopped breathing for a moment.

At a sound that made me doubt my ears I wondered for a moment whether I had heard it wrong.

“Here.”

However Sun Ah-hyun stretched out one hand and handed a note to herself.

“…”

There was no need to hand the item over to a junior who said ‘I don’t know’ or ‘It’s not ours’ to ask them to find the owner.

Noir knew instinctively too.

‘I know.’

The fact that this note is his.

that you are lying.

It was an action that couldn’t have been done if Sun Ah-hyun wasn’t sure.

But he couldn’t miss this heaven-sent opportunity so he quickly nodded and stretched out his hands.

“yes…!”

The moment I grabbed the note and accepted it the dizzying fear subsided and a sense of relief filled me.

‘ah.’

He held the note tightly. My heart slowed down as if it had lasted ten years.

Testa Sun Ah-hyun didn’t say anything even as she looked at that scene.

He just nodded slightly with a calm expression then turned around and walked down the hallway with his drink in hand.

“…”

Only then did the Ether leader begin to feel other emotions and thoughts than relief.

It was just shame.

About how you appear to others…

‘Oh no.’

He quickly stopped thinking.

This was due to the uniqueness of the situation.

Isn’t it natural for idols who want to work hard to analyze the performances of their competitors and seniors?

‘Yes it’s natural… but the situation is strange.’

This was because Eter’s staff was confused by rumors and controversy that they had kept Testa in check.

At a time like this Testa was embarrassed because he thought he might misunderstand if he suddenly saw the notes in which Eter studied their gestures.

‘I didn’t intentionally study only Testa’s gestures.’

Since I didn’t have time I quickly analyzed the idols who were my current competitors. Eter thought they were just trying hard.

I didn’t mean to embarrass myself.

However given the situation it may seem that way to the other person which is why I was so embarrassed.

because…

-Because Testa senior doesn't know my situation.

"…"

However at that moment the leader of Eter realized a sense of incongruity in the completed sentence.

Senior Testa wasn't the only one who didn't know his situation.

'…It would have seemed that way to anyone.'

If I had shown the note to anyone other than Ether officials they would have had a similar reaction.

'Eter persistently imitated Testa's gestures'…

Because that is the result.

'The exception is me.'

He was only looking at himself generously.

Because I know all about my unfairness and circumstances.

'Because it's my job… '

The moment I realized that it was like a protective shield was broken and a rush of cold air passed through my head.

"…"

Noir put her notebook in her arms with trembling hands as if to cover them.

I felt like I woke up from a dream.

'I see.'

Everyone has circumstances.

But since I know everything about my situation I just show a particularly compassionate attitude towards myself.

And usually it was called self-justification.

If we remove this self-justification and think that everything is someone else's problem…

'…It was a shameful thing.'

And wouldn't I have thought that a senior who treated a junior who imitated him without permission without being so condescending was a much better person?

"…"

He thought of Sun Ah-hyun who silently handed over the note to him and Lee Se-jin who gently responded to his thoughtful words.

In fact in all those situations I realized that I wanted to find evidence that my seniors were bad people.

'Because it makes me feel at ease… '

Because I feel comfortable that the people who take care of me are good people and the people who get in my way are bad people.

It's already hard but it's so hard to blame my company when I can't do anything about it.

It has been unconsciously ignored.

"…"

The leader of Ether slowly left the hallway and began to return to the waiting room.

My mind was sufficiently cold.

And that day.

————————= =

3.1. Testa reference controversy (7)

————————= =

After filming was over he began to look up the incidents and accidents of Eter that were evaluated by the public for the first time using a laptop he had secretly brought into his dorm.

I tried not to look for indiscriminate swearing.

However just by looking at the articles that people had organized I had already received a huge psychological shock.

-… Various materials including compositions props and choreography were released and the opinion that ‘It is only Testa that can be considered a reference’ (9) spread mainly in the entertainment community…

“…”

If you look through the photo materials that have already imitated Testa from the debut album tears will come to your eyes.

I kind of wanted to run away.

‘Couldn’t these people be mistaken?’

But he tried to shake off that thought and look at the data as objectively as possible.

However the more it happened the more it seemed like Eter was a wrong group from the planning stage.

‘Is that so?’

As an idol I felt like everything was wrong with me so much so that I even had the urge to retire.

Then I found it.

It was a screenshot of a fan’s SNS post.

-It seems that Eter barely participates in producing but this problem needs to be fixed at the company planning team level. Even if Eter members don’t like it there’s nothing we can do about it.

He realized.

‘ah.’

Fans also did not think of the company and themselves on the same lines.

There was a proposition there.

-A company and an idol are not the same.

“…”

He wiped away his tears and concluded.

First let’s reflect on and correct our mistakes.

And there was no need for me to defend or become overly invested in the company’s faults.

It was okay to have opposing opinions.

‘Because the company is not me.’

My heart felt much cooler.

widely.

He closed his laptop after completing an ego search full of growing pains.

And then I remembered the announcement of the results of the contest we filmed today.

-1st place is… Testa!

-and!

Testa's place was noisy with applause and happiness.

And Eter finished in 3rd place.

It's not a ranking that earned sympathy because it didn't fail and it's not a ranking that's great enough to attract attention.

The company failed to meet expectations and the group's goals were not achieved.

Nothing happened as desired…

However Noir was no longer unfair.

* * *

-Sir thank you for always giving me kind words even though I have caused a lot of trouble. If I can meet you next time I would like to see you as a more mature person…

"The Eter kid sent this?"

"Ugh."

Sun Ah-hyun nodded. For reference what this guy handed out was not a KakaoTalk message or a message but a handwritten note.

Maybe they chose this method because they weren't close enough to exchange numbers. Even though I asked the manager to let me know the relationship between the staff was so bad.

'hmm.'

I skimmed through the text he sent again.

To summarize it would be a profuse apology and a pledge to prevent recurrence.

"He gave it to me but actually… I think he gave it to our group."

"okay?"

Although she couldn't really agree Sun Ah-hyun nodded with a slight smile.

"Ugh. "It was because I found the note in the first place."

Well that's right.

Actually I was the one who found the note on set a few days ago.

-…? That one.

'I was observing the behavior of the staff there and saw them leaving it on the chair.'

And the moment I checked the contents of the note…

-Are you leaving this behind?

I thought it was a crazy jackpot.

Several appropriate ways to expose things that could shake things up immediately came to mind…

‘I didn’t use it.’

uh. discarded. The reason is simple.

This is because Testa was persuaded by Keun Se-jin and went all-in to gamble on the stage.

I also felt like adding more variables here.

‘I don’t know what will pop out due to the balloon effect if I step on the Wonder Hole like a dog.’

As the body was so large I didn’t know that something unexpected could happen as sparks flew.

Unlike Wonder Hall which has been in the industry for decades and has hundreds of employees we are still a small startup and do not have the staff to take care of everything. So I was a little worried.

It can be seen that he chose a political detour.

I chuckled as I placed the letter from the Eter leader on the table.

‘Well… actually when it explodes it’s less efficient because it’s an Eter member rather than a Wonder Hole member.’

You should be harassing the company but even if you harass that non-regular worker who is completely integrated into the company it only leaves a bad aftertaste.

And the notes assigned to him at Sun Ah-hyun’s insistence… seem to have had a pretty good effect.

‘I can’t believe the attack on conscience worked.’

After all a child is a child. Now I won’t have to bother you for a while.

“You had a hard time.”

“Oh no.”

Sun Ah-hyun also looked back at the letter with a happy face as if she wasn’t feeling too bad.

‘It ended so neatly.’

I thought it was cool.

However I received a call from Wonder Hall officials a few days later…

[Oh I heard you won first place. Congratulations on Testa!]

It was T-holic Ha Jin-tae.

However this attribute of ‘Wonder Hall official’ was now limited.

“…Congratulations on your independence from T-Holic seniors.”

[haha! No somehow the conditions were right and we became the CEO together.]

That’s right.

These guys were planning to become independent soon with their own name as their own boss.

But do you know why they were able to screw up the large Wonder Hall so much while barely becoming independent?

Of course there was a part of me that believed in it.

[So I guess we’ll have a lot more to see right?]

“…Of course.”

That comment wasn’t made out of politeness… it’s a very plain truth.

‘Damn it.’

Surprisingly the T-Holics also took money from LeTi just like us.

They didn’t even bother to hide it. He slapped the driver.

‘Anyway the position doesn’t overlap with VTIC right now.’

T-holic is a popular entertainment-type idol whose prime as a performer has already passed.

In this case T-Holic fans would also prefer to know that a large agency’s organizational skills and capital were invested rather than worrying about being scattered around due to individual activities.

Yes that’s right… but look at this.

‘Suddenly the male idols who received the grand prize all ended up in the same line.’

Seniors and juniors tied up with capital.

That’s how this crazy game was set up…

[I’m sure I’ll see a lot of juniors at Orbit the Testa company. Oh can we really all get together like this this time and have something like a sports day? how is it?]

The offer is also terrible so stop.

“Wouldn’t it be difficult to keep up with the schedule?”

[Ah of course we old people who play have to accommodate the young and busy testa schedules!]

Fortunately the guy who was giggling as if he had noticed soon turned around to say goodbye.

[Oh I heard you’re really busy this time too. Enjoy it because it’s proof that everything is going well. This album is also a hit!]

"…thank you."

This was a plain fact.

Aggro and Testa which appeared at my US awards ceremony attracted overseas inflow through synergy with internet memes planted in the English-speaking world.

Thanks to this album activity and Bae Se-jin's past acting activities the company's rating in the system was smoothly rising.

'I just need to prove my weight class a little more.'

What is that?

[Let's go on tour now right?]

"yes."

That's right. It's a concert tour.

Since ancient times there is nothing better to write about overseas than the number of seats.

'I'm going the standard way.'

And of course we have deployed our own content one by one during each break due to tour.

There was no exception this time too.

[Testa's hotteok sales competition… Do you remember? (Eye emoticon) We are back!]

I finally found a hotteok entertainment production crew.

However there was a slight difference.

[But now it's the opposite]

"…"

[Please watch Testa earn money just to eat a piece of hotteok (link)]

…Program name <Testa's A Lonely Gourmet Journey>.

Planning completed.

Chapter 539

As I said last time there is a reason why the production team that worked with Testa on entertainment shows from Hotteok Pal to Carrot Coin has not been used recently.

That PD was from a T1 affiliate line.

In the first place that was why I often met Testa who I had heard called T1's son since his debut.

It is said that contact was difficult after Testa became independent.

'What can an office worker do?'

So last time Testa's occult entertainment saved someone else.

Ryu Seo-rin who was the writer of <Azusa> but was kicked out by T1. I collaborated with that author… but interestingly enough there was a butterfly effect that occurred as a result of that incident.

The point is that writer Ryu Seo-rin has been building her career by launching a very successful entertainment show since then.

The writer who moved to a studio close to Netplus thanks to Testa's own content was on the rise as the main writer of entertainment for the promotion of dramas and movies.

I also made good use of my connections with Bae Se-jin so the cast of <The Doll Hunter> also appeared on that variety show.

-… I don't think he's a very good person but I can't owe him anything.

That was correct.

And Ryu Seo-rin who is certified by Bae Se-jin as someone who can't be trusted with character ends up exerting a positive influence that even she could have never expected.

Producers from that line who were dissatisfied with T1 gained courage after seeing this case and several of them even defected to independent studios.

-everyone! I quit my job hahaha!

…This PD was quite included in it… That's it.

Then with the typical madness of a retired office worker he suggested that we do entertainment.

Of course we thought what the heck.

"let's do it. Please let's do it."

"I heard you want to take a picture of Munggei too?"

It's already been about half a year since we broke up with T1. The testers' desire for fun entertainment shows that they had been unable to film for a while was aroused…

"ha ha ha! i look forward to!"

In this way collaboration was accomplished once again.

"Please take care of us. "I trust that the PD will make it as good as always."

"Okay then. "Isn't it true that people should do what they are good at?"

It was so shocking that this extraordinary producer was overwhelmed by the momentum of Ryu Cheong-woo shaking his hand.

"The same emotions as back then! "I'll do my best."

Still when I saw him smiling it seemed like he was full of confidence…

“Is it okay if I make a suggestion?”

“yes? Oh sure. do!”

“Of course the sensibility of the entertainment we filmed before was good but I was afraid that if we continued to be similar there would be many people who would predict the content.”

It would have been difficult if when leaving the company I had used up all my energy and chose a no-fun option to play it safe.

The PD answered simply.

“Oh just the emotions are the same.”

“…??”

“The content is the opposite!”

Wow.

And Testa suddenly encountered the production team’s flashy PPT.

[Testa’s Lonely Gourmet Journey]

Boom!

Along with the working title dazzling rainbow colors dominated the conference room. It’s a composition I’ve seen many times filled with well-wishes and emoticons.

‘…KakaoTalk meme for the elderly.’

The members fell into confusion.

Only Raebin Kim is looking at the PPT with interest with his eyes shining seriously.

[No need to bake hotteok anymore!]

[Let's earn money and buy delicious food!]

"Do you… make money?"

"You all have jobs right~"

[I support Testa's activities~ ^^]

[Idols let's do idol work!]

"…"

wait for a sec.

By no means should I buy delicious food with the money I earned from the tour… I'm not saying that we should do entertainment that only heals idols.

In fact aren't you going to get criticized for calling it a deceiver special rather than healing?

"Oh of course excluding what you earn when the cameras aren't running!"

yes.

"Only the money earned while our camera director is watching is recognized!"

Fortunately the PD was steadfast.

But then… how on earth do you make money doing 'idol work'?

"omg! Are you coming to our concert?"

“Oh it can’t be like that～”

From there PPT started again.

The plot is about idols making money while being idols and spending it all on food.

Here how can an idol turn his main job into a short-term part-time job while traveling?

[Let’s perform!]

[where? At a travel destination!]

[☆Testa’s street performance☆]

This is busking.

“…”

While on tour in a foreign country ‘Is the busking singer with crazy talent who suddenly appears actually a KPOP megastar?’ A meta that hides the same power!

Aiming for Gukbbong MAX!

The ambition to properly attract aggro in PPT was burning brightly.

“You guys love your work so much wherever you are! Any conditions! “You can demonstrate your 100% ability right?”

[Good luck with your main job as a tester!]

“…”

“…”

There was a moment of indescribable silence in the conference room.

But there was no escape.

“Is it true that I can’t perform unless it’s a big stage? “I’m not confident I can make money with just my skills?”

“I’m absolutely not like that!”

The PD laughed hard at Raebin Kim’s voluntary tax payment. Is it good?

“great!”

Next to him Bae Se-jin covered his face. I feel like I’ve given up.

…and all of this is filmed and uploaded as a pre-release video with a title like ‘Testa’s shocking reaction never seen before’.

‘For some reason there was only a PD in the conference room.’

I should have expected it…

Time passes like that.

The day we left the country for a tour and were taken out onto the streets by the production crew who followed us carrying various things.

-But from the fans’ point of view wouldn’t it be disappointing to see someone on the street for free even though they bought a ticket and went to the concert a day or two apart?

-Then just don’t show it!

-…??

I wasn’t feeling fine right now.

I’m wearing a penalty outfit that I (forcedly) chose through a minigame…

‘That’s awesome.’

That’s Rudolph.

It wasn’t even a doll mask but makeup.

“…”

I felt the red nose fluttering from my nose and looked into my hoof-gloved hands.

‘I gave money even if I saw it.’

I would have given money out of sympathy for the guy who did this.

A luminous light came from the stupidly attached nose and flashed. I picked up the microphone.

And carols sung passionately.

[Oh~! baby You and me~ on a Snowy Christmas!]

Next to him Santa did a breaking dance. This is Cha Yu-jin wearing a barefoot Australian-style Santa.

A warm year-end.

I never imagined that the day would come when I would do something like this on the streets of another country.

* * *

＜Testa’s A Lonely Gastronomic Journey＞ was launched with an unusual tentative title.

And we received an explosive response from the pre-release video.

-The production crew are crazy people

-I waited for this taste

This is because although this was the main reaction there were definitely areas where likes and dislikes differed.

-It must be hard for the kids to concentrate on the tour stage so are you asking them to perform on the street again?;;

-I don't know if it has to be like this.

-What's the difference between it and antlers?

Doesn't it somehow hurt our pride that a singer from our country is trying to earn some small change by performing on the streets in another country?

However all these worries disappeared in the official trailer released one after another.

[♬Call me Santa Claus～]

In the snowy square on the screen a snowman was singing a chord while Rudolph and a gift box were running around happily.

To the tune of carols.

-crazy

– Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

-No this is a part-time job of dressing up as a doll.

-Isn't this an opening party?

Testa's costume show which presents a splendid street performance with his soul blown away was already more like an amusement park parade than busking…

Moreover the skill of livening up the mood with Christmas carols which is the easiest way to cheer up the end of the year somehow reminded me of a part-time worker at a business opening event.

-For some reason there were no eyewitness accounts.

-Who knows lol

-The person who got this didn't even know he got it.

-Even looking at the camera I think people would have misunderstood me as a comedy YouTuber. What should I do?

There was even a scene where he received bread from a nearby store merchant after being mistaken as a worker employed by the local government. At this point even the skeptical person could no longer hold back his laughter.

-lost

-Hey you look happy?

-This is not an idol stage this is a new job experience.

Moreover it does not simply end here but has been supplemented.

Testa did not make money through busking in this entertainment show but rather received busking missions from the production team and received pocket money if he succeeded.

And to the neat conclusion he donated all the money he received.

[Testa who worked hard]

[It also does healing…]

Of course mukbang was also included.

The scenes of people visiting various restaurants in the city they were on tour and even trying the challenge menu were shown on the screen in quick succession of cuts.

In addition working and eating while listening to various stories about the travel destination from people in the country was quite a worthwhile experience.

Of course I also encountered something unusual.

[Pedestrian: Thank you for joining our protest! It was a big help!]

[Lee Se-jin:…?!]

[I started social activities without realizing it]

There was no sitcom out there where the members who had almost been certified as participating in an unidentified protest held at the same location cried out for the production crew and ran away with their instruments.

[Bae Se-jin: You can hear what the protest is about!]

[Lee Se-jin: Bro we are foreigners on a trip!]

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssss

-This is what was said in the bar entertainment show.

-I admit it we have honest conversations as if we were drinking.

Are you crazy hahaha

And as if he had failed in his mission I also passed by the sight of Testa just looking at the menu in front of the restaurant without any money.

[Cha Yu-jin: I want to eat this!]

[Bae Se-jin: (Looking at the wallet and shaking)]

[Seon Ah-hyun: (a person who is not familiar with this situation)]

And even a clear answer.

[Lee Se-jin: Let's ask Moon Dae to do it~]

[Park Moon-dae: (Me?)]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Okay let's give money to Mundae.]

Park Moon-dae's mesmerized expression was slowly shown in close-up.

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Park Moon-dae: ($$Employed as a chef$$)]

-Hmmkkk

it.

[It is full of laughter adversity and healing.]

[No lonely gastronomic journey]

[Let's leave with you now~]

The trailer ended with Testa waving his hand at the self-cam.

-Good.

-Sounds fun.

-I want to see you soonㅠㅠ

-Yeah this is what travel entertainment is about… It's only fun when there's an unexpected situation.

But what if there is a production team that creates that unexpected situation?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkk

It seemed like a dynamic entertainment show was coming for the first time in a while!

People left friendly comments creating a good atmosphere.

-I was a bit manic about Jackon last time but I like this one.

-I'm going to watch it with my younger brotherㅠㅠ

-Please look for any sightings of people wearing funny makeup and singing in the tour cities.

If you search on WeTube you will definitely find this one haha.

Videos that are popular with fans and good for business are always welcome.

Moreover the tester in the video looked happy even though he had a little hard time so I didn't feel uncomfortable!

-Are you still filming? Today is a rainy day between concerts.

Oh that could happen hahahahahahahahahahahahaha it's Spain now right?

Fans had fun guessing and chatting about what interesting things Testa was doing now.

And at the same time.

"I feel like I've… lost my way."

"…"

Park Moon-dae and Sun Ah-hyeon were stranded in the middle of Spain.

'Cha Yujin!'

I've never been so desperate to be the only Spanish native on the team.

Chapter 540

This is an alley in Barcelona Spain.

Hahaha!

It is a foreign landscape filled with the sounds of children running around and adults walking around busily.

And we got lost.

“…”

“…”

Embarrassed? So do I.

Why… Me and Sun Ah-hyun were suddenly standing in the middle of Spain.

If I were to tell this story I would have to tell the story of when I had just arrived in Spain.

-Oooh! Barcelona is a really cool city…

-We have to eat churros!

-…

So under Cha Yu-jin’s strong insistence I tried to go to a churros restaurant…

-… Where did he go?

-Cha Yujin!!

Cha Yu-jin suddenly evaporated in the alley and with panicked people running around we were separated from the production crew.

‘What’s going on like this?’

We too are evaporated while trying to find Cha Yu-jin. I tried to rack my brain.

It was the first lost child incident I had experienced in decades.

Of course these are two grown adults so there’s no reason they can’t stay calm. I calmly opened my mouth.

“First of all… take a taxi.”

And then I realized.

‘I can’t ride it.’

I have no money.

Currently according to the entertainment concept the production team holds the entire budget and we use our pocket money through busking missions.

And even that pocket money was divided into operating funds Ryu Cheong-woo’s emergency fund and Bae Se-jin.

That is for us…

“…You can take the bus once.”

“…I see.”

There was only enough cash left.

‘Smartphone pay service won’t work because it’s overseas.’

wait for a sec.

I put my hands in my pockets and realized the fatal fact that I didn't even have a smartphone in the first place.

This is because I left it to my manager so that I wouldn't be caught using it while filming.

And Sun Ah-hyun doesn't use her smartphone much in the first place so she keeps it in her bag.

"…"

So now… two foreigners have landed in a foreign country with no money.

'I'm going crazy.'

The moment I had to change buses I had to contact the embassy because I didn't have a single penny. This was a shocking moment.

Sun Ah-hyun must have realized the situation her face turned pale and she stood up.

"I'll… tell the others…!"

"for a moment."

What kind of confidence does this guy have when he can only speak English and French?

Of course if you use English words and make hand gestures it will work to some extent but then you will not only attract attention…

'It's difficult if there is misunderstanding in communication.'

We must not forget that we are celebrities. If you are guided to the wrong place some kind of controversy may arise…

So let's think of a simpler method.

A simple lost child rule.

"Let's sit down and talk."

It's just waiting for the group. So as not to get confused for no reason.

"Ugh…"

I just sat on a nearby bench in the alley next to this square. Sun Ah-hyun followed suit and quickly sat down next to him.

So I felt a little more calm.

'It's been a long time since this happened.'

It seemed like it had been several years since I sat leisurely in an open space outside on a bright day watching people.

Even though I'm doing this because I've lost my way.

'It's not bad.'

I kept my mouth shut and looked at the square.

"It feels like it's been a while since I walked around outdoors like this…"

Sun Ah-hyun's face also softened.

But then as if he realized something he quickly added in embarrassment.

"Of course I am grateful and happy to be able to work hard but…!"

"yes."

It's just… well it's not a bad thing to enjoy something like this sometimes.

When I nodded Sun Ah-hyun seemed a little relieved and the atmosphere returned to people-watching.

'hmm.'

Now that I think about it something came to mind when I was talking about activities.

"Seon Ah-hyeon."

"Ugh."

"Do you have any desire to try solo?"

I thought Sun Ah-hyun was jumping up from the bench.

"My I…?!"

"uh."

Even if I postponed my enlistment as much as possible due to the cultural medal in order to manage my prime I could not avoid going to the military itself.

'He who is going must go.'

If you want to maintain public opinion in Korea it is a choice with no other options.

Then naturally around that time it will be effective to play solo or as a unit back and forth.

It was a reality that would come within a few years.

However looking at Sun Ah-hyun's reaction it seemed like she had never even thought about going solo.

The guy seemed to be deep in thought but then shook his head seriously.

“I still prefer working with the members.”

“Is that so?”

“huh.”

I wonder if I would faint if I found out that Kim Rae-bin has already released the demo version of Sun Ah-hyun’s solo song.

‘First of all if we want to lower the barrier to entry we should start with this unit.’

I chuckled and nodded.

“I also feel more inclined to team activities.”

“…huh!”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded her head as if she was quite happy.

Even though the team activity we did just before was dressing up as a Christmas tree and selling stamps on the street…

It was even B-level makeup.

The twinkling light bulbs were singing a cappella carols but rather than being sacred it seemed like a ploy to sell stamps.

It was miserable.

‘…We all ended up losing the minigame together.’

The 7 people… no the 7 sparkling moving trees were so amazing that there were more people looking at them than ever before.

For reference the mission given by the production team was to ‘get cheers from three or more children’ and after a desperate argument that all minors were children Testa was successful.

-If you haven’t grown up you’re all a child! for a moment. Could it be that the PD is saying that a minor is an adult…?

-No you are pushing it like this.

Since we had money for food the idea of buying churros passed without difficulty.

‘Cha Yu-jin… ’

I wiggled my eyebrows.

I don’t know why he ran away but anyway if he’s caught he will have to eat only a healthy low-salt diet from the moment the cameras turn off and throughout the tour.

‘Eat late night snacks only in your dreams.’

I was also a little worried about what the members and production staff would do after we disappeared but when I looked at the list of remaining members it seemed okay.

‘Only the calm ones remain.’

They were the ones who could find us.

I stretched my legs and leaned back on the bench.

In fact the weather in December is cold and I feel lost.

It was a gourmet trip and I didn’t have anything to eat even snacks but I really didn’t feel too bad.

‘Maybe it’s because I put on so much strange makeup.’

When I compared it this was a fairy.

How long had he been sitting like that?

“Guys!”

“…!!”

I heard familiar Korean.

When I turned my head Inyoung came running from far away and waved her hand.

“brother…!”

It was Liu Chengwu.

The guy who was rarely out of breath ran towards me in one step.

“Are you both okay?”

“yes.”

“yes!”

As expected the right answer was to stay where I was. The situation was over.

I was willing to get up from the bench and greet him.

however…

“But what about the others?”

“ah.”

…’ah’?

When I heard the ominous sound and looked into the guy's face Liu Chengwu looked behind me where no one was around and smiled shyly.

"It looks like it fell because you were looking for it."

"…!!"

"Well then…"

It was just before Seon Ah-hyeon's voice came out of her mouth that she was just giving Mia +1.

I held back a sigh.

'Still three is better than two.'

This guy even has the most important thing.

Money.

"…But thanks to my brother I can take a taxi or anything else. "What if the production crew can't find us?"

"Okay that will do. Before that…"

Liu Chengwu smiled.

"After you eat something. "You've been in a cold place for a long time."

"ah…"

Sun Ah-hyun was touched but at that moment an idea crossed my mind.

'Something to eat?'

wait for a sec.

Could it be that Cha Yu-jin's destination is…

* * *

Next to the square.

"Gracias!"

Churros restaurant.

Standing in front of the store with the smell of cinnamon in the air I nodded.

"I think he'll come here."

Unlike us Yujin Cha who is a Spanish native will find her way.

So I don't know what it is but after achieving the purpose there was a high probability that I would naturally go to my original destination.

"That's a good guess. "It's perfect for you to eat."

"hmm."

Because it's better to be on the street so people can see us looking for us. This is better than the food that goes inside somewhere.

I nodded slightly and Liu Chengwu smiled and walked towards the store.

Come to think of it that guy's coat is a bit much to wear in this weather.

"Aren't you cold?"

"are you okay. "I also ran a bit."

The guy who responded lightly took out a bill from a lucky bag that said <pocket money> given to him by the production crew.

And placing an order.

“Esto por favor.”

“…!!”

Surprisingly Liu Chengwu spoke Spanish.

‘What is it?’

He must have sensed the gaze on me and spoke in an embarrassed manner.

“I’m not good at it but I remember learning something a little bit before.”

“…”

It probably refers to the steer era.

“It can be helpful like this.”

The guy who said that smiled wryly as if it was something new.

For a guy who seemed to be reminiscing about those days the strange feeling of rejection towards ‘steer’s self’ that he had felt before seemed to have subsided quite a bit.

The guy even opened his mouth again while waiting to receive the churros.

“…Now that I think about it there were times when Yujin left the room without saying a word when she was resting.”

It seemed like it suddenly came to mind in light of the current situation in which he had evaporated.

"…I guess it was because I was having a hard time."

At that moment Sun Ah-hyun answered.

"But right now Eugene… I think he'll tell me directly if he's having a hard time."

"…!"

Liu Chengwu was surprised for a moment but then grinned.

"that's right. Right now I don't think I'll leave suddenly."

It was a pleasantly stable response.

Sun Ah-hyun also quickly smiled and nodded.

I could feel the trust in the group and its members which had been running well for several years through the conversation.

I feel embarrassed for having given Cha Yu-jin a low-salt meal.

"Do you think so too…?"

"okay."

I leaned slightly against the wall.

Well… if we were to look at it with a somewhat generous attitude we could have thought that Cha Yu-jin must have had a good reason.

And you can go a little further and think about his future.

"In that sense. Since it happened during filming the production crew must have been filming…"

Let's see if this is filmed and released…

-Cha Yujin is really the type of person you don't want to see in group life.

-Oh I'm already pissed.

-Honestly it's a funny edit isn't it serious?

-Yes Cha Yu-jin if you keep acting unexpectedly cancel your contract renewal (emoticon with hands together)

It's hell.

"Let's pretend it never happened."

"okay."

Both Liu Chengwu and Sun Ah-Hyeon quickly nodded without protesting.

So on the premise of discarding the footage we each enjoyed snack time in the alley each holding a hot churro.

And by the time I was halfway through eating the churros.

"Ohhhh!!"

"hey!"

Surprisingly Cha Yu-jin appeared at the corner of the alley as if she had smelled something.

My predicted shot was correct.

'at las.'

First of all I have to tell you to give up any thoughts of eating churros.

But the moment I focused my attention I realized that Cha Yu-jin was different from when we broke up.

The guy whose hair and face were all scruffy and dirty was even holding a clump of dark red hair.

‘what.’

Cha Yu-jin adjusted what was in her arms and hugged it.

It was… a cat.

“There’s a fire over there! “I rescued that cat.”

“…?!”

And behind the alley.

Among the production crew and members who were panting and chasing Cha Yu-jin Bae Se-jin pointed at him.

“…He saw the building on fire and ran…”

“…”

[My baby! Thank you so much!]

…Thus Cha Yu-jin received free churros with the cat’s owner’s gratitude.

He achieved remarkable results by being featured in local newspapers with titles such as ‘Christmas Tree That Saved the Cat’ and all of these incidents were made into episodes and successfully featured on entertainment shows.

[Testa Hocat saves a cat while going to a restaurant… | <Testa’s A Lonely Gourmet Journey> EP. 4]

Within an hour of the video being uploaded the funny parts were captured and a summary was circulated on social media and communities.

Naturally it was a dramatic episode that was difficult to construct on purpose so it attracted a lot of attention.

Taking advantage of that attention an article about the sold-out tour was released at just the right time.

[Company grade (B+) → Company grade (A-)]

Promotion successful!

Finally the company's rating was raised.

And what this means is simple.

[Mission accomplished!]

Mission: <Stars Orbit Entertainment> Achieve Grade A

-'Fragments of ■■■' can be recovered

It was time to go see Cheongryeo.

To retrieve system fragments.

If there's just something special…

[VTIC Cheongnyeo JSA unit deployment completed…"Can I see it when I go to Panmunjom?"]

JSA Joint Security Area.

Cheongryeo was deployed to Panmunjom the northernmost part of Korea.

Right in front of the ceasefire line.

“…”

First of all I can’t take the dog with me.

Chapter 541

Shin Jaehyun raised his head.

The snowy scenery of the DMZ was very beautiful regardless of whether or not unexploded bombs were hidden underneath.

However it was rarer than expected for him to serve outdoors with that scenery in the background. This is because he was assigned to the command and control room.

It seems that he was originally supposed to be assigned to Panmunjeom guidance work as a special job but Cheongryeo speculated that he was excluded for the same reason because ‘there is a possibility of incidents and accidents.’

And perhaps for the first time in decades each day passed in a calm and regular manner.

It was unique.

In fact people may think that the show business industry is very dynamic and fresh every day but humans are creatures of adaptation.

Especially for people who repeat the same thing over and over again for a long time and everything is manualized.

In that sense a docile day with nothing to control and squeeze did not fit well with Cheongryeo’s thought structure.

Still this daily life was quite interesting. Except for the disadvantage of not being able to be with your dog.

And soon that desire was satisfied to some extent.

“Hello senior.”

A guest has arrived.

With news from my dog Kongi.

He smiled as he faced Park Mun-dae who had a nervous expression on his face walking towards him.

* * *

“It’s been a while.”

I was silent for a moment when I saw the person who came to meet me.

I had expected it but this was the first time I had received permission to enter so loudly while visiting.

‘It’s almost my first time coming to see someone else.’

In this neighborhood visits are only accepted on Sundays so I almost had to grind my teeth trying to keep up with the schedule.

“You must have had a hard time coming.”

“no.”

Just from the way I speak I feel like a private. He even kindly suggested it.

“Something like tourism?”

“it’s okay.”

I’m not interested in the JSA museum tour that this guy leads. I didn’t recommend it again perhaps because I was just saying it myself.

We just walked slowly through the quiet space and entered the equally quiet interior.

“Sit down.”

It was a space that seemed to be often used for meetings. But there were no visitors other than me.

“It’s a place where there aren’t many people.”

“yes.”

It would be strange if there were many civilians along the ceasefire line.

I sat down and took out what I had prepared.

“Take it.”

It was a paw stamp engraved with a dog’s footprints.

That damn dog… Anyway I think it was made while playing with clay outdoors but it wasn’t a prohibited item.

The guy’s expression relaxed slightly.

“thank you.”

He picked up a small disc-shaped ornament made of dog paw prints and swept the surface quite gently.

“…”

It doesn’t seem like I did anything bad.

However I did not come simply to show the status of the dog’s paw pads. It doesn’t matter if you just send it as a text message.

But before we get into the main topic let me just say something quick…

It’s about work.

“Now that I think about it I met senior Tea Holic.”

“yes.”

“I heard that T-holic seniors collaborated with LeTi to establish a company.”

“Of course.”

Cheongryeo naturally agreed as if nothing had happened and said with a smile.

“Now you really don’t have to worry about our schedules overlapping when we make a comeback. haha.”

“…”

okay. This guy took the lead.

I tried it but he was truly a terrible person. Do you think you will quickly swallow up your past rivals once they help you?

‘You did a lot of damage before enlisting.’

Moreover Cheongryeo’s words were not over.

“Well we also created a small event in the process. “You already know this right?”

“…event?”

“yes. “You saw it in an article.”

I realized like a lightning bolt.

‘Knight Event.’

An incident worthy of an article that involves all of T-Holic Testa is…

-I heard that Eter officials criticized Testa?

This is the case of the Eter staff's 'testa transcript'.

"…T-Holic senior created that event."

Cheongryeo didn't answer and just smiled but it was practically an affirmation.

I swallowed my sleep.

'I thought it was a competing rookie.'

Was it T-holic who exploded it?

"That's right. "It must have been fun for you too."

"…"

Whether Testa benefited from that incident or not it did benefit.

It was to the point where I wondered what kind of benefit this was. It was as if someone had suddenly shoved ice-covered cider down my throat.

However what Testa saw was probably a reflection and from T Holic's point of view… it was a deliberate attempt to upset the Wonder Hole man.

'It was to divert attention to prevent them from engaging in useless tricks on their own independence.'

In other words they somehow ended up taking advantage of each other's manipulations.

I want this.

‘I feel like I’ve become a victim of deep-rooted corruption’

Wonderhole did something that was truly evil but it seems like these bastards took the role for no reason by taking advantage and wiping their mouths.

And it seemed like this guy was deliberately trying to rip off something by reminding us of the benefits that Testa had seen.

So I responded rationally.

It means to stop being pretentious.

“I’m not sure what you’re talking about.”

“Oh I guess so.”

Can’t you just stop splitting the thread as if you’re letting him get away with it?

Surprisingly Cheongryeo quickly changed his tone.

“But I probably didn’t come here to tell you this.”

“…”

“I think I came because I wanted to ask you something. “Tell me.”

okay. It has a purpose.

And there are many things to ask.

First of all I’m curious as to how this guy after completing the training camp still naturally uses the way he speaks that makes that person mad…

No he’s probably been using that tone for at least several decades so it’s natural that it won’t change in just a month or two.

I realized there was no need for these mood-setting questions and decided to throw a fastball right away.

Let's go clean.

"I think I talked about system fragments last time."

"hmm."

I didn't hesitate to bring this up. It was such an absurd story anyway that even if anyone overheard I thought it was just a game story.

Still as I lowered my voice out of courtesy I received immediate feedback.

"Speak comfortably. "There is CCTV but there is no recording device and no one is listening."

Otherwise we'll be together but that's not a lie.

If that's the case.

"okay."

I immediately stopped talking and continued talking about this fragment of the system.

The building collapse mission failed because I had the fragments. I created the company system with the remaining fragments.

This is a story that has already been explained but I will summarize it once more to fit the flow.

And the conclusion is this.

-You too will have fragments like that time bomb.

The guy's expression which was hesitating when I stopped talking became impassive as the story progressed.

Until I finally respond like this.

“so?”

“I’m going to try to collect the fragments from you now.”

“…”

“It’s possible now because the conditions are met.”

If I didn’t do it now I didn’t know when the fragments in this guy would explode and the mission would fail.

‘And for this guy without a status window there’s a pretty high chance that day will be the last day of his life.’

Don’t you think this guy would want to die suddenly and unexpectedly without being able to make a comeback? Honestly this is a proposal I lose.

But Cheongryeo frowned.

“I think it was induced.”

what?

“Raise the level give them missions… This doesn’t seem any different from what we’ve done before.”

“…”

“Think about it carefully. “I must have said this several times.”

Don’t use the system.

Well I also agree.

“But if you don’t do it you will die.”

“It’s the same.”

“yes.”

I sighed.

“So shouldn’t those who don’t do it need to avoid it even more?”

“…”

Haven’t you already witnessed and experienced how much a person can become X? Well what I’m saying is let’s use the next best solution.

There will be no need for more words among those who know what happens if a system abnormality or mission is not handled.

And I have prepared some countermeasures.

‘If we look at the logic… such singularity will not occur anymore whether it’s steer memory or anything else.’

As long as the operating principle of the system is ‘make me use it more’ that part is directly controlled through regular use so there is no need to trouble me with ‘system update’.

And most of all I will turn off the system as soon as I get it.

“So you will unilaterally bear the risk?”

“That’s not it.”

I clasped my hands together.

“I need to promise you a few things.”

“Say it.”

“first.”

I said seriously.

“We do not refer to Orbit with words such as ‘LeTi family.’”

“…”

“Of course all similar words such as younger brother a family meal are prohibited.”

The next thing was also important.

“There will be no group appearance on the second Tea Holic entertainment show.”

“I don’t know what that means.”

“There is such a thing.”

No matter how much you think about it it seems like those people’s personalities will really drive it.

I looked at the guy who looked a little dazed and continued talking.

“Lastly… cooperate fully in retrieving this and resolving if anything happens to me.”

“…”

This was a natural human duty.

And from my experience so far I knew how this guy would react.

“is it so.”

yes.

I nodded immediately.

“Under the condition that you stop using the system as soon as you retrieve this fragment.”

“of course.”

Even if you don’t say anything I’m ready to return it to your belongings right away.

I nodded and called up the status window.

“Then let’s do it.”

“is it so.”

I guess it’s because it’s a similar situation.

It reminded me of the time I tried to delete the system on this damn private plane.

However the difference was also clear.

At that time this guy was so interested that he even offered a private plane to watch the show.

But right now I’m not interested in either of these guys but I’m pressing this button to prevent the worst.

‘after.’

“What is your wish?”

“hmm?”

“It’s a necessary procedure.”

“hmm.”

The guy seemed to think briefly and then said this.

“I hope you take good care of Kong.”

“…”

Well… it’s better than wishing for Testa to fail.

And as if it was natural a pop-up appeared in front of my eyes.

[Check the owner of the ‘■■■ fragment’!]

[Register ＜Wish＞]

also.

Cheongryeo had fragments.

‘I guess I should say I’m glad that they responded to this wish.’

And since all the company’s rating criteria had already been met the result pop-up followed immediately without any complicated base process.

[Reconfirmation of owner of ‘Fragment of ■■■’]

Would you like to absorb ‘■■■ Fragment (1 / 4)’ into ‘Company Use’?

※It may take some time.

Up to this point it’s as expected.

“Can you see it?”

“I can see it.”

After confirming that there was no problem I immediately responded to the status window.

‘Absorb.’

Immediately a cloud of light from the pop-up cheerfully circled Cheongryeo and returned.

Cheongryeo watched the phenomenon with cool eyes.

[‘■■■ Fragment (1 / 4)’ recovered!]

Up to this point as expected.

‘after.’

I was briefly relieved.

But what happened next was something that had never happened before.

[Check ‘■■■ Fragments’ (4 / 4) in full]

[■■■ Completion]

And the black paint on ‘■■■’ peels off as if it is being torn off… revealing the exact name.

[System completion]

And the explanation that appears at the bottom.

[Start reboot]

* * *

Cha Yu-jin raised her head.

He was someone who thought nothing of it even though he had saved a strange cat from a fire in Spain just a few weeks earlier.

Park Moon-dae who gave a contradictory review of 'It was good but dangerous' only used it to protest against the low-salt diet.

'Well actually it wasn't to the point where I couldn't eat it.'

How nice it is to have an environment where you can be a little harsh.

He hummed as he opened the refrigerator and found Kim Rae-bin drinking apple juice on the table in front of it.

"Did Moon Dae do it for you?"

"that's right!"

Cha Yu-jin felt a little disappointed but soon shook it off.

Let's ask for it directly!

"Where did you go bro?"

"You went out to meet a friend. "You looked busy so I wouldn't mind asking you an annoying favor…"

"OK!"

Cha Yoo-jin entered her room and lay down on the bed giggling before Kim Rae-bin who had stopped talking got angry and chased her.

Then I suddenly felt a strange sensation.

'What is this?'

The unknown was annoying.

He was quite positive and even a little optimistic but he was not without a sense of reality.

There shouldn't be anything to worry about now.

'Everything is satisfactory.'

But why am I so anxious?

If he had been able to observe Park Moon-dae's spirit from a place in the JSA 50km away.

-What the fuck!

I would have known the correct answer.

[—-]

Park Moon-dae was once again experiencing the world falling apart.

The system was imploding.

…No no!

'it's me.'

The person who exploded was Park Moon-dae himself!

I tried my best to hold on to it but in a mental sense my perception began to crumble as if I was being 'pulled out'.

Something outside the standard occurred.

Without delay Park Mun-dae called an assistant who was on standby just in case.

-Big moon!

But there was no response.

Park Mun-dae tried to maintain his sanity by repeating every swear word he could.

But the situation was already out of control.

It felt like the number of people was increasing like crazy.

[Start reboot]

Even the status window became increasingly blurry and distorted.

-…!

For a moment it felt like the person sitting across from me was grabbing my arm but that feeling soon disappeared like a grain of sand.

And the surroundings of the status window also became distorted and the colors began to change rapidly as if I was being sucked in.

It's like looking out the window while riding an incredibly fast high-speed train.

'Fuck you.'

Park Moon-dae cursed again and tried to regain control.

'Stop!'

It felt absurd like pulling a moving train to a stop with my bare hands.

But moment.

[-]

Like a lie he barely held on to the situation.

I was finally looking at a static world from a fixed perspective.

-Huh.

It seemed like there was so much tension that if I let my guard down even a little my consciousness would be sucked in.

'Where is it?'

It was night around.

Outdoor.

rooftop.

…person.

In front of him on a cool winter night he saw Inyoung standing on the rooftop leaning on the railing and looking down at the building below.

"…"

A familiar man wearing a coat.

Cheongnyeo.

-…!!

Park Moon-dae reflexively recalled a scene he saw a few years ago.

I remember the first restart of Cheongryeo which I received as a reward after clearing 'Status Abnormality'.

'It's the same place.'

It was as if his consciousness was barely hanging on to that memory. but…

He also realized the difference from memory with an almost animal sense.

‘No cigarettes.’

The cigarette that Cheongryeo was smoking at the time was not visible in Inyoung’s hand right in front of her.

And in her memory the electronic signboard that Cheongryeo looked at reminiscing ‘The VTIC advertisement originally appeared but it no longer appears.’

There.

[with VTIC]

The VTIC ad is still up.

Gorgeous colors sparkled on the electronic display board.

At some point his group wasn’t ruined yet.

To be exact a point in time in a certain ‘repetition of restart’.

-…

Park Mun-dae asked himself.

What number is this?

and.

‘Why am I here?’

What on earth happened?

Chapter 542

Let's be honest.

It's not the first time that I've closed my eyes and opened them and my body and the world have changed. It's not strange even if you gradually get used to it.

'Is this… the fifth time?'

I'm going to turn around… No if ridiculous situations like this are repeated you'll get used to it. Now it only took a few seconds to regain my ability to think rationally.

So let's calmly and rationally summarize what has happened so far.

-I recovered system fragments.

The fragments belonging to Cheongryeo who was serving in the military were successfully retrieved.

Up to this point everything had gone according to plan but what happened next was the problem.

-Suddenly my vision became distorted.

In fact not only my vision but everything around me suddenly became distorted and swirled like crazy.

It's like fast forwarding a video.

And now that I have barely stopped what I see before my eyes is…

-VTIC Cheongryeo is standing on the rooftop.

That's right.

However this didn't seem to be the blue dragon serving in the JSA I was talking to just now.

I looked at the guy in front of me again.

Looking down from the rooftop here the blue guard was wearing a black coat.

Well-maintained face hair and body shape. Roughly speaking he appears to be in his early to mid 20s.

So at least the past.

＜Re-listing! One winter night before Idol Co. Ltd. even aired.

And… the rooftop of a building on the outskirts of Seoul with a night view of Seoul.

"…"

This was the first restart location of Cheongryeo that I saw through the system.

'But there are differences in some details.'

Put all of this together and you get a pretty compelling hypothesis.

-Cheongryeo of the past repeating 'restart'.

That means he has nothing to do with me and I don't know him.

'Damn it.'

I want to put a can of soju in its mouth right now. I sighed.

'Things are getting complicated.'

The good thing is that this is not the worst situation compared to what I expected.

It's not even a day or two that the system is a mess. Of course we took into account the most likely side effects that would occur when collecting debris. While doing this the big moon was almost foaming at the mouth.

But what if you meet an old Cheongryeo guy?

This is not something to panic about again. Well I've met Steer guys once too.

Let's decide on a course of action right now.

Let's roughly call this guy… Restart Cheongryeo.

-Check whether communication is possible with this restart cheongryeo.

Start by understanding the situation.

Moreover look how this guy bothered to visit the place where he first 'restarted'. Seeing the meaning given to this… doesn't it come out?

This is a guy who hasn't restarted a few times.

'I guess I can pester you with words.'

There will be a difference in information value from someone who has tried to make a hammock. Don't you think it would be easier to bake and boil than the guy in the military?

Still the feeling of experiencing all kinds of crazy things is still there… but maybe it's better.

I tried to calmly open my mouth.

'you… '

And then I realized.

I have no voice.

It's not nonsense that you can't even speak because you're nervous. My voice itself is truly 'non-existent'.

I tried to lift my hand up into my field of vision but I couldn't see it.

'…'

Now that I think about it…

'This guy can't even see me.'

If there is someone this close even the person who tried to jump off the rooftop is bound to recognize the other person at least once.

However Cheongryeo continues to look under the rooftop. They don't notice me.

I glanced at him as if I had my arms crossed (even though he had no arms).

'After all am I just watching one-sidedly?'

Like the flashback I saw every time I cleared a status abnormality. Suddenly I thought I was watching this guy's memories again.

It was that moment.

"there."

The upper body wearing a coat which was leaning on the railing suddenly turns around.

This way.

‘…’

Can you see it?

But there was nothing more.

It looked all over the air near me as if it were detecting invisible dust but it didn’t seem to find anything.

And then I turned my gaze to the rooftop below.

“…”

Why are you clenching your teeth like you’re hiding?

I wanted to punch myself in the head. I sighed in despair.

There was no sound either.

But there was a problem.

As if that movement had been a trigger the pressure that shook my body returned.

-…!

It felt like I was being sucked into a typhoon again.

If I continued like this I felt like I would be swept away and experience another crazy whirlwind of my surroundings.

‘If I do something wrong X will happen.’

Hopefully things will go back to normal eventually…

‘For some reason… I have a bad feeling!’

I gritted my teeth and tried to grab something nearby. Outdoor unit wire wall railing…

‘no.’

They all failed. The moment I had the gut feeling that I was going to be sucked into somewhere like that.

As I was trying to grab the end of the railing I brushed against Cheongryeo’s clothes.

[————-]

Then suddenly the force began to work in both directions.

‘for a moment.’

One is still outside.

One is… the Cheongnyeo side.

‘…’

I don’t know what the fuck is going on…

‘You now have a choice!’

And usually the new option is better.

Under pressure I began to struggle to hold on to the strength of the Cheongnyeo side.

And when the situation is over.

‘Whoop.’

I realized I was looking under the roof.

And this wasn’t my vision.

…This is the place where Restart Cheongnyeo stood.

"…"

It sounds really crazy but I felt like I was obsessed with this guy's mind… or vision.

There was only one possible reason.

I realized this now…

'There is a system.'

Now this bastard has a system.

Because I came into contact with it my mind was able to stick to it like a magnet.

'what?'

Why am I stuck in the system?

However considering the cause is a later priority. What we need right now…

'Are you aware of the situation again?'

It's about finding out why I ended up in this situation.

Talking and digging.

The problem is that in order to find out something I first have to be able to express myself…

'…'

It occurred to me.

How to communicate without a body.

Do you remember how I found Steer Lee Se-jin A in the system and made him open a chat?

‘…okay.’

I accessed the system directly.

Very directly and brutally.

‘And you can still try it now.’

After taking a short deep breath.

I jumped into Cheongryeo’s system.

* * *

The cool night air moved through the rooftop.

Cheongryeo briefly felt a sharp pain in her head accompanied by dizziness.

‘hmm.’

However there is no tremor in the hand holding the railing. The eyes looking are also calm.

Migraines were an occasional problem.

Physical pain should go away when you restart but that wasn’t always the case. Chronic pain with the vague cause of ‘mental fatigue’ appeared occasionally and was as bothersome as a penalty.

Of course as you get used to it you will gradually treat it as a condition rather than a penalty.

Besides this headache was instantaneous.

There was no need to put a hand on my forehead. He passed over the symptoms without any inspiration.

Because I'm going to restart anyway.

'I'll have to check again with my new body.'

Are there any symptoms left?

He returned his gaze to the road beneath the building he had been staring at just a moment ago.

A quiet back alley without crowds or noise.

It was just the right height to crush my head.

I tried a few different places but there was no restart spot as clean as this one.

'The first attempt was the most appropriate.'

If you're lucky that's a good thing.

And he was originally going to put the 'proper method' into practice right now… but he twisted his hand holding the railing.

"…"

For some reason I didn't feel like it.

For the first time in a very long time rarely.

'Is it because of the headache?'

Actually it didn't matter what the cause was.

There was no problem in staying for a few hours without restarting and continuing to check the new plan.

Just like you can practice as much as you want whether it's cooking or sports before the real competition begins.

It's time to throw this away anyway.

'If used well it will be efficient.'

He felt mildly interested in this idea. It was a thin coarse feeling that could hardly be called pleasure.

Because this was already a familiar idea.

It was just one of many ways he tried to squeeze out efficiency.

"…"

Cheongryeo lifted herself off the railing turned around without any problem and walked down the building.

There was no cigarette but white breath remained.

The accommodation was not far.

"Hyung are you okay?"

"of course."

After giving a gentle answer to the member who asked with worried eyes he returned to his room.

Of course if that member was always worried about Cheongryeo's late return home he wouldn't have been.

That attitude is due to an incident that happened to this group just four days ago.

["Billboard male idol's pink hideout in Seocho-dong" eyewitness account]

[VTIC Heeun apologizes…"I'm sorry for causing trouble to my fans"]

Romance rumors.

One VTIC member's scandalous romantic relationship was discovered and took over the Internet.

The dormitory strictly manages it so the sasaeng exploded by renting a space and setting up his living space as if he were building a nest in a place that was not a lodging house at all.

Even in the first week of their comeback.

-You crazy bastard has managed to make a living haha.

-Resign.

-When I think about how he grinned after receiving the grand prize I want to kill him.

Thanks to this VTIC was able to quietly stop this activity which started with an ambitious awards ceremony after three days.

And Cheongryeo thought.

It would have been easier to deal with criminals.

'If it's a crime I could be deleted from the group.'

Withdrawal.

However the dating rumors are ambiguous.

The blow is greater than any other incident but morally it is difficult to drive out. Because it's just a relationship.

And the rumor that they were dating during this year's vacation was a death sentence for the individual idol and a fatal blow to the group.

It was like a signal for a fall.

'Even if it rebounds… there will be no activity or reputation for at least a few months.'

Right now VTIC's popularity was being completely absorbed by that member's dating rumor.

And now it is December 27th.

What this meant was clear.

Even if they win the grand prize at VTIC's current awards ceremony they will not be recognized as a 'popular idol' by the public.

With very high probability.

'therefore… '

This year's grand prize is the end.

-failure.

It is time for a clean restart.

And this time a new opportunity will be given again.

Maybe forever.

"…"

Cheongryeo felt his head become cold and clean.

The feeling of rejection I felt earlier on the rooftop had disappeared before I knew it.

‘Then at 5 a.m. tomorrow.’

He insensitively made a plan.

There was nothing to lose.

At one point I did something somewhat destructive to relieve stress but I don’t need to do that anymore.

Relaxed and calm.

Everything becomes more and more insensitive as attempts are made.

Even if it means repeating endless challenges without any hints or help.

New Variables Unexpected Help Stop expecting unexpected miracles.

Everything becomes leveled flat flat and just becomes a pattern.

He just sat quietly and considered the idea of a new VTIC member once again.

It was such a peaceful moment.

[Can you see it?]

“…”

Cheongryeo closed his eyes.

And the translucent text in front of you is updated as if you were seeing it.

[wait for a sec.]

Color is stable. It becomes increasingly clear.

The writing in the air said.

[Do not restart.]

Cheongryeo stopped breathing.

There was a time when he too reasoned like a human being.

What kind of situation are you in?

An alien spiritual experience or even a kind of computer simulation. There were many hypotheses.

But it has never been proven. No matter what attempts were made no response came back.

But now.

[It still remains.]

[period! There is still time left.]

A pop-up appeared in front of me.

[‘Target or death’]

: Death if you do not receive the grand prize at the most prestigious domestic awards ceremony within a set period of time

Remaining period: D-359

“…”

Goals clearly stated in sentences and dates.

and…

[The dates overlapped. Since it’s December 28th… we have until December 28th next year. Then I think you can aim for a few starting with ToneA.]

Someone's advice.

Cheongryeo blinked his eyes.

Then he took a slow breath and turned his head.

Another window was rising next to it.

[!Unauthorized error occurred]

Do you want to remove the status window (■■■)?

And there was only one choice.

[yes]

After a moment of dizzying silence.

Cheongnyeo took her gaze away from the window.

He did not erase this error.

'after.'

Park Moon-dae who was trying to access the system could not help but sigh in relief.

Anyone could see that it was a choice to eliminate oneself.

And if it's that guy wouldn't it be reasonable to delete it right away because it's annoying?

'Of course it's easy to convince them not to do that.'

It was very obvious that Cheongryeo cared about this period.

Only efficiency!

Park Moon-dae's reasoning was that if it was an element that helped him reach his goal he would keep it unconditionally.

'It's proof of value.'

And that was also his specialty.

[First questions are asked.]

Park Moon-dae grinned as he randomly created terminals and forcibly connected them to display a pop-up in front of Cheongryeo's eyes.

But after a while he starts to swear.

This is because I realized what kind of person this 'Restart Cheongnyeo' is.

[!Status abnormality: Correction]

: Let's try again

-If you fail you go back to the beginning.

This was a familiar explanation of Cheongnyeo's condition.

However there was no indication of deactivation.

'It means it's in an activated state.'

And as if to support it there was one more line of explanation attached.

[Number of returns: 100]

'…'

Not the 10th 11th or 20th episode.

101st episode.

‘Fuck you!’

Park Mun-dae became the status window of Cheongryeo which restarted 100 times.

Chapter 543

After the status window appears.

Cheongnyeo did not react for several tens of seconds as if she had been struck by lightning.

And spit it out like this:

“Help.”

The process by which this statement came about is simple.

This is because this guy’s first thought about my pop-up that said ‘I’m asked a question’ was this.

-What is this?

I roughly treated it as a question.

So my answer to that was this.

-Help.

It was a simple and clear explanation of my function.

Because even if I told this bastard that I was your junior idol from the future there was no way he would believe me…

‘It will only make you more cautious.’

So I approached the familiar computer concept.

I was trying to make nonsense by saying that thanks to your 100th restart I appeared as an algorithm but I felt like I was crossing a line so I quit. Instead I just said… it happened naturally without my knowledge.

And even now I plan to very kindly answer this guy's question 'Are you really the help?'

Like this.

[of course.]

[This is help to help resolve your condition.]

It was bullshit.

Shall I put it bluntly? Let's say I help this guy and VTIC succeeds in winning the grand prize this time.

But in reality that didn't happen… Currently there is no member in VTIC who has created their own little dating hideout.

And the real-life Cheongryeo who was serving in the military and who I was meeting with just now said that he had never seen the status window before.

This means that Cheongryeo has no memory of meeting me who is now Sangtae Chang. and…

'…No matter what I do here it won't change what Cheongryeo has been through in reality.'

Isn't this something that was already confirmed when Keundal became Ryu Geon-woo and was struck with a condition that would kill him if he couldn't become a civil servant?

What I did there as a big moon status window did not change my future. Something like reporting Bae Se-jin's father's drug use and sending an email to a classmate at Park Moon University.

On the contrary I only knew that I had solved these incidents myself which I thought were coincidences.

In other words there is no time paradox.

It was impossible to influence the future by changing the past.

So this is probably the system's virtual memory or something like that. Like the steer guys.

'hmm.'

I felt bitter for some reason and quenched my appetite.

Still the reason I'm trying to stop this guy from restarting right now is…

'It's because of the variable.'

I'm stuck with this guy's mind right now so who knows what will happen when I restart?

I needed to preserve the status quo as much as possible. To understand the situation and collect information.

'So looking at it holistically my help is just… a scam.'

I never dreamed I would do something like voice phishing.

Still it was true that he was willing to help so it was a win-win situation for both parties.

[As a tip I will answer all your questions sincerely.]

What I say next is a plain fact.

[If you use my features at least you won't suffer any loss.]

Isn't it true that work is much easier if there is an instruction manual?

And as far as I know Cheongryeo was not the kind of person who would turn down something beneficial.

As a suspicious person I'm going to be asked a lot of questions and tested.

'How do you feel?'

I was fully prepared and waited for his answer.

"…"

Cheongryeo stood still unfazed staring at the pop-up I had created.

Then he smiled.

"okay."

I touched my forehead.

You pretend to believe this guy.

* * *

A pop-up poured out text messages.

[I can show the members' status.]

[You can check now.]

Cheongryeo did not respond.

In the living room of the dorm there was only one person with a depressed expression who had fallen asleep while playing with the game console and two people who had gone to the practice room.

Then a pop-up appeared again.

[You can also check the characteristics and potential values.]

Cheongryeo did not react and walked out of the dorm without a problem.

[Not just the current members but anyone you meet]

“It’s too much.”

The text in the pop-up stopped.

“As for help you should only come out when I call.”

The hologram gave no answer briefly as if calculating.

And an obedient answer came out.

[okay.]

Cheongryeo started his car.

After arriving at the desired location he continued walking until he reached his destination.

It was the rooftop of the building I climbed yesterday.

And exactly as he had planned he straddled the railing…

[wait for a sec.]

[hey.]

[You bastard]

[This crazy guy said there was no need to restart]

As soon as I leaned on the railing pop-ups started to explode.

[You have enough time]

“Are you trying to convince me?”

[]

The letters stopped.

Cheongryeo leaned against the railing and bowed.

“They said it was help.”

The pop-up froze as if startled.

Cheongryeo watched the scene as if slowly exploring it.

Then I adjusted the gloves I was wearing and looked down at the rooftop.

“I don’t think so.”

He calculated with a cold head.

Something that provides systematic friendly verbalized help like a computer operating system that suddenly appears.

It also appeared at a time when one had enough experience with restarts to find it very tempting.

It’s like looking for prey.

That was an intelligent being with a will.

And there was one thing that was clearly proven through the process so far.

Cheongryeo grinned.

“It’ll be troublesome if I restart.”

Still the text popped up as if the pop-up had been prepared.

[Because if you use me your chances of success this time will increase. And even if it doesn’t work if you restart it will be like nothing that ever happened.]

[There is nothing to lose.]

Cheongryeo did not respond for a moment.

The cold early morning air swirled around the rooftop.

and.

“haha.”

The sound of laughter rang out.

“It increases the chances.”

Cheongryeo smiled and turned his upper body to leave behind the railing.

And then he opened his mouth as if talking to himself.

“What is the most fatal aspect of the dating rumor controversy?”

[…]

“It’s not a crime.”

A question-and-answer session followed.

“It’s morally reprehensible… The problem is that the public other than fans cannot sympathize with it.”

-I've collected good-looking men and good-looking women so of course they'll date. Is there anyone at that age who doesn't date? Haha.

"Then what will the fan do?"

There were no pop-ups.

Cheongryeo spoke comfortably into the air.

"They will find other controversies about that member."

From controversy over ability to bullying within school violence groups.

I will passionately devote my time to discovering shortcomings that will resonate with the public and create persuasive articles.

As I liked idols a lot and knew them well I was able to create an effective and appropriate sense of controversy.

A reason to take revenge to match the sense of betrayal. For a just cause.

-Fans who turned anti.

"In popular terms you could say that."

Cheongnyeo smiled and continued speaking.

"But even if a member voluntarily withdraws the risk does not go away."

Among the individual fans of the member whose relationship controversy broke out there will be a small number of fans who still support the member but they will become antipathetic towards the group itself.

-Removing idols just because a dating rumor broke out? Really fucking idols have no human rights.

-Wow what kind of year is this?

It was especially risky given VTIC's current position which has a large proportion of overseas fans. Among overseas fans it is common for people to dislike the idea of raising controversy over idols' romantic relationships.

Of course Cheongryeo had the ability to plan the game well and minimize the risk.

But it definitely takes time.

"Well it will take half a year for public opinion to settle down. Even if we minimize the loss by going on tour at that time…"

His gloved fingers tapped the railing as if counting.

Tap tap.

And then it stopped.

"The opportunity for a comeback is June at the earliest."

Just once.

There was only one comeback that was meaningfully reflected in the performance that year.

"This is the probability of receiving the grand prize in just one activity after a long hiatus due to a fatal controversy."

Cheongryeo made a request to the pop-up.

"Answer me."

'…'

“There is an option to just restart without the member in question.”

Cheongryeo smiled and adjusted his gloves.

Then he nodded and asked.

“Why should I invest 359 days worth of time in this slim probability?”

‘…’

“Explain.”

Park Mun-dae thought.

X is done.

* * *

Moon-Dae Park stopped using the helper concept.

Because I don’t trust this guy anyway.

Instead he answered Cheongnyeo reasonably honestly.

[Actually I succeeded in the mission thanks to the person who helped me but this time I became the help myself.]

“okay.”

Of course Cheongryeo still didn’t seem to believe it. At least he didn’t seem to have any intention of asking how on earth that was possible.

‘Fuck you.’

So Park Moon-dae decided to just take the easiest route.

It was a future knowledge spoiler.

[I know what songs will be popular and what concepts will do well after this.]

[If you knew that it would be worth investing 359 days.]

Cheongryeo was also clear about that.

“Keep talking.”

[If you promise not to press that button.]

“…”

Of course what Park Moon-dae meant was the ‘Delete Status Window’ button floating right next to it.

Cheongryeo was silent for a moment but soon answered calmly.

“good.”

Park Mun-dae did not pass.

[Not roughly but sincerely.]

It seemed to him that Cheongnyeo twisted her eyebrows for a moment.

But the answer was still calm.

“okay.”

Provided that you continue to give useful answers.

Afterwards Park Mun-dae who could hear the omitted thoughts sighed but no one could see them.

The same was true for Cheongnyeo.

Instead he quickly organized in his head several genres singers and composers posted by the self-proclaimed ‘Help’.

It was a fairly decent portfolio.

but.

“What is the basis?”

[I don’t think I will believe it even if I hear it.]

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo’s gaze went aside.

[!Unauthorized error occurred]

Do you want to remove the status window (■■■)?]

‘You son of a bitch.’

Park Moon-dae who accepted that he would delete the question if he did not answer properly eventually answered clearly.

[Are you from the future?]

“hmm?”

[I am your next hitter.]

It was an unrealistic story but it was plausible. Because I am already confident that I can go back to the past and start over.

And there was also an implied meaning in that self-proclaimed ‘help’ explanation.

“I succeeded.”

It means that you will succeed someday.

Because there is a next batter it means that you finish the restart.

‘hmm.’

However Cheongryeo was not very impressed by the fact itself. Basically it’s because he didn’t trust the sentences in that help.

Moreover if you try anything repeatedly you will eventually succeed.

In fact the ‘success of VTIC’ itself was a very stable pattern even before dozens of restarts.

The only problem was the timing of several status abnormalities and the composition of the members.

Of course this was a problem that could be solved by trying several cases.

[…]

And the pop-up did not directly answer yes but indirectly admitted it.

[I can tell you the members you formed at that time.]

Cheongryeo smiled and answered.

“You didn’t ask.”

The unproven self-proclaimed ‘help’ was trying to cross the line with its coaxing.

The pop-up stopped immediately.

[okay.]

However Cheongryeo guessed that he seemed quite upset.

Of course since the pop-up was just text and no face was visible there was almost nothing to read.

‘It’s a bit annoying.’

As if reading his thoughts a pop-up suddenly appeared.

[Should I at least add an emoticon?]

“no.”

He wanted to scrape out information that the other person did not intend to express not to see unnecessary emotional expressions.

After finishing the conversation Cheongryeo stood up.

My mind was in order.

About this self-proclaimed help.

1. Personality exists.

2. Read thoughts.

3. Lie.

All three were confirmed.

And the most important confirmation remains.

4. It has utility value.

[Where are you going?]

“To use you.”

Now it was time to check the ‘provable’ utility.

* * *

Me to be exact the person I am attached to in the status window is currently at my company.

To be exact on the floor where the trainees gather.

“Are you a little weak? again!”

“yes!”

Every time the door to the vocal practice room was opened a few popular songs from that era and a VTIC song with a slightly different arrangement than the one I knew leaked out.

“hello!”

“Hello senior!”

And he was greeted with respect and reverence by those he made eye contact with…

‘next.’

…They are asking me for their status.

Mainly only those over 20 years old.

And I guessed his intentions.

This guy was just collecting information to use for the next restart…

If you are over 20 years old you will be in your late teens when you return so of course you can use it.

And if there is one more purpose.

‘You’re trying to check my capabilities.’

Looking at the status window now I see that this guy already has the ‘emotional’ trait.

[Emotion (S)]

: There was little of value and there was a lot of trash.

-Human resources judgment +180%

So there may be an intention to check whether this bastard called ‘Help’ is distorting any information by comparing his judgment with the stats I show.

I don’t know exactly which guy this guy chose to debut with in the past…

‘for a moment.’

I looked at his emotional traits again.

There was a difference from what I knew.

[Emotion (S)]

: There was little of value and there was a lot of trash.

-Human resources judgment +180%

The grade was S.

‘This doesn’t make sense.’

This is because in reality Cheongnyeo’s characteristic was A.

But why is the characteristic grade S in this place which is presumed to be this guy’s past?

‘Isn’t that a characteristic that seems likely to deteriorate with repeated restarts?'

I looked at his status window in doubt for a moment but something else was happening outside.

Squeak.

"after."

excuse me. Because the guy who came out of the vocal practice room shaking his head was someone I knew.

'It's Judan.'

It was a familiar VTIC member.

It seems that this Cheongryeo did not add Joo Dan to the team but because he was young it seemed like he was still a trainee at this company.

'hmm.'

I asked Cheongryeo.

[Let's go with that guy next time.]

It's a bit interesting to see what this guy's opinion will be…

"no."

'…'

[why.]

"Because I'm not going to use that."

Cheongryeo lightly touched her chin.

‘There is a lack of consistency in behavior and frequent unexpected behavior depending on the composition of the team. If the result is not consistent it is not a good resource.’

[…]

“next.”

Yeah well… your thoughts are free.

I willingly displayed someone else’s status window beyond the window.

But Cheongryeo’s words did not end there.

“And I would have told you not to make suggestions before I asked.”

The guy naturally looked away again.

[!Unauthorized error occurred]

Do you want to remove the status window (■■■)?]

‘…’

“You’ll remember now right?”

You bitch.

That’s how our hellish cohabitation began.

Chapter 544

VTIC Cheongryeo's daily routine was very neat.

"Shall we put on 2 more kg?"

"yes."

Now that his activities ended after a week due to dating rumors he was practicing and working out at the same time while also carrying out a Tetris-type routine of holding meetings with his company in between.

Of course easier said than done it was tough. Time is divided into minutes.

However there was a simplicity that seemed easy unique to people who had become accustomed to continuous repetitive tasks.

'And the legend is that I've been watching this shit all day… '

I pressed my eyes and let out a long sigh.

Since we can't communicate I can't coax you.

Of course the reason wasn't just because that guy had lived his life as a perfect idol about 100 times and turned around.

'You're doing this on purpose.'

When I realized that the status window had a personality I chose the easiest way to handle it.

-I would have told you not to come out when I wasn't called.

It's about solidifying the hierarchy.

'I'm trying to catch the discipline and tame it.'

They are trying to discourage you by showing in a very impactful way that you have the power to make decisions and that you have control over your life and death.

It was the quickest and most effective control method.

You've probably used it in various human relationships for years… or even decades so it's only natural that you can use it like breathing.

I cracked my neck.

'Well… I'm a little pissed.'

This young woman is mistaken about one thing.

It's not the first time I've seen that guy pull a trick like this.

'It's obvious what you're going to do next.'

Now that you've (in your opinion) been discouraged give them a little reward next time.

AKA stick and carrot.

That's how you guide yourself in the direction you want.

Punishment and reward. That's how control works in anything.

So this guy will show the carrot tip at the right moment…

'Then you'll have to eat my hand too.'

And I guess I'll have to negotiate a good price for the watch.

I crossed my arms and smiled.

As expected he spoke to Sang Tae-chang shortly afterwards.

* * *

“Is it this much?”

Cheongryeo looked at the profiles of each candidate that filled her field of vision and spoke in passing.

This is a status window that I created by operating the terminal.

[Name: Moonhyeon Lee]

[Name: Won Seon-woo]

[Name: Park Gwang-je]

…

Well I’ll guess.

You may be thinking about the fact that there are no ‘good to use’ items such as sincerity impulsiveness and patience and that it is an emotional factor.

“What about the other items?”

Are you coming? yes.

I answered the question exactly as I felt while producing the terminal within the system.

[It seems that information that is difficult to quantify cannot be converted into status.]

Cheongryeo grinned.

“You should try harder.”

But this time instead of looking at the error deletion window as if it were threatening I finish it a little gently.

Carrots are coming.

“Anyway it’s quite useful.”

Oh I guess so.

The moment they make a fuss about me saying they like me the conflict is over.

I can’t see that. I’ll just say what I have to say.

[I have something to say in that sense.]

First of all stop saying things like ‘Aren’t you ready for the next album?’

To a guy who looked like he was going to dive from the rooftop saying ‘I’m done gathering information~’ at any moment it was a warning to me.

Provide stimulation in a different direction.

I launched a pop-up.

[The help function also has limitations.]

Cheongryeo closed her eyes.

Amid the cold silence I launched the pop-up.

[Please refer to it.]

You can only check your opponent’s stats by directly confronting them so it starts with telling you to be careful about your gaze to even being able to delay clearing status ailments.

Of course this was just a minor tip.

The important thing is the last one.

[The most important thing is that the future information I gave can change.]

[It seems like the butterfly effect of your actions could make it useless so you'd better be careful.]

"…"

After a short silence.

"okay."

Cheongryeo answered calmly.

Then he tapped his fingers slowly.

"But why do you think?"

Are you coming? I thought it would come out like that.

"You just have to answer my questions."

You're telling me not to be presumptuous but you're also intentionally trying to create tension.

I evaluated it harshly.

And after a little pause a pop-up appeared.

[It's contradictory.]

[Because I judge like a human being I'm trying to talk to you and negotiate in a way that helps you.]

[Or I just let you restart or not. Because I have no thoughts.]

The guy raised his eyebrows slightly.

I shook the pop-up slightly as if sighing and then continued.

[Honestly how long do you think I'll be here? I don't know how much I can help you.]

[But it's a bit… frustrating to be like this.]

Cheongryeo knocked on the table.

"So your actions are pure good intentions?"

[At least there is goodwill involved. Because I think like a human being.]

And I started typing more passionately and excitedly as if I was angry.

[And it won't hurt you if I stop you from restarting here. 359 days is a loss? What do you think that if you restart the waste will disappear anyway?]

"…"

Now the final blow.

I adjusted my pace and spoke my next words slowly as if I was a little tired.

[If this continues I honestly don't even know the point of me being here.]

[Delete it or not do whatever you want. I won't die.]

Ultimately what I'm trying to say is this.

-Boycott possible.

If I make a mistake I won't spit anything regardless of whether I die or not.

When I wrote it down it looked like a labor union-like phrase but whatever.

'What are you going to do?'

You've already seen what I can do. Then they must be trying to figure out how much more they can extract.

Lose your profits?

I crossed my arms and waited for his reaction.

Of course if I really wanted to delete it I would have to quickly change my approach but I didn't expect it to go that far.

There is a reason.

The point is that this guy doesn't know much about me.

I don't know how far I can bet and I can only guess how far my bluff is based on very limited information.

Moreover the limits of the utility value I can provide are still unknown.

So the option of deleting it before the correct calculated value is obtained is obviously less attractive.

'Then you will try to make the safest choice possible.'

That guy has already threatened me with deletion.

It just so happened that the timing coincided with the carrot he was trying to release and since he also holds the power to make decisions rather than trying to grab rank again in a very forceful manner…

“so?”

yes!

Take a step back and adopt the attitude of ‘I will listen and see’.

‘after’

I quickly worked my brain and organized my thoughts as if I was sitting down.

‘You shouldn’t push too hard here.’

Negotiation ends so be careful as you may end up with a stop loss ending.

Find an acceptable line.

[Now you know that this help has no ability to directly harm you.]

[I will cooperate as much as possible. Let’s talk for a bit and live. Be human.]

Just respect that I have personality.

“…”

Cheongryeo stared at the pop-up without answering.

It looked as if he was quietly tapping away at a calculator. I clenched my fists and waited for his answer.

And when I opened my mouth the answer that came out was…

“I guess so.”

‘…!’

yes.

First step is a success.

I grinned and looked at his face.

Cheongryeo stared at the pop-up without any expression.

“As long as it doesn’t get in the way.”

uh. Say whatever you want.

[If I disturb you then delete it. Because I won’t say anything else.]

[Please take care of me.]

“okay.”

I sent an emoticon waving my hand without saying anything to the guy who answered positively without even thinking about it.

[(ㅁ_ㅁ)ﾉ]

Make up your face.

* * *

After that Cheongryeo changed his attitude slightly.

This means that tips have also become more mindful of social etiquette.

[Time to exercise?]

“okay.”

We are having this simple conversation.

Of course in reality Cheongnyeo rarely speaks out loud and in most cases I read the thoughts on the surface and treat them as words.

And although this may seem meaningless at first glance if you do it you will definitely end up spilling something.

I am experienced.

‘When I participated in ＜Azusa＞ I had no intention of talking to children.’

Become a tester and see what I did. Now all the members know that I was Ryu Geon-woo.

This is an inevitable trend.

When you have a secret you are bound to end up revealing even the smallest details to the person you are talking to who does not have to keep the secret.

This is the same no matter how long you have been drawing a line between yourself and others.

Rather since Cheongryeo has had no one to openly talk about her restart experience with it will be difficult to properly watch out for this gap.

Especially when you add in the fact that I can read this guy’s thoughts…

‘There is clearly a gap.’

I grinned and touched the terminal. I feel like I want to bring Cha Yu-jin’s popcorn from the kitchen…

‘…’

Well let’s pick one up later when we return to reality.

First of all let’s do our best to get out of this situation.

I remained in a relaxed state (mentally) and waited without letting down my guard.

And the timing came a few days later.

“I’ll check the route again.”

VTIC whose activities had been faltering finally got to practice choreography for the remix for the tour.

So if we look at the number of VTIC guys who are gathering together and practicing as a group for the first time in a while…

‘There are seven people.’

indeed. I wonder what calculations he went through until he narrowed down this number to five. Separately 7 people are a very effective group but…

Anyway I took a close look at their faces.

First Chae-yul and Shin-oh were seen.

A few of the other faces were also quite interesting as I had seen them when I participated in LeTi Survival in the virtual world of the system.

I quietly threw the bait.

[Everyone has good skills.]

“okay.”

[But it's not like they lined up based on their skills and shortlisted the best 6 people.]

"hmm."

Cheongryeo paused for a moment but eventually gave an answer that was not a short answer.

"The combination is important."

oh.

"The human resource is kind of… reactive. "The quality of the results can change depending on what stimulation is received from the environment."

[That's right.]

The words are getting longer. It was a good sign.

Even still talking…

"Just because there is no conflict is not necessarily a good thing. "Productivity increases only when appropriate stimulation and tension are maintained."

Then Cheongryeo looked at his members.

"The important thing is… appropriate stress."

It was an eye measuring the fate of meat.

[…I see.]

Let's give significance to the fact that we had a conversation that was really unsuitable.

I sighed and looked around again with his eyesight. And just at that moment Cheongryeo caught a guy looking at him.

It was an unfamiliar face.

That means…

[That's the guy who started the dating rumor.]

Cheongryeo's eyes narrowed slightly and then returned to their original state.

Was it a joy?

The lover boy who hadn't even come into the dorm for the past few days seemed like a typical LeTi guy and looking at his stats he seemed like he was probably a lead vocalist.

But that's it.

[Why are you so proud?]

"It won't last long. Everything will be okay don't worry! "Oh of course I'm not worried."

Surprisingly it was said by the person who caused the accident himself.

When I saw him talking actively to the other members he seemed to have no shame at all.

I nodded.

You must have been quite broken at work but your mentality is amazing.

The funny thing is that the person who almost had to restart thanks to that guy was calm.

Cheongryeo simply evaluated her lover.

"There is consistency in being strong against external stress."

okay. I know that that guy's mentality is strong in many ways.

Still it didn't look very good to outsiders.

I clicked my tongue when I saw Cheongryeo who still looked calm.

[I think there must have been more than one guy like that so far but did you just leave them all alone?]

Now that I think about it isn't that what a bastard like that should be like?

It feels unfair that I was beaten on the head and encouraged to commit suicide by this bastard from the future…

"I tried a few things."

[…a few things.]

"Well… if there is an accident that requires retirement I will naturally withdraw."

[…]

"But traffic accidents are difficult to control. "If someone accidentally gets maimed or dies public opinion will sympathize with them and the topic will go down."

'…'

"Other criminal incidents often harm the group's image."

And Cheongryeo smiled faintly.

"Oh there are times when things get difficult."

[difficulty.]

“okay.”

Cheongryeo lightly stretched and then raised his head.

My eyes passed by the red light in the corner of the ceiling of the practice room.

“There are more CCTVs in this country than you think.”

[…]

Who is the guy who said this bastard was a mountain spirit? This is not something that is overlooked but is simply omitted because the cost and risk involved in processing it are too valuable.

“Come on cheer up and let’s go~ This year’s target singers!”

Surprisingly enough the atmosphere in the practice room was still good. There was also a time when the choreography trainer deliberately delivered good news.

“Did you know that you ranked first in the male idol category in the awareness poll?”

“Really?”

Well it’s not that strange for VTIC to rank first in such a survey but…

wait for a sec.

That’s a real VTIC.

If it were a long time ago now VTIC would not have been able to rank first in domestic recognition.

I said it without realizing it.

[What about Tea Holic?]

“hmm?”

Cheongryeo slightly raised and lowered her eyebrows as if she had heard something unexpected.

And soon a faint smile passed by.

“There is no need to be wary of a group that has already disbanded.”

‘…’

‘I sent it away.’

This guy is the culprit.

It looks like this bastard did something and this T-holic has already been destroyed.

That’s awesome.

I pressed my forehead and spat.

Let’s keep this in mind. This guy is not the real-life Cheongryeo I used to know… who owns a dog.

This kid’s thinking circuit was no different from that of a psychopath. It was in that damn state where all the humans around looked like NPCs.

‘after.’

That moment. Suddenly a thought passed by.

This was a concern I had for the past few days.

I was looking back at the conversations we had before I came here to see if there were any hints about how I escaped this damn place.

And among the candidates that were sorted out there was this.

A wish that Cheongnyeo submitted to me.

-I hope you take good care of Kong.

And considering I ended up like this right after…

'…no way.'

This doesn't mean I have to stay here until this puppy is born and I raise it well.

It was a guess that sent a chill down my spine.

In the meantime Cheongryeo was quietly looking at her beloved member and thinking fleetingly.

"It's a shame. "It would be nice if we could just cut it out cleanly."

"As if it never happened from the beginning."

* * *

[Bae Se-jin: It's not cold…]

[Cha Yu-jin: It's cold! brother! Buy me chocolate!]

[Bae Se-jin: (Save me)]

On the screen Bae Se-jin was fighting with Cha Yu-jin.

Sun Ah-hyun was smiling and watching it again.

The group's own content gave a warm feeling like watching a home video or travel video.

It was then.

Drurr.

My smartphone rang and I got a call from an unknown number.

"…?"

Since it was a privacy smartphone registered only to family members Sun Ah-hyun guessed that someone among them was probably calling someone else's cell phone so she pressed accept.

But the voice heard was none of them.

[Testa Seon Ah-hyun.]

Sun Ah-hyeon was able to infer the state right away from that characteristic tone of voice.

"Yes yes…… senior?"

It was VTIC Cheongryeo.

Sun Ah-hyun was just about to be a little embarrassed by the fact that someone she wasn't even close to even enlisted called her on her day off.

A dry voice quickly rang through the speakers.

[Come to JSA. immediately.]

[My junior has disappeared.]

"…!!"

no way.

The fact that he was contacted meant that something had happened to someone during the tester.

For a moment Sun Ah-hyun was so nervous that her heart was pounding. And he asked with a trembling voice.

“Um… which junior has disappeared?”

[…]

There was a short silence on the other end of the phone.

[Park Moon-dae.]

“…?”

Sun Ah-hyun blinked briefly.

It was the name of an unknown person.

Chapter 545

JSA's common space with cool air.

A cautious voice came from beyond the receiver.

[I… who is that?]

Tuk.

Shin Jae-hyun hung up the phone.

The name 'Seon Ah-hyeon' that appeared on the screen soon disappeared.

A trembling voice asked from next to me.

"You… don't remember?"

Cheongryeo did not answer.

However Geoldal who asked the question also knew that there was actually no need to answer.

Sun Ah-hyun doesn't know Park Moon-dae.

Even though Cheongryeo called Park Moon-dae's smartphone.

"…"

When an unexpected situation occurred Cheongryeo's decision to immediately select Sun Ah-hyun and call her was not wrong.

Because I had already seen Sun Ah-hyun causing an error in the virtual world of the system.

“He has a characteristic that nullifies status abnormalities…”

However even Seon Ah-hyeon cannot remember Park Moon-dae.

“Whoa.”

Thanks to this he called and summoned the official before Sun Ah-hyun. Geoldal was on the verge of completely panicking.

It had to be that way.

“This… doesn’t make sense now.”

Big Moon got up and stretched out his hand.

“Brother Moon Dae is here right now…!”

At the end of the hand I saw Inyoung lying unconscious on the sofa as if dead.

It was Park Moon-dae.

It looked peaceful without any injuries but that was only possible when you didn’t know what was happening.

A few minutes ago when Big Moon hurriedly arrived at JSA.

-Over there.

-yes?

-Hey… a little…

Keoldal held on to the employee with a blank tired face stretched out his hand and pointed to the sofa where Park Mun-dae was lying.

-How does he look?

And the cleaner answered like this:

-Who are you talking about?

He did not recognize Park Moon-dae who was clearly there.

"…"

It was almost a scary situation.

Only then did Keudal realize why Cheongnyeo didn't call 911.

Even if you call them they won't recognize you.

It was time for Big Moon to swallow his saliva as he recalled it.

Tiririk.

"…!!"

Park Moon-dae's smartphone which was in Cheongryeo's hand vibrated violently.

It was a phone call.

Cheongryeo took it after checking the screen without any expression. A soft and urgent voice rang through the speakers.

[I'm sorry! [The phone suddenly hung up.]

It was Sun Ah-hyun's voice.

When the call ended without any context he was polite and tried to contact me again.

And then he kindly asked again.

[By any chance… is the person you mentioned earlier related to me?]

Big Moon let out an indescribable groan and laid his head down on the table.

Cheongryeo looked at the scene indifferently and spoke in a dry voice.

“now. “Try accessing the portal site on the Internet.”

[…? yes yes…]

The sound of Sun Ah-hyun’s fingers hitting the screen rang softly as if she was operating a smartphone.

“Search for Park Mun-dae.”

[ah…]

At that moment Keundal also raised his head and searched for Park Mun-dae on the Internet.

‘…there is!’

Park Moon-dae’s profile came out in good shape.

All kinds of photos and history of his career activities fill the page.

‘thank god… ’

Park Mun-dae still remained here.

Big Moon felt a faint sense of relief and turned his head to Cheongnyeo.

[that…]

It seemed that Seon Ah-hyun who was on the other end of the phone had just checked the search results.

[What kind of person are you?]

“…”

A cool sensation passed through the big moon’s spine.

A voice as cold as that gave instructions to the smartphone.

“Tell me the first profile you see on the screen.”

[I especially… I can’t see your profile.]

“…”

Big Moon stopped breathing.

And with trembling hands I quickly went to SNS and searched.

-Park Moon-dae

The results poured in.

Just before Park Moon-dae retrieves the fragments.

There was no mention of it after that.

“…Now wait a minute.”

This time Keudal entered a search using Testa.

-Testa It’s amazing how two people of the same age are grouped together.

-Ryu Cheong-woo Bae Se-jin Sun Ah-hyun Lee Se-jin Cha Yu-jin Kim Rae-bin I love you ㅠㅠㅠ Testa let’s live forever does not exist.

Articles SNS communities and video sites.

Everyone ignored Park Moon-dae's existence as if he were salty.

Geoldal's face turned pale and he put down his smartphone.

I felt like I was crazy.

"This is so strange… It's on video and in official records! Everyone seemed to be under some kind of hypnosis…"

Information on Park Moon-dae's activities still pops up when you search but everyone acts as if they can't see it.

Big Moon completely panicked.

However instead of looking in that direction Cheongryeo looked at Park Mun-dae on the sofa.

"…"

Another way.

I had to think of it.

[…]

[If I look at something now…]

"it's okay."

Cheongryeo hung up the phone again.

And then he opened his mouth in a dry voice.

"Why didn't you stop me?"

"…yes?"

Geoldal realized that he had spoken to himself.

“I can’t believe you didn’t stop me.”

“You were clearly wary of your junior using the system. This time it was very…”

Cheongnyeo looked at the big moon without expression.

“You seem cooperative and passive.”

“…!”

The big moon got angry for a moment.

“If you think about it that way he was trying to help you in the first place! My brother has been preparing it for a long time. So I regularly update the system…”

Geodal’s words became quieter. Cheongryeo asked back coolly.

“The system?”

And the big moon realized.

“I used the system and changed my body…”

The more I said it the more strange it became.

Park Moon-dae who likes control so much can so easily use the method of changing his body into an untrustworthy system.

Is that a conclusion that can be reached immediately after thinking about it briefly?

“Well… my brother was originally very wary of the system but at some point he started using it. Slowly becoming less cautious…”

“…”

And so did he.

I… I stopped stopping my brother like that at some point!

-all right. brother! Instead if anything goes wrong you have to come out right away…

A flashback echoed in my head.

"…"

Big Moon's complexion turned bluish.

'Where did you get the influence from?'

It almost felt like a horror movie.

And when I turned my head I saw Park Mun-dae still frozen on the sofa.

"Brother Moon Dae… what on earth are you going through?"

* * *

I declared.

[I want to drink beer.]

"so."

[Do you have any intention of drinking it?]

Restart Cheongryeo didn't even respond. It means don't talk nonsense.

'Well I knew that would happen.'

I stretched out my bare body and lay down on the bed.

This was a hotel in LA. VTIC is here for tour rehearsals so how could you suddenly put alcohol in your mouth right now?

Fortunately it was quite nice to be able to have a comfortable conversation since it was a private room.

[I'm just kidding. I had a hard time practicing.]

"My practice will have nothing to do with you."

It's my heart baby.

Since I have nothing else to do I guess I should at least chat with a guy like you.

Of course there was nothing that could be done as a parasite on the system other than creating a communication terminal under enormous pressure.

'It feels like I'm working overtime endlessly.'

It's surprising but I think the big moon managed to survive with my status window. I typed while suppressing a sigh.

[Why is there no relationship? The better you practice the higher your chances of not having to restart.]

After hesitating for a moment he just smiled and continued.

[And even if it has nothing to do with you people want to comment when they see someone doing something good.]

[So your fans can support you too.]

"…"

[Have a good concert.]

"okay."

Cheongryeo surprisingly answered obediently.

‘hmm.’

It looks like you’ve gotten quite used to me.

I (ideologically) crossed my arms.

It’s already been a few weeks since I started talking to this guy.

As if the small talk and exchange for a while had been worth it this guy was now less likely to try to create tension.

In addition the restart was temporarily postponed thanks to the new information it was collecting through the status window.

Of course conversations that are completely devoid of social skills often make people angry but it still means that it becomes a bit of a tug-of-war.

First of all this guy realized my usefulness.

Something like this.

“To my profile.”

Are you coming?

I brought up his status window.

[Name: Cheongnyeo (Shin Jae-hyun)]

Singing: B+ (B+)

Dance: S+ (S+)

Appearance: A+ (S-)

Talent: A (A+)

Trait: Emotion (S)

!Status abnormality: Correction

Its status window was so similar to reality that it gave me a bit of goosebumps.

It seemed like this was the line at which he created and completed a perfect routine over a set period of time for the ‘final content’.

[Are you going to fill up the remaining stats through practice?]

“It’s not urgent.”

Cheongryeo answered clearly.

“For individuals within a group positioning comes first. “My capabilities are sufficient for the role.”

It means that you already have the potential to become a main dancer. I understand.

In the first place as soon as the status ailment hit my head I was the one who focused all of my stats on vocals to establish positioning.

However that was not the end of Cheongryeo’s words.

“Rather than that characteristics are more important.”

The guy shifted his gaze and looked at his own characteristics.

emotion.

Surprisingly this guy seemed very satisfied with his own characteristics.

This is an S-class characteristic that can judge an individual's value like a knife.

The guy smiled faintly and continued speaking.

"Like I said. Because combination is important."

Are you coming?

Congratulations on having the most advantageous characteristics for creating an idol group.

Still out of courtesy I decided to make a proposal.

[Perhaps you would like to have something with different characteristics?]

Recently I created another terminal in this system and built up a new function for the status window.

A special reward that Big Moon had previously provided to me.

It is a characteristic drawing roulette machine.

But as expected…

"I've probably said this enough. "Except when I ask questions directly…"

[I don't recommend it. Do whatever you want.]

I thought you wouldn't listen.

"yes."

Cheongryeo looked at my pop-up and smiled happily.

The atmosphere was a little different from before. It seemed like he felt a slight sense of amusement at my reaction.

Is it fun?

‘Are all the years of chatting about nonsense paying off?’

Of course there is no sense of accomplishment. I held back a sigh.

‘I’d like to know why I have to do this in this condition.’

It was frustrating to just be stuck here without any hints.

I would have at least noticed if it was a status abnormality that occurred to me.

‘…I guess I’ll have to dig deeper into the system.’

I thought about going deeper into the system where I had not created a terminal yet. The backlash was so severe that I refrained from doing it out of fear that it would bounce back but I can’t do it anymore.

It was then.

“I have a question.”

hmm?

While there was a pause Cheongnyeo asked.

“Who were you?”

oh.

This question finally comes up.

With a bit of familiarity at the bottom I guess I finally felt like interrogating him.

I went back to the terminal and started typing.

[What does it mean?]

“It means what kind of mission have you solved?”

Cheongnyeo nodded as she sat down at the table.

“First of all seeing as you brought up something like beer I guess they weren’t in the same profession.”

[…]

I did it this week.

I stopped imagining the scene where I confessed to myself that I was also an idol. That’s lame.

[I didn’t drink it often.]

[It wasn’t a good job to drink and talk about nonsense.]

“haha.”

Cheongryeo smiled a little comfortably then leaned back in his chair and muttered.

“It’s a story.”

The conversation stopped for a moment as if he was lost in thought.

And Cheongryeo chanted not with sound but with thought.

“Well I’ve tried it too.”

‘…’

I didn’t bother to ask.

This is because Cheongryeo in reality had already heard about the results of that attempt.

Although it wasn't this specific.

"I think he was a member I used about 10 times. "I tried to test myself by maintaining my composure even during incidents."

The guy grinned.

"It wasn't a happy ending. Of course there was no damage because I said it right before the restart."

[…]

"Is this just an example of why it's not a good idea to talk about it? haha."

hmm.

This… okay.

After thinking for a moment I slowly completed my answer.

[I'm not sure.]

[In addition to that person you must have recruited at least dozens of other people to the group by now right?]

Cheongryeo did not deny it.

I continued to complete the sentence.

[What you mentioned is the case of only one of those dozens. Isn't there a high probability that different attempts will produce different results?]

"…"

Cheongryeo was neither surprised nor impressed.

“I guess so.”

It seemed like those calculations had already been made.

“But sharing secrets in itself has little benefit compared to the risk.”

The guy grinned.

“And when using people whether there is a secret or not doesn’t matter much.”

[No it’s not that it has no utility at all. It will be easier if you have a collaborator.]

Cheongryeo answered harshly.

“It’s amazing. “I never would have thought that stereotypes created by the mass media would also be found in help.”

I sighed.

[No your mind will be at peace.]

However the opponent did not blink an eye.

“well. “It’s not uncomfortable even now.”

It’s like talking to a wall.

But instead of grinding on the keyboard I calmly started typing again.

[okay.]

[I know it’s dangerous and I don’t really want to do it so I don’t want to do it. It’s your heart. That’s also true.]

[But it's not a bad idea to think about it again later when everything is done.]

[There is nothing to lose then.]

In reality the guy in real life had already shared some of his experiences with the members of the same group.

The two guys who are here now were also included there.

Although this guy doesn't know right now.

"…"

The guy seemed to be thinking something like 'That's not nutritious' but in the end he answered like this.

"Please take note."

Are you coming?

Still a few weeks ago I would have said bullshit like 'I never said you had a right to speak' but now we're having a decent conversation. I smiled and took my hand off the terminal.

[Then have a nice trip.]

And after a while Cheongryeo successfully completed the tour concert rehearsal with other VTIC members.

But still not a single system window appeared for me and no hints such as missions or status abnormalities appeared.

I'd be lying if I said I wasn't worried about whether or not I'd be stuck here forever… Anyway time itself passed without a problem.

And then VTIC's tour began.

"From now on 'conversation' will only be possible after the concert."

[…]

“Remember.”

Do I really have to be stuck here like this?

Until that damn dog is born?

* * *

“Haam.”

Lee Se-jin passed Cha Yu-jin who was yawning lazily at a pleasant pace and headed toward the kitchen.

The mild holiday afternoon was a bit drowsy.

Even Lee Se-jin leisurely thought that it would be better to study Spanish today than to exercise more.

By recruiting a friend!

‘Then together… ’

“…”

Now that I think about it there isn’t really anyone on this team I can study Spanish with right?

Most people either had a specialty language or were more interested in something other than language.

‘Hmm.’

Strangely enough he felt a little down.

However he had worked in this industry too long to be swayed by such feelings so he soon regained his cheerful demeanor and walked towards the kitchen again.

Then I noticed a friend of the same age sitting at the table with a strangely stiff expression on his face.

“Ahyeonahyeon~ What are you doing!”

“…ah.”

Sun Ah-hyun suddenly raised her head.

Big Se-jin noticed again that his complexion was not very good.

“…hmm. How can I help you? “Has something bad happened?”

“Oh no.”

It was only then that Sun Ah-hyun took down the search bar of the portal site that was still up.

-Park Moon-dae

“It’s somehow strange.”

Chapter 546

VTIC's tour was a success.

-Thanks LA!

-Waaaa!!

Even when rumors of a romantic relationship broke out few overseas fans canceled concerts they had already scheduled.

Because it was not a media activity it did not attract much attention in Korea.

So it was natural that LeTi focused on the tour.

It's funny that the guy who caused the accident had a brighter complexion thanks to this but I think the VTIC members also felt a little relieved.

"Today was good~"

"Sure."

Maybe it's because they don't feel like it's over if they can't make up for it in their next domestic comeback.

And the person who has experienced it dozens of times…

[Wasn't today a day off?]

I'm practicing like a dog.

I heard there was a problem with the concert production.

-My feet don't fit.

With that one word in mind people are being pulled out to prevent them from leaving work.

'They said it would restart.'

In the meantime I still have a desire to be on stage.

It was a spectacular sight to see the VTIC guys following us without even making a sound. Even the guy who started the dating rumor was watching me closely and couldn't even think of getting involved.

In the meantime it was a bit funny that the two VTICs were having fun in real life.

"oh! "Our feet fit perfectly!"

"Don't you think it makes you feel better when you see something like this?"

Those guys have full-time jobs. I nodded inwardly.

And Cheongryeo who was looking at the two guys with the same eyes as grading new employees being interviewed answered my question like this.

"We are taking a break from the concert not because we are taking a break."

It was an established theory.

Now that I think about it I don't think I've ever taken a break during a tour.

'I usually just kept filming my own content.'

Although I wanted to leave work at times it was overall a good experience. No I was a little tired.

It’s quite fun to travel around with comfortable people you’ve been with for several years…

[…]

“You have a strange attitude.”

[no.]

Let’s not get lost in unnecessary sentimentality about something that doesn’t have an immediate solution.

[Seeing other people working reminds me of what I used to do.]

[Never mind.]

“…”

Cheongryeo nodded slightly almost imperceptibly and then continued practicing without a care in the world.

However during the break between choreography practice the guy asked this while drinking water.

“When I restart.”

hmm?

“What happens to you?”

Let’s see.

It seems like he was wondering if I was going back to my original body rather than disappearing.

[I don’t know.]

I answered honestly.

[I was worried because I wasn't sure. Because I don't know what will happen.]

"hmm."

Cheongryeo neatly organized the water bottle he was drinking from.

After living with this guy for about three months the frequency of his abuse of power to criticize me when I make mistakes has decreased considerably.

…Well that doesn't mean it isn't there.

I recalled a conversation from a few days ago.

-Did T-Holic go to jail?

-I don't think it's a good question to ask if you're trying to tell us about the future.

-…

-What do you think?

-uh. In the future I knew Tea Holic eats together with you.

It was more convenient to do this openly.

In that sense I anticipated the following conversation.

Let's see I said something like 'Your restart is dangerous to me' so this guy is probably telling me bullshit like 'Then perform your role better'…

"It is cumbersome to deal with risks that cannot be calculated with certainty…"

hmm?

I stopped predicting.

Cheongryeo muttered as he put the water bottle back in its original place.

“That’s true.”

oh.

There seems to be some room to take advantage of this.

[yes.]

[Besides if you get help wouldn’t it be better to do some research and do some research?]

Cheongnyeo split it.

“I’m still trying to convince you not to restart.”

It’s ruined.

If I had hands and could change one of this guy’s hairs I would be able to give him this quarter’s settlement amount as well.

“but…”

Cheongryeo returned to her seat and continued speaking.

“It would be okay to spend about 359 days searching for information.”

[…!]

“As you said.”

I realized I had succeeded in plucking.

In the end Cheongryeo himself acknowledged that there was no need to restart until he saw the results of the next album.

This guy is working hard to beat this guy!

[thanks. For helping me.]

[□_□b]

The guy smiled faintly. The atmosphere is very nice…

“If help is helpful why not reflect on the value of your own existence?”

[I know you didn’t lose anything. You bastard.]

After that a few words were exchanged but Cheongryeo did not take back what he said.

hmm. I (mentally) rubbed my chin.

‘This really works.’

Being a comfortable conversation partner.

Hasn’t he come to the point where he will take my situation into consideration as long as there is no harm to him no matter which side he chooses?

This is how the military’s efforts for three months are reaped like a rattle.

‘If we keep going like this I might say why not raise a dog… ’

No I don’t think that would be possible. I scrapped the hope torture.

‘I’ll have to find a clue before that.’

“Let’s go in!”

“okay.”

VTIC’s practice ended in the late afternoon that day and Cheongryeo returned to his hotel.

[What are you going to do now?]

“rest.”

Then he sat down on the chair attached to the table and closed his eyes briefly.

“…”

Why leave a bed?

Anyway it had nothing to do with me. Right now I can’t sleep at all.

It wasn’t a very pleasant feeling but considering that it was quite dangerous for me to lose my mind in this situation it was safer this way.

Let’s just use our free time well.

‘Let’s dig deeper into the system.’

I decided to take this opportunity to dig deeper into the system in case there were any clues.

Tung.

If a sound could be heard it would probably have sounded like that.

I pushed forward smoothly through the pressure.

‘Hmm.’

Now that I think about it at some point the pressure unique to this system wasn't so unpleasant.

It's like sitting in a massage chair your body is pressed but you feel cool and stable.

'It's strange.'

I fell into the system much more comfortably than before as if letting go of the flow.

further in.

further in.

More deeply.

[…]

It was my first time going this deep.

When you endure the feeling of your mind becoming hazy as if you were being weighed down by a thick blanket.

'ah.'

I saw something.

A deep inside that has never been reached before.

Surprisingly there was something bright and bright inside.

'hmm?'

That was… a terminal for the status window.

I've never made it.

'…'

It’s strange.

Didn’t Keundal start making terminals like this to implement a status window?

‘This is a system from before the Big Moon was created so there won’t be a terminal itself.’

Why does something like this still remain?

I reached out my hand and touched the terminal as carefully as I could.

Then like other terminals a status window is implemented…

The problem was that the content was familiar.

[Start reboot]

-Learning in progress.

‘…!!’

Reboot.

That was the pop-up message I saw before I recovered all the system fragments and landed here.

However the explanation underneath… was something that had never been seen before.

‘Learning?’

It was then.

-Help.

A voice sounded like it was calling from the surface of the water.

Oh damn. I suppressed my sleep.

‘Wait a moment.’

This is a clue that was barely found.

I want to think more deeply about why this is here and what it does…

-Help.

You’re persistent.

I suppressed a sigh shook my hands off the terminal and stood up.

‘If you don’t answer they might think it was nonsense.’

Now that you have memorized the location of this terminal it is easy to return to it.

I quickly released myself from the pressure and headed to the chat terminal located on the surface of the system.

And then I spat out an answer.

[why.]

“…”

No why did you call me and not say anything?

Strangely enough Cheongnyeo had already woken up and was dressed in street clothes as if she was ready to go out.

[Do I need to take out anyone’s profile?]

“It’s not like that.”

But instead of going out the guy headed to the refrigerator installed in his hotel room.

And he took out a can of drink from it.

Just beer.

'…??'

"You said you wanted to drink."

Then he returns to the table and takes a slow sip.

The expression on his face is not that good as if he doesn't really like beer. Moreover seeing as how he bothered to mention my preferences… I guess he's being considerate in his own way.

'What a mess.'

I chuckled.

I'm sorry but I didn't even share the taste.

So watching other people drink gives me roughly the same level of satisfaction as playing a VR game.

Although it's funny to say something like this when you're only scratching the surface.

[thanks.]

The attempt is imaginary. I decided to roughly think of it as a non-alcoholic beer.

[But why beer all of a sudden?]

The guy answered briefly.

"compensation."

‘…?’

[What a reward.]

“…”

Instead of answering Cheongryeo looked away.

[!Unauthorized error occurred]

[Do you want to remove the status window (■■■)?]

Right through that pop-up.

‘for a moment.’

[What are you thinking now]

“I thought about it during my break.”

Before I could even finish the sentence he started muttering.

“If it is difficult to predict what will happen eliminating it is the most stable option.”

‘…’

“Knowing that it’s not reasonable for me to choose the option of delaying the restart instead of eliminating you.”

[…!!]

Cheongryeo tapped his beer with his finger.

“Actually this behavior itself is strange. “You can just delete it but why bother talking and compensating before proceeding?”

The guy tilted his head to the side.

“It’s worthless.”

‘…’

Cheongryeo took the beer off the table.

And he said with insensitive eyes.

“You can’t have this kind of impact in just 90 days.”

[wait for a sec.]

X is done.

This guy also realized that he was starting to be generous to me.

And I don’t think I evaluated it very well…

‘Fuck you.’

If I had a spine I think it would give me a chill. I gritted my teeth.

‘We must proceed rationally.’

From usability.

[Not only can you add new characteristics but you can also prepare a way to quickly raise your stats.]

[In addition the period of abnormal status is displayed in real time for you]

“There is no need. “My plan is already complete.”

Cheongryeo nodded and smiled quietly.

“I have all the information you need. All that remains is to restart and find the perfect combination.”

You crazy bastard.

“Now I just have to try a few more times. It’s nothing difficult. The ability to start over like that…”

Cheongryeo stared at the pop-up motionlessly.

“I already have it.”

Strong confidence.

I stopped using the device for a moment.

‘…’

At that moment Cheongryeo took her hand away from the beer and raised her hand to the pop-up.

“then.”

no.

[I’ll just keep my mouth shut so don’t press it.]

[You are excited now. What you are doing now is an emotional choice]

“stop.”

And Cheongryeo.

Tuk.

I pressed the remove button with a slight touch.

That moment.

[Status window (■■■) removal completed]

I was torn as if torn apart.

* * *

Next to the sofa where Park Moon-dae fell.

“Maybe it’s good…”

Big Moon was desperately trying to come up with some thoughts. But my mind was completely blank.

I tried to explore the system but the system originally inside Parkmoon University was not connected without a trace.

No I couldn’t feel anything from Park Moon-dae’s body at all.

‘Oh no.’

That was the creepiest thing.

The sense of always being connected was gone.

It felt like I walked into my family’s room and it was empty. Keundal was devastated by the feeling of emptiness and fear.

But the disappointment could not last long.

“Listen.”

“…?”

Cheongnyeo was already trying something new.

He looked down at the large moon while holding his smartphone and put the call on speakerphone.

Then a lively voice was heard.

[Uh Brother Moondae?]

"…!!"

[Why are you calling? Is this by any chance a broadcast?]

It's Kwon Hee-seung.

Moon-Dae Park was the last user of the system referred to as Gold 2.

'oh my god.'

He remembered Testa Park Mun-dae…!

[Uh hmm.]

Kwon Hee-seung popped his head in with an excited face but when he saw Big Moon's dumbfounded face he realized it wasn't a broadcast.

He asked cautiously with a puzzled expression.

[The atmosphere is somehow unusual…?]

Big Moon who was in Ryu Geon-woo's body looked at the situation in the video call feeling like he was going to cry.

After a while.

[No no…]

Kwon Hee-seung who heard everything that had happened so far opened his mouth and then sighed.

What does this mean a person forgotten by everyone? It's not really a movie.

[How does that brother always get caught up in incidents? Wow I'm going crazy!]

I mean.

Geoldal felt like crying a little. However the human sitting next to him did not even blink.

This is because the call had a separate purpose.

“I have a question.”

[yes??]

“How similar is your current situation to your experience as a server?”

“…!!”

Big Moon almost jumped up from his seat.

And it was the same for Kwon Hee-seung who was on the phone.

[Wow that’s right! It’s the same? Everyone is forgetting me and doing this! When I became a servant of some sort!]

Although most of his memories from that time were erased some important information and feelings remained so Kwon Hee-seung immediately felt a sense of déjà vu.

Isn’t it the same that only Park Moon-dae and Cheongryeo who were involved in the system remember him?

Kwon Hee-seung shouted in shock.

[Mundae Brother aren’t you probably sucked into this system and become a part of it? Like parts!]

* * *

“Huh.”

I let out a breath and stood up.

My nerves were twisted and the pressure felt like I was going to vomit.

It felt like I was suffering from a crippling hangover or my intestines were twisted or my semicircular canal was shattered.

‘Damn… ’

I pressed my hand to my temple… wait.

“…!!”

I took my hands off my temples.

There was a sense of touch.

When I raised my hand and held it in front of my eyes I saw my hand.

“…”

What is happening?

‘Are you back?’

The damned bastard said the correct answer was to press ‘Yes’ in the delete status window?

I woke up shakily. I was thinking of checking how much time had passed and where I was.

But as soon as I raised my head I realized.

This wasn’t the JSA.

“…!”

It was midnight around here.

It wasn't even… Korea.

This was LA.

It looked very familiar so I recognized it right away. Because it's the place I saw in the status window of Cheongnyeo just now!

This venue was where VTIC held their tour concert.

'Damn it.'

This neighborhood which was originally a sports stadium had been refurbished with VTIC-related promotional tents and decorations but the crowds that would have enjoyed it had already virtually disappeared.

'What is this again?'

I'm shocked.

I was limping and trying to lean against the wall and almost fell.

It was then.

Someone tapped my shoulder.

"…"

Am I in a situation where other people can see me right now?

I immediately turned my head.

A man with both hands raised was visible under the dark streetlight.

"It appears that the situation requires help from public authorities."

“…”

I looked at Inyoung standing across from me with a dumbfounded look on my face.

“I know the embassy number.”

Here he is still a trainee.

It was a casting.

Chapter 547

Cheongryeo's 100th restart.

I found out here that Ju Dan did not debut with VTIC.

But I never thought we would meet in such a ridiculous situation.

It was Cheongnyeo's status window but it got deleted and when I opened my eyes I found myself outside the VTIC concert hall at night.

furthermore…

I pressed my temples and asked back.

"embassy?"

What do you mean when you say you know the embassy number?

"yes."

But Zhou Dan nodded without notice.

"It's midnight in this weather and you don't even have a coat on so I think you may have been caught up in a theft crime due to drinking too much."

"…"

"If you think you have a passport why not check that first?"

In short I feel like a tourist who got drunk in a foreign country and got kicked out while struggling.

…It looks quite miserable. I asked while pressing my temple.

"…Do you happen to have a mirror?"

"You can use the smartphone selfie mode…"

Zhou Dan stopped while speaking and looked at me with mysterious eyes.

It's an expression that says he knew that would happen.

"It looks like your smartphone is gone too."

"…"

It creates a reason.

Rather good. There's no need to make excuses.

"I'd like to move to a warm place first."

"Ah there is a place that is close and accessible… hmm it is this way."

I quickly followed the guy who started giving directions.

As I walked along with him like that apart from the pain my mind slowly began to regain its composure.

'The current status is… '

I still felt like if I missed it I would get caught up in it and lose my mind again but somehow I was able to endure it.

Instead my body felt like trash.

'It felt like my whole body was being shattered.'

It felt like the aftereffects of being ripped out of the Cheongnyeo status window.

Well I thought the worst would go away but it's a shame it's this bad but…

"…"

And slowly I realized.

'Are you out of your mind?'

What the fuck are you accepting so naturally?

I became a status window and escaped the crazy experience of spending three months in the system so what's the regret? On the contrary I should like it. What kind of idea is this nonsense?

This is true even when living within the system. Did you flirt and send emoticons? I?

Instead of working hard and worrying about finding a way back.

'That's strange.'

Moreover this deletion incident is also the same.

Considering his thought circuit it was a problem that should have been expected and prepared for. No shouldn't I have gritted my teeth and prepared something to hit him in the back first?

'…No.'

I recalled it coldly.

I definitely thought so at the beginning when it became a status window.

'But at some point I forgot.'

And he was beaten without preparation.

I couldn't see the bigger picture and just appealed for my usefulness to not be deleted… no.

It appealed to the usefulness of the status window not 'my'.

"…"

Holy shit.

I was just trying to naturally equate the status window and myself right?

I'm going crazy. I ran my hands down my face.

'If I'm in the system will I be affected like this?'

So in conclusion…

I had assimilated to the point where I felt comfortable with the resistance and pressure I had felt when accessing the system before.

To a dangerous level.

I wiped away the cold sweat and thought calmly.

'I'm just glad I bounced back.'

Even though I was in the worst shape right now I was glad to be free from this damn way of thinking. At the very least you feel something strange and get goosebumps right?

The more I looked back at the three months I spent with the status window the more ridiculous it seemed.

…And there was something I finally understood.

'Big Moon also went through this process.'

Personal characteristics disappear and the self gradually becomes assimilated as part of the system.

My mouth was bitter. Especially since I don't know how reality works right now.

'I wish reality didn't have the same time flow as here.'

Moon-Dae Park disappeared for 3 months? Then there will already be an uproar on the Internet and even when I return I won't be able to be active as before because I have to explain it.

'after.'

How do you handle this?

It was a time when I was holding my head and feeling confused about my chaotic family.

In the meantime the guy next to me started talking to me.

"I'm afraid you might suspect me of another crime such as human trafficking because the timing of my sudden comment was perfect…"

When will the main topic come out?

"I am a trainee at LeTi. "I came here to pick up something I had left behind."

"Oh yeah."

"If you are wondering why I attended VTIC senior's concert as a trainee…"

Oh it's obvious.

"Are you making your debut?"

"…yes."

“The company probably requested it for the purpose of gaining experience.”

The company usually brings in ‘a passionate rookie who came to see the senior’s performance’ as a press play and to gain attention.

Since it is a wealthy company I guess they brought it to the LA concert to show the symbolism of America.

“…yes.”

Zhou Dan finally closed his mouth and started moving his feet. I guess it was the right answer.

The place he guided me to was like a cafe/bar.

Well most cafes abroad would be closed at this time so it was an appropriate choice.

The heated air was warm but I couldn’t feel any difference perhaps because my body was sore.

I responded rationally.

“Thank you for the guidance. But for the cafe… I don’t have the money.”

“I’ll buy you a cup of coffee.”

Oh I waited for that answer. I resisted the urge to drink whiskey and ordered something that looked like a hot latte.

“I’m sorry but I don’t think it will be difficult to accompany you after calling the embassy. “It’s already close to midnight and it’s hard for me to move after that.”

“yes. LeTi is like that. Curfew.”

“…”

“Official promotional material needs to be released but there is also the issue of eyewitness accounts. All right.”

“…”

why.

Zhou Dan seemed to be struggling intensely over something and asked:

“Are you involved?”

Do you understand now?

I didn’t answer but he looked at my face and nodded.

“You have a decent appearance but as you know this industry places importance on age so you must not be an idol trainee. then…”

“…”

Is it true that I sit here at night and listen to this?

Actually I could tell what I looked like from what was reflected in the window here.

I was like Ryu Geon-woo.

That’s also what he looked like when he was an office worker who was about to quit his job.

The good news is that although it is thin it is suitable for going out. It would have been awesome if it had been pajamas. I silently sipped the served latte.

“Oh have you already debuted?”

I didn’t answer.

Isn't it an ambiguous situation to say that they have debuted or that they haven't?

In order to return to the state in which I debuted in the first place I had to return to reality… There was only one clue I could figure out right now.

-[Rebooting]

That terminal.

The pop-up I saw in the system and touched before I was dragged here in real life.

That was the only clue.

However to see it again it means that you have to access the system again and that you have to be able to survive with your sanity while experiencing the symptoms of your brain becoming flaccid again.

I frowned.

'Then should I contact Cheongryeo again?'

This time I will somehow make good use of the bastard who is trying to restart to kill me…

"…"

wait for a sec.

I recalled the situation where I was eliminated by the guy through the status window.

Cheongnyeo's outfit at that time.

'I was wearing street clothes.'

The reason why I suddenly returned home even though I had no plans to go out.

no way…

"…"

Did you restart it already?

When I think about it it's a natural circuit. I removed the status window to postpone the restart but of course I didn't want to waste any more time and tried to restart immediately.

Then… where am I now?

In the life he restarted for the 101st time? Or will this world continue to move on regardless of whether Cheongryeo restarts it or not?

'That wouldn't make sense.'

Geoldal had already figured out that going back to the past meant rewinding the real world itself.

I looked down at my finished cup of coffee and shook my head.

'It's decided either way.'

The first thing to do is find out Cheongryeo's whereabouts.

…in that sense.

I raised my head.

I found a helper that was just right to use… no it was a really good helper.

"hmm. "If you have calmed down it would be a good idea to contact the embassy soon."

Judan was wiping his mouth like this while sipping the Einstephener he ordered.

I answered him seriously.

“There is no need for that.”

“…! “Why?”

The guy’s eyes light up as if he came up with some crazy idea.

Rather good.

I opened my mouth leisurely.

The words that might catch this guy’s interest are…

good. There is no choice.

“I am from the future.”

“Phew.”

Judan squirted out the Einstephener he had been drinking.

* * *

“…therefore.”

Zhou Dan stuttered quickly as if he was in a trance.

“The current leader of VTIC has the ability to go back to the past and he is a person from the future who inherited it…”

“yes.”

I hung up but I actually didn’t mind letting them talk as much as they wanted. Because it’s a foreign country.

Moreover even if they knew they would think that fans were creating settings and having fun. Because it sounds like bullshit.

But as expected this nonsense worked well for Ju Dan.

With a mischievous look on his face he asked me a few questions to see if there was anything strange in the context of what I said and even now he is seriously verifying it…

“That’s really interesting. Have you ever heard of chaos theory? “It’s similar to the butterfly effect…”

“yes. “I looked into many theories.”

I hurriedly cut him off.

No time. It would be better for me to verify it quickly.

“If you check my details you will see that I am still in college. “It will show that you are in Korea.”

And when he even logged in to my university account the guy who checked the information carefully nodded his head.

It seems like the medicine is working…

“Wouldn’t you like to meet yourself in this timeline? Well no. I don’t really want to recommend it. “It’s a bit of a dangerous assumption.”

“…”

Let’s be patient.

“So do you believe me?”

“Let’s assume you believe it and act on it. Honestly I feel like you know me well.”

“…”

“I guess there was a connection in the future?”

I nodded feebly.

“great.”

The guy spoke quite confidently.

Zhou Dan adjusted his outfit and said with a curtsy.

“First of all… I think you are older than me. Please speak comfortably.”

“okay.”

“…”

He nods his head at once and becomes silent as if embarrassed. what.

“…Even if I speak comfortably?”

“Sure.”

“Actually it’s okay. “It’s easier to use polite language.”

Why on earth did you ask?

Anyway I got back to the point.

“…I get it. Anyway there is one thing I want to check here.”

I looked at him seriously.

“I wonder if Cheongnyeo has now returned to the past.”

“…!”

Zhou Dan’s complexion changed.

Added a little thrill.

“In that case senior Cheongnyeo has already…”

I nodded.

“I’m saying I need to check that.”

Judan swallowed.

“All right.”

Thank you for catching me.

* * *

I stayed for a night at Judan’s lodgings.

It was a suitable business hotel and the company provided support up to this point.

“Is there anyone you share a dorm with?”

“It was originally a double room but I left to stay somewhere else with my family. Thanks to that I was able to use it comfortably.”

There is a golden spoon among the debut group. Anyway thanks to this I was able to avoid making lame excuses and sleeping on the floor.

But actually I couldn’t fall asleep even when I lay in bed that day. I’m not sure if it’s okay to sleep and the pain is so bad.

Thanks to this I had enough time to reflect on my judgment.

ruler.

First of all short-term coping measures such as ‘how to deal with Cheongnyeo depending on the situation'.

For these things you can make plans by checking the situation at the time. I'm not in great shape right now but I can use my head.

The problem is this.

fundamental threat.

-To check the clues you must re-enter the system.

I wonder what impact it will have on me when I go back.

"…"

Damn it.

Even if the clue itself was bait I had to see it.

'I have to go back.'

I stayed up all night in such intense calculations.

And the next day.

Dan Joo guided me back to the VTIC concert hall.

Actually the concert is tomorrow but most of the people involved are there.

"If you are my cousin you will not be searched."

I even created some background information on my own but I left it alone. If you leave that much fun they will continue to cooperate.

"For your information there are no special rumors about senior Cheongryeo."

…okay.

So I followed him in the morning and headed towards the official aisle of the VTIC concert.

However my mind was cold because the problem still had not been answered.

‘How can I stay sane in the system?’

I needed that.

In the meantime I inevitably passed by the place where I came to my senses yesterday.

Even in the midst of hectic times I could tell that the atmosphere had changed 180 degrees.

-Oooh!

It’s bright and noisy.

The chatter and laughter of excited people echoed here and there. And VTIC’s hit songs came in in between.

It was a sight worthy of a concert audience.

What’s interesting is that you can hear songs that aren’t VTIC songs at all.

[Come on baby you know it’s real!]

[It’s like sweet cotton candy!]

“Well it’s like a Kpop random dance challenge. What you see to the west looks like a professional dance team performance.”

Ju Dan nodded looking at a place that looked like a square.

There were many small stages here and there in the large space for WeTube videos or for enjoying the eve of a concert.

“VTIC is a group that represents the genre. So concert commemoration often becomes a celebration of KPOP itself. “You probably already know this but let me explain further.”

okay. I already know.

I’ve seen it a few times at our concerts as well.

“…”

hmm.

I checked my shape.

A stranger wearing a hat.

And asked.

“Can anyone participate in something like that?”

“yes. That may be true but due to common manners only local fans participate…”

I didn’t listen until the end and moved on.

“hey?”

* * *

After a while.

In the middle of a noisy and exciting festival.

A man wearing a black hat stood at the edge of the stairs holding a makeshift microphone.

“…”

Ju Dan wondered if this was some kind of sudden behavior and if he was guiding a mentally ill person under the influence of coaxing but for now he stood across from him and watched his actions.

The man checked the microphone surprisingly skillfully but as if something was awkward.

And while I was trying to choose accompaniment on WeTube…

I paused.

“…”

There are almost no songs sung by Testa Park Moon-dae.

All songs that will be released in the future are songs that will be released in a future that will develop in a different direction from the present. For now it was just a virtual song in his head.

And of course.

‘…okay. ‘No.’

There are no Testa songs either.

Not even one song.

“…”

But that didn’t mean it couldn’t be sung.

The man eventually chose a song.

Soon a man picked up the microphone with faint accompaniment.

Tootuk.

Very early on.

The song I practiced to become an idol when I just crash landed in my new life.

That song still flows with that feeling because I practiced it so often.

It comes out of Ryu Geon-woo's mouth.

[I remember the me I knew.]

.

Moon-Dae Park's <Re-listing! Idol Co. Ltd.> First evaluation song.

Here is a solo song released by the youngest member of the disbanded T-holic just a few weeks ago.

Here the song that hasn't even been reversed yet is now sung by Ryu Geon-woo's voice.

"Shiny and dazzling – beyond the seasons and even through the tiring and weak times."

The raw voice rang out along with the poor microphone sound quality.

"Containing my broken self oh…"

[Only me.]

[Yes it's me.]

The voice spread.

Chapter 548

Raebin Kim raised his head.

At first glance the complex and tightly drawn dots and lines on the PC that I had been working on looked dizzy.

But he knew that if he converted all of this into notes it would produce a surprisingly harmonious and beautiful sound…

But it was strange.

'Who will sing the song?'

Of course I also made songs with the singer I imagined as a hobby. After the members created the 'Star Songs' account together he would sometimes create songs full of imagination without a speaker.

However the fact that the song was completed so quickly and specifically means that there is a very clear singing voice in his head.

"that…"

He looked at the notes he had taken and reflexively began to translate them into sound sources in his head.

A voice that fits perfectly into this sound source like a puzzle.

That's a clear and solid voice.

It's not overly heavy and every time you go up or down an octave a bit of soft air is mixed into the note.

And for an appealing sound that brings out emotions at an exquisitely precise moment the vibrato is not excessive…

“Is Raebin Kim composing again?”

“…!”

At that moment Raebin Kim turned his head in surprise.

Cha Yu-jin was lying on one of the spare beds in his room and waving her hand.

“I want to listen too!”

“…okay.”

During a deep awakening a strange feeling of regret remained in my mind as if I had slipped away just one inch from enlightenment.

For some reason Raebin Kim let out a small sigh and connected speakers to the PC instead of headphones.

Music colored the room like three-dimensional layers sparkling and bouncing in all directions.

“Wow.”

Cha Yu-jin who was rolling around on the bed also stopped moving for a moment.

He fell into the music whistling softly. And Kim Rae-bin was also immersed in the sound source again.

After such beautiful music and silence dominated the space for a few tens of seconds.

Cha Yu-jin suddenly opened her mouth.

“But Kim Rae-bin. “Why is there another bed here?”

“…”

Kim Rae-bin looked at the extra bed that Cha Yu-jin pointed to with a blank expression.

“…I probably bought it just in case.”

“when?”

“So… quite a while ago.”

“For whom?”

Raebin Kim paused while speaking.

Like a fog blank spaces that I had inadvertently passed through float around in my mind.

The sound source he created came through the speakers and shook my thoughts like a background sound.

Who owns the bed?

And who on earth did he assume when he created this song with a vocal range that goes from 1 octave degrees (C3) to 3 octaves degrees (D#5)?

* * *

Square next to the concert hall.

The wind blowing outside hit my hat.

However Ryu Geon-woo was so immersed in singing that he barely even felt it let alone found it bothersome.

The melody moves up like an escalator and the song moves along with the beat like stepping stones.

-So me

I need to celebrate myself.

I must never forget again

It’s focused enough to keep you immersed but you’re not anxious.

A clever singing technique that catches the ear.

His attitude toward singing in front of an audience did not change.

However this song did not come from the idol’s main vocalist’s vocal cords which had been honed through years of practice and management activities.

It was the sound coming from the vocal cords of Ryu Geon-woo who did not even have singing as a hobby.

therefore.

-Now remember.

until now

It splits slightly in a husky way.

There are some parts where the pitch doesn’t come out the way I wanted and there are also parts where the voice doesn’t sound as expected.

However it was the same when Park Moon-dae first sang this song in ＜Azusa＞.

-Always survive today

an amazing miracle

Don’t forget don’t erase

The essence does not change.

-So congratulations.

Celebrate now

That's the party in me

Like every day is a PARTY Ooh-

He was a graduate of Testa.

No matter where you are or what you look like.

The identity formed during the densest and most intense years of his life was so strong that it kept him standing still.

I was me.

-Let's PARTY

Her clear voice which did not waver even at high pitched notes firmly filled the range that the microphone could reach.

There was only one song that ended in a good mood with the song filling up until the end.

The man bowed his head as if he were performing normally.

Clap clap.

Applause from several audience members who stopped and listened filled the space where the musical accompaniment ended.

At the VTIC concert there was a strange feeling perhaps because he sang a song by his former rival T Holic.

Still a reaction is a reaction.

Applause was applause.

"…"

He came down the stairs with a refreshing breath.

Judan finally recovered from his dazed expression and made a confident comment.

"You're a singer."

Testa Park Mun-dae did not answer but grinned.

* * *

Judan guy started talking a lot.

When he saw me picking out a song with a thick face in a square where people were passing by he seemed certain that I was making a living from this.

Thanks to you I was listening to this guy's mystery parade with great praise… Wasn't he originally a secularist to the point of being a bit weird?

'Why are you so excited?'

The problem is that the batting average is secretly high.

"Are you working as a singer in LeTi in the future?"

"…"

"From the knowledge that only LeTi officials know to the appearance preferred by this agency…"

And eventually we came to this point.

“No wait… I see. Will you soon join our debut group and debut as the last member? “If it’s been about 10 years that seems to be about the right age…”

“no.”

It’s so plausible that it makes me crazier.

However Zhou Dan nodded slightly meaningfully.

It’s a face that any member you meet in the future will see.

“All right. “That’s how I know it.”

“……”

…Let’s not say in the future that we have experienced something similar.

I walked silently.

Well the fact that people around me are slightly following me seems like an issue with the song selection I mentioned earlier.

‘No matter what did T-Holic’s solo song cross the line?’

It wasn’t intentional though.

Actually the reason I suddenly grabbed the microphone and started singing while walking down the street was because I wanted to experience it for real.

‘I mean I was Park Mun-dae.’

I felt like I needed that to properly come to my senses within the system.

To vividly experience the life I have lived over the past few years.

It’s about making sure your identity is clear.

Moreover I currently have no evidence or connection to Testa Park Mun-dae.

In the end what I felt was important.

And when I tried it it definitely worked… I convinced myself.

That idol is me.

I chuckled and squeezed and opened my hands.

‘good.’

I feel confident.

As long as I don’t lose this sense I can come to my senses anywhere. This is true even within the system.

Let’s define it clearly now.

-Just because I display a status window doesn’t mean I am a system.

Isn’t the cause of the status window originally a very human one?

A big moon.

The status window came about because that guy wanted to help me live as an idol.

He’s been doing that for years.

‘You can’t say I couldn’t last a few fucking months and my identity collapsed.’

Somehow I come to my senses and look at the terminal in the system.

My eyes flashed and I took a step forward. Judan finally calmed down and pointed to a nearby building.

okay.

“There it is. Arriving soon…”

It was then.

“Are you the person who sang in the square earlier?”

“…??”

A human intervened in a bright and loud voice.

‘This is the voice of a salesperson.’

Moreover when I checked the face it looked a bit familiar…

“Chief.”

“Uh oh Udan!”

“…”

He is the head of LeTi’s rookie development team.

‘Hey no way.’

This person who had been deliberately fussing over Ju Dan and pretending to know him looked at me as if he was asking a question to Ju Dan.

“Do you know someone? Oh is this the relative you said was coming? Wow you can’t fake blood but how did your cousin become so handsome? I was surprised. “You sing so well…”

“…”

“Ah it’s still early… Isn’t that before dinner? “I was already thinking of buying food from Udan but there’s a good restaurant here.”

“…that.”

“How are you? It’s right next door! Actually you sang the song so beautifully earlier… you weren’t nervous at all. As an audience member I was too immersed! So I wanted to buy at least one meal…”

“…”

It seems that selecting the T-Holic song had a more aggressive effect than expected.

hmm.

‘It would be more natural this way right?’

It’s about digging up information.

After a quick calculation I opened my mouth.

“yes. Um… thank you.”

“What are you saying! “I am grateful.”

The head of the rookie development team was delighted and quickly pointed to a restaurant called a good restaurant and naturally our destination changed.

The cast was mastered.

“You really calculated this far for that song?”

Is that possible?

But I just grinned.

“Let’s move.”

Judan looked at me with eyes that re-evaluated me.

It’s not a scam. As for fraud.

“Are you okay here?”

“yes. thank you.”

As expected at that ‘good restaurant’ the manager investigated my personal information while eating calming the mood with small talk.

“That’s right!”

And as if I thought it was appropriate when my stomach was full and dessert was about to come I started to unwrap it.

This is the basis for persuasion for a contract.

It was mainly about praising LeTi in an honest way about how attractive the agency is in reality… Of course it’s impossible not to mention the leading artist.

VTIC.

“This LA performance also sold out really quickly.”

And I looked at the facial expression of the manager who was speaking.

‘You’re fine.’

Moreover he brought it into the story without any hesitation. Seeing that he wasn’t being careful at all means that this person wasn’t even informed of any member-related emergency status.

“Udan’s training period is a bit long but if he does well he gets rewarded…”

And various information from this person's mouth from trainee Joo Dan to the disbandment of T Holic.

Looking at the current reality that matches the information I collected as a status window a clear conclusion can be drawn.

-Cheongryeo has not restarted yet.

This is still his 100th restart of life.

It's possible that it's still preparing to restart or that it was about to restart but held off for a while because another problem occurred.

I quickly came to a conclusion.

'Then all that remains is contact.'

Now all you have to do is kindly reject Director Lee's scout and send him away and just aim for the right moment to naturally collide with Cheongryeo…

"So Geon-woo. "Are you interested in anything other than singing?"

"…"

Hmm.

* * *

Cheongryeo was lying quietly in the first class seat of the plane.

The LA concert is over.

But he still hadn't restarted.

If I wanted to it would be easy to break open an airplane window and jump out.

But he didn't.

Now that the risk factors have been removed there is no burden to start at any time.

…or without reason.

"…"

He thought as he lay in the almost private first class seat.

'Good thing I deleted it.'

It was a sincere and feeble relief.

I had to erase this useless influence until I restarted.

but.

"…"

My habits of the past few months were more excessive than necessary.

A conversation partner who has nothing to hide and is always available to talk inevitably creates dependence.

It wasn't good.

'…Help.'

Cheongryeo muttered insensitively.

That moment.

[why.]

"…!"

My hand gripped the armrest tightly.

He immediately raised his upper body and looked into space.

A bright blue pop-up.

[You said you were restarting but why did it stay like that?]

“…”

Help.

Cheongryeo looked at it in silence and slowly muttered to himself.

“Whenever I restart it will be my heart.”

[I guess it was your intention to kill me because you wanted to restart quickly.]

[I’m not the kind of person whose death will disappear if you restart.]

“Is what you’re talking about welcome?”

[It’s not an illusion it’s real.]

[Anyway if you’re being sarcastic and saying you didn’t die in the end you’re an asshole.]

Cheongryeo looked at the pop-up blankly.

And I read the emotions between the lines.

It was anger.

[You definitely knew it too. I pressed it knowing I could die.]

[Isn’t that why you drank beer?]

“…”

Cheongryeo let out a long sigh.

For some reason he looked very tired.

However the pop-up poured out its remarks without hesitation.

[If you want to press it again press it. Let’s see what happens this time.]

“How did you come back?”

[I don’t know either. Somehow…]

The pop-up blinked as if it was struggling a bit.

It seemed like there had been some kind of blow but the sentence was still unstoppable.

[Anyway I recovered a bit and sent a message. I’m pissed.]

“…”

Cheongryeo looked at the pop-up without any expression.

However the suspicion and enormous questions that the person who sent the pop-up expected were not expressed with the shameless calmness.

[That’s all.]

Cheongryeo slightly moved her head up and down at the last message.

“…okay.”

Park Moon-dae removed the pop-up while suppressing grumbles such as ‘Is it an innate tendency to pat people on the back and become calm?'

Just like that the blue pop-up that appeared in front of Cheongnyeo's eyes disappeared.

"…"

Help is back!

Cheongryeo silently deleted the red deletion recommendation window that reappeared.

And then he leaned back on his sheet again.

I had to delete it.

The problem is that it didn't.

* * *

And at the same time.

"Geonwoo?"

"…ah."

"Oh my you fell asleep while waiting~"

Park Moon-dae opened his eyes in the body of Ryu Geon-woo.

That's right.

He succeeded in accessing the system in Cheongryeo while maintaining his body!

'This is it.'

-hello!

Just passing by while the trainees and officials were shaking hands while greeting each other was enough.

The balance was better than expected.

Even though I'm in terrible pain right now and accessing the system is twice as burdensome…

'I feel like there's a bit of a corner to contend with.'

Including this one.

He smiled and shook hands with the manager in front of him.

"Congratulations on the contract."

"thank you."

Even in real life he signed a contract with LeTi as an aspiring artist.

Of course according to social norms the early 30s was a difficult age to debut as an idol.

So he wrote two secret strategies.

One is… change of occupation.

"You really won't regret it. "Our actor line this time is really good."

He signed as an aspiring new actor.

This was Director Lee's purpose of scouting in the first place.

Rather than Ryu Geon-woo's singing ability he was chosen because of his calmness and appearance when he sings in front of people without being nervous at all.

'I don't really plan on debuting here anyway.'

So this was enough.

And the second.

“If you’re in your mid-20s you’re the perfect age!”

“…yes.”

Isn’t your resident registration number required to sign a contract?

So… um. He really just used his number.

“Then please take care of me Ryu Geon-woo!”

This is Ryu Geon-woo here.

He sent a sincere apology to the college students who are living in this reality.

‘sorry.’

Let’s steal some identity.

Chapter 549

That's right.

I did the crazy thing of signing an actor contract with LeTi from the past.

In order to collect information on Cheongryeo from various angles and obtain a status that can be used in case of emergency.

After completing the personal information and signing the director smiled and said to me.

"So you're coming to Korea two months after the trip ends?"

"yes. thank you."

Of course I couldn't return to the country right away. Not only does he not have a passport but his identity is also fake.

'There wouldn't even be a record of entering the United States.'

It was perfect to get arrested.

So I postponed my entry by saying nonsense like 'It's difficult to cancel my two-month trip to the U.S. before the semester starts next year.'

Well LeTi didn't even think about compensating for trip cancellation fees but they happily agreed.

"I understand!"

However when we parted ways the manager acted as if he was going to tell us some secret story.

“But before you come to Korea… you can make your screen debut right away. “There was just the right location.”

“yes?”

“When we reviewed it internally Gunwoo’s mask and attitude received very good reviews… You know that right?”

I don’t know.

“You can do it right after your debut.”

I have no intention of debuting.

Instead of saying that I deliberately hesitated.

“I think it’s too fast for me to do it but I think I should do it after practicing so I don’t embarrass the company.”

“Hey what are you talking about!”

You’re not listening.

It doesn’t matter. Anyway it will appear as soon as the analysis of system clues is completed.

I got up from the cafe and saw the manager leave.

“Anyway thank you Geon-woo!”

“yes. thank you.”

And then as if touching a baton a guy quietly got up from the table behind me and sat down in front of me.

“It looks like the contract has been reached well.”

“…”

It's a casting.

I don't know why he doesn't just sit next to me and does such strange things. Instead of asking I just nodded.

"So are you staying in America?"

"okay."

"It may be better than Korea but the United States is not an easy place for stateless people to live."

"There are more than one or two illegal immigrants in the United States. "You just have to do it in moderation."

Since I can speak English and cook and make coffee I will be able to get a job at any fast food restaurant or cafe.

Zhou Dan shook his head.

"At least I will activate your first smartphone. "With a prepaid phone."

I laughed.

"What kind of money do you have?"

"I would think of it as an investment for the future."

It seems like they still firmly believe that I was in their group.

His eyes lit up and he asked seriously.

"Let me ask you just one question. "Will I have the means to buy a building in the future?"

"…uh."

That's… not sure.

The guy nodded with satisfaction.

"Then please take care of me. "I monitor Senior Cheongryeo's movements and keep in regular contact with him."

And he held out his hand as if to shake hands.

I held out my hand while smiling.

"thanks."

And then I realized.

That the other person's hand feels hot like it's burning.

My hands were incredibly cold.

"…!"

The other person's eyes widened as if he felt it too and he nodded as if he understood the situation.

"This is what happens when you order a cold drink in this weather."

"…okay."

no.

In fact I didn't even touch the drink I ordered.

In other words this is not a symptom of a temporary decrease in body temperature due to being cold.

"…"

After checking on Judan who stood up to order another drink I raised my hand and examined it.

When I held the glass table even the glass that was supposed to be cold felt lukewarm.

The dull pain is a bonus.

‘after.’

Yes this was a problem too.

The point is that my physical condition is quickly becoming like trash.

Not only has my identity been stolen but I don’t have any money so it’s difficult to go to the hospital.

‘It’s not a problem that can be cured by going to the hospital in the first place.’

I opened my fist and then clenched it.

* * *

“My body… became colder.”

“…”

“What should I do?”

Geodal was holding the arm of Park Moon-dae who was sprawled on the sofa.

This is because the body temperature started to cool down as if it was frozen.

My breathing is very shallow and my pulse is very light.

Feeling almost as good as dead.

One time it even faded into obscurity as if it would disappear and then came back making the three people lose their breath.

Kwon Hee-seung who was on a video call ripped his hair out.

[and. I'm going crazy. On the internet no one really thinks it's strange. Besides… wait a minute! Is lunch time already over? Senior Cheongryeo shouldn't you come back now? Wow then what should I do?]

"It doesn't matter today. "Because it's a holiday."

[Ah… Well that's a good thing.]

Cheongryeo was not relieved at all.

He looked back at the big moon and asked.

"I guess they still haven't found any traces of the system."

"…yes."

Geoldal sniffed and continued to try but no clue came from Park Moon-dae's body.

It was such a strange thing. Obviously it was my brother who put the system together and it had to be the system that put him in this state.

however…

'How can there be no trace?'

At the time when my head was spinning.

Clap clap!

[Now let's not get caught up in that too much and think about it again!]

Kwon Hee-seung recalled the situation.

[First of all seeing as my brother's condition fluctuates from moment to moment from cold to faint…]

Cheongnyeo muttered.

"change."

[yes?]

"Park Moon-dae is not dead."

[Of course it should be like that!]

It wasn't something I said to reassure myself.

'If the condition continues to change abnormally while the body is still alive.'

Cheongryeo concluded that it was clear that there was a mechanism.

So this reaction may be occurring because Park Moon-dae is experiencing something.

Just somewhere other than here.

And there is just no clue as to where that place is.

Heeseung Kwon began to groan.

[Um… place. Ah that time… when I became a server. Do you know what state our bodies were in at that time? On that plane. That… big moon brother? My brother wasn't there.]

The big moon groaned together.

"I don't know because we were all dragged in together… Ah but even then I accessed my brother's status window and found him!"

But now there is no trace.

[Oh really!]

Tuk. Tuk.

Cheongryeo knocked slowly on the table.

[What's the difference? Are there any different conditions from back then?]

Cheongryeo stopped tapping his fingers on the table.

condition.

-Does Park Moon University have a system?

: YES

-Park Moon-dae showed any abnormal symptoms?

: YES

In summary it's the same.

Then the other thing is the details.

And if there is one difference in the process…

medium.

"I see."

[yes?]

Moon-Dae Park was in the process of collecting something called system debris.

And finally the person who had the fragment.

Moreover the only person he came into contact with when he was caught up in a strange phenomenon was…

“it’s me.”

“yes??”

It was himself.

Cheongryeo grabbed Big Moon’s arm.

“Check on me.”

“ah…”

Geoldal was pushed by the momentum and reflexively tried to ‘connect’ with Cheongryeo without even realizing it.

and…

I flinch.

“…!!”

The big moon trembled its arms.

Then he slowly raised his head and swallowed.

“there is.”

Hope shone in his eyes.

“There’s something about Mr. Cheongryeo! “So it’s a trace that leads to some kind of system something like a passage…”

[Wow I was right!!]

No matter what Kwon Hee-seung shouted Cheongryeo did not react.

“Can I contact you?”

“I’m trying it now!”

Geoldal tried with all his might.

and.

Tung.

Cheongnyeo felt a faint unpleasant dull ache-like ache passing through her mind.

But that was the end.

“…”

Big Moon was in a cold sweat.

“It’s too… too far… and too fast.”

[It’s fast?? What does that feel like?]

“I don’t know! “It just feels that way…”

It was as if he was trying to deliver a message to someone on a moving train by running bare-chested.

A feeling of inadequacy.

It felt like a completely different method was needed.

‘Ugh!!’

Still as he managed to get a clue Geudal tried to think more calmly.

How do I contact you?

“Seon Ah-hyeon.”

“yes?”

Big Moon looked back at Cheongnyeo.

“That was what caused the error in the system. “Can’t I use it?”

From the beginning Cheongryeo prioritized calling Sun Ah-hyeon as soon as the incident occurred.

‘ah!’

Geoldal understood what he was saying but at the same time he fell into deep trouble again.

This is because Cheongryeo’s phone calls did not work at all for Sun Ah-hyun.

“But you don’t remember Moon Dae or recognize him at all… How can you?”

How do you persuade them?

It was that moment.

dripping.

“Over there.”

“…!!”

As I turned my head I saw a tall figure coming through the front door of the building.

The person with a nervous expression… was Sun Ah-hyun wearing a coat!

"…?!"

For a moment Geoldal wondered if he had some strange ability.

"hello."

But it wasn't the end for Sun Ah-hyun.

Five more people each with different steps came in behind Sun Ah-hyun who carefully entered the room.

"excuse me."

Big Moon was dumbfounded.

Testa Power.

Everyone suddenly appeared in the JSA.

"…!?"

"I came because I wanted to ask you something."

Ryu Cheong-woo who came in last confirmed that all members had entered the door.

And asked.

To Cheongryeo.

"Who is Park Mun-dae?"

* * *

Two hours ago.

“Thank you for lending me the book. Sejin. “It was fun.”

“…what.”

Bae Se-jin felt a little embarrassed and snatched the book held out by Ryu Cheong-wu.

“haha.”

Liu Chengwu smiled coolly.

This is because I found out that although this friend may be blunt at times he actually takes the time to write a list to recommend books to me.

The books I read this time seemed to have been chosen with care. It was an autobiographical essay about a retired athlete becoming successful in the IT industry. Liu Chengwu laughed happily at the slightly explicit contents of the book.

‘I should read it carefully’

However when I finished reading the content I felt like it would be more interesting for someone who is more interested in the Internet than myself.

So among the members…

“…”

Liu Chengwu crossed his arms and leaned against the wall.

“Sejin.”

“…why.”

“Out of all of us did you do the most monitoring?”

“…! “I just watch a little bit of WeTube but not that much!”

“huh. yes.”

“Rather than me…!”

However Bae Se-jin who had been giving an example without hesitation froze there.

‘…therefore.’

I’m sure it happened but when I tried to give an example I couldn’t think of anyone.

There was someone.

“…”

“…”

A stiff silence fell somewhere in the living room.

Lee Se-jin who was trying to pass by with a toothbrush in his mouth paused for a moment.

“…?”

At that moment Bae Se-jin broke the silence and barely shouted.

“okay! You see more of that Lee Se-jin! Internet!”

“Me?”

“okay!”

“…I don’t know what it is but it feels like something bad? “Isn’t it~?”

“…Oh no.”

With the addition of a playful tone the tense atmosphere was finally relieved and an inexplicable sense of relief took over the living room.

However Liu Chengwu was deep in thought with a calm face.

Sejin Lee lightly tapped the leader's shoulder.

"Ah Sejin."

"yes. brother!"

Sejin Lee smiled cheerfully and rubbed the back of her neck.

"hmm. "For some reason the atmosphere in the dorm today feels really stuffy. Is it because everyone is working so hard?"

"Maybe so."

Liu Chengwu nodded and then made this recommendation.

"Shall we watch some old videos?"

"Oh good. Let's find our original intention!"

So they gathered in the living room and started watching Testa's old stages and contents.

Randomly from debut activities to recent activities.

[I think of you whom I met tomorrow all day today.]

[Dream as blue as day]

"Oh what are you watching?"

"I just finished my work."

And as it was a holiday the members joined in one by one and started watching the videos.

Debut stage extreme travel desert island shipwreck country living concert with Munggae special stage…

W Live to commemorate the first concert.

[Park Moon-dae (Today's Crybaby King):… Thank you.]

But it felt oddly awkward.

"…ah."

"hmm."

But the more I looked at it the more the awkwardness disappeared and it felt like it was just my mood.

Bae Se-jin thought.

'It's strange.'

Normally gathering together and monitoring should be fun. Why does it feel like I'm holding back so much?

And Ryu Cheong-wu who was sitting next to him opened his mouth as if talking to himself.

"It was just a thought."

"yes."

"The high notes on stage just sounded good."

"Yes."

"Our members are good at it~"

Ryu Cheong-wu coolly asked in response to the gentle words of kindness.

“Who exactly?”

“…”

-Whose high note is it?

“Oh of course you are my brother. Ah except for our rapper line everyone is good at middle and high notes~”

“I don’t think I can raise it that high.”

“…yes?”

“I know my vocal range well.”

Liu Chengwu spoke calmly.

By absorbing his experience as a steer into knowledge he knew his own strengths and weaknesses more clearly than before.

“Not me.”

“…”

“I heard our member called.”

“That’s… that’s right.”

“who?”

A dizzying silence once again dominated the living room.

With only Testa’s stage sound coming out dully from the TV.

“Shit… is there a 7th member that none of us know about? Like a haunted house story?”

Cha Yu-jin covered her mouth and shouted like that.

“Huh??”

Everyone was shocked and started shaking their heads or hitting the person who spoke.

“Don’t say nonsense Cha Yu-jin!”

“You do it every time!”

“Ouch! It hurts! “I’m sick!”

Lee Se-jin didn’t hit Cha Yu-jin but he shook his head and said

“Hey where is there such a thing as a ghost? Ah the mention of a ghostly idol reminds me of that. Why is that there? Yes VTIC senior Cheongryeo and our members came out together…”

“ah. “That mountain cabin.”

Bae Se-jin who remembered <Let’s become friends first> spoke and the members nodded vigorously.

Yes there was that too!

Liu Chengwu asked.

“…Who is that member?”

“…”

“…”

Chilly silence.

The hand that was hitting Cha Yu-jin also stopped.

[OK. Now I’m literally getting goosebumps.]

And he realized that he had casually believed that someone would translate the English and that no one had come forward to do so.

About the sense of discomfort I've felt so far.

He frowned.

"It's strange."

Liu Chengwu pressed his eyebrows.

"good. If you've ever had a strange experience let's talk about it in detail. Was there some kind of trigger?"

"That… I mean."

But everything felt vague and stable like in a fog.

The goosebumps I felt for a moment disappeared and it was as if nothing had happened. They were just about to move on to the stage where they felt slightly embarrassed as if they had reacted excessively and unrealistically.

It was then.

"ah."

Sun Ah-hyun let out an exclamation with a pale face.

"What is it?"

"brother…?"

Pressed by urging Seon Ah-hyeon slowly opened her mouth.

"I mean… earlier. I had a call on Saturday. "I suddenly got a phone call…"

“With who?”

“VTIC Cheongnyeo senior uses this smartphone.”

Sejin Lee frowned slightly.

“Isn’t that Ahyun’s private phone? “Why does that senior know that number?”

“Ugh that was strange… and.”

Sun Ah-hyun muttered as she lowered her smartphone.

“He suddenly asked me if I knew a certain stranger.”

“…”

“who.”

“A man named Park Moon-dae.”

It was a name I had never heard of.

So the members got even more goosebumps down their spines.

“…What did you answer?”

“I said I didn’t know so he told me to search in the search bar…”

“…”

Usually when a portal site asks you to search it means that it will come up if you search…

That occupation is usually a celebrity.

Idols like themselves.

“And now I checked.”

Sun Ah-hyun lifted another smartphone from the table with a still expressionless face.

It was Sun Ah-hyun’s work smartphone.

He’s been checking this since the call. There was something that kept bothering me.

“The number that called from my private phone was different.”

“what?”

“Senior Cheongryeo’s number that I saved here… wasn’t.”

“…”

That’s it.

Everyone felt it intuitively.

That was the strangest and most suspicious thing!

“How about adding a blank character?”

“okay!”

And under the supervision of Ryu Cheong-woo Seon Ah-hyun wrote this message to Cheongryeo.

-Is it possible to visit JSA on the same day? We would like to go see you now.

A few hours later.

“No matter how much I think about it it’s strange.”

This is what they asked here.

A ridiculous question that I would never have asked normally.

“I’m talking about the person named Park Moon-dae who spoke to Ahyeon on the phone earlier.”

“…”

“Are you by any chance a member of ours?”

Chapter 550

After I decided to stay in the US.

‘hmm.’

After getting a job at a store that barely paid the minimum wage I went back into the system to search for clues.

Of course Ryu Geon-woo’s body was left in a small rented studio with the help of Judan.

I took a deep breath.

‘It’s okay.’

It was worth holding on to.

As the pressure felt unpleasant it was safe and had not yet encroached on the system.

And even more so when I keep being reminded of the reality before I was dragged into this damn system.

‘…I’m sure the other guys are fine.’

It was fortunate that we didn’t drag this guy or that guy in like last time.

I continued to dive concentrating my mind to keep that thought in my head as much as possible.

To where the terminal is.

* * *

Shortly after Testa entered the JSA.

“…”

“…”

“No way. But maybe…?”

“Speak Korean Cha Yu-jin.”

The Testa members who heard about everything that happened through Keudal and Kwon Hee-seung’s collaboration – you really had a 7th member and it disappeared! – were momentarily dumbfounded.

They were so suspicious that they did something crazy by coming to JSA without hesitation because it was a holiday.

But I didn’t expect to get such a blatantly unrealistic answer.

“…So the 7th member is…”

“Lie down there…”

Bae Se-jin turned his head at Keundal’s gesture.

On that sofa…

There was nothing.

“…”

Bae Se-jin felt cold sweat running down her back.

‘for a moment. This group of people seems like a strange cult but they joined… ’

However the combination of VTIC Cheongnyeo spacer Kwon Hee-seung and a suddenly handsome 7th grade civil servant was very strange.

No if it was a cult in the first place wouldn't it have used a more plausible and realistic method?

And as if to support that thought Big Moon hurriedly opened his mouth.

"Think of it again. "Sejin how do you know me?"

"…yes?"

Bae Se-jin stiffened.

Now that I think about it I knew this person's identity 'as if it were obvious'…

"So… you said you were my fan."

"no."

Big Moon muttered with a slightly sad face as if he was holding back something.

"That's also Testa Park Moon-dae."

"…"

"I'm a Testa fan too but… we got to know each other thanks to him."

Bae Se-jin eventually kept his mouth shut.

Big Moon asked earnestly.

"You all have some knowledge or memories but the process of creating them is unclear…?"

"…"

Testa recalled several feelings of discomfort and doubt that each person had.

Sometimes a hobby sometimes an ability sometimes a surreal experience.

Or it was knowledge that only those who persistently continued their idol life without success would have.

A reality that subtly contradicts one's current perception.

Everyone realized.

"…"

There was a deep silence with no one denying Geoldal's words.

and.

"Over there."

"yes?"

Sun Ah-hyeon slightly raised her hand and asked with a pale face.

"You said he was… on the sofa right?"

"…yes."

"Wait… can I come closer?"

"sure…"

After hearing Keundal's immediate answer Seon Ah-hyeon carefully and gently approached the sofa.

"for a moment."

"…?"

Cheongryeo moved right next to Park Moon-dae's sofa and placed his hand near Park Moon-dae's carotid artery.

And he spoke quite softly.

"Here it is."

"Ah thank you…"

Sun Ah-hyun slowly stretched out her hand onto the sofa.

Trying not to forget that there's someone above him that he doesn't recognize.

Sun Ah-hyeon thoughtfully stretched out her hand.

'I want to know.'

A trembling hand slowly reached for an unseen person.

Without any sense of touch.

* * *

The center of the system has finally arrived.

Park Moon-dae put his hand on the terminal.

* * *

That moment.

Sun Ah-hyun felt something like static electricity explode from her fingertips.

All the way to the head.

And even to other people.

[■■■■■■■■■■]

A flashback passes by.

-The calm way of speaking when coming up with ideas in the first team match; the gutsy PPT presentation of first place thoughts; the rough consolation of Inyoung's hands stroking the puppy that was crying at the first concert…

and.

-The person in front of you.

Sun Ah-hyun twitched her hand.

Something flashed under my hand and a silhouette passed by…

Patter.

[■■■■■■■■■■]

Big Moon saw Park Moon-dae's body blinking as if it were breaking into countless holograms.

From under Sun Ah-hyun's hands.

"…!!"

At the same time he got up from his seat someone pushed his chest to stop him.

It was Cheongryeo.

Still in contact with Park Moon-dae he stared at the large moon in silence.

“…”

[What is it? What happened?]

The phenomenon which could not be conveyed through the camera flashed sharply as if piercing the eyes of Geodal and Cheongnyeo but soon subsided.

The stabbing pain stopped and Testa staggered to his feet.

“Huh.”

Only then did the hand blocking the big moon disappear.

After glaring at Cheongryeo once he rushed out and hurriedly asked:

“Are you okay?”

“So…”

“Oh my fxxking… Look! Look at that!”

Big Moon hastily turned his head. Cha Yu-jin who had already run to the sofa was freaking out next to Park Moon-dae.

Big Moon’s mind sparkled with hope.

“Everyone… can you see it?”

“Of course YES!! “Get up!”

Cha Yu-jin grabbed Park Mun-dae and shook it. People were freaked out.

“Watch your head watch your head!!”

“Oh my gosh I’m going to break my neck at Mundaemundae…”

Sejin Lee stopped talking.

Compared to the words that came out naturally the face was somewhat stiff.

“You remembered…?”

Geoldal spoke with less confidence than before.

“…hmm.”

In a slightly unfamiliar move Lee Se-jin took Park Moon-dae’s body instead of Cha Yu-jin and carefully laid it down on the sofa.

He seemed to be holding back his confusion.

Instead Kim Rae-bin who looked like she didn’t know what to do opened her mouth.

“I remember! “But I feel like I’ll forget it at any moment!”

“…!”

That’s right.

I’m not sure what the mechanism is but Testa recognized the existence of Park Moon-dae.

Just like a temporary measure.

Just like Park Moon-dae was blinking like a hologram earlier.

“…”

The expressions of the people present sank for different reasons.

This is because Testa slowly realized that this was an incredibly dangerous situation and Keudal and Kwon Hee-seung knew that Testa realized that.

Only one person spoke without changing his expression.

“It worked. “I think we need to make more similar attempts.”

It was Cheongryeo.

Bae Se-jin frowned.

“…Isn’t there an explanation first? “Park Moon-dae needs to tell us in detail why it happened like that so that we can come up with ideas…”

“Do I need to reiterate the importance of saving time?”

“…”

The moment when the tension was about to flow.

[Now wait a minute! Brothers you probably still feel uncomfortable but really don’t regret it later and say ‘Oh we shouldn’t have argued’ so let’s do something right now!]

Kwon Hee-seung who was able to see all of this objectively because he was participating through the camera shouted.

“…”

After checking everything Liu Qingyu slowly opened his mouth with a bitter smile.

“Heeseung what you say is persuasive.”

“…!”

“Of course we will try something.”

Big Moon clenched his fists. Liu Chengwu asked calmly.

“Is there a way to make Mundae wake up again? Or should we think from there?”

“That means…”

From here on I didn’t come up with a specific method!

Geudal who was sweating and trying to explain the method suddenly realized that Cheongryeo was staring at him without saying a word.

And when I thought about it the reason these people came in like this… wasn’t this person giving permission?

It was clear that Cheongryeo knew this in advance.

“hey.”

Cheongnyeo just slightly rolled her eyes.

Big Moon asked with a huff.

“You were in contact with the testers a long time ago right?”

“…”

As I was able to get in touch with him the person who passed the snatched meeting that was almost at the level of controversy over celebrity favors through connections he made while working in the command and control room did not respond.

“Why did you contact the testers but not even tell me?”

Knowing I have a backup makes me lazy.

You will achieve the most efficiency if you think that there is no other way than to try yourself and stick to it desperately.

Cheongryeo who skipped the explanation without even blinking answered simply.

“I don’t have time.”

“…”

“I’m sure you’re not saying that you need to hear an explanation either. “You probably don’t know that action comes first.”

“…”

[evil! Yes that’s right! Start with action not explanation! Act quickly!]

“Oh I understand!”

At the urging of Kwon Hee-seung who was feeling frustrated as if he had eaten about 10000 sweet potatoes Geudal eventually quickly contacted Cheongryeo again.

It means roughly grabbing the arm.

“And… uh then”

“Among Testa’s juniors there is someone with a unique personality.”

Cheongryeo cut off the conversation like a knife and came in clearly.

“There is no need to explain the method since it has been used in the virtual world as well. “I will do it in a similar way this time… Seon Ah-hyun.”

“…yes?”

“No matter what I was thinking when I contacted Park Moon-dae earlier.”

He stared at Sun Ah-hyun.

“Just do it.”

"…"

Sun Ah-hyun bit her lip and nodded.

'Do it as a favor please!'

Big Moon felt like screaming but he held back and persevered.

Instead I also gained enlightenment.

'Come to think of it Sun Ah-hyeon is not the only one like this.'

He recalled that Lee Se-jin had developed his characteristics and surpassed the potential stats indicated by the system.

Thanks to their characteristics both of them showed moves that deviated from the system's notation.

'perhaps… '

At that moment his mind lit up!

-If the power of this 'characteristic' of a person becomes large enough wouldn't the system be unable to understand it?

And coincidentally most of Testa possessed high-grade characteristics.

'This is it!'

Big Moon opened his mouth with the thought that he had to make up for it.

If you 'connect' with direct contact you might be able to use that characteristic as well!

"Wouldn't it be better if we all put our hands together?"

"God… this is totally like Astrology. Do you guys believe in Voodoo?"

"…"

Although she said that Cha Yu-jin quickly cooperated with surprisingly serious eyes.

He asked sullenly placing his hand on Big Moon's arm.

"Is this right?"

"yes yes!"

Big Moon nodded vigorously.

And then he looked at the other members with eager eyes.

"hmm."

Most of the members either shrugged their shoulders or made desperate faces and did as Geoldal said and contacted him.

And last.

"…"

Big Moon looked at Testa's greatest realist with slightly fearful eyes.

It was Lee Se-jin who was watching this scene with his arms crossed.

Lee Se-jin laughed when he made eye contact with Big Moon.

"Ah I don't know. Normally it would be normal to be angry here. "You know right?"

First he wanted to hear a proper explanation of what the situation was.

I felt like yelling at Park Moon-dae saying that if he gets involved with these people he gets caught up in these ridiculous incidents.

I wanted to ask for an explanation and make a plan myself.

but.

‘I’m not an expert.’

“Let’s try this first and then talk about it.”

He acknowledged it and extended his hand.

Even after you cooperate you can still be questioned.

“Thank you!”

Geoldal swallowed his saliva and spoke as loudly as possible.

“Well then… I will.”

After he took a deep breath.

– Tung.

Through Cheongryeo I accessed the ‘passage’ through which the system passed.

* * *

“…Whoop!”

Testa Park Moon-dae took a long deep breath in Ryu Geon-woo’s old studio apartment.

When I felt a strange sensation in the terminal and saw no other changes I immediately exited the system after waiting for a while.

‘What happened?’

He recalled the subtle twinge of pain as he clenched and unclenched his fist.

…Somehow I felt like my body hurt less.

“…”

However after a few days his body got used to it again so Park Mun-dae almost dismissed it as just his mood.

* * *

Big Moon blinked his eyes.

The passage over was still too fast. The distant and overwhelming acceleration made him tremble as if he could never catch up.

at that time.

[‘Trait: Guts’ activating!]

: Offset mental status abnormalities.

The terribly heavy resistance is suddenly lowered and the spirit becomes lighter.

‘Whew.’

Big Moon settled down near the passage more easily and checked the goal beyond…

[‘Attribute: Focus’ activated!]

: Concentration +120%

The goal became clearer as if my vision became clearer and I could clearly see distant places.

Geoldal prepared in place.

['Attribute: Full draw' activating!]

: Performance equanimity +150%

Calmly in the perfect position.

After taking a deep breath check the route.

And shake everything off.

-Phew.

Let's go.

['Attribute: Be Quiet' Activating!]

: Momentum +180%

Acceleration increases.

['Attribute: Maestro' activated!]

: Creation speed +150% when inspired

Faster and louder.

The engine-like power becomes more solid and powerful as if it were being absorbed into a single point.

['Attribute: Black Hole' being activated!

: Stage immersion +180%]

Big Moon took a deep breath.

The characteristics bounce around inside the large moon clashing with each other like ping-pong.

[‘Attribute: Focus’ activated!]

[‘Attribute: Full draw’ activating!]

[‘Trait: Guts’ activating!]

[‘Attribute: Black Hole’ being activated!]

Big Moon connected the dots in a trance and gradually increased its power.

Lines shapes three dimensions.

More massively.

[‘Attribute: Be Quiet’ Activating!]

[‘Attribute: Maestro’ activated!]

[‘Attribute: Full draw’ activating!]

More quickly.

The acceleration increases in an instant.

[‘Trait: Guts’ activating!]

[‘Attribute: Be Quiet’ being activated!]

[‘Attribute: Focus’ activated!]

Mix and become powerful.

[Activating ‘Characteristics’]

Like that I headed across the aisle like crazy.

‘just a little!’

After running and shooting he managed to find something at the tip of his finger…

-Tuk.

I reached it.

‘Gotcha…!’

Big Moon threw all his spirit into it and finally clung to the moving train.

* * *

Park Moon-dae spent several weeks clenching his teeth somehow not missing a single part-time job even though he was struggling with Ryu Geon-woo’s body.

However something unexpected happened.

– Mr. Geonwoo! Filming was caught!

-… and.

After all LeTi gave him his first ‘actor’ job.

‘Now is not the time to stop loss.’

In the end he decided to cry and eat mustard and accepted the job…

“…hello.”

“…”

At my first photo shoot meeting I met a familiar person.

It is Bae Se-jin with a haggard look.

‘What’s going on here?’

The job that LeTi’s agency people introduced him to was a supporting role in the music video of a solo female singer under their label.

-Just walk smile and follow instructions without saying anything!

That was easy.

However he didn’t know that this guy would be his coach.

‘Are you preparing to return?’

Since it was still before ＜Azusa＞ I didn’t even know I was undergoing rehabilitation in this way.

Park Moon-dae assumed that and held out his hand.

…I was a little happy but also a little sad.

“i look forward to.”

“…yes.”

So I shook hands with the person who was still using the name ‘Lee Se-jin’.

It was that moment.

Ryu Geon-woo suddenly saw the words floating above Bae Se-jin.

＜‘Focusing Genius Actor (★★★★☆)’ has entered the channel.＞

[A concentrating genius actor is shocked to see you!]

[Screaming asking what is happening.]

“…??”

what's this.

* * *

"what's this!!"

"Calm down! "Communicate!"

Bae Se-jin was looking at the pop-up in front of her scared.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ▵ㅁ): Can't believe his own eyes!]

It was… a Tamagotchi screen!

Chapter 551

Bae Se-jin looked straight ahead trembling.

There was still a strange dot picture screen floating there.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ_ㅁ+): Deducing your identity!]

"…"

"That's it!"

So what happened?

Bae Se-jin looked at the big moon in confusion. Geoldal was wearing a suit and had a bright expression.

My body turned on its own.

"What should I… do…"

"Please slowly remove the contact as is! "I'm still connecting!"

'Ugh.'

Bae Se-jin left the hand that was holding Keodeal's shoulder.

The people who were randomly holding onto Big Moon's limbs here and there slowly fell off of Big Moon in an orderly manner.

But everyone's eyes were fixed on the strange window that appeared in front of Bae Se-jin.

This is…

“Isn’t there a game about raising daughters? “That’s what it feels like?”

“No but why is Park Mun-dae over there!”

“Brother isn’t there anyone here who isn’t curious about that?”

After some sudden and intense reasoning they came to the conclusion that Park Moon-dae was in some strange virtual world just like last time.

“At least… I’m glad.”

“…”

…But why a Tamagotchi?

“I tried my best…”

Big Moon recalled the situation when they caught up across the passage.

‘Suddenly the information value ‘Learning’ came in.’

This format was formed as we tried to exert influence on Park Moon-dae as comfortably as possible in that situation.

[Anyway I’m glad I found it. phew…]

Cha Yu-jin pointed next to the video call screen of Kwon Hee-seung who was sighing in relief.

“Mundae-hyung’s face has changed!”

“…”

Big Moon observed the screen. And then he pointed at himself with a dumbfounded expression.

"…I see. "It's this face??"

"that's right!"

Even though the atmosphere was completely different.

Unlike Geundal who is clearly a handsome young man with a good personality Park Moon-dae whose image quality is low on screen seemed… to have a dirty personality.

No he looked haggard.

Instructions come out from the dots.

"…wait for a sec. Why is this kid so picky?!"

"Is there anything else we can check?"

"Now just wait a moment."

Big Moon did its best and in the end people were able to see a summary of the status of Mundae structured like a dot game.

Bae Se-jin who was in the front easily read through the information.

'Park Moon-dae… '

I have no money my body hurts and my mental stats are great but…

"Your physical strength is trash."

"…"

"Thank goodness it's not at all."

Hearing Cha Yu-jin's facts Geudal pressed his eyes with both hands.

Still the mood of people calmed down a lot when they indirectly confirmed that Park Moon-dae was alive everywhere.

“Now all I have to do is figure out how to bring him in?”

“First of all… let’s let you know that we’re here and trying to get you.”

However communication that was too complex was almost impossible.

Moreover in Keudal’s judgment it was dangerous to communicate with Park Moon-dae by giving him more information value than this.

“For now… I think this is the limit! “It seems like you are very tired and having a hard time…”

“…”

Even ‘connecting’ like this is a situation where each person with the characteristic has to take turns.

And for some reason Bae Se-jin who was selected as the first hitter continued to look at the screen with a shocked expression.

Sun Ah-hyun slightly raised her hand.

“Well then first of all is there any way to help this area become healthy?”

“I agree! “Recovering your health is the priority.”

Big Moon nodded his head loudly.

“yes! I think I can try something more once I recover! Umm…”

Bae Se-jin listened intently to those words and saw the speech bubble changing before his eyes.

And I couldn’t believe my eyes.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ_ㅁ): Trying out acting.]

"…performance?"

Why are you doing that…?

"…Looking at his job status and things like that it seems like he's an aspiring actor or something."

"…"

"…"

I wondered what on earth had happened.

Cheongryeo who was observing the situation in silence placed his hand on his chin.

'The flow of time is different.'

Just as the time in the game and reality are different.

Park Moon-dae who can now be seen in the pop-up window had already finished reading the bundle of paper that appeared to be a script in just a few tens of seconds.

'Is it about one day every two minutes?'

Cheongryeo quickly finished the calculation.

Meanwhile Park Moon-dae on the screen had a sour expression on his face.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ = ㅁ): Struggling with acting…]

Liu Chengwu muttered.

"Moondae… probably isn't good at acting."

"…"

Park Moon-dae did an amazing job of shamelessly imitating someone.

However when asked to immerse themselves in a character and express their emotions or express complex conflicted feelings… the results were disastrous.

"Mmm."

And reflexively attention turned to the person who performed the best here.

"hmm."

Bae Se-jin frowned and pressed Park Moon-dae who was playing Tamagotchi.

"Is there… isn't there anything I can do?"

It was that moment.

[Talents linked to characteristics!]

[Would you like to bestow blessings?]

"…!?"

* * *

I stared blankly at the pop-up hologram of the chat window I was exchanging with Geoldal.

It was the first message I saw when I came here.

Someone's signal.

[The genius actor who is concentrating feels sorry for you.]

‘…actor?’

Keywords such as ‘focus’ and ‘genius’ are included in the description.

Moreover considering that the person standing right in front of me was Bae Se-jin from a few years ago…

Is this… Bae Se-jin in real life?

‘…Sejin hyung?’

But there was no response. It doesn’t seem like a direct conversation.

I waited for a new message to pop up but nothing appeared for a few seconds after that.

“hey.”

“Oh I’m sorry.”

I first changed my focus and looked at Bae Se-jin ‘on this side’.

Bae Se-jin who probably came here for rehabilitation at the end of his past break before participating in <Azusa>.

It seemed like he was literally invited for coaching rather than appearing in person.

‘That guy’s company and affiliates are different so how could he… Ah it looks like the director knows him.’

I am

“If you give it a try… I’ll check and tell you.”

“…hmm.”

I opened the music video script I received from the staff.

In fact I didn't even have any lines.

All I had to do was walk along the beach feeling lonely and sad and throw a bouquet of flowers.

And there were only a few lines of instructions to kick the seawater.

But… it's the last one.

[C: (Looking back with eyes that want to talk a lot)

The sea sparkles with strong backlight contrast.]

"…"

What on earth does this 'eye that wants to talk a lot' mean?

It was dizzying in many ways.

But since it wasn't a situation where I could say I didn't do anything I held back a sigh and collected my brain.

'Let's think back to our experience shooting a music video.'

I walked as naturally as possible and looked back.

"…"

"…"

I'm embarrassed so please say something.

Bae Se-jin who had dark circles lowered her eyes.

"…you've never studied acting before."

"yes."

“Then that’s enough.”

what?

“Do the same thing you did before when filming.”

And Bae Se-jin now Lee Se-jin lowered his gaze to the script he was reading.

“…”

Hmm.

* * *

[Do you have any acting experience?]

Inside a moving VTIC van.

Cheongnyeo closed her eyes and opened them at the help that suddenly appeared.

This help which came out ‘at will’ as it declared itself no longer tried to prove its usefulness in every case.

However he wanted to hear about Cheongryeo’s daily life.

-Did you ever get upset?

On days when the conversation went on for a long time he sometimes offered consolation or advice.

And sometimes I asked questions like this.

Now instead of saying ‘Why are you asking such a question?’ Cheongryeo answered calmly.

“It has no effect on the group’s success.”

I tried it but it means I gave up. Park Moon-dae interpreted it right away.

[…okay. Usually there are one or two members who act in idol groups. For some reason there was no VTIC.]

Cheongryeo almost laughed for a moment.

“Usually… from the time a group is formed there are positions assigned to specific members.”

He continued speaking refreshingly.

“We were no exception.”

This meant that there were members of VTIC who also took acting classes.

[Who was that?]

“Sinnoh.”

[!!]

Is this surprising?

Cheongryeo slightly shifted his gaze and became aware of Shinno who was sitting diagonally behind him.

A pop-up that felt a bit strange appeared.

[It doesn’t look like an acting major.]

“well. “Because appearance is more important than acting ability.”

This is because when an idol agency selects a member for an actor they prefer to choose a suitable appearance and develop their abilities through training.

It wasn't just about looking good.

The impression is neat and tidy. Good bones. Did the camera capture the atmosphere well?

That was the normal selection criteria.

What is unique is that unlike idol evaluations the simple type was evaluated better than the overly intense type.

"The baseline is different from the stage."

The help pop-up disappeared for a moment as if he was lost in thought.

[okay. Because it has to look more natural and everyday than when performing. It is normal for standards to be different.]

Cheongryeo looked at him with interest as he repeated these tips as if he were organizing them.

What are you thinking?

However instead of continuing his next words the help was evoked as if to change the topic.

[But isn't acting ability just as important as appearance? You may get criticized for acting.]

"That won't happen."

[…?]

Cheongnyeo put her arm around the window.

"There won't be any actor schedules until the contract is renewed anyway."

[…]

This is because the topicality is dispersed.

[If you are a human be nice to him.]

Cheongryeo smiled slightly.

It wasn't such a bad feeling to exchange these words.

'hmm.'

Since the conversation was no longer regular Cheongryeo was able to maintain a strange sense of distance from Help.

If you don't want to delete it right away this method is better.

"We have arrived."

"Yes~!"

The car stopped and VTIC started to get up.

Help was available for questions asked.

[Are you going to record?]

"okay."

But there was no greeting to say goodbye.

Cheongryeo was aware of that but walked straight ahead without hesitation.

* * *

'Naturally'.

After getting off work from my part-time job I sat in my old studio apartment and checked the script one more time.

Still I checked the pop-ups from time to time.

[A genius actor who is focused is concerned about your health.]

But there was no significant change.

Sometimes ‘a genius actor who is concentrating gets troubled.’ Although words were exchanged there was still no feeling of real-time communication.

‘As expected my thoughts and words are being conveyed.’

…My mouth was a little bitter.

What was surprising though was that when I logged into the system the pop-up remained albeit blurry. Good thing I was a little adventurous and tried it.

So… to sum it up.

Maybe.

‘Isn’t there a fairly high probability that this is a message from reality?’

And if that’s the case we’ll be able to somehow find a way to communicate.

…Just that idea made me feel pretty good.

“hmm.”

I got up from my seat and walked around the narrow room.

‘Actually you don’t need to be that good at acting.’

This is just something I do to gather information about the reality so if I act like a real actor I might be taken to Korea right away.

…However if what I was doing wasn't up to par that was also a problem.

In this case you may still be taken to Korea. What if I tell you to return to Korea quickly and take acting classes?

'no.'

Besides that.

'…When I started acting it started popping up.'

It may have been because I met Bae Se-jin but unless I knew what was causing it I had to hold on to acting.

'So the bottom line is practice.'

I also thought I had an appropriate route in which direction to practice.

-It should be a natural and everyday movement but it should look atmospheric.

In short move in a way that is natural enough to be everyday but cool at the same time.

'It seems like a designer's request to be simple but flashy.'

But labor does not betray. If you focus on your body movements pay attention to them and practice repeatedly you will probably do something similar someday.

The obstacle is…

The point is that his body is in rubbish condition.

'Oh damn.'

I sighed as I walked.

It was physically almost impossible to stay focused for a long period of time naturally and at the same time in this condition.

Especially without the stage adrenaline.

‘I can grit my teeth and endure it for three minutes.’

Unlike the stage the tempo was long and the impact was high and dense rather than exploding it was more humiliating.

‘It’s hard to concentrate.’

Should I at least bite my tongue?

“Phew.”

I kicked the non-existent sea with my feet.

The next few days passed by in an instant and the shooting day finally arrived.

And I met Bae Se-jin here again.

“hello.”

“…yes. hello.”

You still don’t look good.

I asked him directly.

“I practiced but there was something that bothered me. “Coach told me before ‘Just do it.’”

“…”

“Are you saying that because there was no answer even if you practiced more?”

“…What? “I don’t mean that.”

Bae Se-jin frowned.

“I heard you’ve never studied acting.”

“yes.”

“Then it’s better to not be conscious of it and just do it like we did then. “Because there are no lines.”

“…”

“So just do it.”

It was similar to the advice I gave to Keun Se-jin when I was making a game for an album.

I realized this guy’s intention.

‘I was trying to give accurate advice.’

However it was also typical of Bae Se-jin that it sounded like he was arguing against his intentions.

“yes. thank you.”

“…no. “I’m doing it for money.”

It’s really consistent.

Instead of being annoyed I shrugged my shoulders and walked away feeling a little nostalgic.

Well that’s good. Then let’s do it in moderation.

“I’m going in there now~”

“yes.”

I stepped on the sandy beach.

‘You need to get the OK quickly.’

Distrusting my physical strength.

however.

[A genius actor who is focused gives you his blessings!]

[Attribute: Concentration]

“…??”

That moment.

Suddenly my whole body started to feel lighter.

* * *

walk on the beach

My body moved naturally without being conscious of anything.

There is a bouquet of flowers in her hands.

Since a bouquet of flowers is a somewhat unusual object it is more natural not to be too conscious of it. Let it just shake in your hand.

“after.”

I could see the sea beyond my sighing breath.

Sigh-

The sun was setting.

“…”

I stopped.

I don’t know what story this person had for coming to the beach.

‘doesn’t care.’

So just act clearly according to the instructions.

Naturally.

I lightly threw the bouquet into the sea water.

Tuk.

As I concentrated the bouquet fell to the beach drawing a nice parabola.

I gently braced myself.

Then rest for a beat and do it again.

Tuk…

Gently kick the wave with your foot.

There is no indication that you are angry.

So like touching it. A little cautiously.

“…”

And after taking a step I turn around conscious that I am standing facing the sun.

Head towards the memorized camera position without shaking.

Swish.

Just once.

Only when your eyes make contact with the camera. It gives vitality.

Just like it did on stage.

“…”

I realized that I had completed the entire process perfectly and without a hitch as planned.

Although he didn’t throw everything out loud Gyeolgyeol focused.

‘Is it something like this?’

I quietly looked at the camera without blinking.

The world of conscious concentration.

Although it may only be a scratch I felt like I knew what Bae Se-jin fell in love with when it came to acting.

and.

“Cut! “It goes on like this.”

The outside of the camera started moving again.

The cut ended with a lot of noise.

“thank you.”

I bowed my head and then got out of front of the camera.

“Are you okay?”

“The take was better than I expected…”

Beyond the staff’s chatter Coach Bae Se-jin was looking this way with his eyes slightly wide.

And maybe another Bae Se-jin.

[The concentrating genius actor declares that this is good enough!]

[A genius actor who is focused has sponsored you! : Energy +]

My body gains strength and my headache gradually subsides.

‘ah.’

No matter how much I think about it I think it’s the guys in real life who are sending this message.

Coach Besejin spoke up.

“…how.”

I smiled faintly.

“Thank you for being a good coach.”

It was the truth without a single lie.

* * *

Meanwhile JSA.

“Wow!”

“Let’s go like this!”

“Who will do everything next…?”

Celebrating the successful outcome a formal plan was quickly established.

‘We need to recover quickly and bring him back!’

Also known as Raising Park Moon-dae.

Chapter 552

“Recover energy! “This is what we did for you right?”

Bae Se-jin pointed at the hologram screen.

[Park Moon-dae (□v□): Chatting with the acting coach.]

On the screen Dot Park Mun-dae which looked old and tired was still moving but it seemed to be in better condition than before.

The energy actually displayed was no longer a thin simple scale that barely contained a single dot. It was a little thicker!

Even though it was a red color that seemed to signal danger it was still an achievement. Big Moon also shouted excitedly.

“yes! “Transmitting energy using characteristics is definitely a success!”

“Good!”

People repeated the formula.

When the relevant timing comes for Park Moon-dae to use their characteristics they can grant blessings at that time!

Then energy could be given as a reward.

[Additional energy unlocked!]

In addition thanks to Park Moon-dae’s increased energy bars additional access is now possible!

“Now there are two people!”

“okay.”

“Good good.”

“If we take turns like this and have them use their characteristics once… hmm?”

However the environment of Park Moon-dae who thought he had become an actor changed again.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅅㅠ): Making donuts.]

Park Moon-dae was now working hard at making dough in a shabby shop.

“…sinker?”

“Hmm it seems like a part-time job.”

Sejin Lee frowned and looked at the screen.

Park Moon-dae was having a hard time frying donuts in a fast-paced screen as if he had been assigned to it.

“…Can’t you help me with this?”

“I know.”

Liu Chengwu muttered.

“I think my efficiency has dropped too much because of my physical strength…”

efficiency.

At that moment everyone’s eyes were focused on one place.

To the man who can make golden ratio hotteok with just his fingers without measuring.

"…??"

Raebin Kim looked around in embarrassment!

"Rae Ravine."

"okay. "That's it."

After chatting loudly the people gathered changed their positions.

and.

[<'Late Night Maestro (★★★★★)' has entered the channel.>]

[The late night maestro blesses you!]

[Characteristic: Increased creation speed]

And on the screen Park Moon-dae started making donuts at a much faster speed!

"Oh!"

Raebin Kim looked down at the screen with a flushed expression.

There was not a single trace of regret that he had used his extreme artistic ability to come up with beautiful musical ideas in an instant to make donuts.

'That's also your charm!'

Geoldal finally lowered his nervousness level a bit and adjusted the pop-up with overwhelmed eyes.

[The late-night maestro is satisfied.]

[Late Night Maestro has sponsored you! : Energy +]

Raebin Kim raised his head with a bright face.

“I think it went well!”

“Ugh!”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled as she looked at Park Moon-dae’s slightly longer energy bar which had now turned scarlet.

Even for a while.

“But why is the College of Arts working in a place like this?”

“yes?”

Liu Chengwu muttered as if he were puzzled.

“If it’s the Geonwoo hyung I know… I could tutor him.”

Or you can sell data.

Either way I feel more comfortable than this so why am I doing this?

“wait a minute.”

After many twists and turns Keundal succeeded in receiving backstory information.

[Park Moon-dae made an emergency landing in the United States! As an illegal alien without a passport or identity he is struggling to make a living by working part-time…

What is his fate?]

“…”

“…”

“Can’t you help me win the lottery or something?”

“please.”

[hey! You can’t see me but if it’s a game about raising that daughter isn’t money copying the national rule?]

“No…”

[Ahhh.]

It was a sight to behold.

Cheongryeo twitched the corners of her mouth.

* * *

[A genius actor who is focused recommends a gambling place!]

Why are they like this?

I continued frying the donuts without any hesitation.

That’s right. I am currently working part-time. And this kind of labor was more bearable than before.

Surprisingly my physical condition has improved somewhat.

Before I felt like I was dizzy as if I had run an all-night marathon but now my body aches and I feel like I’m enjoying it.

My experience is that you can roughly survive with just your mental strength.

‘And maybe it’s because of this.’

[The genius actor who is concentrating is in agony…]

[A genius actor who is focused wants support.]

I looked at the chat pop-up with a puzzled face.

From the moment I received energy through this sponsorship my physical strength increased.

‘How on earth did you do it?’

Thank you but I would like to ask where you got it. Although I have a feeling that the source of all this communication is the big moon.

‘I hope you’re not doing anything dangerous.’

If you overdo it you end up like me.

I verbally warned them to be careful a few times but it doesn’t seem to be of much use as the pop-up keeps doing that on its own.

[Two cherry donuts!]

[yep.]

I immediately responded to the owner’s request and packed the donuts.

For your information the working environment here is not very good. They go so far as to hire people without even checking if they are illegal aliens… Well it’s a shame.

I guess I’ll have to threaten to report them to the immigration office and stop them if my money is stolen.

“after.”

Packaging completed.

I returned to the donut production line and coated the fried donuts with chocolate.

Considering my tired body my speed was surprisingly good and this was also thanks to the blessings… I received from this chat pop-up.

‘Was it an increase in creation speed?’

Then it was obvious.

The ‘Late Night Maestro’ who gave this to me is probably Raebin Kim.

‘I’m going to waste the crazy morale trait that increases composition speed on flipping donuts like this… ’

It was too comfortable to say…

‘shit.’

I started making donuts like I was possessed.

Each piece fits together exactly and feels like it’s assembling a puzzle!

[The late-night maestro feels rewarded.]

thanks. Damn it.

I held back a sigh as my stamina recovered again.

I don’t know if you’re listening to me and I’m laughing because of the physical protection and all but…

‘…Being there is what’s important.’

It’s embarrassing to admit but I felt mentally energized.

Because I see the possibility of escaping this damn situation.

I kept moving my hands.

After finishing the work by arranging the donuts in the display case I took a short break.

If you report it quickly you will only end up with less work.

“Phew.”

That was the moment I stepped across the counter.

The smartphone in my pocket vibrated.

Jiiiing!

It was a text message.

From LeTi.

[Geonwoo how have you been?^^ The music video teaser has been released!]

“…”

already?

* * *

Cheongryeo looked at Link without any emotion.

What is connected is a common breakup song.

-Now I know

A small whisper and a careful touch

It was love

A song sung in a lonely heartbreaking way about things you didn't know when you broke up.

The lyrics about regret and how much I wish I had looked back at that time stimulated people's common emotions.

So it was a good song to assign to a female soloist aiming for popularity rather than fandom.

'It's like that every time.'

Cheongryeo looked down at the smartphone screen diagonally.

This is a single album that is almost always released around this time.

And this request was also received with a 50/50 chance.

"You're an affiliate? "Just share it on social media."

"yes."

There was no risk in uploading a solo ballad female singer in her 40s even a married one to SNS.

The same thing happened when one of the members got into a major accident due to dating rumors.

It has already been a month since the SNS upload cycle was restored. Anyone who sees this will think it was a request from the agency.

Additionally this song doesn't have enough buzz to create any variables.

'It's just a matter of respect.'

After playing in the top 30 it disappears.

After evaluating calmly Cheongryeo briefly went to the music site to capture streaming.

And he raised his eyebrows slightly.

-29. Bad night (New!)

The ranking of the music source increased very slightly.

‘hmm.’

Cheongnyeo put her hand on her chin.

The probability that this level of increase was just a passing coincidence was overwhelmingly high.

A slight change that is nothing more than an exchange of waves as completely unrelated factors are woven together like a spider’s web only in this restart.

It’s a trace that will probably disappear if you start over.

however…

‘There’s nothing to lose by finding out the cause.’

The sound source is always something he cares about.

He lightly turned the pages and started climbing the spider web backwards.

It was then.

[What are you doing?]

Help popped out in just one day. Cheongryeo responded in a slightly cheerful mood.

“analyze.”

The help didn’t answer for a moment but then he answered in a slightly docile tone.

[I think it's okay. The atmosphere has calmed down a lot.]

"…"

Cheongryeo thought.

It seems that Help misunderstood his answer as 'analysis' and was talking about VTIC's current reputation.

Coincidentally SNS posts related to VTIC were passing by on his smartphone screen.

[Still I wish that guy would make a comeback without at least making an excuse due to health issues. That guy who started the dating rumor.]

That's right.

Cheongryeo glanced at the 'guy who started the dating rumor' and answered casually.

"We'll have to exclude it next time."

After restarting.

Help didn't respond for a moment perhaps because he understood what was being said. But now it doesn't even stop me from restarting.

I just asked this.

[Then which of the current members will remain?]

"well."

Despite the ambiguous answer the help responded indifferently.

[Jin Chae-yul must have perfect attendance.]

There are quite a few guesses.

Cheongryeo smiled faintly.

“Because it’s appropriate.”

[He has good abilities good personality and a decent personality but he has a strong mentality so he can do the same in most situations.]

Cheongryeo did not deny it and just smiled.

“okay. There is no need to create a special environment so that people can do their part. That’s the most useful thing.”

It sounded like he was explaining something like ‘a flower that is easy to grow and sturdy’.

Although Park Moon-dae was thinking in awe he realized that Cheongnyeo was lowering the hurdle slightly and offering help.

First of all unlike the first time aren’t you giving yourself an explanation?

‘Anyway there’s nothing good about being eaten up by the system bastards.’

Now that I’m in my right mind the conversation tends to go better doesn’t it?

Park Moon-dae even asked him outright.

[I’m going to have to restart anyway so do you want to try something risky now?]

Cheongryeo simply answered with his eyes down on the screen.

“I don’t have any.”

The time for obtaining ‘unexpected’ information through such actions had already passed during the initial restart.

Now in order to obtain reliable information the control variable ‘Cheongryeo behaves like Cheongryeo’ had to be maintained.

It was actually better for Park Moon-dae.

‘I will release my next album properly.’

It seemed like he had no intention of making a fuss about this saying it was a complete throwaway game.

Satisfied with having gained time to access the terminal Park Moon-dae attempted to go deeper into the system to search for the road terminal.

Then suddenly I realized:

‘…I see.’

Cheongryeo planned to maintain the stance of ‘doing our best to win the grand prize’ here as well.

To put it another way VTIC’s junior male idols will not be able to appear here either.

As always.

[…okay.]

Park Moon-dae thought for a moment.

A guy who became almost confident about his debut after meeting him.

-I will contact you regularly.

This is the main unit here that has now returned to Korea.

You may not know that LeTi's next boy group is already done.

'…'

Park Mun-dae's mouth was a bit bitter.

Meanwhile Cheongryeo had discovered the reason why the music rankings had risen.

"This is it."

Random comments passed by on the screen.

-I came to see my future husband again.

-You seem to be a new actor but the atmosphere is really niceˆˆ

'…??'

Park Moon-dae almost rubbed his missing eyes.

What Cheongryeo was watching… was the music video teaser.

himself appeared.

'crazy.'

-…

A man standing on the beach was seen turning his head with a sad expression.

The combination of the strange atmosphere and the exquisite camera angle and backlighting made it strangely attractive.

-This person is from Leti!

There's no need to go viral but it seemed to have a small positive effect on the music rankings as word got out in the community.

‘This is the cause.’

It was a unique feature that was new only in this restart. Nothing special though.

Cheongnyeo opened her mouth as an extension of small talk.

“This is my first time seeing this workforce.”

[…]

“Well he’s from our company.”

Cheongryeo analyzed quickly.

Judging by the fact that he did not fall into the idol line he is in his mid to late 20s or older.

Irregularly scouted talent had almost no training period.

‘then… ’

Assuming it was a few years ago does it have utility as a resource?

The more options available the safer it was. Although the probability was slim it was a moment when I was thinking about collecting information again.

Help popped out.

[I look too old to be in your group.]

[Anyway I’m going now.]

After leaving this message the pop-up stopped.

“Help?”

Just as he had said he would do as he pleased he did not respond.

But Cheongryeo knew that it had not disappeared. Because the bright red error deletion window still remained.

“under.”

He chuckled and took his hand off the smartphone.

It didn’t matter if I didn’t control Help’s behavior.

Unless you are looking at a new person’s profile there is no loss or gain whether there is help or not which is just text anyway.

Moreover if you see that it comes back even if you delete it it will probably still be there on the next restart.

‘Then it becomes a constant rather than a variable.’

Something that is always there without change.

‘hmm.’

Cheongli vaguely thought that wouldn’t be a bad idea.

* * *

I thought.

Is this the characteristic of 10 million child actors?

-The response to the music video teaser is really great Geonwoo!

LeTi keeps contacting me.

At this stage once the public response is at least noticeable the officials exaggerate and say ‘It’s really good’ but that’s the way it is.

The attitude also became very proactive.

-You have two weeks left on your trip to America right? I’d like to pick you up at our airport. What’s the flight number?

‘X done.’

I pressed my eyes.

I tried to put it off by coming up with a good excuse.

‘Should I say my leg is broken?’

No then I think I will come out to meet you very personally.

This is all a side effect of the overly well-chosen video.

When I remembered the ending where I was arrested for entering the country illegally because I didn’t have a passport I felt like my eyes were going to twitch.

D-14 until entry.

And there is no way… there is no way!

* * *

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ_ㅁ;): Finding a way to enter the country…]

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ_ㅠ;): Frustrated!]

Dot Park Moon-dae collapsed in his seat in the hologram pop-up.

“oh my god.”

“…How to come to Korea without a passport?”

And surprisingly after a while.

“all right!”

The members of the <Raising Park Moon-dae> operation team found a solution!

Chapter 553

Park Mun-dae was sprawled out in a somewhat disorganized studio apartment.

The information-seeking identity I had created – an aspiring actor – was scheduled to be dismantled in the air as I was unable to enter the country so I was planning to quickly come to my senses and come up with a plan.

'Damn it.'

It was when he let out a light curse.

The pop-up has changed.

[The genius actor who is concentrating has left the channel.]

"…??"

Park Moon-dae immediately stood up.

'…Exit?'

A slight sense of ominous emptiness passed through my mind.

But just before he rolled his head.

Soft sentences took their place.

[A dancer with a noble attitude has entered the channel.]

A dancer with integrity.

There was only one member that the modifier and noun pointed to.

“…Seon Ah-hyeon?”

As if answering the question the pop-up blinked and presented another sentence.

[A dancer with a noble mindset wants to move your position.]

“…!”

* * *

JSA a few minutes before Sun Ah-hyun’s pop-up appeared on Park Moon-dae.

“First of all no crime.”

Liu Chengwu calmly opened his mouth.

“Even though this may seem like a game to us what Mundae goes through is reality.”

“sure.”

“of course.”

Everyone nodded. Even though it was a virtual world and money copying and all I didn’t want Park Moon-dae to get arrested.

Kwon Hee-seung also actively participated.

[I just searched for police report? How about this? I guess they said their passport was stolen in the U.S. and entered the country!]

however.

“It’s impossible. “You probably have no record of entering the United States in the first place.”

A cold voice interrupted the conversation.

Cheongryeo scanned the people with cold eyes.

“You should know that all the ideas that this person can come up with logically can also be thought of by our juniors.”

“Are you saying that realistically there is no way?”

Cheongnyeo answered Ryu Cheong-wu’s calm question with an expressionless expression.

“I never had time for something like this in the first place.”

“…!”

Park Moon-dae’s day passes in 1 to 2 minutes.

And it’s an unprecedented situation where you don’t know how much time you have left and other people don’t recognize Park Moon-dae.

Cheongryeo’s conclusion is as follows.

We should immediately invest energy into Park Moon-dae and look for an opportunity to recover and bring him back. It would be foolish to respond to each of Park Moon-dae’s doctors.

Like these.

“In this situation does it really matter what your junior wants to do over there or not?”

[…]

“I think it’s right to only think about recovering your stamina and not doing unnecessary things.”

Haha you have a talent for saying the right thing in a cruel way senior!

Kwon Hee-seung swallowed those words and felt like shedding tears. Aren't we going to fight again?

But the situation did not get worse.

"yep. I understand what you mean. "It's logical."

Sejin Lee opened her mouth.

Instead of getting angry he shrugged.

"Of course it's urgent so of course we have to move efficiently."

After the situation passed a critical juncture and his nervousness subsided he took the same position as before.

Team coordination.

"But actually you don't know what exactly the university is going through right? We don't know but entering the country may be a pressing problem for Moon University right now."

Sejin Lee laughed bitterly.

"So… let's not act like we know everything out there."

"…"

The atmosphere calmed down a bit.

"OK. We don't have time for this. Now everyone stop fighting with words and use your brains. "Right?"

Everyone nodded silently at Cha Yu-jin's words.

And then Keoldal quietly raised his hand.

"In that sense… I just happened to think of a method that applies to both of what you said.”

“…!”

“Uh what method is it…?”

Big Moon swallowed his saliva.

“I am ‘pulling’ my brother to Korea.”

“…??”

The purpose of trying to restore Park Moon-dae’s stamina in the first place was to make Park Moon-dae able to withstand when Geundae attempted to bring Park Moon-dae back to reality.

If you’re going to jump off a moving train with your bare body shouldn’t you at least be able to move your limbs?

So to put it another way Keudal was able to move Park Mun-dae.

‘As much as my brother’s physical strength allows!’

Very slightly.

Just enough to be spatially close to current reality.

“It also has the meaning of giving it a bit of a practice feel before my brother fully regains his stamina.”

“Before you bring me back to reality?”

“Of course.”

Big Moon nodded seriously. Each listener slowly began to understand this abstract concept in a positive sense.

Like ‘…but then wouldn’t that mean I won’t be accepted into Park

Moon University's JSA?' 'I don't think I can pull it that accurately in this situation… sigh.' After the same discussion.

A conclusion has been reached.

Let's pull Park Mun-dae!

"It was an attempt that I had to check out."

"Ugh."

People nodded and quickly came to a conclusion almost unanimously.

"Then I guess I'll have to deliver this to Park Moon-dae now."

"That's right. "You have to prepare your mind so you don't feel anxious or misunderstood!"

However the article that appeared here on the channel where I could at least communicate with Park Moon-dae was a mixed bag.

Sometimes it was really the person's feelings but sometimes people were chatting wildly with each other and asking questions would pop up on the channel.

"You have to go through all that and communicate your intentions properly."

If you are the most calm clear-thinking person and worthy of Park Moon-dae's trust…

"…It must be Ahyeon right?"

"okay."

With everyone agreeing they connected Sun Ah-hyun to the channel.

[Park Moon-dae (□◇□): Finding out your identity!]

“I like it.”

“I knew it would be like this.”

And Sun Ah-hyun calmly organized her thoughts and tried to convey one clear message.

I want to help.

‘We want to move you.’

Let’s go to Korea so you won’t be in trouble.

Furthermore in the end… back to reality.

“…”

And that attempt.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅅㅁ): Waiting for your idea…]

It worked!

“Okay. Do it now!”

“Yes yes.”

Big Moon took a deep breath and closed his eyes.

And again I felt a hand reaching out beyond the passage that used Cheongryeo as a medium.

The one who reached the end was Park Mun-dae.

‘Carefully… ’

Big Moon concentrated his mind. So just slightly.

moved.

[——]

At that moment Dot Park Moon-dae's screen turned off.

"…!!"

"Let's wait a moment."

Ryu Cheong-woo calmed down the members.

Geoldal was sweating coldly and trying hard to maintain contact with Park Moon-dae…

After a few tens of seconds.

When the screen is reconnected.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅇㅁ): Surprised by the changed environment!]

"That's it!"

Moon-Dae Park was in Korea!

[Oooh! Was it successful??]

"yes!!"

A feeling of relief filled the space as if the rocket had been successfully test-launched.

Liu Chengwu smiled slightly and looked around.

A little longer for Cheongnyeo.

"We will continue to have sufficient conversations like this. "Work will proceed safely only if there are diverse perspectives."

"…"

"And… I almost didn't know about this whole situation so thank you for contacting me."

Cheongryeo didn't seem to feel any emotion but didn't refute it anyway.

Liu Chengwu realized that he had at least succeeded in creating a cooperative foundation.

'Whoa.'

He pressed his hand.

Ryu Cheong-woo was the leader of the steer who had to carry out all sorts of tasks.

It also meant that I was accustomed to working with people with unique temperaments.

'I can't believe this helps.'

Liu Chengwu could not bear to laugh but he felt a strange sense of efficacy.

"Let's quickly recover Mundae's stamina like this."

"yep!"

* * *

I closed my eyes and opened them.

The squeezing pain only lasted for a moment.

Rather I briefly felt the pleasure of 'everything going back to the right place' when rewinding the tape to its original state.

Although it was cut off as if it were a taste.

‘I’m doing something.’

This is probably what Sun Ah-hyun was trying to say.

I calmly shook my head from the strange dizziness.

And when I regained my sight…

“…oh my god.”

I came to my senses on the side of the road somewhere in Gangbuk Seoul.

‘I can’t believe this happened.’

[The dancer with a noble attitude rejoices.]

I took a deep breath.

“…thanks.”

I muttered something meaningless towards the pop-up and then took my steps.

My head was busy.

‘I should try using public Wi-Fi first.’

To contact the only person here who knows my situation.

After a while.

“oh my god.”

Ju Dan also shouted this as soon as he saw me at the franchise cafe.

And after hearing the explanation I muttered:

“Space movement… Even in science fiction scientific proof is a part that is roughly glossed over. “I never thought I would actually witness it.”

Is that so? I never dreamed that someone would actually say something like this.

In any case it was quite beneficial for Judan to have deeper trust in my proven ‘supernatural side’.

We could receive more active cooperation.

“So are you planning to continue working as an actor here and gathering information?”

I raised my head and glanced at the pop-up.

[A dancer with a noble attitude would like to be sponsored.]

[A dancer with a noble attitude wishes to bestow blessings.]

“…okay.”

Now let’s think about it.

These guys keep wanting to give me sponsorship.

‘And I think that support can only be given if I successfully use the protection they give me.’

Also it seemed that protection could only be given in situations where it would be useful.

For example as an actor I received Bae Se-jin’s blessings when filming… or Kim Rae-bin’s blessings when making donuts.

‘In other words I have to create an appropriate situation.’

The more I work the more opportunities I have to receive this energy support and the more I can recover.

And I'm getting closer to the reason why those guys keep trying to give me energy.

'good.'

I immediately contacted LeTi.

'The schedule changed so I entered the country quickly.'

And I received a sword.

-It went better ㅠㅠ I was already worried because the schedule was tight but now I can proceed more leisurely!

What kind of schedule is this?

-Geonwoo's profile photo shoot~^^

"…"

-I immediately checked to see if there were any cancellations for tomorrow at the studio but somehow there was one. Is your schedule okay?

-Where are you staying now? We're trying to send a car~

"You can stay in my studio for about a month. "I got this place because I felt uncomfortable living there."

"thanks."

I decided that when I returned to reality I would go see Ju Dan.

And at dawn the next day.

“hmm. “I don’t have time so I’ll proceed right away.”

I stood in front of the camera after some guidance and coordination from the somewhat blunt studio staff.

“yes. “Look here.”

Being caught on camera. This was a task that Testa Parkmundae performed almost on a daily basis.

But there are some differences.

“A little more neatly~ but with an atmosphere!”

While I am being bombarded with ambiguous spells my face and body performing them are not at all familiar.

Almost all of my photo shoot experience was done with Park Moon-dae’s body.

‘This is how it happens.’

At least in the system virtual world Park Moon-dae’s appearance was still young but now even his skeleton is completely different.

I’m not sure how to make it look good.

So I muttered to myself.

‘It’s very difficult.’

Isn’t it really mentally difficult to struggle with something you’re already familiar with?

I’m in so much trouble that I wish someone could help me.

‘Anyway that’s really true.’

The moment I recite it like that.

[Supermassive Black Hole(★★★★★) has joined the channel.]

Without even realizing anything.

[Supermassive Black Hole whistles.]

[Supermassive Black Hole blesses you!]

[Characteristic: Immersion]

Everything happened in an instant.

* * *

Do you know that there is a gap between imagination and reality?

Everyone has a plausible idea but when you actually try it it ends up being different from what you thought.

Well this is something I experienced very keenly when I first learned how to dance while participating in <Azusa>.

'No matter how much I think about it my body moves on its own.'

It's normal.

Normally people have to put time and effort into controlling their movements and expressions and making them as close to their imagination as possible but…

"Just one more shot!"

Some people don't need that.

I slowly aligned my head with the camera keeping all the muscles in my face in the correct shape.

Just as you want.

‘i get it.’

There was nothing in my head.

There is no need for calculations exploration or practice.

Naturally imagination becomes reality.

Just like breathing walking and talking.

“Now make stronger eye contact with the camera!”

The meaning of abstract instructions bursts out of the mind and is expressed throughout the body.

All impacts can be implemented and are already known.

How do I make people like it?

How to look attractive.

and.

“Oh good! “Just one more time!”

How can we keep their immersion?

This was the realm of instinct.

‘There’s someone who lives like this?’

Such talent that it’s hard to believe that someone could live a life like this.

And in the end the person holding the camera says this with sparkling eyes.

“It came out really really well.”

“…”

“I like it so much.”

That was Cha Yu-jin.

[Supermassive Black Hole rejoices!]

[Supermassive Black Hole sponsored you! : Energy +]

Vitality returned as if the blood flow was flowing in my head.

Power and control arise in every limb.

‘oh my god.’

I took a deep breath.

“Thank you for your hard work.”

The black hole was really a black hole.

…but. If things continued like this by the time these guys’ protection procession was over I was worried that Ryu Geon-woo would become like a new actor who appeared like a comet.

However after the profile shooting is over.

I worry about more urgent matters first.

I immediately regretted not leaving this filming location.

First of all… do you know who the guys waiting to take their profile photos at this studio after me are?

It was an idol debut group from a famous agency. Although the agency soon goes out of business due to being sued by its singer.

But who belonged here?

“Ooh! [You’re really talented!]”

“Cha Yujin!”

They were teenagers Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin.

Around this time I heard they were part of that agency’s debut group and it looks like they came to take a profile cut.

…I’ll tell you something even more surprising here.

Same time. There is a celebrity who appeared by saying ‘I happened to be nearby so I stopped by to give coffee to the employees of our company.’

“What in the world is happening!”

“hello.”

Cheongryeo.

“Oh is this person also from the company?”

I had a hunch when I saw the guy smiling and holding out his hand to me.

‘You came here to check on this guy on purpose.’

He took the time to come see Ryu Geon-woo and evaluate his abilities.

In other words the front is clear.

Behind them are Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin.

…and the main dan that will arrive here soon.

-Help.

-Launch Ryu Geon-woo's profile.

Cheongnyeo is even calling me as a helper in her head.

'My head is going to explode.'

[Midnight Maestro is shocked!]

I agree.

Chapter 554

A cold voice flooded my mind.

It is the sound of Cheongryeo calling for help.

-profile.

-Don't miss the timing.

At the same time the real Cheongryeo in front of me smiled slightly embarrassedly holding out coffee. I got goosebumps.

"Well I guess you don't like coffee. "Maybe I brought it wrong?"

"no."

This bastard is trying to bury someone who never even debuted.

In the first place I didn't have any dreams of debuting as an actor but I almost lost my teeth when I saw this bastard's intentions.

I politely extended my hand and took the coffee.

"I was nervous to meet a famous person so unexpectedly. "Thank you so much for the coffee."

"It's just a drink. I'm grateful for the excessive praise… but I'm also embarrassed. haha."

Cheongnyeo spoke softly with a hint of wit.

"I think you are older than me. Please speak comfortably."

-Help.

There is no such thing as a dual personality. Fuck you.

Jiying-

Meanwhile the smartphone on my chair also vibrated. It seemed that Joo Dan was also contacting me because he was curious about whether the filming was over.

Moreover Kim Rae-bin is still glancing in this direction from 2 meters away in the hallway.

He is trying to stop Cha Yu-jin who rushed at him but now that VTIC has appeared he seems to be torn over whether to talk to him or not.

Come to think of it didn't that guy sing a song at the beginning of his debut saying he wanted to know VTIC's composition method…?

"Geonwoo?"

-profile.

'for a moment.'

I feel like my eyeballs are rolling. I'll be amazed.

I resisted the urge to press my eyebrows.

And although I recovered somewhat my body was still like wet cotton and I tried to use my brain as much as possible. This means that as usual we tried to come up with an optimized answer by making intensive calculations.

But there was no need for that.

The moment I raise my eyes to the updated pop-up.

Someone new has appeared through words.

[Silent List Shooter (★★★★★) has entered the channel.]

Quickly concisely and kindly.

[The silent list shooter wants to teach you his methods.]

[The silent list of shooters bless you!]

[Attribute: Composure]

And everything started to feel comfortable.

* * *

– Excited.

The heart rate relaxes gently.

-Excited…

Now the world is quiet.

i get it. The more information there is the more variables there are and variables create confusion.

And confusion is noise.

I realized that I had been living in noise.

-Excited…

But if you know the order.

If you can put everything in the right place the place can be quiet without a single splatter.

And now I am experiencing a world of silence.

‘Everything has its place.’

Work priorities are already sorted in your head.

first.

-There is no reason to necessarily talk to Yujin Cha and Raebin Kim.

Let go.

I was just curious about how these guys from the past were doing.

…I was glad to see you too.

So I thought we should talk because I wanted to talk.

But it's not really necessary.

like this.

"ah."

"Cool."

It doesn't matter if I just smile moderately and say hello.

If you really want to talk the opportunity will come again.

I saw young Raebin Kim nodding his head at me repeatedly and chasing after their staff dragging Cha Yujin with him.

Cha Yu-jin waved her hand until the end.

"Seeya!"

And next sort.

Casting and cutting.

-Joo Dan is not present.

Messages can be responded to over time so this is not something to consider. Let's get back to you in a moment.

After sorting is completed so quickly.

Before you know it only simple elements remain in the world.

-Cheer and help.

Let's send this to the appropriate location as well.

Again the fundamental sentence establishes a baseline in your mind.

-The reason why I don't reveal that I am Cheongryeo's help.

Preempting information that he doesn't know is a loss for me.

I am already accustomed to knowing and using more information than my opponent. Because I used it well and survived.

But if you put aside your familiarity… you will find that the correct location has changed.

-There is no need to leave room for Cheongnyeo to be hostile toward me.

It would be better to disclose it when the timing is right rather than having to worry about variables later on due to an unexpected situation revealing my identity as an actor and deleting the help.

okay. This was the right location.

– Excited.

The heart sound that used to sound like white noise is still stable.

That's how I make accurate judgments.

“You don’t need to see my profile.”

“…yes? “What are you saying?”

“Because I can tell you directly.”

I observed the guy.

Cheongryeo’s expression did not change. But I noticed that the guy calling for help had disappeared.

The staff is keeping an eye on this area but due to the noisy environment sound will not be transmitted.

therefore…

[it’s me.]

I smiled and calmly opened my mouth.

“Your help is mine.”

The expression disappeared from Cheongryeo’s face.

It was a hit.

* * *

Cheongryeo did not immediately leave the room with a straight face or delete the help.

Instead he gently made a plausible excuse to the people around him and moved into the car.

And the conversation began.

“I need to hear an explanation.”

It wasn't surprising.

'This guy is probably trying to figure it out because it's something he didn't expect.'

I also didn't bother to hide it from him and calmly explained what happened after I deleted the day he was helping me.

From the sudden body and confusion to receiving an acting job from LeTi.

[The silent shooter looks at you happily.]

The composure that seemed to elevate a person to a completely different level disappeared like an ebb at that moment. Hmm a bit disappointing.

But power took its place.

[The Shooter of the Silent List has sponsored you! : Energy +]

'This is it.'

Now there is no pain that causes swearing.

The feeling of heavy fatigue still remains but my brain is spinning as if it has been injected with sap.

'This is me.'

I comfortably focused on the conversation with my head bleeding.

"Actually it's true that I didn't tell you at first because I was angry but I thought it would be better to tell you since we had just met like this."

"…"

"what. "I was wondering what kind of suspicion I would get if I told you that I suddenly got a body after you deleted it.”

Cheongryeo sat silently on the chair and rested her chin on one hand.

And after a while.

An unexpected question came up.

“Why do you want to become an actor?”

I shrugged.

“It wasn’t a specific goal. “Someone at your company just gave me a business card.”

“…”

“Since I have no money and no status I have to find a way to live like a human being.”

“You would have needed your identity when signing with the agency.”

“I am borrowing my identity from the past. “He’s a bit young though.”

I frowned.

“There won’t be any problem. “This state is temporary anyway so I don’t know when it will end.”

Now that I have a profile I will have to persuade my agency to come up with a stage name.

In the first place.

“This is probably a side effect of you deleting help. “It won’t last long.”

“…”

And I ended my explanation by showing the profile of Ryu Geon-woo who is currently attending college.

Anyone who sees it will be able to clearly see that that guy is a younger version of me.

'It's easier to prove.'

It is better to have physical evidence than to provide help.

Besides even if Cheongnyeo found out about Ryu Geon-woo what would a mere data arm do to him?

I declared neatly.

"This explains everything I know."

Betting is over.

Cheongryeo was silent for a moment with her arms crossed.

I kept a close eye on him.

This is because if this guy suddenly tries to click 'Yes' on the help deletion pop-up again you will have to hit him right in the face with your fist.

'And resume the conversation peacefully.'

Of course that didn't happen.

Although he said something completely different from what I expected.

"I guess I should use a stage name."

"…?"

What is this guy saying now?

“If I want to continue being an actor I will have to steal my identity. “If you don’t want to be discovered you should hide your real name as much as possible… Well my agency at this time will probably prefer that image so it’ll be okay.”

“What are you talking about?”

“hmm? Mr. Geonwoo. “I have to succeed as an actor.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“Try well. “I will support you.”

As if doing a favor.

‘Look at this bastard.’

Do you think I’ve experienced this pattern once or twice since my debut?

I realized this guy’s thinking mechanism as if struck by lightning in my head.

gain!

Before restarting this guy tried to scrape up as much information that would be useful in his next life.

then…

“…Would you like to know some information about the industry while I am working as an actor?”

“You understand quickly.”

Cheongryeo slightly tilted his head.

“Get as much detail as possible about the information I require at the scene. Since I don’t have any acquaintances I won’t get caught up in unnecessary gossip during my activities.”

“…”

“hmm. “It might be more useful than help.”

Look at this guy getting ahead on his own.

“Why me?”

Cheongryeo answered my question elegantly.

“It’s a simple barter. “I enrich your life and you give me information.”

hmm.

“And one more thing.”

Cheongryeo smiled and continued speaking.

“I need to get some information so I won’t restart while you do that.”

“…!”

You bet this.

I answered coldly.

“I said it clearly. “It doesn’t matter whether you restart or not.”

Cheongryeo smiled softly.

“I guess it really doesn’t matter.”

“…”

“At least there’s a chance it could be dangerous… you thought so right? “I was just angry enough to ignore it and wanted to express that it was a small enough risk to ignore it.”

Cheongryeo tilted her head to the side.

“But why take that risk? “We can secure time to escape.”

“…”

“Until November of this year. “Unconditionally.”

I opened my mouth.

“What guarantee you won’t change your words again?”

Cheongnyeo laughed.

“I won’t but if something like that happens there’s no harm to you. Isn’t that what you wanted to learn from the beginning? “The information will come to you automatically in the process… and there’s nothing wrong with you if you share it with me.”

“The only thing that changes is that you support my activities?”

“Exactly. And that would definitely be to your advantage.”

“…”

I calculated quickly.

And I eventually admitted it.

That I logically came to the same conclusion as this bastard.

‘It’s a collaboration where no one loses.’

Even though this guy’s way of talking made me feel bad.

‘You’re going to squeeze people as informants but you only have a long tongue.’

It’s the same as talking about a multi-level pyramid guaranteeing high profits. I’m sure they’ll keep going and end up crossing the line and asking for information.

‘Let’s keep in mind that there will be a fight then.’

However it is advantageous for me in that I clearly know this process.

Plus one more thing.

‘In many ways it is easier to maintain a friendly relationship with this guy than to have a needless conflict.’

Haven’t you thought about this since I told you honestly about my identity earlier? Don’t stimulate reset syndrome.

If you look at it as an extension of this stance the pendulum is overwhelmingly tilted.

I raised my head.

“Are you going to work as an actor Geon-woo?”

It’s something I couldn’t have imagined.

Are you coming?

“I took a profile so let’s see.”

I nodded my head coolly.

Cheongryeo twisted the corners of her mouth in satisfaction.

Well that’s good.

“Then I also want to say one thing that won’t cause any harm to Ms. Cheongryeo.”

“hmm?”

“You must ensure food clothing and food.”

Informant welfare.

For now let’s get rid of what has come to this.

“…It’s not difficult.”

Dill.

I shook hands with the guy in the driver’s seat.

After a while.

Rumbling

“company?”

“proprietorship.”

While I was packing my bags in the waiting room I finally found my smartphone on the sofa and checked Judan’s message.

-Emergency! Approaching target.

-Dodging is safe but bold contact may yield unexpected results.

-brother?

-Hmm I guess the situation is over already…

Apparently he was excited when he heard that Cheongryeo was stopping by here and kept trying to contact him.

I didn't see it but I still tried.

'He's a unique guy but he also has a unique side when he does things.'

I typed a reply to Joo Dan.

-Target contact completed.

-Exchanging information.

So it happened.

And after thinking for a bit I smiled and added a message.

-Officetel received in exchange for information.

I know you'll like this.

As expected the smartphone soon started catching fire.

* * *

At the same time JSA.

"Whoa."

"Thank you for your hard work…"

A group of able-bodied adults peering into the Dot Park Gate heaved a long sigh of relief.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁvㅁ): Rejoicing at his recovered stamina!]

Now Park Mun-dae's health bar was noticeably longer and yellow.

"We're halfway there."

"You mean…?"

“yes.”

Big Moon nodded his eyes shining.

“I think I’ll be able to bring my brother back in just two or three more!”

The destination was just around the corner. Each person nodded with a flushed face.

That moment.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅅ//): My life is being planned as an actor…]

“…??”

“What is it again?”

“Hyung Moon are you having a new dream? “Did Bae Se-jin give it to you?”

Amid the speculations Cheongryeo looked closely at the screen.

A means of transportation passed briefly in the background of Park Moon-dae who seemed to be moving away from the filming set.

Inside a tinted car.

‘…’

He recognized the inside at once.

It was inside a vehicle under the name of a company that he often used in the past.

What that meant was clear.

Moon-Dae Park met his past self.

It’s also a state where you’re involved enough to get into the other person’s vehicle.

Cheongryeo narrowed his eyes.

Chapter 555

“indeed. That’s how it went.”

I looked at Zhou Dan who nodded seriously.

This is this guy’s studio and as soon as I got home I explained to him what had happened so far.

“I never thought I would build such a strange collaboration system with senior Cheongryeo…”

And although this guy pretends to be quite calm he is actually very absorbed. He even forgot to drink the drink he had brought with him and listened with interest.

“But I can also understand Senior Cheongryeo’s position. An information source that can exchange information without leaving any records. “In theory security is perfect.”

“…”

“Of course the willingness to offer officetels may mean testing. “It seems important to maintain the line of being cooperative but not servile for a while.”

Why does it seem like you are analyzing it harder than me?

I looked dumbfounded at the guy who was broadcasting my situation almost like he was broadcasting a soccer game and then laughed.

“okay. “I don’t make stupid choices.”

And held out his hand.

“I was grateful for providing me with a place to sleep. “I’m going to sort it out and move out today.”

“You are really quick. All right.”

As expected from a guy who likes to be alone he quickly nodded.

Yes I have been taking some of a child’s property without conscience.

However just as I was thinking that the guy shook my hand and added something a little awkwardly.

“Even if you don’t have a place to stay we can help you. “If you don’t have a reason to contact me I can’t help it.”

Wow. He is a consistent guy until the end.

“What are you talking about?”

I deliberately responded as if I was puzzled.

“You are involved. “Isn’t it natural for officials to come to the hideout?”

“…!”

“Come when I call you.”

“Of course.”

Pretending not to be excited.

Now that I have money even though I don’t have a job I should call him over and feed him sometimes.

‘Well it won’t be long.’

I was still connected to the center of the system attached to Cheongryeo and was analyzing that strange terminal.

The reason I'm not doing it as quickly and brutally as before is because I'm trying to proceed as steadily as possible.

'If I get encroached into the system again there is no answer.'

Thanks to the information trade with Cheongryeo I gained time and am now more stable. furthermore…

[The late night maestro wishes you peace of mind and body.]

I don't know what you're doing. Thanks to those guys my physical condition is in pretty good shape.

'Let's not fret.'

Instead of setting it up like a character in a disaster movie you just have to solve it step by step.

Plus now I know roughly how to communicate through this weird chatting method.

'It's real-time but it's a little off and the expressions are subtle so some interpretation is needed.'

In that sense…

[The Marksman of the Silent List asks you for patience.]

This clearly means to wait a little while.

Considering that these guys did something crazy like fly me from America to Seoul… maybe they found a way to bring me back to reality.

'It's pretty good.'

Compared to the days when I was flipping donuts illegally penniless and like a piece of trash isn't my life quite a bit better?

'There's no way to die.'

I chuckled and finished preparing for the move by packing up a few clothes that were nothing to carry.

Even after sending off Ju Dan was bombarded with questions once more.

"It is important to know what kind of performance you show in which film but how do you evaluate your own acting skills? "I understand if you continue to be an actor in the future."

"…"

Well the member who is an actor is almost always acting for me.

[A concentrating genius actor is watching you.]

thanks.

"I don't think there's much to worry about about acting and the film has already been decided."

"Hoo."

I already heard this from Cheongryeo.

-There's a good movie coming out so I'm doing it.

"A minor supporting role in a holiday film invested by LeTi."

The person who was originally supposed to play this role ended up having a sex scandal later on so it seemed like they were planning to lash out at the agency early on and put me in his place for additional filming.

It certainly looks like they are going to 'push'.

“That’s appropriate. indeed.”

Ju Dan nodded saying it was a popular standard course.

“Now that I think about it you said you would use a stage name when you debut. How are you going to build it?”

“…”

“How about an anagram method?”

“hmm.”

Sorry but it’s already been decided.

I raised my head.

[A dancer with a noble heart misses you.]

“I will do as Park Mun-do does.”

That’s right.

* * *

[The unsatisfied idol grants you his blessings.]

[Attribute: Propulsion]

A filming location surrounded by cameras.

I slowly turned my head. Breath leaks out of the mouth.

Do you know such a life?

A life where I am so desperate that I can never be satisfied and so all my thoughts and actions revolve around that goal.

A large and intense ambition that is more overwhelming than the universal desires of humans dominates the body.

It's okay to feel disconnected from sleeping in being treated unfairly or practicing unfamiliar tasks over and over again.

There is no need to rationalize yourself. There is no calculation to somehow make sense of this pain. My head doesn't burn from stress.

That kind of thing is for those who can afford it.

It doesn't matter what the crumbs are. If only the goal shined brightly.

And we call it a dream.

"…"

This must be the life Sejin Lee experiences.

"Cut!"

With the director's voice I came out of the water.

"Whoop"

It's easy to control the feeling of wanting to kill this bastard who created a script for people to drown in freezing winter weather.

"great job. "Today is the last day of filming right?"

"yes."

I wrapped a towel around my body and walked out of the filming set in a quiet atmosphere.

When I openly shouted that I wanted to focus on the life of this unexpected new actor without getting upset as much as possible for the next three weeks blessings came…

The effect was excellent.

Big Sejin's blessings were persistently attached to me for the longest time.

[The unsatisfied idol smiles bitterly and is relieved.]

[A dissatisfied idol has sponsored you! : Energy +]

And the stamina that comes back like a reward.

'Whoa.'

I took a deep breath.

Now my physical condition has stabilized to the level it is right after intense practice.

This means that there is no pain and that the lack of physical strength can be easily hidden.

'I'm in good condition.'

I shook my head and nodded here and there.

"thank you. Thank you."

Because you have nothing to say to a cheap bastard.

If you want to extract the information that was agreed upon with Cheongryeo you have to at least pretend to be polite to lay the groundwork.

'And so far it's been working.'

I've already picked up a few.

-Director's preferred promotional method.

-The screenwriter's on-site reputation.

-Habits of the lead actor.

However as you would have guessed by looking at the lineup these are all microscopic questions. From Cheongryeo's point of view there is a high probability that it is of little use or that he already knows about it.

In other words the established theory is that these things are all being asked as a test and the big thing he's really aiming for will come separately.

'How is it possible that Cheongryeo doesn't have an informant just in the acting field?'

Idols have a strong personality as general entertainers so they were born to appear on entertainment shows and the same goes for actors who have to appear on entertainment shows for promotional purposes.

Even if VTIC does not act there is an intersection.

At the very least there is no way that Cheongnyeo who has so many of her people in LeTi would not know about this news.

'There must be something else on the inside.'

I brushed my hair off with a towel guessing roughly.

The atmosphere on set was not very good. This is because the original actor was caught in a sexual harassment scandal and additional filming was being done.

The schedule to release it in time for the Lunar New Year holiday was blown so there was talk about when it would be released so it was obvious that morale on site was not very good.

'Well thanks to that it was convenient that there were more people who couldn't control their words.'

I who had been added to the unknown was almost neglected.

But now someone appeared from outside the filming location and handed me coffee.

“Oh my you must be cold. “Have some.”

“thank you.”

Of course they are not field staff. How can you treat me so well when I have no name value?

“Are you going home?”

“yes.”

This person is LeTi.

I don’t have a dedicated manager yet but the rookie management team assigned me someone during filming.

And the first thing this employee did today was to pull up a search engine page that came up after searching my stage name.

The profile cut I took last time was right in the space where my face photo would go.

“Geonwoo’s profile has been revealed~”

“…yes.”

“Oh you should call me by my stage name! “It doesn’t stick to my mouth very well.”

And when I saw the employee smiling haha I briefly fell silent. And then I turned my gaze to the search page again.

[Ryumun.]

This is my stage name.

…okay. Park Moon-dae was criticized.

-… Park Moon-dae? Are you serious?

It was dismissed with a short and cold response. Since I didn't have time I couldn't even put it on the persuasion table.

'I did well as an idol under that name.'

Still I was able to persuade him well so he said 'I'll talk to the boss' and it was okay that the word went up to the higher-ups… but this is the result.

-The boss thought a lot about adding at least one word…

…That's how my stage name was decided to be Ryumun.

'No matter how you look at it he looks like a Vlog YouTuber with middle school illness.'

Is it true?

But I can't help it. Isn't it the fate of those who join an agency to accept a stage name no matter how bad it is?

The good news is that it is Mr. Ryu. You would probably think that Ryu Geon-woo who was working hard to sell data here is a relative of the Poongsan Ryu clan.

'How did you get caught by a cow walking backwards?'

However as I continued to work diligently as an actor phrases like this began to appear in pop-ups.

[The shooter of the silent list is puzzled.]

[Supermassive Black Hole is curious about your dreams!]

hmm. It seemed like he was puzzled by my route.

[The genius actor who is concentrating gets angry!]

Sometimes it seems like they are fighting among themselves.

‘Calm down.’

Because everyone has thoughts.

I guess everything I go through is being relayed to these guys. The reason I accessed Cheongryeo’s system was because I didn’t seem to know exactly what the situation was.

If I knew all the specifics… well no. In fact it might have caused more of a fuss.

‘Anyway don’t worry.’

I ended the filming like that hoping to convey to them that I was working as safely as possible.

And that evening.

I received a ‘help’ style call from Cheongryeo.

– Request for information.

-One of the actors who appeared in the movie you filmed.

Up to this point I had a conscience.

And with the next word it disappeared.

-Everything about that person’s weaknesses.

“…”

The level of difficulty suddenly jumped.

-The period will be a bit longer so it would be better to bring proper information.

If appearing in the same movie made it easy all actors would go for it.

To begin with I almost never filmed with that person. At most one cut.

‘Besides usually when a movie fails there’s no need to watch it again.’

And the atmosphere on set was such that this movie was almost ruined.

“…Hmm.”

But the truth is I know.

Why does Cheongnyeo come out so confidently?

I rubbed my chin.

This movie.

This film also called a heist movie or caper movie faithfully follows the story of ‘named criminals gathering together to steal treasure.’

That it will be a huge hit.

And the moment it shows signs of being a hit the film is rushed into additional promotion.

-Let’s try.

Again a few weeks later.

The film was eventually released during the off-season.

* * *

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁ_ㅁ+): Drawing the big picture.]

“Nope.”

“Don’t draw.”

“Oh Park Moon-dae please.”

People watching Dot Park Mun-dae sighed.

The reason was simple.

‘Until now has Park Moon-dae ever drawn the big picture and properly considered his own safety?…!’

I have experienced all of his moves starting from performing solo with a broken rib and ending with being struck by a steel frame instead of a member.

I couldn’t figure out why this guy who hates losing taking losses and doing stupid things and is quick at calculating was so extreme.

I thought there must have been circumstances for him to work as an actor but

So everyone quickly agreed.

“You have to punish the player.”

The idea is to bring Park Moon-dae in before he does anything too unreasonable to bring him back to reality.

“How about Mundae’s physical condition right now?”

“wait a minute.”

Geoldal bit his mouth and looked at Park Moon-dae's stamina gauge.

'Almost green.'

His stamina was well over half and there was barely any sign of Park Mun-dae being limp or in pain due to fatigue.

'Lee Se-jin's support was great.'

Geoldal guessed that the amount of energy recovered was significant as the protection had been used for a long time.

So now it was really close.

"Now if you just give it to Ahyeon I think we can try it right away!"

"…yes."

Sun Ah-hyun nodded firmly.

He was ready to move when the time came.

And the timing came in time.

Chapter 556

The movie ＜Steal a Star＞ started with a rumor.

One of the supporting actors left the film shortly before its release due to a sexual harassment scandal and the release of the film itself was delayed.

There was even a secret rumor going around that the person who filled that position was a rookie from LeTi's agency which is famous for some idols.

-I was in a panic. It didn't work out.

-I heard they deleted all of that actor's footage and filmed additional footage. What would it be like?

I think there will be an issue with the overall quality of the film. Hmm since it is a holiday movie anyway I don't think there will be much of a difference.

-What is it that these wicked little things… made such a fuss about saying they were masterpieces and then the stock price went down!

It was also revealed through the article that the release date was eventually rescheduled.

However rather than delaying the release at the right time the timing was hastily set.

april.

The off-season for movie theaters is over with vacations and holidays over!

-Oh he went.

-I think the distributor filmed it as a highly anticipated film… It seems like it's going to be a hit among the officials.

From anyone's perspective it was a composition that was roughly intended to fill in some empty space.

Everyone gave up their expectations.

Moreover when it was even said that LeTi was the production company of this movie the booing got worse.

They decided that it was a good idea to divide the situation by saying 'This is what happened anyway so let's add our own people and fill out the filmography.'

-It's the bane of Korean movies.

-This is why domestic movies don't work…

-Wouldn't that ruin the completion of the movie?

Public opinion was even worse and the film community which already undervalues holiday films targeting only the public was completely uninterested.

All that was left were people who wanted to have fun talking about how bad it was.

-I will carry my gun and take a look haha.

Thank you for your sacrifice… haha

The date approached in a withering atmosphere.

However on the opening day.

-oh my god

-What is this?

– Hahahahaha he does this.

-Added well-made movies

-I'm embarrassed.

-Review of ＜Steal the Stars＞: Amazing! (Contains spoilersˆˆ)

The moment I opened the lid everything changed.

* * *

＜Steal the Star＞ was a scenario that combined a typical thief story with Korean cinematic sensibility.

First a simple couple from the countryside discovers a meteorite that fell on the property of a company.

Although they were caught up in an explosive accident caused by the meteorite falling and were taken to the intensive care unit once they recovered they were able to live without envying others with a lot of money.

This is because meteorites belong to the original discoverer.

And this meteorite received a huge expected appraised value.

[It is a large rare meteorite that has never been discovered on the Korean Peninsula until now and its appraised value is a whopping 300 million dollars or over 300 billion Korean won…]

However they were killed in a medical accident by a large corporation that coveted the meteorite.

The original discoverer is replaced by a conglomerate who came to inspect their site instead.

And the only thing left for the dead couple is one brilliant son.

[This makes no sense…]

However no one believed the high school student's claims and after dropping out of a special purpose high school he grew up in an underprivileged environment and became a famous conman.

The plot is that he retrieves the meteorite that should have originally belonged to his parents.

For that purpose we are gathering crime specialists from each field.

[They haven't sold the meteorite yet. I knew that it was valuable to call it because it contained substances that did not exist on Earth.]

[What do you mean?]

[okay. As long as you steal you will somehow get something to sell.]

It was an appropriate mix of emotion comedy and the thrill of giving cider.

What's surprising is that additional filming even contributed in its own way here.

While the production company was already doing additional filming they also conducted filming to replace some of the parts that were bothering them.

In this way much of the feedback from the internal private preview was accepted and the authenticity of the story became more solid.

Thanks to this people were able to focus on the early and mid-length movies more smoothly and without any interruptions.

The story of the members who gathered to steal the meteorite was introduced just right.

[Hackers scammers counterfeiters gamblers police officers mercenaries… who else needs this?]

[A quick-handed guy.]

And the last to join this strong talkative party is a quiet supporting character.

A young man with a dark appearance who appears to be in his mid to late 20s.

[You could say he is the only expert in Seoul without a criminal record.]

[…]

It's a pickpocket.

Although he is extremely silent and calm he can steal anyone's belongings in an instant injecting plausibility between scenes.

And it even plays the role of licorice in a comedy!

[Huh bastard? Listen carefully. We have no means of transportation no tools to camouflage ourselves and we don't even know the way here right? But what kind of operation is this? Don't talk nonsense and withdraw…]

Patter. The pickpocket spilled car keys and a disguise from his sleeve.

[…]

[…]

[Hey kidnapping is pickpocketing in a broad sense right? Just one employee over there who knows the way…]

[stop.]

Moreover we get a great cut in the second half.

Just death.

[go.]

The pickpocket had an unfortunate childhood just like the main character.

So I decided what I wanted to do when I earned a lot of money.

[So you're going to take 45 billion won and donate it all to an orphanage?]

[…]

[Hey you idiot. Rather you should set up a foundation. uh? Something like the International Relief Foundation.]

[huh.]

This fact is revealed through the middle and latter half of the story and he forms a strange bond with the protagonist.

That was the cause.

[What the fuck!]

The group steals a meteorite and runs away but is discovered and chased due to the betrayal of one of the members.

Big companies that are behind their backs are trying to kill them all in order to hide the information.

This is where pickpockets came into play.

He handcuffed the enemy on the helicopter and fell from the helicopter together so that the protagonist could escape without being killed.

[hey!!]

[There's water down here! He can live! First drive a helicopter!]

And just as he said the pickpocket fell into the water.

Bubbling…

But something unexpected happens.

Because he was stuck with the enemy while falling his hand was caught between the enemy's handcuffs making it impossible for the pickpocket to escape.

The pickpocket tried to remove his hand several times but his movements gradually became slower and eventually…

My strength is gone right before my eyes.

[…]

Close-up shot.

While submerged in the water and still the pickpocket blinks under the light shining from the surface of the water.

The expression gradually disappears.

It fades out with the blue light of the search pouring over his head as if he is being forgiven for the sins he has committed so far.

[Woowoo-]

Just like that the pickpocket leaves the play.

"…"

Now let's summarize.

Due to the nature of the character the role is small and there is little dialogue. So it is a role that places less burden on the actor.

But the impactful scenes are carefully taken care of and the ending is powerful?

‘It’s a role that a rookie wants to risk his life for.’

If you can take it well there is nothing like it.

And thanks to the blessings of Bae Se-jin and Geun Se-jin I was able to suck up the honey.

like this.

-The new actor who was brought in was good but he seems more capable than the sexual harasser.

-Bad news turns into good news~ It’s amazing

-The underwater scene was definitely impressive. I’m looking forward to the next work.

It means you did very well.

Since it was a new face with no previous work there were no overlapping characters so there were many positive reviews that said it helped with immersion.

This is the rational reaction of movie enthusiasts and cinephiles to popular movies.

And the public.

-Aaaahhh

-Please tell me who the pickpocket actor is.

-ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠWhy did you kill Sleeve?

– Didn’t the pickpocket plan to donate all 40 billion won and be rehabilitated?

-I was the only petty criminal among violent criminals but they killed me… ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

It was a huge hit.

＜Steal the Star＞ mobilized 3.5 million people in the first week of its release and by the second week it had surpassed 5 million.

‘It originally exceeded 8 million.’

When I was in college I saw people talking about how this movie would have sold over 10 million units if it had been released during the peak season and the same is true now.

Thanks to this my stock price went up like crazy.

I’m doing this right now.

“Actor go up now!”

I nodded to the staff and walked up the stairs to the podium.

Waaaa-!

It’s a stage greeting.

Originally it was a simple production with just the three lead actors but four days after its release additional schedules were scheduled and the promotional schedule was full.

‘As expected.’

I looked at the audience again.

Normally I would have formed a large group and started the stage but now I calmly accept the microphone and sit down on a chair.

“＜Steal the stars＞! “The seven phantom thieves who banded together to steal the meteorite all came up to greet the stage!”

Flashes go off cheers are heard and cameras are visible everywhere. Nevertheless it progresses more quietly than what I originally knew.

Requests and questions are also more polite.

“Then please say thank you to our cast members~”

I looked at the camera spinning in front of me.

And I laughed inwardly.

‘It’s a promotional appearance.’

If you can’t do this you’re not an idol.

* * *

LeTi is a new actor who quickly became known by appearing in a blockbuster movie as an impactful supporting character called a pickpocket!

It is ‘Ryumun’.

It was a stage name that Park Moon-dae finally received.

-It’s like Letty…

There were many people who thought the name was strange saying it was too LeTi idol-like but the fact that the agency steadfastly refused to reveal the real name until the end also became a hot topic.

So movie fans eventually accepted the name with some trepidation.

-Give idols a stage name like this.

-It seems like they were aiming for the Korean Wave in their own way haha.

-Isn't the actor himself embarrassed to say it?

-I hope the pickpocket actor doesn't look solemn. Good looks wins everything. Be confident!!

And everyone is vaguely convinced that the character of the pickpocket in the movie is unconsciously thought of as the character of the actor.

For some reason I think he is a somewhat stiff quiet and stern type of actor.

However the moment the stage greetings began.

[＜Steal the Star＞ stage greeting by Ryu Moon "A genius pickpocket has come to steal the audience's hearts♡" (Photo HD)]

-What the hell is this?

The new actor boasted perfect heart and camera contact.

I'm not even shy.

-What is this guy?

His quiet and calm personality was correct.

However he had the same calmness and shamelessness as if he had been eating and sleeping in front of cameras for about 10 years.

[＜Steal a Star＞ 5 million pledge "Let's all popcorn together!"]

Even the promise of 5 million made by other actors was shamelessly achieved by joining the MC's encouragement on the spot.

It means that he danced the popcorn amazingly well with his outstretched arms and legs.

-Why are you so good at it?

-It's at the level of a comparison between an idol and an actor hahaha.

-Are you originally an idol trainee but did you become an actor because your image did not match that of your debut group?

Even when I roll over and look at it it looks like Letty's idol so why?

Is the song really bad…?

People were confused!

However as time passed they began to find it amusing that they were confused.

Isn't this delightful confusion!

-Ah I had a good laugh for the first time in a while haha.

-But it's also good that he seems to be working hard like a rookie.

-It's been a while since I received a blood transfusion from a male actor in his 20s. Good.

Thanks to taking on an impactful role in a movie that was originally good the good image became the basis for great topicality.

In this way Ryu Moon who played the role of a pickpocket began to go viral on social media and communities that were popular at the time.

[For those who want to see the pickpocket scam lol]

[A new actor who is amazed that he actually came from an idol agency]

[I'm watching the interview with the actors of Steal the Stars haha. It's a pickpocket item…]

A time when virality had not yet fully established itself as a business.

However Park Moon-dae knew how to meet the level at an amazing level with many years of experience.

“Geon-woo… no Ryu-moon! “You know the response is really good these days right?”

And it worked.

‘This is it.’

Park Mun-dae waited slowly.

If you can get a good response by laying some groundwork during media exposure like this…

“hello. “Senior.”

“Oh our door~ Welcome!”

I knew it would be like this.

Five days into the promotional schedule. Park Moon-dae smiled inwardly as he received a greeting from the lead actor who had now become more friendly with him.

‘okay. ‘I have to keep an eye on the person who benefits me.’

As expected the places where people lived were similar whether they were idols or actors.

This is where it starts.

“Sir are you interested in whiskey?”

Park Moon-dae quickly proceeded with the plan.

And it only took him two weeks to figure out the actor’s weakness.

Chapter 557

[I figured it out. The actor's weakness.]

I declared.

Cheongryeo who was sitting alone in the agency's recording studio and looking at the lyrics raised her head toward the pop-up I had created.

It seems a bit unusual.

"It's faster than expected."

I grinned.

It is now the end of May.

Only 20 days had passed since the movie promotion schedule began.

Normally this is an extremely short amount of time to find out the weaknesses of someone who is a complete stranger.

'But I brought it.'

I continued writing down the tips while watching Cheongryeo wait with his arms crossed.

[I lied about my age. He was originally 2 years older.]

[And I'm going on an illegal expedition overseas to gamble. I am in contact with the broker through a separate smartphone that I use secretly from my agency.]

This is a criminal so he can spit out information without hesitation.

Cheongryeo nodded slightly without saying a word.

“What is the basis?”

[Confirmed at a drinking party. When I get drunk my mouth becomes too light.]

That’s because I’m not a weak drinker.

-Senior are you okay?

-Oh uh…

After drinking a bit I took a look at the atmosphere and took a quick look at the timing when I left after receiving a call from the actor’s manager.

‘Thanks to you I’ve been drinking without stopping for a few days.’

Of course this was not an effective way to find weaknesses in bare ground.

How can you suddenly say that you are two years older than me while drinking? There is no need for evidence of illegal gambling to suddenly appear.

Even if the actor did it by mistake the chances of me finding out were slim.

So how was it possible?

I grinned.

‘I was trying to prove what I knew in the first place.’

This is the controversy that will erupt in the future of this actor.

That’s why it was easy. Because I already know what this actor will be up to in a few years.

[<This and That in the Entertainment Industry> Korean Wave star A… Why did you lie about your age?]

Since he is an actor with a reputation whenever controversy arises it goes through trash talk and is then featured in the media.

‘I came to see it naturally because I regularly monitor public opinion.’

So all I had to do was verify that the scandal that would break out against this actor in the future was true.

And this…

“Did you verify the information you already knew? “If he were that famous of an actor his current status would have been consistently reported even years later.”

[…]

okay. Even this bastard can tell.

Haven’t you probably restarted 100 times and used similar patterns over and over again?

I replaced my affirmation with silence. The guy faintly twitched the corner of his mouth.

“Even considering that verification is faster than expected.”

[uh. thanks.]

I kept my mouth shut.

Of course the actor is not stupid.

We didn’t go around talking about this so much that it was easy to recognize that we had been drinking together a few times.

‘I only saw the liver indirectly by scratching it at the right time.’

For example something like this.

When the actor accidentally put down his bag because of spilled alcohol I pretended to look for a piece of paper and checked the presence of the smartphone device in the bag.

And if you've heard this you'll know that in order to do this quickly and quietly without any discomfort you need timing skills that are almost instinctive.

…It means that I used some of Liu Qingyu's blessings.

That guy's characteristics are amazing.

'You used the gold medalist's abilities to spy on others… '

I was just thankful that Liu Chengyu didn't crush my head for using the blessings he bestowed like this.

I was sobbing as I remembered the steady pop-up that said 'Silent List Shooter Smiling'.

Although it was abused it was well used.

[Anyway I told you about the smartphone's performance system so now it's up to you to use it yourself.]

I have completed conveying the information.

There is no need to ask where it is needed. Anyway if you share this guy's vision you will find out automatically.

This is the end.

"good."

Cheongryeo leaned back against the backrest and picked up his smartphone.

I hate to see you tearing things apart.

“The lack of physical evidence is a factor in deducting points but due to the period…”

at that time.

The guy who looked like he was about to say something that would annoy people suddenly closed his mouth.

“…”

[why.]

I shared the view of the smartphone screen he was looking at.

That was… an urgent message.

-Chaeyul: Brother please come to the dorm quickly. I think Heeun hyung went out secretly.

-Chaeyul: I think you went to meet your lover.

“…”

Oh damn.

The current VTIC lover escaped.

* * *

VTIC Heeun.

A bastard who even built a cozy home with his lover.

Perhaps for this reason in the reality I lived in a guy who could not become a VTIC member and was cut off suddenly disappeared without any contact.

“Have you contacted your brother’s family?”

“They said you didn’t come. “There are no eyewitness accounts on social media.”

Immediately Cheongryeo came out of the recording studio met the manager and started moving quickly.

But you went to meet your lover?

[He said he broke up with his lover.]

“You can say anything with words.”

A bastard who only cleans his mouth and acts behind his back… Well he’s a human type that’s easy to see. I nodded.

The manager asked Cheongnyeo with a look of nervousness on his face.

“I heard you left a text message for Chae-yul. Jaehyun did you have any inkling or contact from you?”

“There was none. I will look for it from now on. “Brother please adjust the group’s afternoon schedule first.”

“That’s right. okay.”

The manager nodded and hurriedly made a call on his smartphone.

It seemed like everyone at LeTi including this person was embarrassed but no one made a fuss by contacting all sorts of places.

‘okay. Finding the member who escaped without saying a word should be done with the minimum number of people.’

Leakage of words is the most fatal.

I know that well. Because we were like that when Steer Cha Yoo-jin was in charge.

There was even a photo shoot scheduled for 5pm here.

'…hmm.'

This doesn't seem like anything special. I asked vaguely.

[I should think about it too.]

Cheongryeo did not decline. I will take it as a positive.

Let's see.

'First of all the time zone is daytime.'

In this case the absence of eyewitness accounts from members means that public transportation was not used or was used extremely briefly.

At the same time it also means that I haven't been walking on the streets for a long time.

'Then I can't ignore the possibility that it's near the accommodation…
'

Before that let's consider the case where it is dark under the lamp.

[What is the probability of being at your lover's house?]

"doesn't exist."

Cheongryeo spoke firmly and checked the newly arrived smartphone messages.

In it an employee of the agency reported that the member's 'lover' was already out of the house and had gone out.

'That's fast.'

I then confirmed this by watching the employees who checked the CCTV near the accommodation reply to Cheongnyeo saying ‘There is no sign of taking a taxi.’

As expected the lover was near the accommodation.

[How about trying out room cafes or private restaurants around your accommodation?]

“I already have a record for that.”

Cheongryeo got into the car with cold eyes.

“I’m not the type of person with shallow calculation speed who would use the same method that worked once. “You have to find somewhere else.”

I’m stuck here.

‘It’s a different place.’

The current VTIC was living in a luxury villa very close to the company. And there is no way I could suddenly know the ins and outs of the geography of this area.

I thought for a moment and suddenly remembered something.

[wait for a sec.]

It’s simple logic.

If I don’t know shouldn’t I just use someone who knows well?

[I know a guy who speaks loudly and has unusual ideas. He is probably familiar with the geography surrounding your company.]

“…”

Cheongryeo just shifted her gaze and looked at the pop-up.

[Belonging to LeTi.]

Security issues are also solved.

“say it.”

I put my hand to typing.

After such a quick and concise conversation.

I briefly stopped connecting with Cheongryeo and got up from the officetel.

The guy who had come in advance for the ‘regular strategy meeting’ and was waiting quickly spoke to me from the other side.

“Are you finished communicating?”

“no.”

I asked cracking my neck.

“Are you interested in reasoning?”

Judan’s eyes lit up.

yes.

* * *

“So you’re looking for a place where a small number of people can stay for more than half a day without being noticed. “Except for commercial locations.”

After hearing the entire explanation of the situation Judan clasped his hands.

It looks very exciting.

“okay.”

Actually I didn’t expect much cooperation from this guy but he does come up with good ideas sometimes…

“Then it’s simple.”

hmm?

“Look here.”

Ju Dan immediately presented a place he had searched for on his smartphone.

-Biz Lounge (unmanned space rental open all year round)

“There is a seminar room rental company near my company and you can easily make a reservation on weekdays. “The price is reasonable and it operates unmanned leaving no trace.”

Judan opened his mouth with a confident expression.

“There is no CCTV inside the seminar room except for the entrance and lounge.”

“…”

“It’s not a place you usually go to rest or have fun but it’s not easily predictable by companies and it’s not crowded so it’s comfortable. “It’s the perfect escape space.”

I looked at the companies marked on the map and matched all the currently given conditions.

No sightings near the company even real-time reservation availability…

It was an amazing match.

“It’s a bit unfortunate that it has to be made public like this. “It’s one of my favorite companies.”

“…”

“It’s a social skill that you must naturally learn in a situation where you live with dozens of peers.”

Finding a comfortable place to be alone?

But now is not the time to say such things.

It’s time to praise.

“That’s impressive.”

“…! “Nothing to say.”

Zhou Dan seemed impressed.

‘Funny guy.’

No need to worry. We won’t reveal just the companies you visit.

‘I have to see everything that meets the conditions.’

As I scrubbed the screen of my smartphone I found several similar candidates near the company in addition to the specific company that Judan had chosen.

Then I contacted Cheongryeo again and sent a message.

[I heard there are seminar rooms near the company…]

…

And after a while.

“brother! “They found it!”

Surprisingly the lover boy was indeed discovered in the seminar room and quietly taken away.

Even though it wasn’t the ‘perfect’ company recommended by Judan it was correct as he was on a date with his lover in a nearby seminar room.

The casting idea was a success.

After confirming the news through Cheongryeo’s vision I returned to my body in the officetel.

“…”

Return of vision. After seeing my expression Zhou Dan looked slightly triumphant.

He then shrugged his shoulders holding out a cup of coffee that had been brewing for some time.

“I guess you were right.”

Are you coming?

“Please give my regards to senior Cheongryeo.”

Are you coming?

I drank the coffee he offered me.

* * *

When Cheongryeo logged back in after a cup of coffee his vision was hell.

It means literally.

A bastard with hellish ideas was sticking his head into the jaws of hell.

The lover's eyes were turning red blood was forming in his neck and he was crying like he was drunk.

"I know you're all blaming me. Did you know that my attitude changed? Hey do you know how suffocating it is to be around people who resent you all day?"

The guy whose head should have been broken is still sticking around so people are saying things like this.

"I was supposed to come back before the photo shoot but I couldn't believe you and told the company about it again right? Wow I really…"

"brother…"

"Guys. "Go into your room for a moment."

However Cheongnyeo remained calm.

He naturally sent the other members to their rooms.

"What are you doing? "Hey what the fuck are you talking about?"

The lover's shoulders stiffened as if he was nervous when he saw that scene. And to hide it I started to come out stronger.

Cheongnyeo looked at him blankly and smiled.

And he nodded.

"I know what you mean. okay. "You can rest as much as you want."

"…Uh huh?"

"Don't you mean you need some time off?"

Cheongryeo muttered as she checked her watch.

“This album is being released as a small test anyway… hmm. “It’s okay for you to have some alone time.”

The lover swallowed his saliva.

“Are you telling me to withdraw?”

“What are you talking about?”

Cheongryeo spoke softly.

“You should continue to be active too. Hmm… how about something like a drama?”

“…drama?”

“okay. It would be persuasive to say that you’re going to miss album promotions for a while because you’re so busy acting. “There are many cases like that among our seniors.”

The lover looked up at Cheongnyeo as if interested.

He seemed to have cooled off quickly perhaps because he was not the type of person who was used to getting angry.

At that time Cheongryeo spoke slightly.

Like taking bait.

“Of course it’s not something I would recommend… I was just wondering if you might have thought that way. Brother do whatever you feel comfortable with. “The company won’t be angry either.”

The lover hurriedly took the bait.

“…okay. That would be nice. I’ll think about it. Sorry. “This environment is so stressful… I think I’ve shown you how to behave.”

“We must look out for each other.”

Cheongryeo responded softly and the lover quietly stumbled towards his room with an almost impressed expression on his face.

hmm.

I saw Cheongryeo sending a message to the company via smartphone saying ‘It was a good conversation.’

And asked.

[If I miss group activities just because I’m acting like that guy wouldn’t it be the end?]

This is another straight-up blow to the reputation of the guy who is already the worst lover in the VTIC fandom.

Is this the plan to send a truck to the agency?

“yes.”

Cheongryeo smiled softly and closed the smartphone.

“That’s why I tell you to do it.”

[…]

I understand.

‘They are pushing us one step at a time into this natural withdrawal…’

He said he would not start over and live as usual but he is really living like that.

[I get it.]

However having come this far I have doubts.

[Why aren't you adding Jung Woo-dan to the team? It looks good to me.]

If you're going to use a guy like that as a full-time employee wouldn't it be better to be in charge even if there are some ups and downs?

[He also came up with the idea for the seminar room.]

"…"

Cheongryeo headed back to the entrance to head to the recording studio.

And he answered lightly.

"Yes Jeong Woo-dan. Sometimes I come up with brilliant ideas. "You seem to be able to maintain your composure well even in unusual situations."

Cheongnyeo quietly muttered.

"But that's not always the case."

[What do you mean?]

A simple answer came back.

"I don't believe you."

'…?'

"I told you so. "I've tried this before as a test."

no way.

I saw Cheongryeo.

“About my situation.”

The guy had a calm expression.

And briefly he seemed to remember the situation at the time.

“Well did you ask again?”

-Can you prove it?

“So I proved it.”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“He ran away from home early the next morning leaving behind a note.”

“…”

“He didn’t return to his dorm until I restarted the next night.”

thud.

The guy got on the elevator without looking at the front door.

“If the elements that were evaluated as strengths are expressed selectively it is inefficient to use more.”

Underground parking lot.

Cheongryeo walked toward the car without hesitation and finished speaking gently.

“I trust statistics.”

[…]

I pressed my eyes.

‘I guess so.’

This guy is the one who first told me about his regression. That was the cast.

‘…’

Hey by the way.

‘He didn’t believe in restarting?’

I actually can’t believe this.

Chapter 558

It is said that in the past Cheongryeo confessed about her restart but there was someone who did not believe her.

'It's possible.'

But that's the casting.

"…"

The sentences before and after do not fit together.

'This guy?'

I raised my head. The casting guy was smashing dishes into the dishwasher. It's easy to move around on your own because the stir-fried pork is so filling.

"Will artificial intelligence be applied to dishwashers in a few years?"

"…to a certain extent."

"indeed."

This is what this guy is.

I looked at him with suspicious eyes.

This guy has a history of believing a homeless man he met on the street in a foreign country when he told him he was from the future.

That's me.

But a member who had been active in the same group for several years suddenly took a stand and said ‘I’m from the future’ and I didn’t believe him?

He even ran away from home?

‘I guess he didn’t get so excited that he ran out and forgot to contact me.’

This… it’s funny that it sounds convincing.

“…”

Well it has nothing to do with me.

I decided to just stop thinking.

What do you know?

Instead of worrying about other people’s business let’s worry about our own shitty situation.

“Are you going to continue working as an actor tomorrow?”

okay. This is what I care about.

I received the mixed coffee Judan brought after running the dishwasher.

“okay. “Because there is one entertainment show left.”

I have been steadily working on my acting career for several weeks.

This means promoting a movie that has already been filmed by appearing on TV or on the Internet.

I wasted a bit of time digging up information while drinking with that actor… but that’s over now so I’ll end it in a way that doesn’t seem suspicious.

Zhou Dan rubbed his chin.

“hmm. It seems like it’s time for commercial movies to be the main focus of movie theaters to change. “Promotion is a bit inefficient.”

I answered calmly.

“I’m not trying to promote the movie.”

“…?”

“You’re trying to promote me.”

That’s right.

This was not the schedule set by the film production company. This is the schedule set by actor Ryu Moon’s agency.

“…! “You’re trying to expand the awareness you gained through this movie.”

That’s correct.

-It’s an observational show on MBS and it includes some interviews so it’s really good for hot actors at this time. Make sure to go out and take good eye prints!

The agency also had a lot of energy.

2010s. It is still a time when public broadcasting is powerful. And the early stages of observational entertainment becoming a trend with one hit after another.

‘It’s appropriate in many ways.’

Even from the perspective of trying to maintain mysticism it is better than having the American people belittled for no reason on talk shows or in professional interviews.

At this time there is usually a problem that rookies put too much pressure on their shoulders and it becomes more unnatural.

This is especially true if you are an actor who only sells acting…

“hmm. “This must be familiar to my older brother who was an idol who debuted at a major future agency.”

I just laughed.

I’ll just say that I got it roughly right.

* * *

“The weather is nice…”

＜Travel for one person＞.

It is one of the various observational entertainment shows that sends celebrities who are mushrooming around this time on a trip to provide healing.

However in this program the cast members are sent alone.

‘They asked me to do a lot of monologues because I don’t have anyone to talk to.’

So there were some who said that it was close to the essence of observational entertainment but Park Moon-dae had a hunch.

This was a fun composition that required the editor to use some magic.

If you don’t catch it in editing it’s just someone else’s story silently practicing.

In other words it is a program where the production team is more important than the cast.

‘After the production team changed it went bankrupt.’

However the production team has not yet changed.

He was truly enjoying the two-day one-night trip trusting that the trip would take care of itself.

It was honey.

‘If you apply too much force it will only end up looking unnatural.’

They just come to a remote countryside cook a meal and look at the scenery.

Park Mun-dae lay down on the veranda and closed his eyes watching the floating clouds.

Hwiik-

The wind from the mountains passed over my forehead.

Late spring with strong sunlight. Lying in the shade feeling the wind and quietly listening to the sound of grass can soothe one’s mind.

Especially if you are familiar enough with the camera to not be uncomfortably aware of it.

“…”

This is the first time Park Moon-dae feels travel relaxation after being in this strange situation.

However before… there was no room for audio in this situation.

Because the seven members moved together.

‘There was even a dog.’

A slight bitterness filled my mouth.

Still the dog that Bae Se-jin's mother took in is probably doing well.

And other guys too.

He lay down and blinked.

It would be okay to do this for about an hour.

[The unsatisfied idol relaxes with your rest.]

It was Lee Se-jin's pop-up.

'Have you not relaxed your mind?'

Park Moon-dae was taken aback but eventually burst into laughter. Because it wasn't a bad thing to have a companion like this.

"Let's have some vegetables."

That evening Park Moon-dae cooked and ate mountain vegetable bibimbap in a stone pot with the vegetables he picked himself.

The recipe included borrowed sesame oil from a neighbor's house and even fried eggs from chickens raised here.

"It looks natural and nice."

"I know."

"You're good at cooking too."

The production crew who watched the entire process was skilled.

It really looks like he isn't paying attention to the camera and he doesn't say any inappropriate expressions like a ghost and the timing of what to take is amazing.

No matter how magical editing was it was impossible without materials.

But this… materials were more abundant than ever.

It's like a veteran celebrity who has only appeared in observational entertainment for about 10 years!

But a rookie with no image consumption!

'Why… is it easy to film?'

The production crew was confused but soon satisfied. Isn't good something good?

'I need to pay more attention to the interview… '

Only a few of the writers made that promise.

Interview.

Just as you can't avoid talking about the song that won first place when an idol appears you can't avoid talking about the work he or she appeared in on a variety show promoting an actor.

Especially if it's a blockbuster movie that hit recently.

"I received this watch as a souvenir. "It's a children's toy wristwatch that the pickpocket always wears."

In this program it is like this.

The cast begins the story by reminiscing while taking a break while looking at items related to their recent hits such as photos posters and videos.

And then we select interviews to insert separately there.

like this.

“also! It is said that the filming process was very harmonious.”

“Oh thank you.”

That night.

After filming Park Moon-dae falling asleep on a blanket on the floor with an ondol (floor heating system) he got up again and conducted an interview in a warehouse behind a country house.

The author meticulously asked him various questions in order to somehow find out the backstory related to the movie.

‘Being nice means being nice and if you pick something slightly controversial that’s fine!’

I even took a peek at the actor who originally played his role who was fired due to a sexual misconduct scandal.

“I think you did some character research while watching the film of Pickpocket before editing. What did you think?”

“As for character research… I’m still a rookie so I focused on the script so as not to miss any details in the script. “It’s a little embarrassing but… it’s tattered. Would you like me to show it to you?”

“Oh yes!”

However Park Moon-dae did not show a straight face and answered the question casually.

‘…passed over!’

The writer who was conducting the interview realized this only after receiving Park Moon-dae’s script.

Perhaps LeTi… the actor also grits his teeth and undergoes comprehensive training…

‘There are no gaps.’

The writers laughed empty-handedly.

Still the interview continues.

“Still I think there must have been a lot of difficulties as I was suddenly cast as an extra in such a big movie at such a young age.”

“Um… but. Thankfully everyone was friendly and I was able to focus quickly.”

“iced coffee! “I heard you were the youngest.”

“yes.”

Park Moon-dae slightly twitched his eyebrows.

This is because the director who used to treat people carelessly to the point where people got annoyed during additional filming changed his attitude and said in an interview that he was a diligent and lucky youngest member.

‘There is no need to say I treated you like X here.’

Judging from the fact that their attitude was similar even after the camera was turned off it seemed like they had glorified it in their heads.

Moon-Dae Park gave an estimate while conducting the interview faithfully.

‘If I do well I might get an offer from that director for my next film.’

Of course I was planning to go diving before that.

[The genius actor is concentrating and stamping his feet.]

‘okay.’

He will also find a way to return before borrowing Bae Se-jin's abilities.

Moon-Dae Park looked at the pop-up without being noticed and nodded slightly.

Now that I think about it this type of expression seems to appear often in pop-ups these days.

This is a gesture or expression that members might use when they are nervous about a big event.

[The late-night maestro opens his eyes.]

[The dancer with a noble attitude puts both hands together.]

Things like this.

Park Moon-dae had a hunch.

'It looks like preparations are in the final stages.'

Maybe you're ready to bring it yourself.

In order not to pass on the risk he had to move ahead of the members' 'preparation'.

'We are proceeding as planned.'

He has already proven several transactions to Cheongryeo as an informant.

Now that I had gained so much time it was time to put it to good use.

'We are focusing on properly analyzing the strange terminal inside Cheongryeo's system.'

Park Moon-dae decided that way.

As a result of digging into it step by step over the past time I felt like I would soon be able to safely access the core of the terminal.

And as soon as the confirmation was over I had to focus on finding a corner to eat using that as a hint to return to reality.

okay.

'This is right… '

"Ah Mr. Ryu Moon."

The writer called him again.

"yes."

"This is a personal question…"

An expression has emerged when trying to wittily gloss over a question that does not fit the context or is personal.

Park Moon-dae relaxed and focused on the interview again.

The writer asked with a smile.

"What do you think about the pickpocket's end?"

"…the last one."

As expected the context has escaped.

Park Moon-dae thought that he should ask his agency to remove this before the program is criticized for being a movie spoiler.

But the author was serious.

"yes. It really was such a sad ending because of one little discrepancy. "Didn't you want a different ending as a pickpocket?"

Getting handcuffed and dying in the climax part? It was sweet because it was symbolic.

Of course it was a bit difficult to answer like this.

“hmm. “That’s right.”

‘I’m sad as an actor but the pickpocket himself wouldn’t have felt sorry… I guess I’ll just put it to that.’

However Park Moon-dae who was preparing an answer that seemed to be going well paused for a moment.

Something came to mind from the author’s expression.

hmm.

‘…It’s just one inch off.’

This is the case of Cheongryeo and Judan that we heard about yesterday.

When Cheongryeo talks about her surreal experience Judan panics and runs away from home.

Perhaps because of that Joo Dan who is a VTIC in real life is unable to debut here and remains stuck as a trainee.

This is because Cheongryeo has already appraised the casting and dan undervaluing it as ‘substandard’.

This is it.

‘…I think it will work properly if I adjust it a little bit.’

Of course I also know that everything is resolved in reality anyway.

But the situation unfolding before his eyes right now… doesn’t his hands itch?

I think you just need to control it a little bit if you touch it a little bit.

"…"

Oh damn.

Park Mun-dae suppressed his silence.

I really only do it once.

'No more you bastards.'

And the morning after filming ended.

Park Moon-dae called Joo Dan.

-Geonwoo hyung?

"Jeongwoodan."

A weekend without school. He had just finished morning practice and immediately received a phone call.

-Is this an emergency?

"No it's not like that."

Park Moon-dae spoke at once.

"From now on I am going to explain a certain situation to you and I want to know what choice you will make. therefore…"

Appropriate word.

"It's a kind of human psychological test."

-…!

“Please give a careful answer.”

* * *

Ju Dan listened to what the other person said over the phone.

Blunt wise a little mysterious and sometimes bold. This person from the future completely drained Zhou Dan’s soul.

And it was still the same now.

“I debuted as an idol and was actively working. One day a group member suddenly says ‘I went back in time and lived again to achieve success.’ Is that it?”

-hmm. okay.

Ju Dan was instantly inspired by that calm answer.

‘Have you experienced a similar situation?’

Perhaps the other person is talking about something they have experienced themselves.

-Repeat until you succeed.

But Zhou Dan did not show it. Being swayed by these predictions was good for producing mundane and illogical answers.

‘Objective answers come first.’

So after a moment of careful consideration he added:

“Then now… we are in a situation where we are confessing after the group is successful.”

-no.

The other person continued speaking in a low voice.

-Situation right before pressing new game.

In other words it means that it is not successful and is already on the verge of failure and restarting.

"…"

Judan closed his eyes tightly.

Hypothetical situation. But the answer was already in my head.

It was… simple.

"I guess I should run away."

-what?

"It's dangerous isn't it?"

Ju Dan calmly drew a conclusion.

"Right now the opponent is in a situation where he neither loses nor gains no matter what he does. "In such a situation there are two reasons why you bothered to tell me the situation."

-… two.

"yes."

Ju Dan swallowed his saliva.

first.

"I'm letting you know as a test because trust has built up in me over the years."

It’s about recruiting colleagues.

In that case a situation could have been created where he willingly lent his abilities as a colleague to this destined protagonist.

Just like he does with his brother now.

however.

“But there are other possibilities. as soon as…”

Judan swallowed.

This was the problem. Another case.

second.

“Because I was curious about that person. “How will I react?”

-…?

“If you continue to do repetitive tasks for a long time won’t boredom and boredom follow you as companions?”

The situation right before starting a new game.

If you were angry or frustrated and wanted to vent to yourself.

then.

“In the worst case scenario I might be killed because my reaction is not funny.”

-…

-Not a serial killer but a member of the same group.

“There is no law that says idol members cannot become serial killers.

“I always assume the worst.”

Idols and serial killers. Intersection was possible at any time.

‘Especially if you are someone who has repeated the past over and over again to succeed!’

Isn’t it perfect to disregard human life? If you go back to the past anyway you will come back to life.

Ju Dan responded based on a perfect Venn diagram.

“But running away right away is also… Hmm I see. “You may incur animosity for no reason.”

then.

“First of all I should send a sign like ‘Thank you for your words but I will think about it more deeply.’ And then secretly run away.”

-…

“It seems like the perfect survival method.”

Park Mun-dae hit his head.

-You are waiting.

“yes?”

-Tell me to wait.

He immediately asked Cheongryeo for help.

Chapter 559

LeTi's recording studio.

"I will go as you say. Mr. Jaehyun."

"yes."

Cheongryeo was in the process of re-recording a new song that had been interrupted last time due to a member's sudden flight.

As the schedule has been pushed back the density of the schedule has increased to the point where it is tight. However as long as there was no problem with quality it didn't matter.

It was a life he would have abandoned anyway and started over but as a habit he caught the flaws and refined the best path.

'hmm.'

As always in my quiet mind the strata built through calculations were solid.

Cheongryeo gently tapped the gasaji.

It was then.

[Let me ask you one thing.]

A sentence that broke the silence.

Cheongnyeo narrowed her eyes at the help that popped out as if in a hurry.

I was able to talk because the music was being mixed but…

‘You have no manners.’

In this situation we need to ask for their understanding first.

He thought about it briefly but decided to move on.

“What question?”

As soon as tacit approval is given sentences start pouring out.

question.

[I’m talking about the thing you told me about last time right before the restart of the Jung Woo-dan story.]

[Do you remember exactly what the situation was at that time?]

I remember.

He wrote down in his head the personnel he used as members of VTIC as if organizing them in a neat table. Also about why I used it and why I no longer use it.

And the ‘Jung Woo-dan story’ that help was talking about was the latter. In other words it was one of the memories he intentionally recorded.

but.

‘There is no reason to tell you.’

Cheongryeo briefly and insensibly looked at Help.

But I soon opened my mouth to know what I was thinking.

“I should have told you already. “It was right before the restart.”

And then he began to monotonously explain the situation at the time.

21st VTIC.

Due to the butterfly effect in the process of making a new album the financial manager of the agency was changed causing great trouble due to tax issues.

So VTIC's second half tour was canceled. Cheongryeo realized.

'Is this the end?'

The time has come to start again.

Maybe I was feeling a little unfair or irritated. The group is alive and well but this is the early stage when there were a few instances where timing failed due to absurd reasons.

So I decided on a somewhat cold impulse.

'Let me tell you.'

About your own circumstances.

Because if I say it now I have nothing to lose.

Therefore we selected members who had excellent crisis response skills unique thinking and no ethical issues.

Casting and cutting.

After hearing the explanation for the first time and asking for proof the guy who looked at it carefully nodded his head right away surprisingly.

-okay. Indeed… I understood.

And asked.

-Then what do you need my help with…

-Your help? hmm. I don't need your help right now.

-… yes?

-This group failed when it failed to reach the standard number of audiences it was supposed to meet. It's over. Even if someone helps me I have to restart. haha…

-… But why are you telling me this hidden truth?

-To see if you believe it.

Because Judan is included in the members who will be reappointed even after the restart.

This was a kind of trial run. To check if this process will work even after restarting.

And Cheongnyeo judged that this attempt had been successful up to this point.

-Thank goodness. Because you believe it.

-… yes.

That's how the conversation that day ended.

Cheongryeo finished reminiscing.

And then he smiled.

"But Jung Woo-dan disappeared from the dorm the next day. "I just left a note at the company saying 'I'm unwell and want to take a break from activities.'"

And after he cooled off he realized that he had acted unprofitably.

"Running away from home. "If the leader had reported to the company that he was mentally ill the evaluation would have been lowered.”

[…]

No I think I was scared because I believed it.

‘The country also jumped out at me.’

Park Moon-dae instinctively understood.

Anyone could tell that the Cheongryeo tasted delicious and Judan was probably scared like a dog that had encountered a tiger.

Cheongryeo continued to explain in a monotonous manner.

“I used up all my free time and started again the next day. Until then Jeong Woo-dan had not returned to his lodgings from his refuge.”

‘…’

Park Moon-dae rubbed the back of his neck.

And I recognized the meaning contained in that sentence.

It specifically mentioned a place of refuge.

[Did you know where that guy was?]

Cheongryeo answered calmly.

“Near the office.”

Now that I think about it…

“It was a meeting room for rent.”

And Cheongryeo realized.

The destination of the VTIC member who ran away this time was also the seminar room.

in other words.

“You didn’t come up with a unique idea; it just happened to be similar to your own situation.”

[…]

“hmm. also.”

Cheongnyeo concluded that it was not worth reconsidering Jeongwoodan’s assessment.

And then back to recording…

[wait for a sec.]

Help pressed into the air.

“…”

Park Moon-dae felt somewhat out of place.

‘That’s strange.’

Seminar room.

-It’s not a place you usually go to rest or have fun but it’s not easy to predict at work and it’s not crowded so it’s comfortable. It’s the perfect getaway space.

Obviously Ju Dan explained it that way.

‘It means that it is a space to escape from everyday life.’

So if you get tired of interacting with people during practice it’s a place where introverts can stay alone for mental stability.

Judan went there.

This is not a place to dive like a rat to avoid a serial killer.

'…perhaps.'

Park Moon-dae was silent for a moment and then typed.

[I think he believed what you said.]

"hmm?"

[Jung Woo-dan believed me right away even though I said I came from the future. He is the one who helped me.]

Thanks to you I didn't starve to death.

"…"

Park Mun-dae ignored the absurd look that passed through Cheongryeo's eyes.

Instead he kindly completed the sentence.

[Realistically if you trusted a stranger wouldn't there be a higher probability that you would have trusted what a member said? He said he also showed evidence.]

"I don't know if you want to discuss this obvious phenomenon but… Have you forgotten that you went into hiding?"

[Yeah about that. I already heard you and asked Jung Woo-dan himself.]

And Moon-Dae Park appropriately refined and conveyed Judan's ideas obtained through psychological tests.

No matter what the other member does now if they restart it will be like nothing that happened so they probably jumped out at the thought that they can do anything in a mess anyway.

[Rather it means that he went into hiding because he believed it.]

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo nodded calmly.

“That… is definitely a good idea.”

[…]

“It’s a bit of an individualistic mindset to work as a group though. “It’s good with its shortcomings…”

It was just before Cheongryeo decided to hold off on Judan’s evaluation.

[however.]

In fact the main content of the help started here.

[I think that’s strange too.]

“…”

Cheongryeo narrowed his eyes. Park Moon-dae had a hunch that it was starting to feel like a waste of time.

From now on I had to choose my words carefully.

“What kind of point?”

[location.]

[If that guy really felt his life was in danger and tried to run away he would have already gone abroad. At least he ran away to the countryside.]

It wasn't like he was beating himself up in the seminar room but he must have been bouncing with all his might.

This is the guy who threatened to quit the system as soon as he found out that things were going strangely in the virtual world. It was a survival crisis but there was no way I could have stayed at a facility near the company for two days.

'If there was a supernatural person going back to the past he would know this location. 'I would have thought of it that way.'

[If you look at it that way the seminar room near the company is too complacent.]

Besides that.

[The answer I brought is just what a trainee did as a psychological test. I am not your member when I was in VTIC for several years.]

[I'm not saying they're different people but the conditions and environment are different.]

The cast and hem here.

Jung Woo-dan the trainee who spoke with him does not know Cheongryeo well.

At least he was a young guy who debuted as an idol and had never lived with the members.

So the answer he gave may be far from the actual feelings of Ju Dan who was actually a member of VTIC.

'And considering that this guy is also the type that is secretly affectionate… '

To have noticed something from close quarters.

-Ju Dan believed Cheongryeo's words and ran away.

In addition to this.

[Once you've made up your mind that you're not in danger you'll probably come back.]

This means that Judan had plans to return soon.

* * *

I saw Cheongryeo's calm face.

On the surface he was a KPOP artist concentrating on recording in a recording studio but I noticed cracks in his thoughts.

I guess it's because of the new interpretation.

-Ju Dan believed Cheongryeo's words and wanted to interpret Cheongryeo's intentions in a positive way.

[This is also a sign that I thought there was a high probability that you would not harm your own safety.]

Cheongryeo didn't even move his eyelids.

[That probably means you were a good leader at the time.]

From Jeongwoodan's perspective he decided that he wanted to organize his thoughts nearby so that he could return at any time even if it meant taking some risks.

"…"

I wasn't saying this to make him feel good.

[When using common sense this is the most likely answer.]

and.

[First of all isn't it clear that the idea that he escaped because he didn't trust you is the lowest probability?]

Cheongryeo's fingers moved slightly.

I completed the sentence without hesitation.

[It is much more likely that your attempt to choose Jeongwoodan was a success.]

[Don't treat it as a failure just for that one case.]

"…"

Cheongnyeo took her eyes off the gasaji.

And he slowly expressed his opinion.

"…I wouldn't have said that this was the one time I told my situation to a group member."

'…'

what.

"After that I tried it a few times with other targets but the expected value was so low that I discarded it."

However Cheongnyeo's expression was not cold.

Instead of a picturesque smile the guy's face had a natural expression.

"But a failed first attempt has a big impact on the statistics."

‘…!’

“Because it starts as a complete failure.”

And that has now been reversed.

[So how does it feel to know that your judgment may have been right?]

There was no answer for a moment.

But soon he opened his mouth.

“It’s not bad.”

Are you coming?

I grinned.

Cheongryeo put down the gas paper a little more gently than before.

I realized that a slightly comfortable emotion was activated in his external thoughts.

Well it wasn’t bad.

I typed cheerfully.

[So are you going to use Jungwoodan as a member now?]

“Shall I put you up as a candidate?”

‘…!’

yes.

…no. Why am I so proud and damn it? Anyway in reality he’s a guy who makes a good living with VTIC while buying buildings.

‘What kind of overindulgence is this?’

Rather they should feel better about competing groups going bankrupt but seeing T Holic’s development failure here seemed to empathize with them in a strange way.

It was while I was closing my mouth.

“In that sense.”

hmm?

“I think I’m in contact with Jeong Woo-dan.”

Cheongryeo said with a smile.

“Should I at least go for an interview?”

[…??]

It was something I could never have imagined.

* * *

Officetel 3 hours later.

“I never thought I would see you in this position. It’s called Jeongwoodan. “Senior.”

“yes. nice to meet you.”

The guy who gave me the officetel and the guy who helped me move are sitting around the table.

It felt warm just listing the facts but it wasn’t a very realistic scene.

Cheongryeo who finished recording took the time to come here?

‘I didn’t know that a bastard who would dismiss an offer as a waste of time would voluntarily ask for it.’

Moreover Cheongryeo and Judan are having a conversation in a very pleasant atmosphere.

First of all the big thing is that Cheongryeo is smiling and responding to all of Joo Dan’s nonsense and questions without being swayed.

“okay! thank you.”

“What?”

Moreover surprisingly he did not just blurt out Judan’s questions but answered them quite truthfully.

There were some parts that were vague but at least the part about going back to the past and starting over was revealed without much hiding.

‘hmm.’

I saw Judan looking a little embarrassed when he even said ‘Next time you might debut with VTIC.’

“Indeed… it’s an honor for me but didn’t you put off restarting? “I heard that Geon-woo worked as a helper.”

Are you asking this without hesitation?

“well. Well if you win the grand prize you don’t have to restart. haha.”

How can you answer this so honestly?

‘Is the album recording going really well?’

I looked back with a slightly dumbfounded look on my face.

Cheongryeo smiled and continued speaking.

“I’m still going to restart.”

“…”

what?

“Once you succeed it’s over. Because this reality is fixed.”

“…yes?”

“But I don’t really like the current members.”

And Cheongryeo kindly explained to Zhou Dan.

“If we keep going like this even if we win the grand prize this group will end its lifespan within a few years.”

“that…”

“It went well. “Udan will use it.”

Cheongnyeo turned her head.

“And you too.”

towards me.

“…”

“I have a good feeling about being active in the entertainment industry and I saw in the scouting video that I was good at singing. “We didn’t have enough vocal talent but it worked out well.”

What are you talking about?

“I want you to restart…”

“okay. “I said if I restart I might not be able to use that body.”

Cheongnyeo responded calmly.

“doesn’t care. “You just need help.”

because.

“There’s one more person here.”

“…”

I realized what he was talking about.

Ryu Geon-woo!

Me in the past currently attending college.

“My grades are good too. Sincere and… hmm. “It would be easy to persuade them if they said they were providing food clothing and shelter because their financial situation was not good.”

“…”

“It would be possible to aim for when you have just entered college.”

The guy spoke calmly and there was confidence in his tone.

“When did you investigate?”

You will know that you can share your vision at any time by simply accessing it as help.

“When will it happen?”

Cheongryeo smiled softly.

“It’s time for Mr. Ryu Moon to work hard on his acting schedule.”

“…!”

“I had a hard time searching for information. So it would have been more difficult to access help.”

Holy shit.

Chapter 560

It was a question I had from the beginning.

‘Why is Cheongryeo trying to get information about the actor from me?’

For a guy who barely became a rookie actor.

There’s no way the guy who restarted it 100 times wouldn’t have found a better window than that.

So I assumed that they were only targeting one specific piece of information that could be found at this time.

But that wasn’t it.

‘Information wasn’t the purpose in the first place.’

“I could have neglected my schedule to find information but I took the time to properly prepare and respond to each interview and promotional media. “It means I didn’t waste my moment in the spotlight.”

“…”

“It means you are born with quality talent and attitude. Mr. Geon-woo.”

Cheongryeo looked at me without even blinking.

“I think that’s the same for those who are in college.”

To see my attitude.

They supported my acting career to see how well I could adapt to this industry and whether I could earn my living.

And crucially…

'To check information on college student Ryu Geon-woo without my unnecessary interference.'

It's still true that rolling your head makes people angry.

I answered in a low voice.

"…Why do you think a guy who did well in college would become an idol? "At this stage I am not interested in idols."

"For something like that you worked hard to film it."

"…"

"Among the photos of me in the dorm there was one taken by Geon-woo."

Did you even find out that he was a data seller?

"I do it because it makes money."

"With that level of education isn't there only one way to make money? "Why did I do something that wasn't profitable such as walking around the event venue and taking pictures of idols?"

"I earn better than you think."

"It's an honor to be able to introduce you to a more 'well-earning' job."

Cheongryeo answered casually.

I wasn't surprised.

If he had been persuaded by words like this I wouldn't have hit this bastard's head with handcuffs.

"…"

I kept my mouth shut.

It was that moment.

"for a moment. "I also want to tell you something."

Zhou Dan raised his hand and intervened.

"Why are you telling us these plans?"

I raised my head.

"The moment you go back to the past the experiences and memories of everyone except you will disappear."

It was true.

"There is a high probability that we will not remember it either so what you are saying is… is it an emotional factor?"

"…"

Judan looked calm but his hands were actually shaking slightly.

'You're trying.'

I answered while suppressing my sleep.

"I'm just trying to see the reaction."

"yes?"

"We want to check our reaction to this ridiculous situation and make a plan for how to use it in the future.”

In a word it is a manpower potential meter.

There is no need to worry about side effects. Because you’ll forget it anyway.

Zhou Dan’s expression became uncertain whether it was admiration or fear.

“indeed…”

“Are you sure it’s not just a guess?”

“…!”

Cheongryeo grinned.

“I guess you must have known me from the time you lived. “A little deeper.”

“…”

“First of all you both seem very embarrassed. “You’d better calm down a little.”

Cheongryeo said calmly.

“My conditions have not changed. No one will lose anything. It just gets better. and…”

And he looked back at me quite kindly.

“Don’t worry if you lose Geonwoo’s body after I restart. Even if it remains as help it will not be deleted.”

I’m really thankful.

Although he wanted to be sarcastic Cheongryeo still maintained a friendly demeanor.

“I will release an album as promised so don’t worry about that. “There are still things to check and do.”

But that’s it.

I predicted what this guy would say next.

“But as you heard… it would be a bad decision for the group to stay here even if the album is successful. Restarting is a given.”

Cheongryeo tilted her head to the side.

“You can’t be satisfied when you can start over with better conditions.”

Reset syndrome.

The habit of willingly starting over when better conditions arise.

The bastard who was horribly stagnant at this stage where he had already overcome the reality of reality… was so so dirty he couldn’t communicate.

‘Fuck you.’

I closed my eyes against the pain in the back of my head.

Is there a way to persuade…

“…”

does not exist.

This is different from the reality when the system was transferred from Cheongnyeo to me and he misunderstood that I had a restart button.

Unlike in reality where I had to persuade myself to restart in this past I was able to restart at will.

Fuck you I have no negotiating hand.

"…"

Moreover… now a fundamental question arises.

In the first place.

'Why do I have to stop this guy?'

Why should we negotiate?

Wouldn't it be enough to just buy enough time?

'This is not the reality I live in.'

All I have to do is return to reality.

It doesn't matter whether this thing restarts or not after that. I was just taken aback by the fact that my story from this time period when I was attending college came out for no reason.

'What do I know whether I bake him or boil him or make VTIC?'

It doesn't matter.

'okay.'

My bones throbbed.

And… I was sick of it.

'Why the fuck… do I have to do this with this guy all the time?'

How many times do we have to repeat a story we already know? How many times does it take to get away from this damn system?

Heat surged in my brain.

I'm already stuck in a situation where I don't know what's going on and I'm clenching my teeth and trying to get out.

I was trying to clear up a misunderstanding among the VTIC guys so that I could have some leeway while my nose was a stone's throw away.

'It was a stupid thing to do.'

I wanted to go back.

…There were too many things I couldn't give up. There were too many reasons.

So I tried to look at the situation in a positive way.

I believe that there is a clue to go back to the system I believe that I can somehow use it and I believe that the pop-up is really Keoldal and its members…

But if you look at it really realistically…

'Nothing can be certain.'

Nothing has been proven.

What I've done so far to get back may have been all useless.

I felt cold sweat running down my spine.

It felt like it was going to be eaten away.

'Fuck you.'

This damn fear of not being able to go back to Testa Parkmundae and being dragged into this shitty situation.

‘no.’

I squeezed my thighs with my hands until the veins stood out.

Cold sweat broke out.

[A dancer with a noble attitude…]

“…”

at that time. A little light shines above your head.

I raised my gaze.

Right next to you the text in the pop-up twinkles like a star.

[Dancers with a noble attitude do their best.]

[A dancer with a noble attitude bestows his blessings upon you.]

[Attribute: Status abnormality invalid]

That moment.

I started to fall into a soggy mess.

first of all. Let’s take a deep breath.

‘Whoa… ’

Be aware of your body in sync with your breathing and then become aware of the thoughts in your head.

‘You’re scared.’

I diagnosed my condition objectively.

I didn't realize the reality I just panicked.

I tried to ignore it as much as I could but the extreme stress continued to build up in my unconscious and it seemed like I had crossed the threshold.

'It's worth it.'

Let's not criticize.

I gave myself a somewhat objective rating.

I worked hard without even knowing X.

'You somehow dragged me here.'

It's not that the terrible ideas and dirty feelings that were muddying my brain magically disappeared.

Confusion still remained. The fear still remained.

I just gained the strength to deal with it.

As if my stamina suddenly rose during a marathon my mind was filled with the will to run as I measured the distant goal line.

Guts.

Resilience.

Perhaps there are some things that Sun Ah-hyeon has learned from experience but there are also qualitative differences that are innate.

[A dancer with a noble attitude is working hard for you.]

And from that high perspective I could see the path I had walked and my heart became stronger.

‘If I do it again I won’t be able to do it better.’

With Cheongryeo’s help he made his acting debut as an illegal worker in the United States.

At every moment the belief that I did my best is strengthened by my belief in myself.

Then I think there is no need to be oversensitive to the situation I am in now.

It wasn’t about giving up it was about just acknowledging it.

‘It’s natural that Cheongryeo here suffers from reset syndrome.’

Because it’s from the past.

There is no need to be too surprised embarrassed or frustrated compared to reality.

Rather it’s reset syndrome so why did you head to the ground without anything and be accepted as a member by a guy who distrusts humanity?

‘I never wanted it.’

Well it probably means that I am a very useful person. Let’s think that I recognized a first-division idol like I was in the first-division forever.

‘okay.’

If my stress hadn’t passed the critical point I would have thought so shamelessly.

‘And then we think about the best way.’

Isn’t this what I have been doing every day since I started living in Parkmundae?

Finding answers in seemingly unanswerable situations.

Courage and energy seem to seep out from somewhere and seep into my head and spinal cord.

The mind bounces like an elastic ball.

[A dancer with a noble attitude exhales.]

'I can do it.'

I thought as I looked up at the pop-up.

Now if I were to choose what to do now with a strong mind…

I put my hands on the table.

"Well… thank you for your high opinion."

"hmm?"

"Think about using me as a member slowly. "I have some work to do right now… I'm going to leave for a moment."

And then I jumped into Cheongryeo's system again.

To analyze the terminal.

* * *

But at the same time the JSA.

Park Moon-dae's acquaintances were looking at the screen in cold sweat.

In fact the mood was very hopeful until just before.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅅ@): Sinking in confusion…]

[Park Moon-dae (@ㅅ@): Confused and frustrated]

“What the fuck…”

“…”

Sweat beaded down Sun Ah-hyun’s temples and dripped from her chin.

He tried his best to help Park Moon-dae but he wasn’t sure if he got the timing right to bestow his blessings.

Plus I was worried.

‘I don’t think I can be more helpful to Moon Dae than the other members.’

This is because unlike the members who had notable talents and characters he felt that he was somehow dull.

It was also because of the situation where he was the only one who could not find the right time to bestow blessings and it was his last turn.

‘still… ’

Gritting his teeth he continued to try to bestow protection.

‘Ahyeon… ’

Big Moon blinked and suppressed his bitter emotions.

Of course contrary to his own worries Sun Ah-hyun’s blessings really helped Park Moon-dae.

[Park Moon-dae (ㅁㅅㅁ*): Escaping from confusion!]

“That’s enough…!”

“I’m so glad!”

In an instant the atmosphere came alive.

However the moment Park Moon-dae received Seon-ah-hyeon’s blessing he also received the unique power of Seon-ah-hyeon’s characteristics.

– Status abnormality invalid.

A derivative effect of the power that ignores status abnormalities. It was just an error.

Breaking through the form and influence of the system and seeing the essence and rawness beyond.

So right after the moment Park Moon-dae accessed Cheongryeo’s system.

The screen turned pitch black.

[Park Moon-dae (■■■): ■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■■]

The human-shaped dots were crushed and eventually turned into whitish distorted rectangles.

Park Moon-dae’s unusual situation would not have been displayed originally because it was outside the predicted range of this dot screen implemented by Geundal.

It was the status of the door that became the status window.

[Park Moon-dae (■■■): !!!!!!!]

Broken letters burst out over the square box-like dots that had previously been shaped like humans.

"…what's this."

A bizarre situation that sends a chill down your spine and fills you with anxiety.

The atmosphere which had cooled down for a moment boiled over in confusion.

"What is happening now?"

"Is it possible that some kind of error occurred now that my stamina has been fully filled?"

Keoldal's face turned white and he checked the connection status again.

'It's strange.'

But… it was even weirder because Moon Dae didn't seem to be in bad condition.

"Now wait a minute. Let's check the situation a little more…"

But Geodal's words did not end.

Because someone grabbed his arm.

"…!"

Arms in military uniform.

It was Cheongryeo.

In an instant he pushed Testa's shoulder to create space and grabbed the big moon.

'Now wait a minute.'

Cheongryeo is a medium that has been able to reach the location of Park Mun-dae so far. So it played a role in creating a passage.

‘But do you want to give protection to that side too?’

Even if Cheongnyeo tries to access the channel like this even Keundal is not sure if she can grant blessings like everyone else…

“ah…”

At that moment Geoldal realized.

In the past Cheongryeo had received authority in the virtual world of the system.

And that still remained with Cheongryeo.

He was GM.

Game Master. operator.

“Connect.”

Big Moon swallowed his saliva and moved.

* * *

At the same time actor Ryu Moon’s officetel.

“I think it would be better if I let you lie down on the sofa… Yes. “Just leave it alone.”

Thanks to Park Moon-dae who suddenly laid his head down on the table and closed his eyes the tension that had been building had been relieved.

Although Jeong Woo-dan took a strange posture as if he was both wary of VTIC Cheongryeo and at the same time receiving it the parties did not pay much attention to it.

Because verification is over.

Cheongryeo then looked at the interviewee on the other side who still had an unknown corner.

Ryu Geon-woo.

‘Is this helpful?’

Why did I suddenly connect?

Could it be that he plans to develop something to prove his usefulness and persuade him not to restart?

‘It’s time to learn that it doesn’t work.’

He attempted to call with a mixture of faint curiosity and embarrassment.

-Help.

There was no answer so he called several times this time.

-Help.

-Help.

-Help.

I was doing the repetitive work in a somewhat pleasant mood.

Finally a response comes wriggling in the air.

‘hmm.’

It was the moment when Cheongnyeo turned her gaze.

[————————]

Where the help window originally appeared.

Violent letters as if torn apart come to mind quietly.

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

As if it would fill the field of vision.

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

Chapter 561

Pop.

Water droplets hit the back of my hand.

'…?'

Cheongryeo didn't move anything just lowered his gaze and looked at the back of his hand. The truly transparent water droplets burst into small pieces and shattered.

'Where did it come from?'

He would raise his head to check the path or raise his hand to get a closer look at the result.

But nothing worked as I wanted.

'…'

This is because the body did not move.

'Why?'

He wasn't embarrassed. I just tried to calmly think about it to figure out the cause.

at that time. Water droplets fell on the back of my hand again.

Pop.

Cheongryeo finally realized this the moment she observed the process herself.

that

It was my own cold sweat.

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

From thin air

The feast of oppressive gazes from all directions stiffens the whole body and creates extreme pressure.

My body rejects my attempts to raise my head and face him.

‘ah.’

The mind is an appendage of the body.

In that sense unlike his mind which created deep and distant depths over a long period of time his body only in his early 20s felt an instinctive threat.

Someone was looking down at me from a high place.

It looks as if something higher is searching through it all.

yourself.

[———-]

Above all the windows a huge sentence rises like the moon rising above the water.

[The incarnation of the idol is satisfied.]

And like a lie everything disappeared.

Huh.

The air fills the place releasing the tension that was holding my breath.

The sound of breathing finally began to reach my ears.

And the sound of speech.

“Senior. “There are medications you need to take but you missed the timing…”

“no.”

Cheongryeo gently removed his hand from the table. The water fell in a trace.

“…”

Then I turned my head and checked the time.

’67 minutes.’

For over an hour I was caught in that strange gaze. Under such frighteningly strong pressure that I couldn’t feel the passage of time.

He slowly wiped the area covered in his own waste from the back of his hand.

I think.

What on earth is that and why did it appear?

The principle was unknown but a clear connection came to mind.

‘Help.’

That’s because when he called for help it appeared in the air where the original help appeared.

However it didn’t feel as friendly or personable as the help. A cold gaze that is too insensitive to be called hostility.

Overwhelming.

Cheongnyeo slowly closed her eyes and opened them.

What is its purpose?

‘quest.’

I was looking into myself. As if to confirm. and…

‘A statement of intent that covers the air.’

It was a warning.

“…”

Cheongryeo made a cool decision.

‘Are you telling me not to call help?’

It was a reasonable inference because the moment he called for help he appeared as if he responded on his behalf.

He turned his head to see his help still unconscious leaning against the table.

What is the connection?

Should I find out?

Cheongryeo slowly knocked on the table.

Perhaps due to the pressure of the past 67 minutes my fingertips were still slightly numb.

Such a shock…

“It’s been a while.”

“yes?”

Cheongryeo did not reply.

I got the impression that there were a lot of new variables appearing in this restart.

It was annoying to see new elements appear even after repeating it for such a long time but even Cheongryeo was used to it.

Even the fact that any problem can be solved by learning repeatedly.

“hmm.”

So it was the moment when he raised his head and tried to call for help once again.

Cheongryeo’s gaze stopped in midair.

“…”

disappeared.

A pop-up asking if you want to delete the help.

[!Unauthorized error occurred]

Do you want to remove the status window (■■■)?]

Even the red error removal window that always appeared when calling for help had disappeared as if it had melted from his sight.

As if there was no more help.

* * *

In the system.

-Fufu.

Park Moon-dae took a deep breath and approached the terminal.

There was still nothing inside the system and it was quiet. In the center only that one terminal drifted alone like a deserted island.

Some of the terminals he created were not visible because they were on the surface of the system.

In fact it made me feel creepy sometimes but I remembered that I tried my best not to notice it.

‘You worked hard.’

Now I can calmly admit that fact. Still I had enough strength in my heart to be okay.

Park Moon-dae thought that it might be thanks to the blessings given by Sun Ah-hyeon.

Although I didn’t see their pop-up when I logged in here the effect seemed to remain.

‘It may be a placebo but… ’

Still it was okay. He grinned and then reached out to navigate the terminal.

Completion of the analysis was now just around the corner.

If Geodal had been working here instead of him he might not have had this much trouble. However as an outsider I did my best.

He glued himself back to the terminal and began trying to figure out what was inside.

Sincerely and calmly.

'…'

However what was surprising was that even after a considerable amount of time had passed the expected interference did not occur.

'I thought you might call me soon.'

When I was working on the terminal like this I would get a call in the middle of the process at least once every two or three times.

Cheongnyeo used to call for help.

So this time I thought they might call out and disturb me as I was openly online… but strangely enough it was very quiet.

'Of course this time I tried to ignore whatever it was called.'

Rather it was good.

Park Moon-dae decided to stop thinking about random things and focus on the terminal.

He contacted the terminal.

The status window-type sentence that Park Moon-dae first discovered in this terminal is still floating.

[Start reboot]

-Learning in progress.

It was the phrase he had seen before he was dragged here.

And so far Park Moon-Dae has tried to find the source of ‘why’ this sentence was printed.

‘I thought it would be a clue if I knew the reason.’

It was a journey to find some kind of database.

And now the end is in sight.

‘Let’s do it.’

He abstractly closes his eyes and digs into the terminal searching for the starting point as if climbing up his nerves.

Information… Information…

If you reach the point you explored last time and dig up again carefully…!

Tuk.

Caught.

‘That’s it… that’s it!’

Park Moon-dae gritted his teeth and finally took the database he had grabbed out of the terminal.

I felt like my grip would tear from the lack of resistance but I ignored it. And a new terminal was created to display the database.

It wasn’t that difficult anymore.

‘good.’

He exhaled with a feeling of satisfaction that was almost euphoric.

The database status window finally appeared…

[Learning History]

-will to survive

-negotiation

– Confirmation of the holder's wishes

-Quick adaptation

"…"

It looked as if the characteristics were listed in a row.

It was a format familiar to Park Moon-dae as well.

'It's similar to the characteristic drawing roulette.'

It looked like the roulette window he had seen when he was using the system where the randomly selected characteristics were displayed.

He reflexively clicked on one.

-will to survive

:The biological instinct to do anything and do our best to survive as a being.

/Obtained by rebooting.

It was similar this time too. The description continues as if you clicked on the characteristic and looked at it in detail.

And considering the 'How I got it' explanation at the bottom and the fact that the title of this entire list is 'Learning History'…

‘Are you saying the system has learned this?’

This means that the system has learned these things while doing a ‘reboot’ in the meantime.

Park Moon-dae looked through the list with a nervous feeling.

Survival Negotiation Wish Adaptation…

‘Aren’t these all attributes that this bastard already had?’

Isn’t this a type of system similar to a cockroach?

Everything I had experienced so far was written down exactly as it was.

Usually a reboot occurs when a new product is created to make up for shortcomings but for some reason it felt like I was listening to the same spinning song.

‘hmm.’

It was a slightly disappointing sight. Because it didn’t seem like much of a clue.

Of course I had no intention of giving up.

‘Should I analyze the terminal further here?’

It was at that moment when he fell asleep feeling like he was running out of time.

Suddenly one last line was added to the ‘Learning History’ window.

Tiring.

– Longing for the source

Moon-Dae Park reflexively clicked on it.

– Longing for the source

:The desire to somehow reach the essence through persistent analysis and development.

‘what… ’

It was not strange to think that this was also a property of the original system.

‘They say all kinds of bullshit about idols.’

Park Moon-dae lowered his gaze with a disillusioned expression.

Below as before an explanation of how I learned this…

/Obtained by analyzing the terminal.

‘…?’

That was… what Park Moon-dae was doing now.

Even the expression “terminal” was created by himself.

“…”

A chill ran down my spine.

My head felt like it was spinning.

Somewhere… a strange itchy yet ominous feeling…

‘…!’

no way.

Park Moon-dae quickly clicked on other learning details.

And then I gathered the explanations at the bottom and started reading them…

/Obtained through conversation with the holder.

/acquired under threat of deletion.

/Acquired by adapting to a new environment.

The subject was hidden in these words.

And the subject is…

'it's me.'

It was Park Moon-dae.

The situations he has experienced so far while crash-landing in this strange place are organized and listed in systematic words.

Trying your best to survive in this strange situation trying to negotiate with Cheongryeo who has a system getting deleted and trying to adapt to a new body…

Park Moon-dae looked at the terminal in shock as if he had been hit in the head.

[Learning History]

The system was being learned through Park Moon University.

He was learning his own behavior which had become a status window.

So reboot…

‘no.’

Moon-Dae Park realized that the logic was strange.

‘The system is already so new so what is it learning?’

So learning is learning…

‘…’

All you have to do is change the subject.

‘Is it really me who learned it?’

Park Moon-dae realized this.

The system did not learn Park Moon-Dae’s behavior.

Moon-Dae Park learned how the system behaves.

That was the moment when I finally completed the sentence that had no gaps in probability.

-Learning completed

The terminal has changed.

The moment Park Moon-dae confirms it with trembling eyesight.

[System reboot]

My vision turned black.

* * *

It’s dark.

What was I doing?

‘maybe… ’

It didn’t seem like a big deal. There probably won’t be any major problems. I had that feeling.

‘hmm.’

Somehow it wasn’t scarier. I was comfortably immersed in the space as if I was stretching.

This moment felt even more comfortable thanks to the faint feeling that I had been very uncomfortable just before.

‘what?’

I didn’t really want to use my brain. Still if I were to give you a rough guess…

‘I think someone said what they were doing.’

okay.

Maybe I was waiting for something. I nodded and swam again in the empty space.

‘…’

Somehow it seemed like my thinking was becoming slower and slower.

That was okay too. I will wait for the reboot in this crazy space without light or sound without any resistance.

‘Reboot?’

Anyway there was something like that. It’s good.

I felt it was time to stop thinking…

[]

at that time.

A small line appeared in the air.

[-]

It didn't shine like a hologram. It is just a translucent line floating in the air.

However the line gradually becomes longer. Then the edges were brought together to create a small shape.

Rectangular frame.

'…pop-up.'

I watched it like I was fascinated.

White text appears above it.

[Junior.]

The plan of the system is to prevent pop-ups from friends who were giving blessings.

No a pop-up was quietly appearing in a place where I thought it would be.

[Junior.]

It was a familiar name.

Raising a dog that you know will not restart.

'…Cheongnyeo.'

It was Shin Jae-hyun’s title.

Chapter 562

Pop-ups create words again.

[Junior.]

That was the trigger.

Thoughts poured out of my head as if the tape blocking the bottom of the box had been torn off. Another word is connected.

Jaehyun Shin.

Leader of VTIC.

And the reason why this person calls me junior is because I am a competitor in the same profession who debuted later than this person.

That occupation is idol.

The name of the group is…

'Testa.'

okay. I was Park Mun-dae of Testa.

I remembered. I nodded coolly.

And then it stopped. for a moment. You remembered? that…

'…I guess I forgot.'

The moment I realized it I came to my senses with goosebumps all over my body.

-Huh.

Everything became clearer.

I took a deep breath and looked around. I woke up with a cold head.

‘What the fuck is this?’

This was still in the system.

There is only one thing that has changed. The terminal I was analyzing until now is not visible at all.

Instead there was a very simple pop-up floating in the air.

The guy who brought me to my senses.

I opened my mouth right away.

“Cheongnyeo.”

[at las.]

“…what a surprise.”

Seeing how he cut off the conversation and gave his own answer it seemed like he was right.

But it’s funny that even that feels a bit unwelcome.

‘How on earth did he appear here?’

Besides I’d like to know how he’s able to talk to himself normally unlike other guys who show strange descriptions whenever they pop up… but that’s not what’s urgent right now.

I tried to gather myself and frowned again when I realized I had no body.

Meanwhile the pop-up changed its text.

[What is your current situation?]

Let's see.

Let me recall what I saw just before.

A terminal that informs you that you have studied the 'How does the system behave' textbook step by step.

And as soon as the notification 'Starting again with a new version of the system' appeared my sense of self disappeared and I was so foolish.

hmm.

"I'm tired."

I wiped my smile.

"It looks like this guy is trying to make me into the next system."

* * *

[Park Moon-dae (□v□): Recovering Park Moon-dae.]

"Ugh!"

"under…"

In front of raising Dot Park Moon-dae.

People sighed or groaned in relief as they looked at the barely readable screen.

However Park Mun-dae's shape was still a dark lumpy circle.

The only thing that takes shape and sparkles in the dot screen where the background has all been crushed and turned black is Park Moon-dae's will.

Lee Se-jin immediately grabbed Keundal's shoulder.

"Is it possible to bring Mundae here now?"

"I'll check right away."

But there was already someone using the passage first.

It's Cheongnyeo.

The person who snatched the connection almost as if he was threatening him was quietly using the passage without making a movement.

It was an incredible amount of concentration.

Keudal guessed that this was probably possible because as a GM he had greater influence that he could exert directly.

'Still the perceived time will definitely be different… '

Didn't time pass incredibly quickly beyond that?

Thanks to that it seemed almost certain that Park Moon-dae's mark had returned so Geudal opened his mouth with sincerity.

"Thank you for your hard work…!"

But he stopped talking.

Cheongryeo was looking at the pop-up with her eyes wide open.

As if I was shocked.

* * *

[you…]

I'm the one who thought it was weird but somehow the pop-up seemed to mesmerize me. I held back a sigh.

"Come to your senses. "I'll try something before that."

If I were someone who would obediently become part of the system I would have already done so. I was trying so hard to survive this long grit my teeth and find a way to go back but what?

'No way.'

Somehow he will find a way out.

I took a deep breath.

Verify the guess first.

"First of all… it seemed like you guys were preparing something to bring me back to reality. "Is that right?"

The pop-up gave its answer only after a short pause.

[is it so. I was planning to bring my junior after I recovered his stamina.]

The guy became much calmer.

And I understood the answer. So he kept trying to spread energy by giving me blessings and all.

I still don't know what the principle is but it wasn't the right time to ask that.

I spit out the questions I had prepared.

“This is inside the system. “When I was here the other guys didn’t pop up so you can’t try to bring me back to reality here right?”

[okay.]

[So get out of here.]

This is reasonable advice.

Besides there was a record last time where I was encroached into the system and got better when I escaped so I want to escape right away too.

The problem is that you can’t do it as you wish.

“I feel trapped. “I don’t see a way out.”

Moreover I realized now that I was now freely speaking out within the system.

As if it was something that could be done of course.

‘It’s a big deal.’

I got used to it.

Now instead of feeling pressured and rejected I started to feel comfortable as if my limbs were my own.

The ‘waiting time’ was coming to an end.

Good things will come soon…

[Junior.]

Phew.

I came to my senses.

If you mess up about this you will be dragged into it and become X.

I unconsciously tried to wipe away the cold sweat but then realized that I had no body and fell asleep.

But it's even more terrifying because I feel fine.

[It means I can't leave here right now.]

"…okay."

I wanted to close my eyes but there were no eyes. It was rather fortunate. It was better not to let it be known that I was agitated.

I asked calmly.

"How are you talking to me inside the system right now?"

[The position of GM still remains.]

[I used it.]

That was it.

In the system virtual world he had the power to stop time. It seemed obvious that it would be possible to at least display a pop-up within the system.

'But if you overdo it won't that guy get sucked into the system?'

It's nice to see a huge disaster situation where everyone is X.

I added it just in case.

"Just stay and don't do anything useless. "Wait… I'm going to think about it."

Fortunately the pop-up did not disappear. I took a deep breath and lost in thought.

How to escape… How to escape.

‘Fuck you.’

No matter how much I thought about it everything was conceptual and abstract. The only specific thing that comes to mind is that Judan beat me outside to wake me up but is there any way that would work?

Let’s think a little logically.

‘Logically certain… ’

And then a crazy idea occurred to me.

…

“If I become a system won’t I naturally return to reality?”

[Junior.]

No listen.

This is the past where the system already exists. If the purpose is to reboot there is no need to have one more system at this time.

‘No if you think about it it’s impossible to have two systems at the same time. ‘Because system capabilities are going back to the past.’

Isn’t it possible for the two of them to turn back time to the past?

So I think they sent me to the Reset Syndrome era the period when new employees were dispatched to gain field experience as if they were sending out new employees to gain field experience.

“Then if I become a system I will naturally bring it back to reality and make it find a host.”

If it was a reboot that was the answer.

Of course if this happens it will be the system not Park Moon University that will return to reality…

‘Couldn’t we try using this?’

[I don’t think I would say this in a sane way.]

“wait.”

This bastard thought I was completely tainted by the system and hurriedly stopped me before I could take action on my own.

And after talking with him and going through some verification…

“good. “A plan has emerged.”

I broke into a cold sweat and grinned.

first of all.

“Leave me here and get out.”

* * *

A space with nothing.

The new system was completed there.

‘good.’

The wait is over.

Now all you have to do is go back to where you came from and continue doing what you have to do.

Grant your wish and survive.

‘It’s okay.’

The system thought so and nodded. Then I realized that he had no head.

‘hmm.’

It was somehow strange but the system immediately followed its instincts.

Everything was comfortable.

The way back was clear. The pressure you felt when you were drawn into this place will act in the opposite direction the moment you are complete dragging you back to reality.

He naturally went with the flow and let himself go.

Soon the inside of the existing system he was a part of began to distort.

And the environment all around began to swirl rapidly.

‘ah.’

Time and space moved forward rapidly.

Having escaped the inside of the existing system he watched his surroundings flash by and crouched down to avoid being crushed by the pressure of escaping the flow of time.

‘Let’s go back.’

Back to reality.

When I thought of those words my heart strangely felt like it was pounding.

The pressure became stronger and the surroundings swirled faster…

at that time.

Tiring.

[The big moon is calling you.]

silence.

The system looked at the pop-up.

The entire environment is so tight and suffocating that it quickly becomes unrecognizable.

That was the only thing that stood still.

Sweetly.

[The big moon recognizes you.]

You recognize me?

The system stopped giving in to the pressure that was sweeping over it for a moment.

And then as if it had popped up I stopped in place and looked at it again.

‘I looked into it… ’

That fleeting moment.

[The big moon moves you.]

[Target: Park Moon-dae]

Light came out of the pop-up.

‘…!!’

It was as if he saw an illusion of a white hand holding him between them.

But he didn't have everything on his hands. Only a few reached its grasp.

Only you reacted to that pop-up.

Yikes!

Park Moon-dae entered into the hand that was grasping him.

and.

"brother!"

Park Moon-dae raised his head.

It was a familiar officetel.

A living room with the fantastic sunset from "Magical Boy" setting outside the window.

"brother!"

It was his own mental space.

Before his eyes he saw an artificial figure neither Park Moon-dae nor Ryu Geon-woo crackling and glitching.

I've seen it a few times.

This was the appearance of a large moon in the world of imagination.

"ah."

Success.

Park Mun-dae was finally able to hold his face with both hands.

"…"

The prediction was good.

'If I want to return to reality I have to get out of the Cheongnyeonom system.'

Then it was a strategy to bring back the self just before returning to reality at the right time.

Of course it was dangerous.

Park Moon-dae swallowed his saliva remembering that the system and self were almost on the verge of merging.

But soon his face softened.

'But it was successful.'

Look at yourself sitting here.

At that moment the big moon the person who created this world of images was looking at him with a face that looked like he was about to cry.

Park Mun-dae looked at each other and smiled.

He finally met the person he was happy to call Park Mun-dae…

"Hyung are you crazy?! No no! "How can this happen!"

I was grabbed by the collar.

"They said there was no time and without a detailed explanation they just told me to call them when the timing was right but if the timing was wrong my brother would die! The dots keep getting crushed! My brother says he's losing Park Moon-dae! And doing something this dangerous…”

“It’s okay.”

Anyway it was successful.

“Ugh!”

The big moon was furious and tried to shake Park Moon-dae’s collar but ended up crying.

The joy and relief that I couldn’t hold back.

And it was because of fear.

“I only caught the tongue but the system was trying to return to reality anyway… If things continue like this the system and the brother will merge again as soon as we get to reality!”

However instead of getting anxious together Park Moon-dae looked out the living room window.

As if I miss the soft colors of red yellow pink and purple mixed together.

And he opened his mouth with a calm face.

“are you okay.”

“yes?”

“The system will be pulled in the opposite direction.”

Park Moon-dae grinned.

“Because the guy with the system is calling!”

* * *

“Help.”

Cheongryeo moved his mouth and called for help and looked ahead.

The one who asked for this.

“…”

Inyoung who looked exactly like her was standing there without a smile.

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

Chapter 563

A few minutes ago.

Cheongryeo the holder of the system checked the status window for deleting the missing help.

Clean empty space.

He had an unpleasant feeling about something.

‘hmm.’

It was the unpleasantness of an event that was out of control.

Since it was no longer interesting he mechanically immediately called help and tried to confirm the incident in detail.

It was then.

At first I started with the feeling of the back of my hand again.

bite.

Tuk.

It felt similar to when cold sweat dripped down the back of my hand just before. Cheongnyeo lowered her eyes and looked down.

But this time it wasn’t really a cold sweat.

The water passes through the back of the hand and falls to the floor.

Patter.

Before he knew it the floor he was standing on was no longer the hard floor of the living room of an officetel.

The black turbulent surface of the water gently swallows the water droplets leaving no trace.

"…"

When I realized that it was a deep sea with no end in sight.

The idol incarnate was suddenly standing across from the dark officetel.

A wet black shirt and black pants.

The man with Cheongryeo's face looked at Cheongryeo who had the same face as himself but a slightly younger face.

And then he opened his mouth.

[wait.]

Eventually Cheongnyeo realized that Jeong Woo-dan who had been loafing around in the officetel living room had disappeared.

And even the strange pop-up is back.

[The incarnation of the idol is looking at you.]

Cheongryeo…

[Let's not do unnecessary things to each other.]

The idol incarnate declared.

And he looked at the past he had already passed.

My self at a time when I believed that given enough time everything could be captured in a perfect moment forever.

hmm.

[Was it like this?]

The idol incarnate finished speaking with his hand on his chin.

Cheongryeo across from him immediately reviewed all the clues he had obtained.

Same look older face help from the future…

And to sum it all up one very likely hypothesis emerged.

That one.

“Am I the future me?”

The idol incarnate just laughed. And Cheongryeo also twisted the corner of her mouth.

[I don’t think I’m surprised.]

“Because I know it will succeed.”

Cheongryeo spoke calmly as if it was obvious. The idol incarnate also muttered indifferently.

[When restarts are just entering the triple digits… That’s right. Not at times like this.]

“…”

[There are times when the desire to win takes precedence over calculation… It’s not a bad thing but you will learn how to choose accordingly.]

The incarnation of the idol clasped its hands.

[But it would be better to give up the habit of overly trusting your own calculations.]

“How about an example?”

The incarnation of the idol immediately brought out the history of this life that he had seen.

[Why did you force T-Holic to retire due to an accident?]

“…”

That’s right.

During one of the last few restarts Cheongryeo kicked T-holic out of the entertainment industry in a very unnatural way.

There are limits to growing an inherent scandal. Even when the song changed and the relationship with the company worsened T Holic steadfastly survived through public recognition.

So they just kicked him out by touching something outside the stage.

Injuries family problems cruel rumors etc.

Killed without fighting.

-Because it is a less efficient method than expected.

He explained it that way to his helper but in fact Cheongryeo did not completely rule out ‘extreme methods’ even now…

If it is useful use it.

Cheongryeo looked at a face identical to his own without any expression.

“If you were me you wouldn’t know that tea-holic is the biggest obstacle to the mission.”

[is it so.]

The incarnation of the idol readily agreed.

But the smile grew deeper.

[So you should use it.]

“…!”

[Humans easily become lazy without appropriate stimulation and enemies.]

[Only when the competitor right in front of you is so tight that it seems like you can’t reach it you do your best and squeeze every last bit of strength into your work. Giving up on that.]

The incarnation of the idol gave its assessment.

[Because the obstacle disappeared without any sense of reward or accomplishment the four group members would not have learned the pleasure of overcoming it.]

At this time he was so sick of Tea Holic that he chose a convenient and inefficient method.

Unconsciously.

“…”

The expression disappeared from Cheongryeo’s face.

And the incarnation of the idol knew.

This is my face when I hit the nail on the head and understand logically.

It was also something that rarely happened.

[…]

That moment.

‘oh my god.’

Shin Jae-hyun the incarnation of an idol burst into laughter.

Suddenly I understood this situation.

Aren’t you teaching yourself a lesson right now?

‘I’m sure my junior would have done something similar.’

He grinned and muttered.

[At some point I added Judan to the group. Was it something like this?]

The idol incarnation seemed to want to know what his past self meant so he kindly explained.

[This is a story about how I become successful.]

And then he tilted his head slightly as if he was going to talk about something more important…

[ah. Isn’t there something you originally wanted to do?]

“…”

[Try that first. I won’t disturb you this time.]

That’s right.

The reason why Shin Jae-hyun had such a long conversation with his past self whom he had no interest in.

He was taking time to get help to be called at the right time neither too fast nor too slow.

Shin Jae-hyeon recalled the hasty and absurd conversation he had with Park Moon-dae just before.

-The guy with the system at this time… So can you talk to yourself?

-… If possible?

-Then after Big Moon calls me I want Cheongnyeo here to call for 'help'. No matter if you ask or scold unconditionally.

Shin Jae-hyun accepted the offer.

But he knew himself.

'It can't be possible.'

Since he wouldn't listen to me begging or scolding him he chose to control the situation.

And that was correct.

'I will try not to be swayed by the opponent's moves… '

No matter what you say the more suspicious and worthless it is the more likely Cheongryeo will do what he originally intended to do.

Actually my past self is finally opening his mouth with an expressionless face.

"Help."

So the system holder called the system.

* * *

Park Moon-dae's world of imagination.

Two identical figures sitting in the living room turned their gaze when the light outside the window sparkled.

Then beyond the veranda a white line disappears across the fantastic sunset sky of <Magical Boy>.

Visualized separation.

"Shooting star…?"

"It's a system."

I said calmly.

As a member of Park Mun-dae I was separated by the big moon and the leftover parts of the system heard the owner's call and were being pulled out instinctively.

'Shin Jaehyun succeeded.'

I could feel it because it was still connected.

And the Big Moon guy who was once part of my status window in the system nodded in understanding.

But at the same time I felt anxious.

"So you still feel connected even though you're as distant from the system as I am?"

"…"

I nodded slightly.

‘You’re more persistent than I thought.’

I thought that if I did this wrong it could end up being connected to me even when I return to reality and then sticking to me like some kind of bouncy ball.

It means that I only thought and spoke reliably.

“But when we return to reality the remaining systems here will have no choice but to fall apart.”

“I guess so…”

Geodal looked out of the living room with a slightly relieved expression.

It seems that my nervousness is greater than the anger that grabbed me by the collar.

“…”

“…”

Above the slightly dark living room the light of a shooting star flashes past us and goes far away.

I don’t know why that disgusting bastard was implemented as a shooting star. But thanks to that it was much more peaceful.

Inside a quiet officetel.

I sat in the living room and slowly opened my mouth.

“…I’m about to go back to reality.”

“Even now my brother is returning to reality. “I called you.”

Is that so? I didn’t know it was because it was so comfortable.

It was definitely a good thing to be able to comfortably go to reality in an officetel with the scenery I saw when I debuted instead of under the pressure of a vicious system.

I guess it's because this guy called me into the world of imagery.

I saw a large moon and then a shooting star and scenery moving away.

I felt my connection to the system slowly disappearing like a plane taking off.

And the moment you cross the threshold.

Pop.

As the meteor touched the ground from far away I felt a cool sensation.

'okay.'

The system fell apart.

However something unexpected happened.

"uh?"

Instead of hitting the ground and stopping the meteor bounced off and went in the opposite direction.

further.

"…?"

Big Moon who had been staring blankly opened his mouth.

"The system is going further…"I broke up with my brother."

"…"

"If you pull the rubber band and break it the remaining piece will pop out to the other side. "It feels that way."

Let's see.

I am going from now to the future. Then the system debris that goes to the other side is…

"Are we going further into the past?"

"Maybe."

After the episodes that Cheongryeo experienced a shooting star passes the horizon and disappears.

Further into the past further into the past.

"How on earth… does that happen?"

It got smaller.

But somewhere it will stop and the system will do crazy things.

It's as if it clings to me tenaciously even if only fragments remain.

It will try to restore its strength by granting its host's wishes and extracting its energy.

'ah.'

I suddenly realized.

Was that what it was in the first place?

"Is that going to be a complete system?"

“yes?”

The guy who fell away from Park Moon-dae who was in charge of personality and intelligence probably has very uncivilized intelligence and raw strength.

And it will slowly recover by switching hosts… and become the high-intelligence system I encountered.

‘And as I fall away I become primordial waste again and fall into the distant past… ’

It was a cycle.

“In time that will be the system we met.”

“ah…”

Big Moon seemed to slowly understand what was being said but then jumped up with a shocked look on his face.

“So you’re saying we created the system now?”

What are you talking about?

“I can’t say I made it. “The original person is going back to the past having become remnants.”

“Uh… I see.”

Just as we cannot tell whether the chicken or the egg came first we are just looking at the process in between.

But one thing was certain.

“That’s why he can’t come to the future anymore.”

When it reaches this point it returns to the starting point.

In other words the system was something complete that was trapped in this time period.

I smiled faintly.

“I guess there’s really nothing to see anymore.”

It was refreshing.

“then…! “It’s really over.”

okay.

Nodding his head Big Moon let out a long sigh of relief.

The guy’s eyes shone with hope.

But ironically the artificial glitches that popped up all over the guy’s body were still there.

‘This is how this guy perceives himself… ’

Just as a scar remains even after the wound heals this means that the influence he received from the system still remains.

“…”

I straightened my feet and sat down.

There is something I felt after becoming part of the system.

‘When I was there I felt like my identity was completely gone.’

It means that you become very vague as if you have been drinking heavily and have no idea where you are or who you are.

That doesn’t mean I’m being emotional.

‘If you’re human you won’t be swayed by unpleasant stimuli.’

Extremely stable condition.

In short it means that it is closer to an egoless AI than a normal human being.

And I finally had a direct understanding of the psyche of someone who had been in that condition for several years.

“Big moon.”

“yes?”

okay.

In the pop-up we saw earlier the modifier for big moon was big moon.

So the nickname not Ryu Geon-woo or Park Moon-dae was his identity and modifier.

All kinds of different descriptions were given to other guys but this guy had none of them.

I eventually asked.

“You… what do you think your name is?”

“yes?”

“Not a nickname like Big Moon.”

“uh…”

The guy scratched his head as if it was something unexpected and answered.

“Well… I like the big moon. I never really thought about having a name. Ah Ryu Geon-woo! “Ryu Geon-woo is using it.”

“…”

“Tongue hyung. Why are you sighing like that? “It’s scary to be in this situation…”

“You did that before.”

I chanted slowly.

“Park Moon-dae doesn’t really sound like your name. And… when you call me you sometimes call me Geonwoo hyung. “I don’t think Ryu Geon-woo is your name.”

Geoldal still had a look on his face as if he didn’t know why I was bringing this up.

“You’re my brother Geon-woo right?”

“For you… it can happen. But actually Ryu Geon-woo is you now.”

“…”

“And if you look at it that way to me you were Park Mun-dae.”

Nothing about that makes any sense and the face just looks very confused.

“Um… I’m not sure why this story is being brought up. Honestly there are a lot of things that are more urgent right now…”

Big Moon groaned.

In the end I smiled bitterly and said this.

“To you too. “I wish Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae were your names.”

“yes…?”

“It means I want you to be a little more greedy about your identity as a person.”

I remembered sharing my view of the overwhelming audience view from the stage with this guy.

That was the meaning I found while living as a student at Testa Park.

I wish this guy could live his own life and share scenes like that.

Even if it’s a photo or a story.

“So… there is no system anymore. As Ryu Geon-woo I wish you would focus more on life as a person. “What do you like and what don’t you like? Think about that as well.”

“…yes.”

Big Moon nodded.

But it seemed like my words still didn’t really reach his ears.

‘still.’

If you keep doing it you will recover.

If you invest time and money something that shouldn’t happen will happen.

And doesn’t this guy have enough time and money to invest now?

‘Let’s not push it too far now and just talk about it like this.’

“after.”

I got up.

And the timing was finally right.

“brother?”

“Now should I go out and pick you up?”

Shin Jae-hyun played his role well.

Chapter 564

After calling help.

Cheongryeo faced the incarnation of his idol and waited for a response in deep silence.

And the ‘answer’ finally appeared in his field of vision.

Just in an unexpected way.

[■■■■■■■■■■■■]

The holographic window which at first glance could have been mistaken for a help chat pop-up blinked a few times but soon after numerous glitches appeared and disappeared.

As if it had passed him by.

“…”

Cheongryeo calls for help again…

[wait.]

The idol incarnate declared.

There is no reason for Cheongryeo to listen to that. So the moment I tried to ignore it and call it again.

Tung.

The two people who were standing facing each other turned their heads together at the unfamiliar sound.

It was the sound of the front door opening.

A person opens the middle door beyond the hallway of the officetel where the floor has turned into black water and a person comes out.

“…!”

A figure with black hair.

Although he was tall he was thin compared to his physique and had a respectable appearance.

It was a familiar face.

This is because he lives in this officetel and is the same person who collapsed on the table in front of Cheongryeo just moments ago.

Ryu Geon-woo debuted as an actor.

The party he had just called.

“Help.”

The man turned his head and looked at Cheongryeo.

And Cheongryeo realized. The impression was somehow different.

The eyes were soft.

Even though it looks like he might suffocate from fatigue at any moment there is no hint of cool-headed reason.

Instead a man with a gentle and wholesome appearance crossed the front door and walked down the hallway with brisk steps.

Just like any other person.

“…”

at that time.

-It's not that way it's this way.

A strong voice rang out.

Behind the black-haired man another person opened the door and came in. Bright dyed hair sways as it crosses the threshold.

A blond man with a boyish look.

Park Moon-dae laughed.

-Did you call me?

It was a cool smile over the familiar dry expression.

Movement and speech.

Cheongryeo realized this reflexively.

This is help.

[The figure has returned.]

-uh.

Park Moon-dae omitted the statement 'This is an image world you created with your GM abilities so isn't it just a manifestation of the image you are familiar with?'

Instead he waved his hand at the incarnation of his idol.

-It's all over.

[…]

Before the system goes further back in time and your GM abilities disappear as well.

…More than anything because Park Moon-dae himself gritted his teeth desperately and held on for this moment to come.

I couldn't delay any longer.

-Let's go back.

Shin Jae-hyeon the incarnation of an idol chuckled.

[What I have to say.]

He walked forward without hesitation. that

Wherever the footsteps touched a parabola spread across the water. Until it reaches the toes of Cheongryeo standing across from her.

"…"

Cheongryeo watched the scene silently and opened her mouth.

And I asked a fundamental question toward the help that appeared in an unfamiliar way.

"Who are you?"

Park Mun-dae looked at Cheongryeo.

-brother. Our time…

-know.

In fact there was no time or space to explain this situation.

But I can leave this saying.

He grinned.

-Members of four rival groups.

We will meet soon.

Then I turned around again and walked towards the front door.

Watching the movement Cheongnyeo became conscious of the other person's clothing for the first time.

Shiny accessories and long walkers are too much to use comfortably in everyday life. Well-set blonde hair.

And the outfit of a white shirt and shiny black leather pants was familiar to Cheongnyeo as well.

stage costumes.

'ah.'

Cheongryeo suddenly realized.

It was an idol's outfit.

-See you again.

Just like that the three people opened the front door side by side and exited the past.

"after."

Park Moon-dae exhaled.

I returned to the officetel in the imaginary world where the fantastic sunset from "Magical Boy" unfolded beyond the black front door.

He heard Shin Jaehyun mumbling.

"It's too bad but I don't remember your junior's declaration of rivalry.

“Because I deleted the information.”

“…From where to where.”

“Junior so… everything related to ‘help’.”

It meant that he exercised his GM authority for the last time in erasing his past memories.

Shin Jae-hyeon’s choice was reasonable because too many crazy situations occurred to leave it as is.

‘Even so this is a virtual world or data inside the system.’

Park Moon-dae said it out loud without even thinking about it.

And surprisingly this answer came back.

“hmm? no. “The past is correct.”

“…??”

“So it’s better that I erased my own memory than to create unnecessary variables.”

Park Mun-dae stopped in shock.

‘It was really the past?’

Meeting Cheongryeo meeting Joo Dan and even debuting as an actor with a ridiculous stage name all those things really happened?

‘oh my god.’

My head was dizzy.

But he soon calmly took his steps again.

No matter what he did he erased everything from Cheongryeo's memory anyway.

'Besides if I restart everything I did will be in vain.'

It was a bit empty but I also felt fortunate.

However Shin Jae-hyeon's words were not finished.

"But… even if you don't remember it it will remain in your subconscious. "It must have been a very special episode."

"…!"

So if you repeat the restart again and again the unconsciousness will naturally become a hint for new development.

Also about Tea Holic.

Also about casting.

"Hmm I don't think it will affect me slightly."

Just as the slightest touch on the direction control lever of a speeding airplane changes the route it takes.

"…"

'Is that so?'

Park Moon-dae seemed to have now realized the reason why Cheongryeo's characteristic 'emotion' fell from S in the past to A in the present.

Cheongnyeo… Over time you will come to accept that it is sometimes necessary to reconsider your judgment.

Like appointing a member of the main group.

“You will be wiser.”

“Of course.”

Shin Jaehyun smiled.

“In the end we develop the habit of starting over even when we think we will succeed in order to create a perfect group without a single blemish.”

“…”

“You quit after meeting your junior right?”

How clumsy?

Park Mun-dae shrugged his shoulders.

“So… what are your thoughts on seeing yourself in the past?”

“Now that I can see it with my own eyes I can understand it again.”

“Is it better to quit now than to be able to restart again?”

Shin Jae-hyun stared at Park Moon-dae without expression.

But soon he burst into laughter.

“that’s right.”

“…”

Park Moon-dae also smiled.

I didn’t feel bad.

Keoldal who was watching the scenery outside the living room with a more at ease look heard a shout from behind him.

“We’ll be there any minute now!”

“okay.”

Park Moon-dae took a deep breath.

It seemed like I could see familiar faces beyond.

* * *

The first thing I grabbed was a firm hand.

“brother.”

I blinked.

And then I realized who the owner of the hand was.

“Brother Cheongwoo.”

I grabbed his hand and pulled myself up.

Relief joy and a bit of overwhelming emotion passed over his face.

And then screams cheers and groans erupted. I expected such a warm welcome…

“ah.”

“Are you out of your mind? “Are you crazy?”

“I was scared that I wouldn’t be able to come back…!”

puck. Puk puk.

Fists and hand blades rain down mercilessly on my back.

‘Please save me.’

I'm going to fall down again.

Of course that won't happen. Because I know that these guys are like this because they were all extremely worried.

"I'm so glad…"

"…"

I happily decided to endure it.

"Is there anything wrong with Park Moon-dae's body? "Check it now."

"Hmm I'm fine."

It only hurts where you hit. Instead of answering Keun Se-jin like that I gave him a serious reply.

Bae Se-jin grinned with a flushed face.

"If it had been a little later I would have tried pouring ice water on it."

"…"

I'm glad I woke up before that.

"Mu water! It's Mundae. "Drink water…!"

"ah!"

To be honest I wasn't that thirsty but I calmly drank the water that Sun Ah-hyeon offered me and checked the time.

5:30 PM.

The sun was slowly setting.

And looking at the state of my body it was clear that less than a day had passed since I collapsed.

‘thank god.’

It is true that the flow of time is different.

Personally I was curious as to how these guys gave their blessings but…

“It would be best to go to the hospital right away.”

“Let’s do that.”

“…”

Since it seemed like I had a lot of work to do I decided not to ask for now.

I accepted the candy that Cha Yu-jin who had a calm face offered me while using advanced Korean to say ‘Supplement your sugar.’

As expected he is quick-witted and calm…

“Brother I completely respect your privacy. But my brother’s SF stuff is an exception. “We have to share.”

“…”

“This is for emergencies.”

Are you coming?

I willingly shared the facts with the guys who all stopped talking and turned around.

truth.

“I don’t have any SF stuff anymore. “It’s all over.”

“…!”

Speaking itself was thrilling.

Of course the reaction was like this.

“Really??”

“…If something strange happens again are you going to say something else?”

“Mundae. “Can you swear on the testa?”

I really can’t believe it.

“Oh really.”

I popped the candy into my mouth.

The sweet taste of apple spread in my mouth.

“I… I threw it all away.”

Now I have no system.

Debris status ailments and control.

And the compulsion to use useless systems has disappeared.

The system that used to eat hot and cold bean sprouts was no longer clean.

I grinned and savored the taste of the candy.

“Now I just have to work hard on my activities.”

"…!!"

Only after Geoldal had verified several times that what I said was true did they acknowledge this fact in both exasperation and joy.

…I was sorry and thankful.

And that evening.

I finally returned to my dorm and found my bed.

'I missed you so much.'

I massaged my doll with my hands and lifted the tablet PC.

"The experience of mistaking my brother's bed for my spare bed and then feeling logically strange was truly terrifying!"

"…sorry."

I'm serious.

After apologizing to my roommate I lay in bed for a while and monitored the Internet.

-Mundaeng… Anyway it's like I'm not a collection (video)

-Open for business. Come see the 50-second fancam of the legendary Park Moon-dae.

Testa Park Mun-dae was there well.

I also heard that the whole world forgot about me but when I came back the symptoms seemed to have disappeared.

'No one realized it had happened in the first place.'

Of course I honestly got goosebumps when I looked at the records that naturally treated me like I was nobody.

-6 testers please let's stay like this forever

At the same time I felt relieved.

Because I came back well so it wouldn't end like this.

To my seat.

"Then while listening to the demo of the song I was working on I noticed my brother's absence. Thanks to the extremely wide vocal range and expressive tone it was easy to recall the characteristics of someone who could sing the song…"

"Ravin."

"yes?"

"thanks."

"…??"

I patted Raebin Kim's head.

And after monitoring we spent time watching Testa's group entertainment.

For your information the other members weren't as upset or angry as they were when the building collapsed. Even the big guy with an unappealing face just acted like he always did.

'Are you being considerate of my mental and physical stability?'

Instead he brought snacks and sat down next to me and we lay down and watched TV together.

The most recent Testa own content.

[Lee Se-jin: Oh please God of archery.]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: Hahaha.]

On the screen Testa is throwing a dart. The purpose was to choose a song to perform while wearing funny makeup on the streets of an overseas country.

Of course I'm in it too.

[Lee Se-jin: Aaaaa!!]

[Cha Yu-jin: Archery God! Archery God! ohhhhhh!]

[Park Moon-dae: Are you good at all long-distance attacks?]

Ryu Cheong-woo hit the center of the dart and won a huge song keyword called 'Last Year's Billboard No. 1 Song' and then I threw the dart to set the date.

And I chose a famous song.

The song is famous for its addictive chorus that whispers as if possessed by a ghost. It was a gloomy song full of ambition to catch a betrayed lover and send him to hell.

But this should be sung in the carol version.

[Lee Se-jin:…]

[Ryu Cheong-woo:…]

[Cha Yu-jin: Moon Dae-hyung I really have no luck.]

[Park Moon-dae: I guess so.]

"Hahaha!"

[Park Moon-dae: (Singing sweetly that I'm going to kill you)]

[Bae Se-jin: I never thought I would succeed in turning this song into a carol…]

[Raebin Kim: Thank you!]

[Bae Se-jin: (A person who cannot bear to say that it was not a compliment)]

[Bae Se-jin: Thank you…]

"Sigh."

It was funny and comfortable as always.

What happened was that each member was so unique that everyone could see who was who.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Then I will play Rudolph…!]

[PD: Because you are a deer?]

[Seon Ah-hyeon: ! (Enlightenment)]

"It's the truth."

"okay. There's nothing to be ashamed of. "Ahyeon."

"Thank you…"

That was fine.

I looked back on Testa's activities until that night.

…It was fun. really.

After a few days of coordination between members Testa briefly stopped external activities and took a break to practice.

It was to help me regain the sense of choreography and choreography that I may have forgotten while I was stuck in the past.

‘I will recover within a week.’

I gritted my teeth and recovered and meanwhile the end of the year was approaching.

And there was a day to meet before that.

December 15th.

It’s Park Moon-dae’s birthday.

Chapter 565

Choreographic rehabilitation went smoothly.

Anyway my body was only stretched out for half a day. So all I had to do was bring back the part that I had forgotten about in the past half a year.

'It took just one day to put together the choreography for the event.'

…Of course I felt a bit dizzy when I realized that the half-day stretch of space was the JSA military visitation room.

'I thought this guy's military life was going to hell.'

However I remained calm.

-It's nothing to worry about but hmmm… If you're so sorry should you just do me a favor to ease the burden on your heart?

-What is it?

-I wish you could listen to this Testa album before it is released.

Dismissed.

'Where are you going to eat raw?'

I almost fell over trying to retrieve your fragment. Have you left your conscience in the past?

In any case as he was calm the controversy over Cheongryeo's 'celebrity preferential treatment' is not on the chopping block and is quiet.

It means that it was blocked like an iron bar.

‘What a bastard he is.’

My teeth grind when I think about meeting the VTIC who will be discharged next year. Before that I once again made it a point to make a proper annual plan.

Thinking about the competing groups made my head spin.

Now that I think about it I also remember that there is one more person in that position who belongs to a competing group other than Testa.

Even though it was a video call.

-I’m so glad brother… Wow I’m really excited… I’m going to drink beer with the kids today.

-But I thought I was watching some kind of movie. You know that space movie? Was it Inter

Gold 2 Heeseung Kwon.

In the meantime it seems like he remembered me and stuck around even making a video call saying he wanted to help me in any way possible.

-Now that I think about it our group name sounds the most like space. Spacer…

-…??

Even though I became more and more relaxed and started talking more and more in a stream of consciousness.

Anyway he was relieved about my condition and left to do his schedule.

Since we are in the same agency I really plan to do something for this guy.

Then what do you plan to do to Testa who is in the same group and went down to the level of Goddess and saved my life?

…Of course I had a plan.

“One more time!”

“okay.”

There is no time. This is because these guys are now fully cooperating with my choreographic rehabilitation.

‘It’s a bit excessive.’

Recently it seems like we’re all practicing together almost at the level of a team training camp like <Azusa>.

It’s true that this is the best way to coordinate group dance but honestly I feel like I’m wasting too much of their time.

“Okay it fits perfectly now.”

“uh. “I think I can do it alone now.”

“Oh~ Are you getting into the habit of trying to do everything on your own again?”

“…”

I kept my mouth shut.

It seems like this big guy is craving someone every hour but I can’t say anything to refute him. Isn’t it true that I almost fell?

‘Let’s think about the price of his life and be thankful.’

When I think of the people who persistently looked into me and showered me with blessings my anger subsides.

Besides this guy keeps his mouth shut like this but he is a bit dedicated and cooperative when it comes to choreography practice so I guess that's why.

If I feel better I'll quit. I leisurely drank water.

Of course this peace of mind probably comes from the disappearance of the system.

I recalled how Ryu Geon-woo in other words checked me before parting ways and declared in a trembling voice:

-Nothing at all. brother. Clean… gone!

-… okay.

It was refreshing.

One thing that's a bit disappointing is that you can't chat with him telepathically but that's something modern civilization can do.

'It's not like putting your smartphone on a barbecue and eating it.'

Since then we have been exchanging greetings through phone calls and messages.

-Brother I paid my annual leave and came to Sokcho to have fun! The winter sea is pretty so take a picture and send it to me.

Ryu Geon-woo seems to be doing well.

"Thank you for your hard work~"

"thank you."

By the time about three days had passed I had easily caught up with the practice of the specially arranged version of the new song for the year-end performance.

There were photo shoots in between but there was no need for rehabilitation. Because this is what I did while working as an actor.

However when I explained this fact some members were embarrassed.

“Wait a minute so it all felt like real time to you?”

“Of course.”

“You really debuted as an actor?”

“yes.”

Still Bae Se-jin seemed a little excited for some reason. After that every time we had a break he would talk about this topic subtly.

Other than that the schedule was being organized smoothly without any surprises.

Testa Park Moon-dae’s life gradually returned to normal again.

…Maybe it’s quicker because it doesn’t take a day or two to get back to your daily life after being treated like such nonsense by the system.

Anyway.

‘It’s peaceful.’

Break time. I lay down on the floor of the dance practice room and blinked.

It was extremely comfortable except that the sense of stability made people feel tired.

Ryu Cheong-woo and Cha Yu-jin voluntarily went to buy drinks to get some fresh air so after putting an iced coffee in the spout you can drink cold water again and practice like a sober person.

Sweet.

“I’m back.”

Oh and just then the door opens and two guys come in.

A carrier with a drink in my hand… no.

‘That looks like some kind of box.’

He was holding a cuboid wrapped in wrapping paper.

As I was wondering about that the box was suddenly pushed in front of my eyes.

“…??”

It was large but no one could tell that it was the size of an Americano.

‘What is it?’

As I reflexively stood up Ryu Cheng-wu who held out the box opened his mouth.

“Mundae. happy birthday.”

“…”

ah.

I see. Today was… the day before Park Moon-dae’s birthday.

‘Did you pretend to go out on purpose to bring a gift?’

Sure enough there was no drink in Cha Yu-jin’s hand as he came in behind him. Instead something huge and packaged is held in both hands.

Moreover the other guys also sneaked back and took out something so it looked like the two bulky guys were going out to get it without being noticed.

“…thank you.”

I accepted the gift box handed out by Liu Chengwu.

When I opened it what was inside was a dart.

This is a customized product of the same dart that we used to select performance songs in the last entertainment show.

My signature sparkled in the reflected light at the end of the yellow and wooden dart.

“Actually I was thinking about giving it to my brother on the 8th his birthday… but I thought the fans would like it better if I gave it to them all during the celebration period.”

And Ryu Cheong-wu grinned saying that he thought it was a good idea to wait.

“…”

It was correct.

“Let’s use these darts well until we beat you.”

“of course.”

The guy who was good at all long-distance attacks happily answered. I chuckled.

“OK. Now accept my gift!”

And from that moment the gifts they prepared started pouring in.

“doll?”

“Yeees.”

The gift Cha Yu-jin gave me was just like porcelain.

It was an oversized tiger doll wearing sunglasses.

I can already see the future. This is public. I’ll be using it as a cushion under the living room sofa.

“…I heard you like apples. “They say it also has that apple scent.”

“Oh I bought one with apples in it too~”

Bae Se-jin gave her a diffuser from a brand she said she often uses and Keun Se-jin gave her a brand of sweatshirt. It had a comfortable texture printed with a picture of a large apple.

It was kind of fun to see these guys pick a similar theme every time and go through the opposite process.

“…dress well. “Mundaemun University.”

“thanks.”

I chose the sweatshirt as my practice uniform.

And the next guy…

“If you would just give me a little time…!”

“It’s not your birthday yet Ravin.”

For reference Kim Rae-bin who was standing hesitantly behind him stopped him because he looked like he was going to bow loudly saying ‘I’m still preparing.’

“Here.”

Lastly Sun Ah-hyun gave a set of icing cookies along with a muffler.

The surprising thing is… the latter was also handmade.

“Seon Ah-hyun made it?”

“…! “Ahyeon?”

“I only did the decorations…!”

“phew.”

Why do you look visibly relieved?

‘Funny guys.’

And so the gift giving ceremony came to an end.

“I’ll say it again happy birthday Mundae.”

I looked at the bundles of presents that were difficult to lift with both hands and then I looked at the wrapping paper strewn on the floor.

‘When did you even bother giving this away in the dance practice room when you were going to clean it up again?’

Of course I know why.

Because it’s a birthday celebration.

I guess they did it to create a special feeling.

I probably tried to make it as fun as possible taking into account my mental stability and stability.

“Let’s make the cake tomorrow.”

“…yes.”

“Flavor is a secret. “Even if Moon Dae asks me I don’t answer.”

“okay.”

So I returned home to my dorm with a bag full of unexpected gifts.

Is it because all these things have happened in just half a year or is it because I really thought I might die?

Strangely enough the feeling of elation did not go away.

‘What is this?’

It’s not like any concert.

Even the happy birthday messages that were already posted on my social media timeline upon arriving at my accommodation added to that feeling of elation.

-A star born in winter and as beautiful as snow (photo)

-I’m glad Park Moon-dae is in the world so the end of the year isn’t cold (curled puppy meme)

There are overflowing with various writings and photos of people with different personalities and speaking styles.

All those different expressions ultimately meant happy birthday to me.

“…”

Eventually I sat down at my desk and started typing on the keyboard.

For a slightly early birthday letter.

-Hello Lover.

I'm at Mundae

Adding a dog emoticon to the end completes the sentence that I always use.

It felt awkward but not bad to see that so many people shared the feeling that this formula was familiar.

-Now just by reading the first line you feel like me. You've been writing like this ever since you debuted. I would be proud if Park Moon-dae immediately came to mind.

I hesitated and added the next line.

-And this is a letter that Mundae sends to Loveure in commemoration of his birthday.

A letter written by Park Moon-dae.

What follows is the way of speaking and writing that befits the image of Testa Park Moon-dae that I have created since my debut.

It means that I tried with all my might to appear naturally gentle.

-How was the time you spent with me this year?

I really liked it and I wish Lover would do the same.

First I will leave evidence that I liked it. Ta-da.

Now the idol's speaking style that comes out comfortably has even come to a natural conclusion.

'Now if I attach a photo behind this… '

"…"

I paused for a moment.

I know fans will actually like the photo better.

This time though.

-Perhaps normally I would attach a photo taken with the members here and visit Loveviewer through a live broadcast but today I'm going to try something a little different.

as soon as.

-Continue writing.

I wrote down what came to mind more honestly and at length than before.

– Lover.

I am happy because I am Testa's Park Mun-dae.

When performing on stage practicing or performing a concert it is very fun and enjoyable to show something to Lover after going through a difficult and difficult process.

I want to stay as Testa for a long time.

I like the members and I like the album we are making.

No I didn't intend to write this honestly.

I almost stopped typing because I was a little embarrassed by the way the text was written but I got over the embarrassment and continued writing.

Even if I change it later I wanted to write it down right now.

-Sometimes when we take a vacation and leave the Testa accommodation we feel… empty or even regretful.

(Please keep this a secret.)

After talking about such ridiculously embarrassing things I finally get to the main point that I really wanted to write.

-And there is the most important thing.

Above all I am happy that there are lovers who read this long article to this point.

As for who it is.

-You.

The one who will read this article.

-Today there is someone who is happy that I am in this world and congratulates me. It's unbelievable.

Actually it's a good thing that I wasn't born on this day.

I just realized… it was uplifting to see people celebrating and celebrating my birth.

So much so that these embarrassing sounds keep coming out.

-It's a bit embarrassing but I really wanted to tell you.

I pressed down hard on the keyboard and completed what I wrote.

And I endured the screaming.

"…are you crazy?"

Since my debut no not since I was born I have never written something with such early morning emotion.

'Not even teenagers.'

I covered my eyes and fell asleep.

But… but.

“…”

‘I don’t want to reduce it.’

I finally took my hands off the keyboard.

And then I pressed Save.

Finally a few hours later midnight.

The article was uploaded without modification.

-So… for this reason I want to continue to live according to your idol’s style.

Thank you always. And I love you.

With the last phrase.

– Testa Park Mun-dae to Loveviewer

* * *

“Mundaemun University.”

“what.”

“To post such a confession on the internet even though it’s a secret from the members is truly a feat worthy of an idol.”

“…”

“Lovers are going crazy about how cute they are… Oh! Ouch! No praise! “It’s a compliment Mundaemundae!”

It’s noisy.

I quickly fled to the room before the others joined the ranks… no I made a strategic retreat.

‘after.’

Fortunately Kim Rae-bin was almost absorbed into the PC while working on a song and I was able to successfully lock the door and sit on the bed.

‘Maybe I should have left out the member sounds.’

…Well it wasn’t bad to see the big guy running around like before.

I decided to enjoy a moment of silence remembering that in a little while the people who came would see this and start laughing and talking.

Actually that wasn’t the only message I sent at midnight.

widely.

I turned on my smartphone and checked the message I had sent earlier.

-Happy birthday.

-Park Moon-dae wishes Ryu Geon-woo to always be happy and joyful.

It was a text message sent to Keundal.

The Park Mun-dae I know. To the guy who is now Ryu Geon-woo.

‘I probably received congratulations from my acquaintances on Ryu Geon-woo’s birthday on December 8th… ’

Still wouldn’t it be a different experience to receive congratulations on the same day as someone who knows your original birthday?

Just like I did before.

“…”

And there was a reply to that text.

-thank you.

It’s short but you might want to start there.

I smiled and closed the text message.

Around the time I was so briefly lost in sentiment.

“Hyung Moon Dae!”

I’m surprised.

Before I knew it I had taken off my headset and made eye contact with Raebin Kim who was looking this way.

for a moment.

‘I’m sure this guy doesn’t plan on making fun of me either.’

But I’m sorry for doubting this. This was the business he had called me for.

“Here… I just finished the last one!”

“…this.”

“This is a song about my older brother.”

I accepted the headset held out by the squinty-eyed guy.

A sound that delicately resonates in your ears comes out of the laptop through the score.

“…”

“It’s a birthday present!”

wait for a sec.

I really appreciate it and it’s a gift that’s almost touching even for someone like me but is this… my solo song?

“Oh I didn’t compose it specifically but… there are a few parts I want Moon Dae to sing. For example here…”

“for a moment.”

“…?”

“So… this is a song you just made as you wanted without any restrictions.”

“Yes!”

“…”

I rubbed my chin.

“Ravin.”

“yes?”

“This is it.”

“…?”

The next comeback theme has been decided.

Chapter 566

I declared.

“…So we quickly gathered a test team.”

Clap clap clap…

Raebin Kim was clapping alone but stopped when he noticed.

The other members are all sitting at the kitchen table with expressions like ‘??’ written on their faces.

“suddenly…?”

“hmm. “Do you want to go on a trip?”

no.

“It’s about an album.”

At that moment everyone had a look of ‘yes that’s right’ on their faces.

However in that they don’t get angry they are truly a group of workaholics. I nodded with inner satisfaction.

For reference this is how the members react after using their heads after this spinal reflex.

“…wait for a sec. “We already have plans for the album.”

“I know. “The schedule would be early next year.”

That’s right. In fact work on Testa’s next album was already in progress.

This is because the previous title ‘Hunting’ was a mini album not a full-length album so it was time to release a full-length album.

That was set for early to mid next year.

‘Of course it’s normal not to go this hard.’

As this year approaches there are many cases where I wonder whether or not I should make a comeback once a year in order to minimize image consumption.

Well… actually it’s not just a problem of image consumption.

‘The company doesn’t invest.’

There is no longer a need to be as aggressive as when growing a group. This is because a successful group can leisurely eat away at the recognition and fan base it has already built up.

So all the producing staff with proven planning skills are taken away to develop new talent and things like that.

In fact didn’t we almost get hit when we were part of T1?

‘Of course that doesn’t happen now because we share the shares in this company.’

After all money is the best. It’s as hearty as soup.

Anyway I nodded and opened my mouth.

The album comes out next year. but.

“But before that something came up that I wanted to do.”

Then suddenly several members swallowed their saliva.

‘…?’

What is it?

"…I wonder if there will be some kind of controversy!?"

"Gosh… Are you sure we can't win the grand prize?"

"…"

Even Sun Ah-hyun nodded at me with a serious expression.

"It's radish. "If a problem arises… it would be best to talk about it together first and then respond."

"…"

Are you wondering if this is karma?

So far every opinion I have expressed has been linked to politics to escape the crisis. I understand.

But this time is different.

I rubbed my cheek.

"Actually this is not an opinion based on grades or goals like before."

"…?"

"It's been like that every time so far so I want to try something a little different this time."

Big Sejin who had been listening quietly opened his mouth.

"What if it's something else?"

"I just thought it would be nice if we did what we wanted to do."

"…!"

“Without any other calculations.”

This is because I realized something after experiencing a recent incident.

‘It is true that the members of this group come together incredibly well.’

It would be rare to find a team where everyone is passionate about group activities and has unique personalities who don’t cross the line and get along well every day.

But to be honest if even those guys are active at this level isn’t it likely that they will burn out at least once and say ‘Yes I won’t do it.’

‘No matter how good a person you are if you keep doing the same thing you can’t help but feel a moment of skepticism.’

I’ve been working at the same job for 7 years but I’m always passionate about my work and always feel motivated? You have to wonder if he drank the medicine.

‘But Testa is doing that now.’

…And in my opinion the reason why no one shows their skepticism about work even for a moment is because there is another stimulus.

It’s simple.

‘It’s because I keep falling over.’

From car accidents to time-traveling virtual worlds and even being trapped in a collapsing building.

At this point wouldn’t working in the entertainment industry be like a sweet drink? Now that I’ve come back from the dead I’m sure you’ll be mistaken like that.

It’s funny that there are good things about such strange experiences

but…

‘But that’s over now.’

Now that the system is gone the most frustrating and frustrating situations we will ever experience will come out of activity.

I thought it would be good to take some time to reorganize my mind before that.

“I hope you don’t be too analytical and just try activities that you like.”

“…”

“That’s it. Of course if you object I will give in.”

Everyone was silent for a moment probably not expecting something like this to come out.

okay. I knew it wasn’t the right thing for me to say. I have to bring out all the words I have prepared and really persuade them…

“okay. “I think it will be fun work!”

No I will cancel. One guy immediately jumped out with his hand raised. It was Kim Rae-bin.

As expected of a guy with no sense…

‘for a moment.’

I looked at the guy’s expression again.

Raebin Kim was making a puzzled expression with slightly red ears.

It was a common gesture when risking some embarrassment.

"…"

okay. Everyone is keeping their mouths shut but there's no way they won't notice.

I just quickly responded that I would support my opinion.

'…a naive guy.'

However the unexpected things did not end there.

"Oh Kim Raebin you're fast! I like it too. None of us have strange tastes. are you okay."

"…That's true. "There won't be anything you can't use."

Following Cha Yu-jin Bae Se-jin also responded with interest after thinking about it carefully naturally heightening the atmosphere.

Even guys who say strange things.

"I also want to follow my heart at least once… and do it together…! My answer was a little late because I didn't know how to talk about this. "It's a door."

"I know. "It's a little strange but… I think it's really nice that you decided to try something like this."

"…thank you."

Once answers began to emerge opinions quickly gathered.

I was a little embarrassed.

'…I thought I'd have to convince you.'

It was just recently that I almost ended up alone.

I thought that if I suddenly acted out of the ordinary like this I would naturally have to persuade those who were more suspicious through various logic.

And Big Sejin also smiled and opened his mouth.

“Me too~ To be honest I never thought Park Moon-dae of the world would say something like this.”

hey.

‘You have different nuances don’t you?’

However Big Sejin also shrugged his shoulders and opened his mouth with a smile.

“Well I still believe that Mundae won’t do anything harmful to the group.”

“…!”

“Is that so?”

Suddenly I looked around.

Everyone seemed to have no reason to refute Big Sejin’s words.

I can be sure when I see Cha Yu-jin shouting ‘Yes’ with a sad face.

‘ah.’

I see.

And then I realized.

I don’t know anything else but the belief that I won’t make a choice that will have a negative impact on this group… seems to have been built up well so far.

“Right Mundaemun University?”

“…of course.”

…I was thankful.

While I was a little impressed Big Sejin smiled and continued.

“Just give it a try without regrets.”

“okay.”

“what. “You all know that if you don’t get the Cultural Merit anyway Brother Sejin will be going to the military next year right?”

“…”

“…”

“So before that let’s do it without any regrets.”

Bae Se-jin nodded with a blank expression. I touched my forehead.

‘I guess you wanted to object.’

Keun Se-jin smiled wryly as he said ‘First of all everyone is responding well and you’re good at your job so I’ll give it a try but you know that activities that don’t produce results at this point are meaningless.’

What’s surprising though is that he didn’t actually object until the end.

That made me think about many things.

“good. Then if the company says it can afford it let’s do it.”

“yes!”

Liu Chengwu’s words concluded.

I looked around.

The now familiar friendly gazes were looking at me.

These guys… have a way of getting people excited unnecessarily.

So I declared more cheerfully than I expected.

“Let’s do everything we want to do.”

* * *

Everyone is busy at the end of the year and the beginning of the year.

Of course Testa was also busy running around and attending music programs and award ceremonies.

-Raebin Kim’s intro was ripped (Rabbit Hole performance video)

-Lemon Music Awards Park Moon-dae (1) (photo)

-T-One guys look at how they don’t even call Testa. It’s disgusting haha.

I think I’ll be grinding my teeth after seeing Testa’s ending performance on SBC.

Content poured in every week. A new remix stage fresh solo intro and performance! People were happy.

Testa seemed to have gritted his teeth and prepared special stages as usual and that alone was enough to fill his stomach.

-Good new year~ January is my favorite month~

-Ah the AAB test isn’t coming out this time? Okay bye…

Anyone could see that it was impossible to produce new content in this situation at the same time. And no one is thirsty for content.

‘It hasn’t even been that long since our comeback!’

There was no demand or expectation from fans.

That was the situation.

One day when I was in the middle of chatting after watching the testimonials at the awards ceremony a music video suddenly popped out without warning.

-Hey something popped up!!

Park Moon-dae’s first homemaker blinked as he hurriedly looked at his smartphone leaving behind the photo he was editing when a friend from graduate school contacted him.

There really was something floating around in the notification.

[TeSTAR ‘Epic’ Official MV]

“…Epic?”

It was a term that seemed to be attached to hip-hop survival or mobile game items.

Considering that the former is usually used to express a strong and unique self and the latter is used to reinforce the concept of a ‘precious item’…

‘hmm. It’s like Testa.’

As expected from Testa it seemed like something strong and conceptual had come out again.

‘Now that I think about it it’s like Testa that comes out of nowhere.’

It has now become quite a tradition.

Homma thought so but closed her eyes for a moment.

‘Mundae it would be nice if there was a lot of content… but you can save the good stuff.’

For the off-season.

‘If it is distributed incorrectly it may only lose popularity… ’

However she couldn’t hold back her curiosity about something that had already come out so of course she had already pressed play.

‘It won’t be a regular album but a pre-release or something like a collaboration.’

I expected it to be something that had to be revealed now.

Talk.

The screen started with the clear sound of water.

The emotional video with a retro 4:3 aspect ratio began with a cut of Ryu Cheong-woo’s upper body who seemed to be asleep while leaning on a chair.

What the thin sunlight illuminates in the background is… a brown tent.

‘hmm?’

That’s right. Liu Chengwu was lying on a chair in a huge leather tent that looked more like something used in modern times than modern camping.

“uh…”

Homma admitted. I think the concept was right.

‘Now if only a strong song comes out… ’

However the accompaniment that began to play was a bright and cheerful sound that was pleasant to listen to.

Classic guitar sound.

“…!!”

Rather than being soft a country-style sound that bounces like a pulsating sound finds its note.

In the middle of it all the drums come in as if they are overwhelming.

With Ryu Cheong-woo’s speaking vocals.

[The heavy yesterday was

It felt like it would never end perfect today

It never came.]

And in the screen the person stands up from the chair and looks at the desk.

Above the scattered maps telescopes inkwells books and lamps a single piece of paper is pinned to a board.

-Citizenship certificate

And flashback cuts that quickly pass by in time with the rhythm.

A book recording shooting arrows and monsters a red-haired figure hanging on a running steam locomotive a newspaper and a wanted badge…

It seemed like the flow was just telling me that I was ‘reminiscing’ but I recognized the first homma.

These are already familiar images.

“…!”

These are the retro-edited MV cuts of <Travel> and.

With a final flashback to Cha Yu-jin’s outstretched hand the screen again shows Ryu Cheong-woo smiling quietly.

[okay

Even though there is no perfection now

End of yesterday beginning of today]

“…!!”

At that moment Homma realized.

‘This is… <Travel> Liu Chengwu!’

That’s right.

Ryu Cheong-woo on screen was a man on a high-value wanted badge who realized that he was a monster through the storyline of <Train>.

-I’m in charge of this… monster friend.

-I would like to know a little about what choices this friend made afterward.

Choices reflecting Ryu Cheong-woo’s ‘what he wants to do’ were unfolding on the screen.

[Stepping onto new land

No excuses or hesitation]

Tent telescope map.

Liu Chengwu walks out of the tent.

At the end of the monster who was converted by Cha Yu-jin and became a citizen was leaving to pioneer a new unknown land.

Chapter 567

The music video unfolded seamlessly as if it were one take.

It is a simple story line that shows Ryu Cheong-woo from <Training> leaving the tent and looking around the base camp of the frontier and the camera follows him excitedly as if introducing camp members here and there.

A camp for adventurers exploring the new world!

'Indiana X…?'

The atmosphere is set by costumes and props reminiscent of classic adventure movies.

-My grandfather often showed me this when I was young! In situations where commercial value is not important there are elements that I would like to try at least once.

It was Kim Rae-bin's wish.

He cataloged all kinds of classic adventure genre fodder including gas lanterns old maps pocket watches and fountain pens.

Thanks to this elements of classic adventure were added to the costume at an exquisite level that was not excessive.

The members were caught on camera one after another wearing long leather walkers linen shirts bomber jackets and metal badges.

Moon-dae Park is sitting bored holding a telescope and smiling slightly at the camera Rae-bin Kim is drawing a map with a fountain pen then crumples it up and throws it away Cheong-woo Ryu is checking a firearm…

And even Seon Ah-hyeon who takes care of Jeon Seo-gu who places a white bird in his hand.

-How about a cheerful and bright atmosphere…?

As Sun Ah-hyun wished the video was set on a bright and beautiful day.

The screen was full of vitality hope ambition and adventure.

And as the song progressed the members became more dynamic.

For example the chorus part.

Bae Se-jin who was sitting on a stump and looking at a journal while wearing old-fashioned glasses slowly walks out and naturally performs choreography to the song with the dancers who joined her.

[I turn the page

Go to the next chapter

The guidance shines

Pain becomes a guide]

However the elements he added were conveyed to the ears not the eyes.

These lyrics.

-It would be nice if the lyrics had a sense of moving into the future but were not overly optimistic and felt realistic…

-So I'm not saying that life is wonderful but it's hard but I thought it would be nice to feel like I'm going to go for it… I'll write it down like that.

Thanks to this the song talks about hope while looking back deeply at the past.

But I also acknowledge the pain.

[Let me tempt fate

Beyond the milestones and crossroads

Struggling

[Go just one step further]

So overall there was a hint of strong emotion somewhere.

[Towards the limit]

As the pages of Bae Se-jin's diary flutter into the sky and fall the camera races again and passes between her outstretched hands as if giving a high-five.

And as my field of vision widened wilderness mountain fields forests blue skies and nature with floating clouds began to appear in the background.

The members exude their parts in a way that overflows within the narrow screen ratio.

Sitting on top of a huge rock sometimes hanging out in a colorful hammock between the trees…

"uh?"

Homma frowned feeling a strange sense of déjà vu. And I soon found out why.

This is because each member appeared in a composition that paid homage to their own famous stages or close-up cuts.

"…"

Come to think of it the lyrics were about looking back on the past.

‘I guess they were aiming for it.’

Homma felt a little upset for some reason.

And the refrain comes back again.

This time the camera captured an open tent filled with colorful items.

In the meantime a tall figure is sitting loosely.

[I turn the page

Go to the next chapter

The goal shines

Pain becomes evidence]

He casually put down the golden relic he was holding and gently came out of the tent.

It was Lee Se-jin.

-Well there are so many good opinions. It’s not that I have something I really want to include… rather I’m aiming to make something really great rather than being only moderately satisfied with the result!

As the saying goes the most spectacular and eye-catching action to date will be held with a large number of people mobilized.

[Let me tempt fate

Beyond the milestones and crossroads

Struggling

[Go just one step further]

After the climax of the choreography passed Lee Se-jin greeted politely and slightly playfully among the pollen.

And according to that gesture the camera naturally moved again as if to show the next member's part…

There is no one where I caught it.

"…?"

What is shown in close-up is someone's citizenship.

Just as I was about to see the smile mark and the phrase 'MAKE IT HAPPEN!' written vigorously like a scrawl.

Suddenly the video cuts out for the first time.

And as the accompaniment fades away the voice rings out clearly again.

[Let me tempt fate

okay

Beyond the milestones and crossroads

Until the end of today]

The video is back.

At the end of a vast field Cha Yu-jin herself stood facing the wind.

With words.

He loosens the reins and catches them.

[Beyond the limits]

At the same time the screen opens.

The moment the field of view expands from the retro ratio of 4:3 to the wide screen of 21:9 you feel a sense of openness as if you can breathe.

“ah…”

And both color and resolution become clearer.

[I can’t stop tomorrow]

Cha Yu-jin on a horse gallops through the screen as if running across the meadow.

His request was simple and clear.

-I want to ride a horse!

Thanks to this he was shot out with a sigh in the intense silence like in the Old West.

And the drums come rushing back.

[Yeaaaaaaaahhhhhhh!]

Against the background of foot-stomping accompaniment the viewpoint briefly heads toward the sky.

A bird’s eye view looking down at the running horses.

Then there is a close-up of the rider as if he is about to be sucked in again.

Cha Yu-jin is smiling with her teeth exposed.

[Run breathlessly

The city center at your feet

Reach out further towards the sky]

Park Moon-dae's high notes swell as if he were racing over the classic band accompaniment.

[(Over and over)

Even if the stars don't reach

[I want to live today]

[Woo-]

A chorus rang out and the horses kicked the ground violently kicking up dust.

Then the moment Cha Yu-jin pulls the reins she stops.

The sunset was setting in his field of vision.

Vast sunset sky.

[Don't sleep]

[Just-dream]

Cha Yu-jin got off the horse with the last exhilarating note of a long breath and threw her hat to the side.

The moment the hat disappears across the screen Cha Yu-jin looks back at the camera and grins.

The ending credits appear behind Cha Yu-jin who turns her head again and walks away.

[Production / TeSTAR]

Director / Lee Se-jin and Kim Rae-bin

Cinematography / Park Moon-dae and Ryu Cheong-woo

Lighting / Ryu Cheong-woo Lee Se-jin Sun A-hyeon

Screenplay / Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun

Costume / Raebin Kim

Music / TeSTAR

…]

White sentences covered entirely with Testa's name.

The sight of it rising above the sunset landscape somehow shook people's hearts.

'ah… '

Cha Yu-jin who had run far away was caught in a small glimpse of six black silhouettes backlit by the setting sun.

The images of them high-fiving or clasping arms were continuously shown on the screen.

Until the end credits roll and only this phrase remains.

-Loviewer

"…"

That phrase took up the entire screen until the end of the video until everything disappeared…

So Homma intuitively realized this.

‘It was a fan song.’

This wasn’t a collaboration an advertisement or a world-viewing video.

It was clearly a new fan song!

* * *

“Everyone thinks it’s a fan song.”

“I see. “It has become completely established.”

“…”

“…”

“Shall we assume it was a fan song?”

“yep.”

The bill was passed without any opposition.

And then monitoring continues again.

-Guys an epic article has appeared.

‘A story about looking back on the traces since debut with various emotions and pledging to move forward again’…

ㄴㅅㅂIt was so hot

-They must have filmed the Crazy Guys music video themselves so they asked why the member’s name was included in the editing (end credit capture)

-The director who was said to have acted as an advisor for the music video shoot appeared on social media. He is the person who filmed the LoL The Da game.

Most of the things that came out were fans getting excited and posting their impressions or looking for behind-the-scenes footage but these also came up in an unusual way.

-I heard it right at the start of the new year and was so excited that I recommended it to my Muggle friend but he said he already knew(?) What is it?

Even Muggles know that it's good haha.

-Testa's new song is perfect for the New Year. I'm using it as a work song to exorcise the three days of resolution.

-You're not active right? The response is so good

"…"

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with an expression that made him look like he was about to break into a cold sweat.

"Why is this… working so well?"

That's right.

From the beginning of its release the response from fans was quite positive.

I also drew a picture of them bringing this out at the climax of the concert because it seemed unusual to get reactions like 'I like the song so much that it's a shame they won't be promoting it.'

'It's actually not wrong to call it a fan song.'

Until then everyone was just happy.

-Our testa said we will keep running hard in the new year while cherishing the time we spent together!

-(Please pass by I am an overly obsessed otaku)

-It was like an epilogue to a grand finale…

However this story distorted in a positive way went viral on Inheart SNS…

[How many of these scenes do you know? (Comparison of Testa Legend cut and music video cut)]

We've come this far…

"They say it's the number one prediction in the music site's next time slot."

"…??"

-Wow Testa's prediction is ranked 1st ㅊㅋㅊㅋ

Even if we gritted our teeth and released an album we were close to reaching number one on the daily music charts.

"really?"

"really."

[A male idol song that seems to have been chosen for New Year's resolutions]

'Is this true?'

There was no aim but strangely luck and timing matched perfectly and the jackpot of first place in the music industry hit.

The funny thing is that this is a digital single without a physical album.

Even a low-budget video that was self-produced and released in two weeks… Why does it end up like this?

"…Maybe we should have prepared a little more and made it the title of the regular album?"

"What about titles that already exist?"

"You can do double titles."

Is that so?

But it has already passed. This song has already been released.

All you have to do is be satisfied and happy about hitting the unexpected but accidental jackpot…

"Oh of course~ I don't think it's a coincidence right? I think people recognized us because all of our group members had good sense. yes?"

"Ugh…!"

"…"

"Of course the timing was good! But we never know when a time like this will come again so let's work harder in the future~!"

"Yes I will keep it in mind!"

"…"

They use this for doping.

Looking at Keun Se-jin who was trying to use his achievements to boost team morale I nodded that he was still the same guy.

For your information Ryu Cheong-woo is looking at his smartphone next to him.

“I got a call from the company and it looks like there are a lot of requests for appearances from broadcasting. “He said why not go out to a good place?”

“and…”

Actually it was worth it.

‘I released a fan song without any promotion but it went viral naturally and took first place’? First of all isn’t the story missing?

It would have been more impactful for him to have been an unknown singer but since he was a first-tier idol there must have been a part of him that attracted more aggro.

‘I also call my country.’

I touched the back of my neck.

It’s been quite a while since the song itself became popular not because of the singer’s name value or the recognition supported by fans.

It’s a situation where we should be excited and happy but…

“But this is the end for us.”

“yes.”

This is it.

There is no other content…

‘I crammed it for two weeks so what do you expect?’

I didn’t even create choreography. This means that it was all a freestyle dance performed on site.

However in this situation everyone naturally expects that there will be additional content.

Even those who firmly believe that there is a bigger picture.

-This is clearly a build-up. Look I have a strong taste for eumsupdaeng haha.

ㄴㅇㅈㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

‘I don’t have any.’

But in this team… there is no one who can ignore opportunities that come their way.

“…”

“…”

“Should we… do something?”

Overtime confirmed.

It was the moment when Kim Rae-bin’s energy drink turned into a group ration.

Chapter 568

With the mindset of ‘let’s do whatever I want to do’ the song we self-produced in two weeks suddenly hit the bandwagon and hit the jackpot.

The Testa guys did their best.

This means that they really gritted their teeth and prepared for the performance within the limited time.

-From now on… Let’s not suddenly start a new job at the end of the year or the beginning of the year…

-yes…

-…

-Ohhhh!! Brother Sejin is dead!

‘I thought it was falling.’

And today they finally appeared on the air and succeeded in showing a proper stage.

[I turn the page

[Go to next chapter]

Bae Se-jin’s simple and good-looking freestyle becomes official choreography and is performed in perfect harmony.

In the intro or build-up section each person does a solo part and leaves the dance to the dancers but only in the chorus everyone comes together and shows each group dance.

‘It was a method that wouldn’t work if you didn’t have talent stats… ’

Still when I monitored it when combined with the one-take camera movement the movement came to life and a stage worth watching was created.

-The music video was also a one-take so there are story-related connections. Well it’s okay.

It was just as Big Sejin said.

Although it was different from the intense method we usually used this style which emphasized balance with vocals did not seem to have any quality problems.

So the time attack was successful.

“Oh well I don’t have anything to comment on. It was a self-produced idol tester!”

The fuss of the MC hosting the program was also excellent.

He was originally an MC known for being gentle but he became even gentler in line with the nature of the program which is ‘introducing this week’s hottest musicians’ which is close to culture.

A deep question related to music comes to mind.

“The word ‘Epic’ is often used to mean something strong and unique but it originally means ‘epic’. “It’s like writing an old adventure story or something like that.”

“Yes it is!”

Raebin Kim nodded with a happy expression.

“It sounds like the testers used the word ‘Epic’ in a more emotional sense closer to its original meaning. Is that correct?”

“That is correct. “Just as stories always have twists and turns so do our lives and I wanted to emphasize that it’s all meaningful in and of itself not just a process!”

“We affirm the ongoing reality. “It’s very beautiful.”

A detailed step-by-step question and answer.

There is a simple and honest conversation without any aggression. It was a luxury I had never experienced since my debut.

Truly hypoallergenic healing!

“Many responded that the lyrics were really pretty! I saw many comments like this saying he barely spoke English and spoke Korean very well. As far as I know member Bae Se-jin took the lead in writing it…?”

“Ah hmm. Yes… that’s right.”

“This guy reads a lot of books~!”

“Ah you comforted me!”

Normally people who don’t like the idol concept would criticize it for being cringy but grades are the key to popularity.

People who were emotional because it was the beginning of the year rated the lyrics highly because they were also emotional.

Thanks to this Bae Se-jin who participated greatly in writing the lyrics looks embarrassed but proud.

He even couldn’t control his mouth when a famous singer-songwriter-turned-MC complimented him saying that his singing style way of developing the song and pronunciation of the lyrics matched well.

“Mr. Sejin.”

“yes?”

“It’s okay to laugh as much as you want.”

Ahaha!

The audience laughs comfortably and happily. Bae Se-jin whose face was a little red eventually smiled.

Stress-free shooting!

There are no controversies competitions or even fleeting questions.

“Then please give me your last greeting!”

“yep! I had no idea I would receive so much love at the start of the year but I am truly honored. In the future our Testa will…”

After completing a truly ‘healing’ music talk show in a very peaceful atmosphere the members left the filming set with warm faces.

“It was very helpful.”

“Ugh. “He was a good person.”

Since it was a program like this in the first place I thought ‘Hey I’m bored it’s boring.’ One of the advantages was that we did not have the same feelings.

And the fun didn’t end there.

“Well this stage clip is getting a good response on social media.”

“okay?”

Even a short clip of this stage titled ‘Testa Live’ once again went viral on social media.

Because it was a special appearance on a cultural program without a broadcast stage it was rare so it seems that expectations and demand were concentrated on one point.

-This is a singer.

-Oh they all really look good. They are the pride of Korea. At this level even if I drink soup I have to admit it haha.

-Wow I want to go see the person who can tell me when these younger guys' concerts are going on.

I'm going on a world tour soon~ But I don't have any tickets.

It has been observed that people who were not particularly interested in male idols show interest in jumping on the bandwagon and showing off that 'I know trends well.'

Since there was no album or pre-promotion there was nothing else to focus on.

Truly blocking the source of aggro!

And this demand was reflected in reality as well.

"They said there was a request for me to appear at a concert held by Five Star Card."

"Oh this is where the VTIC senior came from last year right?"

It was almost like an official period of activity now.

Sometimes when attending advertising events or KPOP concerts there were many requests to include this song in the set list.

Then in fact the song which has the lowest stamina consumption of all time actually becomes a highlight stage.

"Whoa…"

“Hmm.”

Even after the performance was over there were many people touching their ribs as if they felt awkward about not being able to breathe as if their lungs were going to explode.

“It’s a lot less burdensome.”

“Of course.”

It was almost the first time that a song without choreography was written for an event.

It was different from before where we had to somehow create choreography that didn’t exist and emphasize it by ad-libbing.

-Epic! Epic!

[Yes the song you’ve been waiting for is out now.]

-Oooh!

It is enough to just sing the song properly.

At the concert the company secretly tipped off the leader after seeing Keun Se-jin who was working on arrangements with Kim Rae-bin saying that he wanted to use more flashy and strong choreography.

“I thought it would be better not to push yourself too hard since this is an unplanned activity. Since you are also preparing for the next comeback.”

“Um… yes. “We will adjust it well considering the members’ physical condition.”

The song itself is so good that the response is already good.

My body is much more comfortable but when I perform I can hear a lot of singing along.

Keun Se-jin muttered this as if he was in a good mood but also a little nervous.

“Oh~ I guess this is what Senior Youngrin feels right?”

“I think it is a very grateful and meaningful experience because it meets diversity from a composer’s perspective as well!”

As they said it was refreshing.

Every day continued with everyone going about their schedules with a look on their face that made them think ‘This kind of thing happens.’

Of course everyone thought this would end someday.

‘It was good timing.’

So I was busy working and sleeping every day as if I was just enjoying a pleasant event.

Then one day came a few weeks later.

“hmm.”

Early morning after finishing my schedule. While lying in bed and playing with my smartphone I found an article that appeared on a portal site.

[Monster rookie who pushed Testa off the charts…]

I got the feeling even before I finished reading it.

‘It’s an article for media play.’

Are you a monster rookie again?

Still the expression ‘pushed off the charts’ meant that it was pushed out of first place on this music source.

‘It means that there is a team that rose up while I wasn’t monitoring it closely.’

I clicked to check the article content properly.

Of course I have no intention of suddenly saying nonsense like ‘How can a rookie beat our group?’

‘I’m thankful that I’ve been able to use this music for a few weeks.’

Moreover when it comes to female idols or solo artists it happens quite often that the music of new artists pops up. This means there is nothing surprising.

This is an industry where annual leave has no meaning.

‘Among the new female idols from the majors the team that made a comeback or debuted… well it could be a rapper.’

I skimmed through the article predicting several teams and names.

And then I encountered an unexpected explanation.

-Mixed idol group HaloHe-im attracted attention from the MZ generation with the #Look_up challenge on video platforms…

“…”

Even after reading it again the explanation did not change.

‘concoction?’

A mixed idol group debuted… and became a huge hit on social media… and took first place?

It was an explanation that I didn’t know where to start or what to refute.

‘I thought mixed gender groups were extinct.’

Of course there are exceptions to all formulas and trends.

Instead of snorting I immediately entered the group and ran a search.

-Haloheim.

It's only been one week since debut.

'also.'

I thought it wouldn't be long.

The image teaser was released on January 1st and promotions and virality seemed to have continued mainly through video platforms such as Tic Tac Tok.

And the company…

'Hmm this is the first label I've heard of.'

Of course there is little chance that it is a true zero-based small or medium-sized business.

'also.'

After some simple further searching I even found out that this label is a subsidiary of Younglin Company.

The main judge of <Azusa>… and the idol who first taught me that idol data can be profitable.

It is even said that Younglin was in charge of producing it.

-Saint U's Younglin worked as a producer completing the construction of Haloheim's musical world…

The explanation went on to say that it was created in collaboration with the image director who created his prime.

‘Is that where the topic came from?’

However creating a mixed idol group was a risky endeavor.

This is because they are vulnerable to dating rumors and the fandom does not unite well in the first place or tends to become too light.

‘It is several times more difficult to maintain the value of the name in the long term.’

They’re making such an experimental attempt with a trainee worthy of debuting at such a prestigious company?

They put it on the front page that it was produced by their signature idol?

I pressed my eyebrows.

‘…Youngrin has the personality to play with children’s lives… ’

No I don’t know.

I… just sold data. There is no way to really know what type of personality Yeongrin is.

Still it was time to restart the search frowning out of discomfort.

‘First of all I need to find out exactly how it came about… ’

At that moment my eye caught the Haloheim profile.

‘…?’

Because of my job I reflexively check my direct competitors first so I looked at the faces of the men first.

female members.

Those faces… looked somewhat familiar.

"…"

I immediately moved my hand and searched again entering the names of the members in question.

This time on WeTube.

And among the flood of videos I found the Rekka account.

-What are the circumstances that led to their debut after having worked together with Testa?

"…"

Fuck you.

* * *

"hey."

"Why Mundaemun University?"

"Do you remember this group?"

I handed over the smartphone screen to Keun Se-jin. The guy who was getting ready to sleep in bed had an expression of 'what's going on all of a sudden' but accepted the smartphone without saying anything.

And let's check the screen.

"Ah~"

Of course Big Sejin nodded.

And conscious of Sun Ah-hyeon who was already asleep he bowed in a low voice.

“Well they almost debuted with <B My Girls>… right? “It was originally our agency.”

That’s right.

<Be My Girls>.

This is another idol survival program that T1 released one after another after the hit <Idol Inc.>.

As expected the winners of this program also became part of T1 Stars and were scheduled to be the next female idol group after Mirinae.

The problem is… it was all fabricated.

-<B My Girls> Rankings were rigged… Production crew arrested

It was a bomb that exploded on the surface when T1 was involved in the political world and was beaten.

Thanks to this we eventually escaped from T1…

This side didn’t even debut but they were tied up for several years because of their contract.

So this is what Orbit the company created when Testa escaped did this.

“The contract was released when our company acquired T1 Stars before its launch.”

It was an obvious choice.

This is what happens if you keep this group tied to the company without allowing them to debut.

-Are you carrying a control stone? Haha.

-Wow look at how they are holding on without disbanding.

There is a debate over whether you are advocating manipulation.

-They won't even let them debut and won't release them. Wow I feel sorry for the kids. What should I do?

-It was fabricated by the company so why are they passing it all on to minors who aren't even adults?

-I didn't know this would happen after Testa acquired T1 Stars. They also use the same despicable methods as entertainment CEOs… It's truly heartbreaking. This vested interest mentality is so disgusting.

This is because you hear these opposite voices at the same time.

'If you're not going to let them debut in the first place it's normal to let them go.'

The risk and the conscience-shattering sound were too great to keep Nolbu in the meta that if I couldn't use it others couldn't use it either.

I thought it ended without any harm.

I didn't know it would turn out this well.

"…It's number one on the music charts now?"

"okay."

"hmm."

Big Sejin rubbed his chin… and shrugged his shoulders.

"Wow we've only had two weeks? Look how the situation has changed after not monitoring for at most 3 weeks. "It's a really dynamic industry."

The guy got out of bed right away.

"Let's check."

I thought so.

We immediately quietly moved to the living room. And we begin proper industry monitoring…

“What are you guys doing?”

“…!”

When I turned my head Cha Yu-jin who had come out to drink water was staring blankly at me.

I thought my liver was failing.

“Sit down.”

“What…”

That’s how the three of us started working overtime in the early morning hours.

Competitor analysis of the stock.

Chapter 569

“I want to bring popcorn.”

“Be patient.”

In the early morning when all the other members were asleep the three testers accessed the Internet on the TV in a dark living room and began searching for information.

A new ‘mixed’ idol group that pushed us out and took first place on the music charts.

HaloHe-im.

[I no longer wonder who came up with this strange name.]

“…”

The mixed group’s debut song was played on the screen along with native speaker Cha Yu-jin’s evaluation.

[Now I’m curious about the seat next to me

Your heartbeat

Who are you running for now?]

A natural and pleasant song that sticks to the ear well with an up tempo.

A refreshing and atmospheric melody that would be great to hear in a place like a cafe flows along with the accompaniment.

“The song is good.”

“I agree.”

However no matter how good a song they release there will be a singer every quarter who disappears without ever seeing the light of day.

Even if a mixed group doesn’t do anything but take first place within a week of releasing the music…

“I think there are other selling points as well.”

“Yap.”

I continued the search with the implicit consent of Keun Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin.

There was nothing to do for long.

This is because there was a 40-minute related video with over 5 million views in that music video.

This is the content of the thumbnail which shows several Haloheim members wearing school uniforms facing each other and smiling.

[Is it good to be a transfer student? <Heartheim> Ep.2 / HaloHe-im]

“…”

It was a title arrangement that felt somewhat incongruous considering it was idol content itself.

However it is a somewhat familiar shape that seems to have been commonly seen on WeTube.

“for a moment.”

I found episode 1 of that content and played it.

The narration came out against the background of a bench with a lush green school view.

[Have you ever wanted to meet someone who is perfect for you?]

[Creating MBTI Sentences Who has always clicked on 'the type that best suits me' every time they took various psychological tests?]

[This is our story of finding that person.]

"ah."

The moment I got there I realized what this was. I crossed my arms and sighed.

'crazy.'

The guys from this agency have openly benchmarked reality matching programs.

Mixed gender groups are prone to dating rumors?

We used that in reverse to create the group's worldview.

The viewer is encouraged to create and analyze the drama as he or she wants.

[Jihyun: Hello. My name is Kang Ji-hyeon and I was born in Busan.]

[Jihyun: My personality… I think I'm a bit quiet. Even at school… (Edit) Yes. I purposely didn't go on school trips.]

The video first introduces four female students with different personalities set in a fictional school.

And one after another male members appeared at school under the concept of 'transferring' as male students.

[Male Student 1: Nice to meet you. I'm Go Hyeon-woo.]

In this way students get to know each other's personalities and behavior patterns in more detail while doing various team missions based on the school concept.

From experimental tasks to cooking practice performance evaluations to courage tests.

And when the day's work is over each person chooses one person of the opposite sex and one person of the same sex with whom they fit best and sends them an anonymous text message.

[Ji-hyun: Hmm… I thought it was honest and good that Hyun-woo was scared without being pretentious. I will send it to Hyunwoo.]

[Hyunwoo: Wasn't Jihyun really unreliable today?]

In this way it shows who fits well and who doesn't and who is attracted to whom.

It even brought to light the fact that the poles of love and the poles of friendship are intertwined and run rampant.

"…"

"…"

Looking at that mess the three testers could not bear to react at all.

It was because of culture shock.

'…It's clearly a dating reality.'

It's like covering your eyes and saying goodbye.

Still after holding back my shock and taking a closer look I realized that it wasn't simply aggro. The meticulous work was clearly visible.

For example this 'school' setting was treated like the background setting of a reality program in a way that made you feel moderately immersed even though you knew it was all fake.

[Jaebin: This is a school concept.]

[Hugo: That's why it's fun. I've hardly ever been to a Korean school.]

Be comfortable so you don't feel like you're acting. So that each individual feels much more natural and authentic.

And at a crucial moment in every episode their debut title song plays like an OST.

[This trembling is still only in my heart

I can act calmly]

The song's highlight melody which appears just before moving on to the trailer was amazingly fitting.

The sound source is exposed once in a very natural way.

-Jaebin please be kind to Hugo since he is Jin-Gook. Let's team up with Hugo.

-Honestly Hyunwoo and Jihyun are the best together. Their personalities match well. Don't waste your energy on unnecessary things. Let's do a mission together and show them how to flirt.

-Am I the only one who thinks Jihyun and Hugo are cute? The way they make fun of each other because they don't get along is so cute haha.

ㄴㅇㅈI hate it so much

As time went on instead of people asking 'Are you crazy to do this with an idol?' the comments that people wrote because they were overly engrossed were getting more recommendations and were rising to the top.

This is because the program was chosen to be fun and scary.

Even.

“…They say that if you are chosen as the ‘two people who are the best fit’ by viewer votes you will receive a center spot in the next album.”

“…Wow~”

Big Sejin couldn’t continue talking. I understand.

Still he barely managed to complete another sentence.

“This… no it wouldn’t be possible to manage public opinion if it were like this.”

“I guess so.”

It was a method popular with existing idol fans.

So it seemed like this video originally got a lot of views mainly from people who liked dating reality shows.

Moreover the problem was that these people were overly immersed.

I went straight to episode 2 and saw that one of the members was getting scolded. The reason was that he suddenly chose someone of the opposite sex out of the blue during home training.

-It’s not polite it’s really too much.

-Wow I’m the type of person who doesn’t want to be friends… It’s not for nothing that I haven’t received a single friendship text.

-He was strong in B My Girls as well.

The malicious comments made by people who are immersed in the position of losing their partner have really crossed the line.

Moreover they subtly get on each other's nerves and end up getting angry and fighting.

'It's a sight to behold.'

They're putting kids who are barely over 20 years old to shame. It's the same bullshit that all broadcasting companies do but even though this is the agency's own entertainment show the fact that it's like this is fucking awesome.

'Isn't this an atmosphere where it's impossible to be a fan of a group?'

Even for us the individual fan-centered atmosphere created during ＜Azusa＞ still remains.

The influence of pre-debut survival programs is this strong but if you do something like this with guys who just debuted…

"Normally it self-destructs."

It must have been like that originally.

but.

"But it worked."

"…"

The content which seemed to be a clever mix of a web drama and a reality program seemed to garner great immersion and response from teenagers of the same age group.

The next thing that stuck was the viewers of dating programs.

There was a huge number of people who made up the majority of the current viewers.

What is the benefit of attracting those people?

“It went viral.”

Posts are being posted on the Internet by people who are overly immersed.

-Heartheim is surprisingly fun.

-I was going for a courage test but my partner told me to leave him behind.jpg

-Oh crazy Jihyun is the Bima girl?

Jihyun debuts?

Then die-hard KPOP listeners who had lightly watched <Be My Girls> which was a minor survival show joined in.

If global KPOP fans who like this kind of thing join in…

‘The number of views is exploding.’

Of course there were clear traces of swearing and controversy.

First of all what was the fandom like for the members who debuted through <Be My Girls>?

‘It must have tasted like death.’

I thought I was barely debuting but my agency came out and foamed at me saying I was doing something stupid.

But it may not have come out too strong.

‘There is already controversy over manipulation.’

Even if it was worth claiming that the members were not at fault they would have been cautious about raising any more rumors because such a big issue was at stake.

He tried to quietly respond to the company but eventually gave up as the response gradually became hotter and better.

‘So even all the negative chemical reactions are digested with buzz.’

Malicious comments are better than no comments. Because I’m interested.

As long as you are confident in the quality of the product you are selling.

‘Public opinion can be overturned.’

And the agency has laid the groundwork down to that point.

-What… Ah I guess I did that because I thought I received the letter from Hyunwoo.

As members who were criticized become more angry misunderstandings are resolved they show a three-dimensional side and public opinion gradually recovers.

As the members at the main point of view kept changing each episode drew sympathy from similar types of people.

In the end we were able to appeal to all members’ charms as members of the opposite sex and as characters.

And just the right time to develop goodwill.

Haloheim’s first music broadcast took place.

This is where the winning strategy comes into play.

-Wow your dog is good.

-Idol ㅇㅈ…

The stage performance was good.

Viewers reacted as if they were watching the main characters of their favorite drama perform on stage.

The thrill and freshness of imagination becoming reality created an unexpected synergy.

-Something feels overwhelming. Haloheim is a real-life drama.

If I had made one wrong step the discomfort would have outweighed the interest but whether it was luck or calculation I got through it all.

In this way the mixed group was successfully launched.

"…"

In front of the TV in Testa's living room in the dark of early morning.

The three people were lost in thought after seeing the stage of a new group that succeeded in an unexpected way.

"OK. all right."

Cha Yu-jin was the first to shrug her shoulders.

"This team performs well. But it's okay because we do better."

It was a calm statement.

"What was it like about mixing genders?"

"Why is that?"

"In Korea there have been very few successful mixed groups since the 2000s."

Cha Yu-jin answered with a natural expression.

"Hey there are no trends that last forever."

“…!”

“KPOP groups are not traditional either. “Fashions can change at any time.”

That’s… that’s right.

There is no guarantee that the mixed gender groups that were popular in the 2000s will never be popular in the market.

Even if it worked in a completely unexpected way.

“Our group just needs to do what they do and do well. Got it?”

“Of course~ Got it.”

When Keun Se-jin answered with a smile Cha Yu-jin waved and quickly walked back and forth to the kitchen to return the water cup.

However Big Se-jin frowned and still sat on the sofa until Cha Yu-jin came back.

As if lost in thought.

“why.”

“No… no matter how much I think about it it’s strange.”

Big Sejin muttered while looking at the turned off TV.

“This is not a method that can be used in the long run.”

“…”

“why?”

“Eugene you said there are no permanent trends right? “No couple lasts forever.”

“…!”

“I don’t know what I’ll do with the next album but I feel like I’ve used up my image too quickly. “Hmm it’s very experimental don’t you think?”

It was true.

It was almost impossible to achieve the same effect by using such a promotional method again.

As a tester it seemed like if I just waited the sweet water would drain out quickly and I wouldn’t be able to hold on.

Of course there are no guarantees in this industry.

“Let’s stay alert and think about it for now.”

“okay.”

That was the end of the early morning monitoring that day. The three quietly cleaned up the living room and returned to their respective rooms.

I also lay down on the bed and thought briefly.

‘It’s a new way.’

It was a short-lived extreme promotional method that altered a person’s private life and personality.

But I also think like that.

-Isn’t the idol group we’re in now a model with a long lifespan?

Even for popular idol groups the average lifespan is said to be around 7 years. Except for a few everyone found their own way to live and returned to focusing on individual activities.

This is due to the burden of group accommodation the burden of high-intensity choreography and the issue of appropriate age.

‘We and VTIC who want to eat more are weird people.’

Let’s take that into consideration.

‘This method is just a trend of consuming idols more quickly…?’

“…”

I don’t know. For some reason I felt dirty.

‘It feels different.’

Maybe it was because I was in a different age group in the first place but this felt… a bit unpleasant.

That’s how the company promotes mixed groups.

‘It’s encouraging consumption in a fucking bizarre way.’

Especially when I think of those rookie guys who gritted their teeth and performed properly on stage.

“…”

I decided to just sleep.

Instead of worrying about our competitors let’s worry about our group which has members who will be enlisting in the military next year.

Don’t forget the crazy fact that I’m serving in the military twice.

‘…after.’

But strangely even though I thought that way I couldn’t immediately clear my mind and fall asleep.

Like an ominous premonition.

I feel like I'm missing something…

"…"

Just now.

What did I give as the reason for the short lifespan of idol groups?

Appropriate age for camp accommodation and…

'High-intensity choreography… '

"…"

for a moment.

"…!"

I immediately got up from the bed and picked up my smartphone.

And I connected right away.

Below the water which has not been monitored since there has been no significant controversy.

There are expressions that stick in your mind the moment you see them.

-Epic also has no choreography haha.

-Hmm… I feel a little bitter because I wonder if this is the way it is in the end.

-Ah this is why you think that this song didn't work out well but now it's still working. ㅅㅂ

-With this amount of practice one idol will be able to do the group dance well.

I feel like I've been hit with cold water.

'The heyday of a group's idol does not last long.'

As that time approaches accommodations are eliminated individual activities increase and the proportion of group work decreases.

Many groups have done that.

'This is already a formula.'

This was now a known fact to all idol fans.

So Testa's album this time was received as a kind of signal by these people.

This is an attempt to see if Testa should abandon the existing concept and change to a more comfortable method.

This is a sign that they no longer have any intention of living fiercely as an idol group in their prime.

As a sign that the reason they originally liked Testa will disappear and be replaced.

-Actually it's not a bad thing. Honestly it's time for the kids to think about their cartilage. They'll be leaving for military service soon… But my heart isn't beating.

-Recommendations for new idols Are there any kids full of venom?

'no.'

There are people who went out of their way to find the bottom of the water and make such a fuss but usually they don't bother to express their dissatisfaction.

Because I think it's a natural process.

'It's just… I'm slowly starting to recognize other idols.'

Activity decreases and the mind rises.

"…"

Cha Yu-jin would say this.

-Let's release a new album quickly. Then there is no problem.

The idea is to appeal that we will still work hard.

'That's correct.'

But the bigger problem is… that's not possible now.

'I've already worked with Epic!'

It worked so well that it actually became a problem!

The image that the public expects from us has been formed that way.

A popular slightly comfortable yet easy-to-listen sound source.

But what if a new album is suddenly released in this atmosphere? Of course we would expect such a sound to be released again.

'But we prepared this full-length album very rigorously and conceptually.'

This is because they stuck to the line of aiming for a cultural medal and targeting the global fandom.

Then what happens?

-Oh the song is good.

-Well it's a bit different from what I expected but I'm rooting for you~ I hope Testa does well this time too!^^

And the moment the music rankings don't come out

'It is easy to undermine both topicality and class… '

"…"

I put my head down.

X is done.

Chapter 570

The next morning.

Inside Testa's car moving according to schedule.

"Mundae…! "Hey the manager is asking what we're going to eat for breakfast…"

"…"

"Mumundaeya…?"

"…uh. "Anything is okay."

"…Ugh."

I put my head against the window. Calculations were going on in my brain.

Regarding the future activities of this group.

'It's a crossroads.'

The problem is that both paths end at a cliff.

If you release a strong full-length album now the public who expects comfortable music will ignore you.

However if you continue to follow a comfortable path you cannot prevent fandom from leaving.

'And that's the end of the Cultural Medal.'

It was to die for.

If we were to filter out the shortcomings and somehow pick something out… there was a hybrid called Easy Listening with intense choreography.

Like the debut song <Magical Boy>.

'But that won't get a response overseas.'

It is always a strong concept that appeals to global KPOP fans.

Group dance intense beat strong melody.

Of course if you want to go beyond that and gain support from the English-speaking public there is also the step of targeting easy listening which is popular there.

But that's the way higher classes do it.

First of all it is only possible to secure a global fan base of VTIC level… and if you are not careful the group may lose its color and struggle from the next album onwards.

Like now.

'Fuck you.'

Moreover since the fandom has already begun to leave there is a high probability that even this 'easy listening and high-quality choreography' method will be accepted as an attempt to 'look at the liver'.

-This time it's time to do something tough but I couldn't give up on easy listening and if you look at what I brought with me I'm sure it came out well.

It is accepted that the tendency is tilted towards 'I don't do tough idols anymore'.

I pressed my eyebrows.

‘It’s okay to be criticized.’

The problem is that there will be quite a lot of fans who leave without swearing and quietly saying ‘I’m going to have fun playing.’

Maybe it’s because I’ve already seen the rookie in the mixed group succeed with an absurd strategy but I still have an ominous feeling.

A difficult time to maintain.

‘The way we knit is changing.’

It felt like the time of generational change was approaching.

“…”

In fact I didn’t know that Testa’s annual leave was a problem.

Anyway it’s only the new year and it’s been 7 years. Only about five and a half years have passed since debut.

‘Right now there are many groups that are older than Testa and are active in their prime.’

The problem is… Testa has been successful since its debut.

Large-scale concert tour annual music ranking new group album sales record broken.

All of this happened within the first year of debut.

And so far unless there is a special situation such as a traffic accident the grades have been self-updated with an upward sloping graph.

‘So I thought we managed it well by alternating between entertainment and albums so that people wouldn’t get tired of Testa… ’

In fact the problem may have been in the opposite direction.

-It is not strange to think that Testa has done enough.

-Wouldn't they also have no regrets about group activities?

These perceptions.

Even if people are not tired of Testa they are predicting that Testa will be tired of Testa's activities.

And just as expectations are reflected in stock prices in advance the trend of looking into other idols to replace Testa in advance is…

"It's the gate."

I turned my head.

"this."

Sun Ah-hyun was holding out a hot packaged sandwich toast.

It seemed like the manager had prepared breakfast.

"thanks."

I carelessly opened the package and brought the sandwich toast to my mouth.

There was no time to evaluate the taste.

Meanwhile I asked in a quiet voice from the side.

"I… perhaps. "Are you sick or… are you worried?"

"…"

"Because it looks a little difficult."

Should I say it?

Sun Ah-hyun was a good listener and when a problem like this was brought up she would listen and then worry and worry together.

No most people in this group have that tendency. therefore…

I opened my mouth.

“It’s because I worked extra hours yesterday early in the morning.”

“…?”

“I looked for some rookies who beat us to number one on the music charts.”

I took two with my fingers.

“With them.”

“Wow?”

The guys who were each shoving their toast into their mouths blinked. They are Keun Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin.

Of course both are in good condition. I don’t have the stamina to be tired just because I couldn’t sleep and I’m not the type to show off that I’m a little tired.

In that sense this situation where I say I’m tired alone…

‘Is this strange?’

Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth with a pitiful face.

“Whoo… Is it because you’re older now Moon Dae?”

“…”

I’m two years older than you kid.

It’s been like that ever since the new year.

“Is the toast delicious?”

Cha Yu-jin who realized that she would end up chewing toast even in the evening flinched and quickly corrected herself. He’s really quick-witted.

“I made a mistake! There are older brothers than Moon Dae! Bae Se-jin is the oldest!”

“…??”

Bae Se-jin who was suddenly beaten makes a vain expression and Keun Se-jin who almost bursts into laughter suddenly changes his stance.

“What are you talking about! In Korea full age is the official age! “We still have a long time left in our 20s~”

“That makes sense!”

The guys who were chatting loudly while eating a warm breakfast no longer asked about my condition.

I chewed my toast again.

“…”

This was just the right amount.

‘There is no need to talk about my prediction for no reason.’

Now no matter what we do be prepared to face a downturn.

Now that the Cultural Merit has passed let’s prepare for enlistment together next year?

‘Even if I say it it’s only like scaring me.’

It was impossible to destroy their morale like that even though it would not increase their morale any further.

I am satisfied that I have moderately boosted the team spirit…

“Wow when Moon-Dae Park looked at the New Year’s camera he acted cute and his stamina was at a cute level…”

That’s it.

I quietly took Big Sejin’s unopened can of carbonated water shook it mercilessly and then gently sent it back to its original location.

Cha Yu-jin giggled and recorded the incident on video.

“Wow! “What is this!”

“ha ha ha!”

In that way my suspicious attitude seemed to pass by buried in the noisy and warm atmosphere.

However even in this chaos there was someone who quietly kept his mouth shut and lost his thoughts.

This is because there was a guy there who had a knack for dealing with team members who predicted pessimistic futures.

“Mundae. “Shall we talk for a moment?”

“…”

That afternoon.

The moment I entered the waiting room I realized that Liu Chengwu was waiting to talk to me.

* * *

I went into the room inside the waiting room where there was a cot with him.

And instead of taking a nap they both sat down on the mattress.

“Ahyeon kept worrying. “Maybe I overexerted myself early in the morning but my sill is in bad shape today.”

I see.

Even though I tried not to show it it seems like I secretly knew that my head was complicated. I sighed and nodded.

“As I said it’s because I’m tired.”

“really?”

“…”

“Mundae. “Now it’s not me asking my cousin but the group leader is asking the members.”

Oh damn.

I pressed my eyelids and opened my mouth.

“Just leave my brother alone.”

And I began to tell Ryu Cheng-wu about the current situation of Testa that I had analyzed so far.

A time of dilemma.

What kind of butterfly effect did the song I made after saying ‘Let’s do what I want to do’ end up happening?

“…So no matter when and how the next album is released it seems inevitable that the image will be in a downward trend.”

Liu Chengwu was not surprised.

However he quietly nodded and listened to what I said without even laughing at it and saying it was nonsense.

So I was able to finish speaking quietly.

"…I couldn't think of a solution yet so I kept my mouth shut for now."

"I see."

"…"

"I heard you right. "Thank you for telling me."

Liu Chengwu smiled.

"But… I don't think it's a big problem."

"…"

what?

"Mundae."

Liu Chengwu nodded and spoke softly.

"It's okay if there is an image that Testa is in decline."

What kind of crazy thing is this all of a sudden?

"That won't mean our group will suddenly disappear or all of our fans will disappear."

Maybe you didn't understand?

"There is a high probability that fans will lose out because of that image and there will be a real decline."

“But if we release another good album you will listen to it. “If you give a great performance you will see it.”

“yes. “Maybe only some of them.”

People basically pay less attention to things that are out of fashion. Testa will be in the same situation.

“okay. “It’s past its prime… But it’s Mundae.”

Liu Chengwu smiled bitterly.

“It’s the prime time because the prime time has passed.”

“…!”

It was a somewhat familiar word.

That was… what I said to Cheongryeo who suffered from reset syndrome.

-The heyday is over so it’s the heyday.

That’s right.

Every group even if it is doing well comes a moment when it stagnates.

Whether it’s T Holic VTIC or Testa.

Whether it’s a few years from now or now.

“Even if we receive the Cultural Merit it’s just a matter of delaying it and everyone except Yujin and I will go to the military.”

“…”

“When that gap period comes you’ll be worried that your prime is coming to an end right?"

Ryu Cheong-wu continued adding 'I didn't bother to mention it until now because I didn't want to mention it from the perspective of not going.'

"But we will plan our activities accordingly."

Speak calmly and logically.

"Of course it would be nice if I could always get good grades. but. "Even if our grades drop this doesn't mean the end of this group."

-Testa can continue to do well by releasing as many albums as he wants and there will be people who listen to him every time.

I quietly listened to those words.

Then it was sent to the head and slowly digested.

'I see.'

It wasn't like I was suffering from some sort of 'target or death' status ailment but I thought it was something like that.

'It's like Testa dies if he's not in the first team.'

But that's not true.

This group will continue to exist and there will be no sudden disintegration due to poor performance. Isn't this the company we founded in the first place?

Testa will not suddenly disband.

'okay.'

I readily admitted that I had become trapped in an excessive way of thinking.

Then after taking a deep breath I responded with a more determined brain.

“I understand… Thank you brother.”

“Thank you.”

Liu Chengyu grinned as if relieved perhaps because my complexion had improved.

But still.

“Still I feel dirty.”

“…?!”

“If things go downhill due to misunderstandings like this I don’t think I’ll be able to sleep.”

Isn’t it unfair like a dog?

‘It’s not like any controversy broke out or the quality of the album deteriorated.’

No who would have thought that a song that was released just for fan service would suddenly become so popular and be misunderstood like this?

In order to go up even further I have already decided on this annual plan…

“Honestly I don’t see the answer right away but I want to find a solution somehow.”

Then.

“okay. “I knew that!”

Liu Chengwu grinned.

“…?”

“Oh sorry. Um… Actually I did say this. Still I hoped that I would continue to do my best to take on the challenge.”

Liu Chengyu’s smile faded slightly.

“It’s not a good feeling to not be able to do your best…”

“…”

It seemed to remind me of the time when I was steering. However Liu Chengwu quickly erased that feeling.

“But let’s remember this.”

The guy held out his hand.

“First of all… it’s not your fault that fans have this misunderstanding.”

“…!”

Liu Chengwu said “Let’s admit that sometimes unexpected things happen.”

“…thank you.”

“haha. It’s true but it’s not something to be thankful for. Um and next is the most important thing.”

Liu Chengwu smiled and grabbed my shoulder.

“I’m not doing this because I’m scared of my best days coming to an end but I’m doing it because I want to keep trying.”

It’s not because you’ll die if you don’t grit your teeth work hard think intensely and keep trying desperately.

Because there is a goal.

“We are chasing not being chased. Let’s not forget.”

That was enough.

“yes.”

I shook his hand and acknowledged what he said.

Now then…

“Please hold a meeting.”

“okay.”

Let’s all 7 of us squeeze our brains like squeezing lemon juice and make it happen regardless of whether it works or not.

solution.

Chapter 571

Whenever something happened at Testa holding a meeting to try to resolve it was now routine.

This means that each member is now skilled enough not to be surprised even if something unexpected happens.

“yes? Ah a meeting. yes.”

So as soon as the schedule was over we calmly gathered in the living room without anyone panicking or asking questions.

There was an amazing incident where Big Sejin looked at people as if they were special.

“Is that why Moon Daemundae’s face was so bad? “But now he’s letting it all out quickly.”

If we know let’s proceed quickly.

…Well being calm doesn’t mean you can’t accept the seriousness.

The faces of the guys who heard the whole incident quickly became serious.

“…hmm. So… the downtrend image is the problem.”

“okay.”

No matter what you choose for your next album your fandom and popularity will be damaged.

This could be a signal of an uncontrollable downward trend.

Raebin Kim's face darkened.

"I'm not good enough…"

"No that's absolutely not true."

As soon as the album was mentioned I knew this guy would be like this.

Kim Rae-bin's dark expression disappeared only after hearing the specific explanation that 'it was twisted because things were going well'.

Instead he thought about it carefully and finally said this.

"There is a saying that something made extremely well goes beyond taste! If so I will work harder and write a new song that will satisfy both the public and lovers!"

"Oh my gosh he's like this again."

"Kim Rae-bin is an idiot."

"…?!"

I put both hands on Raebin Kim's shoulders.

"Ravin listen carefully."

"yes!"

"You are a genius."

"…!?"

"And your songs were always so good that they made no sense."

Except for a few slumps he was an insane talent with no weaknesses from quality to speed.

'Honestly without this guy things would have been several times more difficult.'

This means that the songs Kim Rae-bin has created so far are not of a lower level.

"But a good song doesn't necessarily mean it will become a mega hit. "It's a matter of timing or luck."

"that…"

"Well what Mundae said is 100% right! Even if this isn't a song it's a phrase that is universally used in many places~ Right hyung?"

"uh?"

Bae Se-jin seemed a little embarrassed by Eun Se-jin's words but quickly nodded calmly.

"…that's right. "Of all the movies I starred in when I was young there was one movie that was the funniest but it wasn't the most successful."

"ah…"

"So you shouldn't create something like that artificially."

Raebin Kim nodded slightly.

That's right.

No matter how well it was made or how intense the promotions were a trend that satisfied everyone was not something that could be created intentionally.

'It's best to set a target audience and catch those people.'

And then sometimes luck and timing come together and everyone ends up liking it.

Cha Yu-jin who was listening to the story shrugged her shoulders.

“I don’t know. Why make just one song? Why can’t we make both?”

“huh?”

“We can do both the difficult and the easy ones. Double title!”

“ah.”

Double title.

Rather than creating one perfect song that satisfies everyone it is a way to target both the public and fandom by diversifying investments.

The reason why this doesn’t work is simple.

“I don’t have time.”

To make it a double title just think of doing twice what we are doing now.

‘No it’s a unilateral addition so if you think about coordinating the schedule it will cost more than twice as much.’

The choreography costume and concept music video must be filmed one more time to ensure completeness that does not create a sense of incongruity with other double titles.

Then what happens?

“If you use a double title you may have to release your next album later than scheduled rather than sooner.”

In the end fandom leaks are left unattended for longer.

The main premise itself which is to ‘act quickly to prevent the flow of fandom escaping’ is violated.

Of course I could have tried to meet the deadline somehow.

“I work a lot fast! We’re all hard-working people.”

It’s about replacing our bodies.

To be honest I am a person who is intrigued by these words.

but…

“Then if you go into trouble due to overwork who will be responsible?”

The intensity of work will be greater than anything you have experienced so far.

The schedule right now isn’t easy but if I double the work here I might end up falling down.

‘You can’t do that.’

…If we want to go long term we need to pay attention to the health of this group.

Over the hill I saw Liu Chengwu smiling slightly.

Are you proud? okay. Well… it’s good.

Cha Yu-jin seems to have given in as she nods her head indifferently…

“OK. “I take my brothers’ ages into consideration.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth.

“You… won’t bring candy again.”

“What?!”

The members each fell into trouble while ignoring Cha Yu-jin who was shocked to hear that she could no longer enjoy the homemade candy that Bae Se-jin’s mother sent her.

“Then… we have to leave it to luck?”

Perhaps it was too defeatist an idea for Big Sejin to accept but the guy’s face did not please him.

And the faces of the other members looked a little shaken as well. This is because until now I have never said something as easy as ‘let’s leave it to luck’.

Meanwhile Sun Ah-hyun slightly raised her hand.

“Hey how about… how about explaining this activity directly to the fans?”

“hmm?”

“You can also post the letter on W app or SNS.”

In summary Sun Ah-hyun’s proposal was as follows.

-We didn’t make it with each other! I also organized activities in a hurry!

-If you thought that our passion has cooled and we will move on less vigorously you are all mistaken!

Let’s break this down and be honest.

What process did we go through to release this song in two weeks and how did we rush to prepare for further activities after this song suddenly became successful?

The goal is to carefully explain and convince fans.

“I thought you might feel relieved if I told you what process we went through to become this way.”

“And we are preparing the album step by step according to schedule?”

“yes…!”

Seon Ah-hyeon’s words were straight and orthodox.

There was a problem though.

I rubbed my chin.

‘I don’t think I’ll believe it.’

Doing so right now would have been counterproductive because it would have seemed desperate. If you think that they are trying to explain because they are scared your credibility will drop and your image will also suffer.

-Stop it… I’m making excuses too much and it’s giving me empathy shame… ㅠㅠ

-Ah Testa 1st team members are all dead really.

-Is this what happens?;;; I’m a bit embarrassed. I should have just brought out a strong next album…

‘It would seem like you have no sense using profane language.’

That was difficult.

Now is the time to choose everything carefully and restore your image well.

And there was no need to explain this cruelly.

“Hmm to be honest I want to do as Ahyeon says but… if you want to speak naturally you have to do it in passing right? “Then I don’t think it will get much attention.”

“ah…!”

“Of course we can persuade those who listen but we are now perfect for more people! “I have to leave an impression.”

Keun Se-jin spoke skillfully. Sun Ah-hyun nodded firmly with an understanding look on her face.

“Ugh. “Then it would be better to show it with clear action…!”

“yes.”

But… I still don’t know how to release this damn album.

“…it’s not okay to put off the album altogether. hmm. “I have to reassure the fans.”

“Hmmmm.”

No matter whether the album was postponed or postponed no matter what concept was chosen risks and losses could not be avoided.

There was a brief moment of silence among those holding their heads.

And Bae Se-jin clenched his fist.

“How about just ignoring everything and preparing hard? “This isn’t about leaving it to chance it’s about just trusting the way we did it.”

“brother…”

Kim Rae-bin blinked as if she was slightly moved by Bae Se-jin’s words.

And Big Se-jin also looked at him with eyes filled with melancholy.

“That’s great but… isn’t this exactly the way we’ve been doing it? “Work hard to come up with a strategy.”

“…uh?”

That’s… right.

“Brother this attitude of intensely analyzing the situation and responding! “Isn’t this what the best tester should be?”

“Uh… hmm I guess so.”

Bae Se-jin looked a little dazed but eventually nodded.

Persuasion was successful among people with the same name who did not get along well. It was a rare scene.

“Furthermore this industry is stimulating people’s interest in more and more provocative ways. “It’s the same with Halo Haim this time.”

“Halo Haim?”

“It’s a group that uses dating reality shows as its own content and it’s currently ranked #1 on the music charts.”

“what?”

Keun Se-jin explained what unusual marketing methods the mixed group used.

And he said in a firm voice to Bae Se-jin who was astonished “Why are entertainment agencies becoming more and more immoral?”

“Our competitors are risking their lives on marketing.”

“…”

“Well if we walk alone on the well-made path someday people will notice and we might turn back and do that… but it would be too wasteful to do that. “This is our environment now.”

Several guys nodded at those serious words.

“I know what you mean.”

Bae Se-jin also had a serious expression.

It was to shake my head.

“But I don’t want to promote our album like that.”

I thought we were in agreement but I guess we’re not.

Even Sun Ah-hyeon opened her mouth with a somewhat stern expression.

“I… me too.”

“…”

“I can’t help it if I have to but… I think it’s a little strange. “It feels like I’m deceiving the fans.”

“…okay.”

Keun Se-jin skillfully expressed his opinion without insisting further.

“In the first place we didn’t mean to use that method. “We decided to consider using a somewhat unusual and provocative method.”

“Ugh.”

“…okay. know.”

Bae Se-jin also nodded.

Now it might be hard to watch those two fighting like dogs while shouting ‘Why do you think like that?’

That was a good thing.

‘Yes but… ’

The purpose of the meeting continues to be unachieved.

No matter how much I proceeded I couldn’t come up with a sharp number.

I rubbed my chin.

No matter what you do it’s an either/or choice and no matter how you release the album you’ll lose…

“…”

wait for a sec.

‘album?’

I felt a spark fly in my head.

“Why did you only think of it as an album?”

“uh?”

“It doesn’t have to be an album.”

That’s right.

From activities to the next full-length album.

Since the cause and process of all of these things are related to the activity period I naturally thought of only an album that created that activity period as a solution.

But in fact the only thing Testa can show is not just his comeback with an album.

“How much large-scale content other than albums have we created so far?”

Even our own content concert tour and collaboration game.

Big Sejin snapped his fingers.

“Oh that’s right! “We can show a new and intense stage in the content that fans watch a lot!”

“…!”

The atmosphere of the meeting changed in response.

“I see! If you make it well all your fans will see it…”

“Ohhhhhh!”

“But isn’t it a bit more informal than an album?”

“That’s the best part.”

I grinned.

“It has nothing to do with grades.”

“…!!”

In other words you can create as strong a concept as you want without considering music rankings or album sales.

“In the first place this is the content that fans mainly watch. “The general public doesn’t care that much.”

You may pass by without knowing that Testa came out that way.

There is no need to be disappointed that it is not the easy listening song that the public is currently expecting and there is no need to compare it to Epic's music rankings!

"…And are you saying that it was good enough to become a hot topic even if it received public attention?"

"Of course."

This is the correct answer.

My head was spinning as soon as I was able to answer all the questions.

With my adrenaline pumping I turned to the group leader.

Liu Chengwu opened his mouth.

"What is the content closest to our schedule?"

* * *

After some time.

When the programs filmed by Testa were coming to an end a video was uploaded to their official WeTube.

But this time no one was surprised.

[202X TeSTAR 'HUNT or BE HUNTED' WORLD TOUR TRAILER]

This is because it was information that all fans already knew.

Testa's tour resumes.

-The kids' tour is starting again.

-But weren't all the tickets sold… Are there any additional schedules?

Why is this a promo video?

-There's a new tour subtitle Hunt All Be Hunted?

Puzzled by the details fans clicked on the video.

I was speculating that maybe it was released now because the schedule had been pushed back.

[Hello.]

The video as always had great colors.

The previous title song <Hunting> was arranged somewhat more elegantly and more intensely and a few classic hotel props were passed by.

Gold doorbell ornate lobby metal key vintage telephone.

'Is old-fashioned travel a concept?'

And black-and-white upper body close-ups of the members wearing suits in between!

However because the face was shaded the face could not be seen properly.

'…'

In other words there wasn't enough stimulation.

'There's nothing really new.'

The 32-second video was just a formal introduction to the tour trailer concept. Fans watched it with a feeling of 'That's right.'

But the last 5 seconds.

It was a moment when the beautiful exterior of the hotel was illuminated and the title ‘HUNT or BE HUNTED’ appeared in accordance with the final melody of the arranged <Hunting>.

Suddenly soft colors appeared in the building and classically arranged BGM began to play.

‘…?’

and.

[-> Enter the hotel.]

[-> Leaving.]

‘…!’

A choice appeared.

To related videos.

Chapter 572

-Click Now (Link)

That morning the graduate student checks the message sent the night before by Moon Dae Park's first friend.

No actually I was no longer a graduate student.

"oh!"

Because last December she finally graduated from graduate school!

After freeing herself from being a slave… or rather a graduate student she enjoyed the effect of making the world seem three times more beautiful. She happily clicked on the link and realized that it was a promotional video for Testa's new tour.

'This year I made all reservations to go on a tour for at least a few days!'

I wondered if a friend who knew about his grand plan had sent it to get excited.

However at the end of the video with a classic hotel building in the background I was impressed by the voice when related videos appeared as options on both sides.

"and!"

This too was content!

'Is this a game that was on a previous album? 'It's the same thing!'

It reminded me of the interactive game that was the concept of the last album. She felt happy for a moment as she remembered Park Moon-dae wearing a phantom thief uniform.

I thought maybe they moved the format to WeTube so you could enjoy it more lightly!

“hmm.”

And she identified two options that were clearly different to anyone.

[-> Enter the hotel.]

[-> Leaving.]

Hmm… Of course you have to go inside here for the story to progress.

The graduate student came up with an interesting idea with a clear head.

‘Shall we look at it from the other side?’

There was enough time to check both.

Yes I had plenty of time to do that now that I graduated from graduate school!

This is because she is employed at a research institute of a certain company and is enjoying a sweet break right before her official appointment.

Thanks to you I clicked below with a generous heart.

[-> Leaving.]

And my heart pounded.

‘Last time in that album game… you just got caught by the guard and got the game over right?’

This is because I started imagining what would happen if I chose the wrong option.

This time the title song was even titled ‘Hunting’ so I was excited to see just how unconventional it would be.

And the video plays.

In the black screen the hotel I saw earlier slowly appeared again.

[Goodbye Lover~]

Pastel-toned Gulim subtitles came to mind.

“…?”

Testa’s warm smiling face was seen waving excitedly in the sky.

It was half-transparent and roughly synthesized and it passed like the ending of a bad drama.

[We hope you visit again. :)]

[-Happy End-]

“…?”

It was a happy ending.

Anyway that was it.

The graduate student rubbed his eyes but the image did not change.

“no.”

She looked at the screen blankly for a moment and eventually burst out laughing.

What is kidnapping!

‘I guess I overthought it!’

I’ve never played games like this much so I’m reflecting on whether I’m generalizing too much.

‘Well this is fun too.’

She glanced at the number of ‘hahaha’s in the comment box and then clicked back to check her options again.

‘Let’s do it right this time!’

[-> Enter the hotel.]

The related video started with the effect of being sucked into the hotel according to the selection.

‘oh.’

And in silence.

Along with the sound of footsteps a vision as if one were looking at their feet and walking appeared in the video.

Tap tap tap.

Midday. The view is as if you are watching a man’s shoes neatly climbing up a granite staircase from a seat next to them shining on the owner.

[Is motion sickness okay?]

It was Liu Chengwu.

His handsome face dressed in a classic suit and with his hair slicked back looked a little worried.

“Wow.”

And the graduate student realized something.

This wasn’t played from the member’s perspective like the game in the last album.

The camera view is from the first person perspective of the person who clicked on this video!

[Let’s go in.]

It even seemed like she was married to Liu Chengwu.

‘Honeymoon!’

Oh no it wasn’t a marriage of course it could have been just a couple but the distant look and friendly attitude automatically reminded me of that kind of relationship.

“Wow crazy.”

Ryu Cheng-wu on screen was so stunning that even a former graduate student who had only moderately positive feelings for him drooled.

‘Is this the postponement? Is that it?’

Is that really what hunting means?

Thinking about dating reality shows she nodded inwardly. It seemed like fun.

Some people may have been worried that Testa might make a dark mark on his senior year by making comments that seemed overly aimed but the non-literate Korean graduate student just enjoyed watching the video.

As we entered the nice hotel we saw a counter beyond a very traditional lobby with a chandelier.

And even the tall employee with a cold expression standing behind him.

[…Thank you for visiting Red Wonder Hotel. How can I help you?]

[Oh yes. We made a reservation.]

Raebin Kim checked in at the desk wearing a hotelier's uniform with red stripes.

The neatly organized hairstyle with bangs had a strange boyish look to it.

'You look handsome!'

However from this point on it feels a bit strange.

Excited.

I started to hear the grandfather clock ticking.

As the rather meaningful BGM plays quietly the employee taps on the list with a pen… then takes his eyes off and looks up.

[…]

'uh?'

I think the front desk staff just gave a sideways glance at the 'main character'…?

However the employee who opened his mouth again was still polite.

[yes. Confirmed.]

[Do you have any other requests?]

And related video options appear again on both sides of Kim Rae-bin who politely puts her hands together.

[-> Please stay on a comfortable high floor.]

[-> Please move to a quiet room outside.]

Oooh. It was unusual.

I guess it was a thriller not a romance. Of course she stretched out her hand.

'This is a high rise!'

If you go to a quiet room won't you be hunted?

After making a guess that felt like a thriller movie she clicked on the related video without hesitation…

[It's already been a day.]

"…?"

[Are you okay with your fatigue? Let's go back now.]

We see a video of Liu Chengwu smiling and looking back at himself.

As we leave the hotel door together the sun is shining outside.

"…??"

[We hope you visit again. :)]

[-Happy End-]

The main character seems to have enjoyed a happy staycation in a comfortable high-rise room!

It was a happy ending.

“…??”

And graduate students watch this scene over and over again.

That’s right.

If you choose your options well… the video selection ends with a happy ending saying ‘It was a happy vacation!’

“…”

When I saw the comment I thought ‘Are you serious?’ Complaints were being made in all kinds of languages such as ‘Forcing an endless happy ending’ ‘Ryu Cheong-wu is good-looking so they put up with it’ etc.

It was the same after that.

[-Happy End-]

This structure skips all intermediate content and links to a happy ending the moment something happens!

Happy ending if you let your guard down!

“…”

The graduate student suddenly chose ‘Leaving’ and went back to the ridiculous happy ending video he had watched.

And I read more closely the comments on the video filled with ‘hahaha’ that I had just passed by at first.

– Hahahahahahahahahaha

-Is it you again?

-Wow a happy ending is really great no matter what!

-I only put the ending with Cheong-woo so you can at least see Ryu Cheong-woo's face.

-You get the king really hahahaha.

She realized.

'You have to choose a questionable option…!'

And then a fierce battle of brains to avoid a happy ending began.

I became overly immersed.

In addition as events where members spoke or made cool appearances popped up I found myself clicking on options that continued the story just to see them.

"Oh really!"

If you choose the right choice while choosing the wrong option the catharsis of an unpredictable reward comes out!

[Hello!]

Suddenly Cha Yu-jin breaks into the hotel room by climbing a rope from the ceiling and smiles as Bae Se-jin buys her coffee at the hotel cafe. After ringing the doorbell Lee Se-jin grins and says room service…

[Shall I listen to you?]

And even the blunt but kind bellboy Park Moon-dae we meet in the elevator!

"Aaaah!!"

[ah.]

The former graduate student clenched his fist as he glanced at Park

Moon-dae who instead extended his hand to press the floor and even waved his hand awkwardly.

‘This is kind of exciting!’

It was definitely fun to build friendships with the members by finding out which videos they were in.

At the same time the story progressed through long videos of about 10 minutes that appeared occasionally.

[Have you ever heard a rumor about this hotel?]

[The missing person.]

Bae Se-jin revealed that she was a reporter and chatted about the rumors surrounding this old boutique hotel.

[The last place some of the missing people stayed was this hotel…]

[Although it is not very reliable.]

However through Cha Yu-jin who secretly broke into the ventilation shaft in search of her missing friend the rumor gradually takes on a more concrete outline.

[This is him!]

This is because the photo of her friend Cha Yu-jin showed was Kim Rae-bin standing at the front desk!

‘Huh oh oh.’

For your information the former graduate student was very worried about whether or not he should tell Cha Yu-jin that fact.

After selecting ‘Inform me’ I anxiously watched the related video and fortunately the content continued.

Cha Yu-jin said thank you and went back into the vent.

‘after.’

But the sigh of relief did not last long.

This is because the moment I met Bae Se-jin again I received an unexpected criticism.

[Are the staff friendly? Ah that bellboy.]

[…They pressed the floor for you to go to?]

[How does the bellboy know where you stay?]

“Huhhhhhhh!”

As the story with its twists and turns reaches its climax.

The former graduate student encounters the ‘bellboy’ again in the elevator.

[…hello.]

“Whoa.”

And again options appear on both sides of bellboy Park Moon-dae who is wearing a white hat.

[-> (I picked up the item from the bellboy.)]

[-> (I did not pick up the item from the bellboy.)]

The answer to this seemed obvious.

‘This must be done with kindness!’

The decision not to pick it up was a landmine no matter who saw it!

Doesn't it appear a lot in dramas?

However there was a defect in the jade.

'Did I choose the option of having the bellboy pick up my items or not?'

It seemed like it wasn't.

In fact there may have been a video containing such an event but it was not among the related videos that she selected.

Why is it that even in psychological tests if you move the arrows to follow the options the algorithm appears to be twisted like this?

'No… But if something like that had come out I would have listened to it unconditionally!'

The graduate student could not overcome his desire to see the next content right away and eventually rationalized it to himself.

And clicked.

[-> (I picked up the item from the bellboy.)]

That moment.

In the dark elevator another person turned his head from where the bellboy should have been standing.

It was Sun Ah-hyeon smiling.

"…?"

That beautiful face slowly closes up.

[I never picked it up.]

thud.

The screen crackles and he falls to the floor of the elevator.

And fade out.

"…!"

It was the first game over.

The former graduate student covered his mouth and looked at the screen for a while.

It was all the more shocking because I was used to repeated mild happy endings that pissed people off.

She marveled at the taste of meta horror before barely able to press return.

And this time I honestly clicked 'I didn't pick it up.'

'Wow Mr.'

I was so engrossed in it that a cold sweat broke down my spine.

Chirik.

The related video you clicked was played immediately.

At that moment…

[It's already been a day.]

[Are you okay with your fatigue? Let's go back now.]

Happy Ending Ryu Cheong-woo appears again.

"evil!"

The graduate student hit his head.

‘Where did I make the wrong choice!’

She was about to accept that both options were crap and think about asking her friend for a strategy.

And it was while I was looking at the handsome face of Ryu Cheong-woo.

[ah.]

Liu Chengyu stopped walking.

“…?”

Originally this repeated ‘happy ending’ was supposed to end with me leaving the hotel with him… but the lobby door did not open.

Instead Liu Chengyu took something out of his arms.

[Now that I think about it… there is something the employee asked me to deliver to you.]

[this.]

Liu Chengwu held out a thin rectangular piece of paper with colorful gold leaf engraving on it.

That was… a ticket.

[He said ‘Thank you for your honest answer.’]

thud.

thud.

There was a close-up of the ticket with an accompaniment sound.

And the graduate student noticed.

The shape of the ticket looked somewhat familiar.

Something you have already seen in real life.

–

‘crazy.’

It was Testa’s ticket for this tour.

Chapter 573

Concert tickets.

As if being sucked in the former graduate student looked at the ticket that Liu Chengwu held out to him on the screen.

A punched gold leaf invitation.

From the first time I saw the ticket I thought it had a somewhat vintage concept design.

But it felt natural because it was in a video from the right era. At the same time the impact of real objects sticking out of nowhere is mixed leaving a mysterious impression.

As the ticket got closer and closer on the screen the meaningful atmosphere became even more intense…

The video has ended.

'uh?'

The former graduate student blinked and looked at the screen which had turned black and had only a replay mark.

Is this the end?

Somewhere… it felt empty.

'Of course it was fun but… '

There were things that were left unexplained and unexplained that seemed to be cut off in the middle leaving me feeling uncomfortable.

‘Well maybe it’s just me.’

She quickly clicked on the comment.

And saw.

-Wow if you turn this around…

Ugh.

Without reading further she immediately took down the comment window.

That was definitely a hint.

‘Look what else there is!’

My heart was pounding.

She clicked the ‘Replay’ mark on the video and began watching it carefully from the beginning.

The scene where Liu Chengwu talks to him and goes to the lobby door.

‘It’s the same up to here.’

There was definitely nothing unusual in the beginning.

She began to look more closely at the screen when Liu Chengwu stopped and started talking to her.

[Now that I think about it… there is something the employee asked me to deliver to you.]

And found it.

‘uh…?’

[Z9nIgQhLdw]

The serial number section of the ticket in close-up had clearly visible letters printed on it.

widely.

She reflexively stopped the screen and looked at the corresponding text.

And while I was trying to write it down… an idea suddenly crossed my mind and I clicked ‘See more’ on the video.

“…!”

The corresponding code was also included in the video description. So that it can be easily copied.

‘also!’

This is it.

She was convinced and thought about where the code could be used.

It didn’t seem like a computer language or error code.

Then… if it’s code related to the video.

The former graduate student looked at the screen and realized something the moment he saw the top line.

‘It’s the address!’

Isn’t there a long line in the address bar of this video you are watching now? Random characters similar to codes are behind the slash bar!

Heart pounding she deleted the letters and instead pasted the code she found into the address bar.

[https://wetu.be/Z9nIgQhLdw]

I pressed Enter in the address bar I entered like that.

widely.

The page is connected.

“and!”

Found it!

The thrill of solving a difficult quiz and winning a prize made me clench my fists.

And the new video moves.

[HUNTING CIRCUS]

The tour ticket seen in the previous video appeared on the screen.

However it soon disappeared from sight as if he was lowering what he was holding with his hand. And the scenery that the ticket had covered was revealed.

A roller coaster.

The view was as if the ‘main character’ was riding in the first compartment.

“oh?”

When the screen that illuminated the nose of the red roller coaster moved as if to raise its head a dark tent with swirling scarlet stripes appeared in front of it.

‘Circus tent!’

At that moment the roller coaster starts!

“oh!”

When the tent in front of you opens and the roller coaster seems to be sucked into it…

It’s a different world.

-Welcome.

Inside a huge circus tent.

Greeting on the dark stage is Kim Rae-bin dressed in a classic suit. The shining spotlights were scattered around it.

In the background light bulbs twinkled above a simple structure made of colorful fabric and steel frames.

And against the background of the bursting flower showers Kim Rae-bin who was in the spotlight seemed to bow politely…

Hands reached out from the darkness behind him with a grasping motion.

A tickling accordion sound.

And the hands move with graceful gestures like spiders.

-The tables have been turned

Today you are the sheep

A gesture of fingers collectively pointing at the other person beyond the camera.

Gun barrels protruded from both sides of the roller coaster and shot at the screen.

“…!”

As if to tease instead of bullets confetti fireworks exploded and sparkled in the lights.

-Run further go ahead

It’s fun doing somersaults

As the slightly creepy forged brass sounds the roller coaster moves as if running away and circles the stage halfway.

Then Testa’s formation changed direction as if chasing a roller coaster.

“omg.”

Ryu Cheong-woo turns and sits down in front of the testa standing diagonally.

-(Run Run!)

Spin around in a circle under the stage

Come on again back in place

The wild choreography mixed with a bit of tutting is exquisitely adjusted to enhance the flavor.

It was a completely different composition from the existing <Hunting> song.

‘omg.’

Not only the arrangement but also the choreography changed.

Originally <Hunting> was a wild song with a more weighty somewhat bloody group dance.

But now it feels more playful and mischievous.

-Show must go on like me

You can't go out either

You said that just enjoy it

More rhythmic whole body movements.

The choreography unfolded as if bouncing off the ends of the limbs of center Cha Yu-jin who hit with a grin and stretched out right in front of the roller coaster moving the field of vision with one's fingertips.

＜Hunting＞ which was arranged more extravagantly and classically rang in my ears like a rush.

And the gorgeous choreography which included as much detail as the arrangement caught the eye because it fit together so well.

-Just enjoy it

"under…"

It was clear that all the elements of the existing song were made by boldly but delicately controlling them.

It was that intense and good.

So the viewer naturally realizes this.

'This is a real tour promotion video!'

However Testa did not openly display this stage which seemed to have been invested with money and time for people to see. Rather it was hidden.

-A night of reversal

Time to hunt (Yea-h)

If you leave the hotel satisfied with the happy ending you won't see it.

Only those who stayed with Testa until the end and personally thought about and experienced it were able to reach it on their own.

In the thrilling stage video that is given like a reward at the end.

Maximizing the sense of accomplishment.

-Call up it's hunting season

"uh…"

refrain. With Sun Ah-hyun at the center the colorful and technical circus-like choreography unfolded as if following the camera's movements.

pop.

Fireworks and lights explode and the roller coaster suddenly stops again in front of the stage.

The lights turned on brighter.

-Woooo!

A finale that seems to fit the bill.

The final dance break filled the screen with a full shot in accordance with the acrobatic faster arrangement.

The movement of hands covered in white gloves and black shoes strongly fills the edges of the camera.

The performance which was reaching its peak with explosive drum and brass solos ended with an intense close-up.

Following the pounding drum roll of the final accompaniment each testa politely bowed at different times.

And finally the moment center Lee Se-jin said hello the spotlight turned off.

BAMMM!

It was an ending.

“Whoa!”

The former graduate student realized that he was obsessively looking at the screen in a posture perfect for turtle neck and quickly adjusted his posture.

‘It was so good… ’

But the video isn’t over yet.

[…]

The video’s first-person perspective looks down from the stage with the lights off and looks back at the front of the roller coaster.

It was as quiet as if a rat had died.

But soon the engine turned on with a vibration-like tremor.

‘oh.’

And when the camera turns its attention back to the stage after confirming that the roller coaster’s engine is running.

[It will be more fun this time.]

Sun Ah-hyun whom he met in the elevator was smiling and looking at him.

“…!”

On the screen where only small subtitles and a mouth shape appear without sound Sun Ah-hyun reaches out with one hand and pulls the camera.

‘uh?’

And the moment I suddenly let go of the camera.

Hwii-!

The roller coaster reverses and leaves the tent with a thumping sound.

Then the lights come on again in the closed circus tent and finally a huge subtitle appears above it.

[Prologue: Welcome to the hunt house]

“…”

＜Hunting＞ arranged like BGM using an accordion flows and the letters move up. It was the ending credits.

The former graduate student realized something.

This was not a hidden hidden ending.

This was the final destination of those complicated choices.

And one more thing.

‘It was a prologue.’

All of this is the background explanation at the beginning of the preface.

And perhaps this chapter begins precisely where we go with that invitation.

The concert hall!

* * *

[Is Testa crazy?]

I clicked on the article without any anger at all.

————————= =

What are they doing when all the concert tickets have already been sold? They're pretending to give me the tickets and saying haha among themselves. Isn't this a deception? I'm going to sue them.

————————= =

Even the 'I agree' comments running below.

I nodded.

oh.

'It looks like you had a great time.'

That's right.

Testa's tour promotional video served its purpose well.

This is to stimulate the interest of fans and prove that they are beginners.

-Who says Testa is easy?

-The choreography is crazy. It would be a shame to only use this for concerts.

-Please release the practice video no let's work with this.

-Why are you a fan of this fan song saying you need to stop beating people up in advance?

Public opinion flipped immediately on the date it was revealed. I watched it with a draft beer.

'It was neat.'

As the intense performance was visible the number of mentions increased like crazy.

Oh my efforts to change the atmosphere didn't work as expected.

-It's just that this was planned last year. I guess we'll have to wait until we see the next album to find out… hmm.

This is a remark made to a crazy and toxic idol who changes all the titles and even adds new choreography to fit the concert concept.

'You've had a lot of trouble.'

And actually these behind-the-scenes reactions are just for reference… I was satisfied with the reactions I could see from the fans.

Achieving expectations gave me a thrilling sense of accomplishment.

'good.'

But what's interesting is that it didn't end here.

-Anyone tried this? LOL

People who weren't fans started trying it.

This is despite the fact that this was content strictly targeting the existing fan base.

In fact the purpose was not to sell more tickets but rather it was used as an excuse to bash the content so no additional concert tickets were sold.

To be honest I didn't expect it to have such an impact.

'You hid the performance video that much.'

This is because only those who are willing to actively dig up the content can enjoy it properly.

Since it is not an official music video there is no need to worry about the number of views so this was chosen.

But… it seems that it has subtly stimulated people's tastes.

'Should I call this… the feeling of standing in line at a restaurant that is hard to get to?'

A desire for challenge.

-Oh I shouldn't have clicked on the promo video in advance…

-Even if you don't look at the Testa promo walkthrough it will appear if you click on it so please just do it the first time you play.

-Please Lee Se-jin tell me some options to become friends with Room Service Fox.

Additionally there were other factors that lowered the barrier to entry.

'It's not paid.'

As accessibility improved it seemed like people who were really bored could easily click on it unlike 'Roll the Dice' where you had to buy the album to legally play it.

The fact that it was connected to a short WeTube video also seemed to have played a role in lowering the psychological barrier.

So… that is.

-When are tickets available for the Testa concert?

-Can I only see the behind-the-scenes content at the concert? ㅠㅠ

…Surprisingly there really was additional demand!

“Hey how about we… schedule some more concerts?”

It was so bad that even Sun Ah-hyeon felt it and said this.

Of course that doesn’t mean you can’t just increase the number of times because you might get too excited and schedule additional performances which could mess up your schedule.

‘I think we can meet the demand in other ways.’

I quickly came up with a few plans.

However there was something to do first before realizing this plan.

Because Testa had an existing schedule.

“Mundae you know we have a joint concert in Singapore next week.”

“Oh yes.”

“Do you want to do a newly arranged version of ‘The Hunt’ there too?”

The KPOP overseas group concert held on the airwaves was just around the corner. Since I had already taken that route I thought I should appear on it at least once so I said okay.

They say it’s commemorating the 50th anniversary of the exchange between their broadcasting stations but actually that’s not important.

Well we just have to do our best…

“I think it’ll be okay though.”

The new mixed group appeared in this joint concert.

Halo Haim.

A new group created from members of <Be My Girls> who were originally affiliated with this agency.

And… Youngrindo who produced the group.

So a few days later Testa was able to meet the group and its officials in person for the first time.

Chapter 574

Testa's next schedule is a joint concert in Singapore.

This was a typical Hantang event hosted by a broadcasting station that attracted various singers.

And in joint concerts like this the singer's current position is clearly revealed depending on how the performer is treated.

From the size of the waiting room to the order of the stage it is no different from a battleground where you can watch agencies fight for rank over 'how much convenience will be provided'.

Especially the ending!

This is a place to certify who the best and most powerful singer is and who the agency that owns that singer is!

'There are a lot of people in the industry who think… '

Thanks to this if more than one member of the first team appears there is a discussion from the recruiting stage about who will do the ending.

And it's funny but it's still like that.

-Is it Testa or Youngrin?

Both of them were last year's target singers. They are even currently sharing awards at award ceremonies.

I think there should be an exciting dog fight to see which of the two will get the ending but…

“Yep it’s okay if we don’t end up~ Eh don’t worry!”

Unfortunately for Cyber Rekka neither we nor Youngrin are interested in such things.

‘When I was a member of T1 I ended up getting the ending a few times at their concerts.’

Usually when VTIC is included here VTIC which has the golden balance in terms of both seniority and popularity always takes the lead.

‘Right now… I think the ending will go to Youngrin rather than Testa in order of seniority.’

Younglin ending? Rather good. Even if Testa ends here there might be a pointless fight online.

The length rather than the ending was the true indicator of popularity.

And that indicator has already been obtained.

“Testa performs all three songs on air.”

“Oh yes!”

And this is the lineup of three songs leading to <Hunting>. I feel reassured.

For reference it was agreed that the hunt would be carried out in the original version but only the final climax part would be changed to the circus version for the concert and the stage setup would be used.

“It’s also a great way to promote the concert and make a strong impression all at once!”

“that’s right! “I like this choreography!”

“Okay but Eugene and Ahyeon let’s be careful when doing the backflip at the end.”

“yes…!”

It was a time when we had just finished rehearsals so smoothly and intensely.

Urgent news has been delivered.

“They say we are the ending.”

“…??”

[Perf.#18 / Testa (7)]

The bottom of the new hot cue sheet. The singer Myeong who was even circled was… Testa not Youngrin.

“…”

A fundamental question arose.

“why?”

Of course we will be more successful overseas as we are fandom-centered than Youngrin a popular powerhouse that dominates music charts but we cannot ignore annual leave.

‘Why are you spoon feeding us who didn’t say a word?’

I wondered if fake news that Testa had become a huge hit overseas would spread on WeTube to the extent that the airwaves would move their heavy buttocks without anyone knowing.

Of course nothing crazy like that happened.

It was all the result of calculations.

Keun Se-jin who received the cue sheet from Ryu Cheong-wu and carefully looked through it shrugged his shoulders.

“Ah the Halo Haim guys are doing three songs.”

“hmm…?”

That’s right.

A total of three songs including two stages with their own songs and one stage covering a song by Younglin’s group ‘Saint U’.

‘I received it almost the same as Testa.’

